THE AUGSBURG CONFESSION. A.D. 1530.

[The Latin text is from the editio princeps, 1531, as printed in the best editions of the 'Book of Concord,' and especially (with all the various readings) in the Corpus Reformatorum, ed. Bindseil, Vol. XXVI. (1855), pp. 263-336. I have inserted in brackets the most important additions of the German text, and marked in foot-notes the chief alterations of the edition of 1540. The English translation (in the style of the sixteenth century) was prepared (1868), and at my request carefully revised for this work (1874), by my friend, the Rev. Dr. CHARLES P. KRAUTH, Vice-Provost of the University of Pennsylvania, and Professor of Theology in the Evangelical Latherian Seminary, Philadelphia. First English translation by Richard Taverner, London, 1536; recent translations, more or less complete, by S. S. Schmucker (1824); E. Hazelius (1841), Ambrose and Socrates Henkel (1851 and 1854). PRÆFATIO AD CESAREM CAROLUM V.

Invictissime Imperator, Cæsar Auguste, Domine clementissime. Cum V. C. CONFESION OF FAITH

Presented to the Invincible Emperor Charles V., Cesar Augustus, at the Diet of Augsburg, Anno Domini MDXXX.¹

I will speak of thy testimonies also before kings, and will not be ashamed.—PSALM cxix. 46.

PREFACE TO THE EMPEROR CHARLES V.

Most Invincible Emperor, Cæsar Augustus, Most Clement Master: Inasmuch as Your Imperial Majesty has summoned a Convention of the Empire at Augsburg, to deliberate in regard to aid against the Turk, the most atrocious, the hereditary, and ancient enemy of the Christian name and religion, in what way, to wit, resistance might be made to his rage and assaults, by protracted and perpetual preparation for war: Because, moreover, of dissensions in the matter of our holy religion and Christian faith, and in order that in this matter of religion the opinions and judgments of diverse parties may be heard in each other's presence, may be understood and weighed among one another, in mutual charity, meekness, and gentleness, that those things which in the writings on either side have been handled or understood amiss, being laid aside ut, quemadmodum sub uno Christo sumus et militamus: ita in una etiam Ecclesia Christiana, in unitate et concordia rivere possumus; cumque nos infra scripti Elector et Principes, cum aliis, qui nobis conjuncti sunt, perinde ut alii Electores et Principes et Status ad prefata Comitia evocati simus, ut Censureo mandato obedienter obsequeremur, mature renimus Augustam; et, quod citra jactantiam dictum volumus, inter primos affinimvs.

Cum igitur V. C. M. Electoribus, Principibus et aliis Statibus Imperii etiam hic Augustae sub ipsa initia horum Comitiorum inter cetera proponi fecerit, quod singuli Status Imperii vigore Cesarei edicti suam opinionem et sententiam in Germanica et Latina lingua proponere debeant atque offerre; et habita deliberatione proxima feria quarta, rursum responsum est V. C. M. nos proxima feria sexta articulos nostrae Confessionis pro nostra parte oblaturos esse:

Ideo ut V. C. M. voluntati obsequamur, offerimus in hac religionis causa nostrorum Concionatorum et nostram Confessionem, cuiusmodi doctrinam ex Scripturis Sanctis et puro verbo Dei hactenus illi in nostris terris, ducatis, ditionibus et urbibus tradiderint, ac in Ecclesiis tractaverint. Quod si et rateri Electores, Principes ac Status Imperii, similibus scriptis, Latinis scilicet et Germanicis, juxta prædictum Cesareum propositionem, suas opiniones in hac causa religionis produixerint: hic nos eorum V. C. M. tanquam Domino nostro clementissimo paratos offerimus, nos cum præfatis Principibus et amicis nostris de tollerabilibus modis ac viis amare conferre, ut, quantum honeste fieri potest, conveniamus, et and corrected, these things may be harmonized and brought back to the one simple truth and Christian concord; so that hereafter the one unfeigned and true religion may be embraced and preserved by us, so that as we are subjects and soldiers of the one Christ, so also, in unity and concord, we may live in the one Christian Church: And inasmuch as we, the Elector and Princes, whose names are subscribed, together with others who are joined with us, in common with other Electors, and Princes, and States, have been called to the aforementioned Diet,—we have, in order to render most humble obedience to the Imperial Mandate, come early to Augsburg, and, with no desire to boast, would state that we were among the very first to be present.

When, therefore, Your Imperial Majesty, among other things, has also at Augsburg, at the very beginning of these sessions, caused the proposition to be made to the Princes and States of the Empire, that each of the States of the Empire, in virtue of the Imperial Edict, should propose and offer in the German and in the Latin language its opinion and decision; after discussion on Wednesday we replied to Your Imperial Majesty, that on the following Friday we would offer on our part the Articles of our Confession:

Wherefore, in order that we may do homage to the will of Your Imperial Majesty, we now offer in the matter of religion the Confession of our preachers and of ourselves, the doctrine of which, derived from the Holy Scriptures and pure Word of God, they have to this time set forth in our lands, dukedoms, domains, and cities, and have taught in the churches. If the other Electors, Princes, and States of the Empire, should in similar writings, to wit, in Latin and German, according to the aforementioned Imperial proposition, produce their opinions in this matter of religion: we here, in the presence of Your Imperial Majesty, our most Clement Lord, offer ourselves, prepared, in conjunction with the Princes and our friends already designated, to compare views in a kindly manner in regard to mode and ways which may be available, so that, as far as may honorably be done, we may agree, and the matter between us of both parts being peacefully discussed, with no hateful contention, by God's help the dissension may be removed, and brought back to one true accordant religion (as we are all subjects and soldiers under one Christ, so also we ought to confess one Christ, in accordance with the tenor of the decree of Your Imp. M.), and all things should be brought back to the truth of God, which with most fervent prayers we beseech God to grant.

But if, as regards the rest of the Electors, Princes, and States, those of the other party, this treatment of the matter of religion, in the manner in which Your I. M. has wisely thought fit it should be conducted and treated, to wit, with such a mutual presentation of writings and calm conference between us, should not go on, nor be attended by any result; yet shall we leave a clear testimony that in no manner do we evade any thing which can tend to promote Christian concord (any thing which God and a good conscience allow); and this Your I. M. and the other Electors and States of the Empire, and all who are moved by a sincere love of religion and concern for it, all who are willing to give an equitable hearing in this matter, will kindly gather and understand from the Confession of ourselves and of ours.

SYMBOLA EVANGELICA.

modum idem latius expositum est ante annum in publico proximo conventu, qui Spira congregatus fuit. Ubi V. C. M. per Dominum Ferdinandum, Bohemia et Ungarie Regem, amicum et Dominum clementem nostrum, deinde per Oratorem et Comissarios Cesareos, haec inter cetera proponi fecit, quod V. C. M. intellexisset et expendisset Locum Tenentis V. C. M. in Imperio et Praesidentis et Consiliariorum in Regimine et Legatorum ab aliis Statibus, qui Ratisbona convenerant, deliberationem de Concilio congregando, et quod judicaret etiam V. C. M. utile esse, ut congregaretur Concilium, et quia causæ, quem tractabantur inter V. C. M. et Romanum Pontificem, vicine essent concordiae et Christianæ reconciliationi, non dubitaret V. C. M. quin Romanum Pontifex adduci posset ad habendum generale Concilium: ideo significabat se V. C. M. operam daturam, ut prefatus Pontifex Maximus una cum V. C. M. tale generale Concilium primo quoque tempore emissis literis publicandum congregare consentiret.

in accordance with his office, to assemble a General Council; as also the same matter was more amply set forth a year ago in the last public Convention, which was held at Spires, where through His Highness Ferdinand, King of Bohemia and Hungary, our friend and clement Lord, afterward through the Orator and the Imperial Commissioners, Your I. M., among other propositions, caused these to be made: that Your I. M. had known and pondered the resolution to convene a Council, formed by the Representatives of Your I. M. in the Empire, and by the Imperial President and Counselors, and by the Legates of other States convened at Ratisbon, and this Your I. M. also judged that it would be useful to assemble a Council; and because the matters which were to be adjusted at this time between Your I. M. and the Roman Pontiff were approaching agreement and Christian reconciliation, Your I. M. did not doubt that, but that the Pope could be induced to summon a General Council: Wherefore Your I. M. signified that Your I. M. would endeavor to bring it to pass that the Chief Pontiff, together with Your I. M., would consent at the earliest opportunity to issue letters for the convening of such a General Council.

In eventum ergo talem, quod in causa religionis dissensiones inter nos et partes amicæ et in caritate non fuerint compositæ, tunc coram V. C. M. hic in omni obedientia nos offerimus, ex superabundanti comparituros et causam dicturos in tali generali, libero et Christiano Concilio, de quo congregando in omnibus Comitiis Imperialibus, que quidem annis Imperii V. C. M. habita sunt, per Electores, Principes et reliquos Status Imperii semper concorditer actum et congruentibus suffragiis conclusum est. Ad eujus etiam generalis Concilii conuentum, simul et ad V. C. M. in hac longe maxima et gravissima causa jam ante etiam debito modo et in forma juris provocavimus et appellavimus. Cui appellationi ad V. C. M. simul et Concilium adhuc adhrevemus, neque eam per hunc vel alium tractatum

As the event, therefore, has been that in this matter of religion the differences between us and the other party have not been settled in friendship and love, we here present ourselves before Your I. M., in all obedience, and in more than mere obedience, ready to compare views, and to defend our cause in such a general, free, and Christian Council, concerning the convening of which there has been concordant action and a determination by agreeing votes on the part of the Electors, Princes, and the other States of the Empire, in all the Imperial Diets which have been held in the reign of Your I. M. To this Convention of a General Council, as also to Your I. M., we have in the due method and legal form before made our protestation and appeal in this greatest and gravest of matters. To which appeal both to

Your I. M. and a Conneil we still adhere; nor do we intend, nor would it be possible for us to forsake it by this or any other document, unless the matter between us and the other party should, in accordance with the tenor of the latest Imperial citation, be compared, settled, and brought to Christian concord, in friendship and love; concerning which appeal we here also make our solemn and public protest.

PARS I.

ARTICULI FIDEI PRÆCIPUI.¹ART. I.—De Deo.

Ecclesiæ magno consensu [ein-trächtiglich] apud nos docent, Decreto Nicænae Synodi, de unitate essentiæ divinæ et de tribus personis, verum et sine ulla dubitatione credendum esse. Videlicet, quod sit una essentia divina, quæ et appellatur et est Deus, æternus, incorporeus, imparibilis [ohne Stück], immensa potentia, sapientia, bonitate, creator et conservator omnium rerum, visibilium et invisibilium; et tamen tres sint personæ, ejusdem essentiæ et potentiae, et coæternæ, Pater, Filius et Spiritus Sanctus. Et nomine personæ utuntur ea significatio[n]e, qua usi sunt in hac causa Scriptores Ecclesiastici [die Väter], ut significet non partem aut qualitatem in alio, sed quod proprie subsistit.

PART FIRST.

CHIEF ARTICLES OF FAITH.

ART. I.—Of God.

The churches, with common consent among us, do teach that the decree of the Nicene Synod concerning the unity of the divine essence and of the three persons is true, and without doubt to be believed: to wit, that there is one divine essence which is called and is God, eternal, without body, indivisible [without part], of infinite power, wisdom, goodness, the Creator and Preserver of all things, visible and invisible; and that yet there are three persons of the same essence and power, who also are co- eternal, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost. And they use the name of person in that signification in which the ecclesiastical writers [the fathers] have used it in this cause, to signify, not a part or quality in another, but that which properly subsists.

Dannant omnes hæreses, contra hunc articulum exortas, ut Manichæos, qui duo principia poscebant, Bonum et Malum, item Valentinianos, Arianos, Eunomianos, Mahometistas et omnes horum similes. Dannant et Samosatenos, veteres et neotericos,¹ qui, cum tantum unam personam esse contendant, de Verbo et de Spiritu Sancto astute et impie rhetoricanter, quod non sint personæ distinctæ, sed quod Verbum significet verbum vocale, et Spiritus motum in rebus creatum [geschaffene Regung in Creaturen].

ART. II.—De Peccato Originis.

Item docent, quod post lapsum Adæ omnes homines, secundum naturam propagati, nascantur cum peccato, hoc est, sine metu Dei, sine fiducia erga Deum, et cum concupiscentia; quodque hic morbus, seu vitium originis vere sit peccatum, dannans et afferens nunc quoque aeternam mortem his, qui non renascuntur per Baptismum et Spiritum Sanctum.²

Dannant Pelagianos et alios, qui vitium originis negant esse peccatum, et, ut extenuent gloriam meriti et beneficiorum Chri-

They condemn all heresies which have sprung up against this Article, as the Manichees, who set down two principles, good and evil; in the same manner the Valentinians, Arians, Eunomians, Mohammedans, and all such like. They condemn also the Samosatenes, old and new;¹ who, when they earnestly contend that there is but one person, do craftily and wickedly trifle, after the manner of rhetoricians, about the Word and Holy Ghost, that they are not distinct persons, but that the Word signifieth a vocal word, and the Spirit a motion created in things.

ART. II.—Of Original Sin.

Also they teach that, after Adam's fall, all men begotten after the common course of nature are born with sin; that is, without the fear of God, without trust in him, and with fleshly appetite; and that this disease, or original fault, is truly sin, condemning and bringing eternal death now also upon all that are not born again by baptism and the Holy Spirit.

They condemn the Pelagians, and others, who deny this original fault to be sin indeed; and who, so as to lessen the glory of the merits and sti, disputant hominem propriis viribus rationis coram Deo justificari posse.¹

ART. III.—De Filio Dei.

Item docent, quod Verbum, hoc est, Filius Dei, assumpserit humanam naturam in utero beatae Marie virginis, ut sint due nature, divina et humana, in unitate personae inseparabiliter conjuncte, unus Christus, vere Deus et vere homo, natus ex virginе Maria, vere passus, crucifixus, mortuus et sepultus, ut reconciliaret nobis Patrem, et hostia esset non tantum pro culpa originis, sed etiam pro omnibus actualibus hominum peccatis.

Idem descendit ad inferos, et vere resurrexit tertia die, deinde ascendit ad caelos, ut sedeat ad dexteram Patris, et perpetuo regnet et dominetur omnibus creaturis, sanctificet credentes in ipsum, misso in cora eorum Spiritu Sancto, qui regat [heilige, reinige, stärke], consoletur ac vivificet eos, ac defendat adversus diabolum et vim peccati.

Item Christus palam est redibenefits of Christ, argue that a man may, by the strength of his own reason, be justified before God.

ART. III.—Of the Son of God.

Also they teach that the Word, that is, the Son of God, took unto him man's nature in the womb of the blessed Virgin Mary, so that there are two natures, the divine and the human, inseparably joined together in unity of person; one Christ, true God and true man: who was born of the Virgin Mary, truly suffered, was crucified, dead, and buried, that he might reconcile the Father unto us, and might be a sacrifice, not only for original guilt, but also for all actual sins of men.

The same also descended into hell, and truly rose again the third day. Afterward he ascended into the heavens, that he might sit at the right hand of the Father; and reign forever, and have dominion over all creatures; might sanctify those that believe in him, by sending the Holy Spirit into their hearts, who shall rule [sanetify, purify, strengthen], comfort, and quicken them, and shall defend them against the devil, and the power of sin.

The same Christ shall openly

turus, ut judicet vivos et mortuos, etc., juxta Symbolum Apostolorum.

ART. IV.—De Justificatione.

Item docent, quod homines non possint justificari [Vergebung der Sünde und Gerechtigkeit erlangen] coram Deo propriis viribus, meritis aut operibus, sed gratis [aus Gnaden] justificantur propter Christum per fidem, cum credunt se in gratiam recipi, et peccata remitti propter Christum, qui sua morte pro nostris peccatis satisfecit. Hanc fidem imputat Deus pro justicia coram ipso. Rom. III. et IV.¹

ART. V.—De Ministerio Ecclesiastico.

Ut hanc fidem consequamur, institutum est ministerium docendi Evangelii et porrigendi Sacra menta.

Nam per verbum et Sacra menta, tanquam per instrumenta, donatur Spiritus Sanctus, qui fidem efficit, ubi et quando visum est Deo, in iis, qui audiunt Evangelium, scilicet, quod Deus non propter nostra merita, sed propter Christum justificet hos, qui credunt, se propter Christum in gratiam recipi.

Damnant Anabaptistas et alios, come again, to judge the quick and the dead, according as the Apostles' Creed declareth these and other things.

ART. IV.—Of Justification.

Also they teach that men can not be justified [obtain forgiveness of sins and righteousness] before God by their own powers, merits, or works; but are justified freely [of grace] for Christ's sake through faith, when they believe that they are received into favor, and their sins forgiven for Christ's sake, who by his death hath satisfied for our sins. This faith doth God impute for righteousness before him. Rom. iii. and iv.

ART. V.—Of the Ministry of the Church.

For the obtaining of this faith, the ministry of teaching the Gospel and administering the Sacra ments was instituted.

For by the Word and Sacra ments, as by instruments, the Holy Spirit is given: who worketh faith, where and when it pleaseth God, in those that hear the Gospel, to wit, that God, not for our merit's sake, but for Christ's sake, doth justify those who believe that they for Christ's sake are received into favor.

They condemn the Anabaptists

qui sentiunt, Spiritum Sanctum contingere sine verbo externo hominibus per ipsorum preparationes et opera.²

ART. VI.—De Nova Obedientia.

Item docent, quod fides illa debeat bonos fructus parere, et quod oporteat bona opera, mandata a Deo, facere, propter voluntatem Dei, non ut confidamus, per ea opera justificacionem coram Deo mereri.

Nam remissio peccatorum et justificatio fide apprehenditur, sicut testatur et vox Christi (Lue. xvii. 10): Cum feceritis haec omnia, dicite, servi inutiles sumus.

Idem docent et veteres Scriptores Ecclesiastici. Ambrosius enim inquit: Hoc constitutum est a Deo, ut qui credit in Christum, salvus sit, sine opere, sola fide, gratis accipiens remissionem peccatorum.

ART. VII.—De Ecclesia.

Item docent, quod una Sancta Ecclesia perpetuo mansura sit. Est autem Ecclesia congregatio Sanctorum [Versammlung aller Gläubigen],³ in qua Evangelium and others,¹ who imagine that the Holy Spirit is given to men without the outward word, through their own preparations and works.

ART. VI.—Of New Obedience.

Also they teach that this faith should bring forth good fruits, and that men ought to do the good works commanded of God, because it is God's will, and not on any confidence of meriting justification before God by their works.

For remission of sins and justification is apprehended by faith, as also the voice of Christ witnesseth: ‘When ye have done all these things, say, We are unprofitable servants.’

The same also do the ancient writers of the Church teach; for Ambrose saith: ‘This is ordained of God, that he that believeth in Christ shall be saved, without works, by faith alone, freely receiving remission of sins.’

ART. VII.—Of the Church.

Also they teach that one holy Church is to continue forever. But the Church is the congregation of saints [the assembly of all believers], in which the Gospel is

ART. VIII.—Quid sit Ecclesia.

*Quanquam Ecclesia proprie sit congregatio Sanctorum et vere credentium: tamen, cum in hac vita multi hypocritæ et mali admixti sint, licet uti Sacramentis, que per malos administrantur, juxta vocem Christi (Matt. xxiii. 2): Sedent Scribe et Pharisæi in Cuthedra Mosi, etc. Et Sacra-rightly taught [purely preached] and the Sacraments rightly administered [according to the Gospel].

And unto the true unity of the Church, it is sufficient to agree concerning the doctrine of the Gospel and the administration of the Sacraments. Nor is it necessary that human traditions, rites, or ceremonies instituted by men should be alike every where, as St. Paul saith: ‘There is one faith, one baptism, one God and Father of all.’

ART. VIII.—What the Church is.

Though the Church be properly the congregation of saints and true believers, yet seeing that in this life many hypocrites and evil persons are mingled with it, it is lawful to use the Sacraments administered by evil men, according to the voice of Christ (Matt. xxiii. 2): ‘The Scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses’ seat,’ and the words following. And the Sacraments and the Word are effectual, by reason of the institution and commandment of Christ, though they be delivered by evil men.

They condemn the Donatists and such like, who denied that it was lawful to use the ministry of evil obedient Christo; etsi in hac vita huic congregationi multi mali et hypocritæ admixti sunt usque ad novissimum judicium.

De Baptismo docent, quod sit necessarius ad salutem, quodque per Baptismum offeratur gratia Dei; et quod pueri¹ sint baptizandi, qui per Baptismum oblati Deo recipiantur in gratiam Dei.

Dumnant Anabaptistas, qui improbant Baptismum puerorum et affirmant pueros sine Baptismo² salvos fieri.

De Cœna Domini docent, quod corpus et sanguis [wahrer Leib und Blut] Christi vere adsint [unter Gestalt des Brotes und Weines], et distribuantur resonibus [da ausgetheilt und genommen wird] in Cœna Domini; et improbant secus docentes [Der halben wird auch die Gegenlehr verworfen].³

ART. XI.—De Confessione.

De confessione docent, quod absolutio privata in Ecclesiis re-men in the Church, and held that the ministry of evil men is useless and without effect.

ART. IX.—Of Baptism.

Of Baptism they teach that it is necessary to salvation, and that by Baptism the grace of God is offered, and that children are to be baptized, who by Baptism, being offered to God, are received into God's favor.

They condemn the Anabaptists who allow not the Baptism of children, and affirm that children are saved without Baptism.

ART. X.—Of the Lord's Supper.

Of the Supper of the Lord they teach that the [true] body and blood of Christ are truly present [under the form of bread and wine], and are [there] communicated to those that eat in the Lord's Supper [and received]. And they disapprove of those that teach otherwise [wherefore also the opposite doctrine is rejected].

ART. XI.—Of Confession.

Concerning confession, they teach that private absolution be retained

ART. XII.—De Pænitentia.

De pænitentia docent, quod lapsus post Baptismum contingere possit remissio peccatorum, quounque tempore cum convertuntur [zu aller Zeit, so sie zur Busse kommen]; et quod Ecclesia talibus redentibus ad pænitentiam absolutionem impartiri debeat.

Constat autem pænitentia proprie his duabus partibus: Altera est contricio seu terrores incussi conscientiae agnito peccato. Altera est fides, quæ concipitur ex Evangelio seu absolutione, et credit propter Christum remitti peccata, et consolatur conscientiam, et ex terroribus liberat. Deinde sequi debent bona opera, quæ sunt fructus pænitentiae.

in the churches, though enumeration of all offenses be not necessary in confession. For it is impossible; according to the Psalm: ‘Who can understand his errors?’

ART. XII.—Of Repentance.

Touching repentance, they teach that such as have fallen after baptism may find remission of sins, at what time they are converted [whenever they come to repentance], and that the Church should give absolution unto such as return to repentance.

Now repentance consisteth properly of these two parts: One is contrition, or terrors stricken into the conscience through the acknowledgment of sin; the other is faith, which is conceived by the Gospel, or absolution, and doth believe that for Christ’s sake sins be forgiven, and comforteth the conscience, and freeth it from terrors. Then should follow good works, which are fruits of repentance.

They condemn the Anabaptists, who deny that men once justified can lose the Spirit of God, and do contend that some men may attain to such a perfection in this life that they can not sin. [Here are rejected those who teach that those who have once been holy can not fall again.] The Novatians are also condemned, who would not absolve such as had fallen after baptism, though they returned to repentance. They also that do not teach that remission of sins is obtained by faith, and who command us to merit grace by satisfactions, are rejected.

ART. XIII.—Of the Use of Sacraments.

Concerning the use of the Sacra-ments, they teach that they were ordained, not only to be marks of profession among men, but rather that they should be signs and testi-monies of the will of God towards us, set forth unto us to stir up and confirm faith in such as use them. Therefore men must use Sacra-ments so as to join faith with them, which believes the promises that are offered and declared unto us by the Sacraments.

Wherefore they condemn those that teach that the Sacra-ments do justify by the work done, and do not teach that faith which believes the remission of sins is requisite in the use of Sacra-ments.

ART. XIV.—Of Ecclesiastical Orders.

Concerning Ecclesiastical Or-ders [Church Government], they teach that no man should publicly aut Sacra menta administrare, nisi rite vocatus [ohne ordentlichen Beruf].

ART. XV.—De Ritibus Ecclesiasticis.

De ritibus Ecclesiasticis [von Menschen gemacht] docent, quod ritus illi servandi sint, qui sine peccato servari possunt, et prorsunt ad tranquillitatem et bonum ordinem in Ecclesia, sicut certe feriae, festa et similia. De talibus rebus tamen admonentur homines, ne conscientiae onerentur, tanquam talis cultus ad salutem necessarius sit.

Admonentur etiam, quod traditiones humanae institutae ad placandum Deum, ad promerendam gratiam et satisfaciendum pro peccatis, adversentur Evangelio et doctrinae fidei. Quare rotu et traditiones de cibis et diebus, etc., institutae ad promerendam gratiam, et satisfaciendum pro peccatis inutiles sint et contra Evangelium.

ART. XVI.—De Rebus Civilibus.

De rebus civilibus docent, quod legitime ordinaciones civiles sint bona opera Dei, quod Christianis licet gerere Magistratus, exercere iudicia, judicare res ex Imperatoriis et aliis presentibus legibus, supplicia jure constituere, in the Church teach, or administer the Sacraments, except he be rightly called [without a regular call].

ART. XV.—Of Ecclesiastical Rites.

Concerning Ecclesiastical rites [made by men], they teach that those rites are to be observed which may be observed without sin, and are profitable for tranquillity and good order in the Church; such as are set holidays, feasts, and such like. Yet concerning such things, men are to be admonished that consciences are not to be burdened as if such service were necessary to salvation.

They are also to be admonished that human traditions, instituted to propitiate God, to merit grace, and make satisfaction for sins, are opposed to the Gospel and the doctrine of faith. Wherefore vows and traditions concerning foods and days, and such like, instituted to merit grace and make satisfaction for sins, are useless and contrary to the Gospel.

ART. XVI.—Of Civil Affairs.

Concerning civil affairs, they teach that such civil ordinances as are lawful are good works of God; that Christians may lawfully bear civil office, sit in judgments, determine matters by the imperial laws, and other laws in present force, jure bellare, militare, lege contra-here, tenere proprium, jusjurandum postulantibus magistratibus dare, ducere uxorem, nubere. Damnant Anabaptistas, qui interdicunt hæc civilia officia Christianis. Damnant et illos, qui Evangelicam perfectionem non collocant in timore Dei et fidei, sed in deserendis civilibus officiis, quia Evangelium tradit justiciam aeternam cordis. Interim non dissipat Politiam aut Economiam, sed maxime postulat conservare tanquam ordinaciones Dei, et in talibus ordinationibus exercere caritatem. Itaque necessario debent Christiani obedire magistratibus suis et legibus; nisi cum jubent peccare, tunc etiam magis debent obedire Deo quam hominibus (Acts v. 29).

appoint just punishments, engage in just war, act as soldiers, make legal bargains and contracts, hold property, take an oath when the magistrates require it, marry a wife, or be given in marriage. They condemn the Anabaptists who forbid Christians these civil offices. They condemn also those that place the perfection of the Gospel, not in the fear of God and in faith, but in forsaking civil offices, inasmuch as the Gospel teacheth an everlasting righteousness of the heart. In the mean time, it doth not disallow order and government of commonwealths or families, but requireth especially the preservation and maintenance thereof, as of God's own ordinances, and that in such ordinances we should exercise love. Christians, therefore, must necessarily obey their magistrates and laws, save only when they command any sin; for then they must rather obey God than men (Acts v. 29).

ART. XVII.—De Christi Reditu ad Judicium.

Item docent, quod Christus apparet in consummatione mundi [am jüngsten Tag] ad iudicandum, et mortuos omnes resuscitat, piis et electis dabit vitam aeternam et perpetua gaudia, impios autem homines ac

ART. XVII.—Of Christ's Return to Judgment.

Also they teach that, in the consummation of the world [at the last day], Christ shall appear to judge, and shall raise up all the dead, and shall give unto the godly and elect eternal life and everlasting joys; but ungodly men and the devils diabolos condemnabit, ut sine fine crucientur.

Dannant Anabaptistas, qui sentiunt hominibus damnatis ac diabolis finem panarum futurum esse. Dannant et alios, qui nunc spargunt Iudaicas opiniones, quod ante resurrectionem mortuorum pii regnum mundi occupaturi sint, ubique oppressis impiis [eitel Heilige, Fromme ein weltlich Reich haben, und alle Gottlosen vertilgen werden].

shall he condemn unto endless torments.

They condemn the Anabaptists who think that to condemned men and the devils shall be an end of torments. They condemn others also, who now scatter Jewish opinions, that, before the resurrection of the dead, the godly shall occupy the kingdom of the world, the wicked being every where suppressed [the saints alone, the pious, shall have a worldly kingdom, and shall exterminate all the godless].

ART. XVIII.—De Libero Arbitrio.

De libero arbitrio docent, quod humana voluntas habeat aliquam libertatem ad efficiendam civilem justiciam et deligendas res rationi subjectas. Sed non habet vim sine Spiritu Sancto efficiendi justiciam Dei seu justicie spiritualis, quia animalis homo non percipit ea, quae sunt Spiritus Dei (1 Cor. ii. 14); sed haec fit in cordibus, cum per verbum Spiritus Sanctus concipitur.

Hæc totidem verbis dicit Augustinus lib. III. Hypognosticon : Esse fuitemur liberum arbitrium omnibus hominibus, habens quidem judicium rationis, non per quod sit idonum in iis, quae ad Deum pertinent, sine Deo aut inchoare

ART. XVIII.—Of Free Will.

Concerning free will, they teach that man's will hath some liberty to work a civil righteousness, and to choose such things as reason can reach unto; but that it hath no power to work the righteousness of God, or a spiritual righteousness, without the Spirit of God; because that the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God (1 Cor. ii. 14). But this is wrought in the heart when men do receive the Spirit of God through the Word.

These things are in as many words affirmed by St. Augustine, Hypognosticon, lib. iii.: ‘We confess that there is in all men a free will, which hath indeed the judgment of reason; not that it is thereby fitted, without God, either to begin or to perform any thing in matters pertaining to God, but only in works belonging to this present life, whether they be good or evil. By good works, I mean those which are of the goodness of nature; as to will to labor in the field, to desire meat or drink, to desire to have a friend, to desire apparel, to desire to build a house, to marry a wife, to nourish cattle, to learn the art of divers good things, to desire any good thing pertaining to this present life; all which are not without God's government, yea, they are, and had their beginning from God and by God. Among evil things, I account such as these: to will to worship an image; to will manslaughter, and such like.¹

They condemn the Pelagians and others, who teach that by the powers of nature alone, without the Spirit of God, we are able to love God above all things; also to perform the commandments of God, as touching the substance of our actions. For although nature be able in some sort to do the external works (for it is able to withhold the hands from theft and murder), yet it can not work the inward motions, such as the fear of God, trust in God, chastity, patience, and such like.

¹ The wording of this article is considerably changed in the edition of 1540.

ART. XIX.—De Causa Peccati.

De causa peccati docent, quod tametsi Deus creat et conservat naturam, tamen causa peccati est voluntas malorum, videlicet diaboli et impiorum, que non adjuvante Deo arerit se a Deo, sicut Christus ait (John viii. 44): Cum loquitur mendacium, ex se ipso loquitur.

ART. XX.—De Bonis Operibus.¹

Falso accusantur nostri, quod bona opera prohibeant. Nam scripta eorum, que extant de decem praeceptis, et alia simili argumento testantur, quod utiliter docuerint de omnibus vita generibus et officiis, quae genera vitae, que opera in qualibet vocatione Deo placeant. De quibus rebus olim parum docebant Concionatores, tantum puerilia et non necessaria opera urgebant, ut certas ferias, certa jejunia, fraternitates, peregrinationes, cultus Sanctorum, rosaria, monachatum et similia. Ille adversarii nostri admoniti nunc dediscent, nec perinde prudicant hac inutilia opera, ut olim. Preterea incipiunt fidei mentionem facere, de qua olim mirum erat silentium. Docent nos non tantum operibus justificari, sed conjungunt fidem

ART. XIX.—Of the Cause of Sin.

Touching the cause of sin, they teach that, although God doth create and preserve nature, yet the cause of sin is the will of the wicked; to wit, of the devil and ungodly men; which will, God not aiding, turneth itself from God, as Christ saith: ‘When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own’ (John viii. 44).

ART. XX.—Of Good Works.

Ours are falsely accused of forbidding good works. For their writings extant upon the Ten Commandments, and others of the like argument, do bear witness that they have to good purpose taught concerning every kind of life, and its duties; what kinds of life, and what works in every calling, do please God. Of which things preachers in former times taught little or nothing: only they urged certain childish and needless works; as, keeping of holidays, set fasts, fraternities, pilgrimages, worshiping of saints, the use of rosaries, monachery, and such like things. Whereof our adversaries having had warning, they do now unlearn them, and do not preach concerning these unprofitable works, as they were wont. Besides, they begin now to make mention of faith, concerning which et opera, et dicunt, nos fide et operibus justificari. Que doctrina tolerabilior est priore, et plus afferre potest consolationis, quam vetus ipsorum doctrina.

Cum igitur doctrina de fide, quam oportet in Ecclesia pricipuam esse, tam diu jacuerit ignota, quemadmodum fateri omnes necesse est, de fidei justitia altissimum silentium fuisse in concionibus, tantum doctrinam operum versatam esse in ecclesiis, nostri de fide sic admonuerunt ecclesiæ :

Principio, quod opera nostra non possint reconciliare Deum, aut mereri remissionem peccatorum et gratiam et justificationem, sed hanc tantum fide consequimur, credentes, quod propter Christum recipiamur in gratiam, qui solus positus est Mediator et Propitiatorium (1 Tim. ii. 5), per quem reconcilietur Pater. Itaque qui confidit, operibus semereri gratiam, is aspernatur Christi meritum et gratiam, et querit sine Christo humanis viribus viam ad Deum, cum Christus de se dixerit (John xiv. 6): Ego sum via, veritas et vita.

there was formerly a deep silence. They teach that we are not justified by works alone; but they conjoin faith and works, and say we are justified by faith and works. Which doctrine is more tolerable than the former one, and can afford more consolation than their old doctrine.

Whereas, therefore, the doctrine of faith, which should be the chief one in the Church, hath been so long unknown, as all men must needs grant, that there was the deepest silence about the righteousness of faith in their sermons, and that the doctrine of works was usual in the churches; for this cause our divines did thus admonish the churches:

First, that our works can not reconcile God, or deserve remission of sins, grace, and justification at his hands, but that these we obtain by faith only, when we believe that we are received into favor for Christ's sake, who alone is appointed the Mediator and Propitiatory, by whom the Father is reconciled. He, therefore, that trusteth by his works to merit grace, doth despise the merit and grace of Christ, and seeketh by his own power, without Christ, to come unto the Father: whereas Christ hath said expressly of himself, 'I am the way, the truth, and the life' (John xiv. 6).

Hæc doctrina de fide ubique in Paulo tractatur (Eph. ii. 8): Gratia salvi facti estis per fidem, et hoc non ex vobis, Dei donum est, non ex operibus, etc. Et ne quis cavilletur, a nobis novam Pauli interpretationem excogitari, tota hæc causa habet testimonia Patrum. Nam Augustinus multis voluminibus defendit gratiam et justitiam fidei contra meritum operum. Et similia docet Ambrosius de vocatione gentium, et alibi. Sic enim inquit de vocatione gentium: Vilesceret redemptio sanguinis Christi, nec misericordie Dei humanorum operum prarrogativa succumberet, si justificatio, que fit per gratiam, meritis precedentibus deberetur, ut non munus largientis, sed merces esset operantis.

Quanquam autem hæc doctrina contemnitur ab imperitis, tamen experiuntur pie ac paride conscientie, plurimum eam consolationis afferre, quia conscientiae non possunt reddi tranquillæ per ulla opera, sed tantum fide, cum certo statuunt, quod propter Christum habeant placatum Deum; quemadmodum Paulus docet

This doctrine of faith is handled by Paul almost every where: ‘By grace ye are saved through faith, and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God, not of works’ (Eph. ii. 8, 9). And lest any here should cavil, that we bring in a new-found interpretation, this whole cause is sustained by testimonies of the Fathers. Augustine doth in many volumes defend grace, and the righteousness of faith, against the merit of works. The like doth Ambrose teach in his book, De Vocatione Gentium, and elsewhere; for thus he saith of the calling of the Gentiles: ‘The redemption made by the blood of Christ would be of small account, and the prerogative of man’s works would not give place to the mercy of God, if the justification which is by grace were due to merits going before; so as it should not be the liberality of the giver, but the wages or hire of the laborer.’

This doctrine, though it be contemned of the unskillful, yet godly and fearful consciences find by experience that it bringeth very great comfort: because that consciences can not be quieted by any works, but by faith alone, when they believe assuredly that they have a God who is propitiated for Christ’s sake; as St. Paul teacheth, ‘Being justified

(Rom. v. 1): Justificati per fidem, pacem habemus apud Deum. Totam haec doctrinam ad illud certamen perterrefactæ conscientie referenda est, nec sine illo certamine intelligi potest. Quare male judicant de ea re homines imperiti et prophani, qui Christianam justitiam nihil esse somniabant, nisi civilem et philosophicam justitiam.

Olim vexabantur conscientiae doctrina operum, non audiebant ex Evangelio consolationem. Quosdam conscientia expulit in desertum, in monasteria, sperantes ibi se gratiam merituros esse per vitam monasticam. Alii alia excogitaverunt opera ad promerendam gratiam et satisfacendum pro peccatis. Ideo magnopere fuit opus, hanc doctrinam de fide in Christum tradere et renovare, ne decesset consolatio pavidis conscientiis, sed scirent fide in Christum apprehendi gratiam et remissionem peccatorum et justificationem.

Admonentur etiam homines, quod hic nomen fidei non significet tantum historie notitiam, qualis est in impiis et diabolo, sed significet fidem, que credit non tantum historiam, sed etiam by faith, we have peace with God' (Rom. v. 1). This doctrine doth wholly belong to the conflict of a troubled conscience; and can not be understood, but where the conscience hath felt that conflict. Wherefore, all such as have had no experience thereof, and all that are profane men, who dream that Christian righteousness is naught else but a civil and philosophical righteousness, are poor judges of this matter.

Formerly men's consciences were vexed with the doctrine of works; they did not hear any comfort out of the Gospel. Whereupon conscience drove some into the desert, into monasteries, hoping there to merit grace by a monastical life. Others devised other works, whereby to merit grace, and to satisfy for sin. There was very great need, therefore, to teach and renew this doctrine of faith in Christ; to the end that fearful consciences might not want comfort, but might know that grace, and forgiveness of sins, and justification, are received by faith in Christ.

Another thing, which we teach men, is that in this place the name of FAITH doth not only signify a knowledge of the history, which may be in the wicked, and in the devil, but that it signifieth a faith ffectum historie, videlicet hunc articulum, remissionem peccatorum, quod videlicet per Christum habeamus gratiam, justitium et remissionem peccatorum. Jam qui scit, se per Christum habere propitium Patrem, is vere novit Deum, scit, se ei cure esse, invocat eum; denique non est sine Deo, sicut gentes. Nam diaboli et impii non possunt hunc articulum credere, remissionem peccatorum. Ideo Deum tanquam hostem oderunt, non invocant eum, nihil boni ab eo expectant. Augustinus etiam de fidei nomine hoc modo admonet lectorem et docet, in Scripturis nomen fidei accipi, non pro notitia, qualis est in impiis, sed pro fiducia, que consolatur et erigit perterrefactas mentes.

Preterea docent nostri, quod necesse sit bona opera facere, non ut confidamus per ea gratiam mereri, sed propter voluntatem Dei. Tantum fide apprehenditur remissio peccatorum ac gratia. Et quia per fidem accipitur Spiritus Sanctus, jam corda renovantur et induunt novos affectus, ut parere bona opera which believeth, not only the history, but also the effect of the history; to wit, the article of remission of sins; namely, that by Christ we have grace, righteousness, and remission of sins. Now he that knoweth that he hath the Father merciful to him through Christ, this man knoweth God truly; he knoweth that God hath a care of him; he loveth God, and calleth upon him; in a word, he is not without God, as the Gentiles are. For the devils and the wicked can never believe this article of the remission of sins; and therefore they hate God as their enemy; they call not upon him, they look for no good thing at his hands. After this manner doth Augustine admonish the reader touching the name of Faith, and teacheth that this word Faith is taken in Scriptures, not for such a knowledge as is in the wicked, but for a trust, which doth comfort and lift up disquieted minds.

Moreover, ours teach that it is necessary to do good works; not that we may trust that we deserve grace by them, but because it is the will of God that we should do them. By faith alone is apprehended remission of sins and grace. And because the Holy Spirit is received by faith, our hearts are now renewed, and so put on new affec-possint. Sic enim ait Ambrosius: Fides bonae voluntatis et justae actionis genitrix est. Nam humanae vires, sine Spiritu Sancto, plenae sunt impiis affectibus, et sunt imbecilliores, quam ut bona opera possint efficiere coram Deo. Ad hæc, sunt in potestate diaboli, qui impellit homines ad varia peccata, ad impias opiniones, ad manifesta scelera. Quemadmodum est videre in philosophis, qui et ipsi conati honeste vivere, tamen id non potuerunt efficere, sed contaminati sunt multis manifestis sceleribus. Talis est imbecillitas hominis, cum est sine fide et sine Spiritu Sancto, et tantum humanis viribus se gubernat.

Hinc facile appareat, hanc doctrinam non esse accusandam, quod bona opera prohibeat, sed multo magis laudandam, quod ostendit, quomodo bona opera facere possimus. Nam sine fide nullo modo potest humana natura primi aut secundi præcepti opera facere. Sine fide non invocat Deum, a Deo nihil expectat, non tollerat crucem, sed querit humana præsidia, confidit humanis præsidii. Ita regnat in corde omnes cupiditates et humana consilia, cum abest fides et fiducia erga Deum.

tions, so that they are able to bring forth good works. For thus saith Ambrose: ‘Faith is the begetter of a good will and of good actions.’ For man’s powers, without the Holy Spirit, are full of wicked affections, and are too weak to perform any good deed before God. Besides, they are in the devil’s power, who driveth men forward into divers sins, into profane opinions, and into heinous crimes; as was to be seen in the philosophers, who, assaying to live an honest life, could not attain unto it, but were defiled with many heinous crimes. Such is the weakness of man, when he is without faith and the Holy Spirit, and hath no other guide but the natural powers of man.

Hereby every man may see that this doctrine is not to be accused, as forbidding good works; but rather is much to be commended, because it sheweth after what sort we must do good works. For without faith the nature of man can by no means perform the works of the First or Second Table. Without faith, it can not call upon God, hope in God, bear the cross; but seeketh help from man, and trusteth in man’s help. So it cometh to pass that all lusts and human counsels bear sway in the heart so long as faith and trust in God are absent.

Quare et Christus dixit: Sine me nihil potestis facere (John xv. 5). Et Ecclesiu canit: Sine tuo numine nihil est in homine, nihil est innoxium.

ART. XXI.—*De Cultu Sanctorum.*¹

De cultu Sanctorum docent, quod memoria Sanctorum proponi potest, ut imitemur fidem eorum et bona opera juxta vocacionem; ut Cesar imitari potest exemplum Davidis in bello gerendo ad depellendos Turcas a patria. Nam uterque Rex est. Sed Scriptura non docet invocare Sanctos, seu petere auxilium a Sanctis; quia unum Christum nobis proponit mediatorem, propitiatorium, pontificem et intercessorem. Hic invocandus est, et promisit, se exauditum esse preces nostras, et hunc cultum maxime probat, videlicet, ut invocetur in omnibus afflictionibus (1 John ii. 1). Si quis peccat, habemus advocateum apud Deum, etc.

Wherefore, also, Christ saith, ‘Without me ye can do nothing’ (John xv. 5), and the Church singeth, ‘Without thy power is naught in man, naught that is innocent.’

ART. XXI.—Of the Worship of Saints.

Touching the worship of saints, they teach that the memory of saints may be set before us, that we may follow their faith and good works according to our calling; as the Emperor may follow David’s example in making war to drive away the Turks from his country; for either of them is a king. But the Scripture teacheth not to invoke saints, or to ask help of saints, because it propoundeth unto us one Christ the Mediator, Propitiatory, High-Priest, and Intercessor. This Christ is to be invoked, and he hath promised that he will hear our prayers, and liketh this worship especially, to wit, that he be invoked in all afflictions. ‘If any man sin, we have an advocate with God, Jesus Christ the righteous’ (1 John ii. 1).

This being the case, they judge us harshly who insist that we shall be regarded as heretics. But the dissension is concerning certain [traditions and] abuses, which without any certain authority have crept into the churches; in which things, even if there were some difference, yet would it be a becoming lenity on the part of the bishops that, on account of the Confession which we have now presented, they should bear with us, since not even the Canons are so severe as to demand the same rites every where, nor were the rites of all churches at any time the same. Although among us in large part the ancient rites are diligently observed. For it is a calumnious falsehood, that all the ceremonies, all the things instituted of old, are abolished in our churches. But the public complaint was that certain abuses were connected with the rites in common use. These, because they could not with good conscience be approved, have to some extent been corrected.

Inasmuch as the churches among us dissent in no article of faith from [the holy Scriptures, or] the Church Catholic [the Universal Christian Church], and only omit a few of certain abuses, which are novel [in part have crept in with time, in part have been introduced by violence], and, contrary to the purport of the Canons, have been received by the fault of the times, we beg that Your Imperial Majesty would clemently hear both what ought to be changed and what are the reasons that the people ought not to be forced against their consciences to observe those abuses.

Nor should Your Imperial Majesty have faith in those who, that they may inflame the hatred of men against us, scatter amazing slanders among the people. In this way, the minds of good men being angered at the beginning, they gave occasion to this dissension, and by the same art they now endeavor to increase the discords. For beyond doubt your Imperial Majesty will find that the form, both of doctrines and of ceremonies, among us is far more tolerable than that which these wicked and malicious men describe. The truth, moreover, can not be gathered from common rumors and the reproaches of enemies. But it is easy to judge this, that nothing is more profitable to preserve the dignity of ceremonies and to nurture reverence and piety among the people than that the ceremonies should be rightly performed in the churches.

ART. I.—*De Utraque Specie.*¹

Laicis datur utraque species Sacramenti in Cœna Domini, quia hic mos habet mandatum Domini (Matt. xxvi. 27): Bibite ex hoc omnes. Ubi manifeste præcepit Christus de poculo, ut omnes bibant; et ne quis possit cavillari, quod hoc ad sacerdotes tantum pertineat, Paulus ad Corinth. (1 Cor. xi. 26) exemplum recitat, in quo apparet, totum Ecclesiam utraque specie usum esse. ART. I.—Of both Kinds [in the Lord's Supper].

Both kinds of the Sacrament in the Lord's Supper are given to the laity, because that this custom hath the commandment of the Lord: ‘Drink ye all of this’ (Matt. xxvi. 27); where Christ doth manifestly command concerning the cup that all should drink. And that no man might cavil that this doth only pertain to the priests, the example of Paul to the Corinthians witnesseth that the whole Church did use both kinds in common (1 Cor. xi. 28). And this custom remained a long time in the Church; neither is it certain when or by what authority it was changed; although the Cardinal de Cusa relates when it was approved. [And this custom remained a long Idem testatur Hieronymus, qui ait, sacerdotes Eucharistiae ministrant, et sanguinem Christi populis dividunt. Imo Gelasius Papa mandat, ne dividatur Sacramentum (Dist. II. de Consecratione. Cap. Comperimus). Tantum consuetudo non ita vetus aliud habet. Constat autem, quod consuetudo, contra mandata Dei introducta, non sit probanda, ut testantur Canones (Dist. VIII. Cap. Quare si qui maluerunt utraque specie Sacramenti uti, non fuerunt cogendi, ut aliter facerent cum offensione conscientiarum. time in the churches, as may be proved from history and the writings of the Fathers.] Cyprian in certain places doth witness that the blood was given to the people; the same thing doth Jerome testify, saying, ‘The priests do minister the Eucharist, and communicate the blood of Christ to the people.’ Nay, Pope Gelasius commandeth that the Sacrament be not divided (Dist. II., De Consecr. Cap. Comperimus). Only a custom, not thus ancient, doth otherwise. But it is manifest that a custom, brought in contrary to the commandments of God, is not to be approved, as the Canons do witness (Dist. VIII., Cap. Veritate) with the words which follow. Now this custom has been received, not only against the Scripture, but also against the ancient Canons and the example of the Church. Therefore if any would rather use both kinds in the Sacrament, they are not to be compelled to do otherwise with the offense of their conscience. And because that the division of the Sacrament doth not agree with the institution of Christ, among us it is the custom to omit that procession which hitherto hath been in use.

ART. II.—Of the Marriage of Priests.

There was a common complaint of the examples of such priests as tinebant. Quam ob causam et Pius Papa dixisse fertur, fuisset aliquas causas, cur ademptum sit sacerdotibus conjugium, sed multo maiores esse causas, cur reddi debeat; sic enim scribit Platina. Cum igitur sacerdotes apud nos publica illa scandalu vitare vellent, duxerunt uxores, ac docuerunt, quod liceat ipsis contrahere matrimonium. Primum, quia Paulus dicit (1 Cor. vii. 2): Unusquisque habeat uxorem suam propter fornicationem. Item (9): Melius est nubere, quam uri. Secundo, Christus inquit (Matt. xix. 12): Non omnes capiunt verbum hoc; ubi docet, non omnes homines ad cælibatum idoneos esse, quia Deus creavit hominem ad procreacionem (Gen. i. 28). Nec est humanae potestatis, sine singulari dono et opere Dei creationem mutare. Igitur qui non sunt idonei ad cælibatum, debent contrahere matrimonium. Nam mandatum Dei et ordinationem Dei nulla lex humana, nullum votum tollere potest. Ex his causis docent Sacerdotes, sibi licere uxores ducent. Constat etiam, in Ecclesia veteri Sacerdotes fuisse maritos. Nam et Paulus ait (1 Tim. iii. 2), Episcopum eligendum esse, qui sit maritus. Et in Germaniawere not continent. For which cause Pope Pius is reported to have said, that ‘there were certain causes for which marriage was forbidden to priests, but there were many weightier causes why it should be permitted again;’ for so Platina writeth. Whereas, therefore, the priests among us seek to avoid these public offenses, they have married wives, and have taught that it is lawful for them to enter into marriage. First, because that Paul saith, ‘To avoid fornication, let every man have his wife;’ again, ‘It is better to marry than to burn’ (1 Cor. vii. 2, 9). Secondly, Christ saith, ‘All men can not receive this word’ (Matt. xix. 11); where he showeth that all men are not fit for a single life, because that God created mankind male and female (Gen. i. 28). Nor is it in man’s power, without a special gift and work of God, to alter his creation. Therefore such as are not meet for a single life ought to contract marriage. For no law of man, no vow, can take away the commandment of God and his ordinance. By these reasons the priests do prove that they may lawfully take wives. And it is well known that in the ancient churches priests were married. For Paul saith, ‘That a bishop must be chosen which is a husband’ (1 Tim.

nisi primum ante annos quadragesimos Sacerdotes vi coacti sunt ad celibatum, qui quidem adeo adversati sunt, ut Archiepiscopus Moguntinus, publicatus edictum Rom. Pontificis de ea re, pene ab iratis Sacerdotibus per tumultum oppressus sit. Et res gesta est tam incivileriter, ut non solum in posterum conjugia prohiberentur, sed etiam presentia, contra omnia jura divina et humana, contra ipsos etiam Canones, factos non solum a Pontificibus, sed a laudatissimis Synodis, distraherentur. Et cum senescente mundo paulatim natura humana fiat imbecillior, convenit prospicere, ne plura virtus serpent in Germaniam. Porro Deus instituit conjugium, ut esset remedium humane infirmitatis. Ipsi Canones veterem rigorem interdum posterioribus temporibus propter imbecillitatem hominum laxandum esse dicunt, quod optandum est, ut fiat et in hoc negotio. Ac videntur ecclesiis aliquando defuturi pastores, si diutius prohibeatur conjugium.

Cum autem extet mandatum Dei, cum mos Ecclesiae notus

iii. 2). And in Germany, not until about four hundred years ago, were the priests by violence compelled to live a single life; who then were so wholly bent against the matter, that the Archbishop of Mentz, being about to publish the Pope of Rome's decree to that effect, was almost murdered in a tumult by the priests in their anger. And the matter was handled so rudely, that not only were marriages forbidden for the time to come, but also such as were then contracted were broken asunder, contrary to all laws divine and human, contrary to the Canons themselves, that were before made not only by Popes, but also by most famous Councils. And seeing that, as the world decayeth, man's nature by little and little waxeth weaker, it is well to look to it, that no more vices do overspread Germany. Furthermore, God ordained marriage to be a remedy for man's infirmity. The Canons themselves do say that the old rigor is now and then in latter times to be released because of the weakness of men. Which it were to be wished might be done in this matter also. And if marriage be forbidden any longer, the churches may at length want pastors.

Seeing, then, that there is a plain commandment of God; seeing the sit, cum impurus cælibatus plurima pariat scandalum, adulteria et alia scelera, digna animadversione boni magistratus: tamen mirum est, nulla in re majorem exerceri sevitiam, quam adversus conjugium Sacerdotum. Deus præcepit honore afficere conjugium. Leges in omnibus rebus publicis bene constitutis, etiam apud Ethnicos, maximis honoribus ornaverunt. At nunc capitalibus pœnis excruciantur, et quidem Sacerdotes, contra Canonum voluntatem, nullam aliam ob causam, nisi propter conjugium. Paulus vocat doctrinam dæmoniorum, quæ prohibet conjugium (1 Tim. iv. 1, 3). Id facile nunc intelligi potest, cum talibus suppliciis prohibitio conjugii defenditur.

Sicut autem nulla lex humana potest mandatum Dei tollere, ita nec votum potest tollere mandatum Dei. Proinde etiam Cyprianus suadet, ut mulieres nubant, quæ non servant promissam castitatem. Verba ejus sunt hæc, Lib. I., Epistola XI.: ‘Si autem perseverare nolunt, aut non possunt, melius est, ut nubant, quam ut in ignem deliciis suis cadant; certe nullum fratribus aut sororibus use of the Church is well known; seeing that impure single life bringeth forth very many offenses, adulteries, and other enormities worthy to be punished by the godly magistrate, it is a marvel that greater cruelty should be showed in no other thing than against the marriage of priests. God hath commanded to honor marriage; the laws in all well-ordered commonwealths, even among the heathen, have adorned marriage with very great honors. But now men are cruelly put to death, yea, and priests also, contrary to the mind of the Canons, for no other cause but marriage. Paul calleth that ‘a doctrine of devils’ which forbiddeth marriage (1 Tim. iv. 1, 3); which may now very well be seen, since the forbidding of marriage is maintained by such punishments.

But as no law of man can take away the law of God, no more can any vow whatsoever. Therefore Cyprian also giveth counsel, that those women should marry who do not keep their vowed chastity. His words are these, in the 1st Book, the 2d Epistle: ‘If they will not or are not able to endure, it is far better they should marry than that they should fall into the fire by their importunate desires. In any wise let them give no offense to their scandalum faciant? Et æquitate quadam utuntur ipsi Canones erga hos, qui ante justam votatem vocerunt, quomodo fere hactenus fieri consuevit.

ART. III.—*De Missa.*¹

Falso accusantur Ecclesie nostræ, quod Missam aboleant; retinetur enim Missa apud nos, et summa reverentia celebratur. Servantur et usitatæ ceremonie fere omnes, præterquam quod Latinis cantionibus [neben lateinischem Gesung] admiscentur alicubi Germanicæ, que additæ sunt ad docendum populum. Nam ad hoc unum opus est ceremoniis, ut doceant imperitos.

Et non modo Paulus præcipit (1 Cor. xiv. 9) uti lingua intellecta populo in ecclesia, sed etiam ita constitutum est humano jure. Assuerit populus, ut una utantur Sacramento, si qui sunt idonei, id quoque auget reverentiam ac religionem publicarum ceremoniarum. Nulli enim admittuntur, nisi antea explorati. Admonentur etiam homines de dignitate et usu Sacramenti, quantum con-brethren or sisters.' Yea, even the Canons show some kind of justice towards such as before their ripe years did vow chastity, as hitherto the use hath for the most part been.

ART. III.—*Of the Mass.*¹

Our churches are wrongfully accused to have abolished the Mass. For the Mass is retained still among us, and celebrated with great reverence; yea, and almost all the ceremonies that are in use, saving that with the things sung in Latin we mingle certain things sung in German at various parts of the service, which are added for the people's instruction. For therefore alone we have need of ceremonies, that they may teach the unlearned.

This is not only commanded by St. Paul, to use a tongue that the people understand (1 Cor. xiv. 9), but man's law hath also appointed it. We accustom the people to receive the Sacrament together, if so be any be found fit thereunto; and that is a thing that doth increase the reverence and due estimation of the public ceremonies. For none are admitted, except they be first proved. Besides, we put men in solationem afferat pavidis conscientiis, ut discant Deo credere, et omnia bona a Deo expectare et petere.

Hic cultus delectat Deum, talis usus Sacramenti alit pietatem erga Deum. Itaque non videntur apud adversarios Missæ maijore religione fieri, quam apud nos.

Constat autem hanc quoque publicam et longe maximam querelam omnium bonorum virorum diu fuisse, quod Missæ turpiter prophanarentur, collate ad questum. Neque enim obscurum est, quam late pateat hic abusus in omnibus templis, a qualibus celebrentur Missæ, tantum propter mercedem aut stipendium, quam multi contra interdictum Canonum celebrent. Paulus autem graviter minatur his, qui indigne tractant Eucharistium, cum ait (1 Cor. xi. 27): 'Qui ederit panem hunc, aut bibet calicem Domini indigne, reus erit corporis et sanguinis Domini.' Itaque cum apud nos admonerentur Sacerdotes de hoc peccato, desierunt apud nos private Missæ, cum fere nulle private Missæ nisi questus causa fierent. Neque ignoraverunt hos mind of the worthiness and use of the Sacrament, how great comfort it bringeth to timid consciences; that they may learn to believe God, and to look for and crave all good things at his hands.

This worship doth please God; such a use of the Sacrament doth nourish piety towards God. Therefore it seemeth not that Masses be more religiously celebrated among our adversaries than with us.

But it is evident that of long time this hath been the publick and most grievous complaint of all good men, that Masses are basely profaned, being used for gain. And it is not unknown how far this abuse hath spread itself in all churches; of what manner of men Masses are used, only for a reward, or for wages; and how many do use them against the prohibition of the Canons. But Paul doth grievously threaten those who treat the Lord's Supper unworthily, saying, 'He that eateth this bread or drinketh this cup of the Lord unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord' (1 Cor. xi. 27). Therefore, when the priests among us were admonished of this sin, private Masses were laid aside among us, seeing that for the most part there were no private Masses but only for lucre's sake. Neither were abusus episcopi, qui si corre-xissent eos in tempore, minus nunc esset dissensionum. Antea sua dissimulatione multa vitia passi sunt in Ecclesiam serpere. Nunc sero incipiunt queri de calamitatibus Ecclesie, cum hic tumultus non aliunde sumpserit occasionem, quam ex illis abusibus, qui tam manifestabantur, ut tolerari amplius non possent. Magne dissensiones de Missa, de Sacramento extiterunt. Fortasse dat penas orbis tam diuturne prophanationis Missarum, quam in Ecclesiis tot seculis tolerarerunt isti, qui emendare et poterant et debebant. Nam in Decalogo scriptum est (Exod. xx. 7): ‘Qui Dei nomine abutitur, non erit impunitus.’ At ab initio mundi nulla res divina ita videtur unquam ad questum collata fuisse, ut Missa.

Accessit opinio, quæ auxit pri-vatas Missas in infinitum, ride-licit quod Christus sua passione satisfecerit pro peccato originis, et instituerit Missam, in qua fieret oblatio pro quotidianis delictis, mortilibus et venialibus. Hinc manavit publica opinio, the bishops ignorant of these abuses, and if they had amended them in time, there had now been less of dissensions. Heretofore, by their assembling, they suffered much corruption to creep into the Church; now they begin, though it be late, to complain of the calamities of the Church; seeing that this tumult was raised up by no other mean than by those abuses, which were so evident that they could no longer be tolerated. There were many dissensions, concerning the Mass, concerning the Sacrament. And perhaps the world is punished for so long a profaning of Masses, which they, who both could and ought to have amended it, have so many years tolerated in the churches. For in the Ten Commandments it is written, ‘He that taketh in vain the name of the Lord shall not be held guiltless’ (Exod. xx. 7). And from the beginning of the world there neither was nor is any divine thing which seems so to have been employed for gain as the Mass.

There was added an opinion, which increased private Masses infinitely: to wit, that Christ by his passion did satisfy for original sin, and appointed the Mass, wherein an oblation should be made for daily sins, both mortal and venial. Hierupon a common opinion was quod Missa sit opus delens peccata vivorum et mortuorum ex opere operato. Hic cōptum est disputari, utrum una Missa, dicta pro pluribus, tantundem valeat, quantum singule pro singulari. Hec disputatio peperit istam infinitam multitudinem Missarum. De his opinionibus nostri admonuerunt, quod dissentiant a Scripturis Sanctis, et ledant gloriam passionis Christi. Nam passio Christi fuit oblatione et satisfactio, non solum pro culpa originis, sed etiam pro omnibus reliquis peccatis, ut ad Hebraeos (x. 10) scriptum est: ‘Sanctificati sumus per oblationem Jesu Christi semel.’ Item (Heb. x. 14): ‘Una oblatione consumavit in perpetuum sanctificatos.’ Item, Scriptura docet, nos coram Deo justificari per fidem in Christum, cum credimus, nobis remitti peccata propter Christum. Jam si Missa delet peccata vivorum et mortuorum ex opere operato, continetur justificatio ex opere Missarum, non ex fide, quod Scriptura non patitur. Sed Christus jubet (Luke xxii. 19) ‘facere in sui memoriam,’ quare Missa instituta est, ut fides in iis, qui utuntur Sacramento, recordetur, quae beneficia accipiat per received, that the Mass is a work that taketh away the sins of the quick and the dead, and that for the doing of the work. Here men began to dispute whether one Mass said for many were of as great force as particular Masses said for particular men. This disputation hath brought forth that infinite multitude of Masses. Our preachers have admonished concerning these opinions that they do depart from the holy Scriptures, and diminish the glory of the passion of Christ. For the passion of Christ was an oblation and satisfaction, not only for original sin, but also for all other sins; as it is written in the Epistle to the Hebrews (x. 10): ‘We are sanctified by the oblation of Jesus Christ once made;’ also, ‘By one oblation he hath perfected forever them that are sanctified’ (Heb. x. 14). The Scripture also teacheth that we are justified before God through faith in Christ, when we believe that our sins are forgiven for Christ’s sake. Now, if the Mass do take away the sins of the quick and the dead, even for the work’s sake that is done, then justification cometh by the work of Masses, and not by faith; which the Scripture can not endure. But Christ commandeth us ‘to do it in remembrance of himself’ (Luke xxii. 19), therefore Christum, et erigat et consoletur pavidum conscientiam. Nam id est meminisse Christi, beneficia meminisse, ac sentire, quod vere exhibeantur nobis. Nec satis est historiam recordari, quia hanc etiam Judaei et impii recordari possunt. Est igitur ad hoc facienda Missa, ut ibi porrigitur Sacramentum his, quibus opus est consolatione, sicut Ambrosius ait: ‘Quia semper pecco, semper debo accipere medicinam.’

the Mass has been instituted that faith in them which use the Sacrament may remember what benefits it receiveth by Christ, and that it may raise and comfort the fearful conscience. For this is to remember Christ, to wit, to remember his benefits, and to feel and perceive that they be indeed imparted unto us.
Nor is it sufficient to call to mind the history; because that the Jews also and the wicked can do. Therefore the Mass must be used to this end, that there the Sacrament may be reached unto them that have need of comfort; as Ambrose saith, ‘Because I do always sin, therefore I ought always to receive the medicine.’

Cum autem Missa sit talis communicatio Sacramenti, servatur apud nos una communis Missa singulis fériis atque aliis etiam diebus, si qui Sacramento velint uti, ubi porrigitur Sacramentum his, qui petunt. Neque hic mos in Ecclesia novus est, nam veteres ante Gregorium non faciunt mentionem private Missa; de conuni Missa plurimum loquuntur. Chrysostomus ait: ‘Sacerdotem quotidie stare ad altare, et alios ad communionem accer-sere, alios arcere.’ Et ex Canonibus veteribus apparet, unum aliquem celebrasse Missam, a quo reliqui presbyteri et diaconi

And seeing that the Mass is such a communion of the Sacrament, we do observe one common Mass every holy day, and on other days, if any will use the Sacrament, at which times it is offered to them that desire it. Neither is this custom newly brought into the Church.
For the ancients, before Gregory’s time, make no mention of any private Mass; of the common Mass they speak much. Chrysostom saith that ‘the priest doth daily stand at the altar, and call some unto the Communion, and put back others.’
And by the ancient Canons it is evident that some one did celebrate the Mass, of whom the other elders sumpserunt corpus Domini. Sie enim sonant verba Canonis Niceni: ‘Accipient diaconi secundum ordinem post presbyteros ab episcopo vel a presbytero sacram communionem?’ Et Paulus (1 Cor. xi. 33) de communione jubet, ut alii alios expectent, ut fiat communis participatio.

Postquam igitur Missa apud nos habet exemplum Ecclesie, ex Scriptura et Patribus, confidimus improbari eam non posse, maxime cum publice ceremonie magna ex parte similes usitatis serventur; tunc numerus Missarum est dissimilis, quem propter maximos et manifestos abusus certe moderari prodesset. Nam olim etiam in ecclesiis frequentissimis non fiebat quotidie Missa, ut testatur Historia Tripartita Lib. IX. Cap. 38: ‘Rursus autem in Alexandria quarta et sexta feria Scriptura leguntur, easque Doctores interpretantur, et omnia fiunt praeter solennem oblationis momen.’

anddeacons did receive the body of the Lord. For so the words of the Nicene Canon do sound: ‘Let the deacons in their order, after the elders, receive the holy Communion of a bishop, or of an elder.’ And Paul, concerning the Communion, commandeth, ‘that one tarry for another’ (1 Cor. xi. 33), that so there may be a common participation.

Seeing, therefore, that the Mass amongst us hath the example of the Church, out of the Scripture, and the Fathers, we trust that it can not be disapproved; especially since our public ceremonies are kept, the most part, like unto the usual ceremonies; only the number of Masses is not alike, the which, by reason of very great and manifest abuses, it were certainly far better to be moderated. For in times past also, in the churches whereunto was greatest resort, it was not the use to have Mass said every day, as the Tripartite History, lib. ix. cap. 38, doth witness. ‘Again,’ saith it, ‘in Alexandria, every fourth and sixth day of the week, the Scriptures are read, and the doctors do interpret them; and all other things are done also, except only the celebration of the Eucharist.’

ART. IV.—De Confessione.

Confessio in ecclesiis apud nos non est abolita, non enim solet porrigi corpus Domini, nisi antea exploratis et absolutis. Et docetur populus diligentissime de fide absolutionis, de qua ante haec tempora magnum erat silentium. Docentur homines, ut absolutionem pluri-mi faciant, quia sit vox Dei et mandato Dei pronuncietur.

Ornatur potestas clavium, et commemoratur, quantum consolationem afferat perterrefactis conscientiis, et quod requirat Deus fidem, ut illi absolutioni tanquam voci de cælo sonanti credamus, et quod illa fides in Christum vere consequatur et accipiat remissionem peccatorum.

Antea immodice extollebantur satisfactiones; fidei et meriti Christi ac justitiae fidei nulla füebat mentio; quare in hac parte minime sunt culpanda ecclesie nostre. Nam hoc etiam adversarii tribuere nobis coguntur, quod doctrina de penitentia diligentissime a nostris tractata ac patefacta sit.

Sed de confessione docent, quod enumeratio delictorum non

ART. IV.—Of Confession.

Confession is not abolished in our churches. For it is not usual to communicate the body of our Lord, except to those who have been previously examined and absolved. And the people are taught most carefully concerning the faith required to absolution, about which before these times there has been a deep silence. Men are taught that they should highly regard absolution, inasmuch as it is God's voice, and pronounced by God's command.

The power of the keys is honored, and mention is made how great consolation it brings to terrified consciences, and that God requires faith that we believe that absolution as a voice sounding from heaven, and that this faith in Christ truly obtains and receives remission of sins.

Aforetime satisfactions were immoderately extolled; of faith, and the merit of Christ, and justification by faith, no mention was made. Wherefore on this point our churches are by no means to be blamed. For this even our adversaries are compelled to concede in regard to us, that the doctrine of repentance is most diligently treated and laid open by us.

But of Confession our churches teach that the enumeration of sins sit necessaria, nec sint onerande conscientiae cura enumerandi omnia delicta, quia impossibile est omnia delicta recitare, ut testatur Psalmus (xix. 13): ‘Delicta quis intelligit?’ Item Jeremias (xvii. 9): ‘Pravum est cor hominis et inscrutabile? Quod si nulla peccata nisi recitata remitterentur, nunquam adquiescere conscientie possent, quia plurima peccata neque vident, neque meminisse possunt.

Testantur et veteres scriptores enumerationem non esse necessarium. Nam in Decretis citatur Chrysostomus, qui sic ait: ‘Non tibi dico, ut te prodas in publicum, neque apud alios te accuses, sed obedire te volo prophete dicenti: “Revela ante Deum viam tuam.” Ergo tua confitere peccata apud Deum, verum judicem, cum oratione. Delicta tua pronuncia non lingua, sed conscientiae tue memoria,’ etc. Et Glosa (De Pænitentia, Dist. V. Cap. Consideret), fatetur humani juris esse confessionem [dass die Beicht nicht durch die Schrift geboten, sondern durch die Kirche eingesetzt sei].

Verum confessio, cum propter maximum absolucionis beneficium, is not necessary, nor are consciences to be burdened with the care of enumerating all sins, inasmuch as it is impossible to recount all sins, as the Psalm (xix. 12) testifies: ‘Who can understand his errors?’ So also Jeremiah (xvii. 9): ‘The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked. Who can know it?’ But if no sins were remitted except what were recounted, consciences could never find peace, because very many sins they neither see nor can remember.

The ancient writers also testify that the enumeration is not necessary. For in the Decrees Chrysostom is cited, who speaks thus: ‘I do not say to thee that thou shouldst discover thyself in public, or accuse thyself before others, but I would have thee obey the prophet when he says: “Reveal thy way unto the Lord.”’ Therefore with prayer confess thy sins before God the true Judge. Pronounce thine errors, not with the tongue, but with the memory of thy conscience.’ And the Gloss (Of Repentance, Dist. V., Chap. Consideret), admits that Confession is of human right only [is not commanded in Scripture, but has been instituted by the Church].

Nevertheless, on account of the very great benefit of absolution.

tum propter alias conscientiarum utilitates apud nos retinetur.

ART. V.—De Discrimine Ciborum.

Publica persuasio fuit non tantum vulgi, sed etiam docentium in ecclesiis, quod discrimina ciborum et similes traditiones humanæ sint opera utilia ad promerendum gratiam et satisfactoria pro peccatis. Et quod sic senserit mundus, apparet ex eo, quia quotidie institubantur novæ ceremonie, novi ordines, novæ feriæ, nova jejunia, et Doctores in templis exhibebant hæc opera tanquam necessarium cultum ad promerendum gratiam, et vehementer terrebant conscientias, si quid omitterent.

Ex hac persuasione de traditionibus multa incommoda in Ecclesia secuta sunt. Primo, obscurata est doctrina de gratia et justitia filiei, que est præcipua pars Evangelii, et quam maxime oportet, extare et eminere in Ecclesia, ut meritum Christi bene cognoscatur, et fides, quæ credit remitti peccata propter Christum, longe supra opera collocetur. Quare et Paulus in hunc locum maxime incumbit, legem et traditiones humanas as well as for other uses to the conscience, Confession is retained among us.

ART. V.—Of the Distinction of Meats, and of Traditions.

It hath been a general opinion, not of the people alone, but also of such as are teachers in the churches, that the differences of meats, and such like human traditions, are works available to merit grace, and are satisfactions for sins. And that the world thus thought is apparent by this—that daily new ceremonies, new orders, new holidays, new fasts, were appointed; and the teachers in the churches did exact these works as a service necessary to deserve grace; and they did greatly terrify men's consciences, if aught were omitted.

Of this persuasion concerning traditions many disadvantages have followed in the Church. For first the doctrine of grace is obscured by it, and also the righteousness of faith, which is the principal part of the Gospel, and which it behoveth most of all to stand forth and to have the pre-eminence in the Church, that the merit of Christ may be well known, and faith, which believeth that sins are remitted for Christ's sake, may be exalted far above works. For which cause also Paul removet, ut ostendat justitium Christianam aliud quiddam esse, quam hujusmodi opera, videlicet fidem, quæ credit peccata gratis remitti propter Christum. At hæc doctrina Pauli pene tota oppressa est per traditiones, quæ pepererunt opinionem, quod per discrimina ciborum et similes cultus oporteat mereri gratiam et justitiam. In pænitentia nulla mentio fiebat de fide, tantum hæc opera satisfactoria proponebantur, in his videbatur pænitentia tota consistere.

lays much stress on this point: he removeth the law and human traditions, that he may show that the righteousness of Christ is a far other thing than such works as these be, namely, a faith, which believeth that sins are freely remitted for Christ's sake. But this doctrine of Paul is almost wholly smothered by traditions, which have bred an opinion, that, by making difference in meats, and such like services, a man should merit grace and justification. In their doctrine of repentance there was no mention of faith; only these works of satisfaction were spoken of: repentance seemed to consist wholly in these.

Secundo, hæc traditiones obscuraverunt præcepta Dei, quia traditiones longe præferebantur præceptis Dei. Christianismus totus putabatur esse observatio certarum feriarum, rituum, jejuniorum, vestitus. Hæc observationes erant in possessione honestissimi tituli, quod essent vita spiritualis et vita perfecta. Interim mandata Dei juxta rationem nullam laudem habebant, quod paterfamilias educabat sobolem, quod mater pariebat, quod princeps regebat rem publicam, hec putabantur esse opera mundana et imperfecta et longe deteriora illis splendidis

Secondly, these traditions obscured the commandments of God, because traditions were preferred far above the commandments of God. All Christianity was thought to be an observation of certain holidays, rites, fasts, and attire. These observations were in possession of a most goodly title, that they were the spiritual life and the perfect life. In the mean time God's commandments, touching every man's calling, were of small estimation: that the father brought up his children, that the mother nurtured them, that the prince governed the commonwealth. These were reputed worldly affairs, and imperfect, and far observationibus. Et hic error valde cruciarit pias conscientias, que dolebant se teneri imperfecto vite genere, in conjugio, in magistratibus, aut aliis functionibus civilibus, mirabantur monachos et similes, et falso putabant illorum observationes Deo gratiores esse.

Tertio, traditiones attulerunt magna pericula conscientiis, quia impossibile erat omnes traditiones servare, et tamen homines arbitrabantur has observationes necessarios esse cultus. Gerson scribit, ‘multos incidisse in desperationem, quosdam etiam sibi mortem conscivisse, quia senserant, se non posse satisfucere traditionibus,’ et interim consolationem nullam de justitia fidei et de gratia audierant. Videamus Summistas et Theologos colligere traditiones, et querere πιεκεῖας, ut levent conscientias, non satis tamen expediunt, sed interdum magis injiciunt laqueos conscientiis. Et in colligendis traditionibus ita fuerunt occupatiæ scholæ et coneiones, ut non vacaverit attingere Scripturam, et querere utiliorem doctrinam de fide, de cruce, de spe, de dignitate civilium rerum, de inferior to those glittering observances. And this error did greatly torment pious consciences, which were grieved that they were held by an imperfect kind of life, in marriage, in magistracy, or in other civil functions. They had the monks, and such like, in admiration, and falsely imagined that the observances of these men were more grateful to God than their own.

Thirdly, traditions brought great danger to men's consciences, because it was impossible to keep all traditions, and yet men thought the observation of them to be necessary services. Gerson writeth that ‘many fell into despair, and some murdered themselves, because they perceived that they could not keep the traditions;’ and all this while they never heard the comfort of the righteousness of faith, or of grace. We see the Summists and Divines gather together the traditions, and seek qualifications of them, to unburden men's consciences; and yet all will not serve, but meantime they bring more snares upon the conscience. The schools and pulpits have been so busied in gathering together the traditions, that they had not leisure to touch the Scripture, and to seek out a more profitable doctrine—of faith, of the cross, of hope, of the dignity of civil affairs, of the comfort of conscience in arduous trials. Wherefore Gerson and some other Divines have made grievous complaints, that they were hindered by these strifes about traditions, so that they could not be occupied in some better kind of doctrine. And Augustine forbiddeth that men's consciences should be burdened with observations of this kind, and doth very prudently warn Januarius to know that they are to be observed as things indifferent; for he so speaketh.

Quare nostri non debent vivi- deri hanc causam temere atti- gisse, aut odio episcoporum, ut quidam fulso suspicantur. Magna necessitas fuit, de illis erroribus, qui nati erant ex tra- ditionibus male intellectis, ad- monere ecclesias. Num Euange- lium cogit urgere doctrinam in ecclesiis de gratia et justitia fidei, que tamen intelligi non potest, si putent homines se mereri gratiam per observationes ab ipsis electas. Sic igitur docue- runt, quod per observationem traditionum humanarum non possimus gratiam mereri, aut justificari, quare non est sen- tiendum, quod hujusmodi obser- vationes sint necessarius cultus.

Addunt testimonia ex Scriptu-

Wherefore our ministers must not be thought to have touched this matter rashly, or from hatred of the bishops, as some do falsely surmise. There was great need to admonish the churches of those errors, which did arise from mistaking of traditions; for the Gospel compelleth men to urge the doctrine of grace and of the righteousness of faith in the Church; which yet can never be understood if men suppose that they can merit remission of sins and justification by observances of their own choice. Thus, therefore, they teach us that we can not merit grace or justification by the observation of man's traditions; and therefore we must not think that such observations are necessary service.

Hereunto they add testimonies ra. Christus (Matt. xv. 3) excusat Apostolos, qui non servaverant usitatam traditionem, que tamen videbatur de re non illicita, sed media esse, et habere cognitionem cum baptismatibus legis; et dicit (ver. 9): ‘Frustra colunt me mandatis hominum? Igitur non exigit cultum inutilem. Et paulo post addit (ver. 11): ‘Omnis quod intrat in os, non inquinat hominem? Item (Rom. xiv. 17): ‘Regnum Dei non est esca aut potus? Col. ii. 16: ‘Nemo judicet vos in cibo, potu, sabbato aut die festo? Item (ver. 20 sq.): ‘Si mortui estis cum Christo ab elementis mundi, quare tanquam viventes in mundo decreta facitis: Ne attingas, ne gustes, ne contrectes?

Ait Petrus (Acts xv. 10, 11): ‘Quare tentatis Deum, imponentes jugum super cervices discipulorum, quod neque nos neque patres nostri portare potuimus, sed per gratiam Domini nostri Jesu Christi credimus salvari, quemadmodum et illi? Hic vetat Petrus onerare conscientias pluribus ritibus sive Mosi, sive aliis. Et (1 Tim. iv. 1-3) vocat prohibitionem ciborum ‘doc- out of the Scriptures. Christ excuseth his Apostles who kept not the received tradition (which yet seemed to be about a matter not unlawful, but indifferent, and to have some affinity with the baptisms of the law), and saith, ‘They worship me in vain with the commandments of men’ (Matt. xv. 9). Christ, therefore, exacteth no unprofitable service. And a little after, he addeth: ‘Whatsoever entereth in at the mouth defileth not the man’ (ver. 11). So also (Paul): ‘The kingdom of God is not meat and drink’ (Rom. xv. 17). ‘Let no man judge you in meat or drink, or in respect of the Sabbath-days, or of a holiday’ (Col. ii. 16). Again: ‘If ye be dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world, why, as though ye lived in the world, are ye subject to traditions: Touch not, taste not, handle not?’ (ver. 20, 21).

Peter saith, ‘Why tempt ye God, laying a yoke upon the necks of the disciples, which neither we nor our fathers were able to bear? But we believe that through the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ we shall be saved, even as they’ (Acts xv. 10, 11). Here Peter forbiddeth to burden the consciences with many rites, whether they be of Moses’ or of any others’ appointing. And he (Paul) calleth the forbidding of trinam dæmoniorum, quia pugnat cum Evangelio, talia opera instituere aut facere, ut per eum mereamur gratiam, aut quod non possit existere Christianismus sine tali cultu.

Hic objiciunt adversarii, quod nostri prohibeant disciplinam et mortificationem carnis, sicut Jovinianus. Verum aliud apprehendetur ex scriptis nostrorum. Semper enim docuerunt de cruce, quod Christianos oporteat tollerare afflictiones. Hæc est vera, serua et non simulata mortificatio, variis afflictionibus exerceri et crucifigi cum Christo. Insuper docent, quod quilibet Christianus debeat se corporali disciplina aut corporalibus exercitiis et laboribus sic exercere et cædere, ne saturitas aut desidia extimulet ad peccandum, non ut per illa exercitia mereamur gratiam, aut satis faciamus pro peccatis. Et hanc corporalem disciplinam oportet semper urgere, non solum paucis et constitutis diebus. Sicut Christus præcipit (Luke xxi. 34): ‘Cavete, ne corpora vestra graventur eruplu.’ Item (Matt. xvii. 21): ‘Hoc genus dæmoniorum non ejicitur nisi jejunio et oratione.’ Et Paulus ait (1 Cor. ix. 27): ‘Cas-meats ‘a doctrine of devils’ (1 Tim. iv. 1), because that it is against the Gospel to appoint or do such works, to the end that by them we may merit grace or justification, or as though Christianity could not exist without such service.

Here our adversaries object against us, that our ministers hinder all good discipline and mortification of the flesh, as Jovinian did. But the contrary may be seen by our men’s writings. For they have always taught, touching the cross, that Christians ought to bear afflictions. This is the true, earnest, and unfeigned mortification, to be exercised with divers afflictions, and to be crucified with Christ. Moreover they teach that every Christian must so by bodily discipline, or bodily exercises and labor, exercise and keep himself under, that plenty and sloth do not stimulate him to sin; not that he may by such exercises merit grace, or satisfy for sins. And this corporal discipline should be used always, not only on a few and set days; according to the commandment of Christ: ‘Take heed lest your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting’ (Luke xxi. 34). Again: ‘This kind (of devils) goeth not out but by prayer and fasting’ (Matt. xvii. 21). And Paul saith, ‘I keep under my body, tigo corpus meum, et redigo in servitutem? Ubi clare ostendit, se ideo castigare corpus, non ut per eam disciplinam mereatur remissionem peccatorum, sed ut corpus habeat obnoxium et idoneum ad res spirituales et ad fuciendum officium juxta vocationem suam. Itaque non damnantur ipsa jejunia, sed traditiones, que certos dies, certos cibos prescribunt, cum periculo conscientiarum, tanquam istiusmodi opera sint necessarius cultus.

Servantur tamen apud nos plerique traditiones, quae conducunt ad hoc, ut res ordine geratur in Ecclesia; ut ordo lectionum in Missa et præcipue feriæ. Sed interim homines admonentur, quod talis cultus non justificet coram Deo, et quod non sit ponendum peccatum in talibus rebus, si omittantur sine scandalo. Hæc libertas in ritibus humanis non fuit ignota Patribus. Nam in Oriente alio tempore servaverunt Pascha quam Romæ, et cum Romani propter hanc dissimilitudinem accusarent Orientem schismatis, admoniti sunt ab aliis, tales mores non oportere ubique similes esse. Et Irenæus inquit: ‘Dissonantia jejunii fidei consonantiam non solvit;’ sicut and bring it into subjection’ (1 Cor. ix. 27), where he plainly sheweth that he did therefore chastise his body; not that by that discipline he might merit remission of sins, but that his body might be apt and fit for spiritual things, and to do his duty according to his calling. Therefore we do not condemn fasts themselves, but the traditions which prescribe certain days and certain meats, with danger to the conscience, as though such works as these were a necessary service.

Yet most of the traditions are observed among us which tend unto this end, that things may be done orderly in the Church; as, namely, the order of Lessons in the Mass and the chiefest holidays. But, in the mean time, men are admonished that such a service doth not justify before God, and that it is not to be supposed there is sin in such things, if they be left undone, without scandal. This liberty in human rites and ceremonies was not unknown to the Fathers. For in the East they kept Easter at another time than they did in Rome; and when they of Rome accused the East of schism for this diversity, they were admonished by others that such customs need not be alike every where. And Irenæus saith: ‘The disagree-et Dist. XII.¹ Gregorius Papa significat, talem dissimilitudinem non ledere unitatem Ecclesiae. Et in Historia Tripartita, lib. nono, multa colliguntur exempla dissimilium rituum, et recitantur hæc verba: ‘Mens Apostolorum fuit, non de diebus festis sanctire, sed praedicare bonam conversationem et pietatem [Glaube und Liebe zu lehren].’

ment about fasting doth not break off the agreement of faith.’ Besides, Pope Gregory, in the 12th Distinction, intimates that such diversity doth not hurt the unity of the Church; and in the Tripartite History, lib. 9, many examples of dissimilar rites are gathered together, and these words are there rehearsed: ‘The mind of the Apostles was, not to give precepts concerning holidays, but to preach godliness and a holy life [faith and love].’

ART. VI.—De Votis Monachorum.

Quid de votis monachorum apud nos doceatur, melius intellegit, si quis meminerit, qualis status fuerit monasteriorum, quam multa contra Canones in ipsis monasteriis quotidie fiebant. Augustini tempore erant libera collegia, postea, corrupta disciplina, ubique addita sunt vota, ut tanquam excogitato carcere disciplina restitueretur.

Addite sunt paulatim supra vota alie multe observationes. Et hæc vincula multis ante justam etatem contra Canones injecta sunt.

ART. VI.—Of Monastic Vows.

What is taught among us touching the Vows of Monks will be better understood if one call to mind what was the state of monasteries, and how many things were every day committed in the monasteries contrary to the Canons. In Augustine’s time cloister-fraternities were free; but afterwards, when discipline was corrupted, vows were every where laid upon them, that, as it were in a newly devised prison, the discipline might be restored again.

Over and besides vows, many other observances by little and little were added. And these bands and snares were cast upon many, before they came to ripe years, contrary to the Canons.

¹ Viz., in Decret. P. I. Dist. XII. cap. 10, quod incipit a verbis: ‘Novit fraternitas tua.’ Vide Corp. jur. Can. ed. Richter, Tom. I. p. 25 sq. (From Bindseil.)

Multi inciderunt errore in hoc vite genus, quibus etiam si non decessent anni, tamen iudicium de suis viribus defuit. Qui sic irretiti erant, cogebantur manere, etiam si quidam beneficio Canonum liberari possent. Et hoc accidit magis etiam in monasteriis virginum, quam monachorum, cum sexui imbecilliori magis parcendum esset.

Hic rigor displicuit multis bonis viris ante huc tempora, qui videbant puellas et adolescentes in monasteria detrudi propter victum, videbant, quam infelicitter succederet hoc consilium, que scandalum pareret, quos luqueos conscientias injiceret. Dolebant autoritatem Canonum in re periculosissima omnino negligi et contemni.

Ad huc mala accedebat talis persuasio de votis, quam constat etiam olim displicuisse ipsis monachis, si qui paulo cordatiiores fuerunt. Doccebant vota paria esse baptismus, doccebant se hoc vite genere mereri remissionem peccatorum et justificationem coram Deo. Imo addebant, ritam monasticam non tantum justitiam mereri coram

Many through error fell into this kind of life unawares, who, though they wanted not years, yet they wanted discretion to judge of their strength and ability. They who were once got within these nets were constrained to abide in them, though, by the benefit of the Canons, some might be set at liberty. And that fell out rather in the monasteries of nuns than of monks; althongh the weaker sex ought more to have been spared.

This rigor and severity displeased many good men heretofore, when they saw young maids and young men thrust into monasteries, there to get their living. They saw what an unhappy issue this counsel had, what offenses it bred, and what snares it laid upon consciences. They were grieved that the authority of the Canons was wholly neglected and contemned in a thing most dangerous.

To all these evils there was added such a persuasion concerning vows, as, it is well known, did in former times displease the monks themselves, if any of them were somewhat wiser than the rest. They taught that vows were equal to baptism; they taught that by this kind of life they merited remission of sins and justification before God; yea, they added that the

Deo, sed amplius etiam, quia servaret non modo precepta, sed etiam consilia Evangelica. Ita persuadebant monasticam professionem longe meliorem esse baptismum, vitam monasticum plus mereri, quam vitam magistratum, vitum pastorum et similium, qui in mandatis Dei sine facticiis religionibus sue vocationi serviunt.

Nihil horum negari potest, extant enim in libris eorum.

Quid fiebat postea in monasteriis? Olim erant scholæ sacerdarum literarum, et aliarum disciplinarum, que sunt utiles Ecclesie, et sumebantur inde pastores et episcopi: nunc alias est; nihil opus est recitare nota. Olim ad discendum conveniebant: nunc fingunt institutum esse vite genus ad promerendam gratiam et justitiam; imo prædicant esse statum perfectionis, et longe preferunt omnibus aliis vite generibus a Deo ordinatis.

Hac ideo recitavimus nihil odiose exaggerantes, ut melius inmonk's life did not only merit righteousness before God, but more than that, because it observed not only the commandments, but also the counsels of the Gospel. And thus they taught that the monk's profession was better than baptism; that the monk's life did merit more than the life of magistrates, of pastors, and such like, who, in obedience to God's commandment, followed their calling without any such religions of man's making.

None of these things can be denied: they are to be seen in their writings.

What occurred afterwards in the monasteries? In old time they were schools for the study of sacred letters, and other branches of knowledge, which were profitable to the Church; and thence were pastors and bishops taken: but now the ease is altered. It is needless to rehearse what is notorious. In old time they came together into such places to learn; but now they feign that it is a kind of life taken up to merit remission of sins and justification; yea, they say it is a state of perfection, and prefer it to all other kinds of life, the kinds that God ordained.

We have therefore mentioned these things, not to excite odium, telligi posset de hac re doctrina nostrorum.

Primum de his, qui matrimonia contrahunt, sic docent apud nos, quod licet omnibus, qui non sunt idonei ad celibatum, contrahere matrimonium, quia vota non possunt ordinatem ac mandatum Dei tollere. Est autem hoc mandatum Dei (1 Cor. vii. 2): ‘Propter fornicationem habeat unusquisque uxorem suam.’ Neque mandatum solum, sed etiam creatio et ordinatio Dei cogit hos ad coniugium, qui sine singulari Dei opere non sunt excepti, juxta illud (Gen. ii. 18)): ‘Non est bonum homini esse solum.’ Igitur non peccant isti, qui obtemperant huic mandato et ordinationi Dei.

Quid potest contra haec opponi? Exaggeret aliquis obligacionem voti, quantum volet, tamen non poterit efficere, ut votum tollat mandatum Dei. Canones docent, ‘in omni voto jus superioris excipi:’ quare multo minus haec vota contra mandatum Dei valent.

Quod si obligatio votorum nul-exaggerating nothing, to the end that the doctrine of our churches touching this matter might be understood.

First, concerning such as contract marriage, thus they teach among us: that it is lawful for any to marry that are not adapted for a single life; forasmuch as vows can not take away God's ordinance and commandment. The commandment of God is, 'To avoid fornication, let every man have his own wife' (1 Cor. vii. 2). And not only the commandment, but also the creation and ordinance of God, compelleth such unto marriage as without the special work of God are not exempted; according to that saying, 'It is not good for man to be alone' (Gen. ii. 18). They, therefore, that are obedient to this commandment and ordinance of God do not sin.

What can be said against these things? Let a man exaggerate the bond of a vow as much as he will, yet can he never bring to pass that the vow shall take away God's commandment. The Canons teach, 'that in every vow the right of the superior is excepted:' much less, therefore, can these vows, which are contrary to God's commandment, be of force.

If so be that the obligation of las haberet causas, cur muturi possit: nec Romani Pontifices dispensassent; neque enim licet homini obligationem, que simpliciter est juris divini, rescindere. Sed prudenter judicaverunt Romani Pontifices equitatem in hac obligatione adhibendum esse. Ideo supe de votis dispensasse leguntur. Nota est historia de Rege Arragonum, revocato ex monasterio, et extant exempla nostri temporis.

Deinde, cur obligationem exaggerant adversarii seu effectum voti, cum interim de ipsa voti natura sileant, quod debet esse in re possibili,¹ quod debet esse voluntarium, sponte et consulto conceptum. At quomodo sit in potestate hominis perpetua castitas, non est ignotum. Et quotusquisque sponte et consulto vorvit? Puellæ et adolescentes, priusquam judicare possunt, persuadentur ad vorendum, interdum etiam coguntur.

Quare non est aequum tam rigide de obligatione disputare, cum omnes futeantur contra vows has no causes why it might be changed, then could not the Roman Pontiffs have dispensed therewith. For neither is it lawful for man to disannul that bond which doth simply belong to the law of God. But the Roman Pontiffs have judged very prudently, that in this obligation there must equity be used; therefore they often, as we read, have dispensed with vows. The history of the King of Arragon, being called back out of a monastery, is well known; and there are examples in our own time.

Secondly, why do our adversaries exaggerate the obligation or the effect of the vow; when in the mean time they speak not a word of the very nature of a vow, that it ought to be in a thing possible, ought to be voluntary, and taken up of a man's own accord, and with deliberation? But it is not unknown how far perpetual chastity is in the power of a man. And how many a one amongst them is there that doth vow of his own accord and well advised? Maidens and youths, before they know how to judge, are persuaded, yea, sometimes also compelled to vow.

Wherefore it is not meet to dispute so rigorously of the obligation, seeing that all men confess that it is voti naturam esse, quod non sponte, quod inconsulto admittitur.

Plerique Canones rescindunt vota ante annum XV. contracta, quia ante illam etatem non videtur tantum esse judicii, ut de perpetua vita constitui possit. Alius Canon, plus concedens hominum imbecillitati, addit annos aliquot, vetat enim ante annum XVIII. votum fieri. Sed utrum sequemur? maxima pars habet excusationem, eur monasteria deserant, quia plurimi ante hanc etatem rorerunt.

Postremo, etiam si voti violatio reprehendi posset, tamen non videtur statim sequi, quod conjugia talium personarum dissolenda sint. Nam Augustinus negat debere dissolvi, XXVII. quest. I. Cap. Nuptiarum; cuius non est levris auctoritas, etiamsi alii postea aliter senserunt.

Quanquam autem mandatum Dei de conjugio vindicatur plerosque liberare a votis, tamen afferunt nostri et aliam rationem de votis, quod sint against the nature of a vow, that it is not done of a man's own accord, nor advisedly.

The Canons for the most part disannul vows which are made before fifteen years of age; because that before one come to that age there seemeth not to be so much judgment that determination may be made concerning a perpetual life. Another Canon, permitting more to the weakness of men, doth add some years more; for it forbiddeth a vow to be made before one be eighteen years of age. But which of these shall we follow? The greatest part have this excuse for forsaking monasteries, because most of them vowed before they came to this age.

Last of all, even though the breaking of a vow were to be reprehended, yet it seems not to follow directly that the marriages of such persons are to be dissolved. For Augustine, in his 27th quest. 1st chap. Of Marriages, doth deny that they ought to be dissolved; and his authority is not lightly to be esteemed, although others afterwards have thought otherwise.

And although the commandment of God touching wedlock doth free most men from vows; yet our teachers do also bring another reason concerning vows, to show that they are irrita, quia omnis cultus Dei, ab hominibus sine mandato Dei institutus et electus ad promerendam justificationem et gratiam, impius est, sicut Christus ait (Matt. xv. 9): ‘Frustra collunt me mandatis hominum.’ Et Paulus ubique docet, justitiam non esse querendam ex nostris observationibus et cultibus, qui sint excogitati ab hominibus, sed contingere eam per fidem credentibus, se recipi in gratiam a Deo propter Christum.

Constat autem monachos docuisse, quod facticie religiones satisfaciant pro peccatis, mereantur gratiam et justificationem. Quid hoc est aliud, quam de gloria Christi detrahere, et obscurare ac negare justitiam fidei? Sequitur igitur, ista vota usitata impios cultus fuisse; quare sunt irrita. Nam votum impium et factum contra mandata Dei non valet, neque enim debet votum vinculum esse iniqutatis, ut Canon dicit.

Paulus dicit (Gal. v. 4): ‘Evacuati estis a Christo, qui in lege justificamini, a gratia excidistis.’ Ergo etiam, qui votis justificari volunt, evacuantur a void: because that all the worship of God, instituted of men without the commandment of God, and chosen to merit remission of sins and justification, is wicked; as Christ saith: ‘In vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men’ (Matt. xv. 9). And Paul doth every where teach that righteousness is not to be sought of our own observances, and services which are devised by men; but that it cometh by faith to those that believe that they are received into favor by God for Christ’s sake.

But it is evident that the monks did teach that these counterfeited religions satisfy for sins, and merit grace and justification. What else is this than to detract from the glory of Christ, and to obscure and deny the righteousness of faith? Wherefore it followeth that these common vows were wicked services, and are therefore void. For a wicked vow, and that which is made against the commandments of God, is one of no force; neither, as the Canon saith, ought a vow to be a bond of iniquity.

Paul saith, ‘Christ is become of no effect unto you, whosoever of you are justified by the law; ye are fallen from grace’ (Gal. v. 4). They, therefore, who wish to be Christo, et a gratia excidunt. Nam et hi, qui votis tribuunt justificationem, tribuunt propriis operibus hoc, quod proprie ad gloriam Christi pertinet. Neque vero negari potest, quin monachi docuerint, se per vota et observationes suas justificari et mereri remissionem peccatorum, imo affinxerunt absurdiora, dixerunt se aliis mutuari sua opera. Haec si quis velit odiose exagge rare, quam multa possit colligere, quorum jam ipsos monachos pudet.

Ad hec persuaserunt hominibus, facticias religiones esse statum Christiane perfectionis. An non est hoc justificationem tribuere operibus? Non est leve scandalum in Ecclesia, populo proponere certum cultum ab hominibus excogitatum sine mandato Dei, et docere, quod talis cultus justificet homines: quia justitia fidei, quam maxime oportet tradi in Ecclesia, obscuratur, cum ille mirifice religiones angelorum, simulatio paupertatis et humilitatis, et cælibatus offenduntur oculis hominum.

justified by vows, are made void of Christ, and fall from grace. For they also who attribute justification to their vows, attribute to their own works what properly belongs to the glory of Christ. Nor truly can it be denied that the monks taught that they are justified by their vows and observances, and merit the remission of sins; nay, they invented yet greater absurdities, and said they could transfer their good works to others. If any man wished to expand these things, so as to excite odium, how many things might he rehearse whereof the monks themselves are now ashamed!

Moreover, they would persuade men that these invented religious orders are a state of Christian perfection. Or is this not attributing justification to works? It is no light offense in the Church to propound unto the people a certain service devised by men, without the commandment of God, and to teach that such a service doth justify men; because that the righteousness of faith, which ought especially to be taught in the Church, is obscured when those marvelous religions of angels, the pretense of poverty and humility, and of celibacy, are cast before men's eyes.

Moreover, the commandments of Dei et verus cultus Dei, cum audiunt homines, solos monachos esse in statu perfectionis, quia perfectio Christiana est serio timere Deum, et rursus concipere magnam fidem, et confidere propter Christum, quod habeamus Deum placatum, petere a Deo, et certo expectare auxilium in omnibus rebus gerendis, juxta vocationem; interim foris diligenter facere bona opera, et servire vocationi. In his rebus est vera perfectio et verus cultus Dei, non est in celibatu, aut mendicitate, aut veste sordida.

Verum populus concipit multas perniciosas opiniones ex illis falsis preconiis vite monastice. Audit sine modo laudari celibatum: ideo cum offensione conscientie versatur in conjugio. Audit solos mendicos esse perfectos: ideo cum offensione conscientie retinet possessiones, negotiatur. Audit consilium Evangelicum esse de non vindicando: ideo alii in privata vita non verentur ulcisci, audiunt enim consilium esse, non praeceptum. Alii omnes magistratus et civilia officia judicant indigna esse Christianis.

God, and the true worship of God, are obscured when men hear that monks alone are in that state of perfection; because that Christian perfection is this, to fear God sincerely, and again, to conceive great faith, and to trust assuredly that God is pacified towards us, for Christ's sake; to ask, and certainly to look for, help from God in all our affairs, according to our calling; and outwardly to do good works diligently, and to attend to our vocation. In these things doth true perfection and the true worship of God consist: it doth not consist in singleness of life, in beggary, or in vile apparel.

The people doth also conceive many pernicious opinions from these false commendations of the monastic life. They hear celibacy praised above measure; therefore with offense of conscience they live in marriage. They hear that mendicants only are perfect; therefore with offense of conscience they keep their possessions, and buy and sell. They hear that the Gospel only giveth counsel not to take revenge; therefore some in private life are not afraid to avenge themselves; for they hear that it is a counsel, not a commandment. Others do think that all magistracy and civil offices are unworthy Christian men.

Leguntur exempla hominum, qui deserto conjugio, deserta reipublicæ administratione, abdiderunt se in monasteria. Id vocabant fugere ex mundo, et quaerere vitæ genus, quod Deo magis placeret, nec videbant, Deo serviendum esse in illis mandatis, quæ ipse tradidit, non in mandatis, que sunt excogitata ab hominibus. Bonum et perfectum vite genus est, quod habet mandatum Dei. De his rebus necesse est admonere homines. Et ante hæc tempora reprehendit Gerson errorem monachorum de perfectione, et testatur, suis temporibus novam vocem fuisse, quod vita monastica sit status perfectionis.

Tam multæ impiæ opiniones haerent in votis, quod justificant, quod sint perfectio Christiana, quod servent consilia et præcepta, quod habeant opera supererogationis. Hæc omnia cum sint falsa et inania, faciunt vota irrita.

We read examples of men who, forsaking wedlock, and leaving the government of the commonwealth, have hid themselves in monasteries. This they called flying out of the world, and seeking a kind of life which is more acceptable to God: neither did they see that God is to be served in those commandments which he himself hath delivered, not in the commandments which are devised by men. That is a good and perfect kind of life which hath the commandment of God for it. It is necessary to admonish men of these things. And before these times Gerson did reprehend this error of the monks concerning perfection; and witnesseth, that in his time this was a new saying, that the monastical life is a state of perfection.

Thus many wicked opinions do cleave fast unto vows: as that they merit remission of sins and justification, that they are Christian perfection, that they do keep the counsels and commandments, that they have works of supererogation. All these things (seeing they be false and vain) do make vows to be of none effect.

ART. VII.—De Potestate Ecclesiastica.

Mayne disputationes fuerunt de potestate Episcoporum, in ART. VII.—Of Ecclesiastical Power.

There have been great controversies touching the power of Bishops; quibus nonnulli incommodè commiscuerunt potestatem Ecclesiasticam et potestatem gladii.

Et ex hac confusione maxima bella, maximi motus extiterunt, dum Pontifices, freti potestate clavium, non solum novos cultus instituerunt reservatione casuum, violentis excommunicationibus conscientias oneraverunt, sed etiam regna mundi transferre et imperatoribus adimere imperium conati sunt.

Heec vitia multo ante reprehenderunt in Ecclesia homines pii et eruditi. Itaque nostri ad consolandas conscientias coacti sunt ostendere discrimen ecclesiastice potestatis et potestatis gladii, et docuerunt utramque propter mandatum Dei religiose venerandam et honore sufficiendam esse, tanquam summa Dei beneficia in terris.

Sic autem sentiunt, potestatem clavium seu potestatem Episcoporum, juxta Evangelium, potestatem esse seu mandatum Dei, praedicandi Evangelii, remittendi et retinendi peccata, et administrandi Sacra menta. Nam cum in which many have incommodiously mingled together the Ecclesiastical power and the power of the sword.

And out of this confusion there have sprung very great wars and tumults, while that the Pontiffs, trusting in the power of the keys, have not only appointed new kinds of service, and burdened men's consciences by reserving of cases, and by violent excommunications; but have also endeavored to transfer worldly kingdoms from one to another, and to despoil emperors of their power and authority.

These faults did godly and learned men long since reprehend in the Church; and for that cause our teachers were compelled, for the comfort of men's consciences, to show the difference between the Ecclesiastical power and the power of the sword. And they have taught that both of them, because of God's commandment, are dutifully to be reverence and honored, as the chiefest blessings of God upon earth.

Now their judgment is this: that the power of the keys, or the power of the Bishops, by the rule of the Gospel, is a power or commandment from God, of preaching the Gospel, of remitting or retaining sins, and of administering the Sac-hoc mandato Christus mittit Apostolos (John xx. 21 sqq.): ‘Sicut misit me Pater, ita et ego mitto vos. Accipite Spiritum Sanctum: quorum remiseritis peccata, remittuntur eis, et quorum retinueritis peccata, retenta sunt?’ Mark xvi. 15: ‘Ite, predicate Evangelium omni creatura,’ etc.

Hæc potestas tantum exercetur docendo seu prædicando verbum, et porrigoendo Sacra menta, vel multis vel singulis juxta vocationem, quia conceduntur non res corporales, sed res aeternæ, justitia aeterna, Spiritus Sanctus, vita aeterna. Hæc non possunt contingere nisi per ministerium verbi et Sacramentorum; sicut Paulus dicit (Rom. i. 16): ‘Evangelium est potentia Dei ad salutem omni credenti?

Itaque cum potestas ecclesiastica concedat res aternas, et tantum exerceatur per ministerium verbi: non impedit politicam administrationem; sicut ars canendi nihil impedit politicam administrationem. Nam politica administratio versatur circa alias res, quam Evangelium: magistratus defendit non mentes, sed corpora et res corporales raments. For Christ doth send his Apostles with this charge: ‘As the Father hath sent me, even so send I you. Receive ye the Holy Ghost: whosoever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whose-soever sins ye retain, they are re-tained’ (John xx. 21–23). ‘Go, and preach the Gospel to every creature,’ etc. (Mark xvi. 15).

This power is put in execution only by teaching or preaching the Word and administering the Sacraments, either to many or to single individuals, in accordance with their call. For thereby not corporal things, but eternal, are granted; as an eternal righteousness, the Holy Ghost, life everlasting. These things can not be got but by the ministry of the Word and of the Sacraments, as Paul saith, ‘The Gospel is the power of God to salvation to every one that believeth’ (Rom. i. 16).

Seeing, then, that the ecclesiastical power concerneth things eternal, and is exercised only by the ministry of the Word, it hindereth not the political government any more than the art of singing hinders political government. For the political administration is occupied about other matters than is the Gospel. The magistracy defends not the minds, but the bodies, and adversus manifestas injurias, et coercent homines gladio et corporalibus pœnis, ut justitiam civellem et pacem retineat.

Non igitur commiscende sunt potestates ecclesiastica et civilis: ecclesiastica suum mandatum habet Evangelii docendi et administrandi Sacra menta. Non irrum pat in alienum officium, non transferat regna mundi, non abroget leges magistratum, non tollat legitimam obedientiam, non impedit judicia de ulla cilibus ordinationibus aut contractibus, non prescribat leges magistratibus de forma rei publice; sicut dicit Christus (John xviii. 36): ‘Regnum meum non est de hoc mundo.’ Item (Luke xii. 14): ‘Quis constituit me judicem aut divisorrem super vos?’ Et Paulus ait (Phil. iii. 20): ‘Nostra politia in celis est.’ 2 Cor. x. 4: ‘Arma militie nostræ non sunt carnalia, sed potentia Dei, ad destruendas cogitationes,’ etc. Ad hunc modum discernunt nostri utriusque potestatis officia, et jubent utramque honore afficeret agnoscere, utramque Dei donum et beneficium esse.

Si quam habent Episcopi po-bodily things, against manifest injuries; and coerces men by the sword and corporal punishments, that it may uphold civil justice and peace.

Wherefore the ecclesiastical and civil powers are not to be confounded. The ecclesiastical power hath its own commandment to preach the Gospel and administer the Sacraments. Let it not by force enter into the office of another; let it not transfer worldly kingdoms; let it not abrogate the magistrates' laws; let it not withdraw from them lawful obedience; let it not hinder judgments touching any civil ordinances or contracts; let it not prescribe laws to the magistrate touching the form of the republic; as Christ saith, ‘My kingdom is not of this world’ (John xviii. 36). Again, ‘Who made me a jndge or a divider over you?’ (Luke xii. 14). And Paul saith, ‘Our conversation [citizenship] is in heaven’ (Phil. iii. 20). ‘The weapons of our warfare are not carnal, but mighty through God, casting down imaginations,’ etc. (2 Cor. x. 4). In this way do our teachers distinguish between the duties of each power one from the other, and do warn all men to honor both powers, and to acknowledge both to be the [highest] gift and blessing of God.

If so be that the Bishops have testatem gladii, hanc non habent Episcopi ex mandato Evangelii, sed jure humano donatam a regibus et imperatoribus, ad administrationem civilem suorum bonorum. Hoc interim alia functio est, quam ministerium Evangelii.

Cum igitur de jurisdictione Episcoporum queritur, discerni debet imperium ab ecclesiastica jurisdictione. Porro secundum Evangelium, seu, ut loquuntur, de jure divino, nulla jurisdictione competit Episcopis, ut Episcopis, hoc est, his, quibus est commissum ministerium Verbi et Sacramentorum, nisi remittere peccatu, item, cognoscere doctrinam, et doctrinam ab Evangelio dissentientem rejicere, et impios, quorum nota est impietas, excludere a communione Ecclesie, sine vi humana, sed Verbo. Hic necessario et de jure divino debent eis Ecclesie præstare obedientiam, juxta illud (Luke x. 16): ‘Qui vos audit, me audit.’

Verum cum aliquid contra Evangelium docent aut statuant, tunc habent Ecclesie mandatum Dei, quod obedientiam prohibet (Matt. vii. 15): ‘Cavete a Pseudoany power of the sword, they have it not as Bishops by the commandment of the Gospel, but by man's law given unto them of kings and emperors, for the civil government of their goods. This, however, is a kind of function diverse from the ministry of the Gospel.

Therefore, when the question touches the jurisdiction of Bishops, government must be distinguished from ecclesiastical jurisdiction. Again, by the Gospel, or, as they term it, by divine right, Bishops, as Bishops—that is, those who have the administration of the Word and Sacraments committed to them—have no other jurisdiction at all, but only to remit sin, also to take cognizance of [to judge in regard to] doctrine, and to reject doctrine inconsistent with the Gospel, and to exclude from the communion of the Church, without human force, but by the Word [of God], those whose wickedness is known. And herein of necessity the churches ought by divine right to render obedience unto them; according to the saying of Christ, ‘He that heareth you heareth me’ (Luke x. 16).

But when they teach or determine any thing contrary to the Gospel, then have the churches a commandment of God, which forbideth obedience to them: ‘Beware prophetis? Gal. i. 8: ‘Si Angelus de celo aliud Evangelium evangelizaverit, anathema sit.’ 2 Cor. xiii. 8: ‘Non possumus aliquid contra veritatem, sed pro veritate.’ Item (10): ‘Data est nobis potestas ad adificationem, non ad destructionem.’ Sic et Canones praecipiunt (II. Quæst. VII. Cap. Sacerdotes, et Cap. Oves). Et Augustinus contra Petilianum Epistolam inquit: ‘Nec Catholicis Episcopis consentiendum est, sicubi forte falluntur, aut contra Canonicas Dei Scripturas aliquid sentiunt.’

Si quam habent aliam vel protestatem, vel jurisdictionem in cognoscendis certis causis, vide- licet matrimonii, aut decima- rum, etc., hanc habent humano jure; ubi cessantibus Ordina- riis coguntur Principes, vel in- viti, suis subditis jus dicere, ut pax retineatur.

Præter hæc disputatur, utrum Episcopi seu Pastores habeant jus instituendi ceremonias in Ecclesi- sia, et leges de cibis, feriis, gra- dibus ministrorum, seu ordini- bus, etc., condendi. Hoc jus qui- tribuunt Episcopis, allegant testi- monium (John xvi. 12): ‘Adhuc of false prophets’ (Matt. vii. 15). ‘If an angel from heaven preach any other Gospel, let him be accursed’ (Gal. i. 8). ‘We can not do any thing against the truth, but for the truth’ (2 Cor. xiii. 8). Also, ‘This power is given us to edify, and not to destroy’ (2 Cor. xiii. 10). So do the Canons command (II. Quæst. 7, Cap. Sacerdotes, and Cap. Oves). And Augustine, in his Treatise against Petilian’s Epistle, saith, ‘Neither must we subscribe to Catholic Bishops, if they chance to err, or determine any thing contrary to the canonical divine Scriptures.’

If so be that they have any other power or jurisdiction, in hearing and understanding certain cases, as, namely, of Matrimony, and Tithes, etc., they hold it by human right. But when the ordinaries fail [to attend to this office], princes are constrained, whether they wish to do so or not, to declare the law to their subjects, for maintaining of peace.

Besides these things, there is a controversy whether Bishops or Pastors have power to institute ceremonies in the Church, and to make laws concerning meats, and holidays, and degrees, or orders of ministers, etc. They that ascribe this power to the Bishops allege this multa habeo vobis dicere, sed non potestis portare modo. Cum autem venerit ille Spiritus veritatis, docebit vos omnem veritatem. Allegant etiam exemplum Apostolorum, qui prohibuerunt abstinere a sanguine et suffocato. Allegant Sabbatum mutantum in diem Dominicum, contra Decalogum ut videtur. Nec ullum exemplum magis jactatur, quam mutatio Sabbati. Magnum contendunt Ecclesiae potestatem esse, quod dispensaverit de precepto Decalogi.

Sed de hac quastione nostri sic docent, quod Episcopi non habent potestatem statuendi aliquid contra Evangelium, ut supra ostensum est; docent idem Cunones IX. Distinct. Porro contra Scripturam est, traditiones condere aut exigere, ut per eam obseruationem satis facimus pro peccatis, aut mereamur gratiam et justitiam. Leditur enim gloria meriti Christi, cum talibus obseruationibus conameri justificationem. Constat autem propter hanc persuasio nem, in Ecclesia pene in infinitum creuisse traditiones, oppressa interim doctrina de fide testimony for it: ‘I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye can not bear them now; but when that Spirit of truth shall come, he shall teach you all truth’ (John xvi. 12, 13). They allege also the examples of the Apostles, who commanded to abstain from blood, and that which was strangled (Acts xv. 29). They allege the change of the Sabbath into the Lord’s day, contrary, as it seemeth, to the Decalogue; and they have no example more in their mouths than the change of the Sabbath. They will needs have the Church’s power to be very great, because it hath dispensed with a precept of the Decalogue.

But of this question ours do thus teach: that the Bishops have no power to ordain any thing contrary to the Gospel, as was showed before. The same also do the Canons teach: Distinct. 9. Moreover, it is against the Scripture to ordain or require the observation of any traditions, to the end that we may merit remission of sins, and satisfy for sins by them. For the glory of Christ’s merit suffers when we seek by such observances to merit justification. And it is very apparent, that through this persuasion traditions grew into an infinite number in the Chnrech. In the mean while, the doctrine concerning faith, and the et justitia fidei, quia subinde plures feriae factae sunt, jejunia indicta, ceremoniae novae, novi honores sanctorum instituti sunt, quia arbitrabantur se autores talium rerum his operibus mereri gratiam. Sic olim creverunt Canones pœnitentiales, quorum adhuc in satisfactionibus vestigia quadam videmus.

Item, autores traditionum faciunt contra mandatum Dei, cum collocant peccatum in cibis, in diebus et similibus rebus, et onerant Ecclesiam servitute legis, quasi oporteat apud Christianos ad promerendam justificationem cultum esse similem Levitico, cuius ordinationem commiserit Deus Apostolis et Episcopis. Sic enim scribunt quidam, et videntur Pontifices aliqua ex parte exemplo legis Mosaicæ decepti esse. Hinc sunt illa onera, quod peccatum mortale sit, etium sine offensione aliorum, in feriis laborare manibus, quod sit peccatum mortale omittere horas Canonicas, quod certi cibi polluant conscientiam, quod jejunia sint opera placantia Deum, quod peccatum in casu reservato non possit remitti, nisi accesserit autoritas reservantis, cum quidem ipsi Canones non de reservatione righteousness of faith, was quite suppressed, for thereupon there were new holidays made, new fasts appointed, new ceremonies, new worships for saints, instituted; because that the authors of such things supposed by these works to merit grace. After the same manner heretofore did the Penitential Canons increase, whereof we still see some traces in satisfactions.

Moreover, the authors of traditions do contrary to the command of God when they find matters of sin in foods, in days, and like things, and burden the Church with the servitude of the law, as if there ought to be among Christians, in order to merit justification, a service like the Levitical, the ordination of which God has committed to the Apostles and Bishops. For this some of them write, and the Pontiffs in some measure seem to be misled by the example of the Law of Moses. From hence are those burdens, that it is mortal sin, even without offense to others, to do manual labor on the festivals, that it is a mortal sin to omit the Canonical Hours, that certain foods defile the conscience, that fastings are works which appease God; that sin, in a reserved case, can not be pardoned, but by the authority of him that reserved it; whereas the Canons speak only of culpæ, sed de reservatione pœnae ecclesiastice loquuntur.

Unde habent jus Episcopi has traditiones imponendi Ecclesiis ad illaqueandas conscientias, quum Petrus (Acts xv. 10) vetet ‘imponere jugum discipulis,’ quum Paulus (2 Cor. xiii. 10) dicat, potestatem ipsis datam esse ‘ad adificationem, non ad destructionem.’ Cur igitur augent peccata per has traditiones?

Verum extant clara testimonia, que prohibent condere tales traditiones ad promerendam gratiam, aut tanquam necessarias ad salutem. Paulus (Col. ii. 16): ‘Nemo vos judicet in cibo, potu, parte diei festi, novilunio aut Sabbatis.’ Item (20): ‘Si mortui estis cum Christo ab elemenis mundi, quare tanquam viventes in mundo, decreta facitis? non attingas, non gustes, non contrectes; que omnia perirent usu, et sunt mandata et doctrinae hominum, que habent speciem sapientie?’ Item, ad Titum (i. 14) aperte prohibet traditiones: ‘Non attendentes Judicis fabulis et mandatis hominum aversantium veritatem.’ Et Christus (Matt. xv. 14) inquit de his, qui exigunt traditiones: ‘Sinite illos, ceci sunt et duces reserving of ecclesiastical penalty, and not of the reserving of the fault.

Whence, then, have the Bishops power and authority of imposing these traditions upon the churches, for the ensnaring of men’s consciences, when Peter forbids (Acts xv. 10) ‘to put a yoke upon the neck of the disciples,’ and St. Paul says (2 Cor. xiii. 10) that the power given him was to edification, not to destruction? Why, therefore, do they increase sins by these traditions?

For there are divers clear testimonies which prohibit the making of such traditions, either to merit grace, or as things necessary to salvation. Paul saith to the Colossians, ‘Let no man judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of a holiday, or of the new moon, or of the Sabbath days’ (Col. ii. 16). Again, ‘If ye be dead with Christ from the rudiments of the world, why, as though living in the world, are ye subject to ordinances (Touch not, taste not, handle not; which all are to perish with the using) after the commandments and doctrines of men? which things indeed have a show of wisdom’ (Col. ii. 20–23). And to Titus he doth plainly forbid traditions; for he saith, ‘Not giving heed to Jewish fables, and to commandments of men, that turn from the truth’ (Tit. i. 14). And Christ saith of them cæcorum.’ Et improbat tales cultus (13): ‘Omnis plantatio, quam non plantavit Pater meus caelstis, eradicabitur.’

Si jus habent Episcopi onerandi ecclesias infinitis traditionibus, et illaqueandi conscientias, cur toties prohibet Scriptura condere et audire traditiones? cur vocat eas (1 Tim. iv. 1) doctrinas dæmoniorum? num frustra hæc præmonuit Spiritus Sanctus?

Relinquitur igitur, cum ordinationes institutæ tanquam necessarie, aut cum opinione promerrende gratie, pugnant cum Evangelio, quod non liceat ullis Episcopis tales cultus instituere aut exigere. Necesse est enim in ecclesiis [in der Christenheit] retineri doctrinam de libertate Christiana, quod non sit necessaria servitus legis ad justificationem; sicut in Galatis scriptum est (v. 1): ‘Nolite iterum jugo servitutis subjici.’ Necesse est retineri præcipuum Evangelii locum, quod gratiam per fidem in Christum, gratis consequamur, non propter certas observationes, aut propter cultus ab hominibus institutos.

which urge traditions, ‘Let them alone; they be blind leaders of the blind’ (Matt. xv. 14). And he condemneth such services: ‘Every plant which my heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up’ (ver. 13).

If Bishops have authority to burden the churches with innumerable traditions, and to snare men’s consciences, why doth the Scripture so oft forbid to make and to listen to traditions? Why doth it call them the doctrines of devils? (1 Tim. iv. 1.) Hath the Holy Ghost warned us of them to no purpose?

It remaineth, then, that (seeing ordinances, instituted as necessary, or with the opinion of meriting grace, are repugnant to the Gospel) it is not lawful for any Bishops to institute or exact such worship. For it is necessary that the doctrine of Christian liberty should be maintained in the churches [Christendom]; that the bondage of the law is not necessary unto justification, as it is written to the Galatians: ‘Be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage’ (Gal. v. 1). It is necessary that the chiefest point of all the Gospel should be holden fast, that we do freely obtain grace, by faith in Christ, not because of certain observances, or of services devised by men.

Quid igitur sentiendum est de die Dominico et similibus ritibus templorum? Ad hec respondent [die Unsern], quod licet Episcopis seu Pastoribus facere ordinationes, ut res ordine gerantur in Ecclesia, non ut per illas mereamur gratiam, aut satis faciamus pro peccatis, aut obligentur conscientie, ut judicent esse necessarios cultus, ac sentiant se peccare, cum sine offensione aliorum violant. Sic Paulus ordinat (1 Cor. xi. 15) ‘ut in congregacione mulieres velent capita’ (1 Cor. xiv. 30), ‘ut ordine audiantur in Ecclesia interpretes,’ etc.

Tales ordinationes convenit ecclesias propter caritatem et tranquillitatem servare catenus, ne alias alium offendat, ut ordine et sine tumultu omnia fiant in ecclesiis (1 Cor. xiv. 40, comp. Phil. ii. 14): verum ita, ne conscientie onerentur, ut ducant res esse necessarias ad salutem, ac judicent se peccare, cum violent eas sine aliorum offensione, sicut nemo dixerit peccare mulierem, qua in publicum non velato capite procedit, sine offensione hominum.

Talis est observatio diei Do-

What is, then, to be thought of the Lord's day, and of like rites of temples? Hereunto they [ours] answer, that it is lawful for Bishops or Pastors to make ordinances, whereby things may be done in order in the Church; not that by them we may merit grace, or satisfy for sins, or that men's consciences should be bound to esteem them as necessary services, and think that they sin when they violate them, without the offense of others. So Paul ordained, 'that women should cover their heads in the congregation' (1 Cor. xi. 6); 'that the interpreters of Scripture should be heard in order in the Church' (1 Cor. xiv. 27), etc.

Such ordinances it behooveth the churches to keep for charity and quietness' sake, so that one offend not another, that all things may be done in order, and without tumult in the churches (1 Cor. xiv. 40 and Phil. ii. 14), but so that consciences be not burdened, so as to account them as things necessary to salvation, and think they sin when they violate them, without offense of others; as no one would say that a woman sins if she went into public with her head uncovered, provided it were without the offense of men.

Such is the observation of the minici, Paschatis, Pentecostes et similium feriarum et rituum. Nam qui judicant Ecclesiae autoritate pro Sabbatho institutam esse diei Dominicis observationem, tanquam necessariam, longe errant. Scriptura abrogavit Sabbathum, quae docet omnes ceremonias Mosaicas, post revelationem Evangelium omitti posse. Et tamen, quia opus erat constituere certum diem, ut sciret populus, quando convenire deberet, appareret Ecclesiam [die christliche Kirche] ei rei destinasse diem Dominicum, qui ob hanc quoque causam videatur magis placuisse, ut haberent homines exemplum Christianae libertatis, et scirent, nec Sabbathi nec alterius diei observationem necessariam esse [dass weder die Haltung des Sabbaths, noch eines andern Tages vonnöthen sei].¹

Extant prodigiosae disputationes de mutatione legis, de ceremoniis novae legis, de mutatione Sabbathi, quae omnes ortae sunt

Lord's day, of Easter, of Pentecost, and like holidays and rites. For they that think that the observation of the Lord's day was appointed by the authority of the Church, instead of the Sabbath, as necessary, are greatly deceived. The Scripture, which teacheth that all the Mosaical ceremonies can be omitted after the Gospel is revealed, has abrogated the Sabbath. And yet, because it was requisite to appoint a certain day, that the people might know when they ought to come together, it appears that the [Christian] Church did for that purpose appoint the Lord's day: which for this cause also seemed to have been pleasing, that men might have an example of Christian liberty, and might know that the observation, neither of the Sabbath, nor of another day, was of necessity.

There are certain marvelous disputationes touching the changing of the law, and the ceremonies of the new law, and the change of the Sab-ex falsa persuasione, quod oporteat in Ecclesia cultum esse similem Levitico, et quod Christus commiserit Apostolis et Episcopis excogitare novas ceremonias, quae sint ad salutem necessarie. Hi errores serpserunt in Ecclesiam, cum justitia fidei non satis clare doceretur. Aliqui disputant, diei Dominici observationem non quidem juris divini esse, sed quasi juris divini; prescribunt de feriis, quatenus liceat operari. Hujusmodi disputationes quid sunt aliud, nisi laquei conscientiarum? Quanquam enim conentur episkeizare [zu lindern und epiiciren] traditiones, tamen nunquam potest aequitas deprehendi [so kann man doch keine ἐπιείκειαν oder Linderung treffen], donec manet opinio necessitatis, quam manere necesse est, ubi ignorantur justitia fidei et libertas Christiana.

Apostoli jusserunt (Acts xv. 20) ‘abstinere a sanguine.’ Quis nunc observat? Neque tamen peccant, qui non observant, quia ne ipsi quidem Apostoli voluerunt onerare conscientias tali servitute, sed ad tempus prohibuerunt propter scandalum. Est enim perpetuo voluntas Evangelii [das Hauptstück christlicher Lehre] consideranda in decreto.

bath: which all arose from the false persuasion, that there should be a service in the Church, like to the Levitical; and that Christ committed to the Apostles and Bishops the devising new ceremonies, which should be necessary to salvation. These errors crept into the Church, when the righteousness of faith was not plainly enough taught. Some dispute that the observation of the Lord's day is not indeed of the law of God, but as it were of the law of God; and touching holidays, they prescribe how far it is lawful to work in them. What else are such disputations but snares for men's consciences? For though they seek to moderate traditions, yet the equity of them can never be perceived so long as the opinion of necessity remaineth; which must needs remain, where the righteousness of faith and Christian liberty are not known.

The Apostles commanded ‘to abstain from blood’ (Acts xv. 20). Who observeth that nowadays? And yet they do not sin that observe it not. For the Apostles themselves would not burden men's consciences with such a servitude; but they forbade it for a time, because of scandal. For in the decree, the will of the Gospel is always to be considered.

Vix ulli Canones servantur accurate, et multi quotidie exolescent apud illos etiam, qui diligentissime defendunt traditiones. Nec potest conscientiis consuli, nisi haec aequitas servetur [wo diese Linderung nicht gehalten wird], ut sciamus eos sine opinione necessitatis servari, nec laedi conscientias, etiam si traditiones exolescant.

Facile autem possent Episcopi legitimam obedientiam retinere, si non urgerent servare traditiones, que bona conscientia servari non possunt. Nunc imperant calibatum, nullos recipiunt, nisi jurent se puram Evangelii doctrinam nolle docere. Non petunt Ecclesie, ut Episcopi honoris sui jactura sarciant concordium, quod tamen decebat bonos Pastores facere. Tantum petunt, ut injusta onera remittant, que nova sunt, et praeter consuetudinem Ecclesie Catholice [wider den Gebrauch der christlichen gemeinen Kirchen] recepta. Fortassis initio quedam constitutiones habuerunt probabiles causas, que tamen posterioribus temporibus non congruunt. Apparet etiam quasdam errore receptas esse; quare Pontificie clementiae esset, Scarcely any Canons are precisely kept; and many grow out of use daily, yea, even among them that do most busily defend traditions. Neither can there be sufficient care had of men's consciences, except this equity be kept, that men should know that such rites are not to be observed with any opinion of necessity, and that men's consciences are not hurt, though traditions grow out of use.

The Bishops might easily retain lawful obedience, if they would not urge men to observe such traditions as can not be kept with a good conscience. Now they command single life; and they admit none, except they will swear not to teach the pure doctrine of the Gospel. The churches do not desire of the Bishops that they would repair peace and concord with the loss of their honor (which yet good pastors ought to do): they only desire that they would remit unjust burdens, which are both new and received contrary to the custom of the Catholie [Christian Universal] Church. It may well be that some constitutions had some probable reasons when they began, which yet will not agree to latter times. It is evident that some were received through error. Wherefore it were a matter for the pontifical illas nunc mitigare, quia talis mutatio non lubefacit Ecclesie unitatem. Multæ enim traditiones humanæ tempore mutatae sunt, ut ostendunt ipsi Canones. Quod si non potest impetrari, ut relaxentur observationes, que sine peccato non possunt præstari, oportet nos regulam Apostolicam sequi (Acts v. 29), quæ præcipit, ‘Deo magis obedire, quam hominibus.’

Petrus (1 Pet. v. 3) vetat Episcopos dominari, et ecclesiis imperare. Nunc non id agitur, ut dominatio eripiatur Episcopis, sed hoc unum petitur, ut patientur Evangelium pure doceri, et relaxent paucas quasdam observationes, que sine peccato servari non possunt. Quod si nihil remiserint, ipsi viderint, quomodo Deo rationem reddituri sint, quod pertinacia sua causam schismati præbent [Spaltung und Schisma, das sie doch billig sollen verhüten helfen].

EPILOGUS.

Hi sunt præcipui articuli, qui videntur habere controversiam. Quanquam enim de pluribus abusibus dici poterat, tamen, ut sufficeremus prolixitatem, præcipua complexi sumus, ex quibus cetera facile judicari possunt. Magne querela fuerunt de indulgentiis, de peregrinationibus, de abusu excommuni-gentleness to mitigate them now; for such a change would not overthrow the unity of the Church. For many human traditions have been changed in time, as the Canons themselves declare. But if it can not be obtained that those observances may be relaxed which can not be kept without sin, then must we follow the Apostles' rule, which willeth 'to obey God rather than men' (Acts v. 29).

Peter forbiddeth Bishops to be lords, and to be imperious over the churches (1 Pet. v. 3). Now our meaning is not to have rule taken from the Bishops; but this one thing only is requested at their hands, that they would suffer the Gospel to be purely taught, and that they would relax a few observances, which can not be held without sin. But if they will remit none, let them look how they will give account to God for this, that by their obstinacy they afford cause of schism [division and schism, which it were yet fit they should aid in avoiding].

CONCLUSION.

These are the principal articles which seem to be matters of controversy. For although we might speak of more abuses, yet that we may avoid undue length we have embraced a few, whereby it is easy to judge of the others. Great have been the complaints about indulgences, about pilgrimages, about the abuse of excommunication. The parishes have been vexed in manifold ways by the stationarii. Endless contentions have arisen between the pastors and the monks about parochial law, about confession, about burials, about sermons on extraordinary occasions, and about other things without number. Things of this sort we pass over, that those which are chief in this matter, being briefly set forth, may more easily be noted. Nor has any thing been here said or adduced for the purpose of casting reproach on any one. Those things only have been enumerated which it seemed necessary to say, that it might be understood that in doctrine and ceremonials among us there is nothing received contrary to Scripture or to the Catholic [Universal Christian] Church, inasmuch as it is manifest that we have diligently taken heed that no new and godless doctrines should creep into our churches.

In accordance with the Edict of His Imperial Majesty, we wish to present these articles above written, in which is our Confession, and in which is seen a summary of the doctrine of those who teach among us. If any thing be lacking in this Confession, we are prepared, God willing, to present a plainer information, in accordance with the Scriptures.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS,

As they should be clearly and simply explained to every household by the head of the family.

THE FIRST COMMANDMENT.
Thou shalt have no other gods.

What does this mean? Answer : We should fear and love God, and trust in him, above all things.

THE SECOND COMMANDMENT.
Thou shalt not take the name of thy God in vain.

What does this mean? Answer : We should so fear and love God as not to curse, swear, conjure, lie, or deceive, by his name; but call upon it in every time of need, pray, praise, and give thanks.

THE THIRD COMMANDMENT.
Thou shalt keep holy the Sabbath day.

What does this mean? Answer : We should so fear and love God as not to despise preaching and his Das Vierte (Gebot).

Du sollst deinen Vater und deine Mutter ehren.¹

Was ist das? Antwort:

Wir sollen Gott fürchten und lieben, daß wir unsere Eltern und Herren nicht verachten noch erzürnen; sondern sie in Ehren halten, ihnen dienen, gehorchen, sie lieb und werth haben.

Das Fünfte (Gebot).

Du sollst nicht tödten.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Wir sollen Gott fürchten und lieben, daß wir unsern Nächsten an seinem Leibe keinen Schaden noch Leid thun; sondern ihm helfen und fördern in allen Leibesnöthen.

Das Sechste (Gebot).

Du sollst nicht ehebrechen.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Wir sollen Gott fürchten und lieben, daß wir keusch und züchtig leben in Worten und Werken, und ein Esglicher sein Gemahl lieben und ehren.

Das Siebente (Gebot).

Du sollst nicht stehlen.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Wir sollen Gott fürchten und lieben, daß wir unsers Nächsten Geld oder

THE FOURTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt honor thy father and thy mother.¹

What does this mean? Answer:

We should so fear and love God as not to despise nor provoke our parents and rulers, but honor, serve, obey, love, and esteem them.

THE FIFTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not kill.

What does this mean? Answer:

We should so fear and love God as not to do our neighbor any injury or harm in his body, but help and befriend him in all bodily troubles.

THE SIXTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not commit adultery.

What does this mean? Answer:

We should so fear and love God as to be chaste and pure in our words and deeds, and that husband and wife should love and honor each other.

THE SEVENTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not steal.

What does this mean? Answer:

We should so fear and love God as not to take our neighbor's money

¹ In the edition of 1542 the blessing is added: 'That thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.'

Gut nicht nehmen, noch mit fälscher Ware oder Handel an uns bringen; sondern ihm sein Gut und Nahrung helfen bessern und behüten.

Das Achte (Gebot).

Du sollst nicht falsch Zeugniß reden wider deinen Nächsten.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Wir sollen Gott fürchten und lieben, daß wir unsern Nächsten nicht fälschlich belügen, verrathen, afterreden, oder bösen Leumund machen; sondern sollen ihn entschuldigen und Gutes von ihm reden, und Alles zum Besten fehren.¹

Das Neunte (Gebot).

Du sollst nicht begehrn deines Nächsten Hauses.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Wir sollen Gott fürchten und lieben, daß wir unserm Nächsten nicht mit List nach seinem Erbe oder Hause stehen, und mit einem Schein des Rechts an uns bringen; sondern ihm dasselbige zu behalten förderlich und dienstlich sein.

Das Zehnte (Gebot).

Du sollst nicht begehrn deines Nächsten Weib, Knecht, Magd, Bich, oder was sein ist.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Wir sollen Gott fürchten und lieben, daß wir unserm Nächsten nicht or property, nor get it by false ware or dealing, but help him to improve and protect his property and livelihood.

THE EIGHTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

What does this mean? Answer:

We should so fear and love God as not to belie, betray, or slander our neighbor, nor injure his character, but defend him, speak well of him, and make the best of all he does.¹

THE NINTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house.

What does this mean? Answer:

We should so fear and love God as not to try to defraud our neighbor of his inheritance or home, nor obtain it under pretext of a legal right, but aid and assist him to keep it.

THE TENTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his man-servant, nor his maid-servant, nor his cattle, nor any thing that is his own.

What does this mean? Answer:

We should so fear and love God as not to detach, extort, or alienate sein Weib, Gesinde oder Vieh abspannen, abdringen oder abwendig machen; sondern dieselbigen anhalten, daß sie bleiben und thun was sie schuldig sind.

Was saget nun Gott von diesen Gebeten allen? Antwort:

Er saget also:

Ich der HERR dein Gott bin ein eifriger Gott, der über die, so mich hassen, die Sünde der Väter heimsucht an den Kindern bis ins dritte und vierte Glied; aber denen, so mich lieben und meine Gebote halten, thue ich wohl in tausend Glied.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Gott drängt zu strafen Alle, die diese Gebote übertreten; darum sollen wir uns fürchten vor seinem Zorn, und nicht wider solche Gebote thun. Er verheißet aber Gnade und alles Gutes Allen, die solche Gebote halten; darum sollen wir ihn auch lieben und vertrauen, und gerne thun nach seinen Geboten.

from our neighbor his wife, servants, or cattle, but induce them to stay and do their duty.

What does God say about all these Commandments?

He says this:

I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me, and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments.

What does this mean? Answer:

God threatens to punish all who transgress these Commandments: we should, therefore, fear his anger, and do nothing against such Commandments. But he promises grace and every blessing to all who keep them: we should, therefore, love and trust in him, and gladly obey his Commandments.

PART II.

THE CREED,

As it should be clearly and simply explained to every household by the head of the family.

THE FIRST ARTICLE.

Of Creation.

I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Ich glaube, daß mich Gott geschaffen hat sammt allen Creaturen, mir Leib und Seele, Augen, Ohren und alle Glieder, Vernunft und alle Sinne gegeben hat und noch erhält; dazu Kleider und Schuh, Essen und Trinken, Haus und Hof, Weib und Kind, Acker, Vieh und alle Güter; mit aller Nothdurft und Nahrung dieses Leibes und Lebens reichlich und täglich versorget, wider alle Fährlichkeit beschirmt, und vor allem Nebel behütet und bewahret; und das alles aus lauter väterlicher, göttlicher Güte und Barmherzigkeit, ohne alle mein Verdienst und Würdigkeit; deswegen alles ich ihm zu danken und zu loben, und dafür zu dienen und gehorsam zu sein schuldig bin. Das ist gewißlich wahr.

What does this mean? Answer:

I believe that God has created me and all that exists; that he has given and still preserves to me body and soul, eyes, ears, and all my limbs, my reason and all my senses; and also clothing and shoes, food and drink, house and home, wife and child, land, cattle, and all my property; that he provides me richly and daily with all the necessities of life, protects me from all danger, and preserves and guards me against all evil; and all this out of pure paternal, divine goodness and mercy, without any merit or worthiness of mine; for all which I am in duty bound to thank, praise, serve, and obey him. This is most certainly true.

Der Zweite Artikel.

Von der Erlösung.

THE SECOND ARTICLE.

Of Redemption.

And in Jesus Christ his only Son, our Lord; who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary; suffered under Pontius Pilate; was crucified, dead, and buried; he descended into hell; the third day he rose again from the dead; he ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father Almighty; from thence he shall

Was ist das? Antwort:

Ich glaube, daß Jesus Christus,

Mensch von der Jungfrau Maria geboren, sei mein HERR, der mich verlorenen und verdamten Menschen erlöset hat, erworben, gewonnen [und]¹ come to judge the quick and the dead.

What does this mean? Answer:

I believe that Jesus Christ, true
God, begotten of the Father from eternity, and also true man, born of the Virgin Mary, is my Lord; who has redeemed me, a lost and condemned man, secured and delivered me [even]¹ from all sins, from death, and from the power of the devil, not with gold or silver, but with his holy, precious blood, and with his innocent sufferings and death;
in order that I might be his own, live under him in his kingdom, and serve him in everlasting righteousness, innocence, and blessedness,
even as he is risen from the dead, and lives and reigns forever. This is most certainly true.

THE THIRD ARTICLE.

Of Sanctification.

*I believe in the Holy Ghost;
one holy Christian² Church; the Communion of Saints; the Forgiveness of Sins; the Resurrection of the Body; and the Life Everlasting. Amen.*

¹ This und (which, if not a typographical error, must have the force of und zwar, even) is found in all the editions of Luther, but is now usually omitted as superfluous.

² Luther omitted the word Catholic, and substituted for it Christian. The Heidelberg Catechism combines the two: 'allgemeine christliche Kirche.'

Was ist das? Antwort:

Ich glaube, daß ich nicht aus eigener Vernunft noch Kraft an Jesum Christ meinen Herrn glauben oder zu ihm kommen kann; sondern der heilige Geist hat mich durchs Evangelium berufen, mit seinen Gaben erleuchtet, im rechten Glauben geheiligt und erhalten; gleichwie er die ganze Christenheit auf Erden berufen, sammlet, erleuchtet, heiligt, und bei Jesu Christo erhält im rechten einigen Glauben; in welcher Christenheit er mir und allen Gläubigen täglich alle Sünden reichlich vergiebt; und am jüngsten Tage mich und alle Todten auferwecken wird, und mir sammt allen Gläubigen in Christo ein ewiges Leben geben wird. Das ist gewißlich wahr.

What does this mean? Answer:

I believe that I can not, by my own reason or strength, believe in Jesus Christ my Lord, or come to him; but the Holy Ghost has called me through the Gospel, enlightened me by his gifts, and sanctified and preserved me in the true faith; just as he calls, gathers, enlightens, and sanctifies the whole Christian Church on earth, and preserves it in union with Jesus Christ in the one true faith; in which Christian Church he daily forgives richly all my sins, and the sins of all believers; and will raise up me and all the dead at the last day, and will grant everlasting life to me and to all who believe in Christ. This is most certainly true.

cheerfully and with all confidence pray to him, even as dear children ask their dear father.

Die Erste Bitte.

Geheiligt werde dein Name.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Gottes Name ist zwar an ihm selbst heilig; aber wir bitten in diesem Gebet, daß er bei uns auch heilig werde.

Wie geschieht das? Antwort:

Wo das Wort Gottes lauter und rein gelehret wird, und wir auch heilig, als die Kinder Gottes, darnach leben: des [dazu] hilf uns, lieber Vater im Himmel! Wer aber anders lehret und lebet, denn das Wort Gottes lehret, der entheiligt unter uns den Namen Gottes. Davor behüte uns, himmlischer Vater!

Die Andere [Zweite] Bitte.

Dein Reich komme.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Gottes Reich kommt wohl ohne unser Gebet von ihm selbst; aber wir bitten in diesem Gebet, daß es auch zu uns komme.

Wie geschieht das? Antwort:

Wenn der himmlische Vater uns seinen heiligen Geist giebt, daß wir seinem heiligen Werte durch seine Gnade glauben, und göttlich leben, hier zeitlich und dort ewiglich.

THE FIRST PETITION.

Hallowed be thy name.

What does this mean? Answer:

The name of God is indeed in itself holy; but we pray in this petition that it may be hallowed also by us.

How can this be done? Answer:

When the Word of God is taught in its truth and purity, and we, as the children of God, lead holy lives accordingly. To this may our blessed Father in heaven help us! But whoever teaches and lives otherwise than as God's Word teaches, profanes the name of God among us. From this preserve us, heavenly Father!

THE SECOND PETITION.

Thy kingdom come.

What does this mean? Answer:

The kingdom of God comes indeed of itself, without our prayer; but we pray in this petition that it may come also to us.

How can this be done? Answer:

When our heavenly Father gives us his Holy Spirit, so that by his grace we believe his holy Word, and live a godly life here in time, and hereafter in eternity.

Die Dritte Bitte.

Dein Wille geschehe, wie im Himmel, also auch auf Erden.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Gottes guter, gnädiger Wille geschieht wohl ohne unser Gebet; aber wir bitten in diesem Gebet, daß er auch bei uns geschehe.

Wie geschieht das? Antwort:

Wenn Gott allen bösen Rath und Willen bricht und hindert, so uns den Namen Gottes nicht heiligen und sein Reich nicht kommen lassen wollen, als da ist des Teufels, der Welt und unser's Fleisches Wille, sondern stärket und behält uns fest in seinem Wort und Glauben bis an unser Ende; das ist sein gnädiger, guter Wille.

Die Vierte Bitte.

Unser täglich Brot gieb uns heute.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Gott giebt täglich Brot auch wohl ohne unsre Bitte, allen bösen Menschen; aber wir bitten in diesem Gebet, daß er uns erkennen lasse und mit Danksgung empfahen unser täglich Brot.

Was heißt denn täglich Brot? Antwort:

Alles, was zur Leibes Nahrung und Nothdurft gehört, als Essen, Trinken, Kleider, Schuh, Haus, Hof, Acker,

THE THIRD PETITION.

Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven.

What does this mean? Answer:

God's good, gracious will is done indeed without our prayer; but we pray in this petition that it may be done also by us.

How can this be done? Answer:

When God breaks and brings to naught every evil counsel and will which would hinder us from halowing the name of God, and prevent his kingdom from coming to us (such as the will of the devil, of the world, and of our own flesh); but makes us strong and steadfast in his Word and faith even unto our end: this is his gracious, good will.

THE FOURTH PETITION.

Give us this day our daily bread.

What does this mean? Answer:

God gives indeed, without our prayer, even to the wicked their daily bread; but we pray in this petition that he would make us sensible [of his benefits] and enable us to receive our daily bread with thanksgiving.

What is, then, our daily bread? Answer:

All that pertains to the nourishment and needs of the body, as drink, food, clothing, shoes, house,

Bieh, Geld, Gut, fromm Gemahl, fromme Kinder, fromm Gefinde, fromme und treue Oberherren, gut Regiment, gut Wetter, Friede, Gesundheit, Bucht, Ehre, gute Freunde, getreue Nachbarn, und desgleichen.

home, land, cattle, money, property, pious husband or wife, pious children, pious servants, pious and faithful rulers, good government, good seasons, peace, health, education, honor, good friends, trusty neighbors, and the like.

Die Fünfte Bitte.

Und verlasse [vergieb] uns unsre Schuld, als wir verlassen
[vergeben] unsern Schuldigern.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Wir bitten in diesem Gebet, daß der Vater im Himmel nicht ansehen wolle unsre Sünde, und um derselbigen willen solche Bitte nicht versagen: denn wir sind der keines werth, das wir bitten, haben's auch nicht verdienet; sondern er wolle es uns alles aus Gnaden geben; denn wir täglich viel sündigen, und wohl eitel Strafe verdienen. So wollen wir zwar wiederum auch herzlich vergeben, und gerne wohlthun [denen], die sich an uns ver-sündigen.

THE FIFTH PETITION.

And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors.

What does this mean? Answer:

We pray in this petition that our Father in heaven would not look upon our sins, nor on account of them deny our request; for we are not worthy of any thing for which we pray, and have not merited it;
but that he would grant us all things through grace; for we daily sin much, and deserve nothing but punishment. We will, therefore, also on our part, heartily forgive and willingly do good to those who sin against us.

Die Sechste Bitte.

Und führe uns nicht in Versu-chung.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Gott versucht zwar niemand; aber
wir bitten in diesem Gebet, daß uns Gott wolle behüten und erhalten, auf daß uns der Teufel, die Welt und

THE SIXTH PETITION.

And lead us not into temptation.

What does this mean? Answer:

God indeed tempts no one, but we pray in this petition that God would so guard and preserve us that the devil, the world, and our unser Fleisch nicht betrüge und verfüre in Misglauben, Verzweiflung und andere große Schande und Laster; und ob wir damit angefechten würden, daß wir doch endlich gewinnen und den Sieg behalten.

Die Siebente Bitte.

Sondern erlöse uns von dem Nebel.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Wir bitten in diesem Gebet, als in der Summa, daß uns der Vater im Himmel von allerlei Leibes und der Seele, Gutes und Ehre erlöse, und zuletzt, wenn unser Stündlein kommt, ein seliges Ende beschere, und mit Gnaden von diesem Jammerthal zu sich nehme in den Himmel.

Was ist das? Antwort:

Daß ich soll gewiß sein, solche Bitten sind dem Vater im Himmel angenehm und erhöret; denn er selbst hat uns gebeten, also zu beten, und verheissen, daß er uns will erhören. Amen, Amen, das heißt, Ja, Ja, es soll also geschehen.

own flesh may not deceive us, nor lead us into disbelief, despair, and other great shame and vice; and that, though we may be thus tempted, we may nevertheless finally prevail and gain the victory.

THE SEVENTH PETITION.

But deliver us from evil.

What does this mean? Answer:

We pray in this petition, as in a summary, that our Father in heaven may deliver us from all manner of evil—in body or soul, property or honor—and, at last, when our time comes, may grant us a happy end, and graciously take us from this world of sorrow to himself in heaven.

What does this mean? Answer:

That I should be sure that such petitions are pleasing to our Father in heaven, and are heard by him; for he himself has commanded us thus to pray, and has promised that he will hear us. Amen, Amen: that is, Yea, yea, so shall it be.

¹ Many modern editions insert the doxology before Amen, with this question: , Wie lautet der Beschuß? Denn du ist das Reich, und die Kraft, und die Herrlichkeit, in Ewigkeit. Amen., — ‘What is the conclusion? For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.’

(Das Vierte Hauptstück.)

Das Sakrament der heiligen Taufe wie dasselbige ein Haussvater seinem Gesinde soll einfältiglich fürhalten.

Zum Ersten.

Was ist die Taufe? Antwort:

Die Taufe ist nicht allein schlecht Wasser, sondern sie ist das Wasser in Gottes Gebot gefasst, und mit Gottes Wort verbunden.

Welches ist denn solch Wert Gottes? Antwort:

Da unser Herr Christus spricht, Matthäi am letzten:

Gehet hin in alle Welt,¹ lehret alle Heiden [Völker], und taufet sie im Namen des Vaters, und des Sohnes, und des heiligen Geistes.

Zum Andern.

Was giebt oder nützt die Taufe? Antwort:

Sie wirkt Vergebung der Sünden, erlöset vom Tode und Teufel, und giebt die ewige Seligkeit Allen, die es glauben, wie die Worte und Verheißungen Gottes lauten.

Welches sind denn solche Worte und Verheißungen Gottes? Antwort:

Da unser Herr Christus spricht, Marei am letzten:

Wer da glaubet und getauft

PART IV.

THE SACRAMENT OF HOLY BAPTISM,

As it should be clearly and simply explained to every household by the head of the family.

I.

What is Baptism? Answer:

Baptism is not simply common water, but it is the water comprehended in God's command, and connected with God's Word.

What is that Word of God? Answer:

It is that which our Lord Christ speaks in the last chapter of Matthew [xxviii. 19]:

'Go ye [into all the world], and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.'

II.

What does Baptism give, or of what use is it? Answer:

It worketh forgiveness of sins, delivers from death and the devil, and gives everlasting salvation to all who believe, as the Word and promise of God declare.

What are such words and promises of God? Answer:

Those which our Lord Christ speaks in the last chapter of Mark:

'He that believeth and is bap-

wird, der wird selig; wer aber nicht glaubet, der wird verdammt.

tized, shall be saved; but he that believeth not, shall be damned.

Zum Dritten.

Wie kann Wasser solche große Dinge thun?
Antwort :

Wasser thut's freilich nicht, sondern das Wort Gottes, so mit und bei dem Wasser ist, und der Glaube, so solchem Worte Gottes im Wasser trauet; denn ohne Gottes Wort ist das Wasser schlecht Wasser, und keine Taufe; aber mit dem Worte Gottes ist's eine Taufe, das ist ein gnadenreich Wasser des Lebens und ein Bad der neuen Geburt im heiligen Geiste; wie S. Paulus sagt zu Tito am dritten Kapitel:

Durch das Bad der Wiedergeburt und Erneuerung des heiligen Geistes, welchen er ausgegossen hat über uns reichlich durch Jesum Christum, unsern Heiland, auf daß wir durch desselben Gnade gerechtsfertiget, Erben seien des ewigen Lebens, nach der Hoffnung. Das ist gewißlich wahr.

Zum Vierten.

Was bedeutet denn solch Wassertanzen?
Antwort :

Es bedeutet, daß der alte Adam in uns durch tägliche Neue und Buße soll erfäufet werden, und sterben mit allen Sünden und bösen Lüsten; und

III.

How can water do such great things? Answer:

It is not water, indeed, that does it, but the Word of God which is with and in the water, and faith, which trusts in the Word of God in the water. For without the Word of God the water is nothing but water, and no baptism; but with the Word of God it is a baptism—that is, a gracious water of life and a washing of regeneration in the Holy Ghost, as St. Paul says, Titus, third chapter [iii. 5-7]:

'By the washing of regeneration, and renewing of the Holy Ghost, which he shed on us abundantly through Jesus Christ our Saviour; that being justified by his grace, we should be made heirs according to the hope of eternal life.' This is certainly true. [Or, 'This is a faithful saying,' ver. 8.]

IV.

What does such baptizing with water signify? Answer:

It signifies that the old Adam in us is to be drowned by daily sorrow and repentance, and perish with all sins and evil lusts; and wiederum täglich herauskommen und auferstehen ein neuer Mensch, der in Gerechtigkeit und Reinigkeit für [vor] Gott ewiglich lebe.

Wo steht das geschrieben? Antwort:

S. Paulus zu den Römern am sechsten spricht:

Wir sind sammt Christo durch die Taufe begraben im [in den] Tod, daß gleichwie Christus ist von den Todten auferweckt durch die Herrlichkeit des Vaters, also sollen wir auch in einem neuen Leben wandeln.

that the new man should daily come forth again and rise, who shall live before God in righteousness and purity forever.

Where is it so written? Answer:

St. Paul, in the 6th chapter of Romans, says:

'We are buried with Christ by baptism into death; that like as he was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life.'

Wie man die Einfältigen soll lehren beichten.¹

Was ist die Beichte? Antwort:

Die Beichte begreift zwei Stücke in sich: eins, daß man die Sünden bekenne; das andre, daß man die Absolution oder Vergebung vom Beichtiger empfahre, als von Gott selbst, und ja nicht daran zweifle, sondern fest glaube, die Sünden seien dadurch vergeben für [vor] Gott im Himmel.

Welche Sünden soll man denn beichten? Antwort:

Für [vor] Gott soll man aller Sünden sich schuldig geben, auch die wir

HOW THE UNLEARNED SHOULD BE TAUGHT TO CONFESS.¹

What is confession? Answer:

Confession comprehends two parts: one, that we confess our sins; the other, that we receive absolution or forgiveness from the father confessor, as from God himself, in no wise doubting, but firmly believing that our sins are thereby forgiven before God in heaven.

What sins should we confess? Answer:

Before God we should accuse ourselves of all manner of sins, nicht erkennen, wie wir im Vaterunser thun; aber für [vor] dem Beichtiger sollen wir allein die Sünden bekennen, die wir wissen und fühlen im Herzen.

Welche sind die? Antwort:

Da siehe deinen Stand an nach den Zehn Geboten, ob du Vater, Mutter, Sohn, Tochter, Herr, Frau, Knecht seiest; ob du ungehorsam, untreu, unfleißig, zornig, unzüchtig, hitzig gewesen seiest; ob duemand Leide gethan habest mit Worten oder Werken; ob du gestohlen, versäumt, verwahrlost, Schaden gethan habest.

Lieber stelle mir eine kurze Weise zu beichten.
Antwort:¹

So sollst du zum Beichtiger sprechen:

Würdiger, lieber Herr, ich bitte euch, wollet meine Beichte hören, und mir die Vergebung zusprechen um Gottes willen.

Sage an:

Ich armer Sünder bekenne mich vor Gott aller Sünden schuldig; insonderheit bekenne ich vor euch, daß ich ein Knecht, Magd, etc. bin; aber ich diene leider untreulich meinem Herrn: denn da und da habe ich nicht gethan, even of those which we do not ourselves perceive; as we do in the Lord's Prayer. But to the confessor we should confess those sins only which we know and feel in our hearts.

Which are these? Answer:

Here consider your condition, according to the Ten Commandments, whether you are a father or mother, a son or daughter, a master or mistress, a man-servant or maid-servant; whether you have been disobedient, unfaithful, lazy, angry, unchaste, spiteful; whether you have injured any one by words or deeds; whether you have stolen, neglected, or wasted any thing, or done any harm.

Show me a short way to confess. Answer:¹

Speak thus to the confessor:

Worthy, dear sir, I beseech you to hear my confession, and absolve me for God's sake.

Say:

I, poor sinner, confess before God that I am guilty of all manner of sin; in particular I confess before you that I am a man-servant, maid-servant, etc.; but, alas! I serve my master unfaithfully, for I was sie mich hießen; habe sie erzürnt und zu fluchen bewegt, habe versäumt und Schaden lassen geschehn; bin auch in Worten und Werken schambar [schamlos] gewesen, habe mit meines Gleichen gezürnt, wider meine Frau gemurrt und geflucht, etc. Daß alles ist mir leid, und bitte um Gnade; ich will mich bessern.

have not done what they told me; I have moved them to anger and to cursing, have neglected my duty, and let things go to waste; I have also been immodest in words and deeds, have quarreled with my equals, have grumbled and sworn at my wife, etc. For all this I am sorry, and plead for mercy; I will do so no more.

Ein Herr oder Frau sage also:

Insonderheit bekenne ich für [vor] euch, daß ich mein Kind und Gesinde, Weib nicht treulich gezogen habe zu Gottes Ehren; ich habe geflucht, böse Erempel mit unzüchtigen Worten und Werken gegeben, meinem Nachbar Schaden gethan, übel nachgeredet, zu thuer verkauft, falsche und nicht ganze Waare gegeben.

[Und was er mehr wider die Gebete Gottes und seinen Stand gethan, etc. Wenn aber Jemand sich nicht befindet beschweret mit solcher oder grösseren Sünden, der soll nicht sorgen oder weiter Sünden suchen noch erdichten, und damit eine Marter aus der Beichte machen; sondern erzähle eine oder zwei, die du weißt, also:]

Insonderheit bekenne ich, daß ich einmal geflucht; item, einmal unhübsch mit Worten gewesen, einmal dies N. versäumt habe, etc.

[Und lasse es genug sein. Weißt du aber gar keine (welches doch nicht wohl sollte möglich sein), so sage auch keine insonderheit, sondern nimm die Vergebung auf die gemeine Beichte, so du für [vor] Gott stehst gegen den Beichtiger.]

A master or mistress shold say thus:

In particular I confess before you, that I have not brought up my child, household, and wife to the glory of God; I have cursed, have set a bad example with unchaste words and actions, have injured my neighbor; have slandered, overcharged, given spurious goods and short measure.

[And so on with any thing he has done contrary to the commands of God, and to his position, etc. If, however, the conscience of any one of you is not troubled with such or greater sins, do not worry, or hunt up, or invent other sins, and thereby make a torture out of confession, but mention one or two you know of. Thus:]

In particular, I confess that I have once sworn; also, I have once used improper language, once neglected some duty, etc.

[And then stop. But if you should know of no sin (which, however, is hardly possible), then mention none in particular, but receive absolution after the general confession which you make to God before the confessor.]

Darauf soll der Beichtiger sagen:
Gott sei dir gnädig, und stärke deinen Glauben. Amen.

Weiter:

Glaubst du auch, daß meine Verge-bung Gottes Vergebung sei?

Antwort:

Ja, lieber Herr.

Darauf spreche er:

Wie du glaubst, so geschehe dir!
Und ich aus dem Befehl unsers
HERRN Jesu Christi vergebe dir deine Sünden, im Namen des Vaters und des Sohnes und des heiligen Geistes. Amen.

Gehe hin im Frieden.

[Welche aber große Beschwerung des Ge-wissens haben, oder betrübt und angefochten find, die wird ein Beichtvater wohl wissen mit mehr Sprüchen zu trösten und zum Glauben reizen. Das soll allein eine gemeine Weise der Beichte sein für die Einfältigen.]

(Das Fünfte Hauptstück.)¹

Das Sacrament des Altars, wie ein Haussvater dasselbe seinem Gesinde einfältiglich fürhalten soll.

Was ist das Sacrament des Altars? Antwort:

Es ist der wahre Leib und Blut unsers Herrn Jesu Christi, unter dem Brot und Wein, uns Christen zu essen und zu trinken von Christo selbst eingesetzt.

Then shall the father confessor say:
God be merciful unto thee, and strengthen thy faith. Amen.

Further:

Dost thou believe that my forgiveness is the forgiveness of God?

Answer:

Yes, dear sir.

Then let him say:

As thou believest, so be it unto thee. And I, by command of our Lord Jesus Christ, forgive thee thy sins in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost.
Amen.

Depart in peace.

[Those, however, who are much troubled in conscience, or who are in distress or temptation, a father confessor will know how to comfort with Scripture passages, and stir up to faith. This is only a general method of confession for the unlearned.]

PART V.¹

THE SACRAMENT OF THE ALTAR,

As it should be clearly and simply explained to every household by the head of the family.

What is the Sacrament of the Altar? Answer:

It is the true body and blood of our Lord Jesus Christ, under the bread and wine, given unto us Christians to eat and to drink, as it was instituted by Christ himself.

¹ In the 'Book of Concord,' and in many editions of the Catechism, this section is numbered as Part VI., and the preceding insertion, or appendix, as Part V.

Wo steht das geschrieben? Antwort:

So schreiben die heiligen Evangelisten, Matthäus, Markus, Lukas—and S. Paulus:

Unser HERR Jesus Christus, in der Nacht, da er verrathen ward, nahm er das Brot, dankte und brach's, und gab's seinen Jüngern, und sprach: Nehmet hin, esset; das ist mein Leib, der für euch gegeben wird; solches thut zu meinem Gedächtniß.

Dasselbigen gleichen nahm er auch den Kelch nach dem Abendmahl, dankte und gab ihnen den, und sprach: Nehmet hin und trinket alle daraus; dieser Kelch ist das neue Testament in meinem Blute, das für euch vergossen wird zur Vergebung der Sünden; solches thut, so oft ihr's trinket, zu meinem Gedächtniß.

Was nützet denn solch Essen und Trinken?
Antwort:

Das zeigen uns diese Worte: Für euch gegeben und vergossen zur Vergebung der Sünden; nämlich, daß uns im Sacrament Vergebung der Sünden, Leben und Seligkeit durch solche Worte gegeben wird; denn wo Vergebung der Sünden ist, da ist auch Leben und Seligkeit.

Wie kann leiblich Essen und Trinken solche große Dinge thun? Antwort:

Essen und Trinken thut's freilich nicht, sondern die Worte, so da stehen:

Where is it so written? Answer:

The holy Evangelists, Matthew, Mark, and Luke, together with St. Paul, write thus:

'Our Lord Jesus Christ, the same night in which he was betrayed, took bread; and when he had given thanks, he brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat: this is my body, which is given for you; this do, in remembrance of me.'

'After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it: this cup is the New Testament in my blood, which is shed for you, for the remission of sins: this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me.'

What is the use, then, of such eating and drinking? Answer:

It is pointed out to us in the words: 'Given, and shed for you, for the remission of sins.' Namely, through these words, the remission of sins, life and salvation are given us in the Sacrament: for where there is remission of sins, there are also life and salvation.

How can bodily eating and drinking do such great things? Answer:

Eating and drinking, indeed, do not do them, but the words which Für euch gegeben und vergossen zur Vergebung der Sünden.

Welche Worte sind neben dem leiblichen
Essen und Trinken als das Hauptstück im Sacrament; und wer denselbigen Worten glaubt, der hat, was sie sagen, und wie sie lauten, nämlich Vergebung der Sünden.

Wer empfängt denn solch Sacrament würdiglich? Antwort:

Fasten und leiblich sich bereiten ist wohl eine feine äußerliche Zucht; aber der ist recht würdig und wohl geschiickt, wer den Glauben hat an diese Worte: Für euch gegeben und vergossen zur Vergebung der Sünden. Wer aber diesen Worten nicht glaubt, oder zweifelt, der ist unwürdig und ungeschickt; denn das Wort: Für euch fordert eitel gläubige Herzen.

stand here: 'Given, and shed for you, for the remission of sins.' Which words, besides the bodily eating and drinking, are the main point in the sacrament; and he who believes these words has that which they declare and mean, namely, forgiveness of sins.

Who, then, receives this Sacrament worthily? Answer:

Fasting and bodily preparation are, indeed, a good external discipline; but he is truly worthy and well prepared who has faith in these words: 'Given, and shed for you, for the remission of sins.' But he who does not believe these words, or who doubts, is unworthy and unfit, for the words 'for you' require truly believing hearts.

THE FORMULA OF CONCORD. A.D. 1576 (1584).

(THE EPITOME.)

[The Formula of Concord was originally written in the German language, 1576, and published at Dresden, 1580. It was translated into Latin by Lucas Osiander, 1580; but the translation was very defective, and was revised by two of the authors—first by Selnecker for the German-Latin edition of the Book of Concord, 1582, then more fully by Chemnitz, 1583; and in this doubly improved form it became the authorized text, published in the first authentic Latin edition of the Book of Concord, Leipzig, 1584. We give this text, with a new English translation made for this work from the German and Latin compared, and adapted to the style of the age of composition. The Epitome contains, in clear and concise form, all that is necessary for this collection; and hence we omit the lengthy SOLID REPETITION AND DECLARATION, which merely repeats more fully the same articles, and fortifies them by ample quotations from the Scriptures, the fathers, the older Lutheran symbols, and the private writings of Luther, with an appendix of patristic testimonies for the doctrine of the communicatio idiomatum. See Vol. I. §45, pp. 258 sqq.]

OF THE COMPENDIOUS RULE AND NORM, according to which all dogmas ought to be judged, and all controversies which have arisen ought to be piously set forth and settled.

omnesque Doctores aestimari et jucicari oporteat, nullam omnino aliam esse, quam Prophetica et Apostolica scripta cum Veteris, tum Novi Testamenti, sicut scriptum est (Psa. cxix. 105): 'Lucerna pedibus meis verbum tuum, et lumen semitis meis.' Et Dicus Paulus inquit (Gal. i. 8): 'Etiamsi Angelus de caelo aliud predicit Evangelium, anathema sit.'

Reliqua vero sive Patrum sive Neotericorum scripta, quoquaque veniant nomine, sacris literis nequam sunt aequiparanda, sed universa illis ita subjicienda sunt, ut alia ratione non recipiantur, nisi testium loco, qui doceant, quod etiam post Apostolorum tempora, et in quibus partibus orbis doctrina illa Prophetarum et Apostolorum sincerior conservata sit.¹

II. Et quia statim post Apostolorum tempora, imo etiam cum adhuc superstites essent, falsi doctores et haeretici exorti sunt, contra quos in primitiva Ecclesia Symbola sunt composita, id est, breves et categorica Confessiones, que unanimem Catholicam Christianae fidei Consensum et Confessionem Orthodoxo- and judged, is no other whatever than the prophetic and apostolice writings both of the Old and of the New Testament, as it is written (Psalm cxix. 105): 'Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.' And St. Paul saith (Gal. i. 8): 'Though an angel from heaven preach any other gospel unto you, let him be accursed.'

But other writings, whether of the fathers or of the moderns, with whatever name they come, are in nowise to be equalled to the Holy Scriptures, but are all to be esteemed inferior to them, so that they be not otherwise received than in the rank of witnesses, to show what doctrine was taught after the Apostles' times also, and in what parts of the world that more sound doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles has been preserved.

II. And inasmuch as immediately after the times of the Apostles, nay, even while they were yet alive, false teachers and heretics arose, against whom in the primitive Church symbols were composed, that is to say, brief and explicit confessions, which contained the unanimous consent of the Catholic Christian faith, and the confession

III. Quod vero ad schismata in negotiis fidei attinet, que in nostra tempora inciderunt, judicamus, unanimem Consensum et Declarationem Christianæ nostræ fidei et Confessionis, in primis contra Papatum, et hujus falsos ac idolatricos cultus et superstitiones, et alias sectas, esse nostri temporis Symbolum, AUGUSTANAM illam primam, et non mutatam CONFESSIONEM, quæ Imperatori Curolo V. Augusto anno XXX. in magnis Imperii Comitiis exhibita est; similiter et APOLOGIAM [derselben APOLOGIE]; et ARTICULOS SMALCALDICOS anno XXXVII. conscriptos [ARTIKELN so zu SCHMALKALDEN Anno 37 gestellet], et præcipuorum Theologorum illius temporis subscriptione comprobatos.

of the orthodox and true Church (such as are the APOSTLES', the NICENE, and the ATHANASIAN CREEDS): we publicly profess that we embrace them, and reject all heresies and all dogmas which have ever been brought into the Church of God contrary to their decision.

III. And as concerns the schisms in matters of faith, which have come to pass in our times, we judge the unanimous consent and declaration of our Christian faith, especially against the papacy and its idolatrous rites and superstitions, and against other sects, to be the Symbol of our own age, called The First, Unaltered AUGSBURG CONFESION, which in the year 1530 was exhibited to the Emperor Charles the Fifth at the Diet of the Empire; and likewise the APOLOGY [of the Augsburg Confession]; and the SMALCALD ARTICLES drawn up in the year 1537, and approved by the subscription of the principal divines of that time.

And inasmuch as this matter of religion appertains also to the laity, as they are called, and their eternal salvation is at stake, we publicly profess that we also receive DR. LUTHER'S SMALLER and LARGER

Ad has rationes, paulo ante monstratas, omnis doctrina in religionis negotio conformanda est, et, si quid iis contrarium esse deprehenditur, id rejiciendum atque damnandum est: quippe quod cum unanimi fidei nostre declaratione pugnet.

Hoc modo luculentum discrimen inter sacras Veteris et Novi Testamenti literas, et omnia aliorum scripta retinetur: et sola Sacra Scriptura judex, norma et regula [der einzige Richter, Regel und Richtschnur] agnoscitur, ad quam, ceu ad Lydium lapidem [als dem einigen Probierstein], omnia dogmata exigenda sunt et judicanda, an pia, an impia, an vera, an vero falsa sint.

Cetera autem Symbola, et alia scripta, quorum paulo ante mentionem fecimus, non obtinent autoritatem judicis; haec enim dignitas solis sacris literis debetur: sed duntaxat pro religione

CATECHISMS as they are included in Luther's works, because we judge them to be, as it were, the Bible of the laity, in which all those things are briefly comprehended which in the Holy Scripture are treated more at length, and the knowledge of which is necessary to a Christian man for his eternal salvation.

To these principles, as set forth a little above, every religious doctrine ought to be conformed; and, if any thing is discovered to be contrary to them, that is to be rejected and condemned, as being at variance with the unanimous declaration of our faith.

In this way a clear distinction is retained between the sacred Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, and all other writings; and Holy Scripture alone is acknowledged as the [only] judge, norm, and rule, according to which, as by the [only] touchstone, all doctrines are to be examined and judged, as to whether they be godly or ungodly, true or false.

But the other symbols and other writings, of which we made mention a little while ago, do not possess the authority of a judge—for this dignity belongs to Holy Scripture alone; but merely give testi-

ART. I.

DE PECCATO ORIGINIS.

STATUS CONTROVERSLÆ.

An peccatum originale sit proprie et absque omni discrimine ipsa hominis corrupti natura, substantia et essentia, aut certe principalis et prestantissima pars ipsius substantie; utpote ipsa rationalis anima in summo suo gradu et in summis ipsius viribus considerata? An vero inter hominis substantiam, naturam, essentiam, corpus et animam, etiam post lapsum humani generis, et inter originale peccatum aliquod sit discrimen, ita, ut aliud sit ipsa natura, et aliud ipsum peccatum originis, quod in natura corrupta haeret, et naturam etiam depravat?

ART. I.

CONCERNING ORIGINAL SIN.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY.

Whether Original Sin is properly and without any distinction the very nature, substance, and essence of corrupt man, or at the least the principal and pre-eminent part of his substance, namely, the rational soul itself, considered in its highest degree and in its chief powers? Or whether between the substance, nature, essence, body, and soul of man, even after the fall of mankind on the one hand, and Original Sin on the other, there be some distinction, so that the nature itself is one thing, and Original Sin another thing, which adheres in the corrupt nature, and also corrupts the nature?

AFFIRMATIVA.

Sincera doctrina, fides et confessio, cum superiore norma et compendiosa declaratione consentiens.

I. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod sit aliquid discrimen inter ipsam hominis naturam, non tantum, quemadmodum initio a Deo purus, et sanctus, et absque peccato homo conditus est, verum etiam, qualis jam post lapsum naturam illam habemus, discrimen, inquam, inter ipsam naturam, quae etiam post lapsum est permanetque Dei creatura, et inter peccatum originis, et quod tanta sit illa naturae et peccati originalis differentia, quanta est inter opus Dei, et inter opus Diaboli.

II. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod summo studio hoc discrimen sit conservandum, properterea quod illud dogma, nullum videlicet inter naturam hominis corrupti et inter peccatum originis esse discriminem, cum principiis Fidei nostrae articulis (de creatione, de redemptione, de sanctificatione et resurrectione carnis nostra) pugnet, neque salvis hisce articulis stare possit.

Deus enim non modo Adami et Hervæ corpus et animam ante lapsum, verum etiam corpora et animas nostras post lapsum creavit; etsi haec jam sunt cor-

AFFIRMATIVE.

The pure doctrine, faith and confession, agreeing with our above-stated norm and compendious declaration.

I. We believe, teach, and confess that there is a distinction between the nature of man itself, not only as man was created of God in the beginning pure and holy and free from sin, but also as we now possess it after our nature has fallen; a distinction, namely, between the nature itself, which even after the fall is and remains God's creature, and Original Sin; and that this difference between nature and Original Sin is as great as between the work of God and the work of the devil.

II. We believe, teach, and confess that this distinction should be maintained with the greatest care, because the dogma that there is no distinction between the nature of fallen man and Original Sin is inconsistent with the chief articles of our faith (of Creation, of Redemption, of Sanctification, and the Resurrection of our flesh), and can not be maintained except by impugning these articles.

For God not only created the body and soul of Adam and Eve before the fall, but has also created our bodies and souls since the fall, although these are now corrupt.

rupta. Et sane hodie Dominus animas et corpora nostra creaturas et opus suum esse agnoscit, sicut scriptum est (Job x. 8): ‘Manus tue fecerunt me, et plasmaverunt me totum in circuitu.’

Et Filius Dei unione personali illam humanam naturam, sed sine peccato, assumxit, et non alienam, sed nostram carnem sibi adjungens arctissime copulavit, ejusque assumptio carnis ratione vere frater noster factus est; ut Scriptura testatur (Heb. ii. 14): ‘Posteaquam pueri commercium habent cum carne et sanguine, et ipse similiter particeps factus est eorundem.’ Item (ii. 16): ‘Non Angelos assumit, sed semen Abrahae assumit, unde et debuit per omnia fratribus assimilari, excepto peccato?’

Eandem humanam nostram naturam (opus videlicet suum) Christus redemit, eandem (que ipsius opus est) sanctificat, eandem a mortuis resuscitat, et ingenti gloria (opus videlicet suum) ornat: peccatum autem originale non creavit, non assumxit, non redemit, non sanctificat, non resuscitabit in electis, neque unquam gloria caelesti ornabit aut salvabit, sed in beata illa resurrectione plane

And to-day no less God acknowledges our minds and bodies to be his creatures and work; as it is written (Job x. 8): ‘Thy hands have made me and fashioned me together round about.’

And the Son of God, by a personal union, has assumed this nature, yet without sin; and uniting not other flesh, but our flesh to himself, hath most closely conjoined it, and in respect of this flesh thus assumed he has truly become our brother; as the Scripture bears witness (Heb. ii. 14): ‘Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same.’ Also (ii. 16): ‘For verily he took not on him angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham. Wherefore in all things it behooved him to be made like unto his brethren, yet without sin.’

This same human nature of ours (that is his own work) Christ has redeemed, the same (inasmuch as it is his own work) he sanctifies, the same doth he raise from the dead, and with great glory (as being his own work) doth he crown it. But Original Sin he has not created, has not assumed, has not redeemed, doth not sanctify, will not raise again in the elect, nor will ever save and crown with heavenly abolitum erit [sondern in der Auferstehung gar vertilget sein wird].

Ex his, quæ a nobis allata sunt, discrimen inter corruptam natu-ram, et inter corruptionem, quæ nature infixa est, et per quam natura est corrupta, facile agno-sci potest.

III. Vicissim autem credimus, docemus atque confitemur, pecca-tum originis non esse levem, sed tam profundam humanae nature corruptionem, quæ nihil sanum, nihil incorruptum, in corpore et anima hominis, atque adeo in in-terioribus et exterioribus viribus ejus reliquit. Sicut Ecclesia canit : ‘Lapsus Adæ vi pessima hu-mana tota massa, natura et ipsa essentia corrupta, luce cassa,’¹ etc. Hoc quantum sit malum, verbis revera est inexplicabile, neque humanae rationis acumine indagi-ri, sed duntaxat per verbum Dei revelatum agnosci potest. Et sane affirmamus, quod hanc naturæ corruptionem ab ipsa natura nemo, nisi solus Deus, separare queat; id quod per mortem in beata illa resurrec- glory, but in that blessed resurrec-tion it shall be utterly abolished and done away.

From these considerations which have been advanced by us, the dis-tinction between our corrupt nature and the corruption which is im-planted in the nature, and through which the nature is corrupt, can be easily discerned.

III. But, on the other hand, we believe, teach, and confess that Original Sin is no trivial corrup-tion, but is so profound a corrup-tion of human nature as to leave nothing sound, nothing uncorrupt in the body or soul of man, or in his mental or bodily powers. As reads the hymn of the Church:

‘Through Adam’s fall is all corrupt,
Nature and essence human.’¹

How great this evil is, is in truth not to be set forth in words, nor can it be explored by the subtlety of hu-man reason, but can only be dis-cerned by means of the revealed word of God. And we indeed af-firm that no one is able to dissever this corruption of the nature from the nature itself, except God alone, which will fully come to pass by means of death in the resurrection

Menschlich Natur und Wesen.’

tione plene fiet. Ibi enim ea ipsa natura nostra, quam nunc circumferimus, absque peccato originis, et ab eodem omnino separata et remota resurget, et aeterna felicitate fructetur. Sic enim scriptum est (Job xix. 26): ‘Pelle mea circumdabor, et in carne mea videbo Deum, quem ego visurus sum mihi, et oculi mei eum conspecturi sunt.’

unto blessedness. For then that very same nature of ours, which we now bear about, will rise again free from Original Sin, and wholly severed and disjoined from the same, and will enjoy eternal felicity. For thus it is written (Job xix. 26): ‘I shall be compassed again with my skin, and in my flesh shall I see God; whom I shall see for myself, and mine eyes shall behold, and not another.’

NEGATIVA.

Rejectio falsorum dogmatum, que commemoratae sanæ doctrine repugnant.

I. Rejicimus ergo et damnamus dogma illud, quo asseritur, peccatum originale tantummodo reatum et debitum esse, ex alieno delicto, absque ulla naturæ nostræ corruptione, in nos derivatum.

II. Item, concupiscentias pravas non esse peccatum, sed concreatas naturæ conditiones, et proprietates quasdam essentiales: aut defectus illos, et malum ingens a nobis paulo ante commemoratum, non esse peccatum, propter quod homo, Christo non insertus, sit filius iri.

NEGATIVE.

Rejection of false dogmas, which are opposite to the sound doctrine as set forth above.

I. We therefore reject and condemn that dogma by which it is asserted that Original Sin is merely the liability and debt of another's transgression, transmitted to us apart from any corruption of our nature.

II. Also, that depraved concupiscences are not sin, but certain concreate conditions and essential properties of the nature, or that those defects and that huge evil just set forth by us is not sin on whose account man, if not grafted into Christ, is a child of wrath.

III. We also reject the Pelagian heresy, in which it is asserted that the nature of man after the fall is incorrupt, and that, moreover, in ritualibus rebus totam bonam et puram in viribus suis naturalibus mansisse.

IV. Item, peccatum originis externum, levem, et nullius prope momenti esse nævum, aut aspersam quandam maculam, sub qua nihilominus natura bonas suas vires etiam in rebus spiritualibus retinuerit.

V. Item, peccatum originale tantum esse externum impedimentum bonarum spiritualium virium, et non esse despoliationem et defectum earundem, sicuti cum magnes allii succo illinitur, vis ejus naturalis attrahendi ferrum non tollitur, sed tantum impeditur, aut sicut macula de facie, aut color de pariete abstergi facile potest.

VI. Item, hominis naturam et essentiam non prorsus esse corruptam: sed aliquid boni adhuc in homine reliquum, etiam in rebus spiritualibus, videlicet, bonitatem, capacitatem, aptitudinem, facultatem, industriam, aut vires, quibus in rebus spiritualibus inchoare aliquid boni, operari, aut cooperari valeat.

VII. Contra autem rejicimus etiam falsum dogma Manichæorum, cum docetur, peccatum originis tanquam quiddam essentiale atque substantiale a Sutana in naturam esse infusum, et cum eadem spiritual things it has remained wholly good and pure in its natural powers.

IV. Also, that Original Sin is an external, trivial, and almost insignificant birth-mark, or a certain stain dashed upon the man, under the which, nevertheless, nature hath retained her powers unimpaired even in spiritual things.

V. Also, that Original Sin is only an external impediment of sound spiritual powers, and is not a despoliation and defect thereof, even as, when a magnet is smeared with garlic-juice, its natural power of drawing iron is not taken away, but is only impeded; or as a stain can be easily wiped off from the face, or paint from a wall.

VI. Also, that man's nature and essence are not utterly corrupt, but that there is something of good still remaining in man, even in spiritual things, to wit, goodness, capacity, aptitude, ability, industry, or the powers by which in spiritual things he has strength to undertake, effect, or co-effect somewhat of good.

VII. But, on the other hand, we reject also the false dogma of the Manichæans, where it is taught that Original Sin is, as it were, something essential and substantial, infused by Satan into the nature, and mingled permixtum, quemadmodum venenum et vinum miscentur.

VIII. Item, non ipsum animalem hominem, sed aliquid aliud, et peregrinum quiddam, quod sit in homine, peccare, ideoque non ipsam naturam, sed tantummodo peccatum originale, in natura existens, accusari.

IX. Rejicimus etiam atque damnamus, ut Manicheum errorem, quando docetur, originale peccatum proprie, et quidem nullo posito discrimine, esse ipsam hominis corrupti substantiam, naturam et essentiam, ita ut inter naturam corruptam post lapsum, per se ipsam consideratam, et inter peccatum originis nulla prorsus sit differentia, neque ulla distinctio cogitari, aut saltem peccatum illud a natura cogitatione discerni possit.

X. D. Lutherus quidem originis illud malum, peccatum naturæ, personale, essentiale vocat: sed non eam ob causam, quasi natura, persona, aut essentia hominis, absque omni discrimine, sit ipsum peccatum originis: sed ideo ad hunc modum loquitur, ut hujusmodi phrasibus discrimen inter peccatum originale, quod humanae naturæ infixum est, et inter alia peccata, que actualia vocantur, melius intelligi possit.

with the same, as wine and poison are mixed.

VIII. Also, that it is not the natural man himself, but something alien and strange, which is in man, that sins, and that therefore not his nature itself, but only Original Sin existing in his nature is liable to arraignment.

IX. We reject also and condemn, as a Manichæan error, the teaching that Original Sin is properly, and without any distinction, the very substance, nature, and essence of fallen man, so that between his corrupt nature after the fall, considered in itself, and Original Sin there is no difference at all, and that no distinction can be conceived by which Original Sin can be distinguished from man's nature even in thought.

X. Dr. Luther, it is true, calls this original evil a sin of nature, personal, essential; but not for the reason that the nature, person, or essence of man, without any distinction, is itself Original Sin, but he speaks after this manner in order that by phrases of this sort the distinction between Original Sin, which is infix'd in human nature, and other sins, which are called actual, may be better understood.

XI. Peccatum enim originis non est quoddam delictum, quod actu perpetratur, sed intime inheret infixum ipsi naturæ, substantiae et essentie hominis. Et quidem, si maxime nulla unquam prava cogitatio in corde hominis corrupti exoriretur, si nullum verbum otiosum proferretur, si nullum malum opus aut facinus designaretur: tamen natura nihilominus corrupta est per originales peccatum, quod nobis ratione corrupti seminis agnatum est, quod ipsum etiam scaturigo est omnium aliorum actualium peccatorum, ut sunt pravæ cogitationes, prava colloquia, prave et scelerate facta. Sic enim scriptum legimus (Matt. xv. 19): 'Ex corde oriuntur cogitationes male.' Et alibi (Gen. vi. 5; viii. 21): 'Omne figmentum cordis tantummodo malum est, a pueritia.'

XII. Est etiam diligenter observanda varia significatio vocabuli 'naturæ,' cuius æquivocatione Manichæi abutentes, errorem suum occultant, multosque simplices homines in errorem inducunt. Quandoque enim 'natura' ipsam hominis substantiam significat, ut, cum dicimus: Deus humanam naturam creavit. Interdum vero per vocabulum nature intelligitur

XI. For Original Sin is not a particular transgression which is perpetrated in act, but intimately inheres, being infixed in the very nature, substance, and essence of man. And, indeed, if no depraved thought at all should ever arise in the heart of fallen man, if no idle word were uttered, if no evil work or deed were perpetrated by him: yet, nevertheless, the nature is corrupted by Original Sin, which is innate in us by reason of the corrupted seed from which we spring, and is, moreover, a fountain of all other actual sins, such as evil thoughts, evil discourses, evil and abominable deeds. For thus it is written, as we read in Matthew xv. 19: 'For out of the heart proceed evil thoughts.' And elsewhere (Gen. vi. 5; viii. 21): 'Every imagination of the thought of man's heart is only evil from his youth.'

XII. We must also diligently observe the various significations of the word nature, which equivocal meaning the Manichæans abusing, thereby disguise their error, and lead many simple men astray. For sometimes nature signifies the very substance of man, as when we say: God created human nature. Sometimes, on the other hand, by the word nature there is understood ingenium, conditio, defectus, aut vitium alicujus rei, in ipsa natura insitum et inhærens, ut cum dicimus: Serpentis natura est icere, hominis natura est peccare et peccatum. Et in hac posteriore significatione vocabulum (natura) non ipsam hominis substantiam, sed aliquid, quod in natura aut substantia fixum inhæret, denotat.

XIII. Quod vero ad Latina vocabula substantiae et accidentis attinet, cum ea non sint Scripturæ Sacrae vocabula, præterea etiam a plebe non intelligantur, abstinendum est ab illis in publicis sacris concionibus, ubi indocta plebs docetur; et hac in re simplicium et rudiorum merito habenda est ratio.

In scholis autem, et apud homines doctos (quibus horum vocabulorum significatio nota est, et qui iisdem recte atque citra abusum uti possunt, proprie discernentes essentiam alicujus rei ab eo, quod aliunde ei accedit et per accidentem inhæret) in disputatione de peccato originis retinenda sunt.

Nam hisce vocabulis discrimen inter opus Dei, et inter opus Diaboli quam maxime per- the temper, condition, defect, or vice of any thing implanted and inhering in the nature, as when we say: The serpent's nature is to strike, man's nature is to sin and is sin. And in this latter signification the word nature denotes, not the very nature of man, but something which inheres and is fixed in his nature or substance.

XIII. But as respects the Latin words substantia and accidens, since these are not expressions of Holy Scripture, and moreover are not understood by the common people, we ought to abstain from them in public preaching devoted to the instruction of the unlearned multitude, and in this matter account should rightly be taken of the more simple and untaught.

But in schools and among learned men (to whom the signification of these words is known, and who can use them correctly and without danger of misuse, properly discriminating the essence of any thing from that which has been added to it from without, and inheres in it by way of accident) they are to be retained in the discussion concerning Original Sin.

For by means of these terms the distinction between the work of God and the work of the devil can spicue explicari potest. Diabolus enim substantiam nullam creare, sed tantummodo per accidens, permittente Domino, substantiam a Deo creatam depravare potest.

ART. II.

DE LIBERO ARBITRIO.

STATUS CONTROVERSIÆ.

Cum hominis voluntas quadruplicem habeat considerationem [in vier ungleichen Ständen]: primo, ante lapsum; secundo, post lapsum; tertio, post regenerationem; quarto, post resurrectionem carnis: nunc questio præcipua est tantum de voluntate et viribus hominis in secundo statu, quasnam vires post lapsum primorum parentum nostrorum, ante regenerationem, ex seipso habeat, in rebus spirituibus: an propriis viribus, antequam per Spiritum Dei fuerit regeneratus, possit sese ad gratiam Dei applicare et preparare [sich zur Gnade Gottes schicken und bereiten],¹ et num gratiam divinam (quæ illi per Spiritum Sanctum in verbo et Sacramentis divinitus institutis offertur) accipere et apprehendere possit, nec ne.

be set forth with the greatest clearness. For the devil can not create any substance, but can only, by way of accident, under the permission of the Lord, deprave a substance created by God.

ART. II.

OF FREE WILL.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY.

Since the will of man is to be considered under a fourfold view [in four dissimilar states]: first, before the fall; secondly, since the fall; thirdly, after regeneration; fourthly, after the resurrection of the body: the chief present inquiry regards the will and powers of man in the second state, what manner of powers since the fall of our first parents he has of himself in spiritual things antecedently to regeneration: whether by his own proper powers, before he has been regenerated by the Spirit of God, he can apply and prepare himself unto the grace of God, and whether he can receive and apprehend the divine grace (which is offered to him through the Holy Ghost in the word and sacraments divinely instituted), or not?

I. Concerning this matter, the following is our faith, doctrine, and confession, to wit: that the understanding and reason of man in spiritual things are wholly blind, and can understand nothing by their proper powers. As it is written (1 Cor. ii. 14): ‘The natural man perceiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because he is examined concerning spiritual things.’¹

II. We believe, teach, and confess, moreover, that the yet unregenerate will of man is not only averse from God, but has become even hostile to God, so that it only wishes and desires those things, and is delighted with them, which are evil and opposite to the divine will. For it is written (Gen. viii. 21): ‘For the imagination and thought of man’s heart are prone to evil from his youth.’ Also (Rom. viii. 7): ‘The carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not

¹ We usually transfer the Scripture passages from our Authorized English Version. But this would not answer here, nor in several other cases. The German text of the Formula deviates in 1 Cor. ii. 14 from Luther’s Version (es muss geistlich gerichtet sein), and the Latin text deviates from the Vulgate and accords with the German. Tyndale (1534) and the Rheims Version (1582) translate ὅτι πνευματικῶς ἀνακρίνεται, ‘because he is spiritually examined;’ the Authorized Version, ‘because they are spiritually discerned.’

enim legi subjicitur, ac ne potest id quidem?

Itaque credimus, quantum abest, ut corpus mortuum seipsum vivificare, atque sibi ipsi corporalem vitam restituere possit, tantum abesse, ut homo, qui ratione peccati spiritualiter mortuus est, seipsum in vitam spiritualem revocandi ullam facultatem habeat; sicut scriptum est (Eph. ii. 5): ‘Cum essemus mortui in peccatis, convivificavit nos cum Christo,’ etc. (2 Cor. iii. 5): ‘Itaque etiam ex nobis metipsis, tanquam ex nobis, non sumus idonei, ut aliquid boni [et was Guts]¹ cogitemus; quod vero idonei sumus, id ipsum a Deo est.’

III. Conversionem autem hominis operatur Spiritus Sanctus non sine mediis, sed ad eam efficiendam uti solet predicatione et auscultatione verbi Dei, sicut scriptum est (Rom. i. 16): ‘Evangelion est potentia Dei ad salutem omni credenti? Et (Rom. x. 17): ‘Fides est ex auditu verbi Dei.’ Et sane vult Dominus, ut ipsius verbum audiatur, neque ad illius predicationem aures oblurentur (Psa. xcv. 8). Huic verbo adest praesens Spiritus Sanctus, et corda hominum operit, ut, sicut Lydia in Actis subject to the law, neither indeed can be.’

Therefore we believe that by how much it is impossible that a dead body should vivify itself and restore corporal life to itself, even so impossible is it that man, who by reason of sin is spiritually dead, should have any faculty of recalling himself into spiritual life; as it is written (Eph. ii. 5): ‘Even when we were dead in sins, he hath quickened us together with Christ.’ (2 Cor. iii. 5): ‘Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think any thing good¹ as of ourselves; but that we are sufficient is itself of God.’

III. Nevertheless the Holy Spirit effects the conversion of man not without means, but is wont to use for effecting it preaching and the hearing of the Word of God, as it is written (Rom. i. 16): ‘The gospel is a power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth.’ And (Rom. x. 17): ‘Faith cometh by hearing of the Word of God.’ And without question it is the will of the Lord that his Word should be heard, and that our ears should not be stopped when it is preached (Psa. xcv. 8). With this Word is present the Holy Spirit, who opens

NEGATIVA.

Rejectio contrarie et false doctrine.

Repudiamus igitur et damnamus omnes, quos recitabimus, errores, cum verbi divini regula non congruentes.

I. Primo delirum Philosophorum Stoicorum dogma, quemadmodum et Manichaeorum furem, qui docuerunt, omnia, quæ eveniant, necessario fieri, et alter fieri prorsus non posse, et hominem omnia coactum facere, etiam ea, quæ in rebus externis agat, eumque ad designanda mala

the hearts of men, in order that, as Lydia did (Acts xvi. 14), they may diligently attend, and thus may be converted by the sole grace and power of the Holy Spirit, whose work, and whose work alone, the conversion of man is. For if the grace of the Holy Spirit is absent, our willing and running, our planting, sowing, and watering, are wholly in vain (Rom. ix. 16; 1 Cor. iii. 7); if, that is, he do not give the increase, as Christ says (John xv. 5): ‘Without me ye can do nothing.’ And, indeed, in these few words Christ denies to free-will all power whatever, and ascribes all to divine grace, ‘that no one may have whereof he may glory before God’ (1 Cor. i. 29; 2 Cor. xii. 5; Jer. ix. 23).

NEGATIVE.

Rejection of contrary and false doctrine.

We repudiate, therefore, and condemn all the errors which we will now recount, as not agreeing with the rule of the divine word:

I. First, the insane dogma of the Stoic philosophers, as also the madness of the Manicheans, who taught that all things which come to pass take place by necessity, and can not possibly be otherwise; and that man does all things by constraint, even those things which he transacts in outward matters, and that he is opera et scelera (qualia sunt libidines ruge, rapina, cades, furga, et similia) cogi.

II. Repudiamus etiam crassum illum Pelagianorum errorem, qui asserere non dubitarunt, quod homo propriis viribus, sine gratia Spiritus Sancti, sese ad Deum convertere, Evangelio credere, legi divine ex animo parere, et hac ratione peccatorum remissionem ac vitam aeternam ipse promereri valeat.

III. Praeter hos errores rejicimus et Semipelagianorum falsum dogma, qui docent, hominem propriis viribus inchoare posse suam conversionem: absolvere autem sine Spiritu Sancti gratia non posse.

IV. Item, cum docetur, licet homo non renatus, ratione liberi arbitrii, ante sui regenerationem infirmior quidem sit, quam ut conversionis sue initium facere, atque propriis viribus sese ad Deum convertere, et legi Dei toto corde parere valeat: tamen, si Spiritus Sanctus prædicatione verbi initium fecerit, suamque gratiam in verbo homini obtulerit, tum hominis voluntatem, propriis et naturalibus suis viribus quodammodo aliquid, licet id modicum, infirmum et lan-compelled to the committing of evil works and crimes, such as unlawful lusts, acts, rapine, murders, thefts, and the like.

II. We repudiate, also, that gross error of the Pelagians, who have not hesitated to assert that man by his own powers, without the grace of the Holy Spirit, has ability to convert himself to God, to believe the gospel, to obey the divine law from his heart, and in this way to merit of himself the remission of sins and eternal life.

III. Besides these errors, we reject also the false dogma of the Semi-Pelagians, who teach that man by his own powers can commence his conversion, but can not fully accomplish it without the grace of the Holy Spirit.

IV. Also the teaching that, although unregenerate man, in respect of free-will, is indeed, antecedently to his regeneration, too infirm to make a beginning of his own conversion, and by his own powers to convert himself to God, and obey the law of God with all his heart; yet if the Holy Spirit, by the preaching of the word, shall have made a beginning, and offered his grace in the word to man, that then man, by his own proper and natural powers, can, as it were, give some assistance and co-operation, though it be but generation of man utterly abolishes the substance and essence of the old Adam, and especially the rational soul, and creates from nothing in that conversion and regeneration a new essence of the soul.

VIII. Also, when such statements as these are used without explanation, that the will of man, before conversion, in conversion itself, and after conversion, is set against the Holy Ghost, and that the Holy preaching of the divine Word, yet expect celestial revelations of the Spirit.

Spiritus Sanctus iis detur, qui ex proposito et pertinaciter ipsi resistunt. Num Deus in conversione ex nolentibus volentes facit, et in volentibus habitat, ut Augustinus loqui solet.

Quod vero ad dicta quedam, tum Patrum, tum Neotericorum quorundam Doctorum attinet: Deus trahit, sed volentem trahit: et hominis voluntas in conversione non est otiosa, sed agit aliquid: judicamus hec formæ sanorum verborum non esse analoga. Afferuntur enim hec dicta ad confirmandam falsam opinionem de viribus humani arbitrii in hominis conversione, contra doctrinam, quæ soli gratiæ divine id opus attribuit. Ideoque ab ejusmodi sermonibus, quando de conversione hominis ad Deum agitur, abstinenter censemus.

Contra autem recte docetur, quod Dominus in conversione, per Spiritus Sancti tractionem (il est, motum et operationem) ex hominibus repugnantibus et nolentibus volentes homines faciat, et quod post conversionem in quotidianis pœnitentia exercitiis hominis renati voluntas non sit otiosa, sed omnibus Spiritus Sancti operibus, quæ ille per nos efficit, etiam cooperetur.

Ghost is given to those who of set purpose and obstinately resist him. For God in conversion of unwilling men makes willing men, and dwells in the willing, as Augustine is wont to speak.

But as concerns certain dicta, both of the Fathers and of certain modern doctors, such as the following: God draws, but draws a willing man, and man's will in conversion is not idle, but effects somewhat—we judge that these are not agreeable to the form of sound words. For these dicta are advanced for the confirming of the false opinion of the powers of the human will in the conversion of man, contrary to the doctrine which attributes that work to divine grace alone. And therefore we judge that we ought to abstain from expressions of such sort in treating of the conversion of man to God.

But, on the other hand, it is rightly taught that the Lord in conversion, through the drawing (that is, the movement and operation) of the Holy Spirit, of resisting and unwilling makes willing men, and that after conversion, in the daily exercises of penitence the will of man is not idle, but co-operates also with all the works of the Holy Spirit which he effects through us.

IX. Item, quod D. Lutherus scripsit, hominis voluntatem in conversione pure passive se habere: id recte et dextre est accipiendum, videlicet, respectu divine gratie in accendendis novis motibus, hoc est, de eo intelligi oportet, quando Spiritus Dei per verbum auditum, aut per usum Sacramentorum hominis voluntatem aggreditur, et conversionem atque regenerationem in homine operatur. Postquam enim Spiritus Sanctus hoc ipsum jam operatus est atque effecit, hominisque voluntatem solu sua divina virtute et operatione immutavit atque renovavit: tunc revera hominis nova illa voluntas instrumentum est et organum Dei Spiritus Sancti, ut ea non modo gratiam apprehendat, verum etiam in operibus sequentibus Spiritui Sancto cooperetur.

*IX. Also, whereas Dr. Luther has written that the will of man in conversion is purely passive, that is to be received rightly and fitly, to wit: in respect of divine grace in kindling new motions, that is, it ought to be understood of the moment when the Spirit of God, through the hearing of the Word or through the use of the sacraments, lays hold of the will of man, and works conversion and regeneration in man. For after the Holy Spirit has already wrought and effected this very thing, and has changed and renewed the will of man by his own divine virtue and working alone, then, indeed, this new will of man is the instrument and organ of God the Holy Ghost, so that it not only lays hold of grace, but also co-operates, in the works which follow, with the Holy Spirit.*

There are, therefore, left before the conversion of man two efficient causes only (efficacious to conversion), that is to say, the Holy Spirit and the Word of God, which is the instrument of the Holy Spirit whereby he effects the conversion of man.¹ This Word man is, without question, bound to hear; but,

DE JUSTITIA FIDEI CORAM DEO.

STATUS CONTROVERSIE.

Unanimi consensu (ad normam verbi divini, et sententiam Augustanae Confessionis) in Ecclesiis nostris docetur, nos peccatores longe miserrimos sola in Christum fide coram Deo justificari et salvari, ita ut Christus solus nostra sit justitia. Hic autem Jesus Christus, Salvator noster, et justitia nostra, verus Deus est et verus homo: etenim divina et humana naturae in ipso sunt personaliter unitae. Quasitum igitur fuit: secundum quam naturam Christus nostra sit justitia? Et hac occasione duo errores, et quidem inter se pugnantes, Ecclesias quasdam perturbarunt.

Una enim pars sensit, Christum tantummodo secundum divinam naturam esse nostram justitiam, si videlicet ille per fidem in nobis habitat: etenim omnia nevertheless, he is in nowise by his own powers able to obtain the benefit of embracing it in true faith, but only by the grace and working of God the Holy Ghost.

ART. III.

OF THE RIGHTEOUSNESS OF FAITH BEFORE GOD.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY.

By unanimous consent (according to the rule of the divine Word and the judgment of the Augsburg Confession), it is taught in our churches that we most wretched sinners are justified before God and saved alone by faith in Christ, so that Christ alone is our righteousness. Now this Jesus Christ, our Saviour and our righteousness, is true God and true man; for the divine and human natures in him are personally united (Jer. xxiii. 6; 1 Cor. i. 30; 2 Cor. v. 21). It has therefore been asked: According to which nature is Christ our righteousness? And by occasion of this, two errors, and these contrary the one to the other, have disturbed certain churches.

For one part has held that Christ is our righteousness only according to the divine nature, if, that is, he dwell by faith in us; for that all the sins of men, com-drop of water compared with the broad sea. Against this opinion others, indeed, have asserted that Christ is our righteousness before God, only according to his human nature.

AFFIRMATIVE.

The sound doctrine of godly churches opposed to both of the fore-mentioned errors.

I. To overthrow both errors we unanimously believe, teach, and confess that Christ is truly our righteousness, but yet neither according to the divine nature alone, nor according to the human nature alone, but the whole Christ according to both natures, to wit:
in his sole, most absolute obedience which he rendered to the Father even unto death, as God and man, and thereby merited for us the remission of all our sins and eternal life. As it is written: ‘As by one man’s disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous’ (Rom.
v. 19).

II. We believe, therefore, teach, and confess that this very thing is our righteousness before God, name-

Dominus nobis peccata remittit, ex mera gratia, absque ullo respectu precedentium, praesentium, aut consequentium nostrorum operum, dignitatis, aut meriti. Ille enim donat atque imputat nobis justitiam obedientiae Christi; propter eam justitiam a Deo in gratiam recipimus, et justi reputamur.

III. Credimus etiam, docemus et confitemur, solam fidem esse illud medium et instrumentum, quo Christum Salvatorem, et ita in Christo justitiam illam, quæ coram judicio Dei consistere potest, apprehendimus: propter Christum enim fides illa nobis ad justitiam imputatur (Rom. iv. 5).

IV. Credimus præterea, docemus et confitemur, fidem illam justificantem non esse nudum notitiam historiæ de Christo, sed ingens atque tale Dei donum, quo Christum, Redemptorem nostrum, in verbo Evangelii recte agnoscimus, ipsique confidimus: quod videlicet propter solam ipsius obedientiam, ex gratia, remissionem peccatorum habeamus, sancti et justi coram Deo Patre reputemur, et aeternam salutem consequamur.

V. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, vocabulum ‘justificare’

ly, that God remits to us our sins of mere grace, without any respect of our works, going before, present, or following, or of our worthiness or merit. For he bestows and imputes to us the righteousness of the obedience of Christ; for the sake of that righteousness we are received by God into favor and accounted righteous.

III. We believe, also, teach, and confess that Faith alone is the means and instrument whereby we lay hold on Christ the Saviour, and so in Christ lay hold on that righteousness which is able to stand before the judgment of God; for that faith, for Christ's sake, is imputed to us for righteousness (Rom. iv. 5).

IV. We believe, moreover, teach, and confess that this justifying faith is not a bare knowledge of the history of Christ, but such and so great a gift of God as that by it we rightly recognize Christ our Redeemer in the word of the gospel, and confide in him: to wit, that for his obedience' sake alone we have by grace the remission of sins, are accounted holy and righteous before God the Father, and attain eternal salvation.

V. We believe, teach, and confess that the word justify in this phrasι Scripturæ Sacrae, in hoc articulo, idem significare, quod absolvere a peccatis, ut ex dicto Salomonis (Prov. xvii. 15) intelligi potest: ‘Qui justificat impium, et qui condemnat justum, abominabilis est uterque apud Deum.’ Item (Rom. viii. 33): ‘Quis accusabit electos Dei? Deus est qui justificat?’

Et, si quando pro vocabulo justificationis vocabula regenerationis et vivificationis usurpanatur (quod in Apologia Augustanae Confessionis factum est), sunt ea in illa superiore significatione accipienda. Num alias eae voces de hominis renovatione intelligendie sunt, quæ a fidei justificatione recte discernitur.

VI. Credimus, docemus et contemur etiam, etsi vere in Christum credentes et renati multis infirmitatibus et nevis usque ad mortem sunt obnoxii: non tamen illis vel de justitia, qua per fidem ipsis imputatur, vel de aeterna salute esse dubitandum, quin potius firmiter illis statuendum esse [vor gewiss halten sollen], quod propter Christum, juxta promissionem et immotum verbum Evangelii, Deum sibi placatum habeant.

article, conformably to the usage of Holy Scripture, signifies the same as to absolve from sin, as may be understood by the word of Solomon (Prov. xvii. 15): ‘He that justifieth the wicked, and he that condemneth the just, even they both are abomination to the Lord.’ Also (Rom. viii. 33): ‘Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God’s elect? It is God that justifieth.’

And if at any time for the word Justification the words Regeneration and Vivification are used (as is done in the Apology of the Augsburg Confession), these words are to be taken in the above-stated signification. For elsewhere these words are to be understood of the renewing of man, which is rightly distinguished from the justification of faith.

VI. We believe, teach, and confess, moreover, that, although they that truly believe in Christ and are born again are even to the hour of death obnoxious to many infirmities and stains, yet they ought not to doubt either of the righteousness which is imputed to them through faith or concerning their eternal salvation, but rather are they firmly to be convinced that, for Christ’s sake, according to the promise and unshaken word of the gospel, they have God reconciled to them.

VII. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod ad conservandam puram doctrinam de justitia fidei coram Deo, necessarium sit, ut particulae exclusirae (quibus Apostolus Paulus Christi meritum ab operibus nostris prorsus separat, solique Christo eam gloriam tribuit) quam diligentissime retineantur, ut cum Paulus scribit: ex gratia, gratis, sine meritis, absque lege, sine operibus, non ex operibus. Quae omnia hoc ipsum dicunt: 'Sola fide in Christum justificamur et salvamur' (Eph. ii. 8; Rom. i. 17; iii. 24; iv. 3 sqq.; Gal. iii. 11; Heb. xi.).

VIII. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, etsi antecedens contritio et subsequens nova obedientia ad articulum justificationis coram Deo non pertinent: non tamen talen fidem justificantem esse fingendam, que una cum malo proposito peccandi, videlicet, et contra conscientiam agendi, esse et stare possit. Sed postquam homo per fidem est justificatus, tum veram illam et vivam fidem esse per caritatem efficacem (Gal. v. 6), et bona opera semper fidem justificantem sequi, et una cum ea, si modo vera et viva fides est, certissime apprehendi. Fides enim vera nunquam sola est, quin caritatem et spem semper secum habeat.

VII. We believe, teach, and confess that, for the preserving of the pure doctrine of the righteousness of faith before God, it is necessary that the exclusive particles (by which the apostle Paul separates the merit of Christ utterly from our works, and attributes that glory to Christ alone) should be most diligently retained, as when Paul writes: 'Of grace, freely, without our deserts, without law, without works, not of works.' All which expressions amount to this: 'By faith in Christ alone are we justified and saved' (Eph. ii. 8; Rom. i. 17; iii. 24; iv. 3 sqq.; Gal. iii. 11; Heb. xi.).

VIII. We believe, teach, and confess that, although antecedent contrition and subsequent new obedience do not appertain to the article of justification before God, yet we are not to imagine any such justifying faith as can exist and abide with a purpose of evil, to wit: of sinning and acting contrary to conscience. But after that man is justified by faith, then that true and living faith works by love (Gal. v. 6), and good works always follow justifying faith, and are most certainly found together with it, provided only it be a true and living faith. For true faith is never alone, but hath always charity and hope in its train.

ANTITHESIS, SEU NEGATIVA.

Rejectio contrarie et falsæ doctrine.

Repudiamus ergo et damnamus omnia falsa dogmata, quæ jam recitabimus.

I. Christum esse justitiam nostram solummodo secundum divinam naturam.

II. Christum esse justitiam nostram tantummodo juxta humanam naturam.

III. In dictis Propheticis et Apostolicis, ubi de justificatione fidei agitur, vocabula ‘justificare’ et ‘justificari’ non idem esse ac a peccatis absolvere et absolvi, et remissionem peccatorum consequi: sed nos per caritatem, a Spiritu Sancto infusam, per virtutes et per opera, que a caritate promanant, re ipsa coram Deo justos fieri.

IV. Fidem non respicere in solam Christi obedientiam, sed in divinam ejus naturam; quatenus videlicet ea in nobis habitet atque efficax sit, ut per eam inhabitacionem peccata nostra tegantur.

V. Fidem esse talem fiduciam in obedientiam Christi, quæ possit in eo etiam homine permanere et consistere, qui vera paenitentia careat, et ubi caritas non sequatur, sed qui contra conscientiam in peccatis perseveret.

ANTITHESIS, OR NEGATIVE.

Rejection of opposite and false doctrine.

We repudiate, therefore, and condemn all the false dogmas, which we will now recount:

I. That Christ is our righteousness only according to his divine nature.

II. That Christ is our righteousness only according to his human nature.

III. That in the prophetic and apostolic declarations, which treat of the righteousness of faith, the words justify and to be justified are not the same as to absolve and be absolved from sins, and to obtain remission of sins, but that we, through love infused by the Holy Ghost, through the virtues and through the works which flow forth from charity, become in very deed righteous before God.

IV. That faith does not have respect to the sole obedience of Christ, but to his divine nature, so far as that dwells and is efficacious in us, so that by that indwelling our sins are covered.

V. That faith is such a confidence in the obedience of Christ as can abide and have a being even in that man who is void of true repentance, and in whom it is not followed by charity, but who contrary to conscience perseveres in sins.

VI. Non ipsum Deum, sed tan-tum dona Dei in credentibus ha-bitare.

VII. Fidem ideo salutem nobis conferre, quod novitas illa, quæ in dilectione erga Deum et proximum consistit, per fidem in nobis inchaetur.

VIII. Fidem in justificationis negotio primas quidem partes te-nere, sed tamen etiam renovatio-nem et caritatem ad justitiam nostram coram Deo pertinere, ita ut renovatio et caritas quidem non sit principalis causa nostræ justitiae: sed tamen justitiam no-stram coram Deo (si absint reno-vatio et caritas) non esse inte-gram et perfectam.

IX. Credentes in Christum coram Deo justos esse et salvos, si-mul per imputatam Christi ju-stitiam, et per inchoatam novam obedientiam, vel, partim quidem per imputationem justitiae Chri-sti, partim vero per inchoatam novam obedientiam.

X. Promissionem gratiae nobis applicari per fidem in corde, et præterea etiam per confessio-nem, quæ ore fit, et per alias vir-tutes.

XI. Fidem non justificare sine bonis operibus, itaque bona opera necessario ad justitiam requiri, et

VI. That not God himself dwells, but only the gifts of God dwell in believers.

VII. That faith bestows salvation upon us for the reason that that renewal which consists in love towards God and our neighbor, commences in us through faith.

VIII. That faith in the matter of justification holds, indeed, the first place, but that renewal and charity also appertain to our righteousness before God, so that renewal and charity, indeed, are not the principal cause of our righteousness, but yet that our righteousness before God (if renewal and charity be wanting) is not whole and perfect.

IX. That believers in Christ are righteous and saved before God, both through the imputed righteousness of Christ and through the new obedience which is begun in them, or partly, indeed, through the imputation of the righteousness of Christ, and partly through the new obedience which is begun in them.

X. That the promised grace is appropriated to us by the faith of the heart, and also by the confession of the mouth, and moreover, also, by other virtuous acts.

XI. That faith does not justify without good works, that therefore good works are necessarily required

absque eorum presentia hominem justificari non posse.

for righteousness, and that independently of their being present man can not be justified.

ART. IV.

DE BONIS OPERIBUS.

STATUS CONTROVERSIE.

In doctrina de bonis operibus duæ controversie in quibusdam Ecclesiis ortæ sunt.

I. Primum schisma inter Theologos quosdam factum est, cum alii assererent, bona opera necessaria esse ad salutem, impossibile esse salvari sine bonis operibus, et neminem unquam sine bonis operibus salvatum esse: alii vero docerent, bona opera ad salutem esse perniciosa.

II. Alterum schisma inter Theologos nonnullos super vocabulis ‘necessarium’ et ‘liberum’ ortum est. Altera enim pars contendit, vocabulum ‘necessarium’ non esse usurpandum de nova obedientia: eam enim non a necessitate quadam et coactione, sed a spontaneo spiritu [aus freiwilligen Geiste] promanare. Altera vero pars vocabulum ‘necessarium’ prorsus retinendum censuit: propterea, quod illa obedientia non in nostro arbitrio posita et libera sit, sed homines renatos illud obsequium debere præstare.

ART. IV.

OF GOOD WORKS.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY.

Respecting the doctrine of Good Works, two controversies have arisen in certain churches:

I. The first schism among certain theologians arose when some asserted, that good works are necessary to salvation, and that it is impossible to be saved without good works, and that no one was ever saved without good works; while others taught that good works are detrimental to salvation.

II. The other schism has arisen between certain divines concerning the terms necessary and free. For the one part contends that the term necessary should not be used concerning the new obedience, for that this flows not from any necessity or constraint, but from a voluntary spirit. But the other part judges that the term necessary should by all means be retained, inasmuch as this obedience is not left to our mere will, and therefore is not free, but that regenerate men are bound to render such service.

Et dum de commemoratis illis vocabulis disputatum est, tandem etiam de re ipsa fuit disceptatum. Alii enim contenderunt, Legem apud Christianos prorsus non esse docendam, sed tantummodo doctrina Evangelii homines ad bona opera invitandos esse: alii hanc opinionem impugnabantur.

AFFIRMATIVA.

Sincera Ecclesiae doctrina de hac controversia.

Ut haec controversiae solide et dextre explicentur atque decidantur, haec nostra fides, doctrina et confessio est.

I. Quod bona opera veram fidem (si modo ea non sit mortua, sed viva fides) certissime atque indubitato sequantur, tanquam fructus bone arboris.

II. Credimus etiam, docemus et confitemur, quod bona opera penitus excludenda sint, non tantum cum de justificatione fidei agitur, sed etiam cum de salute nostra eterna disputatur, sicut Apostolus perspicuis verbis testatur, cum ait (Rom. iv. 6): 'Sicut et David dicit, beatitudinem hominis, cui Deus accepto fert

And out of this discussion concerning the aforementioned terms there arose at length a dispute concerning the material fact. For some have contended that the law ought not to be taught at all among Christians, but that men should be invited to good works by the doctrine of the gospel alone. Others have impugned this opinion.

AFFIRMATIVE.

The sound doctrine of the Church concerning this controversy.

In order that these controversies may be solidly and judiciously explained and decided, the following is our faith, doctrine, and confession:

I. That good works¹ must certainly and without all doubt follow a true faith (provided only it be not a dead but a living faith), as fruits of a good tree.

II. We believe, also, teach, and confess that good works are wholly to be excluded, not only when the righteousness of faith is treated of, but also when the matter of our eternal salvation is discussed, as the apostle bears witness in clear words, when he says (Rom. iv. 6): 'Even as also David describeth the blessedness of the man to whom God imjustitiam sine operibus. Beati, quorum remissee sunt iniqüitates, et quorum teeta sunt peccata. Beatus vir, cui non imputavit Dominus peccatum, etc. Et alibi (Eph. ii. 8 sq.): 'Gratia,' inquit, 'estis salvati, per fidem, et hoc non ex vobis, Dei enim donum est, non ex operibus, ne quis glorietur.'

III. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, omnes quidem homines, præcipue vero eos, qui per Spiritum Sanctum regenerati sunt et renovati, ad bona opera facienda debitores esse.

IV. Et in hac sententia vocabula illa 'necessarium,' 'debere,' 'oportere' ['nöthig,' 'sollen,' und 'müssen'] recte usurpantur, etiam de renatis hominibus, et cum forma sanorum verborum non pugnant.

V. Sed tamen per vocabula 'necessitas,' 'necessarium,' quando videlicet de renatis est sermo, non intelligendu est coactio, sed tantum debitu illa obedientia, quam vere credentes, quatenus renati sunt, non ex coactione, aut compulsiu legis, sed libero et spontaneo spiritu præstant, quandoquidem non amplius sub lege sunt, sed sub gratia (Rom. vi. 14; vii. 6; viii. 14).

VI. Credimus igitur, docemus et confitemur, cum dicitur, ren-puteth righteousness without works, saying, Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered. Blessed is the man to whom the Lord hath not imputed sin.' And elsewhere (Eph. ii. 8 sq.): 'By grace,' saith he, 'are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, for it is the gift of God—not of works, lest any man should boast.'

III. We believe, teach, and confess that all men, indeed, but chiefly those who through the Holy Spirit are regenerated and renewed, are debtors to do good works.

IV. And in this decision those words—'necessary,' 'ought,' 'it behoves'—are rightly used even of regenerate men, and are not inconsistent with the form of sound words.

V. But, nevertheless, by the terms necessity, necessary, when we speak of the regenerate, we are not to understand constraint, but only that bonden obedience which true believers, so far as they are regenerate, render, not of constraint or compulsion of the law, but of a free and spontaneous spirit: inasmuch as they are no longer under the law, but under grace (Rom. vi. 14; vii. 6; viii. 14).

VI. We believe, therefore, teach, and confess that when it is said tos bene operari libero et spontaneo spiritu, id non ita accipiendum esse, quod in hominis renati arbitrio relictum sit, bene aut male agere, quando ipsi visum fuerit, ut nihilominus tamen fidem retineat, etiamsi in peccatis ex proposito perseveret.

VII. Hoc tamen non aliter, quam de spiritu hominis jam liberato intelligendum est, sicut hanc rem ipse Christus, ejusque Apostoli declarant (Rom. viii. 15): quod videlicet spiritus hominis liberatus bene operetur, non formidine paenae, ut servus, sed justitiae amore, qualis obedientiam filii prestare solent.

VIII. Hanc vero libertatem spiritus in electis Dei filiis non perfectam, sed multiplici infirmitate adhuc gravatam agnoscimus, quemadmodum D. Paulus super ea re de sua ipsius persona conqueritur (Rom. vii. 14 sqq.; Gal. v. 17).

IX. Illam tamen infirmitatem Dominus electis suis non imputat, idque propter Mediátorem Christum. Sic enim scriptum est (Rom. viii. 1): 'Nihil jam damnationis est his, qui in Christo Jesu sunt.'

X. Credimus præterea, docemus et confitemur, fidem et salu- that the regenerate do good works of a free and spontaneous spirit, this is not to be so understood as that it is left to the regenerate man's option to do well or ill whenever it may seem good to him, so that he retains faith, even though of set purpose he persevere in sins.

VII. That this, nevertheless, is not to be understood except of the spirit of man when set free, even as Christ himself and his apostles set forth this matter, to wit: that the liberated spirit of man does good works, not, as a slave, from fear of punishment, but from love of righteousness, such as is the obedience which children are wont to render (Rom. viii. 15).

VIII. But we acknowledge that this liberty of spirit in the elect children of God is not perfect, but is as yet weighed down with manifold infirmity, as St. Paul laments concerning himself about this matter (Rom. vii. 14–25; Gal. v. 17).

IX. This infirmity, nevertheless, the Lord, for the sake of Christ the Mediator, does not impute to his elect. For so it is written (Rom. viii. 1): 'There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus.'

X. We believe, moreover, teach, and confess that faith and salvation tem in nobis conservari, aut retineri, non per opera, sed tantum per Spiritum Dei, et per fidem (qua scilicet salus custoditur), bona autem opera testimonia esse, quod Spiritus Sanctus praesens sit, atque in nobis habitet.

NEGATIVA.

Falsa doctrina, superiori repugnans.

I. *Rejicimus igitur et damnamus subsequentes phrases, cum docetur: bona opera necessaria esse ad salutem; neminem unquam sine bonis operibus salvatum; impossibile esse sine bonis operibus salvari.*¹

His enim postremis temporibus non minus necessarium est, ut homines ad recte et pie vivendi rationem bona opera intententur atque moneantur, quam necessarium sit, ut ad declarandam fidem atque gratitudinem suam erga Deum in bonis operibus sese exerceant: quam necessarium est, cavere, ne bona opera negotio justificationis admisceatur. Non minus enim homines Epicurea persuasione de fide,

NEGATIVE.

False doctrine opposed to that above stated.

I. We reject, therefore, and condemn the following phrases, when it is taught: That good works are necessary to salvation; that no one has ever been saved without good works; that it is impossible to be saved without good works.

II. We repudiate and condemn this bald phrase, full of offense and pernicious to Christian discipline: That good works are detrimental to salvation.

For in these last times it is not less necessary that men should be admonished to a right and pious manner of living and to good works, and reminded how necessary it is that they should exercise themselves to declare and set forth their faith and gratitude towards God by good works, than it is necessary to beware lest good works be mingled in the matter of justification. For men may incur damnation no less by an Epicurean persuasion concern-

III. Moreover, we repudiate and condemn that dogma that faith in Christ is not lost, and that the Holy Spirit, even though a man sin willingly and willingly, nevertheless dwells in him; and that the holy and elect retain the Holy Spirit, even though they fall into adultery or other crimes, and persevere in the same.

ART. V.

OF THE LAW AND THE GOSPEL.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY.

It has been inquired: Whether the gospel is properly only a preaching of the grace of God, which announces to us the remission of sins, or whether it is also a preaching of repentance, rebuking the sin of unbelief, as one which is not rebuked by the Law, but only by the Gospel.

AFFIRMATIVE.

Sound doctrine agreeing with the rule of the Word of God.

I. We believe, teach, and confess that the distinction of the Law and of the Gospel, as a most excellently clear light, is to be retained with singulari diligentia in Ecclesia Dei retinendum esse, ut verbum Dei, juxta admonitionem D. Pauli, recte secari queat.

II. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, Legem esse proprie doctrinam divinitus revelatam, quae doceat, quid justum Deoque gratum sit; quæ etiam, quiequid peccatum est, et voluntati divine adversatur, redarguat.

III. Quare, quiequid extat in sacris literis, quod peccata ar- guit, id revera ad Legis concio- nem pertinet.

IV. Evangelion vero proprie doctrinam esse censemus, quæ doceat, quid homo credere debeat, qui Legi Dei non satisfecit, et idcirco per eandem damnatur: videlicet, quod illum credere oporteat, Jesum Christum omnia peccata expiisse, atque pro iis sa- tisfecisse, et remissionem pecca- torum, justitiam coram Deo con- sistentem et vitam æternam, nullo interveniente peccatoris illius me- rito, impetrasse.

V. Cum autem vocabulum ‘Evangelii’ non semper in una eademque significatione in Sacra Scriptura usurpetur, unde et dis- sensio illa primum orta est: cre- dimus, docemus et confitemur, si vocabulum ‘Evangelii’ de tota Christi doctrina accipiatur, quam special diligence in the Church of God, in order that the Word of God, agreeably to the admonition of St. Paul, may be rightly divided.

II. We believe, teach, and confess that the Law is properly a doctrine divinely revealed, which teaches what is just and acceptable to God, and which also denounces whatever is sinful and opposite to the divine will.

III. Wherefore, whatever is found in the Holy Scriptures which convicts of sins, that properly belongs to the preaching of the Law.

IV. The Gospel, on the other hand, we judge to be properly the doctrine which teaches what a man ought to believe who has not satisfied the law of God, and therefore is condemned by the same, to wit: that it behoves him to believe that Jesus Christ has expiated all his sins, and made satisfaction for them, and has obtained remission of sins, righteousness which avails before God, and eternal life without the intervention of any merit of the sinner.

V. But inasmuch as the word Gospel is not always used in Holy Scripture in one and the same signification, whence also that dissension first arose, we believe, teach, and confess that if the term Gospel is understood of the whole doctrine of Christ, which he set forth in his ipse in Ministerio suo (quemadmodum et ejus Apostoli) professus est (in qua significacione Mark i. 15 et Acts xx. 21 vox illa usurpatatur), recte dici et doceri, Evangelium esse concionem de pænitentia et remissione peccatorum.

VI. Quando vero Lex et Evangelion, sicut et ipse Moises, ut Doctor Legis, et Christus, ut Doctor Evangelii, inter se conferuntur: credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod Evangelion non sit concio pænitentiae, arguens peccata: sed quod proprie nihil aliud sit, quam laetissimum quoddam nuncium, et concio plena consolationis, non arguens aut terrens, quandoquidem conscientias contra terrores Legis solatur, easque in meritum solius Christi respicere jubet, et dulcissima prædicatione, de gratia et favore Dei, per meritum Christi impetrato, rursus erigit.

VII. Quod vero ad revelationem peccati attinet, sic sese res habent. Volum illud Moysis omnium hominum oculis est obducatum, quam diu solam Legis concionem, nihil autem de Christo audiunt. Itaque peccata sua ex Lege non vere agnoscunt: sed aut hypocrite fiunt, qui justitiae proprie opinione turgent, quales ministry, as did also his apostles after him (in which signification the word is used in Mark i. 15 and Acts xx. 21), it is rightly said and taught that the Gospel is a preaching of repentance and remission of sins.

VI. But when the Law and the Gospel are compared together, as well as Moses himself, the teacher of the Law, and Christ the teacher of the Gospel, we believe, teach, and confess that the Gospel is not a preaching of repentance, convicting of sins, but that it is properly nothing else than a certain most joyful message and preaching full of consolation, not convicting or terrifying, inasmuch as it comforts the conscience against the terrors of the Law, and bids it look at the merit of Christ alone, and by a most sweet preaching of the grace and favor of God, obtained through Christ, lifts it up again.

VII. But as respects the revelation of sin, the matter stands thus: That veil of Moses is drawn over all men's eyes, so long as they hear only the preaching of the Law, and hear nothing of Christ. Therefore they do not, by the Law, truly come to know their sins, but either become hypocrites, swelling with an opinion of their own righteousness, as were olim erant Pharisei, aut in peccatis suis desperant, quod Judas proditor ille fecit. Eam ob causam Christus sumsit sibi Legem explicandam spiritualiter (Matt. v. 21 sqq.; Rom. vii. 14), et hoc modo ira Dei de caelo revelatur super omnes peccatores (Rom. i. 18), ut, vera Legis sententia intellecta, animadvertisatur, quanta sit illa ira. Et sic demum peccatores ad Legem remissi vere et recte peccata sua agnoscunt. Talem vero peccatorum agnitio nem solus Moises nunquam ex ipsis extorquere potuisse.

Etsi igitur concio illa de passione et morte Christi Filii Dei, severitatis et terroris plena est, que iram Dei adversus peccata ostendit, unde demum homines ad Legem Dei propius adducuntur, postquam velum illud Moysis ablatum est, ut tandem exakte agnoscant, quanta videlicet Dominus in Lege sua a nobis exigit, quorum nihil nos praestare possumus, ita, ut universam nostram justitiam in solo Christo quarere oporteat:

VIII. Tamen, quam diu nobis Christi passio et mors iram Dei ob oculos ponunt, et hominem perterrefaciunt, tam diu non sunt proprie concio Evangelii, aforetime the Pharisees, or grow desperate in their sins, as did the traitor Judas. On this account Christ took upon him to explain the Law spiritually (Matt. v. 21 sqq.; Rom. vii. 14), and in this manner is the wrath of God revealed from heaven against all sinners (Rom. i. 18), in order that, by perceiving the true meaning of the Law, it may be understood how great is that wrath. And thus at length sinners, being remanded to the Law, truly and rightly come to know their own sins. But such an acknowledgment of sins Moses alone could never have extorted from them.

Although, therefore, this preaching of the passion and death of Christ, the Son of God, is full of severity and terror, inasmuch as it sets forth the anger of God against sin, from whence men at length are brought nearer to the Law of God, after that veil of Moses is taken away, that at length they may exactly perceive how great things God exacts from us in his Law, none of which we are able to perform, so that it behoves us to seek the whole of our righteousness in Christ alone:

VIII. Nevertheless, so long as the passion and death of Christ place before the eyes the wrath of God and terrify man, so long they are not properly the preaching of the Rejicimus igitur, ut fulsum et periculosum dogma, cum assertetur: quod Evangelion propriè sit concio pœnitentie, arguens, accusans et damnans peccata, quodque non sit tantummodo concio de gratia Dei. Hac enim ratione Evangelion rursus in Legem transformatur, meritum Christi et sacræ literæ obscurantur, piis mentibus vera et solida consolatio eripitur, et Pontificiis erroribus et superstitionibus fores aperiuntur.

DE TERTIO USU LEGIS.

STATUS CONTROVERSIAE.

Cum constet, Legem Dei propter tres causas hominibus datam esse, primo, ut externa quedam disciplina conservetur, et feri atque intractabiles homines quasi repagulis quibusdam cœreantur, Gospel, but the teaching of the Law and Moses, and are Christ's strange work, through which he proceeds to his proper office, which is to declare the grace of God, to console and vivify. These things are the peculiar function of the evangelical preaching.

NEGATIVE.

Contrary and false doctrine, which is rejected.

We reject, therefore, as a false and perilous dogma, the assertion that the Gospel is properly a preaching of repentance, rebuking, accusing, and condemning sins, and that it is not solely a preaching of the grace of God. For in this way the Gospel is transformed again into Law, the merit of Christ and the Holy Scriptures are obscured, a true and solid consolation is wrested away from godly souls, and the way is opened to the papal errors and superstitions.

ART. VI.

OF THE THIRD USE OF THE LAW.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY.

Since it is established that the Law of God was given to men for three causes: first, that a certain external discipline might be preserved, and wild and intractable men might be restrained, as it were, secundo, ut per Legem homines ad agnitionem suorum peccatorum adducantur, tertio, ut homines jam renati, quibus tamen omnibus multum adhuc carnis adhaeret, eam ipsam ob causam certam aliquam regulam habeant, ad quam totam suam vitum formare possint et debeant, etc., orta est inter paucos quosdam Theologos controversia, super tertio usu Legis: videlicet, an Lex etiam renatis inculcanda, et ejus observatio apud eos urgenda sit, an non. Alii urgendam Legem censuerunt: alii negarunt.

by certain barriers; secondly, that by the Law men might be brought to an acknowledgment of their sins; thirdly, that regenerate men, to all of whom, nevertheless, much of the flesh still cleaves, for that very reason may have some certain rule after which they may and ought to shape their life, etc., a controversy has arisen among some few theologians concerning the third use of the Law, to wit: whether the Law is to be inculcated upon the regenerate also, and its observation urged upon them or not? Some have judged that the Law should be urged, others have denied it.

Etenim ne primi quidem nostri parentes, etiam ante lapsum, prorsus sine Lege vixerunt, que certe cordibus*

AFFIRMATIVE.

The sound and godly doctrine concerning this controversy.

I. We believe, teach, and confess that although they who truly believe in Christ, and are sincerely converted to God, are through Christ set free from the curse and constraint of the Law, they are not, nevertheless, on that account without Law, inasmuch as the Son of God redeemed them for the very reason that they might meditate on the Law of God day and night, and continually exercise themselves in the keeping thereof (Psa. i. 2; exix. 1 sqq.). For not even our first parents, even before the fall, lived ipsorum tum inscripta erat, quia Dominus eos ad imaginem suam creaverat (Gen. i. 26 sqq.; ii. 16 sqq.; iii. 3).

II. Credimus, docemus et contemur, concionem Legis non modo apud eos, qui fidem in Christum non habent, et paenitentiam nondum agunt, sed etiam apud eos, qui vere in Christum credunt, vere ad Deum conversi et renati, et per fidem justificati sunt, sedulo urgendam esse.

III. Etsi enim renati, et spiritu mentis suæ renovati sunt: tamen regeneratio illa et renovatio, in hac vita non est omnibus numeris absoluta, sed duntaxat inchoata. Et credentes illi, spiritu mentis suæ perpetuo luctantur cum carne, hoc est, cum corrupta natura, quæ in nobis ad mortem usque hæret (Gal. v. 17; Rom. vii. 21, 23). Et propter veterem Adamum, qui adhuc in hominis intellectu, voluntate, et in omnibus viribus ejus infixus residet, opus est, ut homini Lex Dei semper præluceat, ne quid private devotionis affectu in negotio religionis configat, et cultus divinos verbo Dei non institutos eligat. Item, ne vetus Adam pro suo ingenio agat, sed potius contra suam voluntatem, non wholly without Law, which was certainly at that time graven on their hearts, because the Lord had created them after his own image (Gen. i. 26 sqq.; ii. 16 sqq.; iii. 3).

II. We believe, teach, and confess that the preaching of the Law should be urged not only upon those who have not faith in Christ, and do not yet repent, but also upon those who truly believe in Christ, are truly converted to God, and regenerated and are justified by faith.

III. For, although they are regenerate and renewed in the spirit of their mind, yet this regeneration and renewal is in this life not absolutely complete, but only begun. And they that believe according to the spirit of their mind have perpetually to struggle with their flesh, that is, with corrupt nature, which inheres in us even till death (Gal. v. 17; Rom. vii. 21, 23). And on account of the old Adam, which still remains fixed in the intellect and will of man and in all his powers, there is need that the law of God should always shine before man, that he may not frame anything in matter of religion under an impulse of self-devised devotion, and may not choose out ways of honoring God not instituted by the Word of God. Also, lest the old Adam modo admonitionibus et minis Legis, verum etiam paenitentia et plaga coerceatur, ut Spiritui obsequatur, seque ipsi captivum tradat (1 Cor. ix. 27; Rom. vi. 12; Gal. vi. 14; Psa. cxix. 1 sqq.; Heb. xii. 1; xiii. 21).

IV. Jam quod ad discriminem operum Legis et fructuum Spiritus attinet, credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod opera illa, quae secundum prescriptum Legis fiunt, eatenus opera Legis sint et appellantur, quatenus ea solummodo urgendo, et minis paenarum atque irae divinae, ab homine extorquentur.

V. Fructus vero Spiritus sunt opera illa, quae Spiritus Dei, in credentibus habitans, per homines renatos operatur, et quae a credentibus fiunt, quatenus renati sunt, ita quidem sponte ac libere, quasi nullum preceptum unquam accepissent, nullas minas audivissent, nullamque remunerationem expectarent. Et hoc modo filii Dei in Legem vivunt, et secundum normam Legis divinae vitam suam instituunt; hanc vivendi rationem should act according to his own bent, but that he may the rather be constrained against his own will, not only by the admonitions and threats of the Law, but also by punishments and plagues, in order that he may give obedience to the Spirit, and render himself up captive to the same (1 Cor. ix. 27; Rom. vi. 12; Gal. vi. 14; Psalm cxix. 1 sqq.; Heb. xii. 1; xiii. 21).

IV. As respects now the distinction between the works of the Law and the fruits of the Spirit, we believe, teach, and confess that those works, which are done according to the commandment of the Law, are and are called works of the Law so far as they are extorted from man only by sharp urgency, and by the threats of punishment and of the divine wrath.

V. But the fruits of the Spirit are those works which the Spirit of God, dwelling in believers, effects through regenerate men, and which are done by believers so far as they are regenerate, and therefore freely and spontaneously, as if they had never received any precept, had never heard any threats, and expected no remuneration. And in this way do the children of God live in the Law, and fashion their life according to the rule of the divine Law, which way of living

D. Paulus vocare solet in suis Epistolis Legem Christi et Legem mentis (Rom. vii. 25; viii. 2, 7; Gal. vi. 2).

VI. Ad hunc modum una eademque Lex est manetque, immota videlicet Dei voluntas, sive pænitentibus sive impænitentibus, renatis aut non renatis proponatur. Discrimen autem, quo ad obedientiam, duntaxat in hominibus est: quorum alii non renati Legi obedientiam qualem cunque a Lege requisitam præstant, sed coacti et inviti id faciunt (sicut etiam renati faciunt, quatenus adhuc carnales sunt): credentes vero in Christum, quatenus renati sunt, absque coactione, libero et spontaneo spiritu, talem obedientiam præstant, quallem alias nullæ quantumvis severissimæ Legis comminationes extorquere possent.

St. Paul is wont to call in his epistles the Law of Christ and the Law of the mind (Rom. vii. 25; viii. 2, 7; Gal. vi. 2).

VI. After this manner the Law is and remains one and the same, to wit: the unchangeable will of God, whether it be set forth before the penitent or the impenitent, the regenerate or the unregenerate. But the distinction, as to obedience, is only in men, of whom some, not being regenerate, render to the Law a certain manner of obedience required by the Law, but do this constrainedly and unwillingly (as also the regenerate do, so far as they are yet carnal); but believers in Christ, so far as they are regenerate, do without compulsion, with a free and unconstrained mind, render such an obedience as otherwise no threatenings of the Law, however grievous, would be able to extort.

OF THE LORD'S SUPPER.

Although the Zwinglian doctors are not to be reckoned as in the number of those theologians who acknowledge and profess the Augsburg Confession, inasmuch as, when that Confession was set forth, they seceded from them; yet, since they are at this present craftily intruding themselves into their company, and endeavoring to disseminate their error as widely as possible, under cover of that godly Confession, we have judged that the Church of God ought to be instructed concerning this controversy also.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY

Which exists between us and the Sacra-mentarians in this article.

It is asked whether in the Holy Supper the true body and true blood of our Lord Jesus Christ are truly and substantially present, and are distributed with the bread and wine, and are taken with the mouth by all those who use this sacrament, be they worthy or unworthy, good or bad, believers or unbelievers, in such wise, nevertheless, as that bee Cœna Domini consolationem et vitam percipient, infideles autem eam ad judicium sumant. Cingiani hanc præsentiam et dispensationem corporis et sanguinis Christi in Sacra Cœna negant: nos vero eandem asseveramus.

Ad solidam hujus controversie explicationem primum sciendum est, duo esse Sacramentariorum genera. Quidam enim sunt Sacramentarii crassi admodum: hi perspicuis et claris verbis id aperte profitentur, quod corde sentiunt, quod videlicet in Cœna Domini nihil amplius quam panis et vinum sint præsentia, ibique distribuantur et ore percipientur. Alii autem sunt versuti et callidi, et quidem omnium nocentissimi Sacramentarii: hi de negotio Cœne Domini loquentes, ex parte nostris verbis splendide admodum utuntur, et præ se ferunt, quod et ipsi veram præsentiam veri, substantialis atque vivi corporis et sanguinis Christi in Sacra Cœna credant, eam tamen præsentiam et manduationem dicunt esse spiritualem, quæ fiat fide. Et hi posteriores Sacramentarii sub his splendidis verbis eandem crassam, quam priores habent, opinionem occultant et retinent:

lievers derive consolation and life from the Supper of the Lord, but unbelievers take it unto condemnation? The Zwinglians deny this presence and dispensation of the body and blood of Christ in the Holy Supper, but we affirm the same.

For a solid explication of this controversy, it is first to be understood that there are two sorts of sacramentarians. For some are exceedingly gross sacramentarians; these in perspicuous and plain words openly profess that which they think in their heart, to wit: that in the Lord's Supper there is nothing more present than bread and wine, which alone are there distributed and received with the mouth. But others are astute and crafty, and thereby the most harmful of all the sacramentarians; these, when talking of the Lord's Supper, make in part an exceedingly high-sounding use of our mode of speaking, declaring that they too believe in a true presence of the true, substantial, and living body and blood of Christ in the Holy Supper, which presence and manduation, nevertheless, they say to be spiritual, such as takes place by faith. And yet these latter sacramentarians, under these high-sounding phrases, hide and hold fast the same gross opinion which the former have, to wit: that, besides the bread and wine, there is nothing more present or taken with the mouth in the Lord's Supper. For the term (spiritualiter) signifies nothing more to them than the Spirit of Christ or the virtue of the absent body of Christ and his merit, which is present; but they think that the body of Christ itself is in no way whatever present, but is contained above in the highest heaven, and they affirm that it behoves us by the meditations of faith to rise on high and ascend into heaven, and that this body and blood of Christ are to be sought there, and in nowise in union with the bread and wine of the Holy Supper.

AFFIRMATIVA.

Confessio sinceræ doctrinæ, de Cœna Domini, contra Sacramentarios.

I. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod in Cœna Domini corpus et sanguis Christi vere et substantialiter sint præsentia, et quod una cum pane et vino vere distribuantur atque sumantur.

II. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, verba Testamenti Christi non aliter accipienda esse, quam sicut verba ipsa ad literam sonant: ita, ne panis absens Christi corpus, et vinum

AFFIRMATIVE.

Confession of the sound doctrine of the Supper of the Lord against the Sacramentarians.

I. We believe, teach, and confess that in the Lord's Supper the body and blood of Christ are truly and substantially present, and that they are truly distributed and taken together with the bread and wine.

II. We believe, teach, and confess that the words of the Testament of Christ are not to be otherwise received than as the words themselves literally sound, so that the bread does not signify the absent absentem Christi sanguinem significant, sed ut propter sacramentalē unionem, panis et vi-num vere sint corpus et sanguis Christi.

III. Jam quod ad Consecrationem attinet, credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod nullum opus humanum, neque ulla Ministri Ecclesiæ pronunciatio presenti corporis et sanguinis Christi in Cœna causa sit, sed quod hoc soli omnipotenti virtuti Domini nostri Jesu Christi sit tribuendum.

IV. Interim tamen unanimi consensu credimus, docemus et confitemur, in usu Cœnæ Dominicæ verba institutionis Christi nequaquam omittenda, sed publice recitanda esse, sicut scriptum est (1 Cor. x. 16): ‘Calix benedictionis, cui benedicimus, nonne communicatio sanguinis Christi est?’ etc. Illa autem benedictio fit per recitationem verborum Christi.

V. Fundamenta autem, quibus in hoc negotio contra Sacramentarios nitimur, hæc sunt, quæ etiam D. Lutherus in majore sua de Cœna Domini Confessione posuit:

Primum fundamentum est articulus fidei nostræ Christianæ, videlicet Jesu Christus est verus, body of Christ and the wine the absent blood of Christ, but that on account of the sacramental union the bread and wine are truly the body and blood of Christ.

III. Moreover, as concerns the consecration, we believe, teach, and confess that no human work, nor any utterance of the minister of the Church, is the cause of the presence of the body and blood of Christ in the Supper, but that this is to be attributed to the omnipotent power of our Lord Jesus Christ alone.

IV. Nevertheless, we believe, teach, and confess, by unanimous consent, that in the use of the Lord's Supper the words of the institution of Christ are by no means to be omitted, but are to be publicly recited, as it is written (1 Cor. x. 16): ‘The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ?’ etc. And this benediction takes place by the recitation of the words of Christ.

V. Now the foundations on which we rest in this controversy with the sacramentarians are the following, which, moreover, Dr. Luther has laid in his Larger Confession concerning the Supper of the Lord:

The first foundation is an article of our Christian faith, to wit: Jesus Christ is true, essential, natuessentialis, naturalis, perfectus Deus et homo in unitate personae, inseparabilis et indivisus.

Secundum, quod dextera Dei ubique est: ad eam autem Christus, ratione humanitatis sua, vere et re ipsa, collocatus est, ideoque presens gubernat, in manu sua, et sub pedibus suis, ut Scriptura loquitur (Eph. i. 22), habet omnia, que in celo sunt et in terra. Ad eam Dei dexteram nullus aliis homo, ac ne Angelus quidem, sed solus Mariæ Filius collocatus est, unde et ea, que diximus, præstare potest.

Tertium, quod verbum Dei non est falsum, aut mendax.

Quartum, quod Deus varios modos novit, et in sua potestate habet, quibus alicubi esse potest, neque ad unicum illum alligatus est, quem Philosophi localem aut circumscriptum appellare solent.

VI. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, corpus et sanguinem Christi non tantum spiritualiter per fidem, sed etiam ore, non tamen Capernaitice, sed supernaturali et colesti modo, ratione sacramentalis unionis, cum pane et vino sumi. Hoc enim verba Christi perspicue testantur, quibus præcipit, accipere, edere, bibere: idque ab Apostolis factum ral, perfect God and man in unity of person, inseparable and undivided.

Secondly: that the right hand of God is every where, and that Christ, in respect of his humanity, is truly and in very deed seated thereat, and therefore as present governs, and has in his hand and under his feet, as the Scripture saith (Eph. i. 22), all things which are in heaven and on earth. At this right hand of God no other man, nor even any angel, but the Son of Mary alone, is seated, whence also he is able to effect those things which we have said.

Thirdly: that the Word of God is not false or deceiving.

Fourthly: that God knows and has in his power various modes in which he can be any where, and is not confined to that single one which philosophers are wont to call local or circumscribed.

VI. We believe, teach, and confess that the body and blood of Christ are taken with the bread and wine, not only spiritually through faith, but also by the mouth, nevertheless not Capernaitically, but after a spiritual and heavenly manner, by reason of the sacramental union. For to this the words of Christ clearly bear witness, in which he enjoins us to esse, Scriptura commemorat, dicens (Mark xiv. 23): ‘Et biberunt ex eo omnes.’ Et Paulus inquit (1 Cor. x. 16): ‘Panis, quem frangimus, est communicatio corporis Christi; hoc est, qui hunc panem edit, corpus Christi edit. Idem magno consensu principi ex antiquissimis Ecclesiae Doctoribus, Chrysostomus, Cyprianus, Leo Primus, Gregorius, Ambrosius, Augustinus, testantur.

VII. Credimus, docemus et contemur, quod non tantum vere in Christum credentes, et qui digne ad Canam Domini accedunt, verum etiam indigni et infideles verum corpus et sanguinem Christi sumant: ita tamen, ut nec consolationem, nec vitam inde percipiunt, sed potius, ut illis sumtio ea ad judicium et damnationem cedat, si non convertantur et paenitentiam agant (1 Cor. xi. 27, 29).

Etsi enim Christum, ut Salvatorem, a se repellunt, tamen eundem, licet maxime inviti, ut severum Judicem, admittere coguntur. Is vero non minus praesens judicium suum in convivis illis impenitentibus exercet, quam praesens consolationem et vitam in cordibus vere credentium et dignorum convivarum operatur.

take, to eat, to drink; and that this was done by the Apostles the Scripture makes mention, saying (Mark xiv. 23): ‘And they all drank of it.’ And Paul says: ‘The bread which we break is the communion of the body of Christ;’ that is, he that eats this bread eats the body of Christ. To the same with great consent do the chief of the most ancient doctors of the Church, Chrysostom, Cyprian, Leo the First, Gregory, Ambrose, Augustine, bear witness.

VII. We believe, teach, and confess that not only true believers in Christ, and such as worthily approach the Supper of the Lord, but also the unworthy and unbelieving receive the true body and blood of Christ; in such wise, nevertheless, that they derive thence neither consolation nor life, but rather so as that receiving turns to their judgment and condemnation, unless they be converted and repent (1 Cor. xi. 27, 29).

For although they repel from them Christ as a Saviour, nevertheless they are compelled, though extremely unwilling, to admit him as a stern Judge. And he no less present exercises his judgment over these impenitent guests than as present he works consolation and life in the hearts of true believers and worthy guests.

VIII. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, unum tantum genus esse indignorum convivarum: ii sunt soli illi, qui non credunt. De his scriptum est (John iii. 18): 'Qui non credit, jam judicatus est.' Et hoc judicium indigno Sacrae Cœnæ usu cumulatur et aggravatur [gehäuft, grösser und schwerer wird] (1 Cor. xi. 29).

IX. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod nullus vere credentium, quam diu vivam fidem retinet, Sacram Domini Cœnam ad judicium sumat, quantacunque fidei imbecillitate laboret. Cœna enim Domini in primis propter infirmos in fide, paenitentes tamen, instituta est, ut ex ea veram consolationem et imbecillis fidei suæ confirmationem percipient (Matt. ix. 12; xi. 5, 28).

X. Credimus, docemus et confitemur, totam dignitatem convivarum cœlestis hujus Cœnæ in sola sacratissima obedientia et absolutissimo Christi merito consistere. Illud autem nobis vera fide applicamus, et de applicatione hujus meriti per Sacramentum certi reddimur, atque in animis nostris confirmamur. Nequaquam autem dignitas illa ex

VIII. We believe, teach, and confess that there is one kind only of unworthy guests: they are those only who do not believe. Of these it is written (John iii. 18): 'He that believeth not is condemned already.' And this judgment is enhanced and aggravated by an unworthy use of the holy Supper (1 Cor. xi. 29).

IX. We believe, teach, and confess that no true believer, so long as he retains a living faith, receives the holy Supper of the Lord unto condemnation, however much weakness of faith he may labor under. For the Lord's Supper has been chiefly instituted for the sake of the weak in faith, who nevertheless are penitent, that from it they may derive true consolation and a strengthening of their weak faith (Matt. ix. 12; xi. 5, 28).

X. We believe, teach, and confess that the whole worthiness of the guests at this heavenly Supper consists alone in the most holy obedience and most perfect merit of Christ. And this we apply to ourselves by true faith, and are rendered certain of the application of this merit, and are confirmed in our minds by the sacrament. But in no way does that worthiness depend upon our virtues, or upon our inward or outward preparations.

NEGATIVE.

Rejection of the contrary and condemned doctrine of the Sacramentarians.

We reject and condemn, by unanimous consent, all the erroneous articles which we will now recount, as being opposite to the above-stated godly doctrine, to the simplicity of faith, and to the sound confession concerning the Supper of the Lord :

I. The papistical transubstantiation, when, to wit, in the Papal Church it is taught that the bread and wine in the holy Supper lose their substance and natural essence, and are thus annihilated, and those elements so transmuted into the body of Christ, that, except the outward species, nothing remains of them.

II. The papistical sacrifice of the Mass, which is offered for the sins of the living and the dead.

III. The sacrilege whereby one part of the sacrament only is given to the laity, the eun being forbidden them, against the express words of the Testament of Christ, and they are thus despoiled of the blood of Christ.

IV. The dogma whereby it is

V. Corpus Christi in Sacra Cœna non ore una cum pane sumi: sed tantum panem et vinum ore accipi: corpus vero Christi spiritualiter duntaxat, fide nimirum, sumi.

VI. Panem et vinum in Cœna Domini tantummodo symbola seu tesseras esse, quibus Christiani mutuo sese agnoscant.

VII. Panem et vinum tantum esse figuræ, similitudines et typos corporis et sanguinis Christi, longissimo intervallo a nobis absentis.

taught that the words of the Testament of Jesus Christ are not to be understood and embraced by faith in simplicity as they sound, on the ground that they are obscure, and that therefore their true sense is to be sought from other places of Scripture.

V. That the body of Christ in the holy Supper is not received by the mouth together with the bread, but that only bread and wine are received by the mouth, while the body of Christ is taken only spiritually, to wit, by faith.

VI. That the bread and wine in the Lord's Supper are only symbols or tokens whereby Christians mutually recognize each other.

VII. That the bread and wine are only figures, similitudes, and types of the body and blood of Christ, who himself is very far distant from us.

VIII. That the bread and wine are only signs, instituted for a memorial, and having the character of seals and pledges, by which it is made sure to us that faith, when she ascends and is transported into heaven, there as truly becomes participant of the body and blood of Christ, as we do truly in the holy Supper eat the bread and drink the wine.

our salvation is rendered certain and confirmed in the Supper of the Lord only by those external signs, bread and wine, but in no wise by the true body and blood of Christ truly present.

X. That in the holy Supper, only the virtue, operation, and merit of the absent body of Christ are dispensed.

XI. That Christ's body is so confined in heaven that it can in no mode whatever be likewise at one and the same time in many places, or in all the places where the Lord's Supper is celebrated.

XII. That Christ could neither promise nor impart the substantial presence of his body and blood, inasmuch as the essential property of the human nature itself which he had assumed could by no means bear or admit of this.

XIII. That God, even with all his omnipotence (a thing fearful to say and fearful to hear), can not effect that the body of Christ should be substantially present at one and the same time in more places than one.

XIV. That not that omnipotent word of the Testament of Christ, but faith is the cause of the presence of the body and blood of Christ in the holy Supper.

XV. That the faithful ought not *nem Christi non in pane et vino

Cœnæ Dominicæ querere, sed oculos in cœlum attollere, et ibi corpus Christi querere debere.*

XVI. Infideles et impénitentes Christianos in Cœna Domini non verum corpus et sanguinem Christi, sed panem tantum et vinum sumere.

XVII. Dignitatem convivarum in hac cœlesti Cœna non ex sola vera in Christum fide, sed etiam ex preparatione hominum extera pendere.

XVIII. Eos etiam, qui veram et vivam in Christum fidem habent, eamque retinent, nihilominus hoc sacramentum ad judicium sumere posse, propterea quod in externa sua conversatione adhuc imperfecti sint.

XIX. Externa visibilia elementa panis et vini in sacramento adoranda esse.

XX. Præter hæc justo Dei judicio relinquimus omnes curiosas, sannis virulentis tinctas, et blasphemas questiones, quæ honeste, pie, et sine gravi offensione recitari nequeunt, aliosque sermones, quando de supernaturali et cœlesti mysterio hujus sacramenti crasse, carnaliter, Capernaitice, et plane abominandis modis, blasphemæ, et maximo cum Ecclesiæ offendit.

to seek the body and blood of Christ in the Lord's Supper, but to lift their eyes to heaven, and there seek the body of Christ.

XVI. That unbelieving and impenitent Christians in the Lord's Supper do not receive the true body and blood of Christ, but only bread and wine.

XVII. That the worthiness of the guests at this heavenly Supper does not depend alone upon true faith in Christ, but upon the outward preparation of men.

XVIII. That even those who have and hold fast a true and living faith in Christ are capable of taking this sacrament to their condemnation, inasmuch as in their external course of life they are yet imperfect.

XIX. That the external, visible elements of bread and wine in the sacrament are to be adored.

XX. Over and above these, we leave to the just judgment of God all curious and blasphemous questions imbued with virulent poison of mockeries, such as can not be set forth without grave offense to seemliness and piety, and other pratings, wherein the Sacramentarians speak of the supernatural and heavenly mystery of this sacrament grossly, carnally, Capernaitically, and in utterly abominable fashion, diculo, Sacramentarii loquuntur.

XXI. Prorsus etiam rejicimus atque damnamus Cupernaiticam manducationem corporis Christi, quam nobis Sacramentarii contra suæ conscientie testimonium, post tot nostras protestationes, malitiose affingunt, ut doctrinam nostram apud auditores suos in odium adducant, quasi videlicet doceamus, corpus Christi dentibus laniari, et instar alterius ejusdem ciborum, in corpore humano digeri. Credimus autem et assertimus, secundum clara verba Testamenti Christi, veram, sed supernaturalem manducationem corporis Christi, quemadmodum etiam vere, supernaturaliter tamen, sanguinem Christi bibi docemus. Hec autem humanis sensibus a ratione nemo comprehendere potest, quare in hoc negotio, sicut in aliis fidei articulis, intellectum nostrum in obedientiam Christi captivare oportet. Hoc enim mysterium in solo Dei verbo revelatur, et sola fide comprehenditur.

blasphemously, and to the most grievous offense of the Church.

XXI. We also utterly reject and condemn the Capernaitic manducation of the body of Christ, which, after so many protestations on our part, the Sacramentarians maliciously feign against us, contrary to the testimony of their own conscience, in order that they may bring our doctrine into discredit with their hearers, as if, forsooth, we taught that the body of Christ is torn by the teeth and digested in the human body like any other food. But we believe and assert, according to the plain words of the Testament of Christ, a true but supernatural manducation of the body of Christ, even as also we teach that the blood of Christ is truly, but nevertheless supernaturally, drunk. But these things no one is able with human senses or reason to comprehend; wherefore in this matter, as also in other articles of the faith, it behooves that our understanding be brought into captivity to the obedience of Christ. For this mystery is revealed in the Word of God alone, and is comprehended by faith alone.

ART. VIII.

DE PERSONA CHRISTI.

Ex controversia superiore de Cena Domini inter sinceros Theologos Augustinianos Confessionis, et Calvinistas, qui alios etiam quosdam Theologos perturbarunt, dissensio orta est de persona Christi, de duabus in Christo naturis, et de ipsarum proprietatibus.

STATUS CONTROVERSIE.

Principalis hujus dissidii questio fuit, an divina et humana natura et utriusque proprietates propter unionem personalem, realiter, hoc est, vere et reipsa in persona Christi invicem communicent, et quousque illa communicatio extendatur?

Sacramentarii affirmarunt, divinam et humanam naturas in Christo eo modo personaliter unitas esse, ut neutra alteri quicquam realiter, hoc est, vere et reipsa, quod cuiusque naturae proprium sit, communicet: sed nomina tantum nuda communicari. Unio (inquit illi) facit tantum nomina communia, ut videlicet Deus dicatur homo, et homo Deus appelletur, ita tamen,

ART. VIII.

OF THE PERSON OF CHRIST.

From the above-mentioned controversy concerning the Lord's Supper between the sincere divines of the Augsburg Confession and the Calvinists, who had, moreover, unsettled certain other theologians, there has arisen a dissension concerning the person of Christ, concerning the two natures in Christ, and concerning the attributes of these.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY.

The principal question of this controversy has been whether the divine and the human nature in the attributes of each are in mutual communication REALLY, that is, truly and in very fact and deed, in the person of Christ, and how far that communication extends.

The Sacramentarians have affirmed that the divine and human natures are in such wise personally united in Christ that neither communicates to the other really, that is, truly and in very deed, any thing which is proper to either nature, but that bare names only are communicated. The union, say they, makes only the names common, so that, to wit, God is termed man, and man is called God, yet ut Deus nihil cum humanitate commune habeat, et vicissim humanitas nihil cum Divinitate, quo ad ipsius majestatem et proprietates, realiter, hoc est, revera et reipsa commune habeat. Contrariam vero huic dogmati sententiam D. Lutherus, et qui cum ipso faciunt, adversus Sacramentarios propugnarunt.

AFFIRMATIVA.

Sincera doctrina Ecclesie Dei de Persona Christi.

Ad explicandam hanc controversiam et juxta analogiam fidei nostrae Christianae decidendam, fidem, doctrinam et confessionem nostram piam perspicue profitemur, videlicet :

I. Quod divina et humana natura in Christo personaliter unite sint, ita prorsus, ut non sint duo Christi, unus Filius Dei, alter Filius hominis, sed ut unus et idem sit Dei et hominis Filius (Luke i. 35; Rom. ix. 5).

II. Credimus, docemus et contemur, divinam et humanam naturas, non in unam substantiam commixtas, nec unam in alteram mutatam esse, sed utramque naturam retinere suas proprietates essentiales, ut quæ alte- so that God has nothing common with humanity, and on the other hand humanity has nothing really, that is, in very deed and very fact, common with Divinity, as to the majesty and attributes thereof. But Dr. Luther and those who hold with him have firmly maintained against the Sacramentarians the opinion contrary to this dogma.

AFFIRMATIVE.

The sound doctrine of the Church of God touching the Person of Christ.

For the better setting forth of this controversy, and deciding it according to the analogy of our Christian faith, we distinctly profess our godly faith, doctrine, and confession in the terms following, to wit:

I. That the divine and the human nature in Christ are personally united, and so completely that there are not two Christs—one the Son of God, the other the Son of man—but that one and the same is Son of God and Son of Man (Luke i. 35; Rom. ix. 5).

II. We believe, teach, and confess that the divine and human natures are not mingled into one substance, nor one changed into the other, but that each nature retains its own essential attributes, as being such as can not be-rius naturæ proprietates fieri nequeant.

III. Proprietates divinæ nature sunt: esse omnipotentem, eternam, infinitam, et secundum naturæ naturalisque sue essentiæ proprietatem, per se, ubique presentem esse, omnia novisse, etc. Hec omnia neque sunt, neque unquam fiunt humanae naturæ proprietates.

IV. Humane autem naturæ proprietates sunt: corpoream esse creaturam, constare carne et sanguine, esse finitam et circumscriptam, pati, mori, ascendere, descendere, de loco ad locum moveri, esurire, sitire, algere, aestu affligi, et si quæ sunt similia. Hec neque sunt, neque unquam fiunt proprietates divinæ naturæ.

V. Cum vero divina et humana naturæ personaliter, hoc est, ad constituendum unum ὑφιστάμενον, sint unitæ, credimus, docemus et confitemur, unionem illam hypostaticum non esse talem copulationem aut combinationem, cuius ratione neutra natura cum altera personaliter, hoc est, propter unionem personalem, quicquam commune habeat, qualis combinatio fit, cum duo asseres conglutinantur, ubi neuter alteri quicquam confert, aut aliquid ab altero accipit: quin potius hic summa communio est, quam Deus cum come the attributes of the other nature.

III. The attributes of the divine nature are: To be omnipotent, eternal, infinite, and, by attribute of nature and of its natural essence, to be every where present, to know all things, etc. All these things neither are nor ever become the attributes of the human nature.

IV. The attributes of the human nature are: To be a corporeal creature, to consist of flesh and blood, to be finite and circumscribed, to suffer, to die, to ascend, to descend, to move from place to place, to hunger, to thirst, to suffer with cold, to be overcome by heat, and the like. These neither are nor ever become attributes of the divine nature.

V. And inasmuch as the divine and human natures are personally united, that is, so as to constitute one ὑφιστάμενον, we believe, teach, and confess that this hypostatic union is not such a conjunction or combination as that thereby neither nature had any thing personally—that is, on account of the personal union—common with the other, such as the combination that takes place when two boards are glued together, where neither confers any thing on the other nor receives any thing from the other. But, rather, here is the highest communion which God assumto homine vere habet, et ex personali unione, et summa ac ineffabili communione, que inde consequitur, totum illud promanat, quicquid humani de Deo, et quicquid divini de homine Christo dicitur et creditur. Et hanc unionem atque communionem naturarum antiquissimi Ecclesiæ Doctores similitudine ferri candentis, itemque unione corporis et animæ in homine, declarant.

VI. Hinc etiam credimus, docemus atque confitemur, quod Deus sit homo, et homo sit Deus, id quod nequaquam ita se haberet, si divina et humana natura prorsus inter se nihil revera et re ipsa communicarent.

Quomodo enim homo, Mariae Filius, Deus aut Filius Dei altissimi vere appellari posset, aut esset, si ipsius humanitas cum Filio Dei non esset personaliter unita, atque ita realiter, hoc est, vere et re ipsa, nihil prorsus, excepto solo nudo nomine, cum ipso commune haberet?

VII. Eum ob causam credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod virgo Maria non nudum aut merum hominem duntaxat, sed verum Dei Filium conceperit et genuerit: unde recte Mater Dei et appellatur et revera est.

truly has with the man assumed, and from the personal union and highest and ineffable communion, which thence follows, flows all of human that is said and believed of God, and all of divine that is said and believed of the man Christ. And this union and communion of the natures the most ancient doctors of the Church have illustrated by the similitude of glowing iron, and also of the union of body and soul in man.

VI. Hence also we believe, teach, and confess that God is man and man is God, which would by no means be the truth if the divine and the human nature had no mutual intercommunication in very deed and truth.

For how could a man, the son of Mary, be truly called God or the Son of God Most High, if his humanity were not personally united with the Son of God, and so had nothing really that is, in very deed and truth, common with him, the bare name alone excepted?

VII. For this reason we believe, teach, and confess that the Virgin Mary did not conceive and bear a mere man and no more, but the true Son of God; whence she is both rightly called and in very deed is the Mother of God.

VIII. Inde porro credimus, docemus et confitemur, quod non nudus homo tantum pro nobis passus, mortuus et sepultus sit, ad inferos descenderit, a mortuis resurrexit, ad caelos ascenderit, et ad majestatem et omnipotentem Dei virtutem erectus fuerit: sed talis homo, cuius humana natura cum Filio Dei tam arctam ineffabilemque unionem et communicationem habet, ut cum eo una sit facta persona.

IX. Quapropter vere Filius Dei pro nobis est passus, sed secundum proprietatem humancæ naturæ, quam in unitatem divinæ suæ personæ assumisit, sibique eam proprium fecit, ut videlicet pati, et, Pontifex noster summus, reconciliationis nostræ cum Deo causa esse posset. Sic enim scriptum est (1 Cor. ii. 8): ‘Dominum glorie cruciferunt.’ Et (Acts xx. 28): ‘Sanguine Dei redempti sumus.’

X. Ex eodem etiam fundamento credimus, docemus, et confitemur, Filium hominis ad dextram omnipotentis majestatis et virtutis Dei realiter, hoc est, vere et re ipsa, secundum humanam suam naturam, esse exaltatum, cum homo ille in Deum assumptus fuerit, quam primum in utero matris a Spiritu Sancto est conceptus, ejusque hu-

VIII. Therefore, furthermore, we believe, teach, and confess that it is not a mere man only that has suffered, died and been buried for us, that has descended into Hell, has risen from the dead, has ascended into heaven, and has been raised to the majesty and omnipotent power of God; but a man, such that his human nature has with the Son of God a union and communication so strict and ineffable that he has become one person with him.

IX. Wherefore the Son of God has truly suffered for us, but according to the attribute of human nature, which he assumed into the unity of his divine person and made it proper to himself, so that he might be able to suffer and to become our great high-priest, the cause of our reconciliation with God. For see it written (1 Cor. ii. 8): ‘They crucified the Lord of glory.’ And (Acts xx. 28): ‘We are redeemed by the blood of God.’

X. On the same ground, also, we believe, teach, and confess that the Son of Man is really, that is, truly and in very deed, according to his human nature, exalted to the right hand of the omnipotent majesty and power of God, since that man was assumed into God when he was conceived by the Holy Ghost in the womb of his mother, and his humanitas jam tum cum Filio Dei altissimi personaliter fuerit unita.

XI. Eamque majestatem, ratione unionis personalis, semper Christus habuit, sed in statu sue humiliationis sese exinanivit, qua de causa revera atate, sapientia, et gratia apud Deum atque homines profecit. Quare majestatem illam non semper, sed quoties ipsi visum fuit, exercuit, donec formam servi, non autem naturam humanam, post resurrectionem plene et prorsus deponeret, et in plenariam usurpationem, manifestationem et declarationem divinæ majestatis collocaretur, et hoc modo in gloriam suam ingredieretur (Phil. ii. 6 sqq.). Itaque jam non tantum ut Deus, verum etiam ut homo, omnia novit, omnia potest, omnibus creaturis præsens est, et omnia, quæ in celis, in terris, et sub terra sunt, sub pedibus suis, et in manu sua habet. Hæc ita se habere, Christus ipse testatur, inquiens (Matt. xxviii. 18; John xiii. 3): ‘Mihi data est omnis potestas in celo et in terra.’ Et Paulus (Eph. iv. 10) ait: ‘Ascendit super omnes celos, ut omnia impleteat. Hanc suam potestatem ubique præsens exercere potest, neque quicquam illi aut impossibile est, aut ignotum.

manity was then personally united with the Son of God Most High.

XI. And that majesty, in virtue of the personal union, Christ has always had, but in the state of his humiliation he divested himself of it, for which cause he truly grew in age, wisdom, and favor with God and men. Wherefore he did not always make use of that majesty, but as often as seemed good to him, until after the resurrection, he fully and forever laid aside the form of a servant, but not the human nature, and was established in the plenary use, manifestation, and revelation of the divine majesty, and in this manner entered into his glory (Phil. ii. 6 sqq.). Therefore now not only as God, but also as man, he knows all things, can do all things, is present to all creatures, has under his feet and in his hand all things which are in heaven, in the earth, and under the earth. That this is so, Christ himself bears witness, saying (Matt. xxviii. 18; John xiii. 3): ‘All power in heaven and in earth is given unto me.’ And Paul saith (Eph. iv. 10): ‘He ascended up far above all heavens, that he might fill all things.’ This his power, being every where present, he can exercise, nor is anything to him either impossible or unknown.

XII. Inde adeo, et quidem facillime, corpus suum verum et sanguinem suum in Sacra Cœna præsens distribuere potest. Id vero non fit secundum modum et proprietatem humanæ naturæ, sed secundum modum et proprietatem dextre Dei, ut Lutherus secundum analogiam fidei nostræ Christianæ, in Catechesi comprehensæ, loqui solet. Et hæc Christi in Sacra Cœna præsentia neque physica aut terrena est, neque Capernaitica: interim tamen verissima et quidem substantialis est. Sic enim verba Testamenti Christi sonant: Hoc est, est, est corpus meum, etc.

Huc nostra fide, doctrina et confessione persona Christi non solvit, quod olim Nestorius fecit. Is enim veram communionem idiomatum seu proprietatum utriusque naturæ in Christo negavit, et hac ratione Christi personam solvit: quam rem D. Lutherus in libello suo de Conciliis perspicue declaravit. Neque hac pia nostra doctrina due in Christo natura, earumque proprietates confunduntur, aut in unam essentiam commiscentur (in quo errore Eutyches fuit), neque humana natura in persona Christi negatur, aut aboletur, neque altera natura in

XII. Hence also, and indeed most easily, can he, being present, impart his true body and his blood in the Holy Supper. Now this is not done according to the mode and attribute of human nature, but according to the mode and attribute of the right hand of God, as Luther, according to the analogy of our Christian faith, as contained in the Catechism, is wont to speak. And this presence of Christ in the Holy Supper is neither physical or earthly, nor Capernaitic; nevertheless it is most true and indeed substantial. For so read the words of the Testament of Christ: ‘This is, is, is my body,’ etc.

By this our faith, doctrine, and confession, the person of Christ is not severed, as of old Nestorius severed it. For he denied a true communication of the idiomata or attributes of both natures in Christ, and in this way separated the person of Christ: which thing Dr. Luther has perspicuously set forth in his book on the Councils. Nor by this godly doctrine of ours are the two natures in Christ and their attributes confounded, or mingled into one essence (as Eutyches erroneously taught), nor is the human nature in the person of Christ denied or abolished, nor the one nature changed into the other; but Christ alteram mutatur: sed Christus verus Deus et homo in una indivisa persona est, permanetque in omnem aeternitatem. Hoc post illud Trinitatis summum est mysterium, ut Apostolus (1 Tim. iii. 16) testatur, in quo solo tota nostra consolatio, vita et salus posita est.

NEGATIVA.

Contraria et falsae doctrinæ de persona Christi rejectio.

Repudiamus igitur atque damnamus omnes erroneos, quos jam recitabimus, articulos, eo quod Verbo Dei et sincere fidei nostræ Christianæ repugnant, cum videlicet sequentes errores docentur:

I. Quod Deus et homo in Christo non constituant unam personam, sed quod alius sit Dei Filius, et alius hominis Filius, ut Nestorius deliravit.

II. Quod divina et humana naturæ in unam essentiam commixtae sint, et humana natura in Deitatem mutata sit, ut Eutyches furenter dixit.

III. Quod Christus non sit verus, naturalis et aeternus Deus, ut Arius blasphemavit.

IV. Quod Christus non veram humanam naturam anima rationali et corpore constantem habuerit, ut Marcion finxit.

is and abides to all eternity true God and man in one undivided person. Next to the mystery of the Trinity this is the chiefest mystery, as the Apostle bears witness (1 Tim. iii. 16); on which alone all our consolation, life, and salvation depend.

NEGATIVE.

Rejection of contrary and false doctrine touching the person of Christ.

We repudiate, therefore, and condemn all the erroneous articles which we will now recount, inasmuch as they are opposed to the Word of God and to our sound Christian faith—the errors following, to wit:

I. That God and man do not constitute one person in Christ, but that the Son of God is one and the Son of Man another, as Nestorius insanely feigned.

II. That the divine and human natures are commingled into one essence, and the human nature is changed into Deity, as Eutyches has madly affirmed.

III. That Christ is not true, natural, and eternal God, as Arius blasphemously declared.

IV. That Christ did not have a true human nature, consisting of a rational soul and of a body, as Marcion feigned.

V. Quod unio personalis faciat tantum communia nomina et communes titulos.

VI. Quod phrasis tantum et modus quidam loquendi sit, cum dicitur: Deus est homo, et homo est Deus; siquidem Divinitas nihil cum humanitate, et humanitas nihil cum Deitate realiter, hoc est, vere et re ipsa, commune habeat.

VII. Quod tantum sit verbalis, sine re ipsa, idiomatum communicatio, cum dicitur: Filium Dei pro peccatis mundi mortuum esse: Filium hominis omnipotentem factum esse.

VIII. Quod humana in Christo natura, eo modo, quo est Divinitas, facta sit essentia quendam infinita, et ex hac essentiali, communicata, in humanam naturam effusa, et a Deo separata virtute et proprietate, eo modo, quo divina natura, ubique praesens sit.

IX. Quod humana natura divine, ratione substantie atque essentiæ sua, vel proprietatum divinarum essentialium, exæqua ta sit.

X. Quod humana natura in Christo in omnia loca cœli et terre localiter expansa sit; quod

V. That the personal union makes only common names and common titles.

VI. That it is only a phrase, and a certain mode of speaking, when it is said: God is man, and man is God; since divinity has nothing really, that is, truly and in deed, common with humanity, and humanity nothing common with Deity.

VII. That it is only a verbal communicatio idiomatum, without any corresponding fact, when it is said: The Son of God has died for the sins of the world; the Son of man has become omnipotent.

VIII. That the human nature in Christ has become a certain infinite essence, in the same way in which the divinity is one, and that from this essential, communicated virtue and property, effused into human nature and separate from God, it is every where present in like mode and manner with the divine nature.

IX. That the human nature has been made equal to the divine, in respect of its substance and essence, or of the essential divine attributes.

X. That the human nature in Christ is locally spread out into all places of heaven and earth; some-ne quidem divine naturæ est tri-buendum.

XI. Quod Christo impossibile sit, propter humanae naturæ proprietatem, ut simul in pluribus, quam in uno loco, nendum ubique, suo cum corpore esse possit.

XII. Quod sola humanitas pro nobis passa sit, nosque redemerit, et quod Filius Dei in passione nullam prorsus cum humanitate (reipsa) communicationem habuerit, perinde ac si id negotium nihil ad ipsum pertinuisse.

XIII. Quod Filius Dei tantummodo Divinitate sua nobis in terris, in verbo, sacramentis, in omnibus denique orumnis nostris, presens sit, et quod haec presentia prorsus ad humanitatem nihil pertineat. Christo enim, postquam nos passione et morte sua redemcrit, secundum humanitatem suam nihil amplius nobiscum in terris esse negotii.

XIV. Quod Filius Dei, qui humanam naturam assumxit, jam post depositam servi formam, non omnia opera omnipotencie sue, in et cum humanitate sua, et per eam, efficiat, sed tantum aliqua, et quidem in eo tantum loco, ubi humana natura est localiter.

XV. Quod secundum humanitatem, omnipotencie aliarumque thing that is not to be attributed even to the divine nature.

XI. That it is impossible for Christ, on account of the propriety of his human nature, to be in more places than one, not to say every where, with his body.

XII. That the humanity alone suffered for us and redeemed us; and that the Son of God in the passion had no communication at all (in very deed) with the humanity, even as if that matter had in nowise appertained to him.

XIII. That the Son of God is present to us on earth in the word, the sacraments, and in all our troubles, only by his divinity, and that this presence appertains nothing at all to the humanity. For that Christ, after he had redeemed us by his passion and death, had no longer, according to his humanity, any concern with us on earth.

XIV. That the Son of God, who assumed human nature, henceforth, after having laid aside the form of a servant, does not accomplish all the works of his omnipotence in and with his humanity, and by means of it, but only some of them, and these only in that place where the human nature locally is.

XV. That, according to the humanity, he is not at all capable of proprietatum divinæ nature prorsus non sit capax. Idque asserere audent contra expressum testimonium Christi (Matt. xxviii. 18): ‘Mihi data est omnis potestas in celo et in terra? Et contradicunt Paulo, qui ait (Col. ii. 9): ‘In ipso inhabitat tota Divinitatis plenitudo corporaliter.’

XVI. Quod Christo secundum humanitatem data quidem sit maxima potestas in celo et in terra, videlicet major et amplior, quam omnes angeli et creaturae acceperint: sed tamen ita, ut cum omnipotentia Dei nullam habeat communicationem, neque omnipotentia illi data sit. Itaque medium quandam potentiam, inter omnipotentium Dei, et inter aliarum creaturarum potentiam, fingunt, datum Christo secundum humanam ejus naturam per exaltationem; que minor quidem sit, quam Dei omnipotentia, major tamen omnium aliarum creaturarum potestate.

XVII. Quod Christo secundum spiritum suum humanum certi limites positi sint, quantum videlicet ipsum scire oporteat, et quod non plus sciat, quam ipsi conveniat, et ad executionem sui officii, Judicis nimirum, necessario requiratur.

XVIII. Quod Christus ne hodie omnipotence and other properties of the divine nature. And this they dare to assert against the express testimony of Christ (Matt. xxviii. 18): ‘All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth.’ And they contradict Paul, who says (Col. ii. 9): ‘In him dwelleth all the fullness of the Godhead bodily.’

XVI. That to Christ, according to the humanity, there is given, indeed, the greatest power in heaven and in earth; that is, a power greater and more ample than all angels and creatures have received, but in such wise, nevertheless, that it has no communication with the omnipotence of God, nor that omnipotence has been given to him. And so they feign a certain middle power between the omnipotence of God and the power of other creatures, given to Christ according to his human nature by exaltation; which is less, indeed, than the omnipotence of God, yet greater than the power of all other creatures.

XVII. That to Christ, according to his human spirit, certain limits are appointed as to how much it behooves him to know, and that he knows no more than is suitable for him, and is necessarily required for the execution of his office, to wit, as Judge.

XVIII. That Christ has not even quidem perfectam habeat cognitionem Dei, et omnium ipsius operum; cum tamen de Christo scriptum sit (Col. ii. 3): 'In ipso omnes thesauros sapientiae et scientiae absconditos esse.'

XIX. Quod Christo secundum humanitatis sue spiritum impossibile sit scire, quid ab eterno fuerit, quid jam nunc ubique fiat, et quid in omnem aeternitatem sit futurum.

XX. Rejicimus etiam damnumusque, quod dictum Christi (Matt. xxviii. 18): 'Mihi data est omnis potestas in caelo et in terra,' horribili et blasphema interpretatione a quibusdam depravatur in hanc sententiam: quod Christo secundum divinam suam naturam in resurrectione et ascensione ad caelos iterum restituta fuerit omnis potestas in caelo et in terra, perinde quasi, dum in statu humiliationis erat, eam potestatem, etiam secundum Divinitatem, deposuisset et exuisset. Hac enim doctrina non modo verba Testamenti Christi falsa explicatione pervertuntur: verum etiam dudum damnatae Arianae haeresi via de novo sternitur, ut tandem aeterna Christi Divinitas negetur, et Christus totus, quantus est, una cum salute nostra amittatur, nisi huic impiæ now a perfect knowledge of God and of all his works. Whereas it is written of Christ (Col. ii. 3): 'In him are hid all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge.'

XIX. That to Christ, according to his human spirit, it is impossible to know what has been from all eternity, what now takes place every where, and what will be to all eternity.

XX. We also reject and condemn the way in which the saying of Christ (Matt. xxviii. 18), 'All power is given unto me in heaven and in earth,' is by some, through a horrible and blasphemous interpretation, corruptly wrested to this effect: That to Christ, according to his divine nature, there was restored again at the resurrection and ascension all power in heaven and on earth; as if, forsooth, while he was in the state of humiliation he had laid aside and put off that power even according to the divine nature. For by this doctrine not only are the words of the Testament of Christ perverted by a false interpretation, but also a way is prepared anew for the long-since condemned Arian heresy; so that at length the eternal divinity of Christ will be denied, and all there is of Christ, together with our sal-doctrinæ ex solidis Verbi Dei et fidei nostre Catholice fundamentis constanter contradicatur.

ART. IX.

DE DESCENSU CHRISTI AD INFEROS.

STATUS CONTROVERSLÆ.

Disceptatum fuit super hoc articulo inter quosdam theologos, qui Augustanam Confessionem profitentur: quando et quomodo Dominus noster Jesus Christus, ut testatur fides nostra Catholica, ad inferos descenderit, an id ante, vel post mortem ejus factum sit. Præterea quæsumum fuit, num anima tantum, an divinitate sola, an vero anima et corpore descenderit, idque an spiritualiter, an vero corporaliter sit factum. Disputatum etiam est, num hic articulus ad passionem, an verum ad gloriosam victoriam et triumphum Christi sit referendus.

Cum autem hic fidei nostræ articulus, sicut et precedens, neque sensibus neque ratione nostra comprehendi queat, sola autem fide acceptandus sit: unanimi consensu consulimus, de hac re non esse disputandum, sed quam simplicissime hunc articulum credendum et docendum esse. Atque vation, will be lost, unless this ungodly doctrine be steadfastly contradicted according to the solid grounds of the Word of God and of our Catholic faith.

ART. IX.

OF THE DESCENT OF CHRIST INTO HELL.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY.

There has been a dispute touching this article among certain divines who profess the Augsburg Confession: when and how our Lord Jesus Christ, as our Catholic faith attests, descended into hell? whether this came to pass before or after his death? Moreover, it has been asked whether he descended in soul only or in divinity only, or indeed in soul and body, and whether this came to pass spiritually or corporally? It has also been disputed whether this article is to be referred to the passion, or to the glorious victory and triumph of Christ.

Now, inasmuch as this article of our faith, as also the foregoing, can be comprehended neither by our senses nor by our reason, but is to be received by faith alone, we have by unanimous consent agreed that this matter should not be disputed about, but should be believed and taught as simply as possible. And in hoc negotio sequamur piam D. Lutheri doctrinam, qui hunc articulum in concione, Torgæ habita (Anno, etc. XXXIII.), pie almodum explicuit, omnes inutiles et curiosas questiones præcidit, atque ad piam fiduci simplicitatem omnes Christianos adhortatus est.

Satis enim nobis esse debet, si sciamus, Christum ad inferos descendisse, infernum omnibus credentibus destruxisse, nosque per ipsum e potestate mortis et Satanae, ab aeterna damnatione, atque adeo e faucibus inferni eruptos. Quo autem modo haec effecta fuerint, non curiose scrutemur, sed hujus rei cognitionem alteri seculo reservemus, ubi non modo hoc mysterium, sed alia multa, in hac vita simpliciter a nobis credita, revelabuntur, que captum cæcæ nostra rationis excedunt.

ART. X.

DE CEREMONIIS ECCLESIASTICIS,

Quæ vulgo Adiaphora seu res medie et indifferentes vocantur.

Orta est etiam inter theologos Augustane Confessionis controversia de ceremoniis seu ritibus Ecclesiasticis, qui in Verbo Dei neque præcepti sunt, neque in this respect let us follow the godly teaching of Dr. Luther, who, in his discourse held at Torgau in the year 1533, unfolded this article in a most godly wise, cutting short all curious questions, and exhorting all Christians to the pious simplicity of faith.

For it ought to be enough for us to know that Christ descended into hell, that he destroyed hell for all believers, and that we through him have been snatched from the power of death and Satan, from eternal damnation, and even from the jaws of hell. But in what way these things have been brought to pass let us not curiously inquire, but let us reserve the knowledge of this thing to another world, where not only this mystery, but many other things also which in this life have been simply believed by us, shall be revealed, things which exceed the reach of our blind reason.

ART. X.

OF ECCLESIASTICAL CEREMONIES,

Which are commonly called Adiaphora, or things indifferent.

There has also arisen among the divines of the Augsburg Confession a controversy touching ecclesiastical ceremonies or rites, which are neither enjoined nor forbidden in the prohibiti, sed ordinis tantum et decori gratia in Ecclesiam sunt introducti.

STATUS CONTROVERSIE.

STATEMENT OF THE CONTROVERSY.

It has been asked whether in time of persecution and a case of confession (even though our adversaries will not agree with us in doctrine), nevertheless with a safe conscience, certain ceremonies already abrogated, which are of themselves indifferent, and neither commanded nor forbidden by God, may, on the urgent demand of our adversaries, again be re-established in use, and whether we can in this way rightly conform with the Papists in ceremonies and adiaphora of this sort. The one part has affirmed that this might be done, the other has denied it.

AFFIRMATIVE.

Sound doctrine and confession touching this Article.

I. For the better taking away of this controversy we believe, teach, and confess, with unanimous consent, that ceremonies or ecclesiastical rites (such as in the Word of God are neither commanded nor forbidden, but have only been instituted for the sake of order and seemliness) are of themselves neither divine worship, nor even any part of divine worship. For it is written colunt me, docentes doctrinas, mandata hominum.'

II. *Credimus, docemus, et con-fitemur, Ecclesiae Dei, ubi-tarum, et quocunque tempore, licere, pro re nata, ceremonias tales

Ecclesie Dei utilissima, et ad adificationem ejusdem maxime accommodata judicatur.*

III. Ea tamen in re omnem levitatem fugiendam et offendicula cavenda, in primis vero infirmo-rum in fide rationem habendam, et iis parcendum esse censemus.

IV. *Credimus, docemus, et con-fitemur, quod temporibus persecutionum, quando perspicua et constans confessio a nobis exigi-tur, hostibus Evangelii in rebus adiaphoris non sit cedendum.
Sic enim Apostolus inquit (Gal.
v. 1): 'Qua libertate Christus nos liberavit, in ea state, et nolite ite-rum jugo servitutis subjici.' Et alibi (2 Cor. vi. 14): 'Nolite jugum ducere cum infidelibus,' etc.
'Que enim est societas luci ad tenebras?' etc. Item (Gal. ii. 5):
'Quibus neque ad horam cessi-mus subjectione, ut veritas Evangelii permaneret apud vos. In* (Matt. xv. 9): 'In vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men.'

II. We believe, teach, and confess that it is permitted to the Church of God any where on earth, and at whatever time, agreeably to occasion, to change such ceremonies, in such manner as is judged most useful to the Church of God and most suited to her edification.

III. We judge, nevertheless, that in this matter all levity should be avoided and matters of offense be guarded against, and that especially account should be taken of the weak in the faith, and forbearance shown towards them (1 Cor. viii. 9; Rom.
xiv. 13).

IV. We believe, teach, and confess that in times of persecution, when a clear and steadfast confession is required of us, we ought not to yield to the enemies of the Gospel in things indifferent. For thus speaks the Apostle (Gal. v. 1): 'Stand fast, therefore, in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage.' And elsewhere
(2 Cor. vi. 14): 'Be not unequally yoked together with unbelievers,' etc. 'For what concord hath light with darkness?' Also (Gal. ii. 5):
'To whom we gave place by subjection, no, not for an hour; that *tali enim rerum statu non agitur de veritate Evangelii, et de li-bertate Christiana sarta tectaque tria confirmetur, et infirmi in fide offendantur. In hujusmodi rebus nostrum certe non est, aliquid adversariis largiri: sed officium nostrum requirit, ut piam et ingenuam confessionem edamus, et ea patienter feramus, que Dominus nobis ferenda im-posuerit, et hostibus Verbi Dei

*V. Credimus, docemus, et con-fitemur, quod Ecclesia alia aliam damnare non debeat, propterea, quod haec vel illa plus minusve

Dominus non instituit, observet;
si modo in doctrina ejusque articulis omnibus, et in vero Sacramentorum usu sit inter eas consensus. Hoc enim vetus et verum dictum est: Dissonantia jejunii non dissolvit consonantium fidei.*

False doctrine de hoc Articulo rejectio.

Repudiamus atque damnamus haec falsa et Verbo Dei contraria dogmata:

the truth of the Gospel might remain with you.' For in such a state of things it is no longer a question of adiaphora, but of the restoration and maintenance of the truth of the Gospel and of Christian liberty, and of how care may be taken lest idolatry be manifestly strengthened and the weak in the faith be caused to stumble. In matters of this sort it is certainly not our part to concede any thing to our adversaries, but our duty requires that we should show forth a godly and frank confession, and patiently bear those things which the Lord may have laid upon us to bear, and may have suffered our enemies to do against us.

V. We believe, teach, and confess that one Church ought not to condemn another because it observes more or less of external ceremonies, which the Lord has not instituted, provided only there be consent between them in doctrine and all the articles thereof, and in the true use of the sacraments. For so runneth the old and true saying: 'Dissimilarity of fasting does not destroy similarity of faith.'

NEGATIVE.

Rejection of false doctrine touching this Article.

We repudiate and condemn the following false dogmas as repugnant to the Word of God:

I. Quod humanæ traditiones et constitutiones, in Ecclesiasticis rebus, per se, pro cultu Dei, aut certe pro parte divini cultus sint habendæ.

II. Quando ejusmodi ceremoniæ et constitutiones Ecclesie Dei coactione quadam tanquam necessarie obtruduntur, et quidem contra libertatem Christianam, quam Ecclesia Christi in rebus ejusmodi externis habet.

III. Cum asseritur, quod tempore persecutionis, quando clara confessio requiritur, hostibus Evangelii in observatione ejusmodi rerum adiaphorarum gratificari, et cum ipsis pacisci et consentire liceat: que res cum detimento veritatis caelstis conjuncta est.

IV. Cum externe ceremoniæ, que indifferentes sunt, ea opinione abrogantur, quasi Ecclesia Dei liberum non sit, pro re nata, ut judicaverit ad edificationem utile esse, hanc vel illam ceremoniam, ratione libertatis Christianæ, usurpare.

I. That human traditions and constitutions in things ecclesiastical are of themselves to be accounted as divine worship, or at least as a part of divine worship.

II. When ceremonies and constitutions of this kind are by a sort of coercion obtruded upon the Church as necessary, and that contrary to the Christian liberty which the Church of Christ has in external matters of this sort.

III. When it is asserted that in time of persecution, when a clear confession is required, it is permitted to gratify the enemies of the Gospel in the observation of adiaphora of this sort, and to covenant and agree with them, which thing is attended with detriment of the heavenly truth.

IV. When external ceremonies, which are indifferent, are abrogated under the opinion that it is not free to the Church of God, as occasion demands, to use this or that ceremony by the privilege of its Christian liberty as it shall judge to be useful to edification.

DE AETERNA PRÆDESTINATIONE ET ELECTIONE DEI.

De hoc articulo non quidem publice mota est controversia inter Augustanae Confessionis Theologos: sed tamen cum hic articulus magnam piiis mentibus consolationem adferat, si recte et dextre explicetur, visum est eundem in hoc scripto declarare, ne forte temporis progressu disputationes aliquae cum offendiculo conjuncte de hac re exoriantur.

ART. XI.

OF THE ETERNAL PREDESTINATION AND ELECTION OF GOD.

Touching this article there has not, indeed, arisen any public controversy among the divines of the Augsburg Confession; but nevertheless, inasmuch as this article brings great consolation to pious minds, if it be rightly and skillfully expounded, it has seemed good to set forth the same in this writing, lest perchance, in process of time, certain disputationes leading to offense should arise thereupon.

AFFIRMATIVE.

Sound doctrine touching this Article.

I. First of all, it ought to be most accurately observed that there is a distinction between the foreknowledge and the predestination or eternal election of God.

II. For the foreknowledge of God is nothing else than this, that God knows all things before they come to pass, as it is written (Dan. ii. 28): ‘There is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and maketh known to the king Nebuchadnezzar what shall be in the latter days.’

III. This foreknowledge of God extends both to good and evil men; but nevertheless it is not the cause of evil, nor is it the cause of sin, ad scelus impellat. Peccatum enim ex diabolo, et ex hominis prava et mala voluntate oritur. Neque hac Dei præscientia causa est, quod homines pereant; hoc enim sibi ipsis imputare debent: sed præscientia Dei disponit [ordinet] malum, et metas illi constituit, quo usque progredi et quam diu durare debeat, idque eo dirigit, ut, licet per se malum sit, nihilominus electis Dei ad salutem cedat.

IV. Prædestinatione vero, seu æterna Dei electio, tantum ad bonos et dilectos filios Dei pertinet; et hec est causa ipsorum salutis. Etenim eorum salutem procurat, et ea, que ad ipsam pertinent, disponit. Super hanc Dei prædestinationem salus nostra ita fundata est, ut inferorum portae eam evertere nequeant (John x. 28; Matt. xvi. 18).

V. Hæc Dei prædestinatione non in arcane Dei consilio est scrutanda, sed in Verbo Dei, in quo revelatur querenda est.

VI. Verbum autem Dei deducit nos ad Christum, is est liber ille vita, in quo omnes inscripti et electi sunt, qui salutem aeternam consequuntur. Sic enim scriptum est (Eph. i. 4): 'Elegit nos in Christo, ante mundi constitutionem.'

impelling man to crime. For sin arises from the devil, and from the depraved and evil will of man. Nor is this foreknowledge of God the cause why men perish, for this they ought to impute to themselves. But the foreknowledge of God disposes evil and sets bounds to it, how far it may proceed and how long endure, and directs it in such wise that, though it be of itself evil, it nevertheless turns to the salvation of the elect of God.

IV. But the predestination or eternal election of God extends only to the good and beloved children of God, and this is the cause of their salvation. For it procures their salvation, and appoints those things which pertain to it. Upon this predestination of God our salvation is so founded that the gates of hell can not prevail against it (John x. 28; Matt. xvi. 18).

V. This predestination of God is not to be searched out in the hidden counsel of God, but is to be sought in the Word of God, in which it is revealed.

VI. But the Word of God leads us to Christ, he is that book of life in which all are inscribed and elected who attain eternal salvation. For thus it is written (Eph. i. 4): 'He hath chosen us in Christ before the foundation of the world.'

VII. Christus vero omnes peccatores ad se vocat, et promittit illis levitationem, et serio vult [ist ihm Ernst], ut omnes homines ad se veniant, et sibi consuli et subveniri sinant. His sese Redemptorem in verbo offert, et vult, ut verbum audiatur, et ut aures non obdurentur, nec verbum negligatur et contemnatur. Et promittit se largiturum virtutem et operationem Spiritus Sancti et auxilium divinum, ut in fide constantes permaneamus, et vitam aeternam consequamur.

VIII. De nostra igitur electione ad vitam aeternam neque ex rationis nostre judicio, neque ex lege Dei judicandum est, ne vel dissolute et Epicuree vite nos tradamus, vel in desperationem incidamus. Qui enim rationis sui iudicium in hoc negotio sequuntur, in horum cordibus haec perniciose cogitationes (quibus agerrime resistere possunt) excitantur: Si (inquiunt) Deus me ad aeternam salutem elegit, non potero damnari, quicquid etiam designavero. Contra vero, si non sum electus ad vitam aeternam, nihil plane mihi profuerit, quantumcunque boni fecero, omnes enim conatus mei irriti erunt [es ist doch alles umsonst].

VII. But Christ calls all sinners to him, and promises to give them rest. And he earnestly wishes that all men may come to him, and suffer themselves to be cared for and succored. To these he offers himself in the Word as a Redeemer, and wishes that the Word may be heard, and that their ears may not be hardened, nor the Word be neglected and contemned. And he promises that he will bestow the virtue and operation of the Holy Spirit and divine aid, to the end that we may abide steadfast in the faith and attain eternal life.

VIII. Therefore we are to judge neither by the judgment of our own reason nor by the law of God, concerning our election to eternal life, lest we either give ourselves over to a dissolute and Epicurean life or fall into desperation. For they who follow the judgment of their own reason in this matter, in their hearts arise these mischievous thoughts, which it is hard indeed for them to resist: If (say they) God has elected me to eternal salvation, I can not be damned, let me do what evil I will. But, on the other hand, if I am not elected to eternal life, all the good that I may do will advantage me nothing at all, for all my endeavors will be in vain.

IX. Vera igitur sententia de praedestinatione ex Evangelio Christi discenda est. In eo enim perspicue docetur, quod Deus omnes sub incredulitatem concluserit, ut omnium misereatur, et quod nolit quenquam perire, sed potius ut omnes convertantur, et in Christum credant (Rom. xi. 32; Ezek. xviii. 23; xxxiii. 11; 2 Pet. iii. 9; 1 John ii. 2).

X. Qui igitur voluntatem Dei revelatam inquirunt, eoque ordine progrediuntur, quem D. Paulus in Epistola ad Romanos secutus est (qui hominem prius deducit ad penitentiam, ad agnitionem peccatorum, ad fidem in Christum, ad obedientiam mandatorum Dei, quam de aeternae praedestinationis mysterio loquatur), iis doctrina de praedestinatione Dei salutaris est, et maximam consolationem affert.

XI. Quod vero scriptum est (Matt. xxii. 14), ‘Multos quidem vocatos, paucos vero electos esse;’ non ita accipiendo est, quasi Deus nolit, ut omnes salventur; sed damnationis impiorum causa est, quod Verbum Dei aut prorsus non audiant, sed contumaciter contemnant, aures obdurent, et cor indurent, et hoc modo Spiritui Sancto viam ordinariam

IX. The true opinion, therefore, concerning predestination is to be learned from the Gospel of Christ. For in it is clearly taught that ‘God hath concluded all under unbelief, that he might have mercy upon all;’ and that ‘he is not willing that any should perish, but rather that all should be converted and believe in Christ’ (Rom. xi. 32; Ezek. xviii. 23; xxxiii. 11; 2 Pet. iii. 9; 1 John ii. 2).

X. Whoever, therefore, inquire into the revealed will of God, and proceed in that order which St. Paul has followed in the Epistle to the Romans (who first leads man to repentance, to the acknowledgment of his sins, to obedience to the commandments of God, before he speaks of the mystery of eternal predestination), to them the doctrine of the predestination of God is salutary, and affords very great consolation.

XI. But as to the declaration (Matt. xxii. 14), ‘Many are called, but few are chosen,’ it is not to be so understood as if God were unwilling that all should be saved, but the cause of the damnation of the ungodly is that they either do not hear the Word of God at all, but contumaciously condemn it, stop their ears, and harden their hearts, and in this way foreclose to the præcludant, ut opus suum in eis efficere nequeat, aut certe quod verbum auditum flocci pendant [in Wind schlagen], atque abjiciant. Quod igitur pereunt, neque Deus, neque ipsius electio, sed malitia eorum in culpa est (2 Pet. ii. 1 sqq.; Luke ii. 49, 52; Heb. xii. 25 sqq.).

XII. Huc usque homo pius in meditatione articuli de aeterna Dei electione tuto progredi potest, quatenus videlicet ea in Verbo Dei est revelata. Verbum Dei enim nobis Christum, librum vite, proponit: is nobis per Evangelii predicationem aperitur et evolvitur, sicut scriptum est (Rom. viii. 30): 'Quos elegit, hos vocavit? In Christo igitur electio aeterna Dei Patris est querenda. Is in aeterno suo consilio decrevit, quod preter eos, qui Filium ejus Iesum Christum agnoscunt et in eum vere credunt, neminem salvum facere velit. Reliquæ cogitationes ex animis piorum penitus extingueuntur, qui non a Deo, sed ex affectu Satanae proficiscuntur, qui bus humani generis hostis hoc agit, ut dulcissimam illam consolationem vel enervet, vel penitus e medio tollat, quam ex saluberrima hac doctrina haurire possumus, qua videlicet certi

Spirit of God his ordinary way, so that he can not accomplish his work in them, or at least when they have heard the Word, make it of no account, and cast it away. Neither God nor his election, but their own wickedness, is to blame if they perish (2 Pet. ii. 1 sqq.; Luke ii. 49, 52; Heb. xii. 25 sqq.).

XII. So far, therefore, may a godly man proceed with safety in meditation upon the article of the eternal election of God, even as far, that is, as it is revealed in the Word of God. For the Word of God proposes to us Christ, the Book of Life which through the preaching of the Gospel is opened and spread out before us, as it is written (Rom. viii. 30): 'Whom he did predestinate, them he also called.' In Christ, therefore, is the eternal election of God the Father to be sought. He in his eternal counsel has decreed that besides those who acknowledge his Son Jesus Christ, and truly believe on him, he will save no one. Other surmisings should be wholly dismissed from the minds of the godly, because they are not of God, but of the inspiration of Satan, whereby the enemy of mankind is endeavoring either to weaken or wholly to take away that most sweet consolation which we may draw from this most wholesome doctrine:

reddimur, quod mera gratia, sine ullo nostro merito, in Christo ad vitum aeternam electi simus, et quod nemo ex ipsis manibus rapere nos possit. Et hanc clementissimam electionem non nudis verbis, sed interposito jure-jurando Dominus contestando confirmavit, et venerabilibus Sacramentis nobis obsignavit, quorum in summis temptationibus meminisse, et ex iis consolacionem petere debemus, ut ignita Diaboli tela extinguamus.

XIII. Interim tamen summo studio in eo elaboremus, ut ad normam voluntatis divinae vitam nostram instituamus, et vocacionem nostram [ut D. Petrus (2 Pet. i. 20) loquitur] firmam faciamus, neque a Dei revelato verbo latum unguem recedamus; illud enim nunquam nos fallet.

XIV. Hac brevi explicatione aeternae electionis divinae honos suus Deo plene et in solidum tribuitur: quod videlicet, secundum voluntatis sue propositum, mera misericordia, sine ullo nostro merito salvos nos faciat. Neque tamen hac doctrina, vel gravioribus illis animi perturbationibus, et pusillanimitati, vel Epicurismo [zur Kleinmuthigkeit oder rohem, wildem Leben] unsa praebetur.

inasmuch as by it we are rendered certain that by mere grace, without any merit of our own, we are chosen in Christ to eternal life, and that no one can pluck us out of his hands. And this most merciful election the Lord hath attested and confirmed, not by mere words, but by the mediation of an oath, and hath sealed to us by the holy sacraments, which we ought to call to mind in our deepest temptations, and seek consolation from them, that we may quench all the fiery darts of the Devil.

XIII. Yet none the less ought we to take the utmost pains to fashion our life agreeably to the norm of the divine will, and to make our calling and election sure, as St. Peter says (2 Pet. i. 10), nor to recede a hair-breadth from the revealed Word of God; for that will never fail us.

XIV. This brief explication of the eternal election of God, attributes fully and completely to God his own proper honor, showing that he saves us according to the purpose of his own will, of mere compassion, without any merit of our own. While by this doctrine no handle is given to vehement disturbances of mind and faint-heartedness, nor to Epicureanism.

NEGATIVA.

Falsæ doctrine de hoc Articulo rejectio.

Credimus igitur et sentimus, quando doctrina de electione Dei ad vitam aeternam eo modo proponitur, ut perturbat̄ pie mentes ex ea consolationem nullam capere queant, sed potius per eam in animi angustias [Kleinmüthigkeit] aut desperationem conjiciantur, aut impenitentes in dissoluta sua vita confirmantur, quod articulus hic non ad normam verbi et voluntatis Dei, sed juxta humanae rationis judicium, et quidem impulsu Satanae, male et perpetram tractetur. ‘Quaecunque enim scripta sunt’ [inquit (Rom. xv. 4) apostolus] ‘ad nostram doctrinam scripta sunt, ut per patientiam et consolationem Scripturarum spem habeamus.’ Rejicimus itaque omnes, quos jam enumerabimus, errores.

II. Quando Deus nos ad se vocat, quod non serio hoc velit, ut omnes homines ad ipsum veniant.

NEGATIVE.

Rejection of false doctrine touching this Article.

We believe, therefore, and judge that when the doctrine of God's election of men to eternal life is so propounded that godly minds can derive no consolation from it under anxiety, but are by it the rather thrown into distress of mind or desperation, or the impenitent are confirmed in their dissolute life, that this article is not then handled agreeably to the rule of the word and will of God, but according to the judgment of human reason, and that badly and falsely by the instigation of Satan. ‘For whatsoever things were written aforetime’ [says the apostle (Romans xv. 4)] ‘were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the Scriptures might have hope.’ We therefore reject all the errors which we will now enumerate:

I. That God is unwilling that all men should repent and believe the Gospel.

II. That when God calls us to him, he does not earnestly wish that all men should come to him.

III. That God is not willing that all men should be saved, but that some men are destined to destruction, not on account of their sins, but by the mere counsel, purpose, destinati sint, ut prorsus salutem consequi non possint.

IV. Quod non sola Dei misericordia et sanctissimum Christi meritum, sed etiam in nobis ipsis aliqua causa sit electionis divinæ, cuius cause ratione Deus nos ad vitam aeternam elegerit.

Hæc dogmata omnia falsa sunt, horrenda et blasphemæ, iisque piis mentibus omnis prorsus consolatio eripitur, quam ex Evangelio et sacramentorum usu capere deberent, et idcirco in Ecclesia Dei nequaquam sunt ferenda.

Hec brevis est et simplicissima articulorum controversorum explicatio, de quibus inter theologos Augustanae Confessionis aliquando disceptatum et discrepantibus inter se sententiis disputatum est. Et ex hac declaracione homo pius, quantumvis simplex, secundum analogiam Verbi Dei et Catechismi simplicem doctrinam apprehendere potest, quid verum sit, quid falsum. Non enim tantummodo sincera doctrina diserte est recitata, verum etiam contraria et falsa doctrina repudiata est et rejecta, et controversie illæ, offendiculorum plenæ, solide sunt decisæ atque dijudicatur [und also die eingefallene ürgerlichen Spaltungen gründlich entschieden seind].

and will of God, so that they can not in any wise attain to salvation.

IV. That the mercy of God and the most holy merit of Christ is not the sole cause of the divine election, but that there is also some cause in us, on account of which cause God has chosen us to eternal life.

All these dogmas are false, horrid, and blasphemous, and by them all consolation is utterly taken away from godly minds, such as they ought to receive from the Gospel and the use of the sacraments, and therefore they are by no means to be borne with in the Church of God.

This is a brief and most simple explication of the controverted articles, touching which there has been, for some time, discussion among the divines of the Augsburg Confession, and touching which they have disputed among themselves with varying opinions. And from this statement and exposition a man, however unlearned, is able, according to the analogy of the Word of God, and according to the simple doctrine of the Catechism, to discover what is true and what is false. For not only has the genuine doctrine been distinctly set forth, but also the contrary and false doctrine has been repudiated and rejected, and controversies full of occasions of offense have been solidly decided and settled.

Faxit Deus omnipotens, Pater Domini nostri Jesu Christi, ut per gratiam Spiritus Sancti omnes in ipso consentientes et concordes simus, atque in consensu pio, qui ipsi probetur, constanter perseveremus. Amen.

DE ALIIS HERESIBUS ET SECTIS

[Von anderen Rotten und Secten], quæ nunquam Augustanam Confessionem sunt amplexæ.

Ne tacita cogitatione hereses illæ et sectæ nobis tribuantur, propterea, quod earum in commemorata declaratione expressam mentionem non fecimus: visum est, articulos earum ad calcem (ut dicitur) hujus scripti nude recitare, in quibus nostri temporis heretici a veritate dissentiant, et sincere nostræ religioni et confessioni contrarium docent.

ERRORES ANABAPTISTARUM.

Anabaptisticæ in multis sectas [viel Haufen] sunt divisi, quarum aliae plures, aliae pauciores errores defendunt: generatim [ingemein] tamen omnes talém doctrinam profitentur, que neque in Ecclesia, neque in politia [noch in der Polizei und weltlichem Regiment], neque in economia [Haushaltung] tolerari potest.

May Almighty God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, grant that by the grace of the Holy Spirit we may all be harmonious and of one accord in him, and may steadfastly persevere in a godly agreement, which may be approved by him. Amen.

ART. XII.

OF OTHER HERESIES AND SECTS, which have never embraced the Augsburg Confession.

Lest such heresies and sects should tacitly be attributed to us, for the reason that we have not made express mention of them in the statement given above, it has seemed good simply to recite this document at the end of their articles of belief, wherein the heresies of our time dissent from the truth, and teach contrary to our sound confession and doctrine.

ERRORS OF THE ANABAPTISTS.

The Anabaptists are divided into many sects, of which some maintain more, some fewer errors. Nevertheless, in a general way, they all profess such a doctrine as can be tolerated neither in the Church, nor by the police and in the commonwealth, nor in daily [domestic and social] life.

Articuli Anabaptistici, qui in Ecclesia ferri non possunt. Anabaptist Articles which can not be endured in the Church.

I. Quod Christus carnem et sanguinem suum, non e Maria virgine assumserit, sed e cœlo attulerit.

II. Quod Christus non sit verus Deus, sed tantummodo caeteris sanctis sit superior, quia plura Spiritus Sancti dona accepert, quam alius quispiam homo sanctus.

III. Quod justitia nostra coram Deo, non in solo Christi merito, sed in renovatione atque adeo in nostra propria probitate, in qua ambulemus, consistat. Ea vero Anabaptistarum justitia magna ex parte electitia et humanitus excogitata quadam sanctimonia constat, et revera nil aliud est, quam norus quidam monachatus.

IV. Quod infantes non baptizati coram Deo non sint peccatores, sed justi et innocentes, et in illa sua innocentia, cum usum rationis nondum habeant, sine baptismo (quo videlicet, ipsorum opinione, non egeant) salutem consequantur. Et hoc modo rejiciunt totam de peccato originali doctrinam, reliqua etiam, quæ ex ea dependent.

V. Quod infantes baptizandi non sint, donec usum rationis

I. First, that Christ did not assume his flesh and blood of the Virgin Mary, but brought them from heaven.

II. That Christ is not true God, but is merely superior to other saints, because he has received more gifts of the Holy Spirit than any other holy man whatsoever.

III. That our righteousness before God does not consist in the merit of Christ alone, but in our renewal, and thus in our own uprightness in which we walk. Now this righteousness of the Anabaptists consists in great part in a certain arbitrary and humanly devised sanctimony, and in truth is nothing else than some new sort of monastery.

IV. That infants not baptized are not sinners before God, but just and innocent, and in this their innocence, when they have not as yet the use of reason, may, without baptism (of which, to wit, in the opinion of the Anabaptists, they have no need), attain unto salvation. And in this way they reject the whole doctrine of original sin, and all the consequences that follow therefrom.

V. That infants ought not to be baptized until they attain the use consequantur, et fidem suam ipsi profiteri possint.

VI. Quod Christianorum liberi eam ob causam, quia parentibus Christianis et fidelibus orti sunt (etiam prater et ante susceptum baptismum), revera sancti, et in filiorum Dei numero sint habendi. Qua de causa etiam neque Pædobaptismum magnificunt, neque id operam dant, ut infantes baptizentur, quod cum expressis verbis promissionis divine (Gen. xvii. 7 sqq.) pugnat: ea enim tantum ad eos pertinet, qui fœdus Dei observant, illudque non contemnunt.

VII. Quod ea non sit vera et Christiana Ecclesia, in qua aliqui adhuc peccatores reperiuntur.

VIII. Quod conciones non sint audiendae ulle in iis templis, in quibus aliquando Missæ Pontificie sunt celebratae.

IX. Quod homo pius nihil prorsus commercii habere debeat cum Ecclesiis ministris, qui Evangelion Christi juxta Augustana Confessionis sententiam docent, et Anabaptistarum conciones ac errores reprehendunt, et quod ejusmodi Ecclesiis ministris neque servire, neque operam locare liceat, sed quod iidem ut perversores of reason, and are able themselves to profess their faith.

VI. That the children of Christians, on the ground that they are sprung of Christian and believing parents (even apart from and before the receiving of baptism), are in very deed holy, and to be accounted as belonging to the children of God, for which reason they neither make much account of the baptism of children, nor take care to have their children baptized, which conflicts with the express words of the divine promise (Gen. xvii. 7 sqq.): for this only holds good to those who observe the covenant of God, and do not contemn it.

VII. That that is not a true Christian Church in which any sinners are yet found.

VIII. That we ought not to listen to any sermons in those churches in which the Papist masses have ever been celebrated.

IX. That a godly man ought to have no dealings at all with the ministers of the Church who teach the Gospel of Christ according to the tenor of the Augsburg Confession, and rebuke the preachings and errors of the Anabaptists; and that it is not lawful either to serve or to do any work for such ministers of the Church, but that they are to be

III. That a Christian man can not with a safe conscience administer and execute the office of a magistrate, if matters so require, against the wicked, nor subjects implore for their defense that power which the magistrate has received of God.

IV. That a Christian man can not with a safe conscience take an oath, nor swear obedience and fidelity to his prince or magistrate.

II. That a Christian man can not with a safe conscience either keep an inn, or carry on trade, or forge weapons.

III. That it is permitted married people who think differently in religion to divorce themselves, and to contract matrimony with some other persons who agree with them in religion.

ERRORES SCHWENCOFELDIANORUM.

I. Quod omnes illi, qui Christum, secundum carnem, creaturam esse dicunt, non hubeant veram regnantis celestis Regis agnitionem.

II. Quod caro Christi per exaltationem eo modo omnes proprietates divinas acceperet, ut Christus, quatenus homo est, potentia, virtute, majestate, gloria, Patri et τῷ Λόγῳ, per omnia, in gradu et statu essentiae, omnino equalis sit, ita, ut jam utriusque in Christo naturæ una sit essentia, eadem proprietates, eadem voluntas eademque gloria; et quod caro Christi ad Sacrosanctæ Trinitatis essentiam pertineat.

ERRORS OF THE SCHWENKFELDIANS.

I. That all those who affirm Christ, according to the flesh, to be a creature, have no true knowledge of the heavenly king and his reign.

II. That the flesh of Christ through its exaltation has in such wise received all the divine attributes, that Christ, as he is man, is altogether like to the Father and to the Word [Logos] in power, might, majesty, in all things, in grade and state of essence, so that henceforth there is one essence of both natures in Christ, and the same attributes, the same will, and the same glory; and that the flesh of Christ pertains to the essence of the Blessed Trinity.

III. Quod ministerium verbi, predictum et auditu perceptum verbum, non sit instrumentum illud, per quod Deus Spiritus Sanctus homines doceat, salutaremque Christi agnitionem largiatur, et conversionem, veram penitentiam, fidem et novam obedientiam in ipsis efficiat.

IV. Quod aqua Baptismi non sit medium, per quod Dominus adoptionem in filiis Dei obsignet, et regenerationem efficiat.

V. Quod panis et vinum in Sacra Cœna non sint organa, per quæ et cum quibus Christus corpus et sanguinem suum distribuat.

VI. Quod homo pius, vere per Spiritum Dei regeneratus, legem Dei in hac vita perfecte servare et implere valeat.

VII. Quod non sit vera Ecclesia Christi, in qua non vigeat publica excommunicatio, et solennis aliquis excommunicationis modus, seu, ut vulgo dicitur, processus ordinarius.

VIII. Quod is Ecclesiae minister alios homines cum fructu docere, aut vera Sacraenta dispensare non possit, qui ipse non sit vere renovatus, renatus et vere justus.

ERROR NOVORUM ARIANORUM.

Quod Christus non sit verus, substantialis, naturalis Deus

III. That the ministry of the Word, the Word preached and heard, is not that instrument whereby God the Holy Ghost teaches men, and bestows the salutary knowledge of Christ, and effects conversion, true repentance, faith, and new obedience in them.

IV. That the water of baptism is not a means whereby the Lord seals adoption in the children of God and effects regeneration.

V. That the bread and wine in the Holy Supper are not organs by which and with which Christ dispenses his body and blood.

VI. That a godly man, truly regenerated by the Spirit of God, has power perfectly to keep and fulfill the law of God in this life.

VII. That that is no true Church of Christ in which there is not in full force public excommunication, and some formal mode, or, as is commonly said, ordinary process of excommunication.

VIII. That a minister of the Church who is not truly renewed, regenerate, and truly righteous, can not fruitfully teach men, or dispense true sacraments.

ERROR OF THE NEW ARIANS.

That Christ is not true, substantial, natural God, of the same es-

ERROR ANTITRINITARIORUM.

Hec prorsus nova est heres, que antehac Ecclesiis Christi ignota fuit, eorum videlicet, qui opinantur, docent et profitentur, non esse unicam tantum divinam et aeternam Patris, Filii, et Spiritus Sancti essentiam: sed quemadmodum Pater, Filius, et Spiritus Sanctus tres sunt distinctae personae, ita unamquamque personam habere distinctam, et a reliquis personis Divinitatis separatam essentiam. Et horum alii sentiunt, quod singule personae in singulis essentiis aequali sint potestate, sapientia, maiestate, et gloria: sicut alias tres numero differentes homines, ratione essentiae sue, sunt a se invicem disjuncti et separati. Alii sentiunt tres illas personas et essencias ita inaequales esse, ratione essentiae et proprietatum, ut solus Deus Pater verus sit Deus.

Hos, atque his similes errores omnes, ut eos etiam, qui ab his dependent, et ex his consequuntur, rejicimus atque damnamus:

senee with the Father and the Holy Ghost; but that he has merely been in such-wise adorned with divine majesty with the Father, as that he is nevertheless inferior to the Father.

ERROR OF THE ANTITRINITARIANS.

This is a heresy entirely new, which hitherto has been unknown to the churches of Christ—the heresy, namely, of such as imagine, teach, and profess that there is not one sole divine and eternal essence only of Father, Son, and Holy Ghost; but as Father, Son, and Holy Ghost are three distinct persons, so each person has a distinct essence, separate from the other persons of the Godhead. And some of these may think that the separate persons, in their separate essences, are of equal power, wisdom, majesty, and glory, as, for instance, three men, differing numerically in respect of their essence, are mutually separate and disjoined. Others think that these three persons and essences are so unequal in respect of essence and attributes, as that God the Father alone is true God.

All these errors, and the errors like to these, and also those which depend on these and follow from them, we reject and condemn, as being false and heretical, and as being inconsistent with the Word of God, with the three approved Symbols,¹ the Augsburg Confession, with the Apology of the same, the Smalcald Articles, and the Catechisms of Luther; which errors also all the godly, high and low alike, ought to beware of and avoid, unless they wish to hazard their own eternal salvation.

Now that this is the faith, doctrine, and confession of us all (concerning which we are prepared to render account at the last day to our Lord Jesus Christ the Judge), and that against this doctrine we are minded to speak or write nothing either hiddenly or openly, but by the grace of God steadfastly to persevere therein: in attestation of this thing, having well advised of the matter, in the true fear of God and calling upon his name, we have with our own hands subscribed this Epitome.²

ARTICULI VISITATORII.

THE SAXON VISITATION ARTICLES. A.D. 1592.

[The Four Articles of Visitation, prepared by Ægidius Hunnius and other Lutheran divines against Crypto-Calvinism in Electoral Saxony, 1592, never acquired general authority, and have now ceased to be binding even in Saxony. But they are historically important as a condensed and authoritative statement of the differences between orthodox Lutheranism and Calvinism concerning the doctrines of the sacraments, the person of Christ, and predestination. It should not be forgotten that they are the product of a fierce polemical age, which could hardly do justice to an opponent. Calvinists would not accept the views in the extreme form here ascribed to them, least of all the horrible doctrine 'that God created the greater portion of mankind for eternal damnation.' Luther (in his book against Erasmus) taught the same doctrine on the subject of predestination as Calvin.]

The German and Latin texts are taken from Müller's edition of the Symbolical Books of the Lutheran Church, pp. 779-784. The Latin text is also given in Hase's Libri Symb. Comp. Vol. I. p. 345.]

ARTICULI SIVE CONCLUSIONES LXVII. II. ZWINGLII. A.D. 1523.

THE SIXTY-SEVEN ARTICLES OR CONCLUSIONS OF ULRICH ZWINGLI.

[These Theses of Ulrich Zwingli (1484-1531) were publicly discussed and successfully defended at the religious conference in Zurich, Jan. 29, 1523, and prepared the way for the introduction of the Reformation in German Switzerland. They exhibit the first creed of the Reformed Churches (seven years older than the Lutheran Confession of Augsburg). Their form, consisting of brief, concise propositions, is much better adapted for a creed than the lengthy argumentative discussions of many later and more authoritative confessions. They never acquired a strictly symbolical authority, not even in Zurich, but may justly claim a place in this Collection on the ground of their historical importance. We give the original in High-German, with some of the old readings in foot-notes, together with the Latin translation (instead of the less intelligible Swiss dialect in which Zwingli wrote them, and which is reproduced by Niemeyer, pp. 1 sqq.). For an abridgment in English, see the History of Creeds, Vol. I. pp. 363 sqq.]

Diese nachbestimmten siebenundsechzig Artikel und Meinungen bekenne ich Huldreich Zwingly in der töblischen Stadt Zürich gepredigt zu haben aus Grund der Schrift, die Σέοπνευστος (d. i. von Gott eingegeben¹) heißt, und erbiete² mich, mit ihr genannte Artikel zu beschirmen und zu erobern, und wenn ich jetzt berührte Schrift nicht recht versteunde, mich bessern Verstandes, doch aus ehegedachter Schrift, berichten zu lassen.

I. Alle, welche sagen, daß Evangelium sei nichts³ ohne die Bewährung der Kirche, irren, und schmähen Gott.

II. Die Summe des Evangeliums ist, daß unser Herr Jesus Christus, wahrer Gottessohn, uns den Willen seines himmlischen Vaters kund gethan, und uns mit seiner Unschuld vom Tode erlöst und Gott versöhnet hat.

III. Daher ist Christus der alleinige Weg zur Seligkeit Aller, die je waren, sind und sein werden.

THESES BERNENSES. A.D. 1528.

THE TEN CONCLUSIONS OF BERNE.

[These Ten Conclusions were carefully prepared by Berthold Haller and Francis Kolb, Reformed ministers at Berne, and, at their request, revised and published by Zwingli (in German, Latin, and French) for a large religious Conference held in the capital of Switzerland, Jan. 7-26, 1528. They were approved by all the leading Swiss Reformers, and also by Ambrosius Blarer of Constance, Bucer and Capito of Strasburg, and others, who attended the Conference. The result of the Conference was the complete triumph of the Reformation in Berne. They are a model of brevity. Niemeyer gives the German original in the Swiss dialect from the Zurich edition of 1528. An English version is given in Vol. I. p. 365.]

Über diese nachfolgenden Schlußreden wollen wir, Franciscus Kolb und Berchtoldus Haller, beide Prediger zu Bern, sammt andern, die das Evangelium bekennen, einem Jeden mit Gott Antwort und Bericht geben, aus heiliger biblischer Schrift, Neuen und Alten Testaments, auf angesetzten Tag zu Bern, Sonntag nach dem Feste der Beschneidung Christi, im Jahre 1528.

I. Die heilige christliche Kirche,¹ deren einiges Haupt Christus, ist aus dem Worte Gottes geboren; in demselben bleibt sie, und hört nicht die Stimme eines Fremden.

II. Die Kirche Christi macht nicht Gesetze und Gebote ohne Gottes Wort; deshalb alle Menschenfassungen, die man Kirchengebete nennt, uns nicht weiter binden, als sie in Gottes Wort gegründet und geboten sind.

III. Christus ist unsre einzige Weisheit, Gerechtigkeit, Erlösung und Bezahlung für aller Welt Sünde; deshalb ein anderes Verdienst der Seligkeit und Genugthuung für die Sünde bekennen, ist Christum verleugnen.

De sequentibus Conclusionibus nos FRANCISUS KOLB et BERCHTOLDUS HALLER, ambo pastores Ecclesiae Bernensis, simul cum aliis orthodoxie professoribus unicuique rationem reddemus, ex scriptis bibliis, Veteris nimirum et N. Testamenti libris, die designato, nimirum primo post dominicum primam circumcisio[n]is, anno MDXXVIII.

I. Sancta Christiana Ecclesia, cuius unicum caput est Christus, nata est ex Dei Verbo, in eoque permanet, nec vocem audit alieni.

II. Ecclesia Christi non condit leges et mandata extra Dei Verbum; ea propter omnes traditiones humanae, quas Ecclesiasticas vocant, non ulterius nos obligant, quam quatenus in Dei Verbo sunt fundate et praecepta.

III. Christus est unica sapientia, justitia, redemptio et satisfactio pro peccatis totius mundi; idcirco aliud salutis et satisfactionis meritum pro peccato confiteri, est Christum abnegare.

¹ Kilch.

IV. Daß der Leib und das Blut Christi wesentlich und leiblich in dem Brote der Danksgung empfangen wird, kann mit biblischer Schrift nicht bewiesen werden.

V. Die Messe, wie sie jetzt im Gebrauche ist, darin man Christum Gott dem Vater für die Sünden der Lebenden Todten aufopfere, ist der Schrift zuwider, dem allerheiligsten Opfer, Leiden und Sterben Christi eine Lästigung, und um der Missbräuche willen ein Gräuel vor Gott.

VI. Wie Christus allein für uns gestorben ist, so soll er, als alleiniger Mittler und Fürsprecher zwischen Gott dem Vater und uns Gläubigen, angerufen werden. Deshalb ist das Anrufen aller andern Mittler und Fürsprecher außerhalb dieser Zeit ohne Grund der Schrift vorgeschrieben.

VII. Nach dieser Zeit wird kein Fegefeuer in der Schrift gefunden. Deshalb sind alle Todtentdiene, als Vigilien, Seelenmessen, Septimien, Trigesimen,¹ Jahrzeiten,² Lampen,³ Kerzen und dergleichen vergeblich.

VIII. Bilder machen zur Verehrung ist wider Gottes Wort des Neuen und Alten Testaments. Deshalb sind sie abzuthun, wo sie mit Gefahr der Verehrung aufgestellt sind.

IV. Quod corpus et sanguis Christi essentialiter et corporaliter in pane Eucharistie percipiantur, ex Scriptura Sacra non potest demonstrari.

V. Missa, ut hodie in usu est, in qua Christus Deo Patri offeratur pro peccatis vivorum et mortuorum, Scriptura est contraria, in sanctissimum sacrificium, passionem et mortem Christi blasphemata et propter abusus coram Deo abominabilis.

VI. Quemadmodum Christus solus pro nobis mortuus est, ita etiam solus ut mediator et advocatus inter Deum Patrem et nos fideles adorandus est. Idecirco alios mediatores extra hanc vitam existentes ad adorandum proponere cum fundamento Verbi Dei pugnat.

VII. Esse locum post hanc vitam, in quo purgentur anime, in Scriptura non reperitur; proin omnia officia pro mortuis instituta, ut vigilie, missae pro defunctis, exequie, septimae, trigesimae, anniversarie, lampades, cerci et id genus alia frustantia sunt.

VIII. Imagines fabricare cultus gratia, Dei Verbo, Veteris et Novi Testamenti libris comprehenso repugnat. Idecirco si sub periculo adorationis proponantur, abolenda.

³ Ampsen.

IX. Die heilige Ehe ist in der Schrift keinem Stande verboten, sondern, Hurerei und Unkeuschheit zu vermeiden, allen Ständen geboten.

X. Da ein öffentlicher Hurer nach der Schrift im wahren Banne ist, so folgt, daß Unkeuschheit und Hurerei des Vergernisses wegen keinem Stande schädlicher ist, als dem Priesterstande.

IX. Matrimonium nulli ordini hominum in Scriptura interdictum est, sed scortationis et impunitatis vitandæ causa omnium ordinum hominibus præceptum et permissum.

X. Quia manifestus scortator juæta Scripturam excommunicandus; sequitur, scortationem aut impurum cælibatum propter scandalum nulli ordini hominum magis quam sacerdotali damnosum esse.

THE FIRST HELVETIC CONFESSION. A.D. 1536.

[This Confession was composed by a number of Swiss divines (Bullinger, Grynaeus, Myconius, and others), delegated and assembled for the purpose, in the city of Basle, A.D. 1536. It is the first Confession which represented the faith of all the Reformed cantons of Switzerland; the preceding ones had merely a local authority. It is called the FIRST HELVETIC CONFESSION to distinguish it from the SECOND HELVETIC CONFESSION (1566), which acquired still greater authority. It is also less aptly called the SECOND CONFESSIO OF BASLE (CONF. BASILEENSIS POSTERIOR), from the place of its composition and publication, in distinction from the FIRST CONFESSIO OF BASLE, OR OF MÜHLHAUSEN (1534), which continued in force in these two cities. See the History, Vol. I. §§ 53 and 54. The Latin text was published first under the title: Ecclesiuarum per Helvetiam Confessio Fidei summaria et generalis. It is reproduced in the Corpus et Syntagma, and in Niemeyer's Collectio (pp. 115-122). The German text in the Swiss dialect was prepared by Leo Judæ, and is of equal authority with the Latin, although it is a free and enlarged translation. I give it in High-German, which is more intelligible. It appeared with the following title and introductory note:

'Ein gemeine bekantnuß des helgen waren vnd vralten Christlichen gloubens vnd vnsern mittburgern vnd Christlichn gloubguesen, etc. Zurich. Bern. Basell. Straßburg. Costenz. Santzalln. Schaffhuſn. Müllhuſn. Biel. etc. zbasell vßgericht geordnet vnd gmacht vß wytern bſcheid, etc. Im 1536. 1. 2. 3. et 4. Februarij.'

'Ein kurze vnd gemeine bekantnuß des gloubens der kelchen se in einer Eidgnoschafft das Evangelium Christi angenomen habend, allen glöbigen vnd freuen zu erwegen, zu beschatzu vnd zu verteilen dargestelt. 1 Pet. iii.; 1 Joh. iv.]'

I. Von der heiligen Schrift.

Die heilige, göttliche, biblische Schrift, die da ist das Wort Gottes, von dem heiligen Geiste eingegeben, und durch die Propheten und Apostel der Welt vorgetragen, ist die allerälteste, vollkommenste und höchste Lehre, und begreift allein alles das, was zur wahren Erkenntniß, Liebe und Ehre Gottes, zu rechter, wahrer Frömmigkeit und Anrichtung eines frommen, ehrbaren und gottseligen Lebens dient.¹

Wo nun die heiligen Väter und alten Lehrer, welche die Schrift erklärt und ausgelegt haben, von dieser Richtschnur nicht abgewichen sind,² wollen wir sie nicht allein für Ausleger der Schrift, sondern für ausgewählte Werkzeuge, durch die Gott geredet und gewirkt hat, erkennen und halten.

III. DE ANTIQUIS PATRIBUS.

A quo interpretationis genere, quatenus sancti patres non discessere, eos non solum ut interpres Scripture recipimus, sed ut organa Dei electa veneramur.

IV. Von Menschenlehren.

Was sonst menschliche Lehren und Säzungen sind, sie seien so schön, hübsch, angesehen und lange gebraucht, als sie nur wollen, die uns von Gott und dem wahren Glauben abführen, halten wir für eitel und kraflos, wie es der heilige Matth. 15 selbst bezeugt, da er spricht: Sie ehren mich vergebens, wenn sie lehren die Lehren der Menschen.³

VI. Von Gott.

Von Gott halten wir also, daß ein einiger, wahrer, lebendiger und allmächtiger Gott sei, einig im Wesen, dreifaltig in der Person, der alle Dinge durch sein Wort, das ist, durch seinen Sohn, aus nichts geschaffen habe, und alle Dinge durch seine Vorsehung recht, wahrhaft und weise regiere, verwalte und erhalte.²

VII. Von dem Menschen.

Der Mensch, das vollkommenste Bild Gottes auf Erden, unter allen sichtbaren Geschöpfen das edelste und vornehmste, ist aus Leib und Seele zusammengesetzt; der Leib ist sterblich, die Seele unsterblich. Dieser Mensch, der von Gott recht und wohl geschaffen war, ist durch seine eigne Schuld in die Sünde gefallen, und hat das ganze menschliche Geschlecht mit sich in diesen Fall gezogen, und solchem Elend unterwürfig gemacht.³

Sünde hat das ganze menschliche Geschlecht so durchdrungen, und hat es so verwüstet und vergiftet, daß dem Menschen, der ein Kind des Zornes und ein Feind Gottes geworden war, Niemand als Gott durch Christum helfen oder ihn wiederherstellen konnte, und was in ihm Gutes übrig geblieben ist, das wird durch tägliche Mängel und Gebrechen [prästen] für und für geschwächt, so daß es noch ärger wird; denn die Kraft der Sünde und des Gebrechens [prästen] in uns ist so mächtig, daß weder die Vernunft dem, was sie erkannt, nachkommen, noch der Verstand das göttliche Fünklein pflanzen und weiterbringen kann.¹

IX. Von der freien Willkür, die man den freien Willen nennt.

Deshalb schreiben wir dem Menschen eine freie Willkür also zu, weil wir an uns selbst befinden, daß wir mit Wissen und Willen Gutes und Böses thun. Das Böse können wir von uns selbst thun, das Gute aber können wir weder annehmen, noch vollbringen, wir seien denn durch die Gnade Christi erenichtet, erweckt und getrieben; denn Gott ist der, der in uns das Wollen und Vollbringen wirkt, nach seinem guten Willen; aus Gott ist unser Heil, aus uns aber ist nichts, als Sünde und Verdammnis.²

X. Wie Gott den Menschen durch seinen ewigen Rathschluß wiedergebracht habe.

Wiewohl nun der Mensch durch diese seine Schuld und Übertretung zur ewigen Verdammnis verurtheilt und in den gerechten Zorn Gottes gefallen ist, so hat doch Gott, der gnädige Vater, nie aufgehört, Sorge für ihn zu tragen, welches wir aus der ersten Verheißung und aus dem ganzen Gesetz (durch welches die Sünde erweckt, nicht erlöst wird), und aus dem Herrn Christo, der dazu verordnet und gegeben ist, klar und offenbar genug merken und verstehen können.¹

Damit aber die Menschen verstehen, wie notwendig ihnen Christus zum Heil und zur Seligkeit sei, soll man ihnen die Größe und Schwere der Sünde durch das Gesetz und den Tod Christi auf's Hellste und Klarste anzeigen, vorbilden und vor Augen stellen.³

Derselbe Glaube ist ein gewisser, fester, ja unbezweifelter Grund und eine Ergreifung aller der Dinge, die man von Gott hofft, welcher daraus die Liebe und demnach allerlei Tugenden und guter Werke Frucht wachsen macht. Und wiewohl diese Kirche und Versammlung Christi allein den Augen Gottes offen und bekannt ist, so wird sie doch durch äußere Zeichen, Gebräuche und Ordnungen, die von Christo selbst eingesetzt und geordnet sind, und durch das Wort Gottes, als durch eine allgemeine, öffentliche und ordentliche Zucht, nicht allein gesehen und erkannt, sondern auch also gesammelt und gebaut, daß zu dieser Kirche Niemand (ordentlich zu reden und ohne besondere von Gott geoffenbarte Freiheit) ohne diese Dinge gezählt wird.¹

XV. [XVI.] Von den Dienern des Wortes Gottes und dem Dienste der Kirche.

Deshalb bekennen wir auch, daß die Diener der Kirche Mitarbeiter Gottes sind, wie sie der heilige Paulus nennt, durch die er seinen Gläubigen Erkenntniß seiner selbst und Vergebung der Sünden zutheilt und darbietet, die Menschen zu sich bekehrt, aufrichtet, vivam hanc petram, hoc pacto, inedificatis, ecclesiam construi, sanctamque sanctorum omnium collectionem et immaculatam Christi sponsam esse tenemus, quam Christus sanguine suo lavet et purifiet, et tandem Patri suo eam sine macula et ruga statuat et tradat.

Quae quidem quum solius sit Dei oculis nota, externis tamen quibusdam ritibus, ab ipso Christo institutis, et Verbi Dei velut publica legitimaque disciplina, non solum cernitur cognosciturque, sed ita constituitur, ut in hanc sine his nemo (nisi singulari Dei privilegio) censeatur.¹

XVI. DE MINISTERIO VERBI.

Die Macht, das Wort Gottes zu predigen und die Schäflein des Herrn zu weiden, welches eigentlich zu reden das Amt der Schlüssel ist, schreibt allen Menschen vor Eine Form zu leben, sie seien hoch oder niedern Standes. Dies Ausehn soll, als ein Befehl Gottes, hoch, ihuer und unverlebt sein; es soll auch Niemand diese Macht zur Verwaltung übertragen werden, er sei denn zuvor durch die göttliche Stimme und Wahl, durch diejenigen, die von der Kirche durch wohlerwegene Rathschläge als Ausschuß dazu bestimmt und erwählt sind, tauglich und geschickt dazu erfunden und erkannt.³

XVII. [XVIII.] Von der Erwähnung der Diener der Kirche.

Dieß Amt und dieser Dienst soll Niemand befehlen oder vertraut werden, er sei denn zuvor in der Heiligen Schrift und der Erkenntniß des Willens Gottes wohlberichtet, in Frömmigkeit und Unschuld des Lebens unsträflich, und im Fleiß und Ernst, die Ehre und den Namen Christi zu fördern, eifrig und inbrünstig erfunden und erkannt worden, nämlich durch die Diener und Vorsteher der Kirche; auch die, welche aus der christlichen Obrigkeit, als von der Kirche wegen, zu solchem Amt erwählt sind. Und weil dasselbe eine rechte, wahre Wahl Gottes ist, sollen sie durch das Urtheil der Kirche und Auslegung der Hände der Älteren als billig und recht erkannt und angenommen werden.¹

XVIII. [XIX.] Wer der Hirt und das Haupt der Kirche sei.

Christus selbst ist allein das wahre und rechte Haupt und der Hirt seiner Kirche; derselbe giebt seiner Kirche Hirten und Lehrer, die aus seinem Befehl das Wort und das Amt der Schlüssel ordentlich und rechtmäßig, wie eben gemeldet, führen. Deshalb wir diejenigen, die allein mit dem Namen Bischoße sind, und das Haupt zu Rom weder bekennen, noch annehmen.²

XVIII. ELECTIO MINISTRORUM.

Quia quum vera Dei electio sit, ecclesie tamen suffragio et manuum presbyterorum [sacerdotis] impositione recte comprobatur.¹

Das Allerhöchste und Vornehmste in diesem Amte ist, daß die Diener der Kirche Neue und Leid über die Sünde, Aenderung des Lebens und Verzeihung der Sünde predigen, und das Alles durch Christum; ferner, daß sie unaufhörlich für das Volk bitten, der Heiligen Schrift und dem Worte Gottes in Lesen und heiliger Betrachtung ernstlich und fleißig obliegen, mit dem Worte Gottes, als mit dem Schwerte des Geistes, in alle Wege den Teufel mit tödtlichem Hasse verfolgen und seine Kraft unterdrücken und schwächen, daß sie die gesunden Bürger Christi beschirmen, die bösen aber warnen, zurückdrängen und entfernen, und wenn sie in ihrem Frevel und ihren unverschämten Lastern die Kirche Christi wollten für und für ärgern und verwüsten, sollen sie durch diejenigen, die von den Dienern des Wortes und christlicher Obrigkeit dazu verordnet sind, ausgestoßen, oder auf andere fügliche und schickliche Weise gestrafft und gebessert werden, bis sie ihren Irrthum bekennen, sich ändern und gesund werden; dann aber soll der Bürger Christi, der also ungesund und krank gewesen und ausgeschlossen ist, wieder in die Kirche aufgenommen

XX. [XXI.] Von der Kraft und Wirkung der Sacramente.

Der Zeichen, die man Sacramente nennt, sind zwei, nämlich die Taufe und das Nachtmahl des Herrn. Diese Sacramente sind bedeutsame, heilige Zeichen hoher, heimlicher Dinge; sie sind aber nicht bloße und leere Zeichen, sondern bestehen in Zeichen und wesentlichen Dingen. Denn in der Taufe ist das Wasser das Zeichen; das Wesentliche aber und Geistliche ist die Wiedergeburt und die Aufnahme in das Volk Gottes. Im Nachtmahl oder Danksgung sind Brot und Wein Zeichen; das Wesentliche aber und Geistliche ist die Gemeinschaft des Leibes und Blutes Christi, das Heil, das am Kreuz erobert ist, und Vergebung der Sünden, welche wesentliche, unsichtbare und geistliche Dinge im Glauben empfangen werden, so wie die Zeichen leiblich, und in diesen geistlichen, wesentlichen Dingen besteht die ganze Kraft, Wirkung und Frucht der Sacramente.

XXI. DE VI ET EFFICACIA SACRAMENTORUM.

Signa, quæ [in ecclesia Christi] et sacramenta vocantur, duo sunt, baptismus, et eucharistia. Hee rerum arcanarum symbola non nudis signis, sed signis simul et rebus constant. In baptismo enim aqua signum est, at res ipsa regeneratio adoptioque in populum Dei. In eucharistia panis et vinum signa sunt, res autem communicatio corporis Domini, parta salus, et peccatorum remissio. Quæ quidem, ut ore corporis signa, sic fide spiritus percipiuntur. Nam in rebus ipsis totus fructus sacramentorum est.

¹ Lue. xxiv.; Hierem. xi.; Act. vi.; 1 Tim. iv.; Eph. vi.; 2 Tim. iv.; Ezech. xxxiv.; 1 Cor. v.; 2 Thess. iii.

Deshalb bekennen wir, daß die Sacramente nicht allein äußere Zeichen sind christlicher Gesellschaft, sondern wir bekennen sie für Zeichen göttlicher Gnade, durch welche die Diener der Kirche mit dem Herrn in der Absicht und zu dem Ende, wie er es uns selbst verheißt, anbietet und kräftiglich verschafft, wirken, jedoch, wie oben von den Dienern des Wortes gesagt ist, nämlich, daß alle heiligende und seligmachende Kraft Gott, dem Herrn, allein zugeschrieben wird.

Unde asserimus sacramenta non solum tesseras quasdam societatis Christianæ, sed et gratice divinæ symbola esse, quibus ministri, Domino, ad eum finem quem ipse promittit offert et efficit, cooperentur, sic tamen, qualiter de verbi ministerio dictum est, ut omnis virtus salvifica uni Domino transscribatur.

XXI. [XXII.] Von der Taufe.

Die Taufe ist nach der Einsetzung des Herrn ein Bad der Wiedergeburt,¹ welches der Herr seinen Auserwählten mit einem sichtbaren Zeichen durch den Dienst der Kirche, wie oben gesagt und erläutert ist, anbietet und darstellt.

In diesem heiligen Bade taufen wir unsre Kinder darum, weil es unbillig wäre, daß wir diejenigen, die von uns, einem Volke Gottes, geboren sind, der Gemeinschaft des Volkes Gottes beraubten, die doch durch das göttliche Wort dazu bestimmt und diejenigen sind, von denen man vermuthen soll, sie seien von Gott erwählt.²

XXII. BAPTISMA.

Baptisma quidem ex institutione Domini lavacrum regenerationis quam Dominus electis suis, visibili signo per ecclesie ministerium (qualiter supra expositum est) exhibeat.

Quo quidem sancto lavacro infantes nostros illicet tingimus, quoniam e nobis (qui populus Domini sumus) genitos populi Dei consortio rejicere nefas est, tantum non divina voce hoc designatos, praesertim quum de eorum electione pie est presumendum.²

² Tit. iii.; Act. x.; Gen. xvii.; 1 Cor. vii.; Lue. xviii.

XXII. [XXIII.] Vom Nachtmahl des Herrn, oder von der Danksagung.

Vom heiligen Nachtmahl halten wir also, daß der Herr in demselben seinen Leib und sein Blut, das ist, sich selbst den Seinen wahrlich anbietet, und zu solcher Frucht zu genießen giebt, daß er je mehr und mehr in ihnen, und sie in ihm leben. Nicht, daß der Leib und das Blut des Herrn mit Brot und Wein natürlich vereinbart oder räumlich darein verschlossen werde, oder daß eine leibliche, fleischliche Gegenwärtigkeit hier gesetzt werde, sondern daß Brot und Wein nach der Einsetzung des Herrn hochbedeutende, heilige, wahre Zeichen seien, durch die von dem Herrn selbst, vermittelst des Dienstes der Kirche, die wahre Gemeinschaft des Leibes und Blutes Christi den Gläubigen gereicht und angeboten werde, nicht zur vergänglichen Speise des Bauches, sondern zur Speise und Nahrung des geistlichen und ewigen Lebens.¹

Dieser hohen und heiligen Speise gebrauchen wir oft, daß wir, dadurch erinnert, den Tod und das Blut des gekreuzigten Christus mit den Augen des Glaubens erblicken, und unser Heil mit einem Vorgeschmack des himmlischen Wesens und mit einer wahren Empfindung des ewigen Lebens betrachten.

XXIII. EUCHARISTIA.

Non quod panis et vino corpus et sanguis Domini vel naturaliter uniantur: vel hic localiter includantur, vel ulla huc carnali presentia statuantur. Sed quod panis et vinum ex institutione Domini symbola sint, quibus ab ipso Domino per ecclesiæ ministerium vera corporis et sanguinis ejus communicatio, non in peritulum ventris cibum, sed in æterne vitæ alimoniam exhibeatur.*¹

Hoc sacro cibo ideoreo utimur sape, quoniam hujus monitu in crucifixi mortem sanguinemque, fidei oculis intuentes, ac salutem nostram, non sine celestis vite gustu, et vero vita æternæ sensu, meditantes, hoc spirituali, virifico intimoque pabulo, ineffabili

Mit dieser geistlichen, lebendig machenden, inneren Speise werden wir mit unaussprechlicher Süßigkeit ergötz und erquickt, und mit hoher Freude erfüllt, daß wir in dem Tode Christi unser Leben finden. Deshalb wir ganz und gar vor Freude in unserm Herzen frohlocken, und mit allen unsren Kräften desto mehr für eine so theure und hohe Wohlthat, die er uns bewiesen hat, uns in Danksgung ergießen.

Deshalb beschuldigt man uns sehr unbillig, daß wir auf die hohen Wahrzeichen wenig Werth legen; denn diese heiligen Zeichen und Sacramente sind heilige und ehrwürdige Dinge, da sie von Christo, dem hohen Priester, eingesetzt und gebraucht sind. So reichen sie in der Art, wie oben davon geredet ist, die geistlichen Dinge, die sie bedeuten, dar und bieten sie an. Sie geben von den geschehenen Dingen Zeugniß. Sie geben uns ein Bild und eine Erinnerung so hoher, heiliger Dinge, und mit einer besondern Ahnlichkeit der Dinge, die sie bedeuten, bringen sie ein großes und herrliches Licht in die heiligen, göttlichen Angelegenheiten. Ueberdies geben sie etwas Hülfe und Unterstützung dem Glauben, und sind gleichsam ein Eid, mit dem sich die Gläubigen ihrem Haupte und der Kirche verpflichten und verbinden. So hoch und theuer halten wir die heiligen, hochbedeutenden Wahrzeichen; jedoch schreiben wir die leben-Sunt enim haec res sancte venerandaeque, utpote, a summo sacerdote Christo institutae et susceptae, suo quo diximus modo res significatas exhibentes, testimonium rei geste prabentes, res tam arduas representantes, et mirabili quadam rerum significatarum analogia clarissimam mysteriis istis lucem afferentes. XXIII. [XXIV.] Von der heiligen Versammlung und der Zusammenkunft der Gläubigen.

Wir halten dafür, daß die heiligen Versammlungen und Zusammenkünfte der Gläubigen so sollen begangen werden, daß man vor allen Dingen dem Volke das Wort Gottes an einem gemeinen und dazu bestimmten Orte vortrage, daß die Geheimnisse der Schrift durch geschickte Diener täglich ausgelegt und erklärt werden, daß man das Nachtmahl des Herrn und heilige Danksgung halte, damit der Gläubigen Glaube für und für geübt werde, daß man mit ernstlichem Gebet für alles Anliegen aller Menschen ernstlich anhalte.

Andere Ceremonien, die unzählbar sind, als Kelche, Messgewänder, Chorröcke, Ruten, Platten, Fahnen, Kerzen und Altäre, Gold und Silber, wiefern sie die wahre Religion und den rechten Gottesdienst zu stören und umzukehren dienen, und besonders die Götzen und Bilder, die zur Verehrung und zum Abergerniß gebraucht werden, und was solcher ungöttlichen Dinge mehr sind, die wollen wir aus unsrer heiligen Gemeinde weit hinweggetrieben haben.¹

XXIV. CÆTUS SACRI.

Cætus autem sacros sic peragendos esse censemus, ut ante omnia verbum Dei in publicum plebi quotidie propronatur, Scripture ablita per idoneos ministros quotidie eruantur edisseranturque: sacra Eucharistia celebranda piorum subinde fides exerceatur, precationi pro omnibus omnium necessitatibus assidue instetur.

Ceteras vero ceremoniarum ambages inutiles et innumera-biles, vasa, vela, vestes, facies, aras, aurum, argentum, quatenus pervertendae religioni serviunt, idola presertim et im-agini, que ad cultum et scandalum prostant et id genus omnia prophana, a sacro nostro cultu procul areemus.¹

Alle Dinge, die man Mitteldinge nennt, wie sie es denn (eigentlich zu reden) sind, kann ein frommer, gläubiger Christ zu allen Zeiten und an allen Orten frei gebrauchen, doch daß er es thue nach rechter Einsicht und mit Liebe; denn der Gläubige soll aller Dinge also gebrauchen, daß die Ehre Gottes befördert, und die Kirche und der Nächste nicht geärgert werde.²

XXVI. [XXVII.] Von der weltlichen Obrigkeit.

Da alle Gewalt und Obrigkeit von Gott ist, so ist ihr höchstes und vernehmstes Amt, wenn sie nicht eine Tyrannin sein will, daß sie die wahre Ehre Gottes und den rechten Gottesdienst, mit Strafe und Ausrottung aller Gotteslästerung, schirme und fördere, und möglichen Fleiß anwende, daß sie dasjenige, was der Diener der Kirche und Verkünder des Evangeliums aus dem Worte Gottes lehrt und vorträgt, fördere und vollstrecke. Damit aber solche Religion, wahrer Gottesdienst und Ehrbarkeit aufgebe und wachse, wird die Obrigkeit vernehmlich allen Fleiß dahin wenden, daß das laute Wort Gottes der Gemeine treulich vorgetragen, und Niemand daran verhindert werde, daß die Schulen wohl eingerichtet, die gemeine Bürgerschaft wohl gelehret, fleißig unterrichtet und gestrafft werde, daß man fleißig Sorge trage für die Diener der Kirche und die Armen in der Kirche, daß dieselben nach der Billigkeit und ziemlicher Nothdurft versehnen werden; denn dazu sollen die Güter der Kirche dienen.

XXVII. DE MAGISTRATU.

Magistratus omnis a Deo quum sit, officium ejus (nisi tyrannidem exercere mavult), principium est, religionem omni blasphemia reprimenda defendere et procurare, ac qualiter ex Verbo Domini propheta docet, pro virili exequi. Qua quidem in parte praeципue illi advigilandum, ut purum Verbum Dei pure et sinceriter ac vere populo predicetur, nec ulli hominum veritas evangelica precludatur. Mox curabit ut inventus et pubes tota civium recta et sedula institutione ac disciplina formetur, ut justa sit ministrorum ecclesie provisio, pauperumque solicita cura. Huc enim ecclesiastice facultates spectant.

Weiter soll die Obrigkeit das Volk nach billigen, göttlichen Gesetzen regieren, Gericht und Recht halten und handhaben, den allgemeinen Frieden und Wohlstand erhalten, den allgemeinen Nutzen schützen und schirmen, und die Nebentreter nach Beschaffenheit ihrer Missethat an Gut, Leib und Leben, wie billig strafen. Und wenn sie das thut, dienet sie Gott, ihrem Herrn, wie sie schuldig und verpflichtet ist.

Solcher Obergewalt sollen wir Alle, obwohl wir in Christo frei sind, mit Leib, Hab und Gut gehorsam und gewärtig sein, und mit Liebe von Herzen und aus Glauben uns ihr unterthänig beweisen, Treue und Eid thun und leisten, wenn ihr Geheiß und Gebot nicht offenbar wider den ist, um des willen wir ihr Ehre anthun und gehorsam sind.¹

CATECHISMUS GENEVENSIS, CONSENSUS TIGURINUS, CONSENSUS GENEVENSIS.

These three documents, drawn up by Calvin, would follow next in chronological order, but do not come within the scope of our selection, partly on account of their length (the Latin text alone would fill about two hundred pages—see Niemeyer, pp. 123–310), partly for intrinsic reasons. The CATECHISM OF GENEVA (1541) is no more in use, having been superseded by the Heidelberg and Westminster Catechisms, included in this volume. The CONSENSUS OF ZURICH (1549), and the CONSENSUS OF GENEVA (1552), especially the latter, are not so much confessions of faith as elaborate theological and polemical essays on two doctrines—the one on the Lord's Supper, the other on Predestination—for the purpose of harmonizing and defending the teaching of the Swiss Churches. On both these doctrines the Second Helvetic, the Gallican, the Belgic, the Scotch, and other Reformed Confessions, which we give in full, are sufficiently explicit and more authoritative.

For a history and summary of these documents, see the first volume, pp. 467 sqq.

CONFESSIO HELVETICA POSTERIOR, A.D. 1566.

THE SECOND HELVETIC CONFESSION.

[This Helvetic Confession is called the second or later Helv. Conf., to distinguish it from the Confessio Helvetica Prior (or Basileensis Posterior, 1536). It was written by Henry Bullinger, of Zurich (Zwingli's successor), 1562, and first published 1566 in Latin, also in German and French. It is the most elaborate and most catholic among the Swiss Confessions. (Hagenbach calls it a 'wahres dogmatisches Meisterstück.') It was adopted, or at least highly approved, by nearly all the Reformed Churches on the Continent and in England and Scotland. Hence it must have a place in this selection. But it is rather a theological treatise than a popular creed; and on account of its great length I am obliged to omit a translation, referring the reader to the summary given in the first volume. There is an English translation by Owen Jones (The Church of the Living God; also the Swiss and Belgian Confessions of Faith, London, 1865), and another by Prof. Jeremiah Good, D.D. (of Tiffin, Ohio), Phila. 1873.]

For the text I have compared the following Latin editions: 1. The edition of Zürich, 1651, as reprinted in the Corpus et Syntagma Confessionum Fidei (Geneva, 1654, pp. 1-61). 2. The edition in the Oxford Syllaxe Confessionum, 2d ed. 1827, pp. 9-115, printed in very superior style, but with some omissions. 3. J. P. Kindler's Confessio Helvetica Posterior, with a preface by Winer, Solisbaci, 1825 (pp. 102); from this edition I have adopted the division of chapters into sections, and the references to the Augsburg Confession. 4. The edition of Niemeyer, in his Collectio Conf. Reform., Leipz. 1840, pp. 462-536, who gives the text of the edition of 1568, with unimportant variations of a Zürich MS., and the editions of Oxford and of Kindler. 5. The German text in Böckel's Bekenntniss-Schriften der evang.-reformirten Kirche, Leipz. 1847, pp. 281-347. The editions of Fritzsche and Böhl were not at hand. Some editions add the Imperial Edict against heretics from the Justinian Code, and the Symbolum of Pope Damasus from the works of Jerome. The title and preface are copied from the Zürich edition, 1651, in the Corpus et Syntagma Confessionum, 1654.]

UNIVERSIS CHRISTI FIDELIBUS PER GERMANIAM ATQUE EXTERAS ETIAM NATIONES.

Ministri Subscriptarum Ecclesiarum per Helvetiam

Gratiam et Pacem a DEO PATRE, per JESUM CHRISTUM, Dominum nostrum, precamur.

Conscriptæ sunt hactenus, et eduntur hoc præcipue tempore in publicum, a regnis, nationibus, et civitatibus, multæ ac variæ Confessiones et Expositiones fidei, quibus extremo hoc seculo, in tam infelici perniciosarum proventu hæresium, quæ passim exoriuntur, docent, atque testantur, se in Ecclesiis suis orthodoxe simpliciterque sentire, credere atque docere, de omnibus in universum et singulis Christianæ fidei et religionis nostræ dogmatibus, denique, se et ab hæresium sectarumve communione esse quam alienissimos. Nos ergo, tametsi antea hoc ipsum fecerimus in nostris scriptis in publicum editis, quia tamen illa in oblivionem forte abierunt, variisque in locis, et prolixius etiam rem exponunt, quam ut omnibus inquirere ac perlegere vacet, praelario aliorum fidelium exemplo excitati, brevi hæc expositione conanur complecti, et omnibus Christi fidelibus proponere doctrinam, œconomiamque Ecclesiarum nostrarum, quam ille mox ab initio Reformationis, multos jam per annos, multaque per discrimina rerum ad hunc usque diem, summo eum consensu, et docuerunt, et nunc quoque custodiunt. Eadem opera attestamur etiam omnibus consensum nostrum unanimem, quem dedit nobis Dominus, ut in nostris Ecclesiis, quibus nos ministrare voluit Dominus, idem loquamus omnes, nec sint inter nos dissidia, sed simus integrum corpus, eadem mente eademque sententia. Attestamur item, nos minime talia in Ecclesiis nostris spargere dogmata, qualia adversarii nonnulli nostri nobis, apud eos maxime, ad quos scripta nostra non pervenient, et qui doctrinæ nostræ imperiti sunt, falso et præter meritum tribuere, obtrudereque nituntur. Ergo manifestissime ex his nostris æqui deprehendit lectores, nihil nos quoque habere communionis cum ullis sectis atque hæresibus, quarum, hoc consilio, in singulis prope capitibus, mentionem facimus, easque rejicientes perstringimus. Colligent itaque et illud, nos a sanctis Christi Ecclesiis Germaniæ, Galliæ, Angliæ, aliarumque in orbe Christiano nationum, nephario schismate nos non sejungere atque abrumpere: sed eum ipsis omnibus et singulis, in hac confessa veritate Christiana, probe consentire, ipsasque caritate sincera complecti.

Tametsi vero in diversis Ecclesiis quædam deprehenditur varietas, in loquitionibus, et modo expositionis doctrinæ, in ritibus item vel ceremoniis, eaqe recepta pro Ecclesiarum quarumlibet ratione, opportunitate et aedificatione, nunquam tamen ea, ullis in Ecclesia temporibus, materiam dissensionibus et schismatibus, visa est suppeditare. Semper enim hac in re, Christi Ecclesiæ usæ sunt libertate. Id quod in historia Ecclesiastica videre licet. Abunde piæ vetustati satis erat, mutuus ille in præcipuis fidei dogmatibus, inque sensu orthodoxo et caritate fraterna, consensus.

Quo circa speramus Christi Ecclesiæ, ubi viderint deprehenderintque nos in sancti et æterni Dei doctrina, in sensu item orthodoxo et caritate fraterna, cum ipsis, imprimis vero cum veteri Apostolica Ecclesia, per omnia consentire, libenter ipsas quoque in unitate fidei atque doctrinæ, sensuque orthodoxo, et fraterna caritate consensuras nobiscum. Cum hanc Confessionem in hoc quoque ediderimus præcipue, ut Ecclesiarum pacem concordiamque cum mutua caritate, apud Germaniae exterisque Ecclesias queramus, nobis conciliemus, conciliatamque retineamus. Ubi sane illas ipsas Ecclesias, ea dilectione, sinceritate, integritateque prædictas esse, nobis certo persuademus, ut si quid forte nostrarum rerum hactenus minus recte intellectum sit a nonnullis, porro, audita hac simplici Confessione nostra, illæ nos neutiquam numeraturæ sint inter haereticos, neque Ecclesias nostras, quæ veræ Christi Ecclesiae sunt, damnaturæ, ut impias.

Ante omnia vero protestamur, nos semper esse paratissimos, omnia et singula hic a nobis proposita, si quis requirat, copiosius explicare, denique meliora ex verbo Dei docentibus, non sine gratiarum actione, et cedere et obsequi in Domino, Cui Iaus et gloria. Acta 1 Martii. Anno 1566.

SUBSCRIPSERUNT omnes omnium Ecclesiæ Christi in Helvetia Ministri, qui sunt Tiguri, Bernæ, Glaronæ, Basileæ, Scaphusii, Abbatiseccæ, Sangalli, Curie Rhetorum, et apud Confoederatos, in Ecclesiis Evangelium profitentibus cis et ultra Alpes, Myllusii item et Biennæ, quibus adjunxerunt se et Ministri Ecclesiæ, quæ est Genevæ, et Neocomi, etc. Sed et consenserunt in ipsam jam editam Ministri Ecclesiæ Polonicae, quæ est in Ducatu Zathoriensi, et Osswiecimensi, Scoticarum quoque Ecclesiæarum Ministri, qui Nonis Sept. Anno D. 1566, scriptis ad Clarissimum Virum, Dn. Theodorum Bezam literis, inter alia dicunt; Subscriptimus omnes, qui in hoc cœtu interfuiimus, et hujus Academie sigillo publico obsignavimus. Præterea Debrecini in Hungaria, edita et impressa est Confessio, una cum articulis quibusdam, Septemb. 1, Anno D. 1567, et inscripta Serenissimo Principi et Domino, Domino Johanni II., Dei gratia electo Hungariae Regi, etc. In qua inter alia haec leguntur verba: Omnes Ecclesiæ Ministri, qui in Conventu sancto ad 24 Febr., Anno Domini 1567, Debrecinum convocato, cis et ultra Tibyseum, inter reliquas Confessiones receperimus et subscriptimus Helveticæ Confessioni, Anno Domini 1566 editæ, cui et Ecclesia Genevensis Ministri subscripterunt.

Ex 2. Tomo Operum S. Hieron.

CREDIMUS in unum Deum Patrem omnipotentem, et in unum Dominum nostrum Jesum Christum, Dei Filium, et in Spiritum Sanctum. Dein non tres Deos, sed Patrem, Filium, et Spiritum Sanctum, unum Deum colimus et confitemur: non sie unum Deum quasi solitarium.

nec eundem qui ipse sibi pater sit, ipse et filius: sed Patrem esse, qui genuit, et Filium esse, qui genitus sit: Spiritum vero sanctum non genitum, neque ingenitum, non creatum neque factum, sed de Patre Filioque procedentem, Patri et Filio coæternum, et coæqualem, et cooperatorem. Quia scriptum est, Verbo Domini celi firmati sunt, id est, a Filio Dei et Spiritu oris ejus omnis virtus eorum. Et alibi, Emitte Spiritum tuum, et creabuntur, et renovabis faciem terræ. Ideoqe in nomine Patris, et Filii, et Spiritus Sancti unum confitemur Deum, quod nomen est potestatis, non proprietatis. Proprium nomen est Patri, Pater, et proprium nomen est Filio, Filius; et proprium nomen Spiritui Sancto, Spiritus Sanctus. In hac trinitate unum Deum colimus: quia ex uno Patre quod est, unius cum Patre naturæ est, unius substantiæ et unius potestatis. Pater Filium genuit, non voluntate, nec necessitate, sed natura. Filius ultimo tempore ad nos salvandos et ad implendas Scripturas descendit a Patre, qui nunquam desit esse cum Patre. Et conceptus est de Spiritu Sancto, et natus ex Virgine. Carnem, et animam, et sensum, hoc est perfectum suscepit hominem; nec amisit, quod erat, sed coepit esse quod non erat, ita tamen ut perfectus in suis sit, et verus in nostris. Nam qui Deus erat, homo natus est, et qui homo natus est, operatur ut Deus, et qui operatur ut Deus, ut homo moritur, et qui ut homo moritur, ut Deus resurgit.

Qui devicto mortis imperio, cum ea carne, qua natus et passus et mortuus fuerat, et resurrexit, ascendit ad Patrem, sedetqne ad dexteram ejus in gloria, quam semper habuit et habet. In hujus morte et sanguine credimus emundatos nos, et ab eo resuscitandos die novissimo, in hac carne, qua nunc vivimus. Et habemus spem nos consequuturos præmium boni meriti, aut penam pro peccatis æterni supplicii. Haec lege, haec crede, haec retine, huic fidei animam tuam subjuga, et vitam consequeris, et præmium a Christo.

EADEM porto docuit et credidit, cum beato Damaso et Athanasio, S. Petrus Alexandrinus Episcopus, sicut facile colligitur ex Trip. Hist. Lib. VII. cap. 37, et Lib. VIII. cap. 14.

Cum autem nos omnes simus hujus fidei religionisque, speramus nos ab omnibus habendos, non pro hæreticis, sed pro Catholicis et Christianis, etc.

CONFESSIO ET EXPOSITIO BREVIS ET SIMPLEX SINCERÆ RELIGIONIS CHRISTIANÆ, ETC.

CAP. I.

DE SCRIPTURA SANCTA, VERO DEI VERBO. [CONF. AUG., ART. V.]

1. Credimus et confitemur, Scripturas Canonicas sanctorum Prophetarum et Apostolorum utriusque Testamenti ipsum verum esse verbum Dei, et auctoritatem sufficientem ex semetipsis, non ex hominibus habere. Nam Deus ipse loquutus est Patribus, Prophetis, et Apostolis, et loquitur adhuc nobis per Scripturas Sanctas.

2. Et in hac Scriptura Sancta habet universalis Christi Ecclesia plenissime exposita, quæcunque pertinent cum ad salvificam fidem, tum ad vitam Deo placentem recte informandam, quo nomine distincte a Deo præceptum est, ne ei aliquid vel addatur vel detrahatur (Deut. iv. 2; Apoc. xxii. 18, 19).

3. Sentimus ergo, ex hisce Scripturis petendam esse veram sapientiam et pietatem, ecclesiarum quoque reformationem et gubernationem, omniumque officiorum pietatis institutionem, probationem denique dogmatum reprobationemque aut errorum confutationem omnium, sed et admonitiones omnes juxta illud Apostoli: Omnis Scriptura divinitus inspirata utilis est ad doctrinam, ad redargutionem, etc. (2 Tim. iii. 16, 17), et iterum, Hæc tibi scribo, inquit ad Timotheum apostolus (in 1 Epist. iii. 15), ut noris, quomodo oporteat, te versari in domo Dei, etc. Et idem ille rursus ad Thess.: Cum (ait) acciperetis sermonem a nobis, accepistis non sermonem hominum, sed sicut cruci vere, sermonem Dei, etc. (1 Thess. ii. 13). Nam ipse in Evangelio dixit Dominus: Non vos estis loquentes illi, sed Spiritus Patris mei loquitur in vobis. Ergo, qui vos audit, me audit; qui autem vos spernit, me spernit (Matt. x. 20; Lue. x. 16; Joh. xiii. 20).

4. Proinde enim hodie hoc Dei verbum per prædicatores legitime vocatos annunciatum in Ecclesia, credimus ipsum Dei verbum annunciari et a fidelibus recipi, neque aliud Dei verbum vel fingendum, vel cœlitus esse exspectandum: atque in præsenti spectandum esse ipsum verbum, quod annunciatum, non annunciantem ministrum, qui, etsi sit malus et peccator, verum tamen et bonum manet nihilominus verbum Dei.

5. Neque arbitramur, prædicationem illam externam tanquam inutilem ideo videri, quoniam pendeat institutio veræ religionis ab interna Spiritus illuminatione: propterea, quod scriptum sit: Non erudit quis proximum suum. Omnes enim cognoscent me (Jer. xxxi. 34), et: Nihil est, qui rigat aut qui plantat, sed qui incrementum dat, Deus (1 Cor. iii. 7). Quamquam enim nemo veniat ad Christum, nisi trahatur a Patre cœlesti (Joh. vi. 44), ac intus illuminetur per Spiritum, scimus tamen, Deum omnino velle prædicari verbum Dei, etiam foris. Evidenter potuisse per Spiritum Sanctum, aut per ministerium angeli absqne ministerio S. Petri instituisse Cornelium in Actis. Deus, ceterum rejicit hunc nihilominus ad Petrum, de quo angelus loquens: Hic, inquit, dicet tibi, quid oporteat te facere (Act. x. 6).

6. Qui enim intus illuminat, donato hominibus Spiritu Sancto, idem ille præcipiens dixit ad discipulos snos: Ite in mundum universum, et prædicate evangelium omni creaturæ (Marc. xvi. 15). Unde Paulus Lydiae apud Philippos purpurariæ prædicavit verbum exterius, interius autem aperuit mulieri cor Dominus (Aet. xvi. 14): Idemque Paulus collocata gradatione eleganti (ad Rom. x. 13-17), tandem infert: Ergo fides ex auditu est; auditus autem per verbum Dei.

7. Agnoscamus interim, Deum illuminare posse homines etiam sine externo ministerio, quos et quando velit, id quod ejus potentia est. Nos autem loquimur de usitata ratione instituendi homines, et præcepto et exemplo tradita nobis a Deo.

8. Execramur igitur omnes haereses Artemonis, Manichæorum, Valentianiorum, Cerdonis et Marcionitarum, qui negarunt Scripturas a Spiritu Sancto profetas: vel quasdam illarum non receperunt, vel interpolarunt et corruperunt.

9. Interim nihil dissimulamus, quosdam Veteris Testamenti libros a veteribus nuncupatos esse apocryphos, ab aliis ecclesiasticos, utpote quos in ecclesiis legi voluerunt quidem, non tamen proferri ad auctoritatem ex his fidei confirmandam. Sicut et Augustinus in lib. de civitate Dei (xviii. 38) commemorat, in libris Regum adduci Prophetarum quorundam nomina et libros, sed addit, hos non esse in canone, ac sufficere ad pietatem eos libros, quos habemus.

CAP. II.

DE INTERPRETANDIS SCRIPTURIS SANCTIS, ET DE PATRIBUS, CONCILIIS, ET TRADITIONIBUS.

1. Scripturas Sanctas, dixit Apostolus Petrus, non esse interpretationis privatæ (2 Pet. i. 20). Proinde non probamus interpretationes quaslibet; unde nec pro vera aut genuina Scripturarum interpretatione agnoscimus eum, quem vocant sensum Romanae ecclesiae, quem scilicet simpliciter Romanae ecclesiae defensores omnibus obtrudere contendunt recipiendum: sed illam duntaxat Scripturarum interpretationem pro orthodoxa et genuina agnoscimus, quae ex ipsis est petita Scripturis (ex ingenio utique ejus linguae, in qua sunt scriptæ, secundum circumstantias item expensæ, et pro ratione locorum vel similium vel dissimilium, plurium¹ quoque et clariorum expositæ), eum regula fidei et caritatis congruit, et ad gloriam Dei hominumque saltem eximie facit.

2. Proinde non aspernamur sanctorum Patrum Graecorum Latino-rumque interpretationes, neque reprobamus eorundem disputationes ac tractationes rerum sacrarum cum Scripturis consentientes: a quibus tamen recedimus modeste, quando aliena a Scripturis aut his contraria adferre deprehenduntur. Nec putamus, illis ullam a nobis hac re injuriam irrogari, cum omnes uno ore nolint sua scripta æquari canonis, sed probare jubeant, quatenus vel consentiant eum illis, vel dissentiant, jubeantque consentientia recipere, recedere vero a dissentientibus.

3. Eodem in ordine collocantur etiam conciliorum definitiones vel canones.

4. Quapropter non patimur, nos in controversiis religionis vel fidei causis urgeri nudis Patrum sententiis aut conciliorum determinationibus, multo minus receptis consuetudinibus, aut etiam multitudine idem sentientium, aut longi temporis præscriptione. Ergo non alium sustinemus in causa fidei judicem, quam ipsum Denū, per Scripturas Sanctas pronunciantem, quid verum sit, quid falsum, quid sequendum sit, quidve fugiendum. Ita judiciis nonnisi spiritualium hominum ex verbo Dei petitis, acquiescimus. Jeremias certe cæterique prophetæ sacerdotum concilia, contra legem Dei instituta, damnarunt graviter, ac monuerunt diligenter, ne audiamus Patres, aut insistamus viae illorum, qui, in suis ambulantes adinventionibus, a lege Dei deflexerunt.

5. Pariter repudiamus traditiones humanas, quæ, tametsi insigniantur speciosis titulis, quasi divinæ apostolicæque sint, viva voce Apostolorum et cen per manus virorum Apostolicorum succedentibus Episcopis, ecclesiae traditæ; compositæ tamen cum Scripturis, ab his discrepant, discrepantiaque illa sua ostendunt, se minime esse Apostolicas. Sicut enim Apostoli inter se diversa non docuerunt, ita et Apostolici non contraria Apostolis ediderunt. Quinimo impium esset adseverare, Apostolos viva voce contraria scriptis suis tradidisse.

6. Paulus disserte dicit: Eadem se in omnibus ecclesiis docuisse (1 Cor. iv. 17); et iterum non alia, inquit, scribimus vobis, quam quæ legitis aut etiam agnoscitis (2 Cor. i. 13). Alibi rursus testatur: Se et discipulos suos (i. e., viros Apostolicos), eadem ambulare via et eodem spiritu pariter facere omnia (2 Cor. xii. 18). Habnerunt quondam et Judæi suas traditiones seniorum, sed refutatae sunt graviter a Domino, ostendente, quod earum observatio legi Dei officiat, et his Deus frustra colatur (Matt. xv. 8, 9; Marc. vii. 6, 7).

CAP. III.

DE DEO, UNITATE EIUS ET TRINITATE. [CONF. AUG., ART. I.]

1. Denim credimus et docemus unum esse essentia vel natura, per se subsistentem, sibi ad omnia sufficientem, invisibilem, incorporeum, immensum, aeternum, creatorem rerum omnium, tum visibilium tum invisibilium, summum bonum, vivum, et ommia vivificantem et conservantem, omnipotentem et summe sapientem, clementem, sive misericordem, justum atque veracem.

2. Pluralitatem vero Deorum abominamur, quod diserte scriptum sit, Dominus Deus tuus unus est (Deut. vi. 4). Ego sum Dominus Deus tuus, non sint tibi dii alieni ante faciem meam (Exod. xx. 2, 3). Ego Dominus et nullus ultra, prater me non est Deus. An non ego Dominus et non est alius prater me solum? Deus justus et salvans, nullus prater me (Isa. xlv. 5). Ego Jehovah, Jehovah Deus, misericors, clemens et longanimes, immense bonitatis et veritatis (Exod. xxxiv. 6).

3. Eundem nihilominus Deum immensum, unum et indivisum, credimus et docemus personis inseparabiliter et inconfuse esse distinctum, Patrem, Filium, et Spiritum Sanctum, ita ut Pater ab aeterno Filium generavit, Filius generatione ineffabili genitus sit, Spiritus Sanctus vero procedat ab utroque, idque ab aeterno, eum utroque adorandus: ita ut sint tres non quidem Dii sed tres Personae consubstantiales, co-aeternae et coaequales, distinctae quoad hypostases, et ordine alia aliam praecedens, nulla tamen inaequalitate. Nam quoad naturam vel essentiam ita sunt conjunctae, ut sint unus Deus, essentiaque divina communis sit Patri, Filio, et Spiritui Sancto.

4. Distinctionem enim personarum manifestam tradidit nobis Scriptura, angelo ad divam virginem inter alia dicente: Spiritus Sanctus superveniet in te et virtus Altissimi obumbrabit tibi, et quod nascetur sanctum, vocabitur Filius Dei (Luc. i. 35). Sed et in baptismo Christi auditur vox cœlitus delata super Christo dicens: Hic est Filius meus dilectus (Matt. iii. 16, 17; Joh. i. 32). Adparebat et Spiritus Sanctus in specie columbae. Cumque ipse juberet baptizare Dominus, jussit baptizare in nomine Patris, et Filii, et Spiritus Sancti (Matt. xxviii. 19). Item alibi in Evangelio dixit: Spiritus Sanctum mittet Pater nomine meo (Joh. xiv. 26). Idem iterum: Cum, inquit, venerit Paracletus, quem ego mittam vobis a Patre, Spiritus veritatis, qui a Patre procedit, ille testimonium perhibebit de me, etc. (Joh. xv. 26). Breviter recipimus Symbolum Apostolorum, quod veram nobis fidem tradit.

5. Damnamus ergo Iudaos et Mahometistas, omnesque sacrosanctam et adorandam hanc trinitatem blasphemantes. Damnamus item omnes haereses atque haereticos, docentes, Filium et Spiritum Sanctum nuncupatione esse Deum; item creatum ac serviens aut alteri officiale esse in trinitate, esse in ea denique inaequale, majus aut minus, corporeum aut corporaliter effigiatum, moribus vel voluntate diversum, aut confusum vel solitarium, quasi Filius et Spiritus Sanctus affectiones et proprietates sint unius Dei Patris, ut Monarchici senserunt, Noëtiani, Praxeas, Patripassiani, Sabellius, Samosatenus, Aëtius, Macedonius, Anthropomorphitæ, Arius, et similes.

CAP. IV.

DE IDOLIS VEL IMAGINIBUS DEI, CHRISTI ET DIVORUM.

1. Quoniam vero Deus Spiritus est invisibilis et immensa essentia, non potest sane ulla arte aut imagine exprimi, unde non veremur, eum Scriptura simulacula Dei mera nuncupare mendacia.

2. Rejiciimus itaque non modo gentium idola, sed et Christianorum simulaera. Tametsi enim Christus humanam assumserit naturam, non ideo tamen assumxit, ut typum preferret statuariis atque pictoribus. Negavit se venisse ad solvendum legem et prophetas (Matt. v. 17); at lege et prophetis prohibite sunt imagines (Dent. vi. 23; Isa. xl. 18). Negavit, corporalem suam ecclesiae profuturam praesentiam; Spiritu suo se nobis perpetuo adfuturum promisit (Joh. xvi. 7; 2 Cor. v. 5).

3. Quis ergo erederet, umbram vel simulaclrum corporis aliquam conferre piis utilitatem? Cumque maneat in nobis per Spiritum suum, sumus utique templa Dei (1 Cor. iii. 16). Quid autem convenit templo Dei cum simulacris? (2 Cor. vi. 16). Et quando beati spiritus ac divi eelites, dum hic viverent, omnem cultum sui averterunt et statuas oppugnarunt (Act. xiv. 15; Apoc. xiv. 7; xxii. 8, 9), cui verisimile videatur, divis cœlitibus et angelis suas placeere imagines, ad quas genna flectunt homines, detegunt capita, alisque prosequuntur honribus?

4. Ut vero instituantur homines in religione, admoneanturque rerum divinarum et salutis suæ, prædicare jussit evangelium Dominus (Mare. xvi. 15), non pingere et pictura laicos erudire: sacramenta quoque instituit, nullibi statuas constituit.

5. Sed et passim, quoquo vertamus oculos, oceurrunt res creatæ a Deo vivæ et verae in oculos nostros, quæ, si observentur, ut par est, longe evidentius movent adspectantem, quam omnes omnium hominum imagines vel picturæ vanæ, immobiles, mareidæ atque mortuæ. De quibus vere dixit Propheta: Oculos habent et non vident, etc. (Psa. cxv. 5, 6, 7).

6. Idecirco adprobamus Lactantii, veteris scriptoris, sententiam, dicentis: ‘Non est dubium, quin religio nulla sit, ubicumque simulaclrum est.’ Reete item fecisse adserimus beatum episcopum Epiphanium, qui in foribus ecclesiæ inveniens velum, habens depictam imaginem quasi Christi vel sancti cuiuspiam, seidit atque sustulit: quod contra auctoritatem Scripturarum vidisset, in Ecclesia Christi hominis pendere imaginem. Ideoque præcipiebat, ne deinceps in Ecclesia Christi ejusmodi vela, quæ contra religionem nostram veniunt, adpenderentur, sed tolleretur potius illa scrupulositas, quæ indigna sit Ecclesia Christi et populis fidelibus. Præterea adprobamus hanc S. Augustini de vera religione sententiam: ‘Non sit nobis religio humanorum operum cul-

tus. Meliores enim sunt ipsi artifices, qui talia fabricantur, quos tamen colere non debemus' (Epist. 55).

CAP. V.

DE ADORATIONE, CULTU ET INVOCATIONE DEI PER UNICUM MEDIATOREM
JESUM CHRISTUM. [CONF. AUG., ART. XXI.]

1. Deum verum docemus solum adorare et colere. Hunc honorem communicamus nemini, juxta mandatum Domini: Dominum Deum tuum adorabis, et illum solum coles, vel, et huic uni servies (Matt. iv. 10). Certe omnes Prophetæ gravissime invecti sunt contra populum Israelis, quandoenque deos alienos, non unum solum Deum verum adorarunt et coluerunt.

2. Adorandum autem colendumque docemus Deum, sicuti ipse nos colere docuit, in spiritu videlicet et veritate (Joh. iv. 29), non cum nulla superstitione, sed cum sinceritate, secundum verbum ejus, ne aliquando ad nos etiam dicat: Quis requisivit haec ex manibus vestris? (Isa. lxvi. 3; Jer. vi. 20.) Nam et Paulus: Deus non colitur, ait, humanis manibus, tanquam, qui ipse aliquo indigeat (Act. xvii. 25).

3. Eudem solum invocamus in omnibus diseriminibus et casibus vitae nostræ, idque per interventum unici mediatoris et intercessoris nostri Jesu Christi. Diserte enim præceptum est nobis: Invoca me in die tribulationis, et eruam te, et glorificabis me (Psa. l. 15). Sed et liberalissime nobis promissum est a Domino dicente: Quidquid petieritis a Patre meo, dabit vobis (Joh. xvi. 23); item: Venite ad me, quotquot laboratis et onerati estis, et ego reficiam vos (Matt. xi. 28). Et cum scriptum sit: Quomodo invocabunt eum, in quem non crediderunt? (Rom. x. 14.) Nos vero eum in solum Deum credamus, solum certe invocamus, et quidem per Christum. Unus enim Deus, ait Apostolus, et unus mediator Dei et hominum Jesus Christus (1 Tim. ii. 5), item, Si quis peccaverit, advocatum habemus apud Patrem Iesum Christum justum (1 Joh. ii. 1).

4. Proinde sanctos cœlites sive divos nec adoramus, neque colimus, nec invocamus, neque illos coram Patre pro intercessoribus aut mediatoribus nostris agnoscimus. Sufficit enim nobis Deus et Mediator Christus, neque honorem soli Deo et Filio ejus debitum aliis communicamus; quod ille diserte dixerit: Gloriam meam alteri non dabo (Isa. xlvi. 8), et quod Petrus dixit: Non aliud hominibus nomen datum est, in quo oporteat salvos fieri, nisi nomen Christi (Act. iv. 12). In quo sane, qui per fidem adquiescunt, non querunt extra Christum quidquam.

5. Interim divos nec contemnimus, nec vulgariter de eis sentimus. Agnoscimus enim, eos esse viva Christi membra, amicos Dei, qui carnem et mundum gloriose vicebunt. Diligimus ergo illos ut fratres, et honoramus etiam, non tamen cultu aliquo, sed honorabili de iis existimatione, denique laudibus justis. Imitamur item eos. Nam imitatores fidei virtutumque ipsorum, consortes item aeternae salutis esse, illis aeternum apud Deum cohabitare et cum eis in Christo exsultare, desideriis votisque ardentissimis exoptamus. Atque hac in parte adprobamus illam S. Augustini de vera religione sententiam: ‘Non sit nobis religio cultus hominum mortuorum. Quia si pie vixerint, non sic habentur, ut tales querant honores, sed illum a nobis coli volunt, quo illuminante, laetantur, meriti sui nos esse conservos. Honorandi ergo sunt propter imitationem, non adorandi propter religionem,’ etc.

6. Multo vero minus credimus, reliquias divorum adorandas esse aut coleendas. Veteres isti sancti satis honorasse videbantur mortuos suos, si honeste mandassent terrae reliquias, postquam astra petiisset spiritus: ac omnium nobilissimas reliquias majorum aestimabant esse virtutes, doctrinam et fidem: quas ut commendabant cum laude mortuorum, ita eas exprimere adhitebant, dum vivebant in terris.

7. Illi ipsi veteres non jurarunt, nisi per nomen solius Dei Jehovah, sicuti lege divina est praeceptum: qua sicut vetitum est jurare per nomina alienorum deorum (Exod. xxiii. 13; Dent. x. 20), sic nos jura menta per divos requisita non praestamus. Rejecimus ergo in his omnibus doctrinam divis cœlitibus plus nimium tribuentem.

CAP. VI.

DE PROVIDENTIA DEI.

1. Dei hujus sapientis, aeterni et omnipotentis providentia credimus eumeta in cœlo et in terra et in creaturis omnibus conservari et gubernari. David enim testificatur et ait: Excelsus super omnes gentes Dominus, et super cœlos gloria ejus. Quis sicut Dominus Deus noster, qui in altis habitat, et se demittit, ut inspiciat, quæ sunt in cœlo et in terra? (Psa. cxiii. 5, 6). Idem rursus: Omnes vias meas prævidisti, quia non est verbum in lingua mea, quod non universum noveris, Domine (Psa. exxxix. 3, 4). Testificatur et Paulus, et ait: Per ipsum vivimus, movemur et sumus (Act. xvii. 28). Et: Ex illo et per illum et in illum omnia (Rom. xi. 36).

2. Verissime ergo et secundum Scripturam pronunciavit Augustinus (in libro De agone Christi, cap. viii.): ‘Dominus dixit, nonne duo passeres asse veniunt, et unus eorum non cadit in terram sine voluntate Patris vestri?’ (Matt. x. 29). Ita vero loquens ostendere voluit, quidquid vilissimum homines putant, omnipotentia Domini gubernari. Sie enim et volatilia cœli ab eo pasci, et lilia agri ab eo vestiri, veritas loquitur, quaæ capillos etiam nostros numeratos esse dicit, etc. (Matt. vi. 26–29).’

3. Damnamus ergo Epicureos, providentiam Dei abnegantes, omnesque illos, qui blasphemè dicunt, Deum versari circa cardines cœli, et nos atque nostra nec videre nec curare. Damnavit hos etiam David, propheta regius, qui dixit: Quousque Domine! quousque impii exsultabunt? Dicunt: Dominus non videt, neque intelligit Deus Jacob. Intelligite stupidi in populo et stulti! quando demum sapientis? Is, qui aurem condidit, an non audiret? et qui oculum finxit, quomodo non videret? (Psa. xciv. 7–9).

4. Interim vero media, per quæ operatur divina providentia, non aspernamus, ut inutilia, sed his hactenus nos accomodandos esse doceamus, quatenus in verbo Dei nobis commendantur. Unde illorum voces temerarias improbamus, qui dicunt: si providentia Dei omnia geruntur, innutiles certe sunt conatus nostri et studia nostra: satis fuerit, si omnia divinae permittamus providentiae gubernanda, nec erit, quod porro simus solliciti de re ulla, aut quidquam faciamus. Tametsi enim Paulus agnosceret, se in Dei providentia navigare, qui ipse dixerat, oportet te et Romæ testificari (Act. xxiii. 11): qui insuper promiserat dixeratque: Jactura nulla erit ullius animæ, nec caulet pilus de capite vestro (Act. xxvii. 22, 34); nihilominus meditantibus fugam nautis, dicit idem ille Paulus centurioni et militibus: Visi hi in nari manserint, vos servari non poteritis (ver. 31). Deus enim, qui euilibet rei suum destinavit finem, is et principium et media, per quæ ad finem usque pervenitur, ordinavit. Ethnici fortunæ res attribuunt cœcæ, vel incerto casui. S. Jacobus non vult, ut dicamus, hodie et cras in illam urbem proficiscemur et negotiabimur, sed addit: Pro eo, quod dicere debueritis, si Dominus voluerit et vixerimus, hoc vel illud faciemus (Jac. iv. 13, 15); et Augustinus: ‘Omnia quae vanis videntur in rerum natura temere fieri, non faciunt, nisi verbum ejus’ (Enarrat. in Psa. cxlviii.). Ita videbatur forte fortuna fieri, quod Saul querens Patris asinas, incidit in prophetam Samuelem, sed antea dixerat Dominus ad prophetam: Cras mittam ad te virum de tribu Benjamin (1 Sam. ix. 16).

CAP. VII.

DE CREATIONE RERUM OMNIUM, DE ANGELIS, DIABOLO, ET HOMINE.

1. Deus hic bonus et omnipotens creavit omnia, cum visibilia, tum invisibilia, per Verbum suum coeternum, eademque quoque conservat per Spiritum suum coeternum, testificante Davide atque dicente: Verbo Dei celi facti sunt, et in Spiritu oris ejus omnis virtus eorum (Psa. xxxiii. 6). Omnia autem, que condidit Deus, erant, ut Scriptura ait, valde bona (Gen. i. 31), et ad utilitatem usumque hominis condita.

2. Cuncta vero illa dicimus ab uno profecta esse principio. Damnamus ergo Manichaeos et Marcionitas, qui impie fingebant duas substantias atque naturas boni et mali, duo item principia, et dnos sibi adversos Deos, bonum et malum.

3. Inter omnes creaturas praestant angeli atque homines. De angelis pronunciat Scriptura divina: Qui creat angelos suos spiritus, et ministros suos flamمام ignis (Psa. civ. 4); item: Nonne omnes sunt administratorii spiritus, qui in ministerium emittuntur, propter eos, qui heredes sunt salutis? (Heb. i. 14).

Dominus vero Jesus ipse testificatur de diabolo: Ille, inquit, homicida erat ab initio, et in veritate non stetit, quia non est veritas in eo; cum loquitur mendacium, ex propriis loquitur, quia mendax est, atque ejus rei pater (Joh. viii. 44).

4. Docemus ergo, angelos alios quidem perstitisse in obedientia, ac ad fidele Dei et hominum ministerium esse deputatos: alios vero sua sponte lapsos, et in exitium esse praecepitos, factosque esse omnis boni fideliumque hostes, etc.

5. Jam vero de homine dicit Scriptura, quod ab initio conditus sit bonus, ad imaginem et similitudinem Dei; quod Deus collocaverit eum in paradisum, subjeceritque ei omnia (Gen. i. 27, 28; ii. 8; v. 1). Id, quod David magnifice celebrat in Psa. viii. Addidit ei insuper conjugem ac benedixit eis (ii. 22 sqq.).

6. Dicimus autem, constare hominem duabus ac diversis quidem substantiis, in una persona, anima immortali, utpote quae separata a corpore, nec dormit, nec interit, et corpore mortali, quod tamen in ultimo judicio a mortuis resuscitabitur, ut totus homo inde, vel in vita, vel in morte, aeternum maneat.

7. Damnamus omnes, qui irrident aut subtilibus disputationibus in dubium vocant immortalitatem animarum, aut animam dicunt dormire, aut partem esse Dei. Breviter, damnamus omnes omnium opiniones, quotquot diversa sentiunt de creatione, de angelis, et demonibus, et homine, ab iis, quae nobis tradita sunt per Scripturas Sanctas, in Apostolica Christi Ecclesia.

CAP. VIII.

DE LAPSU HOMINIS, ET PECCATO [CONF. AUG. 2, ART. XIX.], ET CAUSA PECCATI.

1. Fuit homo ab initio a Deo conditus ad imaginem Dei, in justitia et sanetitate veritatis, bonus et rectus. Sed instinctu serpentis, et sua culpa a bonitate et rectitudine deficiens, peccato, morti, variisque calamitatibus factus est obnoxius. Et qualis factus est a lapsu, tales sunt omnes, qui ex ipso prognati sunt, peccato, inquam, morti, variisque obnoxii calamitatibus.

2. Peccatum autem intelligimus esse nativam illam hominis corruptionem, ex primis illis nostris parentibus, in nos omnes derivatam vel propagatam, qua concupiscentiis pravis immersi, et a bono aversi, ad omne vero malum propensi, pleni omni nequitia, diffidentia, contemptu et odio Dei, nihil boni ex nebris ipsis facere, imo ne cogitare quidem possumus.

3. Quinimo aeccedentibus jam etiam annis, cogitationibus, dictis et factis pravis contra legem Dei admissis, corruptos fructus, mala arbores dignos, proferimus (Matt. xii. 33): quo nomine, merito nostro, irae Dei obnoxii, penitus subjicimur justis; adeoque a Deo abjecti essemus omnes, nisi reduxisset nos Christus liberator.

4. Per mortem itaque intelligimus non tantum corpoream mortem, quae omnibus nobis semel, propter peccata, est obeunda, sed etiam supplicia sempiterna, peccatis et corruptioni nostrae debita. Nam Apostolus: Eramus mortui, inquit, delictis ac peccatis, et eramus naturâ filii iræ, sicut et ceteri. Sed Deus, qui dives est misericordia, cum essemus mortui per delicta, convivificavit nos una cum Christo (Eph. ii. 1, 3, 4, 5). Item: Sicut per unum hominem peccatum in mundum introiit, ac per peccatum mors, et ita in omnes homines mors transiit, in quo omnes peccarunt (Rom. v. 12).

5. Agnoscimus ergo, in omnibus hominibus esse originale peccatum; agnoscimus, omnia alia peccata, quæ ex hoc oriuntur, et dici, et vere esse peccata, qualicunque nomine nuncupentur, sive mortalia, sive venalia, sive illud quoque, quod vocatur peccatum in Spiritum Sanctum, quod nunquam remittitur (Marc. iii. 29; 1 Joh. v. 16).

6. Fatemur etiam, peccata non esse æqualia, licet ex eodem corruptionis et incredulitatis fonte exoriantur, sed alia aliis esse graviora. Sicut Dominus dixit: Sodomæ tolerabilius futurum, quam urbi rei- ciente verbum evangelii (Matt. x. 14, 15; xi. 24; 1 Joh. v. 16, 17).

7. Damnamus ergo omnes, qui his contraria docuerunt, imprimis vero Pelagium et omnes Pelagianos, una cum Jovinianistis, peccata cum Stoicis paria facientibus. Sentimus per omnia in hac causa cum S. Augustino, qui sua ex Scripturis Sanctis protulit atque defendit.

8. Damnamus præterea Florinum et Blastum, contra qnos et Irenæus scripsit, et omnes, qui Deum faciunt auctorem peccati. Cum diserte scriptum sit: Tu non es Deus, qui velit iniquitatem. Odisti omnes, qui operantur iniquitatem, perdes omnes, qui loquuntur mendacium (Psa. v. 5-7). Et iterum: Cum loquitur diabolus mendacium, ex propriis loquitur, quia mendax est, et pater ejus rei (Joh. viii. 44). Sed et in nobis ipsis satis est vitii corruptionisque, ut nihil necesse sit, Deum infundere nobis novam aut auctiorem pravitatem.

9. Proinde quando dicitur in Scripturis Deus indurare, excœcare, et tradere in reprobum sensum, intelligendum id est, quod justo judicio Deus id faciat, tanquam judex et ultior justus. Denique quotiescumque Deus aliquid mali in Scriptura facere dicitur atque videtur, non ideo dicitur, quod homo malum non faciat, sed quod Deus fieri sinat et non prohibeat, justo suo judicio, qui prohibere potuisset, si voluisset; vel, quod malo hominum bene utatur, ut peccatis fratrum Josephi: vel quod ipse peccata gubernet, ne latius, quam par est, erumpant atque grassetur. S. Augustinus, in Enchiridio suo, ‘Miro modo, inquit, et ineffabili non sit praeter voluntatem ejus, quod etiam sit contra voluntatem ejus. Quia non fieret, si fieri non sineret. Nec utique nolens sinit, sed volens. Nec sineret bonus fieri male, nisi omnipotens etiam de malo facere posset bene.’ Hæc ille.¹

10. Reliquas quaestiones, an Deus voluerit labi Adamum, aut impulerit ad lapsum, aut quare lapsus non impediverit, et similes quaestiones deputamus inter curiosas (nisi forte cum hæreticorum aut aliqui importunorum hominum improbitas cogit ista etiam ex verbo Dei explicare, sicut fecerunt non raro pii ecclesiæ doctores), scientes Dominum prohibuisse, ne homo ederet de fructu prohibito, et transgressio nem punivisse; sed et mala non esse, quæ fiunt, respectu providentiae Dei, voluntatis ac potestatis Dei, sed respectu Satanæ et voluntatis nostræ, voluntati Dei repugnantis.

CAP. IX.

DE LIBERO ARBITRIO ADEOQUE VIRIBUS HOMINIS. [CONF. AUG., ART. XVIII.]

1. Docemus in hac causa, quæ semper in Ecclesia multas peperit conflictationes, conditionem vel statum hominis triplicem esse considerandum. Principio qualis fuerit homo ante lapsus, rectus nimis et liber, qui et in bono manere et ad malum potuerit declinare; declinaverit autem ad malum, implicaveritque peccato et morti, et se, et omne genus mortalium, sicuti dictum est antea.

2. Deinde considerandum est, qualis fuerit homo post lapsus. Non sublatus est quidem homini intellectus, non erepta ei voluntas, et prorsus in lapidem vel trunenum² est commutatus; ceterum illa ita sunt immutata et immutata in homine, ut non possint amplius, quod potuerunt ante lapsus. Intellectus enim obscuratus est, voluntas vero ex libera facta est voluntas serva. Nam servit peccato, non nolens, sed volens.

3. Etenim voluntas non noluntas dicitur. Ergo quoad malum sive peccatum, homo non coactus vel a Deo vel a diabolo, sed sua sponte, malum facit; et hac parte liberrimi est arbitrii. Quod vero non raro cernimus, pessima hominis facinora et consilia impediri a Deo, ne finem suum consequantur, non tollit homini libertatem in malo, sed Deus potentia sua prævenit, quod homo alias libere instituit, sicut fratres Josephi Josephum libere instituunt tollere; sed non possunt, quod Dei consilio aliud visum esset.

4. Quantum vero ad bonum et ad virtutes, intellectus hominis non recte judicat de divinis ex semetipso. Requirit enim Scriptura Evangelica et Apostolica regenerationem abs quolibet nostrum, qui salvari velimus. Unde nativitas prior ex Adamo ad salutem nihil nobis confert. Paulus, animalis homo, ait, non percipit ea, quae sunt Spiritus Dei, etc. (1 Cor. ii. 14). Idem: Negat alicubi nos idoneos esse, ex nobis ipsis cogitare aliquid boni (2 Cor. iii. 5).

5. Constat vero, mentem vel intellectum ducem esse voluntatis, eum antem cœcus sit dux, claret, quousque et voluntas pertingat. Proinde nullum est ad bonum homini arbitrium liberum, nondum renato, vires nullæ ad perficiendum bonum. Dominus in Evangelio dicit: Amen, amen dico vobis, quod omnis, qui facit peccatum, servus est peccati (Joh. viii. 34). Et Paulus Apostolus: Affectus carnis, inquit, inimicitia est adversus Deum, nam legi Dei non subditur, imo ne potest quidem (Rom. viii. 7).

6. Porro terrenarum rerum intelligentia in lapso homine non est nulla. Reliquit enim Deus ex misericordia ingenium, multum tamen distans ab eo, quod inerat ante lapsum. Jubet Dens excolere ingenium, et addit dona simul et profectum. Et manifestum est, quam nihil proficiamus in artibus omnibus sine benedictione Dei. Scriptura certe omnes artes ad Deum refert. Nam et ethnici retulerunt artium origines ad inventores Deos.

7. Postremo videndum, an regenerati sint liberi arbitrii, et quatenus. In regeneratione intellectus illuminatur, per Spiritum Sanctum, ut et mysteria et voluntatem Dei intelligat. Et voluntas ipsa non tantum mutatur per Spiritum, set etiam instruitur facultatibus, ut sponte velit et possit bonum (Rom. viii. 5, 6). Nisi hoc dederimus, negabimus Christianam libertatem, et inducemos legalem servitutem. Sed et Prophetæ facit Deum loquentem: Dabo legem meam in mentes illorum, et in cordibus eorum inscribam eas (Jer. xxxi. 33). Dominus quoque dicit in Evangelio: Si Filius vos liberaverit, vere liberi estis

(Joh. viii. 36; Ezek. xxxvi. 26). Paulus quoque ad Philippenses (i. 24): Vobis, donatum est, inquit, pro Christo, non solum, ut in eum credatis, sed etiam ut pro illo patiamini. Et iterum: Persuasum habeo, quod is, qui caput in vobis bonum opus, perficiet usque ad diem Domini Jesu (Phil. i. 6); item: Deus est, qui agit in vobis, et ut velitis, et ut officiatis (Phil. ii. 13).

8. Ubi interim duo observanda esse docemus: Primum, regeneratos in boni electione et operatione, non tantum agere passive, sed active. Aguntur enim a Deo, ut agant ipsi, quod agunt. Recte enim Augustinus adducit illud, quod Dens dicitur noster adjutor. Nequit autem adjuvari, nisi is, qui aliquid agit. Manichæi spoliabant hominem omni actione, et veluti saxum et trunenum faciebant.

9. Secundum, in regeneratis remanere infirmitatem. Cum enim inhabitet in nobis peccatum, et caro in renatis obluctetur spiritui, in finem usque vitae nostræ, non expedite omnino perficiunt regenerati, quod instituerant. Confirmantur haec ab Apostolo ad Rom. vii. et Gal. v.

10. Proinde infirmum est nostrum illud liberum arbitrium, propter reliquias remanentis in nobis, ad finem usque vitae nostræ, veteris Adami, agnataeque corruptionis humanæ. Interim cum carnis vires et reliquiae veteris hominis non ita sint efficaces, ut extinguant penitus Spiritus operationem; idcirco fideles liberi dicuntur, ita tamen, ut agnoscent infirmitatem, et nihil gloriantur de libero arbitrio. Semper enim animis fidelium obversari debet, quod toties inculeat beatus Augustinus ex Apostolo: Quid habes, quod non accepisti, et si accepisti, quid gloriaris, quasi non acceperis? (1 Cor. iv. 7). His accedit, quod non statim evenit, quod institueramus. Eventus enim rerum positi sunt in manu Dei. Unde Paulus orat Dominum, ut prosperet iter suum (Rom. i. 10). Unde vel haec causa infirmum est liberum arbitrium.

11. Ceterum nemo negat, in externis, et regenitos et non regenitos habere liberum arbitrium; habet enim homo hanc constitutionem cum animantibus aliis (quibus non est inferior) communem, ut alia velit, alia nolit. Ita loqui potest, aut tacere, domo egredi, vel domi manere, etc. Quamvis semper et hic potentia Dei observanda sit: quæ effecit, ut Balaam eo non posset pertingere, quo volebat (Num. xxiv.), neque Zacharias, rediens ex templo, loqui posset, prout volebat (Luc. i. 22).

12. Damnamus haec in causa Manichaeos, qui negant, homini bono ex libero arbitrio fuisse initium mali. Damnamus etiam Pelagianos, qui dicunt, hominem malum sufficienter habere liberum arbitrium, ad faciendum praeceptum bonum. Redarguuntur utriusque a Scriptura Sancta, quae illis dicit: Fecit Deus hominem rectum (Eccles. vii. 29), his vero dicit: Si Filius vos liberaverit, vere liberi estis (Joh. viii. 36).

CAP. X.

DE PRÆDESTINATIONE DEI ET ELECTIONE SANCTORUM.

1. Deus ab æterno prædestinavit vel elegit libere et mera sua gratia, nullo hominum respectu, sanctos, quos vult salvos facere in Christo, juxta illud Apostoli: Deus elegit nos in ipso, antequam jacerentur fundamenta mundi (Eph. i. 4), et iterum: Qui salvos fecit nos, et vocavit vocatione sancta, non secundum opera nostra, sed secundum suum propositum et gratiam, que data quidem est nobis, per Jesum Christum, ante tempora aeterna, sed palam facta est nunc per apparitionem Servatoris nostri Iesu Christi (2 Tim. i. 9, 10).

2. Ergo non sine medio, licet non propter ullum meritum nostrum, sed in Christo et propter Christum, nos elegit Deus, ut qui jam sunt in Christo insiti per fidem, illi ipsi etiam sint electi, reprobi vero, qui sunt extra Christum, secundum illud Apostoli: Vos ipsos tentate, num sitis in fide. An non cognoscitis vosmet ipsos, quod Jesus Christus in vobis est? nisi sicubi reprobi estis (2 Cor. xiii. 5).

3. Denique electi sunt sancti in Christo per Deum ad finem certum, quem et ipsum exponit Apostolus et ait: Elegit nos in ipso, ut essemus sancti et irreprehensibles coram illo per caritatem; qui prædestinavit nos, ut adoptaret in filios per Jesum Christum, in sese, ut laudetur gloria gratiae sue (Eph. i. 4, 5, 6).

4. Et quanvis Deus norit, qui sint sui, et alicubi mentio fiat paucitatis electorum, bene sperandum est tamen de omnibus, neque temere reprobis quisquam est adnumerandus. Paulus certe ad Philippienses: Gratias ago, inquit, pro omnibus vobis (loquitur autem de tota Ecclesia Philippiensi), quod reveritis in communionem evangelii, persuasum habens, quod is, qui cepit opus bonum in vobis, perficiet, sicut justum est, ut hoc sentiam de vobis omnibus (Phil. i. 3-7).

5. Et cum (Luc. xiii.) rogaretur Dominus: an pauci sint, qui sal-ventur? non respondet Dominus ac dicit, paucos aut plures fore servandos, aut perdendos, sed hortatur potius, ut quisque contendat ingredi per portam arctam. Quasi dixerit, vestrum non est, de his curiosius inquirere, sed magis admiti, ut per rectam viam eorum ingrediamini.

6. Proinde non probamus impias quorundam voces, qui dicunt: pauci sunt electi, et cum mihi non constet, an sim in illo paucorum numero, genium meum non fraudabo. Alii dicunt: si praedestinatus vel electus sum a Deo, nihil impediet me a salute certo jam definita, quicquid tandem designavero. Si vero sum de reproborum numero, nulla me vel fides vel punitentia juvabit, cum definitio Dei mutari non possit. Itaque inutiles sunt doctrinæ et admonitiones omnes. Nam contra hos pugnat illud Apostoli: Oportet servum Domini propensum esse ad docendum, erudientem eos, qui obsistunt, si quando det Deus illis punitentiam, ad agnoscendum veritatem, ut resipiscant a laquo diaboli, capti ab eo ad ejus voluntatem (2 Tim. ii. 24-26).

7. Sed et Augustinus de bono perseverantiae cap. xiv. et conseq. ostendit, utrumque esse prædicandum et liberæ electionis prædestinationis gratiam, et admonitiones et doctrinas salutares. Improbamus itaque illos, qui extra Christum querunt: an sint electi? Et quid ante omnem æternitatem de ipsis statuerit Deus?

8. Audienda est enim prædicatio Evangelii, eique credendum est: et pro indubitate habendum, si credis ac sis in Christo, electum te esse. Pater enim prædestinationis suæ æternam sententiam, sicut modo ex Apostolo (2 Tim. i.) exposui, in Christo nobis aperuit. Docendum ergo et considerandum ante omnia, quantus amor Patris erga nos in Christo nobis sit revelatus; audiendum, quid nobis quotidie in Evangelio ipse Dominus prædicet, quomodo vocet et dicat: Venite ad me omnes, qui laborati et onerati estis, ego vos reficiam (Matt. xi. 28). Sic Deus dilexit mundum, ut unigenitum dederit pro mundo, ut omnis, qui credit in eum non pereat, sed habeat vitam æternam (Joh. iii. 16). Item: Non est voluntas Patris, ut quisquam de his pusillis pereat (Matt. xviii. 14).

9. Christus itaque sit speculum, in quo prædestinationem nostram contemplemur. Satis perspicuum et firmum habebimus testimonium, nos in libro vitae inscriptos esse, si communicaverimus cum Christo, et is in vera fide noster sit, nos ejus simus. Consoletur nos in tentatione prædestinationis, qua vix alia est periculosior, quod promissiones Dei sunt universales fidelibus, quod ipse ait: Petite et accipietis. Omnis, qui petit, accipit (Luc. xi. 9, 10).

10. Quod denique cum universa Dei Ecclesia oramus: ‘Pater noster, qui es in cœlis;’ et quod baptismo sumus insiti corpori Christi, et pascimur in Ecclesia ejus carne et sanguine frequenter ad vitam æternam. His confirmati cum timore et tremore, juxta Pauli præceptum, nostram salutem operari jubemur (Phil. ii. 12).

CAP. XI.

DE JESU CURISTO, VERO DEO ET HOMINE, UNICO MUNDI SALVATORE.
[CONF. AUG., ART. III.]

1. Credimus præterea et docemus, Filium Dei Dominum nostrum Jesum Christum ab æterno prædestinatum vel præordinatum esse a Patre salvatorem mundi: credimusque hunc esse genitum, non tantum, eum ex virgine Maria carnem adsumsitus, nec tantum ante jaeta fundamenta mundi, sed ante omnem æternitatem, et quidem a Patre, ineffabiliter. Nam Esaias dixit: Generationem ejus quis enarrabit? (lili. 8); et Micheas: Et egressus ejus a diebus æternitatis (v. 2). Nam et Joannes in Evangelio dixit: In principio erat verbum, et verbum erat apud Deum, et Deus erat verbum (i. 1).

2. Proinde Filius est Patri juxta divinitatem coæqualis et consubtantialis, Deus verus, non muneratione, aut adoptione, aut ulla dignatione, sed substantia atque natura (Phil. ii. 6), sicut Joannes Apostolus iterum dixit: Hic est verus Deus, et vita aeterna (1 Joh. v. 20); et Paulus quoque: Filium, ait, constituit heredem omnium, per quem et secula fecit: idem est splendor glorie et character substantie ejus, portans omnia verbo potentiae suæ (Heb. i. 2, 3). Nam in Evangelio ipse quoque Dominus dixit: Pater glorifica tu me apud temet ipsum gloria, quam habui, priusquam hic mundus esset, apud te (Joh. xvii. 5). Nam et alibi in Evangelio seribitur: Judei quarebant occidere Jesum, quod Patrem suum dixisset Deum, aequalem se ipsum faciens Deo (Joh. v. 18).

3. Abominamur ergo Arii et omnium Arianorum impiam contra Filium Dei doctrinam, imprimis vero Michaelis Serveti, Hispani et Servetanorum omnium blasphemias, quas contra Dei Filium Satan perillos, veluti ex inferis hausit et in orbem audacissime et impiissime dispergit.

4. Eundem quoque aeterni Dei aeternum Filium credimus et docemus hominis factum esse filium, ex semine Abrahæ atque Davidis, non ex viri coitu, quod Ebion dixit, sed conceptum purissime ex Sp̄itu Sancto, et natum ex Maria semper virginē: sicut diligenter nobis historia explicat evangelica (Matt. i.). Et Paulus ait: Nulli angelos adsumit, sed semen Abrahæ (Heb. ii. 16). Joannes item Apostolus, qui non credit, Jesum Christum in carne venisse, ex Deo non est (1 Joh. iv. 3). Caro ergo Christi nec phantastica fuit, nec cœlitus adlata, sicuti Valentinus et Marcion somniabant.

5. Praeterea anima fuit Domino nostro Jesu Christo non absque sensu et ratione, ut Apollinaris sentiebat, neque caro absque anima, ut Eunomius decebat, sed anima cum ratione sua, et caro cum sensib⁹ suis, per quos sensus veros dolores tempore passionis suæ sustinuit; sicuti et ipse testatus est, et dixit: Tristis est anima mea usque ad mortem (Matt. xxvi. 36–38), et nunc anima mea turbata est (Joh. xii. 27).

6. Agnoscimus ergo in uno atque eodem Domino nostro Jesu Christo duas naturas vel substantias, divinam et humanam (Heb. iv. 14); et has ita dicimus conjunctas et unitas esse, ut absorptæ, aut confusæ, aut inmixtæ non sint, sed salvis potius et permanentibus naturarum proprietatibus, in una persona, unitæ vel coniunctæ; ita ut unum Christum Dominum, non duos veneremur: unum inquam verum Denū, et hominem, juxta divinam naturam Patri, juxta humanam vero nobis hominibus consubstantialem, et per omnia similem, peccato excepto (Heb. iv. 15).

7. Etenim, ut Nestorianum dogma ex uno Christo duos faciens, et unionem personæ dissolvens, abominamur: ita Eutychetis et Monothelitarum vel Monophysicorum vesaniam, expungentem naturæ humanae proprietatem execramur¹ penitus.

8. Ergo minime docemus, naturam in Christo divinam passam esse, aut Christum secundum humanam naturam adhuc esse in hoc mundo, adeoque esse ubique. Neque enim vel sentimus, vel docemus, veritatem corporis Christi a clarificatione desiisse, aut deificatam, adeoque sic deificatam esse, ut suas proprietates, quoad corpus et animam depo-

9. Et proinde Schwenkfeldii similiumque leptologorum inargutas argutias, intricatas, obseurasque, et parum sibi constantes hac de re dissertationes, haudquaquam probamus aut recipimus, neque Schwenkfeldiani sumus.

10. Praeterea credimus, Dominum nostrum Jesum Christum vere passum et mortuum esse pro nobis, sicut Petrus ait, carne (1 Pet. iv. 8). Abominamur Jacobitarum et omnium Turcarum, passionem Domini exsecrantium, impiissimam vesaniam. Interim non negamus et Dominum glorie juxta verba Pauli, crucifixum esse pro nobis (2 Cor. ii. 8). Nam communicationem idiomatum, ex Scripturis petitam, et ab universa vetustate in explicandis componendisque Scripturarum locis in speciem pugnantibus, usurpatam, religiose et reverenter recipimus et usurpamus.

11. Credimus et docemus, eundem Dominum nostrum Jesum Christum vera sua carne, in qua crucifixus et mortuus fuerat, a mortuis resurrexisse, et non aliam pro sepulta excitasse, aut spiritum pro carne suscepisse, sed veritatem corporis retinuisse. Ergo dum discipuli ejus arbitrarentur, se Domini spiritum videre, exhibit eis manus atque pedes, stigmatibus utique clavorum et vulnerum notatas, et addit: Adspicite manus meas et pedes meos: quia ego ipse sum. Contrectate me et videte: quia spiritus carnem et ossa non habet, sicut videtis me habere (Luc. xxiv. 39).

12. In eadem illa carne sua credimus adscendisse Dominum nostrum Jesum Christum, supra omnes cœlos adspectabiles, in ipsum cœlum supremum, sedem videlicet Dei et beatorum, ad dextram Dei Patris, quæ, etsi et gloriæ majestatisque consortium æquale significet, accipitur tamen et pro loco certo, de quo in Evangelio loquens Dominus dicit, se abitum et suis paraturum locum (Joh. xiv. 2). Sed et Apostolus Petrus: Oportet Christum, inquit, cœlum accipere, usque ad tempus restitutionis omnium (Act. iii. 21).

13. [Conf. Aug., Art. XVII.] Ex cœlis autem idem ille redibit in judicium, tum, quando summa erit in mundo consevelatio, et anti-christus, corrupta religione vera, superstitione impietateque omnia opplevit, et sanguine atque flamma ecclesiam crudeliter vastavit. Redabit autem Christus, adserturnus suos, et aboliturnus adventu suo antichristum, judicaturusque vivos et mortuos. Resurgent enim mortui, et qui illa die (quae omnibus incognita est creaturis) superstites futuri sunt, mutabuntur in momento oculi, fidelesque omnes una obviam Christo rapientur in aëra, ut inde cum ipso ingrediantur in sedes beatas sine fine victuri (Act. xvii. 31; 1 Thess. iv. 15-17; Marc. xiii. 32; 1 Cor. xv. 51; Matt. xxv. 41). Increduli vero vel impii descendunt cum dæmonibus ad tartara, in sempiternum arsuri, atque ex tormentis numquam liberandi.

14. Damnatus ergo omnes negantes veram carnis resurrectionem (2 Tim. ii. 18), aut qui cum Joanne Hierosolymano, contra quem scripsit Hieronymus, non recte sentiunt de clarificatis corporibus. Damnamus eos, qui senserunt, et dæmones et impios omnes aliquando servandos, et pœnarum finem futurum. Simpliciter enim prouinciauit Dominus: Ignis eorum numquam extinguitur, et vermis eorum non moritur (Marc. ix. 44). Damnatus praeterea Judaica somnia, quod ante judicii diem aureum in terris sit futuram seculum, et pii regna mundi occupaturi, oppressis suis hostibus impiis. Nam Evangelica veritas (Matt. xxiv. et xxv.; Lue., item xviii.) et Apostolica doctrina (2 Thess. ii., et in 2 Tim. iii. et iv. capite) longe aliud perhibere inveniuntur.

15. Porro passione vel morte sua omnibusque adeo, quae a suo in carne adventu nostra causa fecit et pertulit, reconciliavit omnibus fidelibus Dominus noster Patrem cœlestem, expiavit peccatum, exarmavit mortem, condemnationemque et inferos confregit, ac resurrectione sua ex mortuis vitam immortalitatemque reduxit ac restituit (Rom. iv. 25; x. 4; 1 Cor. xv. 17; Joh. vi. 45; xi. 25, 26). Ipse enim est justitia nostra, vita et resurrectio, denique plenitudo et absolutio fidelium omnium, salusque et sufficientia abundantissima. Apostolus enim, sic placuit Patri, inquit, omnem in ipso habitare plenitudinem, et in ipso estis completi (Col. i. 19 et ii. 10).

16. Docemus enim ac eredimus, hunc Jesum Christum, Dominum nostrum, unicum et æternum generis humani adeoque totius mundi esse Servatorem, in quo per fidem servi sint, quotquot ante legem, sub lege, et sub Evangelio salvati sunt, et quotquot adhuc in finem usque seculi salvabuntur. Nam ipse Dominus in Evangelio dicit: Qui non intrat per ostium in stabulum ovium, sed auseendit aliunde, ille fur est et latro. Ego sum ostium ovium (Joh. x. 1, 2). Item alibi in eodem Evangelio (viii. 56): Abraham vidit diem meum, et gavissus est. Sed et Petrus Apostolus: Non est in quoquam alio, inquit, nisi in Christo salus. Neque aliud nomen est sub cœlo datum inter homines, in quo oporteat nos salvos fieri (Act. iv. 12 et x. 43). Credimus ergo per gratiam Domini Jesu Christi nos servatumiri, sicuti et Patres nostros (Act. xv. 11). Nam et Paulus ait: Omnes Patres nostros eandem escam spiritualem edisse; et omnes eundem potum spiritualem bibisse; bibisse autem de spirituali ipsis consequente petra, petram vero Christum fuisse (1 Cor. x. 3, 4). Ideoque legimus, et Joannem dixisse, Christum esse agnum illum, qui occisus sit ab origine mundi (Apoc. xiii. 8); et Baptistam testatum: Christum esse agnum illum Dei, qui tollat peccatum mundi (Joh. i. 29).

17. Unde pleno ore profitemur, et prædicamus, Jesum Christum unicum esse mundi Redemptorem et Salvatorem, regem et pontificem maximum, Messiam verum et exspectatum illum, inquam, sanctum benedictum, quem omnes legis typi et vaticinia prophetarum præfigurarint atque promiserint, Deus autem præstiterit ac miserit illum nobis, ut alius porro non sit ullus nobis exspectandus. Nec restat jam aliud, quam ut omnes omnem gloriam Christo tribuamus, in ipsum credamus, et in ipso solo adquiescamus, omnibus aliis vitae præsidiis spretis atque abjectis. Nam gratia Dei exciderunt, et Christum inanem sibi reddunt, quotquot salutem in alia re ulla, quam in uno Christo querunt (Gal. v. 4).

18. Et ut paucis multa hujus causæ dicamus, quæcunque de incarnationis Domini nostri Jesu Christi mysterio definita sunt ex Scripturis Sanctis, et comprehensa symbolis ac sententiis quatuor primarum et præstantissimarum synodorum, celebratarum Niceæ, Constantinopoli, Ephesi et Chalcedone, una cum beati Athanasii symbolo, et omnibus his similibus symbolis, credimus corde sincero, et ore libero ingenuo profitemur, condemnantes omnia his contraria.

Atque ad hunc modum retinemus inviolatam sive integrum fidem Christianam, orthodoxam atque Catholicam: scientes, symbolis prædictis nihil contineri, quod non sit conforme verbo Dei, et prorsus faciat ad sinceram fidei explicationem.

CAP. XII.

DE LEGE DEI.

1. Docemus, lege Dei exponi nobis voluntatem Dei, quid a nobis fieri velit aut nolit, quid bonum et justum, quidve malum sit et injustum. Bonam igitur et sanctam confitemur esse legem. Et hanc quidem alias digito Dei inscriptam esse in corda hominum, vocarique legem nature (Rom. ii. 15), alias autem digito insculptam esse in tabulas Mosis geminas, et libris Mosis copiosius expositam (Exod. xx.; Deut. v.). Distinguimus illam, perspicuitatis gratia, in moralem, quae comprehenditur decalogo vel geminis tabulis, per Mosis libros expositis, in ceremonialem item, quae de cæremoniis cultuque Dei constituit, et in iudicialem, quae versatur circa politica atque œconomica.

2. Credimus, hac Dei lege omnem Dei voluntatem, et omnia præcepta necessaria, ad omnem vitæ partem, plenissime tradi. Alioqui enim non vetuisset Dominus, huic legi nihil vel addi vel adimi (Deut. iv. 2); non præcepisset, recta ad hanc incidi, neque in dextram vel sinistram deflexo itinere, declinare (Isa. xxx. 21).

3. Docemus, legem hanc non datam esse hominibus, ut ejus justificemur observatione: sed ut ex ejus indicio infirmitatem potius, peccatum atque condemnationem agnoscamus, et de viribus nostris desprantes, convertamur ad Christum in fide. Aperte enim Apostolus: Lex iram, ait, operatur (Rom. iv. 15). Per legem agnitio peccati (Rom. iii. 20). Si data fuisset lex, qua posset justificare, vel vivificare, vere ex lege esset justitia: sed conclusit Scriptura (legis nimirum) omnia sub peccatum, ut promissio ex fide Jesu daretur credentibus. Itaque lex paedagogus noster ad Christum fuit, ut ex fide justificaremur (Gal. iii. 21, 22, 24). Neque vero potuit aut potest ulla caro legi Dei satisfacere, et hanc adimplere, ob imbecillitatem in carne nostra, ad extrellum usque spiritum in nobis haerentem aut remanentem. Rursum enim Apostolus: Quod lex prestare non poterat, inquit, quia imbecillis erat per carnem, hoc Deus, proprio Filio misso sub specie carnis peccato obnoxie, prestitit (Rom. viii. 3). Idecirco Christus est perfectio legis et adimpletio nostra (Rom. x. 4), qui ut execrationem legis sustulit, dum factus est pro nobis mulcictio, vel execratio (Gal. iii. 13), ita communicat nobis per fidem adimpletionem suam, nobisque ejus imputatur justitia et obedientia.

4. Hactenus itaque abrogata est lex Dei, quatenus nos amplius non damnat, nec iram in nobis operatur. Sumus enim sub gratia, et non sub lege. Præterea implevit Christus omnes legis figuræ. Unde umbrae cesserunt, corpore adveniente, ut jam in Christo et veritatem habeamus et omnem plenitudinem. Attamen legem non ideo fastidientes rejicimus. Meminimus enim verborum Domini, dicentis: Non veni legem et prophetas solvere, sed implere (Matt. v. 17). Seimus, lege nobis tradi formulas virtutum atque vitiorum. Scimus, Scripturam legis, si exponatur per Evangelium, Ecclesiæ esse utilem, et idcirco ejus lectionem non exterminandam esse ex Ecclesia. Licet enim velo obiectus fuerit Mosis vultus, Apostolus tamen prohibet, velum per Christum tolli atque aboleri. Damnamus omnia, quæ hæretici veteres et neoterici contra legem Dei docuerunt.

CAP. XIII.

DE EVANGELIO JESU CHRISTI, DE PROMISSIONIBUS, ITEM SPIRITU ET LITERA.

1. Evangelium quidem opponitur legi. Nam lex iram operatur, et maledictionem adnunciat; Evangelium vero gratiam et benedictionem prædicat. Sed et Joannes dicit: Lex per Mosen data est, gratia et veritas per Jesum Christum exorta est (Joh. i. 17; nihilominus tamen certissimum est, eos, qui ante legem et sub lege fuerunt, non omnino destitutos fuisse Evangelio. Habuerunt enim promissiones evangelicas insignes, quales hæ sunt: Semen mulieris conculcabit caput serpentis (Gen. iii. 15). In semine tuo benedicentur omnes gentes (Gen. xxii. 18). Non auferetur sceptrum de Juda, nisi prius venerit Silo (Gen. xlix. 10). Prophetam excitabit Dominus de medio fratrum, etc. (Deut. xviii. 18).

2. Et quidem agnoscamus, Patribus duo fuisse promissionum genera, sicuti et nobis, revelata. Aliæ enim erant rerum præsentium vel terrenarum, quales sunt promissiones de terra Canaan, de victoriis, et quales hodie adhuc sunt de pane quotidiano. Aliæ vero erant tune, et sunt etiam nunc, rerum cœlestium et æternarum, gratiæ videlicet divinæ, remissionis peccatorum, et vitæ æternæ, per fidem in Jesum Christum. Habuerunt autem veteres non tantum externas vel terrenas, sed spirituales etiam cœlestesque promissiones, in Christo. Nam de salute, ait Petrus, exquisiverunt et scrutati sunt prophete, qui de ventura in nos gratia vaticinati sunt, etc. (1 Pet. i. 10). Unde et Paulus Apostolus dixit: Evangelium Dei ante promissum esse per prophetas Dei, in Scripturis sanctis (Rom. i. 2). Inde nimurum claret, veteres non prorsus destitutos fuisse omni Evangelio.

3. Et, quamvis ad hunc modum patres nostri in Scripturis prophetarum habuerint Evangelium, per quod salutem in Christo per fidem consequenti sunt, Evangelium tamen proprie illud dicitur laetum et felix nuncium, quod nobis primum per Joannem Baptistam, deinde per ipsum Christum Dominum, postea per Apostolos ejus Apostolorumque successores praedicatum est mundo, Deum jam praestitisse, quod ab exordio mundi promisit, ac misisse, imo donavisse nobis Filium unicum, et in hoc reconciliationem eum Patre, remissionem peccatorum, omnem plenitudinem, et vitam aeternam. Historia ergo descripta a quatuor Evangelistis, explicans, quomodo haec sint facta vel adimpta a Christo, quae docuerit et fecerit Christus; et quod in ipso credentes omnem habent plenitudinem, recte nuncupatur Evangelium. Praedicatio item et Scriptura Apostolica, qua nobis exponunt Apostoli, quomodo nobis a Patre datus sit Filius, et in hoc vite salutisque omnia, recte dicitur doctrina Evangelica, sic, ut ne hodie quidem, si sincera sit, appellationem tam praelaram amittat.

4. Illa ipsa Evangelii praedicatio nuncupatur item ab Apostolo spiritus et ministerium spiritus, eo, quod efficax et viva fiat per fidem in auribus, imo cordibus credentium, per Spiritum Sanctum illuminantem. Nam litera, quae opponitur spiritui, significat quidem omnem rem externam, sed maxime doctrinam legis, sine spiritu et fide in animis, non viva fide credentium, operantem iram, et excitantem peccatum. Quo nomine et ministerium mortis ab Apostolo nuncupatur. Huc enim illud Apostoli pertinet, Litera occidit, spiritus vivificat (2 Cor. iii. 6). Et pseudoapostoli praedicabant Evangelium, lege admixta, corruptum, quasi Christus sine lege non possit servare. Quales fuisse dicuntur Ebionaei, ab Ebione haeretico descendentes, et Nazarei, qui et Minaei antiquitus vocabantur. Quos omnes nos dannamus, pure praedicantes Evangelium, docentesque per Spiritum [al. Christum] solum, et non per legem justificari credentes. De qua re mox sequetur sub titulo justificationis copiosior expositio.

5. Et quamvis Evangelii doctrina collata cum Pharisaeorum doctrina legis, visa sit, cum primum prædicaretur per Christum, nova esse doctrina, quod et Jeremias de Novo Testamento vaticinatus sit, revera tamen illa, non modo vetus erat, et est adhuc (nam nova dicitur et hodie a Papistis, collata cum doctrina jam Papistarum recepta) vetus doctrina, sed omnium in mundo antiquissima.

6. Deus enim ab aeterno prædestinavit mundum servare per Christum, et hanc suam prædestinationem et consilium sempiternum aperuit mundo per Evangelium (2 Tim. i. 9, 10). Unde claret religionem doctrinamque Evangelicam, inter omnes, quotquot fuerunt unquam, sunt atque erunt, omnium esse antiquissimam.

7. Unde dicimus, omnes eos errare turpiter, et indigna aeterno Dei consilio loqui, qui Evangelicam doctrinam et religionem nuncupant nuper exortam, et vix XXX. annorum fidem. In quos competit illud Jesaiæ Prophetæ: Vae his, qui dicunt, malum esse bonum, et bonum malum, qui ponunt tenebras lucem, et lucem tenebras, amarum dulce, et dulce amarum (Isa. v. 20).

CAP. XIV.

DE PÆNITENTIA ET CONVERSIONE HOMINIS. [CONF. AUG., ART. XI., XII.]

1. Habet Evangelium conjunctam sibi doctrinam de pœnitentia. Ita enim dixit in Evangelio Dominus: Oportet prædicari in nomine meo pœnitentiam et remissionem peccatorum in omnes gentes (Luc. xxiv. 47).

2. Per pœnitentiam autem intelligimus mentis in homine peccatore resipiscentiam, verbo Evangelii et Spiritu Sancto excitatam, fideque vera acceptam, qua protinus homo peccator, agnatam sibi corruptiōnem peccataque omnia sua, per Verbum Dei accusata, agnoscit, ac de his ex corde dolet, eademque eoram Deo non tantum deplorat et fatetur ingenue cum pudore, sed etiam cum indignatione execratur, cogitans jam sedulo de emendatione, et perpetuo innocentiae virtutumque studio, in quo sese omnibus diebus vitae reliquis sancte erreat.

3. Et haec quidem est vera pœnitentia, sineera nimirum ad Deum et omne bonum conversio, sedula vero a diabolo et ab omni malo avercio. Diserte vero dicimus, hanc pœnitentiam merum esse Dei donum, et non virium nostrarum opus. Jubet enim Apostolus: Fidelem ministrum diligenter erudire obstantes veritati, si quando Deus his deponitentiam ad agnoscendum veritatem (2 Tim. ii. 25).

4. Jam vero peccatrix illa Evangelica, quæ lacrymis rigat pedes Domini, ac Petrus, amare flens deploransque Domini sui abnegationem, manifeste ostendunt, qualis esse debeat poenitentis animus, serio deplorans commissa peccata (Luc. vii. 38; xxii. 62).

5. Sed et filius ille concoctor, et publicanus ille in Evangelio, cum Pharisæo collatus, præeunt nobis formulis adcommodatissimis peccata nostra Deo confitendi. Ille dicebat: Pater, peccavi in cœlum et coram te! Jam non sum dignus vocari filius tuus, fac me sicut unum de mercenariis tuis (Luc. xv. 18, 19). Hie vero non andens elevare oculos in cœlum, pectus suum tundendo, clamabat: Deus propitius esto mihi peccatori (Luc. xviii. 13). Nec dubitamus, illos in gratiam a Deo esse receptos. Etenim Joannes Apostolus: Si confiteamur peccata nostra, inquit, fidelis est et justus, ut remittat nobis peccata nostra, et emundet nos ab omni iniustitate. Si dixerimus: non pec-cavimus, mendacem facimus eum, et sermo ejus non est in nobis (1 Joh. i. 9, 10).

6. Credimus autem, hanc confessionem ingenuam, quæ soli Deo fit, vel privatim inter Deum et peccatorem, vel palam in templo, ubi generalis illa peccatorum confessio recitat, sufficere, nec necessarium esse ad remissionem peccatorum consequendam, ut quis peccata sua confiteatur sacerdoti, susurrando in aures ipsius, ut vicissim cum impositione manum ejus audiat ab ipso absolutionem; quod ejus rei nec preceptum ullum, nec exemplum extet in Scripturis Sanctis. David protestatur et ait: Delictum meum cognitum tibi feci, et in-justitiam meam non abscondi. Dixi, confitebor contra me injusti-tiam meam Domino; et tu remisisti impunitatem peccati mei (Psa. xxxii. 5). Sed et Dominus orare nos docens, simul et confiteri peccata, dixit: Sic orabis: Pater noster, qui es in cœlis, remitte nobis debitu nostra; sicut et nos remittimus debitoribus nostris (Matt. vi. 12).

7. Necessæ est ergo, ut Deo Patri nostro confiteamur peccata nostra, et cum proximo nostro, si ipsum offendimus, redeamus in gratiam. De quo confessionis genere loquens Jacobus Apostolus: Confitemini, inquit, alterutrum peccata vestra (Jac. v. 16). Si quis vero peccatorum mole et tentationibus perplexus, velit consilium, insti-tutionem, et consolationem privatum, vel a ministro ecclesiae, aut alio aliquo fratre, in lege Dei docto, petere, non improbamus, quemadmodum et generalem et publicam illam in templo ac cœtibus sacris recitari solitam (cujus et superius meminimus) peccatorum confessionem utpote Scripturis congruam, maxime approbamus.

8. De clavibus regni Dei, traditis a Domino Apostolis, multi admiranda garriunt, et ex his eundunt enses, lanceas, sceptræ et coronas, plenamque in maxima regna, denique in animas et corpora potestatem. Nos simpliciter judicantes, secundum Verbum Dei dicimus: omnes ministros legitime vocatos habere et exercere claves vel usum clavium, cum Evangelium adiungant, id est, populum suæ fidei creditum docent, hortantur, consolantur et increpant, inque disciplina retinent. Ita enim regnum cœlorum aperiunt obsequentibus, et inobsequentibus claudunt. His claves promisit Apostolis Dominus (Matt. xvi. 19) et præstítit (Joh. xx. 23, Marc. xvi. 15, et Luc. xxiv. 47) dum ablegat discipulos et jubet eos universo mundo prædicare Evangelium, et condonare peccata. Apostolus in Ep. I. ad Cor. (v. 18, 19) dicit: Dominum ministris dedisse reconciliationis ministerium; et quale hoc sit, mox explicat et ait: Sermonem vel doctrinam reconciliationis. Et adhuc clarissima sua illa exponens addit: Ministros Christi, nomine Christi fungi legatione, tanquam ipso Deo, per ministros adhortante populos, ut reconcilientur Deo, nimis per fidem obedientiam. Exercant ergo claves, cum suadent fidem et pœnitentiam. Sie illi reconciliant Deo. Sie remittunt peccata. Sic aperiunt regnum cœlorum, et credentes introducent: multum distantes ab istis, de quibus dixit in Evangelio Dominus: Væ vobis legisperitis, quia tulistis clavem scientię, ipsi non introistis, et eos, qui introibant, retiuitis (Luc. xi. 52).

9. Rite itaque et efficaciter ministri absolvunt, dum Evangelium Christi, et in hoc remissionem peccatorum, quæ singulis promittitur fidelibus, sicuti et singuli sunt baptizati, prædicant, et ad singulos peculiariter pertinere testantur. Nec putamus absolutionem hanc efficaciorē fieri, per hoc, quod in aurem alieni aut super caput alieujus singulariter immurmuratur. Censemus tamen, sedulo adnunciandam esse hominibus remissionem peccatorum in sanguine Christi, admonendosque singulos, quod ad ipsos pertineat remissio peccatorum.

10. Ceterum quam vigilantes sedulosque oporteat esse pœnitentes in studio vitæ novæ, et in conficiendo vetere et excitando novo homine, docent nos exempla Evangelica. Dominus enim ad paralyticum, quem sanaverat, dicit: Ecce sanus factus es, ne posthac pecces, ne quid deteriorius tibi contingat (Joh. v. 14). Ad adulteram liberataum idem dixit: Vade, et ne posthac peccaveris (Joh. viii. 11). Quibus sane verbis non significavit, fieri posse, ut homo aliquando non peccet, dum adhuc in hac carne vivit, sed vigilantiam accuratumque studium commendat, ut modis in quam omnibus admittamus, et precibus a Deo petamus, ne relabamur in peccata, ex quibus veluti resurreximus, et ne vineamur a carne, mundo et diabolo. Zachæns publicanus in gratiam receptus a Domino clamat in Evangelio: Ecce, dimidium bonorum meorum, Domine, do pauperibus, et si quem defraudari, reddo quadruplum (Luc. xix. 8). Ad eundem ergo modum prædicamus restitutionem et misericordiam, adeoque eleemosynam vere pœnitentiibus esse necessariam; et in universum Apostoli verbis hortamur omnes, ac dieimus: Ne regnet peccatum in mortali restro corpore, ut obediatis ei per cupiditates ejus; neque accommodetis membra vestra arma injustitiae peccato, sed accommodetis vosmet ipsos Deo, velut ex mortuis viventes, et membra vestra arma justitiae Deo (Rom. vi. 12, 13).

11. Proinde damnamus omnes impias quorundam Evangelica prædicatione abutentium voces, et dicentium: facilis est ad Deum reditus. Christus expiavit omnia peccata; facilis est peccatorum condonatio. Quid ergo peccare nocebit? Nec magnopere curanda est pœnitentia, etc. Docemus interim semper, et omnibus peccatoribus aditum patere ad Deum, et hunc omnia omnibus fidelibus condonare peccata, excepto uno illo peccato, in Spiritum Sanctum (Marc. iii. 29).

12. Ideoque damnamus et veteres et novos Novatianos, atque Catharos. Damnamus imprimis lucrosam papæ de pœnitentia doctrinam; et contra simoniam ejus simoniacasque ejus indulgentias illud usurpamus Simonis Petri judicium: Pecunia tua tecum sit in perditionem: quoniam donum Dei existimasti parari pecuniis. Non est tibi pars neque sors in ratione hac. Cor enim tuum non est rectum coram Deo (Act. viii. 20, 21).

13. Improbamus item illos, qui suis satisfactionibus existimant, se pro commissis satisfacere peccatis. Nam docemus, Christum unum, morte vel passione sua, esse omnium peccatorum satisfactionem, pro-pitionem vel expiationem (Isa. liii. 5; 1 Cor. i. 30; 1 Joh. ii. 2). Interim tamen, quod et ante diximus, mortificationem carnis urgere non desinimus: addimus tamen, hanc non obtrudendam esse Deo superbe pro peccatorum satisfactione, sed praestandam humiliter, pro ingenio filiorum Dei, ut obedientiam novam, gratitudinis ergo, pro consecuta, per mortem et satisfactionem Filii Dei, liberatione, et plenaria satisfactione.

CAP. XV.

DE VERA FIDELIUM JUSTIFICATIONE. [CONF. AUG., ART. IV.]

1. Justificare significat Apostolo in disputatione de justificatione, peccata remittere, a culpa et pena absolvere, in gratiam recipere, et justum pronunciare. Etenim ad Romanos dicit Apostolus: Deus est, qui justificat, quis ille, qui condemnnet? (Rom. viii. 33) opponuntur justificare et condemnare. Et in Actis App. dicit Apostolus: Per Christum adnunciatur nobis remissio peccatorum: et ab omnibus, a quibus non potuistis per legem Mosis justificari, per hunc omnis, qui credit, justificatur (Act. xiii. 38, 39). Nam in lege quoque et prophetis legimus: Si lis fuerit orta inter aliquos, et venerint ad judicium, judicent eos judices justificantque justum, et impient vel condemnent impium (Deut. xxv. 1). Et: Vt illis, qui justificant impium pro muneribus (Isa. v. 23).

2. Certissimum est autem, omnes nos esse natura peccatores et impios, ac eorum tribunali Dei convictos impietatis et reos mortis. Justificari autem, id est, absolviri a peccatis et morte, a judice Deo, solius Christi gratia, et nullo nostro merito aut respectu. Quid enim apertius, quam quod Paulus dixit? Omnes peccaverunt, et destituantur gloria Dei. Justificantur autem gratis per illius gratiam, per redemptionem, quae est in Christo Jesu (Rom. iii. 23, 24).

3. Etenim Christus peccata mundi in se recepit et sustulit, divinæque justitiae satisfecit. Deus ergo propter solum Christum passum et resuscitatum, propitius est peccatis nostris, nec illa nobis imputat, imputat autem justitiam Christi pro nostra: ita, ut jam simus non solum mundati a peccatis et purgati, vel sancti, sed etiam donati justitia Christi, adeoque absoluti a peccatis, morte vel condemnatione, justi denique ac haeredes vitæ æternæ. Proprie ergo loquendo, Deus solus nos justificat, et duntaxat propter Christum justificat, non im-putans nobis peccata, sed imputans ejus nobis justitiam (2 Cor. v. 21 : Rom. iv. 24, 25).

4. Quoniam vero nos justificationem hanc recipimus, non per ulla opera, sed per fidem in Dei misericordiam et Christum, ideo docemus et eredimus eum Apostolo, hominem peccatorem justificari sola fide in Christum, non lege, aut ulla operibus. Dicit enim Apostolus: Arbitramur, fide justificari hominem absque operibus legis (Rom. iii. 28). Item: Si Abraham ex operibus justificatus fuit, habet, quod glorietur, sed non apud Deum. Quid enim Scriptura dicit? Credidit Abraham Deo, et imputatum est ei ad justitiam. At ei, qui non operatur, sed credit in eum, qui justificat impium, imputatur fides sua ad justitiam (Rom. iv. 2-5). Et iterum: Gratia estis servati per fidem, idque non ex vobis, Dei donum est. Non ex operibus, ne quis glorietur, etc. (Eph. ii. 8, 9). Ergo, quia fides Christum justitiam nostram recipit, et gratiae Dei in Christo omnia tribuit, ideo fidei tribuitur justificatio, maxime propter Christum, et non ideo, quia nostrum opus est. Donum enim Dei est. Ceterum nos Christum fide recipere multis ostendit Dominus, apud Joan. cap. vi. ubi pro eredere ponit manducare, et pro manducare eredere. Nam sicut manducando cibum recipimus, ita credendo participamus Christum.

5. Itaque justificationis beneficium non partimur, partim gratiae Dei, vel Christo, partim nobis, aut dilectioni operibusve, vel merito nostro, sed insolidum gratiae Dei in Christo per fidem tribuimus. Sed et non possent Deo placere dilectio et opera nostra, si fierent ab iniquis; proinde oportet nos prius justos esse, quam diligamus aut faciamus opera justa. Justi vere efficiuntur, quemadmodum diximus, per fidem in Christum, mera gratia Dei, qui peccata nobis non imputat, sed justitiam Christi, adeoque fidem in Christum ad justitiam nobis imputat. Apostolus praeterea apertissime dilectionem derivat ex fide, dicens: Finis praecepti est caritas, ex puro corde, conscientia bona, et fide non ficta (1 Tim. i. 5).

6. Quapropter loquimur in hac causa non de ficta fide, de inani et otiosa, aut mortua, sed de fide viva vivificantique, quae propter Christum, qui vita est et vivificat, quem comprehendit, viva est et dicitur, ac se vivam esse vivis declarat operibus. Nihil itaque contra hanc nostram doctrinam pugnat Jacobus, qui de fide loquitur inani et mortua, quam quidam jactabant, Christum autem intra se viventem per fidem non habebant. Idem ille dixit, opera justificare, non contradicens Apostolo (rejiciendus alioqui), sed ostendens Abrahamum vivam justificantemque fidem suam declaravisse per opera (Jac. ii.). Id quod omnes pii faciunt, qui tamen soli Christo, nullis suis operibus fidunt. Iterum enim Apostolus dixit: Vivo jam non ego, sed vivit in me Christus. Vitam autem, quam nunc vivo in carne, per fidem vivo Filii Dei, qui dilexit me, et tradidit semetipsum pro me. Non adsperror gratiam Dei. Nam si per legem est justitia: igitur Christus frustra mortuus est, etc. (Gal. ii. 20, 21).

CAP. XVI.

DE FIDE, ET BONIS OPERIBUS, EORUMQUE MERCEDE, ET MERITO HOMINIS.
[CONF. AUG., ART. VI., XX.]

1. Fides enim Christiana non est opinio ac humana persuasio, sed firmissima fiducia et evidens ac constans animi adsensus, denique certissima comprehensio veritatis Dei, propositae in Scripturis et Symbolo Apostolico, atque adeo Dei ipsius summi boni, et præcipue promissionis divinæ, et Christi, qui omnium promissionum est colophon.

2. Haec autem fides merum est Dei donum, quod solus Deus ex gratia sua, electis suis, secundum mensuram, et quando, eui, et quantum ipse vult, donat, et quidem per Spiritum Sanctum, mediante prædicatione Evangelii, et oratione fideli. Haec etiam sua habet incrementa; quae nisi et ipsa darentur a Deo, non dixissent Apostoli: Dominus! adauge nobis fidem (Luc. xvii. 5).

3. Et haec quidem omnia, quæ hactenus de fide diximus, ante nos ita docerunt Apostoli. Paulus enim: Est autem fides, inquit, eorum, que sperantur, ὑπόστασις, vel subsistentia firma, et earum rerum, que non videntur, ἐλεγχος, id est, evidens ei certa rei comprehensio (Heb. xi. 1). Et idem iterum: Quotquot sunt promissiones Dei, inquit, per Christum sunt etiam et per ipsum Amen (2 Cor. i. 20). Ad Philipp. idem ait, donatum esse ipsis ut credant in Christum (Phil. i. 29). Item: Deus unicuique partitus est mensuram fidei (Rom. xii. 3; 2 Thess. iii. 2). Rursus: Non omnium est fides, ait, neque obediunt omnes Evangelio (Rom. x. 16). Sed et Lucas testatur et ait: Et crediderunt, quotquot erant ordinati ad vitam (Act. xiii. 48). Unde idem iterum fidem nuncupat, fidem electorum Dei (Tit. i. 1). Et iterum: Fides est ex auditu, auditus autem per verbum Dei (Rom. x. 17). Alibi saepe jubet orare pro fide.

4. Idem ille Apostolus fidem vocat efficacem et sese exserentem per dilectionem (Gal. v. 6). Illa conscientiam quoque pacificat, et liberum ad Deum aditum aperit, ut cum fiducia ad ipsum accedamus, et obtineamus ab eo utilia et necessaria. Eadem retinet nos in officio, quod Deo debemus et proximo, et in adversis patientiam firmat, et confessionem veram format atque facit, et, ut uno verbo omnia dicam, omnis generis bonos fructus et bona opera progignit (Gal. v. 22 sqq.).

5. Docemus enim, vere bona opera emasci ex viva fide, per Spiritum Sanctum, et a fidelibus fieri secundum voluntatem vel regulam Verbi Dei. Nam Petrus Apostolus: Omni adhibito studio, inquit, subministrate in fide vestra virtutem, in virtute vero scientiam, in scientia vero temperantiam, etc. (2 Pet. i. 5-7). Diximus autem antea, legem Dei, quae voluntas Dei est, formulam nobis praescribere bonorum operum. Et Apostolus ait: Hec est voluntas Dei, sanctificatio vestra, ut abstineatis ab immundicie, et ne quis opprimat aut fraudet in negotio fratrem suum (1 Thess. iv. 4-6). Etenim non probantur Deo opera, et nostro arbitrio delecti cultus, quos Paulus nuncupat: εἰςελοζρησκέτας (Col. ii. 18). De quibus et Dominus in Evangelio: Frustra me colunt, ait, docentes doctrinas praecepta hominum (Matt. xv. 9).

6. Improbamus ergo hujusmodi opera: adprobamus et urgemus illa, quae sunt ex voluntate et mandato Dei. Illa ipsa fieri debent, non ut his promereamur vitam aeternam. Donum Dei enim est, ut Apostolus ait, vita aeterna, neque ad ostentationem, quam rejicit Dominus (Matt. vi.), neque ad quaestum, quem et ipsum rejicit (Matt. xxiii.), sed ad gloriam Dei, ad ornandam vocationem nostram, gratitudinemque Deo praestandam, et ad utilitatem proximi. Rursus enim Dominus noster in Evangelio dicit: Sic luceat lux vestra coram hominibus, ut videant vestra opera bona, et glorificent Patrem, qui in celis est (Matt. v. 16). Sed et Apostolus Paulus: Ambulate digne vocatione vestra (Ephi. iv. 1). Item: Quidquid egeritis, inquit, aut sermone aut facto, omnia in nomine Jesu facite, gratias agentes Deo et Patri per illum (Col. iii. 17). Idem: Nemo, quod suum est, querat, sed quisque quod alterius (Phil. ii. 4). Et: Discant et nostri, bona opera tueri ad necessarios usus, ut non sint infrugiferi (Tit. iii. 14).

7. Namvis ergo doceamus eum Apostolo, hominem gratis justificari per fidem in Christum, et non per ulla opera bona, non ideo tamen vilipendimus aut condemnamus opera bona. Cum sciamus, hominem nec conditum nec regenitum esse per fidem, ut otietur, sed potius, ut indesinenter, quae bona et utilia sunt, faciat. Etenim in Evangelio dicit Dominus: Bona arbor bonum fructum ad fert (Matt. xii. 33). Et iterum: Quid in me manet, plurimum fructum ad fert (Joh. xv. 5). Denique Apostolus: Dei sumus creatura, ait, conditi in Christo Jesu ad opera bona, que preparavit Deus, ut in eis ambulemus (Eph. ii. 10). Et iterum: Qui tradidit semetipsum pro nobis, ut redimeret ab omni iniquitate et mundaret sibi populum peculiarem, sectatorem bonorum operum (Tit. ii. 14).

8. Damnamus itaque omnes, qui bona opera contemnunt, non eu-randa et inutilia esse blaterant. Interim, quod et antea dictum est, non sentimus, per opera bona nos servari, illaque ad salutem ita esse necessaria, ut absque illis nemo unquam sit servatus. Gratia enim soliusque Christi beneficio servamur. Opera necessario ex fide pro-gignuntur. At impropre his salus attribuitur: quae propriissime ad-scribitur gratiae. Notissima enim est illa Apostoli sententia: Si per gratiam, jam non ex operibus: quandoquidem gratia, jam non est gratia. Sin ex operibus, jam non ex gratia; quandoquidem jam opus, non est opus (Rom. xi. 6).

9. Placent vero adprobanturque a Deo opera, quae a nobis fiunt per fidem. Quia illi placent Deo, propter fidem in Christum, qui faciunt opera bona, quae insuper per Spiritum Sanctum ex gratia Dei sunt facta. S. Petrus enim: In quavis gente, inquit, qui timet ipsum et operatur justitium, is acceptus est illi (Act. x. 35). Et Paulus: Non desinimus orare pro vobis, ut ambuletis digne Domino, ut per omnia placeatis, in omni opere bono fructificant (Col. i. 9, 10). Itaque veras, non falsas aut philosophicas virtutes, vere bona opera et genuina Christiani hominis officia sedulo docemus, et quanta possumus, diligenter vehementiaque omnibus inculcamus, vituperantes omnium illo-rum et desidiam et hypoerisim, qui ore Evangelium laudant et profitentur, vita autem turpi dedecorant, proponentes hac in causa horri-biles Dei minas, amplas denique promissiones Dei, et liberalia præ-mia, exhortando, consolando, et objurgando.

10. Etenim docemus, Deum bona operantibus amplam dare mercedem, juxta illam prophetæ sententiam: Cohibe vocem tuam a gletu: quoniam erit merces operi tuo (Jer. xxxi. 16). In Evangelio quoque dixit Dominus: Gaudete et exultate, quia merces vestra multa est in cælis (Matt. v. 12). Et qui dederit uni ex minimis meis poculum aquæ frigide, amen dico vobis, non perdet mercedem suam (Matt. x. 42). Referimus tamen mercedem hanc, quam Dominus dat, non ad meritum hominis aequipotens, sed ad bonitatem, vel liberalitatem, et veritatem Dei promittentis atque dantis, qui, cum nihil debeat cuiquam, promisit tamen, se suis cultoribus fidelibus mercedem daturum: qui interim dat eis etiam, ut ipsum colant. Sunt multa præterea indigna Deo, et imperfecta plurima inveniuntur in operibus etiam sanctorum: quia vero Deus recipit in gratiam et complectitur propter Christum operantes, mercedem eis promissam persolvit. Alioqui enim justitiae nostræ comparantur panno menstruato (Isa. lxiv. 6). Sed et Dominus dicit in Evangelio: Cum feceritis omnia, que præcepta sunt vobis, dicite, servi inutiles sumus: quod debuimus facere, fecimus (Luc. xvii. 10).

11. Tametsi ergo doceamus, mercedem dari a Deo nostris benefactis, simul tamen docemus eum Augustino, coronare Deum in nobis non merita nostra, sed dona sua. Et proinde quidquid accipimus mercedis, dicimus gratiam quoque esse, et magis quidem gratiam quam mercedem: quod, quæ bona facimus, per Deum magis, quam per nos ipsos facimus: et quod Paulus dicat: Quid habes, quod non accepisti? Si vero accepisti, quid gloriaris, quasi non acceperis? (1 Cor. iv. 7). Et quod hinc colligit beatus martyr Cyprianus: In nullo nobis glorandum esse, quando nostrum nihil sit. Damnamus ergo illos, qui merita hominum sic defendunt, ut¹ evacuent gratiam Dei.

CAP. XVII.

DE CATHOLICA ET SANCTA DEI ECCLESIA, ET UNICO CAPITE ECCLESÆ.
[CONF. AUG., ART. VII., VIII.]

1. Quando autem Deus ab initio salvos voluit fieri homines, et ad agnitionem veritatis venire, oportet omnino semper fuisse, nunc esse, et ad finem usque seculi futuram esse Ecclesiam, id est, e mundo evocatum vel collectum cœtum fidelium, sanctorum, inquam, omnium communionem, eorum videlicet, qui Deum verum, in Christo Servatore, per verbum et Spiritum Sanctum vere cognoscunt et rite colunt, denique omnibus bonis per Christum gratuito oblatis fide participant. Sunt isti omnes unius civitatis cives, viventes sub eodem Domino, sub iisdem legibus, in eadem omnium bonorum participatione. Sie enim hos conceives sanctorum et domesticos Dei appellavit Apostolus (Eph. ii. 19): Sanctos appellans fideles in terris, sanguine Filii Dei sanctificatos (1 Cor. vi. 11). De quibus omnino intelligendus est Symboli articulus: Credo sanctam Ecclesiam Catholicam, sanctorum communionem.

2. Et cum semper unus modo sit Deus, unus Mediator Dei et hominum Jesus Messias, unus item gregis universi pastor, unum hujus corporis caput, unus denique Spiritus, una salus, una fides, unum testamentum vel fœdus; necessario consequitur unam duntaxat esse Ecclesiam: quam propterea Catholicam nuncupamus, quod sit universalis, et diffundatur per omnes mundi partes, et ad omnia se tempora extendat, nullis vel locis inclusa vel temporibus. Damnamus ergo Donatistas, qui Ecclesiam in nescio quos Africæ coarctabant angulos. Nec Romanensem adprobamus clerum, qui solam prope Romanam Ecclesiam venditat pro Catholica.

3. Diducitur quidem Ecclesia in partes vel species varias, non quod divisa aut divulsa sit in semetipsa, sed magis propter membrorum in ipsa diversitatem distineta. Aliam enim faciunt Ecclesiam militantem, aliam vero triumphantem. Militat illa adhuc in terris, et certat cum carne, cum mundo, et principe mundi hujus, diabolo, cum peccato atque morte. Haec vero rude jam donata, in cœlo triumphat de istis devictis omnibus, et exultat coram Domino: nihilominus habent illæ inter se communionem, vel conjunctionem.

4. Et militans in terris Ecclesia semper plurimas habuit particulares ecclesias, quæ tamen omnes ad unitatem Catholicæ Ecclesiæ referuntur. Haec aliter fuit instituta ante legem inter patriarchas, aliter sub Mose per legem, aliter a Christo per Evangelium. Vulgo numerantur fere duo populi, Israelitarum videlicet et gentium, vel eorum, qui ex Judæis et gentibus collecti sunt in Ecclesiam, testamento item duo, vetus et novum. Omnium tamen horum populorum una fuit et est societas, una salus in uno Messia, in quo cœi membra unius corporis sub unum caput connectuntur omnes, in eadem fide, etiam de eodem cibo et potu spirituali participantes. Agnoscimus hic tamen diversa fuisse tempora, diversa symbola promissi et exhibiti Messiae, sublatisque caerimonialibus, lucem nobis illustriorem lucere, et dona auctiora donari, et libertatem esse pleniores.

5. Haec Ecclesia Dei sancta vocatur domus Dei viventis, exstructa ex lapidibus vivis et spiritualibus, et imposta super petram immotam, super fundamentum, quo alind collocari non potest: et ideo nuncupatur etiam columna et basis veritatis (1 Tim. iii. 15). Non errat illa, quamdiu innititur petrae Christo et fundamento Prophetarum et Apostolorum. Nee mirum, si erret, quoties deserit illum, qui solus est veritas. Vocatur Ecclesia etiam virgo ac sponsa Christi, et quidem unica et dilecta. Apostolus enim: Adjunxi vos, inquit, uni viro, ut virginem castam exhiberetis Christo (2 Cor. xi. 2). Vocatur Ecclesia grex ovium sub uno pastore Christo, idque apud Ezechiem in Cap. XXXIV. et apud Joannem in Cap. X. Vocatur item corpus Christi, quia fideles sunt viva Christi membra, sub capite Christo.

6. Caput est, quod in corpore eminentiam habet, et unde corpus vitam haurit, cuius spiritu regitur in omnibus, unde et incrementa et, ut crescat, habet. Unicum item est corporis caput, et cum corpore habet congruentiam. Ergo Ecclesia non potest ullum aliud habere caput, quam Christum. Nam ut Ecclesia est corpus spirituale, ita caput habeat sibi congruens spirituale, utique oportet. Nec alio potest regi spiritu, quam Christi. Paulus quoque: Ipse est caput, inquit, corporis ecclesie, qui est principium, primogenitus ex mortuis, ut sit ipse in omnibus primus tenens (Col. i. 18). Et idem iterum: Christus est, inquit, caput ecclesie, qui idem salutem datur corpori (Eph. v. 23). Et rursus: Qui est caput ecclesie, ait, que corpus illius, complementum ejus, qui omnia in omnibus adimplet (Eph. i. 22, 23). Item: Adolescamus in illum per omnia, qui est caput, nempe Christus, in quo totum corpus, si compingatur, incrementum capit (Eph. iv. 15, 16).

7. Non probamus ergo doctrinam cleri Romani, facientis suum illum Romanum Pontificem Catholice in terris ecclesiae militantis pastorem universalem et caput summum, adeoque verum Christi vicarium, qui habeat in Ecclesia plenitudinem, ut vocant, potestatis, et dominium supremum.

8. Docemus enim, Christum Dominum esse et manere unicum pastorem universalem, summum item Pontificem coram Deo Patre, ac in Ecclesia ipsum omnia pontificis vel pastoris obire munia, ad finem usque sæculi, ideoque nullo indigere vicario, qui absentis est. Christus vero præsens est ecclesiæ, et caput vivificum. Hic Apostolis suis Apostolorumque successoribus primatum et dominium in Ecclesia severissime prohibuit. [Quicunque ergo huic illustri veritati contradicentes reluctantur, et in Ecclesiam Christi diversam inducant gubernationem, quis non videat, eos illis potius esse ad censendos, de quibus Apostoli Christi vaticinantur, Petrus (2 Pet. ii.), et Paulus (Act. xx., 2 Cor. xi., et 2 Thess. ii.), et aliis quoque in locis?]¹

9. Sublato autem capite Romano; nullam inducimus in Ecclesiam Christi ἀταξίαν, vel perturbationem: cum doceamus, gubernationem Ecclesiæ, ab Apostolis traditam, nobis sufficere ad retinendam in justo ordine Ecclesiam, quæ ab initio, dum hujusmodi capite Romano, quale hodie dicitur Ecclesiam conservare in ordine, earuit, atactica vel inordinata non fuit. Servat quidem caput Romanum tyrannidem suam, et corruptelam inductam in Ecclesiam: sed impedit interim, oppugnat, et, quantis potest viribus, exscindit justam ecclesiæ reformatiōnem.

10. Objicitur nobis, varia esse in ecclesiis nostris certamina atque dissidia, posteaquam se a Romana separarunt Ecclesia, proinde non esse eas Ecclesias veras. Quasi vero nullæ unquam fuerint in Ecclesia Romana sectæ, nulla unquam dissidia atque certamina, et qui-dem de religione, non tam in scholis, quam in cathedris sacrīs, in medio populi instituta. Agnoscimus sane, dixisse Apostolum: Deus non est Deus dissensionis, sed pacis (1 Cor. xiv. 33). Et: Cum sit in vobis emulatio et contentio, an non carnales estis? (1 Cor. iii. 3). Negari tamen non potest, Deum fuisse in Ecclesia Apostolica, et Apostolicam Ecclesiam fuisse Ecclesiam veram, in qua tamen fuerunt concertationes et dissidia. Reprehendit enim Petrum Apostolum Apostolus Paulus, ab hoc dissidet Barnabas (Gal. ii.). Certamen grave exo-ritur in Ecclesia Antiochena inter eos, qui unum Christum prædicabant: sicut commemorat Lucas in Actis Apost., Cap. XV. Gravia semper fuerunt in Ecclesia certamina, et dissenserunt inter se de rebus non levibus doctores ecclesiæ præclarissimi, ut ex his contentionibus interim Ecclesia non id esse desineret, quod erat. Ita enim placet Deo, dissidiis ecclesiasticis uti, ad gloriam nominis sui, ad illustrandam denique veritatem, et ut qui probati sunt, manifesti fiant.

11. Ceterum, ut non agnoscamus aliud caput Ecclesiæ quam Christum, ita non agnoscamus quamlibet Ecclesiam, quæ se venditat pro vera, veram esse Ecclesiam; sed illam docemus veram esse Ecclesiam, in qua signa vel notæ inveniuntur Ecclesiæ veræ, imprimis vero Verbi Dei legitima vel sincera prædicatio, prout nobis est tradita in libris Prophetarum et Apostolorum, qui omnes ad Christum deducunt, qui in Evangelio dixit: Ores mee vocem meam audiunt, et ego cognosco eas, et sequuntur me, et ego vitam aeternam do eis. Alienum autem non sequuntur, sed fugiunt, ab eo, quia non noverunt vocem alienorum (Joh. x. 4, 5, 27, 28).

12. Et qui tales sunt in Ecclesia, hi unam habent fidem, unum spiritum, et ideo unum solum Deum adorant, solum hunc in spiritu et veritate colunt, hunc ex toto corde et omnibus viribus solum diligunt, solum per Christum mediatorem et intercessorem unicum invocant, extra Christum fidemque in ipsum nullam querunt justitiam et vitam; quia Christum solum caput et fundamentum Ecclesiæ agnoscunt, ac super hoc impositi quotidie se penitentia reparant, patientia impositam ipsis crucem ferunt, sed et caritate non facta cum omnibus Christi membris connexi, hac se declarant discipulos esse Christi, perseverando in vineculo pacis atque unitatis sanctæ; simul et participant sacramentis a Christo institutis, et ab Apostolis traditis: neque his aliter utuntur, quam uti acceperunt a Domino. Notum est enim omnibus illud Apostoli: Ego enim accepi a Domino, quod et tradidi vobis (1 Cor. xi. 23). Proinde damnamus illas ecclesias, ut alienas a vera Christi Ecclesia, quæ tales non sunt, quales esse debere adivimus, uteunq[ue] interim jacent successionem episcoporum, unitatem, et antiquitatem. Quinimo præcipiunt nobis Apostoli, ut fugiamus idolatriam et Babylonem, et ne participemus cum hac, nisi et plagarum Dei participes esse velimus (1 Cor. x. 14, 21; 1 Joh. v. 21; Apoc. xviii. 4; 1 Cor. vi. 9).

13. Communionem vero cum Ecclesia Christi vera tanti facimus, ut negemus eos coram Deo vivere posse, qui cum vera Dei Ecclesia non communicant, sed ab ea se separant. Nam ut extra arcam Noë non erat ulla salus, pereunte mundo in diluvio, ita credimus, extra Christum, qui se electis in Ecclesia fruendum præbet, nullam esse salutem certam: et proinde doceimus, vivere volentes non oportere separari a vera Christi Ecclesia.

14. Signis tamen commemoratis non ita arete includimus Ecclesiam, ut omnes illos extra Ecclesiam esse deceamus, qui vel sacramentis non participant, non quidem volentes, neque per contemptum, sed necessitate potius inevitabili coacti, nolentes ab iis abstinent, aut iis carent: vel in quibus aliquando deficit fides, non tamen penitus extinguitur, aut prorsus desinit: vel in quibus infirmitatis vitia atque errores inveniuntur. Scimus enim, Deum aliquot habuisse in mundo amicos, extra Israelis rempublicam. Scimus, quid populo Dei evenerit in captivitate Babylonica, in qua sacrificiis suis caruerunt annis septuaginta; scimus, quid evenerit S. Petro negatori, et quid quotidie evenire soleat electis Dei fidelibus, errantibus et infirmis. Scimus præterea, quales Apostolorum temporibus fuerint Galatarum et Corinthiorum ecclesiæ, in quibus multa et gravia accusat Apostolus scelera, et tamen nuncupat easdem sanctas Christi ecclesias.

15. Quinimo fit aliquando, ut Deus justo judicio veritatem verbi sui, fidemque Catholicam, et cultum Dei legitimum sic obscurari et convelli sinat, ut prope videatur extincta, et nulla amplius superesse Ecclesia: sicuti factum videmus Eliae et aliis temporibus. Interim habet Deus in hoc mundo et in hisce tenebris suos illos veros adoratores, nec paucos, sed septem millia ac plures (1 Reg. xix. 18; Apoc. vii. 4, 9). Nam et Apostolus clamat: Solidum fundamentum Dei stat, habens signaculum hoc, novit Dominus, qui sunt sui! etc. (2 Tim. ii. 19). Unde et Ecclesia invisibilis appellari potest, non, quod homines sint invisibles, ex quibus Ecclesia colligitur, sed quod oculis nostris absconsa, Deo autem soli nota, judicium humanum sæpe subterfugiat.

16. Rursus non omnes, qui numerantur in Ecclesia, sancti et viva atque vera sunt ecclesiæ membra. Sunt enim hypocritæ multi, qui foris Verbum Dei audiunt, et sacramenta palam percipiunt, Deum quoque per Christum invocare solum, Christum confiteri, justitiam suam unicam, Deum item colere, et caritatis officia exercere, patien-tiaque in calamitatibus ad tempus perdurare videntur; sed intus vera Spiritus illuminatione, et fide animique sinceritate, et finali perseverantia destituuntur. Qui etiam, quales sint, tandem deteguntur fere. Joannes enim Apostolus: Exierunt ex nobis, inquit, sed non erant ex nobis. Nam si fuissent ex nobis, permansissent utique nobiscum (1 Joh. ii. 19). Et tamen, dum hi simulant pietatem, licet ex Ecclesia non sint, numerantur tamen in Ecclesia: sicuti proditores in republica, priusquam detegantur, numerantur et ipsi inter cives, et quemadmodum lolinn vel zizania et palea inveniuntur in tritico, aut sicut strunæ et tumores inveniuntur in integro corpore, cum revera morbi et deformitates sint verius corporis, quam membra vera. Proinde Ecclesia Dei recte comparatur sagenæ, quæ omnis generis pisces attrahit, et agro, in quo inveniuntur et zizania et triticum. Ubi maxime cavere oportet, ne ante tempus judicemus, et excludere abjicere que, aut excindere conemur eos, quos Dominus excludi abjicique non vult, aut quos sine jaatura Ecclesiæ separare non possumus. Rursus vigilandum est, ne, stertentibus piis, impii proficiendo damnum dent Ecclesiæ (Matt. xiii. 25).

17. Observandum præterea diligenter docemus, in quo potissimum sit sita veritas et unitas Ecclesiæ, ne temere schismata excitemus, et in Ecclesia foveamus. Sita est illa non in cærimonias et ritibus externis, sed magis in veritate et unitate fidei Catholice. Fides Catholica non est nobis tradita humanis legibus, sed Scriptura divina, ejus compendium est Symbolum Apostolicum. Unde legimus, apud veteres rituum fuisse diversitatem variam, sed eam liberam, qua nemo unquam existimavit dissolvi unitatem ecclesiasticam. In dogmatibus itaque et in vera concordia prædicatione Evangelii Christi, et in ritibus a Domino diserte traditis, dicimus veram Ecclesiæ constare concordiam; ubi illam maxime Apostoli sententiam urgemus. Quotquot itaque perfecti sumus, hoc sentiamus. Quod si quid aliter sentitis, hoc quoque vobis Deus revelabit. Attamen in eo, ad quod perrenimus, eadem incedamus regula, et itidem simus affecti (Phil. iii. 15, 16).

CAP. XVIII.

DE MINISTRIS ECCLESIE, IPSORUMQUE INSTITUTIONE ET OFFICIIS. [CONF.
AUG., ART. XIV.]

1. Deus ad colligendam vel constituendam sibi Ecclesiam, eanamque gubernandam et conservandam, semper usus est ministris, iisque utitur adhuc, et utetur porro, quoad Ecclesia in terris fuerit. Ergo ministrorum origo, institutio et functio vetustissima et ipsius Dei, non nova aut hominum est ordinatio. Posset sane Deus sua potentia immediate sibi adjungere ex hominibus Ecclesiam, sed maluit agere cum hominibus per ministerium hominum. Proinde spectandi sunt ministri, non ut ministri duntaxat per se, sed sicut ministri Dei, utpote per quos Deus salutem hominum operatur. Unde cavendum monemus, ne ea, quae sunt conversionis nostrae et institutionis, ita occultae virtuti Spiritus Sanctum attribuamus, ut ministerium ecclesiasticum evanuemus. Nam convenit nos semper esse memores verborum Apostoli: Quomodo credent, de quo non audierunt? quomodo autem audient absque praedicante? Ergo fides est ex auditu, auditus autem per Verbum Dei (Rom. x. 14, 17). Et quod Dominus dixit in Evangelio: Amen, amen, dico vobis, qui recipit, quemcunque misero, me recipit, qui autem me recipit, recipit eum, qui me misit (Joh. xiii. 20). Et quod vir Maceo per visionem Paulo in Asia agenti apparens, submonuit et dixit: Profectus in Macedoniam, sucurre nobis (Act. xvi. 9). Alibi enim idem Apostolus dixit: Dei sumus cooperarii, Dei agricultio et aedificatio estis (1 Cor. iii. 9).

2. Rursus tamen et hoc cavendum est, ne ministris et ministerio nimium tribuamus, memores etiam hic verborum Domini, dicentis in Evangelio: Nemo venit ad me, nisi Pater meus traxerit eum (Joh. vi. 44), et verborum Apostoli: Quis igitur est Paulus? quis autem Apollo, nisi ministri, per quos credidistis, et ut cuique Dominus dedit? Ego plantavi, Apollo rigavit: sed Deus dedit incrementum. Itaque non qui plantat, est aliquid, neque qui rigat, sed qui dat incrementum Deus (1 Cor. iii. 5-7). Credamus ergo, Deum Verbo suo nos docere foris per ministros suos, intus autem commovere electorum suorum corda ad fidem per Spiritum Sanctum; ideoque omnem gloriam totius hujus beneficii referendam esse ad Deum. Sed ea de redictum est et primo capite hujus expositionis.

3. Et quidem ab initio mundi usus est Deus omnium præstantissimis in mundo (simplicibus quidem pluribus in mundana sapientia vel philosophia, sed excellentissimis in vera theologia) hominibus, Patriarchis videlicet, cum quibus non raro collocutus est per angelos. Fuerunt enim Patriarchæ sui secundi Prophetæ sive Doctores, quos Dens hoc nomine aliquot voluit secunda vivere, ut essent veluti Patres et lumina orbis. Secutus est illos Moses cum Prophetis¹ per universum mundum celebrimis.

4. Quid quod post hos misit Pater cœlestis Filium suum unigenitum, doctorem mundi absolutissimum, in quo est abscondita divina illa sapientia, et in nos derivata, per sacratissimam simplicissimamque et omnium perfectissimam doctrinam. Allegit enim ille sibi discipulos, quos fecit Apostolos. Hi vero exeuntes in mundum universum collegerunt ubique ecclesias per prædicationem Evangelii, deinde vero per omnes mundi ecclesias ordinarunt pastores atque doctores, ex præcepto Christi, per quorum successores hucusque Ecclesiam docuit ac gubernavit. Itaque ut Deus veteri populo dedit Patriarchas una cum Mose et Prophetis: ita novi testamenti populo misit suum unigenitum Filium una cum Apostolis et doctoribus ecclesiæ.

5. Porro ministri novi populi variis nuncupantur appellationibus. Dieuntur enim Apostoli, Prophetæ, Evangelistæ, Episcopi, Presbyteri, Pastores atque Doctores (1 Cor. xii. 3; Eph. iv. 11). Apostoli nullo certo consistebant loco, sed per orbem varias colligebant ecclesias. Quæ, ubi jam constitutæ erant, desierunt esse Apostoli, ac subierunt quique in sua ecclesia in locum istorum pastores. Prophetæ quondam, præscii futurorum, vates erant: sed et Scripturas interpretabantur, quales etiam hodie adhuc inveniuntur. Evangelistæ appellabantur scriptores Evangelicæ historiae, sed et præcones Evangelii Christi; quomodo et Paulus Timothenum jubet implere opus Evangelistæ. Episcopi vero sunt inspectores vigilantes Ecclesiæ, qui victum et necessaria ecclesiæ dispensant. Presbyteri sunt seniores, et quasi senatores patresque Ecclesiæ, gubernantes ipsam consilio salubri. Pastores ovile Domini et custodiunt, et ei de rebus prospiciunt necessariis. Doctores erudiunt, et veram fidem pietatemque docent. Licebit ergo nunc ecclesiarum ministros nuncupare Episcopos, Presbyteros, Pastores atque Doctores.

6. Subsequentibus porro temporibus, multo plures in Ecclesiam Dei

inductæ sunt nuncupationes ministrorum in Ecclesia. Alii enim ordinati sunt Patriarchæ, alii Archiepiscopi, alii Suffraganei, item Metropolitanæ, Archipresbyteri, Diaconi quoque, Subdiaconi, Acoluthi, Exorcistæ, Cantores, Janitores, et nescio, qui alii, ut Cardinales, Præpositi, et Priores, Patres minores et majores, ordines majores et minores. At de his omnibus nihil sumus nos solliciti, quales olim fuerint, aut nunc sint. Sufficit nobis Apostolica de ministris doctrina.

7. [Conf. Aug., de Abus. 6.] Ita cum sciamus certo, monachos et monachorum ordines vel sectas neque a Christo, neque ab Apostolis esse institutas; docemus, nihil eas ecclesiæ Dei utiles esse, imo perniciosas. Tametsi enim quondam (cum essent solitarii, et manib[us] sibi victum quererent, nec ullis essent oneri, sed pastoribus ecclesiarum ubique parerent, ut laici) fuerint tolerabiles, tamen nunc, quales sint, videt et sentit universus orbis. Prætexunt nescio quæ vota et vivunt votis suis vitam prorsus contrariam: ut prorsus optimi eorum inter eos numerari mereantur, de quibus dixit Apostolus: Audimus quosdam versantes inter vos inordinate, nihil operis facientes, sed curiose agentes. Tales ergo nos in nostris ecclesiis nec habemus, nec in ecclesiis Christi habendos esse docemus (2 Thess. iii. 11, 12).

8. Nemo autem honorem ministerii ecclesiastici usurpare sibi, id est, ad se largitionibus, aut ullis artibus, aut arbitrio proprio, rapere debet. Vocentur et eligantur electione ecclesiastica et legitima ministri ecclesiæ: id est, eligantur religiose ab Ecclesia, vel ad hoc deputatis ab Ecclesia, ordine justo, et absque turba, seditionibus et contentione. Eligantur autem non quilibet, sed homines idonei, eruditione justa et sacra, eloquentia pia, prudentiaque simplici, denique moderatione et honestate vitae insignes, juxta canonem Apostolicum, qui ab Apostolo contexitur in 1 ad Tim. iii. et ad Tit. i. Et qui electi sunt, ordinentur a senioribus cum orationibus publicis, et impositione manuum. Damnamus hic omnes, qui sua sponte currunt, cum non sint electi, missi, vel ordinati (Jer. xxiii. 32). Damnamus ministros ineptos, et non instructos donis pastori necessariis.

9. Interim agnoscamus, quorundam in veteri Ecclesia pastorum simplicitatem innoenam plus aliquando profuisse ecclesiæ, quam quorundam eruditionem variam, exquisitam, delicatamque, sed paucis fastuosiorem. Unde ne hodie quidem rejicimus simplicitatem quorundam probam, nec tamen omnino imperitam.

10. Nuncupant sane Apostoli Christi omnes in Christum credentes sacerdotes, sed non ratione ministerii, sed quod per Christum omnes fideles facti reges et sacerdotes, offerre possumus spirituales Deo hostias (Exod. xix. 6; 1 Pet. ii. 9; Apoc. i. 6). Diversissima ergo inter se sunt sacerdotium et ministerium. Illud enim commune est Christianis omnibus, ut modo diximus, hoc non item. Nec e medio sustulimus ecclesiæ ministerium, quando repudiavimus ex Ecclesia Christi sacerdotium papistiem.

11. Equidem in Novo Testamento Christi non est amplius tale sacerdotium, quale fuit in populo veteri, quod unctionem habuit externam, vestes sacras et cærimonias plurimas: quæ typi fuerunt Christi, qui illa omnia veniens et adimplens abrogavit. Manet autem ipse solus sacerdos in æternum (Ebr. v. 6); cui ne quid derogemus, nemini inter ministros sacerdotis vocabulum communicamus. Ipse enim Dominus noster non ordinavit ullos in Ecclesia Novi Testamenti sacerdotes, qui accepta potestate a suffraganeo, offerant quotidie hostiam, ipsam inquam carnem et ipsum sanguinem Domini pro vivis et mortuis, sed qui doceant et sacramenta administrent. Paulus enim simpliciter et breviter, quid sentiamus de Novi Testamenti vel de Ecclesiæ Christianæ ministris, et quid eis tribuamus, exponens: Sic nos aestimet homo, inquit, ut ministros Christi, et dispensatores mysteriorum Dei (1 Cor. iv. 1). Proinde vult Apostolus, ut de ministris sentiamus, tanquam de ministris. Υπηρέτας vero nuncupavit Apostolus subremigatores, qui ad nauclerum unice respiciunt, vel homines non sibi, nec suo arbitrio, sed aliis viventes, Dominis inquam suis, a quorum mandatis omnino dependent. Nam minister Ecclesiæ totus et in omnibus suis officiis non suo arbitrio indulgere, sed illud duntaxat exequi jubetur, quod in mandatis habet a suo Domino. Et in praesenti, quis sit Dominus, exprimitur, Christus, cui in omnibus ministerii negotiis sunt mancipati ministri.

12. Adjicit præterea, quo ministerium plenius explanet, ministros Ecclesiæ œconomos esse vel dispensatores mysteriorum Dei. Mysteria vero Dei multis in locis, imprimis ad Eph. iii. 3 appellavit Paulus Evangelium Christi. Mysteria nuncupavit etiam vetustas Christi sacramenta. Proinde in hoc sunt vocati ministri Ecclesiæ, ut Evangelium Christi adnuncient fidelibus, et sacramenta administrent. Alibi enim legimus in Evangelio de fideli servo et prudente, quod eum Dominus constituit super familiam suam, ut tempore opportuno det ei cibum suum (Luc. xii. 42). Rursus proficiscitur alibi in Evangelio peregre homo, relinquens domum, et in hac dat servis suis potestatem vel substantiam suam, et suum cuique opus (Matt. xxv. 14 sqq.).

13. [Conf. Aug., de Abus. 7.] Nunc ergo commode dicemus etiam quædam de potestate et officio ministrorum Ecclesiae. De potestate hac operosius quidam disputarunt, subdideruntque suæ potestati omnia in terris summa, idque contra mandatum Domini, qui suis dominium prohibuit, humilitatem autem maximopere commendavit (Luc. xxii. 25; Matt. xviii. 1 sqq.; xx. 25). Revera alia quidem potestas est mera et absoluta, quæ et juris vocatur. Ea potestate Christo Domino universorum subjecta sunt omnia: sicuti ipse testans est et dixit: Data est mihi potestas in celo et in terra (Matt. xxviii. 18). Et iterum: Ego sum primus et novissimus, ecce sum vivens in saecula saeculorum, et habeo claves inferni et mortis (Apoc. i. 17, 18). Item: Ipse habet clavem David, qui aperit, et nemo claudit, claudit, et nemo aperit (Apoc. iii. 7).

14. Hanc potestatem sibi servat Dominus, nec in alium quemquam transfert, ut ipse deinceps otiosus adsistat, operantibus ministris spectator. Jessaias enim: Clavem domus David, inquit, ponam super humerum ejus (Jes. xxii. 22), et iterum: Cujus imperium erit super humerum ejus (Jer. ix. 6). Nam gubernationem non injicit aliis in suos humeros, sed servat et utitur adhuc potestate sua, gubernans omnia. Alia porro potestas est officii vel ministerialis, limitata ab eo, qui plena utitur potestate. Ea ministerio, quam imperio similior est. Concedit enim Dominus aliquis œconomio suo potestatem in domum suam, quo nomine et claves dat, quibus intromittat in domum, vel ex domo excludat, quos Dominus vel intromitti vult, vel excludi. Juxta hanc potestatem facit minister ex officio, quod a Domino jussus est facere: et Dominus ratum habet, quod facit, ipsumque ministri sui factum, perinde ut suum vult aestimari atque agnosci.

15. Quo nimurum pertinent illæ Evangelicæ sententiae: Dabo tibi claves regni celorum, et, quicquid adligaveris aut solveris in terra, adligatum aut solutum erit in celis (Matt. xvi. 19). Item: Quorumcunque remiseritis peccata, remittentur eis, et quorumcunque retinueritis peccata, retenta erunt (Joh. xx. 23). Nisi vero minister res omnes ita expediverit, sicut jesus est a Domino suo, sed limites fidei transilierit, sane irritum habetur a Domino, quod fecit. Proinde potestas eccl-siastica ministrorum Ecclesiae est functio illa, qua ministri Ecclesiam Dei gubernant quidem, verum omnia in Ecclesia sic faciunt, quemadmodum verbo suo praescripsit Dominus: quae cum facta sunt, fideles tanquam ab ipso Domino facta reputant. Et de clavibus antea quoque dictum est nonnihil.

16. Data est autem omnibus in Ecclesia ministris una et aequalis potestas sive functione. Certe ab initio Episcopi vel Presbyteri Ecclesiam communi opera gubernaverunt; nullus alteri se praetulit, aut sibi ampliorem potestatem domininmve in coëpiscopos usurpavit. Memores enim verborum Domini: Qui voluerit inter vos primus esse, sit vester servus (Luc. xxii. 26); continuerunt se in humilitate, et mutuis officiis juverunt se invicem in gubernanda et conservanda Ecclesia. Interea propter ordinem servandum, unus aut certus aliquis ministrorum cœtum convocavit, et in cœtu res consultandas proposuit, sententias item aliorum collegit, denique, ne qua oriretur confusio, pro virili eavit.

17. Sic legitur fecisse in Actis App. S. Petrus, qui tamen ideo nec aliis fuit praepositus, nec potestate majore ceteris praeditus. Rectissime enim Cyprianus, martyr, de simplicitate clericorum: Hoc erant utique, inquit, et ceteri Apostoli, quod fuit Petrus, pari consortio praediti et honoris et potestatis; sed exordium ab unitate proficiscitur, ut Ecclesia una monstretur. Refert item S. Hieronymus non disperita in Comment. ad Ep. ad Tit. Pauli, et dicit: Antequam diaboli instinctu studia in religione fierent, communis Presbyterorum consilio Ecclesiae gubernabantur, postquam vero unusquisque eos, quos baptizaverat, suos putabat, non Christi, decretum est, ut unus de Presbyteris electus superponeretur ceteris, ad quem omnis ecclesiæ cura pertineret, et schismatum semina tollerentur. Hoc tamen decretum Hieronymus non pro divino venditat. Mox enim subjicit: Sicut Presbyteri sciunt, se ex ecclesiæ consuetudine, ei, qui sibi praepositus fuerit, esse subjectos: ita Episcopi neverint, se magis consuetudine, quam dispositionis Dominicæ veritate, Presbyteris esse majores, et in commune debere Ecclesiam regere. Haec ille. Ideoque nemo jure prohibuerit ad veterem Ecclesiae Dei constitutionem redire, et illam præ humana consuetudine recipere.

18. Officia ministrorum sunt varia, quæ tamen plerique ad duo restringunt, in quibus omnia alia comprehenduntur, ad doctrinam Christi Evangelicam, et ad legitimam sacramentorum administrationem. Ministrorum enim est congregare cœtum sacrum, in hoc exponere Verbum Dei, et universam doctrinam accommodare ad rationem usumque Ecclesiae, ut ea, quæ docentur, prosint anditoribus, et ædificant fideles. Ministrorum, inquam, est, docere imperitos, hortari item, et urgere ad progrediendum in via Domini cessantes, aut etiam tardius procedentes, consolari item et confirmare pusillanimes, munireque contra Satanæ tentationes varias, corripere peccantes, revocare in viam errantes, lapsos erigere, contradicentes revincere, lupos denique ab ovili Dominico abigere, scelera item et sceleratos prudenter et graviter inerepare, neque connivere aut tacere ad consecelerationem: sed et sacramenta administrare, usumque eorum justum commendare, et omnes ad illa percipienda per sanam doctrinam præparare, in unitate quoque sancta fideles conservare, et schismata prohibere, denique catechisare rudes, pauperum necessitatem commendare ecclesiæ, ægrotantes et variis impecos temptationibus visitare, instruere, et in via vitæ retinere: præterea orationes publicas, vel supplicationes necessitatis tempore, una cum jejunio, id est, abstinentia sancta procurare; et omnia quæ pertinent ad ecclesiarum tranquillitatem, pacem et saltem, quam diligentissime curare.

19. Ut autem hæc omnia rectius faciliusque possit minister præstare, requiritur ab eo imprimis, ut sit Dei timens, oret sedulo, lectioni sacræ intendat, et in omnibus et semper vigilet, et puritate vitæ omnibus præluceat.

20. Cumque omnino oporteat esse in Ecclesia disciplinam, et apud veteres quondam usitata fuerit excommunicatio, fuerintque judicia ecclesiastica in populo Dei, in quibus per viros prudentes et pios exercebatur hæc disciplina, ministrorum quoque fuerit, ad ædificationem, disciplinam moderari hanc, pro conditione temporum, status publici, ac necessitate. Ubi semper tenenda est regula, omnia fieri debere ad ædificationem, decenter, honeste, sine tyrannide et seditione. Apostolus enim testatur: Sibi a Deo traditam esse in Ecclesia potestatem ad adificationem et non ad destructionem (2 Cor. x. 8). Nam ipsemet Dominus vetuit, lolium in agro Dominico eradicari, quando periculum sit, ne et tritium evellatur (Matt. xiii. 29).

21. Ceterum exseceramus in praesenti Donatistarum errorem, qui doctrinam et administrationem sacramentorum, vel efficacem vel inefficacem, ex mala vel bona ministrorum vita aestimant. Scimus enim, vocem Christi audiendam esse vel ex malorum ministrorum ore.

Quando ipse Dominus dixit: Quæ dicunt, facite, secundum opera autem eorum nolite facere (Matt. xxiii. 3). Scimus, sacramenta ex institutione et per Verbum Christi sanetificari, et efficacia esse piis, tametsi offerantur ab indignis ministris. De qua re ex Scripturis multa contra Donatistas disputavit beatus Dei servus Augustinus.

22. Atqui debet interim justa esse inter ministros disciplina. Inquirendum enim diligenter in doctrinam et vitam ministrorum, in synodis. Corripiendi sunt peccantes a senioribus, et in viam reducendi, si sunt sanabiles, aut deponendi, et velut Inpi abigendi sunt per veros Pastores a grege Dominicō, si sunt incurabiles. Si enim sint pseudodoctores, minime ferendi sunt. Neque vero et œcumenia improbabiles concilia, si ad exemplum celebrentur Apostolicum, ad Ecclesiæ saltem, non perniciem.

23. Ministri quoque fideles omnes, ut boni operarii, mercede sua digni sunt, nec peccant, quando stipendium omniaque interim necessaria pro se et sua familia aecipiunt. Nam Apostolus ostendit, hæc jure dari ab Ecclesia, et aecipi a ministris, in 1 ad Cor. ix. et 1 ad Tim. v. et alibi quoque. Confutati sunt autem Apostolica doctrina et Anabaptistæ, qui ministros ex ministerio suo viventes damnant, et conviciis proseindunt.

CAP. XIX.

DE SACRAMENTIS ECCLESIE CHRISTI. [CONF. AUG., ART. XIII.]

1. Praedicationi verbi sui adjunxit Deus mox ab initio, in Ecclesia sua, sacramenta vel signa sacramentalia. Ita enim clare testatur universa Scriptura sacra. Sunt autem sacramenta symbola mystica, vel ritus sancti aut sacrae actiones, a Deo ipso instituta, constantes verbo suo, signis, et rebus significatis, quibus in Ecclesia summa sua beneficia, homini exhibita, retinet in memoria, et subinde renovat, quibus item promissiones suas obsignat, et quæ ipse nobis interius praestat, exterius representat, ac veluti oculis contemplanda subjicit, adeoque fidem nostram, Spiritu Dei in cordibus nostris operante, roborat et auget: quibus denique nos ab omnibus aliis populis et religionibus separat, sibique soli consecrat et obligat, et quid a nobis requirat, significat.

2. Et sunt quidem alia veteris, alia novi populi sacramenta. Veteris populi sacramenta fuerunt circumcisio, et agnus paschalis, qui immo-labatur: quo nomine ad saerifieia refertur, quæ fuerunt celebrata ab origine mundi. Novi populi sacramenta sunt baptismus, et cœna Dominica. Sunt, qui septem sacramenta novi populi numerent. Ex quibus nos pœnitentiam, ordinationem ministrorum, non papisticam quidem illam, sed Apostolicam, et matrimonium agnoscimus instituta esse Dei utilia, sed non saeramenta. Confirmatio et extrema nuptio inventa sunt hominum, quibus nullo cum danno carere potest Ecclesia. Neque illa nos in nostris ecclesiis habemus. Nam habent illa quædam, quæ minime probare possumus. Nundinationem omnem, quam exercent Romanenses in dispensatione sacramentorum, omnino execravimus.

3. Auctor autem sacramentorum omnium non est homo nullus, sed Deus solus. Homines sacramenta instituere non possunt. Nam pertinent illa ad cultum Dei. At hominum non est, instituere et formare cultum Dei; sed traditum a Deo recipere et custodire. Præterea habent symbola promissiones adjunctas, quæ requirunt fidem. Fides autem solo Dei Verbo innititur. Et Verbum Dei habetur instar tabularum vel literarum, sacramenta vero instar sigillorum: quæ literis Deus adpendit solus. Et ut Deus sacramentorum auctor est, ita perpetuo operatur in Ecclesia, in qua rite peraguntur sacramenta: adeo ut fideles, cum a ministris sacramenta percipiunt, agnoscant, operari Deum in suo instituto, ideoque sacramenta perinde, ac ex ipsius Dei manu percipere, et ipsis ministri vitium (si quod insigne ipsi insit) non obesse, quando agnoscant, sacramentorum integritatem dependere ab institutione Domini. Unde etiam disserinant aperte in administratione sacramentorum inter Dominum ipsum, et Domini ministrum, confitentes, saeramentorum res dari ab ipso Domino, symbola autem a Domini ministris.

4. Ceterum præcipuum illud, quod in omnibus sacramentis proponitur a Deo, et attenditur a piis omnibus omnium temporum (quod alii nuncupant substantiam et materiam saeramentorum) Christus est Servator, hostia illa unica, agnus item ille Dei mactatus ab origine mundi, petra quoque illa, de qua omnes majores nostri biberunt, per quem electi omnes circumciduntur sine manibus, per Spiritum Sanctum, abluiunturque a peccatis suis omnibus, et aluntur vero corpore et sanguine Christi ad vitam aeternam.

5. Et quantum quidem attinet ad illud, quod in saeramentis est præcipuum et res ipsa, paria sunt utrinque populi saeramenta. Nam

Christus unicus Mediator et Servator fidelium utrobiusque est illud praecepitum et ipsa res sacramentorum. Unus et idem Deus, utrobiusque horum est auctor. Utrique populo data sunt illa, ut signa adeoque obsignationes gratiae et promissionum Dei, quae in memoriam reducant, reparentque maxima Dei beneficia, quibus item fideles ab omnibus aliis orbis religionibus sejungerentur, denique quae spiritualiter per fidem perciperentur, et percipientes obstringerent Ecclesiae, et ipsos sui admonerent officii. In his inquam et similibus non dispara sunt utriusque populi sacramenta, quae tamen in signis sunt diversa.

6. Et quidem constituimus etiam in his ampliorem differentiam. Nostra enim firmiora et magis durabilia sunt, utpote quae in finem usque seculi nunquam mutabuntur. Sed et rem et promissionem completam vel perfectam in Christo testantur, quam complendam illa significabant. Simpliciora item sunt nostra et minus operosa, minus item sumptuosa et cærimonias involuta. Pertinent praeterea ad ampliorem populum, per totum terrarum orbem dispersum: eunque etiam illustria sint, et majorem (per Spiritum Sanctum) excitent fidem, insequitur etiam uberior spiritus copia.

7. Certe cum Christus verus Messias nobis sit exhibitus, et abundantia gratiae¹ effusa in populum Novi Testamenti, abrogata sunt utique, ac desierunt veteris populi sacramenta, et subrogata sunt Novi Testamenti symbola, in locum circumcisionis, baptismus, et in locum agni Paschalis sacrificiorumque, eæna Dominica.

8. Sicut autem quondam sacramenta constabant verbo, signo et re significata, ita nunc quoque iisdem veluti partibus absolvuntur. Nam Verbo Dei fiunt, quae antea non fuerint, sacramenta. Consecrantur enim Verbo et sanctificata esse ostenduntur ab eo, qui instituit. Et sanctificare vel consecrare est, rem aliquam Deo sacrisque usibus dedicare, h. e. a communi vel profano usu segregare et sacro usui destinare. Sunt enim in sacramentis signa petita ex usu vulgari, res externæ et visibiles. In baptismo enim signum est elementum aquæ, ablutione illa visibilis, quæ fit per ministrum. Res autem significata est regeneratione vel ablutione a peccatis. In eæna vero Domini signum est panis et vinum, sumptum ex communi usu cibi et potus. Res autem significata est ipsum traditum Domini corpus, et sanguis ejus effusus pro nobis, vel communio corporis et sanguinis Domini. Proinde aqua, panis et vinum sua natura, et extra institutionem divinam ac usum sanctum, duntaxat id sunt, quod esse dicuntur, et experimur. Ceterum, si accedat Domini Verbum, cum invocatione divini nominis, et renovatione primæ institutionis et sanctificationis, signa ista consecrantur, et sanctificata a Christo esse ostenduntur. Manet enim semper efficax in Ecclesia Dei prima Christi institutio et consecratio sacramentorum adeo ut, qui non aliter celebrent sacramenta, quam ipse Dominus ab initio instituit, fruantur etiam nunc prima illa consecratione omnium præstantissima. Et ideo recitantur in celebratione sacramentorum ipsa verba Christi.

9. Et quoniam Verbo Dei discimus, quod signa hæc in aliud finem sint instituta a Domino, quam usurpentur vulgo, ideo docemus, signa nunc in usu sacro usurpare rerum signatarum vocabula, nec appellari amplius aquam tantum, panem et vinum, sed etiam regenerationem vel lavaernm renovationis, item corpus et sanguinem Domini, vel symbola aut sacramenta corporis et sanguinis Domini; non quod symbola mutentur in res significatas, et desinant esse id, quod sunt sua natura. Alioqui enim sacramenta non essent, quæ re significata duntaxat constarent, signa non essent: sed ideo usurpant signa rerum nomina, quod rerum sacrarum sint symbola mystica, et signa et res significatae inter se sacramentaliter conjungantur, conjungantur inquam, vel uniantur per significationem mysticam, et voluntatem vel consilium ejus, qui sacramenta instituit.

10. Non enim aqua, panis et vinum sunt signa vulgaria, sed sacra. Et qui instituit aquam baptismi, non ea voluntate consilioque instituit, ut fideles aqua duntaxat baptismi perfundantur: et qui jussit in cœna sacra panem edere, et vinum bibere, non hoc voluit, ut fideles panem et vinum tantum percipient sine mysterio, sicut domi sua panem manducant, sed ut rebus quoque significatis spiritualiter communicent, et vere per fidem abluantur a peccatis, et Christo participant.

11. Idecirco minime probamus eos, qui sanctificationem sacramentorum attribuunt, nescio, quibus characteribus, et recitationi, vel virtuti verborum pronuntiatorum a consecratore,¹ et qui habeat intentionem consecrandi, aut rebus aliis adventitiis, quæ neque Christi, neque Apo-stolorum, vel verbo, vel exemplo nobis traduntur. Neque probamus eorum quoque doctrinam, qui de sacramentis perinde loquuntur, ut signis communibus, non sanctificatis aut efficacibus. Neque eos probamus, qui propter invisibilia aspernantur in sacramentis visibilia, adeoque signa sibi credunt fore supervacanca, quod rebus se jam frui arbitrantur, quales Messaliani fuisse dicuntur. Neque vero approbamus istorum quoque doctrinam, qui docent, gratiam et res significatas signis ita alligari et includi, ut quicunque signis exterius participant, etiam interius gratiae rebusque significatis participes sint, quales quales sint.

12. Interim sicut a dignitate vel indignitate ministrorum non aestimamus integritatem sacramentorum, ita neque a conditione sumentium. Agnoscimus enim sacramentorum integritatem ex fide vel veritate merae bonitate Dei dependere. Sieut enim Verbum Dei manet verum Verbum Dei, quo non tantum verba nuda recitantur, dum prædicatur, sed simul a Deo offeruntur res verbis significatae, vel adnunciatae, tametsi impii vel increduli verba andiant, et intelligant, rebus tamen significatis non perfruantur: eo quod vera fide non recipiant: Ita sacraenta verbo, signis et rebus significatis constantia, manent vera et integra sacramenta, non tantum significantia res sacras, sed Deo offerente etiam res significatas, tametsi increduli res oblatas non percipient. Fit hoc non dantis aut offerentis Dei vitio, sed hominum sine fide illegitimeque accipientium culpa: Quorum incredulitas fidem Dei irritum non fecit (Rom. iii. 3).

13. Porro cum mox ab initio, quando expositum est, quid sint sacramenta, pariter et obiter explicatum sit, ad quid sint instituta; non est, quod semel dicta cum molestia repetantur. Consequenter ergo sigillatim dicemus de novi populi sacramentis.

CAP. XX.

DE SANCTO BAPTISMO. [CONF. AUG., ART. IX.]

1. Baptismus a Deo institutus et consecratus est, primusque baptizavit Joannes, qui Christum aqua in Jordano tinxit. Inde defluxit ad Apostolos, qui et ipsi aqua baptizarunt. Jussit hos manifeste Dominus Evangelium prædicare, et baptizare in nomine Patris et Filii et Spiritus Sancti (Matt. xxviii. 19); et Petrus ad Iudeos interrogantes, quid facere deberent? dixit in Actis: Baptizetur unusquisque res- trum in nomine Jesu Christi, ad remissionem peccatorum, et accipietis donum Spiritus Sancti (Act. ii. 37, 38). Unde a nonnullis baptismus nuncupatus est signum initiale populi Dei, utpote quo initiantur Deo electi Dei.

2. Unus est duntaxat baptismus in Ecclesia Dei, et satis est semel baptizari vel initiari Deo. Durat autem semel suscepitus baptismus per omnem vitam, et est perpetua obsignatio adoptionis nostrae. Etenim baptizari in nomine Christi est: inscribi, initiari et recipi in fœdus atque familiam adeoque in haereditatem filiorum Dei, imo, jam nunc nuncupari nomine Dei, id est, appellari filium Dei, purgari item a sordibus peccatorum, et donari varia Dei gratia ad vitam novam et innocentem. Baptismus ergo in memoria retinet et reparat ingens Dei beneficium generi mortalium præstitum.

3. Nascimur enim omnes in peccatorum sordibus, et sumus filii iræ. Deus autem, qui dives est misericordia, purgat nos a peccatis gratuito, per sanguinem Filii sui, et in hoc adoptat nos in filios, adeoque fœdere sancto nos sibi connectit, et variis donis ditat, ut possimus novam vivere vitam. Obsignantur hæc omnia baptismo. Nam intus regeneramur, purificamur, et renovamur a Deo per Spiritum Sanctum: foris autem accipimus obsignationem maximorum donorum in aqua, qua etiam maxima illa beneficia repræsentantur et veluti oculis nostris conspicienda proponuntur. Ideoque baptizamur, id est, abluimur, aut adspergimur aqua visibili. Aqua enim sordes mundat, deficientia et aestuantia recreat et refrigerat corpora. Gratia vero Dei hæc animabus præstat, et quidem invisibiliter vel spiritualiter.

4. Separat item Deus nos baptismi symbolo ab omnibus alienis religionibus et populis, et sibi consecrat eum peculium: nos itaque, dum baptizamur, confitemur fidem nostram et obstringimur Deo ad obedientiam et mortificationem carnis vitæque novitatem, adeoque inscribimur in sanctam Christi militiam, ut toto vitæ cursu pugnemus contra mundum, et Satanam, atque carnem propriam. Baptizamur præterea in unum Ecclesiæ corpus, ut cum omnibus membris Ecclesiæ pulchre in una et eadem religione mutuisque officiis consentiamus.

5. Credimus perfectissimam esse baptizandi formam, qua Christus ipse baptizatus est, et qua baptizarunt Apostoli. Ergo, quæ humana inventione postea adjecta et usurpata sunt in Ecclesia, non arbitramur necessaria esse ad perfectionem baptismi: cuius generis est exorcismus, usus item ardantis luminis, olei, salis, sputi, et similium rerum, ut, quod baptismus singulis annis pluribus cærimonii bis consecratur. Nos enim credimus, unum Ecclesiae baptismum in prima Dei institutione sanctificatum esse, et consecrari per verbum, efficacemque esse nunc etiam propter primam Dei benedictionem.

6. Docemus, baptismum in Ecclesia non administrari debere a mulierculis, vel ab obstetricibus. Paulus enim removit mulierculas ab officiis ecclesiasticis. Baptismus autem pertinet ad officia ecclesiastica. Damnamus Anabaptistas, qui negant baptizandos esse infantulos recens natos a fidelibus. Nam juxta doctrinam Evangelicam horum est regnum Dei, et sunt in foedere Dei; cur itaque non daretur eis signum foederis Dei? cur non per sanctum baptismum initiantur, qui sunt peculum et in Ecclesia Dei? Damnamus Anabaptistas et in aliis ipsorum dogmatibus, quae contra Verbum Dei peculiaria habent. Non sumus ergo Anabaptistæ, neque cum eis in ulla re ipsorum communicamus.

CAP. XXI.

DE SACRA CŒNA DOMINI. [CONF. AUG., ART. X.]

1. Cœna Domini, quæ et mensa Domini, et eucharistia, id est, gratiarum actio nuncupatur, ideo cœna nuncupatur vulgo, quod a Christo in ultima illa cœna sua instituta sit, eamque adhuc repræsentet, ac in ipsa spiritualiter cibentur et potentur fideles. Auctor enim cœnae Dominicæ non est angelus aut homo ullus, sed ipse Dei Filius, Dominus noster Jesus Christus, qui primus eam Ecclesiae suæ consecravit. Durat autem ea consecratio vel benedictio adhuc apud omnes eos, qui non aliam cœnam, sed illam ipsam celebrant, quam Dominus instituit; ad quam verba cœnae Domini recitant, et in omnibus ad unum Christum vera fide respiciunt, et enjus veluti manibus accipiunt, quod per ministerium ministrorum Ecclesiae accipiunt.

2. Retinere vult Dominus ritu hoc sacro in recenti memoria maximum generi mortalium præstitum beneficium, nempe quod, tradito corpore, et effuso suo sanguine, omnia nobis peccata nostra condonavit, ac a morte æterna et potestate diaboli nos redemit, iam pascit nos sua carne et potat suo sanguine, quæ vera fide spiritualiter percepta, alunt nos ad vitam æternam. Et hoc tantum beneficium renovatur toties, quoties cœna Domini celebratur. Dixit enim Dominus: Hoc facite in mei commemorationem. Obsignatur item haec cœna sancta, quod revera corpus Domini pro nobis traditum et sanguis ejus in remissionem peccatorum nostrorum effusus est, ne quid fides nostra vacillet.

3. Et quidem visibiliter hoc foris sacramento per ministrum repræsentatur, et veluti oculis contemplandum exponitur, quod intus in anima invisibiliter per ipsum Spiritum Sanctum præstatur. Foris offertur a ministro panis, et audiuntur voces Domini: Accipite, edite, hoc est corpus meum, accipite et dividite inter vos, bibite ex hoc omnes, hic est sanguis meus. Ergo accipiunt fideles, quod datur a ministro Domini, et edunt panem Domini, ac bibunt de poculo Domini: intus interim opera Christi per Spiritum Sanctum percipiunt etiam carnem et sanguinem Domini, et pascuntur his in vitam æternam. Etenim caro et sanguis Christi verus cibus et potus est ad vitam æternam; et Christus ipse, quotenus pro nobis traditus et Salvator noster est, illud præcipuum cœnæ est, nec patimur, quiequam aliud in locum ejus substitui.

4. Ut autem rectius et perspicacius intelligatur, quo modo caro et sanguis Christi sint cibus et potus fidelium, percipienturque a fidelibus ad vitam æternam, paucula haec adjiciemus. Manducatio non est unius generis. Est enim manducatio corporalis, qua cibus in os percipitur ab homine, dentibus atteritur et in ventrem deglutitur. Hoc manducationis genere intellexerunt olim Capernaitæ sibi manducandam carnem Domini, sed refutantur ab ipso, Joann. cap. vi. Nam ut caro Christi corporaliter manducari non potest citra flagitium aut truculentiam, ita non est cibus ventris. Id quod omnes fateri coguntur. Improbamus canonem in deeretis itaque pontificum: Ego Berengarius, etc. (De Consecratione, Distinct. 2). Neque enim credit vetustas pia, neque nos erimus, corpus Christi manducari ore corporis corporaliter vel essentialiter.

5. Est et spiritualis manducatio corporis Christi, non ea quidem, qua existimemus cibum mutari in spiritum, sed qua, manente in sua essentia et proprietate corpore et sanguine Domini, ea nobis communicantur spiritualiter, utique non corporali modo, sed spirituali, per Spiritum Sanctum, qui videlicet ea, quae per carnem et sanguinem Domini pro nobis in mortem tradita parata sunt, ipsam, inquam, remissionem peccatorum, liberationem et vitam æternam, applicat et confert nobis, ita ut Christus in nobis vivat et nos in ipso vivamus, scilicet ut ipsum, quo talis fit cibus et potus spiritualis noster, id est, vita nostra, vera fide percipiamus.

6. Sicut enim cibus et potus corporalis corpora nostra non tantum reficiunt ac roborant, sed et in vita conservant: ita et caro Christi tradita pro nobis, et sanguis ejus effusus pro nobis, non tantum reficiunt et roborant animas nostras, sed etiam in vita conservant, non quatenus quidem corporaliter eduntur et bibuntur, sed quatenus spiritualiter nobis a Spiritu Dei communicantur, dicente Domino: Et panis, quem ego dabo, caro mea est, quam dabo pro mundi vita. Item: Caro (nimis corporaliter manducato) non prodest quidquam, spiritus est, qui vivificat. Et: Verba, quae loquor vobis, spiritus et vita sunt (Joh. vi. 51, 63). Et sicut oportet cibum in nosmetipsos edendo recipere, ut operetur in nobis, suamque in nobis efficaciam exserat, eum extra nos positus nihil nobis prosit: ita necesse est, nos fide Christum recipere, ut noster fiat, vivatque in nobis et nos in ipso. Dicit enim: Ego sum panis vite. Qui venit ad me, non esuriet, et qui credit in me, non sitiet unquam. Item: Qui ederit me, vivet et ipse propter me: ac manet in me et ego in ipso (Joh. vi. 51, 52).

7. Ex quibus omnibus claret, nos per spiritualem cibum minime intelligere imaginarium, nescio quem, cibum, sed ipsum Domini corpus pro nobis traditum, quod tamen percipiatur a fidelibus, non corporaliter, sed spiritualiter per fidem. In qua re sequimur per omnia doctrinam ipsius Salvatoris Christi Domini apud Joh. vi. Et hic esus carnis et potus sanguinis Domini ita est necessarius ad salutem, ut sine ipso nullus servari possit. Fit autem hic esus et potus spiritualis etiam extra Domini cœnam, et quoties, aut ubique homo in Christum crediderit. Quo fortassis illud Augustini pertinet: quid paras dentem et ventrem? crede, et mandueasti.

8. Praeter superiorem manducationem spiritualem est et sacramentalis manducatio corporis Domini, qua fidelis non tantum spiritualiter et interne participat vero corpore et sanguine Domini, sed foris etiam accedendo ad mensam Domini accipit visible corporis et sanguinis Domini sacramentum. Prius quidem, dum eredit fidelis, vivificum alimentum percepit, et ipso fruitur adhuc, sed ideo, dum nunc sacramentum quoque accipit, non nihil accipit. Nam in continuatione communicationis corporis et sanguinis Domini pergit, adeoque magis magisque incenditur et erescit fides, ac spirituali alimonia reficitur. Dum enim vivimus, fides continuas habet accessiones. Et qui foris vera fide sacramentum perecipit, idem ille non signum duntaxat perecipit, sed re ipsa quoque, ut diximus, fruitur. Præterea idem ille institutioni et mandato Domini obedit, ketoque animo gratias pro redemptione sua totiusque generis humani agit, ac fidelem mortis Dominicæ memoriam peragit, atque coram Ecclesia, ejus corporis membrum sit, attestatur; obsignatur item percipientibus sacramentum, quod corpus Domini non tantum in genere pro hominibus sit traditum, et sanguis ejus effusus, sed peculiariter pro quovis fideli comunicante, ejus cibis et potus sit ad vitam æternam.

9. Caeterum qui nulla cum fide ad hanc sacram Domini mensam accedit, sacramento duntaxat communieat, et rem sacramenti, unde est vita et salus, non perecipit. Et tales indigne edunt de mensa Domini. Qui autem indigne edunt de pane Domini et de poculo ejus bibunt, rei fiunt corporis et sanguinis Domini, et ad judicium sibi edunt et bibunt. Nam cum vera fide non accedant, mortem Christi contumelia adficiunt, et ideo damnationem sibi ipsis edunt et bibunt.

10. Ergo corpus Domini et sanguinem ejus cum pane et vino non ita conjungimus, ut panem ipsum dicamus esse corpus Christi, nisi ratione sacramentali, aut sub pane corporaliter latitare corpus Christi: ut etiam sub speciebus panis adorari debeat, aut quicunque signum percipiat, idem et rem percipiat ipsam. Corpus Christi in cœlis est ad dextram Patris. Sursum ergo elevanda sunt corda, et non defigenda in panem, nec adorandus Dominus in pane. Et tamen non est absens Ecclesiæ sue celebranti cœnam Dominus. Sol absens a nobis in cœlo, nihilominus efficaciter præsens est nobis: quanto magis sol justitiae Christus, corpore in cœlis absens nobis, præsens est nobis, non corporaliter quidem, sed spiritualiter per vivificam operationem, et ut ipse se nobis præsentem futurum exposuit in ultima cœna (Joh. xiv., xv., xvi.). Unde consequens est, nos non habere cœnam sine Christo, interim tamen habere cœnam ineruentam et mysticam, sicuti universa nuncupavit vetustas.

11. Admonemur præterea celebratione cœnæ Dominicæ, ut mores simus, ejus corporis membra facti simus, et idcirco concordes simus cum omnibus fratribus, ut sancte vivamus, et non polluamus nos flagitiis et peregrinis religionibus, sed in vera fide in finem usque vitæ perseverantes, studeamus excellere sanctimonia vitæ. Decet ergo, ut accessuri ad cœnam, prius nos ipsos juxta præceptum Apostoli probemus, imprimis quali simus fide prædicti, an credamus, Christum venisse, servandis peccatoribus et ad poenitentiam vocandis, et an quisque credat, se in horum esse numero, qui per Christum liberati servantur, et an mutare vitam pravam instituerit, ac vivere sancte, perseverareque, auxiliante Domino, in vera religione et in concordia cum fratribus, dignasque Deo pro liberatione agere gratias, etc.

12. Ritum, modum vel formam cœnæ, illam existimamus esse simplicissimam et præstantissimam, quæ proxime accedit ad primam Domini institutionem et apostolicam doctrinam: quæ videlicet constat annuntiatione verbi Dei, precibus piis, ipsa actione dominica et repetitione ejus, manducatione corporis et potu sanguinis domini, memoria item mortis dominice salubri, et gratiarum actione fideli, nec non sancta consociatione in corporis ecclesiastici unionem. Improbamus itaque illos, qui alteram speciem, pœnum, inquam, domini, fidelibus subtraxerunt. Graviter enim hi peccant contra institutionem domini, dicentis: Bibite ex hoc omnes: Id quod ad panem, non ita expresse dixit.

13. Missa qualis aliquando apud veteres fuerit, tolerabilis an intollerabilis, modo non disputamus; hoc autem libere dicimus, missam, quæ hodie in usu est per universam Romanam Ecclesiam, plurimas et justissimas quidem ob causas in ecclesiis nostris esse abrogatain, quas sigillatim ob brevitatem nunc non commemoramus. Certe approbare non potuimus, quod ex actione salubri, spectaculum inane est factum, quod item facta est meritoria, vel celebrata pro pretio, quodque in ea sacerdos dicitur conficere ipsum Domini corpus, et hoc offerre realiter pro remissione peccatorum vivorum et mortuorum, adde et in honorem et celebrationem, vel memoriam sanctorum in cœlis, etc.

CAP. XXII.

DE CÆTIBUS SACRIS ET ECCLESIASTICIS.

1. Tametsi omnibus sacras literas privatum legere domi, et instruendo ædificare inveniunt in vera religione liceat; ut tamen legitime adnuncietur verbum Dei populo, et preces ac supplicationes fiant publice, sacramenta item celebrentur legitime, et collecta Ecclesiae fiat in pauperes et omnes Ecclesiæ necessarios sumtus faciendo, aut usus sustentando, necessarii sunt omnino cœtus sacri, vel ecclesiastici fidelium conventus. Constat enim, in Ecclesia Apostolica et primitiva hujusmodi cœtus esse ab omnibus piis frequentatos.

2. Qnotquot hos aspernantur, et ab his sese segregant, religionem veram contemnunt, urgendique sunt a pastoribus et piis magistratibus, ne contumacius se segregare, et cœtus sacros aversari pergent. Sint vero cœtus ecclesiastici non occulti et obscuri, sed publici atque frequentes, nisi, persecutio hostium Christi et Ecclesiæ non sinat esse publicos. Seimus enim, quales fuerint quondam primitivæ Ecclesiæ cœtus in abditis locis, sub tyrannide Romanorum principum.

3. Sint autem loca, in quibus coenunt fideles, honesta et Ecclesiæ Dei per omnia commoda. Deligantur ergo aedes amplæ, aut templo. Repurgentur tamen ab iis rebus omnibus, quæ Ecclesiam non decent. Instruantur autem omnia pro deoro, necessitate et honestate pia, ne quid desit, quod requiritur ad ritus et usus Ecclesiæ necessarios.

4. Sicut autem ereditus, Denim non habitare in templis manu factis, ita propter verbum Dei et usus sacros scimus, loca Deo cultuique ejus dedicata non esse profana sed sacra, et qui in his versantur, reverenter et modeste conversari debere, utpote qui sint in loco sacro, coram Dei conspectu et sanctorum angelorum ejus. Longe itaque a templis et oratoriis Christianorum repellendus, est omnis vestium luxus, omnis superbia, et omnia, quæ humilitatem, disciplinam et modestiam dederint christianam. Ac verus templorum ornatus non constat ebore, auro et gemmis, sed frugalitate, pietate, virtutibusque eorum, qui versantur in templo. Omnia autem decenter et ordine fiant in Ecclesia, omnia denique fiant ad aedificationem. Taceant ergo omnes peregrinæ linguae in cœtibus sacris. Omnia proponantur lingua vulgari, et quæ eo in loco ab hominibus in cœtu intelligatur.

CAP. XXIII.

DE PRECIBUS ECCLESIAE, CANTU ET IOTORIS CANONICIS.

1. Licet sane privatim precari quavis lingua quam quis intelligat, sed publicæ preces in sacris cœtibus vulgari lingua vel omnibus cognita fieri debent. Oratio fidelium omnis per solum Christi interventum soli Deo fundatur ex fide et caritate. Divos cœlites invocare, ant his uti pro intercessoribus, prohibet sacerdotium Christi Domini et vera religio. Orandum est autem pro magistratu, pro regibus aut omnibus in eminentia constitutis, pro ministris Ecclesiae et omnibus necessitatibus ecclesiarum. In calamitatibus vero et potissimum Ecclesiae, absque intermissione, et privatum et publice precandum est.

2. Sponte item precandum est, non coacte, neque pro ullo pretio. Neque decet orationem superstitiose adstrictam esse loco, quasi alibi non liceat, nisi in templo precari. Neque oportet preces publicas, quoad formam et tempus, in omnibus ecclesiis esse pares. Libertate enim sua intantur Ecclesiae quaelibet. Socrates in historia, In omnibus, ubique regionibus, inquit, non poteris invenire duas ecclesias, quae orando plene consentiant. Hujusmodi discrepantiae autores eos esse puto, qui singulis temporibus ecclesiis praefuerunt. Si tamen sunt congruentes, maximopere commendandum id et aliis imitandum videtur.

3. Sed et modum esse decet, ut in re quavis, ita et in precibus publicis, ne nimis sint prolixæ et molestæ. Cedant ergo potiores partes in cœtibus sacris doctrinae evangelicæ, caveaturque, ne nimis prolixis precibus fatigetur in cœtu populus, ut cum audienda est prædicatio Evangelii, vel egredi ex cœtu, vel hunc in universum solvi eupiant defatigati. Talibus in concione nimis videtur prolixum esse, quod alias succinctum est satis. Nam et concessionatores modum tenere decet.

4. Sic et cantus in cœtu sacro est moderandus, ubi is est in usu. Cantus, quem Gregorianum nuncupant, plurima habet absurdæ: unde rejectus est merito a nostris et pluribus ecclesiis. Si ecclesiæ sunt, quæ orationem fidelem legitimamque habent, cantum autem nullum habent, condeinnari non debent. Non enim canendi commoditatem omnes habent ecclesiæ. Ae certum est ex testimoniosis vetustatis, ut cantus usum fuisse vetustissimum in orientalibus ecclesiis, ita sero tandem receptum esse ab occidentalibus.

5. Horas canonicas, id est, preces ad certas in die horas compositas, a Papistis cantatas aut recitatas, nescivit vetustas: quod ex ipsis horarum lectionibus et argumentis pluribus demonstrari potest. Sed et absurdæ non pauca habent, ut nihil dicam aliud, proinde omittuntur recte ab ecclesiis substituentibus in locum ipsarum res salutares Ecclesiae Dei universæ.

CAP. XXIV.

DE FERIIS, JEJUNIIS, CIBORUMQUE DELECTU. [CONF. AUG., DE ABUS. 5.]

1. Quamquam religio tempori non alligetur, non potest tamen absque justa temporis distinctione vel ordinatione plantari et exerceri. Deligit ergo quaevis ecclesia sibi tempus certum ad preces publicas et Evangelii prædicationem, nec non sacramentorum celebrationem. Non licet autem enivis pro suo arbitrio Ecclesiæ ordinationem hanc convellere. Ac nisi otium justum concedatur religionis externæ exercitio, abstrahuntur certe ab eo negotiis suis homines.

2. Unde videmus in ecclesiis vetustis, non tantum certas fuisse horas in septimana constitutas cœtibus, sed ipsam diem dominicam ab ipsis Apostolorum temporibus, iisdem sacroque otio fuisse consecratam: quod etiam nunc recte propter cultum et caritatem, ab ecclesiis nostris custoditur. Observationi Judaicæ et superstitionibus nihil hie permittimus. Neque enim alteram diem altera sanctiorem esse credimus, neque otium Deo per se probari existimamus, sed et dominicam non sabbatum libera observatione celebramus.

3. Præterea si ecclesiæ pro Christiana libertate memoriam dominicæ nativitatis, circumcisionis, passionis et resurrectionis, ascensionis item in cœlum, et missionis Sancti Spiritus in discipulos religiose celebrent, maximopere approbamus. Festa vero hominibus aut divis instituta non probamus. Et sane pertinent feriae ad tabulam legis primam, et sunt solius Dei: denique habent feriae divis institutæ et a nobis abrogatæ, absurdæ, inutilia, minimeque toleranda plurima. Interim fatemur non utiliter sanctorum memoriam, suo loco et tempore in sacris concionibus populo commendari, et omnibus sancta exempla sanctorum imitanda proponi.

4. Quanto vero gravius accusat Christi Ecclesia crapulam, ebrietatem, et omnem libidinem ac intemperantiam, tanto vehementius commendat nobis jejunium Christianum. Est enim jejunium aliud nihil, quam abstinentia et temperantia piorum, disciplina item, custodia, et castigatio carnis nostræ, pro necessitate præsenti suscepta, qua humiliamur eoram Deo, et carni sua fomenta detrahimus, quo facilius libentiusque spiritui pareat. Proinde non jejunant, qui istorum nullam rationem habent, sed jejunare se credunt, si semel in die farciant ventrem, et certo vel præscripto tempore a certis abstineant cibis, existimantes, hoc opere operato se Deo placere et bonum opus facere. Jejunium est adminiculum orationis sanctorum ac virtutum omnium. Non placuit Deo (ut videre est in Prophetarum libris), jejuniū, quo a cibo non a sceleribus jejunabant Judæi.

5. Est autem publicum jejuniū, et privatum. Celebrarunt olim jejunia publica calamitosis temporibus rebusque Ecclesiae afflictis. Abstinebant in universum a cibo ad vesperam usque. Totum autem hoc tempus impendebant precibus sacris cultuique Dei et pœnitentiae. Parum hæc abfuerunt a luctu: et frequens fit horum mentio in Prophetis, præcipue apud Joëlem (cap. ii.). Celebrari debet hujusmodi jejuniū etiam hodie in rebus Ecclesiae difficilibus. Privata jejunia suscipiuntur abs quovis nostrum, prout quisque senserit detrahi spiritui. Hactenus enim fomenta carni detrahit.

6. Omnia jejunia proficiisci debent ex libero, spontaneoque spiritu et vere humiliato, nec composita esse ad plausum vel gratiam hominum consequendam, multo minus eo, ut per ipsa velit homo justitiam demereri. Jejunet autem in hunc finem quilibet, ut fomenta carni detrahatur, et ferventius Deo inserviat.

7. Quadragesimale jejuniū vetustatis habet testimonia, sed nulla ex literis Apostolicis: ergo non debet, nec potest imponi fidelibus. Certum est, quondam varias fuisse jejuniorum formas vel consuetudines. Unde Irenæus, scriptor vetustissimus, Quidam, inquit, putant uno tantum die observari debere jejuniū, alii duobus, alii vero pluribus, nonnulli etiam quadraginta diebus. Quæ varietas observantiae, non nostris nunc demum temporibus cœpit, sed multo ante nos, ex illis, ut opinor, qui non simpliciter, quod ab initio traditum est, tenentes, in alium morem, vel per negligentiam, vel per imperitiam postmodum decidere. Sed et Sorates historiens, Quia leetio nulla, inquit, de hoc invenitur antiqua, puto, Apostolos hoc singulorum reliquisse sententiae, ut unusquisque operetur, non timore et necessitate, quod bonum est.

8. Jam vero, quoad deleetum eiborum attinet, in jejunis arbitramur omne id detrahitum esse carni, unde redditur ferocior, et quo delectatur impensis, unde existunt fomenta carni, sive pisces sint, sive earnes, sive aromata, delitiaevæ aut præstantia vina. Alioqui scimus, creaturas Dei omnes conditas esse in usus et servitia hominum. Omnia, quæ condidit Deus, bona sunt (Gen. i. 31), et citra delectum, cum timore Dei et justa moderatione usurpanda. Apostolus enim, Omnia, inquit, mundis munda sunt (Tit. i. 15). Item: Omne, quod in macello venditur, edite, nihil interrogantes propter conscientiam (1 Cor. x. 25). Idem Apostolus nominat doctrinam eorum, qui jubent abstinere a cibis, doctrinam demoniorum. Cibos enim creasse Deum ad sumendum cum gratiarum actione fidelibus, et his, qui cognoverunt veritatem, quod quidquid creavit Deus, bonum sit, et nihil rejiciendum, si sumatur cum gratiarum actione, etc. (1 Tim. iv. 1, 3, 4). Idem ad Colossenses reprobat eos, qui nimia abstinentia, sibi comparare volunt existimationem sanctitatis (Coloss. ii. 21, 23). Nos itaque in universum reprobamus Tatianos et Eneratitas, omnes denique Eu-stachii discipulos, contra quos congregata est Gangrensis synodus.

CAP. XXV.

DE CATECHESI, ET ÆGROTANTII CONSOLATIONE VEL VISITATIONE.

1. Dominus veteri suo populo injunxit, maximam curam ut impenderent ab infantia recte instituendæ juventuti, adeoque mandavit diserte in lege sua, erindirent et sacramentorum mysteria interpretarentur. Cum autem ex Evangelicis et Apostolicis literis constet, Deum non minorem rationem habere novi sui populi pubis, cum palam testetur et dicat, Sinite pueros venire ad me, talium enim est regnum cælorum (Mare. x. 14), consultissime faciunt ecclesiarum pastores, qui juventutem mature et diligenter catechisant, prima fidei fundamenta jacentes, ac rudimenta religionis nostræ fideliter docentes, explicando dealogum mandatorum Dei, symbolum item Apostolorum, orationem quoque dominicam, et sacramentorum rationem, cum aliis ejus generis primis principiis, et religionis nostræ capitibus præcipuis. Fidem vero et diligentiam hic snam in adducendis ad catechismum liberi præstet Ecclesia, eupiens et gaudens liberos suos recte institui.

2. Cum vero nunquam gravioribus temptationibus expositi sunt homines, quam dum infirmitatibus exercentur aut ægrotant, morbis cum animi tum corporis fracti, nunquam sane convenit pastores ecclesiarum saluti sui gregis invigilare accuratius, quam in hujusmodi morbis et infirmitatibus. Visitent ergo mature ægrotantes, vocentur item mature ab ægrotantibus, siquidem res ipsa postulaverit: consolentur autem illos, et in vera fide confirment, muniant denique contra perniciosas

Satanæ suggestiones: instituant item preces apud ægrotantem domesticas, ac si necesse sit, precentur pro ægrotantis salute etiam in cœtu publico eurentque, quo feliciter ex hoc seculo migret. Papisticam visitationem cum sua illa unctione extrema, diximus superius, nos non approbare, quod absurdia habeat, et a scriptura canonica non approbetur.

CAP. XXVI.

DE SEPULTURA FIDELIUM, CURAQUE PRO MORTUIS GERENDA, DE PURGATORIO, ET APPARITIONE SPIRITUUM.

1. Fidelium corpora, ut Spiritus Sancti templa, et quæ in ultimo die recte creduntur resurrectura, jubet scriptura honeste absque superstitione humo mandare, sed et honestam eorum, qui sancte in Domino obdormiverint, mentionem facere, relictisque eorum, ut viduis et pupillis, omnia pictatis officia præstare: aliam non docemus pro mortuis enram gerere. Improbamus ergo maxime Cynicos, corpora mortuorum negligentes, aut quam negligentissime contemptissimeque in terram abjicientes, nunquam vel verbum bonum de defunctis facientes, aut relictos ipsorum ne tantillum quidem curantes.

2. Improbamus rursus nimis et præpostere officiosos in defunctos, qui instar Ethnicorum suos deplangunt mortuos (luctum moderatum, quem Apostolus (1 Thess. iv.) concessit, non vituperamus, inhumanius esse judicantes, prorsus nihil dolere), et pro mortuis sacrificant, et preculas certas, non sine pretio, demurmurant, hujusmodi suis officiis liberaturi suos illos ex tormentis, quibus a morte immersos, et inde rursus liberari posse hujusmodi naeniis arbitrantur.

3. Credimus enim, fideles recta a morte corporea migrare ad Christum, ideoque viventium suffragiis aut precibus pro defunctis, denique illis suis officiis nihil indigere. Credimus item, infideles recta præcipitari in tartara, ex quibus nullus impiis aperitur, ullis viventium officiis, exitus.

4. Quod autem quidam tradunt de igne purgatorio, fidei Christianæ: Credo remissionem peccatorum et vitam æternam, purgationique plenæ per Christum, et Christi Domini hisce sententiis adversatur: Amen, amen dico vobis, qui sermonem meum audit, et credit ei qui misit me, habet vitam æternam, et in judicium non veniet, sed transivit a morte in vitam (Joh. v. 24). Item, Qui lotus est, non opus habet, nisi ut pedes lavet, sed est mundus totus, et vos mundi estis (Joh. xiii. 10).

5. Jam quod traditur de spiritibus vel animabus mortuorum apparentibus aliquando viventibus, et potentibus ab eis officia, quibus liberantur, deputamus apparitiones eas inter ludibria, artes et deceptiones diaboli, qui, ut potest se transfigurare in angelum lucis, ita satagit fidem veram vel evertere, vel in dubium revocare. Dominus in veteri testamento vicit veritatem sciscitari a mortuis, et ullum cum spiritibus habere commercium (Deut. xviii. 10, 11). Epuloni vero poenis mancipato, sicut narrat veritas evangelica, negatur ad fratres suos redditus: pronunciante interim divino oraculo, atque dicente, Habent Mosen et Prophetas, audiant illos. Si Mosen et Prophetas non audiunt, neque si quis ex mortuis resurrexit, credent (Luc. xvi. 31).

CAP. XXVII.

DE RITIBUS ET CEREMONIIS, ET MEDIIS. [CONF. AUG., ART. XV.]

1. Veteri populo traditæ sunt quondam cæremoniæ, ut paedagogia quædam, iis qui sub lege veluti sub paedagogo et tutore quodam custodiebantur, sed adveniente Christo liberatore, legeque sublata, fideles sub lege amplius non sumus (Rom. vi. 14), disparueruntque cæremoniæ, quas in Ecclesia Christi adeo retinere aut reparare noluerunt Apostoli, ut aperte sint testati se nullum onus velle imponere Ecclesiæ (Act. xv. 28). Proinde Judaismum videremur reducere aut restituere, si in Ecclesia Christi, ad morem veteris Ecclesiæ, cæremonias, ritusve multiplicaremus. Ideoque minime approbamus eorum sententiam, quibus visum est Ecclesiam Christi cohiberi oportere, seu paedagogia quadam, multis variisque ritibus. Nam si populo Christiano Apostoli cæremonias vel ritus divinitus traditos imponere noluerunt, quis ergo sanæ mentis obtrudet illi adinventiones adinventas humanitus? Quanto magis accedit cumulo rituum in Ecclesia, tanto magis detrahitur non tantum libertati Christianæ, sed et Christo et ejus fidei: dum vulgus ea quaerit in ritibus, quæ quaereret in solo Dei Filio Iesu Christo per fidem. Sufficiunt itaque piis pauci, moderati, simplices, nec alieni a verbo Dei ritus.

2. Quod si in ecclesiis dispare inveniuntur ritus, nemo ecclesiæ existimet ex eo esse dissidentes. Socrates, Impossibile fuerit, inquit, omnes ecclesiarum, quæ per civitates et regiones sunt, ritus conserbore. Nulla religio eosdem ritus custodit, etiam si eandem de illis doctrinam amplectatur. Etenim, qui ejusdem sunt fidei, de ritibus inter se dissentunt. Haec ille. Et nos hodie ritus diversos in celebratione ecclæ Domini et in aliis nonnullis rebus habentes in nostris ecclesiis, in doctrina tamen et fide non dissidemus, neque unitas societasque ecclesiarum nostrarum ea re discinditur. Semper vero ecclesiae in hujusmodi ritibus, sicut mediis, usæ sunt libertate. Id quod nos hodie quoque facimus.

3. At cavendum interim monemus, ne inter media deputentur, ut quidem solent missam et usum imaginum in templo pro mediis reputare, quæ revera non sunt media. Indifferens (dixit ad Augustinum Hieron.) illud est, quod nec bonum nec malum est, ut sive feceris, sive non feceris, nec justitiam habeas nec injustitiam. Proinde cum ἀδιαφορα rapiuntur ad fidei confessionem, libera esse desinunt: sicut Paulus ostendit, licitum esse carnibus vesci, si quis non submoneat, idolis esse litatas, alioqui fore illicitas, quod qui his vescitur, jam descendendo, idolatriam approbare videatur (1 Cor. viii. 10).

CAP. XXVIII.

DE BONIS ECCLESIE.

1. Opes habet Ecclesia Christi ex munificentia principum ac liberalitate fidelium, qui facultates suas Ecclesiae donarunt. Opus enim habet Ecclesia facultatibus, et habuit ab antiquo facultates ad res Ecclesiae necessarias sustinendas. Ac verus usus opum Ecclesiae quondam fuit, et nunc est, conservare doctrinam in scholis, et cœtibus sacris, cum universo cultu, ritibus et aedificio sacro, conservare denique doctores, discipulos atque ministros, cum rebus aliis necessariis, et imprimis pauperibus juvandis atque alendis. Deligantur autem viri timentes Deum, prudentes, et in œconomia insignes, qui legitime boua dispensent ecclesiastica.

2. Si vero opes Ecclesiae per injuriam temporis, et quorundam audaciam, inscitiam, aut avaritiam translatæ sunt in abusum, reducantur a viris piis et prudentibus ad sanctum usum. Neque enim convenientum est ad abusum maxime sacrilegum. Docemus itaque reformandas esse scholas et collegia corrupta in doctrina, in cultu, et in moribus, ordinandamque esse pie, bona fide, atque prudenter pauperum subventionem.

CAP. XXIX.

DE CÆLIBATU, CONJUGIO, ET ÆCONOMIA. [CONF. AUG., DE ABUS. 2.]

1. Qui cœlitus donum habent cœlibatus, ita ut ex corde, vel toto animo, puri sint ac continentes, nec urantur graviter, serviant in ea vocatione Domino, donec senserint se divino munere præditos, et ne efferant se cœteris, sed serviant Domino assidue, in simplicitate et humilitate. Aptiores autem hi sunt curandis rebus divinis, quam qui privatis familiæ negotiis distrahuntur. Quod si adempto rursus dono, unctionem senserint durabilem, meminerint verbi Apostolici: Melius est nubere, quam uri (1 Cor. vii.).

2. Conjugium enim (incontinentiae medicina et continentia ipsa est) institutum est ab ipso Domino Deo, qui ei liberalissime benedixit, ac virum ac foeminam inseparabiliter sibi mutuum adhærere, et una in summa dilectione, concordiaque vivere voluit (Matt. xiii.). Unde scimus Apostolum dixisse: Honorabile est conjugium inter omnes et cubile impollutum (Heb. xiii. 4). Et iterum: Si virgo nupserit, non peccavit (1 Cor. vii.). Damnamus ergo polygamiam, et eos, qui secundas damnant nuptias. Docemus, contrahenda esse conjugia legitimate in timore Domini, et non contra leges, prohibentes aliquot in conjugio gradus, ne incestæ fiant nuptiæ. Contrahantur eum consensu parentum, aut qui sunt loco parentum, ac in illum maxime finem, ad quem Dominus conjugia instituit et confirmantur publice in templo eum precatione et benedictione. Colantur denique sancte, eum maxima conjugum fide, pietate et dilectione, nec non puritate. Caveantur itaque rixæ, dissidia, libidines et adulteria. Constituantur legitima in Ecclesia iudicia, et judices sancti, qui tueantur conjugia, et omnem impudicitiam impudentiamque coërcant, et apud quos controversiae matrimoniales transigantur.

3. Educentur quoque liberi a parentibus, in timore Domini: pro videant item parentes liberis, memores Apostolice sententiae: Qui suis non prospicit, fidem abnegavit, et infidelis est deterior (1 Tim. v. 8). Imprimis autem doceant suos, quibus sese alant, artes honestas, abstractant ab otio, et veram in his omnibus fiduciam in Deum inse-rant, ne diffidentia aut securitate nimia aut avaritia fœda diffluant, nec ad nullum fructum perveniant.

4. Estque certissimum opera illa, quæ in vera fide fiunt a parentibus, per conjugii officia et œconomiam, esse coram Deo sancta et vere bona opera, et placere hæc Deo non minus, quam preces, jejunia, atque eleemosynas. Sie enim docuit et Apostolus in epistolis suis, præcipue vero ad Tim. et Titum. Numeramus autem cum eodem Apostolo inter dogmata Satanica illorum doctrinam, qui matrimonium prohibent, aut palam vituperant, vel oblique perstringunt, quasi non sanctum vel mundum sit.

5. Execramur autem cœlibatum immundum, libidines et fornicationes teatas et apertas hypoeritarum, simulantium continentiam, cum omnium sint incontinentissimi. Hos omnes judicabit Deus. Divitias, et divites, si pii sunt et recte utantur divitiis, non reprobamus. Reprobamus autem sectam Apostolicorum, etc.

CAP. XXX.

DE MAGISTRATU. [CONF. AUG., ART. XVI.]

1. Magistratus omnis generis ab ipso Deo est institutus ad generis humani pacem ac tranquillitatem, ac ita, ut primum in mundo locum obtineat. Si hic sit adversarius Ecclesiæ, et impedire et obturbare potest plurimum. Si autem sit amicus, adeoque membrum Ecclesiæ, utilissimum excellentissimumque membrum est Ecclesiæ, quod ei permultum prodesse, eam denique peroptime juvare potest.

2. Ejus officium præcipuum est, pacem et tranquillitatem publicam procurare et conservare. Quod sane nunquam fecerit felicis, quam cum fuerit vere timens Dei ac religiosus, qui videlicet ad exemplum sanetissimorum regum principumque populi Domini, veritatis prædicationem et fidem sinceram promoverit, mendacia et superstitionem omnem cum omni impietate et idolatria exciderit ecclesiamque Dei defendenter. Evidem docemus religionis curam imprimis pertinere ad magistratum sanetum.

3. Teneat ergo ipse in manibus verbum Dei, et ne huic contrarium doceatur, procuret, bonis item legibus ad verbum Dei compositis moderetur populum, sibi a Deo creditum, eundemque in disciplina, officio, obedientiaque contineat. Judicia exerceat juste judicando, ne respi-ciat personam, aut munera accipiat; viduas, pupilos et affliatos asserat, injustos, impostores et violentos coërceat atque adeo et exscindat. Neque enim frustra accepit a Deo gladium (Rom. xiii. 4). Stringat ergo hunc Dei gladium in omnes maleficos, seditiosos, latrones vel homicidas, oppressores, blasphemos, perjuros et in omnes eos, quos Deus punire ac etiam cädere jussit. Coëreeat et hæreticos (qui vere hæretici sunt) incorrigibiles, Dei majestatem blasphemare et Ecclesiam Dei conturbare, adeoque perdere non desinentes.

4. Quod si necesse sit, etiam bello populi conservare salutem, bellum, in nomine Dei susecipiat, modo prius pacem modis omnibus quæsierit, nec aliter nisi bello suos servare possit. Et dum haec ex fide facit magistratus, illis ipsis operibus, ut vere bonis, Deo inservit, ac benedictionem a Domino accipit. Damnamus Anabaptistas, qui, ut Christianum negant fungi posse officio magistratus, ita etiam negant, quemquam a magistratu juste occidi, aut magistratum bellum gerere posse, aut jurauenta magistratui præstanda esse, etc.

5. Sicut enim Deus salutem populi sui operari vult per magistratum, quem mundo veluti patrem dedit: ita subditi omnes, hoc Dei beneficium in magistratu agnoscere jubentur. Honorent ergo et revereantur magistratum, tanquam Dei ministrum: ament eum, faveant ei, et orent pro illo, tanquam pro Patre: obedient item omnibus ejus justis et æquis mandatis: denique pendant vectigalia atque tributa, et quæ hujus generis debita sunt, fideliter atque libenter. Et si salus publica patriæ vel justitia requirat, et magistratus ex necessitate bellum suscipiat, deponant etiam vitam, et fundant sanguinem pro salute publica magistratusque, et quidem in Dei nomine, libenter, fortiter et alacriter. Qui enim magistratui se opponit, iram Dei gravem in se provocat.

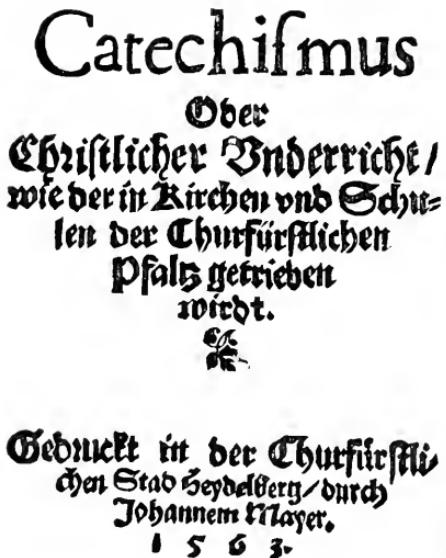

Damnamus itaque omnes magistratus contemptores, rebelles, reipublicæ hostes, et seditiosos nebulones, denique omnes, quotquot officia debita præstare, vel palam, vel arte renunt.

Oramus Deum Patrem nostrum in cœlis elementissimum, ut principibus populi, nobis quoque et universo populo suo benedicat, per Jesum Christum, Dominum et Servatorem nostrum unicum, cui laus et gloria ac gratiarum actio in secula seculorum. Amen.

THE HEIDELBERG CATECHISM. A.D. 1563.

[The German text is that of the third edition, including the 80th Question (republished, with the old orthography, by Niemeyer, Collectio Conf. p. 390, and in the Tercentenary Edition of the German Reformed Church of the United States, 1863), compared with the first edition (accurately republished by A. Wolters, Der Heidelb. Katechismus in seiner Urgestalt, 1864), but in modern spelling, and with some accepted verbal improvements (such as, in Qu. 1, beides im for beyde in, vollkommen for volkomlich). The same text, with critical notes, various readings, and Scripture proofs, is given in the revised issue of my Tercentenary Edition (Der Heidelb. Katechismus nach der Ausg. v. 1563 revidiirt, etc., Phila., 1866), for which I had the advantage of using the only extant copy of the editio princeps, then in possession of my friend, the late Rev. Dr. Trevaranus, of Bremen, and bearing the name of its original owner (Prof. H. Wilcken, in Heidelberg, 1563).]

The English version, which is much better than the one in common use, was prepared by an able committee, consisting of Rev. Drs. Gerhart, Nevin, Harbaugh, Kessler, Zacharias, and others, in the name and by direction of the Synod of the German Reformed Church of the United States, held in Harrisburg, Pa., 1859, and was published in very superior style, as a Tertcentenary Edition, together with the German and Latin texts (of the third edition), and a valuable introduction by Dr. John W. Nevin, New York, 1863 (pp. 277). It is here inserted by permission of the translators. The German title below is an imitation of the title-page of the first edition, except the electoral arms. Wie viele Stücke sind dir nöthig zu wissen, daß du in diesem Troste seliglich leben und sterben mögest?

Antwort.

Drei Stücke: Erstlich, wie groß meine Sünde und Elend seien. Zum Andern, wie ich von allen meinen Sünden und Elend erlöst werde. Und zum Dritten, wie ich Gott für solche Erlösung soll dankbar sein.

Der erste Theil.

Von des Menschen Elend.

Frage 3.

Woher erkennest du dein Elend?

Antwort.

Aus dem Gesetz Gottes.

Frage 4.

Was erfordert denn das göttliche Gesetz von uns?

Antwort.

Dies lehret uns Christus in einer precious blood has fully satisfied for all my sins, and redeemed me from all the power of the devil; and so preserves me that without the will of my Father in heaven not a hair can fall from my head; yea, that all things must work together for my salvation. Wherefore, by his Holy Spirit, he also assures me of eternal life, and makes me heartily willing and ready henceforth to live unto him.

QUESTION 2.

How many things are necessary for thee to know, that thou in this comfort mayest live and die happily?

ANSWER.

Three things: First, the greatness of my sin and misery. Second, how I am redeemed from all my sins and misery. Third, how I am to be thankful to God for such redemption.

THE FIRST PART.

OF MAN'S MISERY.

QUESTION 3.

Whence knowest thou thy misery?

ANSWER.

Out of the Law of God.

QUESTION 4.

What does the Law of God require of us?

ANSWER.

This Christ teaches us in sum,

Summa, Matthäi am 22sten: Du sollst lieben Gott, deinen Herrn, von ganzem Herzen, von ganzer Seele, von ganzem Gemüth und allen Kräften: dies ist das vornehmste und größte Gebot. Das andere aber ist dem gleich: Du sollst deinen Nächsten lieben als dich selbst.—In diesen zweien Geboten hanget das ganze Gesetz und die Propheten.

Frage 5.

Kannst du dieselbe Alles vollkommen halten?

Antwort.

Nein: denn ich bin von Natur geprägt, Gott und meinen Nächsten zu hassen.

Frage 6.

Hat denn Gott den Menschen also böse und verkehrt erschaffen?

Antwort.

Nein: sondern Gott hat den Menschen gut und nach seinem Ebenbild erschaffen, das ist, in wahrhaftiger Gerechtigkeit und Heiligkeit; auf daß er Gott seinen Schöpfer recht erkenne, und von Herzen liebe, und in ewiger Seligkeit mit ihm lebe,¹ Ihn zu loben und zu preisen.

Frage 7.

Woher kommt denn solche verderbte Art des Menschen?

Antwort.

Aus dem Fall und Ungehorsam un-

Matt. 22: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. This is the first and great commandment; and the second is like unto it: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.—On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.

QUESTION 5.

Canst thou keep all this perfectly?

ANSWER.

No; for I am by nature prone to hate God and my neighbor.

QUESTION 6.

Did God create man thus wicked and perverse?

ANSWER.

No; but God created man good, and after his own image—that is, in righteousness and true holiness; that he might rightly know God his Creator, heartily love him, and live with him in eternal blessedness, to praise and glorify him.

QUESTION 7.

Whence, then, comes this depraved nature of man?

ANSWER.

From the fall and disobedience

¹ See here the critical note in my German edition, p. 5.

serer ersten Eltern, Adam und Eva, im Paradies, da unsere Natur also ver-giftet worden, daß wir Alle in Sünden empfangen und geboren werden.

Frage 8.

Sind wir aber dermaßen verderbt, daß wir ganz und gar untüchtig sind zu einigem Gute und geneigt zu allem Bösen?

Antwort.

Ja: es sei denn, daß wir durch den Geist Gottes wiedergeboren werden.

Frage 9.

Thint denn Gott dem Menschen nicht Un-recht, daß er in seinem Gesetz von ihm fordert, was er nicht thun kann?

Antwort.

Nein: denn Gott hat den Menschen also erschaffen, daß er es konnte thun. Der Mensch aber hat sich und alle seine Nachkommen, aus Anstiftung des Teufels, durch muthwilligen Ungehorsam derselbigen Gaben beraubet.

Frage 10.

Will Gott solchen Ungehorsam und Abfall ungestraft lassen hingehen?

Antwort.

Mit nichts: sondern Er zürnet schrecklich, beides über angeborne und wirkliche Sünden, und will sie aus gerechtem Urtheil zeitlich und ewig strafen, wie Er gesprochen hat: Verflucht sei jedermann, der nicht bleibt in allem dem, das geschrieben steht im Buch des Gesetzes, daß er's thue.

of our first parents, Adam and Eve, in Paradise, whereby our nature became so corrupt that we are all conceived and born in sin.

QUESTION 8.

But are we so far depraved that we are wholly unapt to any good, and prone to all evil?

ANSWER.

Yes; unless we are born again by the Spirit of God.

QUESTION 9.

Does not God, then, wrong man by requiring of him in his law that which he can not perform?

ANSWER.

No; for God so made man that he could perform it; but man, through the instigation of the devil, by willful disobedience deprived himself and all his posterity of this power.

QUESTION 10.

Will God suffer such disobedience and apostasy to go unpunished?

ANSWER.

By no means; but he is terribly displeased with our inborn as well as actual sins, and will punish them in just judgment in time and eternity, as he has declared: Cursed is every one that continueth not in all things which are written in the book of the law, to do them.

Frage 11.

Ist denn Gott nicht auch barmherzig?

Antwort.

Gott ist wohl barmherzig, Er ist aber auch gerecht. Derhalben erfordert seine Gerechtigkeit, daß die Sünde, welche wider die allerhöchste Majestät Gottes begangen ist, auch mit der höchsten, das ist, der ewigen Strafe, an Leib und Seele gestraft werde.

Der andere [zweite] Theil.Von des Menschen Erlösung.*Frage 12.

Dieweil wir denn nach dem gerechten Urtheil Gottes zeitliche und ewige Strafe verdient haben: wie möchten wir dieser Strafe entgehen, und wiederum zu Gnaden kommen?

Antwort.

Gott will, daß seiner Gerechtigkeit genug geschehe; deswegen müssen wir derselben entweder durch uns selbst, oder durch einen Andern vollkommene Bezahlung thun.

Frage 13.

Können wir aber durch uns selbst Bezahlung thun?

Antwort.

Mit nichts: sondern wir machen auch die Schuld noch täglich größer.

Frage 14.

Kann aber irgend eine bloße Creatur für uns bezahlen?

Antwort.

Nein: denn erstlich will Gott an keiner andern Creatur strafen, was der

QUESTION 11.

Is, then, God not also merciful?

ANSWER.

God is indeed merciful, but he is likewise just; wherefore his justice requires that sin, which is committed against the most high majesty of God, be also punished with extreme, that is, with everlasting punishment both of body and soul.

THE SECOND PART.OF MAN'S REDEMPTION.*QUESTION 12.

Since, then, by the righteous judgment of God we deserve temporal and eternal punishment, what is required that we may escape this punishment and be again received into favor?

ANSWER.

God wills that his justice be satisfied; therefore must we make full satisfaction to the same, either by ourselves or by another.

QUESTION 13.

Can we ourselves make this satisfaction?

ANSWER.

By no means; on the contrary, we daily increase our guilt.

QUESTION 14.

Can any mere creature make satisfaction for us?

ANSWER.

None; for, first, God will not punish, in any other creature, that Mensch verschuldet hat. Zum andern, so kann auch keine bloße Creatur die Last des ewigen Zornes Gottes wider die Sünde ertragen, und andere davon erlösen.

Frage 15.

Was müssen wir denn für einen Mittler und Erlöser suchen?

Antwort.

Einen solchen, der ein wahrer und gerechter Mensch, und doch stärker denn alle Creaturen, das ist, zugleich wahrer Gott sei.

Frage 16.

Warum muß Er ein wahrer und gerechter Mensch sein?

Antwort.

Darum, weil die Gerechtigkeit Gottes erfordert, daß die menschliche Natur, die gesündigt hat, für die Sünde bezahle, aber Einer, der selbst ein Sünder wäre, nicht könnte für Andere bezahlen.

Frage 17.

Warum muß Er zugleich wahrer Gott sein?

Antwort.

Dass er aus Kraft seiner Gottheit die Last des Zornes Gottes an seiner Menschheit ertragen, und uns die Gerechtigkeit und das Leben erwerben und wieder geben möchte.

Frage 18.

Wer ist aber derselbe Mittler, der zugleich wahrer Gott und ein wahrer gerechter Mensch ist?

Antwort.

Unser Herr Jesus Christus, der of which man has made himself guilty; and, further, no mere creature can sustain the burden of God's eternal wrath against sin, and redeem others therefrom.

QUESTION 15.

What manner of mediator and redeemer, then, must we seek?

ANSWER.

One who is a true and sinless man, and yet more powerful than all creatures; that is, one who is at the same time true God.

QUESTION 16.

Why must he be a true and sinless man?

ANSWER.

Because the justice of God requires that the same human nature which has sinned should make satisfaction for sin; but no man, being himself a sinner, could satisfy for others.

QUESTION 17.

Why must he be at the same time true God?

ANSWER.

That by the power of his Godhead he might bear, in his manhood, the burden of God's wrath, and so obtain for and restore to us righteousness and life.

QUESTION 18.

But who, now, is that mediator, who is at the same time true God and a true, sinless man?

ANSWER.

Our Lord Jesus Christ, who is uns zur vollkommenen Erlösung und Gerechtigkeit geschenkt ist.

Frage 19.

Woher weißt du das?

Antwort.

Aus dem heiligen Evangelie, welches Gott selbst anfänglich im Paradies hat geoffenbaret, in der Folge durch die heiligen Erzväter und Propheten lassen verkündigen, und durch die Opfer und andere Ceremonien des Gesetzes vorgebildet, endlich aber durch seinen eingeliebten Sohn erfülltet.

Frage 20.

Werden denn alle Menschen wiederum durch Christum selig, wie sie durch Adam sind verloren worden?

Antwort.

Nein; sondern allein diejenigen, die durch wahren Glauben ihm werden einverleibt, und alle seine Wohlthaten annehmen.

Frage 21.

Was ist wahrer Glaube?

Antwort.

Es ist nicht allein eine gewisse Erkenntniß, dadurch ich Alles für wahr halte, was uns Gott in seinem Worte hat geoffenbaret, sondern auch ein herzliches Vertrauen, welches der heilige Geist durch's Evangelium in mir wirkt, daß nicht allein Andern, sondern auch mir Vergebung der Sünden, ewige Gerechtigkeit und Seligkeit von Gott geschenket sei, aus lauter Gnaden, allein um des Verdienstes Christi willen.

freely given unto us for complete redemption and righteousness.

QUESTION 19.

Whence knowest thou this?

ANSWER.

From the Holy Gospel, which God himself first revealed in Paradise, afterwards proclaimed by the holy Patriarchs and Prophets, and foreshadowed by the sacrifices and other ceremonies of the law, and finally fulfilled by his well-beloved Son.

QUESTION 20.

Are all men, then, saved by Christ, as they have perished by Adam?

ANSWER.

No; only such as by true faith are ingrafted into him, and receive all his benefits.

QUESTION 21.

What is true faith?

ANSWER.

It is not only a certain knowledge whereby I hold for truth all that God has revealed to us in his Word, but also a hearty trust which the Holy Ghost works in me by the Gospel, that not only to others, but to me also, forgiveness of sins, everlasting righteousness and salvation, are freely given by God, merely of grace, only for the sake of Christ's merits.

Frage 22.

Was ist aber einem Christen nöthig zu glauben?

Antwort.

Alles, was uns im Evangelio verheißen wird, welches uns die Artikel unseres allgemeinen ungezweifelten christlichen Glaubens in einer Summa lehren.

Frage 23.

Wie lauten dieselben?

Antwort.

Ich glaube in Gott Vater, den Allmächtigen, Schöpfer Himmels und der Erden.

Und in Jesum Christum, seinen eingeborenen Sohn, unsern Herrn; der empfangen ist von dem heiligen Geiste, geboren aus Maria der Jungfrau; gelitten unter Pontio Pilato, gekreuziget, gestorben und begraben; abgestiegen zu der Hölle; am dritten Tage wieder auferstanden von den Todten; aufgefahren gen Himmel; sitzt zu der Rechten Gottes, des allmächtigen Vaters; von dannen Er kommen wird zu richten die Lebendigen und die Todten.

Ich glaube in den heiligen Geist; eine heilige, allgemeine christliche Kirche; die Gemeinschaft der Heiligen; Vergebung der Sünden; Auferstehung des Fleisches, und ein ewiges Leben.

QUESTION 22.

What is it, then, necessary for a Christian to believe?

ANSWER.

All that is promised us in the Gospel, which the articles of our catholic, undoubted Christian faith teach us in sum.

QUESTION 23.

What are these Articles?

ANSWER.

I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth.

And in Jesus Christ, his only-begotten Son, our Lord: who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary; suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried; he descended into Hades; the third day he rose from the dead; he ascended into Heaven, and sitteth at the right hand of God the Father Almighty; from thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Ghost; the holy Catholic Church; the communion of saints; the forgiveness of sins; the resurrection of the body, and the life everlasting.

Frage 24.

Wie werden diese Artikel abgetheilt?

Antwort.

In drei Theile: Der erste ist von Gott dem Vater und unserer Er schaffung. Der andere von Gott dem Sohne und unserer Erlösung. Der dritte von Gott dem heiligen Geiste und unserer Heiligung.

Frage 25.

Dieweil nur ein einig göttlich Wesen ist, warum nennest du drei, den Vater, Sohn und heiligen Geist?

Antwort.

Darum, weil sich Gott also in seinem Wort geoffenbaret hat, daß diese drei unterschiedlichen Personen der einzige wahrhaftige ewige Gott sind.

Von Gott dem Vater.

Frage 26.

Was glaubest du, wenn du sprichst: Ich glaube in Gott Vater, den Allmächtigen, Schöpfer Himmels und der Erden?

Antwort.

Daß der ewige Vater unsers Herrn Jesu Christi, der Himmel und Erde, sammt allem, was darinnen ist, aus nichts erschaffen, auch dieselbigen noch durch seinen ewigen Rath und Fürse hung erbält und regiert, um seines Sohnes Christi willen mein Gott und mein Vater sei, auf welchen ich also vertraue, daß ich nicht zweifle, Er werde mich mit aller Notdurft Leibes und der Seele versorgen, auch alles

QUESTION 24.

How are these Articles divided?

ANSWER.

Into three parts: The first is of God the Father and our creation; the second, of God the Son and our redemption; the third, of God the Holy Ghost and our sanctification.

QUESTION 25.

Since there is but one Divine Being, why speakest thou of three, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost?

ANSWER.

Because God has so revealed himself in his Word that these three distinct Persons are the one, true, eternal God.

OF GOD THE FATHER.

QUESTION 26.

What dost thou believe when thou sayest: I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of Heaven and Earth?

ANSWER.

That the eternal Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who of nothing made heaven and earth, with all that in them is, who likewise up holds and governs the same by his eternal counsel and providence, is for the sake of Christ his Son my God and my Father, in whom I so trust as to have no doubt that he will provide me with all things necessary for body and soul; and fur-

Uebel, so Er mir in diesem Jammerthal zuschicket, mir zu gut wenden, dieweil Er's thun kann, als ein allmächtiger Gott, und auch thun will, als ein getreuer Vater.

Frage 27.

Was verstehst du unter der Fürsehung Gottes?

Antwort.

Die allmächtige und gegenwärtige Kraft Gottes, durch welche Er Himmel und Erde, sammt allen Creaturen, gleich als mit seiner Hand noch erhält, und also regieret, daß Laub und Gras, Regen und Dürre, fruchtbare und unfruchtbare Jahre, Essen und Trinken, Gesundheit und Krankheit, Reichthum und Armut, und alles nicht von ohngefähr, sondern von seiner väterlichen Hand uns zukomme.

Frage 28.

Was für Nutzen bekommen wir aus der Erkenntniß der Schöpfung und Fürsehung Gottes?

Antwort.

Daz wir in aller Widerwärtigkeit geduldig, in Glückseligkeit dankbar, und auf's Zukünftige guter Zuversicht zu unserm getreuen Gott und Vater sein sollen, daß uns keine Creatur von seiner Liebe scheiden wird, dieweil alle Creaturen also in seiner Hand sind, daß sie sich ohne seinen Willen auch nicht regen noch bewegen können.

ther, that whatever evil he sends upon me in this vale of tears, he will turn to my good; for he is able to do it, being Almighty God, and willing also, being a faithful Father.

QUESTION 27.

What dost thou understand by the Providence of God?

ANSWER.

The almighty and every where present power of God, whereby, as it were by his hand, he still upholds heaven and earth, with all creatures, and so governs them that herbs and grass, rain and drought, fruitful and barren years, meat and drink, health and sickness, riches and poverty, yea, all things, come not by chance, but by his fatherly hand.

QUESTION 28.

What does it profit us to know that God has created, and by his providence still upholds all things?

ANSWER.

That we may be patient in adversity, thankful in prosperity, and for what is future have good confidence in our faithful God and Father that no creature shall separate us from his love, since all creatures are so in his hand that without his will they can not so much as move.

Von Gott dem Sohn.

Frage 29.

Warum wird der Sohn Gottes Jesus, das ist, Seligmacher, genannt?

Antwort.

Darum, weil er uns selig macht von unsern Sünden, und weil bei keinem Andern einige Seligkeit zu suchen noch zu finden ist.

Frage 30.

Glauben denn die auch an den einigen Seligmacher Jesum, die ihre Seligkeit und Heil bei Heiligen, bei sich selbst, oder anderswo suchen?

Antwort.

Nein: sondern sie verläugnen mit der That den einigen Seligmacher und Heiland Jesum, ob sie sich sein gleich rühmen. Denn entweder Jesus nicht ein vollkommener Heiland sein kann, oder die diesen Heiland mit wahren Glauben annehmen, müssen alles in Ihm haben, das zu ihrer Seligkeit voneinander ist.

Frage 31.

Warum ist Er Christus, das ist, ein Gesalbter, genannt?

Antwort.

Weil Er von Gott dem Vater verordnet und mit dem heiligen Geiste gesalbt ist zu unserm obersten Propheten und Lehrer, der uns den heimlichen Rath und Willen Gottes von unserer Erlösung vollkommen offenbaret; und zu unserm einigen Hohenpriester, der uns mit dem einigen Opfer seines Leibes erlöst hat, und immerdar

OF GOD THE SON.

QUESTION 29.

Why is the Son of God called Jesus, that is, Saviour?

ANSWER.

Because he saves us from our sins; and no salvation is to be either sought or found in any other.

QUESTION 30.

Do such, then, believe in the only Saviour Jesus who seek their salvation and welfare of saints, of themselves, or any where else?

ANSWER.

No; although they may make their boast of him, yet in act they deny the only Saviour Jesus. For either Jesus is not a complete Saviour, or they who by true faith receive this Saviour must have in him all that is necessary to their salvation.

QUESTION 31.

Why is he called Christ, that is, Anointed?

ANSWER.

Because he is ordained of God the Father, and anointed with the Holy Ghost, to be our chief Prophet and Teacher, who fully reveals to us the secret counsel and will of God concerning our redemption; and our only High Priest, who by the one sacrifice of his body has redeemed us, and ever liveth mit seiner Fürbitte vor dem Vater vertritt; und zu unserm ewigen König, der uns mit seinem Wort und Geist regieret, und bei der erworbenen Erlösung schützt und erhält.

Frage 32.

Warum wirst aber du ein Christ genannt?

Antwort.

Weil ich durch den Glauben ein Glied Christi, und also seiner Salbung theilhaftig bin, auf daß auch ich seinen Namen bekenne, mich Ihm zu einem lebendigen Dankopfer darstelle, und mit freiem Gewissen in diesem Leben wider die Sünde und Teufel streite, und hernach in Ewigkeit mit Ihm über alle Creaturen herrsche.

Frage 33.

Warum heißt Er Gottes eingeborner Sohn, so doch wir auch Gottes Kinder sind?

Antwort.

Darum, weil Christus allein der ewige natürliche Sohn Gottes ist, wir aber um seinetwillen aus Gnaden zu Kindern Gottes angenommen sind.

Frage 34.

Warum nennest du Ihn unsern Herrn?

Antwort.

Weil Er uns mit Leib und Seele von der Sünde und aus aller Gewalt des Teufels nicht mit Gold oder Silber, sondern mit seinem theuren Blut ihm zum Eigenthum erlöset und erkauft hat.

to make intercession for us with the Father; and our eternal King, who governs us by his Word and Spirit, and defends and preserves us in the redemption obtained for us.

QUESTION 32.

But why art thou called a Christian?

ANSWER.

Because by faith I am a member of Christ, and thus a partaker of his anointing; in order that I also may confess his name, may present myself a living sacrifice of thankfulness to him, and may with free conscience fight against sin and the devil in this life, and hereafter, in eternity, reign with him over all creatures.

QUESTION 33.

Why is he called God's only-begotten Son, since we also are the children of God?

ANSWER.

Because Christ alone is the eternal natural Son of God; but we are children of God by adoption through grace for his sake.

QUESTION 34.

Why callest thou him our Lord?

ANSWER.

Because, not with silver or gold, but with his precious blood, he has redeemed and purchased us, body and soul, from sin and from all the power of the devil, to be his own.

Frage 35.

Was heißt, daß Er empfangen ist von dem heiligen Geist, geboren aus Maria der Jungfrau?

Antwort.

Daß der ewige Sohn Gottes, der wahrer und ewiger Gott ist und bleibt, wahre menschliche Natur aus dem Fleisch und Blut der Jungfrau Maria, durch Wirkung des heiligen Geistes, an sich genommen hat, auf daß Er auch der wahre Same Davids sei, seinen Brüdern in allem gleich, ausgenommen die Sünde.

Frage 36.

Was für Nutzen bekommst du aus der heiligen Empfängniß und Geburt Christi?

Antwort.

Daß Er unser Mittler ist, und mit seiner Unschuld und vollkommenen Heiligkeit meine Sünde, darin ich bin empfangen, vor Gottes Angesicht bedeckt.

Frage 37.

Was verstehst du unter dem Wörtlein: Gelitten?

Antwort.

Daß Er an Leib und Seele die ganze Zeit seines Lebens auf Erden, sonderlich aber am Ende desselben, den Zorn Gottes wider die Sünde des ganzen menschlichen Geschlechts getragen hat, auf daß Er mit seinem Leid, als mit dem einigen Süßnepfer, unsern Leib und Seele von der ewigen Verdammniß erlöse, und uns Gottes Gnade, Gerechtigkeit und ewiges Leben erwürbe.

QUESTION 35.

What is the meaning of Conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary?

ANSWER.

That the eternal Son of God, who is and continues true and eternal God, took upon him the very nature of man, of the flesh and blood of the Virgin Mary, by the operation of the Holy Ghost, so that he also might be the true seed of David, like unto his brethren in all things, sin excepted.

QUESTION 36.

What benefit dost thou receive from the holy conception and birth of Christ?

ANSWER.

That he is our Mediator, and with his innocence and perfect holiness covers, in the sight of God, my sin wherein I was conceived.

QUESTION 37.

What dost thou understand by the word Suffered?

ANSWER.

That all the time he lived on earth, but especially at the end of his life, he bore, in body and soul, the wrath of God against the sin of the whole human race, in order that by his passion, as the only atoning sacrifice, he might redeem our body and soul from everlasting damnation, and obtain for us the grace of God, righteousness, and eternal life.

Frage 38.

Warum hat Er unter dem Richter Pontius Pilate gelitten?

Antwort.

Auf daß Er unschuldig unter dem weltlichen Richter verdammt würde, und uns damit von dem strengen Urtheil Gottes, das über uns ergehen sollte, erlöstigte.

Frage 39.

Ist es etwas mehr, daß Er ist gekreuzigt worden, denn so Er eines andern Todes gestorben wäre?

Antwort.

Ja; denn dadurch bin ich gewiß, daß Er die Vermaledieung, die auf mir lag, auf sich geladen habe, dieweil der Tod des Kreuzes von Gott verflucht war.

Frage 40.

Warum hat Christus den Tod müssen leiden?

Antwort.

Darum, weil wegen der Gerechtigkeit und Wahrheit Gottes nicht anders für unsere Sünden möchte bezahlt werden, denn durch den Tod des Sohnes Gottes.

Frage 41.

Warum ist Er begraben worden?

Antwort.

Damit zu bezeugen, daß Er wahrhaftig gestorben sei.

Frage 42.

Weil denn Christus für uns gestorben ist, wie kommt's, daß wir auch sterben müssen?

Antwort.

Unser Tod ist nicht eine Bezahlung für unsere Sünde, sondern nur eine

QUESTION 38.

Why did he suffer under Pontius Pilate, as judge?

ANSWER.

That he, being innocent, might be condemned by the temporal judge, and thereby deliver us from the severe judgment of God to which we were exposed.

QUESTION 39.

Is there any thing more in his having been crucified than if he had died some other death?

ANSWER.

Yes; for thereby I am assured that he took on himself the curse which lay upon me, because the death of the cross was accursed of God.

QUESTION 40.

Why was it necessary for Christ to suffer death?

ANSWER.

Because, by reason of the justice and truth of God, satisfaction for our sins could be made no otherwise than by the death of the Son of God.

QUESTION 41.

Why was he buried?

ANSWER.

To show thereby that he was really dead.

QUESTION 42.

Since, then, Christ died for us, why must we also die?

ANSWER.

Our death is not a satisfaction for our sin, but only a dying to Absterbung der Sünden, und Eingang zum ewigen Leben.

Frage 43.

Was bekommen wir mehr für Nutzen aus dem Opfer und Tod Christi am Kreuz?

Antwort.

Dass durch seine Kraft unser alter Mensch mit Ihm gekreuzigt, getötet und begraben wird, auf dass die bösen Lüste des Fleisches nicht mehr in uns regieren, sondern dass wir uns selbst Ihm zur Danksgabe aufopfern.

Frage 44.

Warum folget: Abgestiegen zu der Hölle?¹

Antwort.

Dass ich in meinen höchsten Anfechtungen versichert sei, mein Herr Christus habe mich durch seine unaussprechliche Angst, Schmerzen und Schrecken, die Er auch an seiner Seele am Kreuz und zuvor erlitten, von der höllischen Angst und Pein erlöset.

Frage 45.

Was nützt uns die Auferstehung Christi?

Antwort.

Erstlich hat Er durch seine Auferstehung den Tod überwunden, dass Er uns der Gerechtigkeit, die Er uns durch seinen Tod erworben hat, könnte teilhaftig machen. Zum andern werden auch wir jetzt durch seine Kraft er-sins and entering into eternal life.

QUESTION 43.

What further benefit do we receive from the sacrifice and death of Christ on the cross?

ANSWER.

That by his power our old man is with him crucified, slain, and buried; that so the evil lusts of the flesh may no more reign in us, but that we may offer ourselves unto him a sacrifice of thanksgiving.

QUESTION 44.

Why is it added: *He descended into Hades?*¹

ANSWER.

That in my greatest temptations I may be assured that Christ, my Lord, by his inexpressible anguish, pains, and terrors which he suffered in his soul on the cross and before, has redeemed me from the anguish and torment of hell.

QUESTION 45.

What benefit do we receive from the resurrection of Christ?

ANSWER.

First, by his resurrection he has overcome death, that he might make us partakers of the righteousness which by his death he has obtained for us. Secondly, we also are now by his power wedet zu einem neuen Leben. Zum dritten ist uns die Auferstehung Christi ein gewisses Pfand unserer seligen Auferstehung.

Frage 46.

Wie verstehst du [dies], daß Er ist gen Himmel gefahren?

Antwort.

Dß Christus vor den Augen seiner Jünger ist von der Erde aufgehoben gen Himmel, und uns zu gut daselbst ist, bis daß Er wieder kommt zu richten die Lebendigen und die Toten.

Frage 47.

Ist denn Christus nicht bei uns bis an's Ende der Welt, wie Er uns verheißen hat?

Antwort.

Christus ist wahrer Mensch und wahrer Gott: nach seiner menschlichen Natur ist Er jetzt nicht auf Erden, aber nach seiner Gottheit, Majestät, Gnade und Geist weicht Er nimmer von uns.

Frage 48.

Werden aber auf diese Weise die zwei NATUREN in Christo nicht von einander getrennt, so die Menschheit nicht überall ist, da die Gottheit ist?

Antwort.

Mit nichts: denn weil die Gottheit unbegreiflich und allenthalben gegenwärtig ist, so muß folgen, daß sie wohl außerhalb ihrer angenommenen Menschheit, und dennoch nichts desto weniger auch in derselben ist, und persönlich mit ihr vereinigt bleibt.

raised up to a new life. Thirdly, the resurrection of Christ is to us a sure pledge of our blessed resurrection.

QUESTION 46.

How dost thou understand the words, He ascended into Heaven?

ANSWER.

That Christ, in sight of his disciples, was taken up from the earth into heaven, and in our behalf there continues, until he shall come again to judge the living and the dead.

QUESTION 47.

Is not, then, Christ with us even unto the end of the world, as he has promised?

ANSWER.

Christ is true Man and true God: according to his human nature, he is now not upon earth; but according to his Godhead, majesty, grace, and Spirit, he is at no time absent from us.

QUESTION 48.

But are not, in this way, the two natures in Christ separated from one another, if the Manhood be not wherever the Godhead is?

ANSWER.

By no means; for since the Godhead is incomprehensible and every where present, it must follow that it is indeed beyond the bounds of the Manhood which it has assumed, but is yet none the less in the same also, and remains personally united to it.

Frage 49.

Was nützt uns die Himmelfahrt Christi?

Antwort.

Erstlich, daß Er im Himmel vor dem Angesicht seines Vaters unser Fürsprecher ist. Zum andern, daß wir unser Fleisch im Himmel zu einem sichern Pfand haben, daß Er, als das Haupt, uns, seine Glieder, auch zu sich werde hinauf nehmen. Zum dritten, daß Er uns seinen Geist zum Gegenpfand herab sendet, durch welches Kraft wir suchen, was droben ist, da Christus ist, sitzend zur Rechten Gottes, und nicht, daß auf Erden ist.

Frage 50.

Warum wird hinzugesetzt, daß Er sitze zur Rechten Gottes?

Antwort.

Weil Christus darum gen Himmel gefahren ist, daß Er sich daselbst erzeige als das Haupt seiner christlichen Kirche, durch welches der Vater alles regieret.

Frage 51.

Was nützt uns diese Herrlichkeit unsers Hauptes Christi?

Antwort.

Erstlich, daß Er durch seinen heiligen Geist in uns, seine Glieder, die himmlischen Gaben ausgeübt; darnach, daß Er uns mit seiner Gewalt wider alle Feinde schützt und erhält.

Frage 52.

Wes tröstet dich die Wiederkunft Christi,

QUESTION 49.

What benefit do we receive from Christ's ascension into heaven?

ANSWER.

First, that he is our Advocate in the presence of his Father in heaven. Secondly, that we have our flesh in heaven, as a sure pledge that he, as the Head, will also take us, his members, up to himself. Thirdly, that he sends us his Spirit, as an earnest, by whose power we seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God, and not things on the earth.

QUESTION 50.

Why is it added, And sitteth at the right hand of God?

ANSWER.

Because Christ ascended into heaven for this end, that he might there appear as Head of his Church, by whom the Father governs all things.

QUESTION 51.

What benefit do we receive from this glory of our Head, Christ?

ANSWER.

First, that by his Holy Spirit he sheds forth heavenly gifts in us, his members; then, that by his power he defends and preserves us against all enemies.

QUESTION 52.

What comfort is it to thee that Christ zu richten die Lebendigen und die Todten?

shall come again to judge the quick and the dead?

Antwort.

Daß ich in aller Trübsal und Verfolgung mit aufgerichtetem Haupt eben des Richters, der sich zuvor dem Gerichte Gottes für mich dargestellt und alle Vermaledieung von mir hinweggenommen hat, aus dem Himmel gewärtig bin, daß Er alle seine und meine Feinde in die ewige Verdammnis werfe, mich aber, sammt allen Auserwählten, zu sich in die himmlische Freude und Herrlichkeit nehme.

ANSWER.

That in all my sorrows and persecutions, with uplifted head, I look for the self-same One who has before offered himself for me to the judgment of God, and removed from me all curse, to come again as Judge from heaven; who shall cast all his and my enemies into everlasting condemnation, but shall take me, with all his chosen ones, to himself, into heavenly joy and glory.

Von Gott dem Heiligen Geiste.

Frage 53.

Was glaubest du vom Heiligen Geiste?

Antwort.

Erstlich, daß Er gleich ewiger Gott mit dem Vater und dem Sohne ist. Zum andern, daß Er auch mir gegeben ist, mich durch einen wahren Glauben Christi und aller seiner Wohlthaten theilhaftig macht, mich tröstet und bei mir bleiben wird bis in Ewigkeit.

Frage 54.

Was glaubest du von der heiligen allgemeinen Christlichen Kirche?

Antwort.

Daß der Sohn Gottes aus dem ganzen menschlichen Geschlechte sich eine auserwählte Gemeine zum ewigen Leben, durch seinen Geist und Wort, in Einigkeit des wahren Glaubens,

OF GOD THE HOLY GHOST.

QUESTION 53.

What dost thou believe concerning the Holy Ghost?

ANSWER.

First, that he is co-eternal God with the Father and the Son. Secondly, that he is also given unto me, makes me by a true faith partaker of Christ and all his benefits, comforts me, and shall abide with me forever.

QUESTION 54.

What dost thou believe concerning the Holy Catholic Church?

ANSWER.

That out of the whole human race, from the beginning to the end of the world, the Son of God, by his Spirit and Word, gathers, defends, and preserves for himself unto ever-von Anbeginn der Welt bis an's Ende versammle, schütze und erhalte; und daß ich derselben ein lebendiges Glied bin, und ewig bleiben werde.

Frage 55.

Was verstehst du unter der Gemeinschaft der Heiligen?

Antwort.

Erstlich, daß alle und jede Gläubigen als Glieder an dem Herrn Christo und allen seinen Schätzen und Gaben Gemeinschaft haben. Zum andern, daß ein jeder seine Gaben zu Nutz und Heil der andern Glieder willig und mit Freuden anzulegen sich schuldig wissen soll.

Frage 56.

Was glaubest du von der Vergebung der Sünden?

Antwort.

Dß Gott um der Genugthuung Christi willen aller meiner Sünden, auch der sündlichen Art, mit der ich mein Leben lang zu streiten habe, nimmermehr gedenken will, sondern mir die Gerechtigkeit Christi aus Gnaden schenket, daß ich in's Gericht nimmermehr soll kommen.

Frage 57.

Wes tröstet dich die Auferstehung des Fleisches?

Antwort.

Dß nicht allein meine Seele nach diesem Leben alsbald zu Christo, ihrem Haupt, genommen wird, sondern auch, daß dies mein Fleisch, durch die Kraft lasting life, a chosen communion in the unity of the true faith; and that I am, and forever shall remain, a living member of the same.

QUESTION 55.

What dost thou understand by the communion of saints?

ANSWER.

First, that believers, all and every one, as members of Christ, have part in him and in all his treasures and gifts. Secondly, that each one must feel himself bound to use his gifts, readily and cheerfully, for the advantage and welfare of other members.

QUESTION 56.

What dost thou believe concerning the forgiveness of sins?

ANSWER.

That God, for the sake of Christ's satisfaction, will no more remember my sins, neither the sinful nature with which I have to struggle all my life long; but graciously imparts to me the righteousness of Christ, that I may nevermore come into condemnation.

QUESTION 57.

What comfort does the resurrection of the body afford thee?

ANSWER.

That not only my soul, after this life, shall be immediately taken up to Christ its Head, but also that this my body, raised by the power Christi auferwecket, wieder mit meiner Seele vereinigt, und dem herrlichen Leibe Christi gleichsörig werden soll.

Frage 58.

Was tröstet dich der Artikel vom ewigen Leben?

Antwort.

Daß, nachdem ich jetzt den Anfang der ewigen Freude in meinem Herzen empfinde, ich nach diesem Leben vollkommene Seligkeit besitzen werde, die kein Auge gesehen, kein Ohr gehöret, und in keines Menschen Herz gekommen ist, Gott ewiglich darin zu preisen.

Frage 59.

Was hilft es dir aber nun, wenn du dies Alles glaubest?

Antwort.

Daß ich in Christo vor Gott gerecht, und ein Erbe des ewigen Lebens bin.

Frage 60.

Wie bist du gerecht vor Gott?

Antwort.

Allein durch wahren Glauben in Jesum Christum: also, daß, ob mich schon mein Gewissen anklagt, daß ich wider alle Gebote Gottes schwerlich gesündigt, und derselben keines je gehalten habe, auch noch immerdar zu allem Bösen geneigt bin, doch Gott ohne all mein Verdienst aus lauter Gnaden, mir die vollkommene Genugthuung, Gerechtigkeit und Heiligkeit Christi schenket und zurechnet, als hätte ich nie eine Sünde begangen noch gehabt, und selbst allen den of Christ, shall again be united with my soul, and made like unto the glorious body of Christ.

QUESTION 58.

What comfort hast thou from the article of the life everlasting?

ANSWER.

That, inasmuch as I now feel in my heart the beginning of eternal joy, I shall after this life possess complete bliss, such as eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath entered into the heart of man, therein to praise God forever.

QUESTION 59.

But what does it help thee now that thou believest all this?

ANSWER.

That I am righteous in Christ before God, and an heir of eternal life.

QUESTION 60.

How art thou righteous before God?

ANSWER.

Only by true faith in Jesus Christ; that is, although my conscience accuse me that I have grievously sinned against all the commandments of God, and have never kept any of them, and that I am still prone always to all evil, yet God, without any merit of mine, of mere grace, grants and imputes to me the perfect satisfaction, righteousness, and holiness of Christ, as if I had never committed nor had any sin, and had myself accom-

Gehorsam vollbracht, den Christus für mich hat geleistet, wenn ich allein solche Weohlthat mit gläubigem Herzen annehme.

Frage 61.

Warum sagst du, daß du allein durch den Glauben gerecht sieiest?

Antwort.

Nicht daß ich von wegen der Würdigkeit meines Glaubens Gott gefalle, sondern darum, daß allein die Gemüthsruh, Gerechtigkeit, und Heiligkeit Christi meine Gerechtigkeit vor Gott ist, und ich dieselbe nicht anders, denn allein durch den Glauben annehmen, und mir zueignen kann.

Frage 62.

Warum können aber unsere guten Werke nicht die Gerechtigkeit vor Gott oder ein Stück derselben sein?

Antwort.

Darum, weil die Gerechtigkeit, so vor Gottes Gericht bestehen soll, durchaus vollkommen und dem Gesetz ganz gleichförmig sein muß, aber auch unsere besten Werke in diesem Leben alle unvollkommen und mit Sünden befleckt sind.

Frage 63.

Verdienen aber unsere guten Werke nichts, so sie doch Gott in diesem und dem zukünftigen Leben will belohnen?

Antwort.

Diese Belohnung geschieht nicht aus Verdienst, sondern aus Gnaden.

VOL. III.—Y

plished all the obedience which Christ has fulfilled for me, if only I accept such benefit with a believing heart.

QUESTION 61.

Why sayest thou that thou art righteous only by faith?

ANSWER.

Not that I am acceptable to God on account of the worthiness of my faith; but because only the satisfaction, righteousness, and holiness of Christ is my righteousness before God, and I can receive the same and make it my own in no other way than by faith only.

QUESTION 62.

But why can not our good works be the whole or part of our righteousness before God?

ANSWER.

Because the righteousness which can stand before the judgment-seat of God must be perfect throughout, and wholly conformable to the divine law; whereas even our best works in this life are all imperfect and defiled with sin.

QUESTION 63.

How is it that our good works merit nothing, while yet it is God's will to reward them in this life and in that which is to come?

ANSWER.

The reward comes not of merit, but of grace.

Frage 64.

Macht aber diese Lehre nicht sorglose und verrückte Leute?

Antwort.

Nein: denn es unmöglich ist, daß die, so Christo durch wahren Glauben sind eingepflanzt, nicht Frucht der Dankbarkeit fressen bringen.

Von den heiligen Sacramenten.Frage 65.

Dieweil denn allein der Glaube uns Christi und aller seiner Wohlthaten theilhaftig macht, woher kommt solcher Glaube?

Antwort.

Der Heilige Geist wirkt denselben in unsern Herzen durch die Predigt des heiligen Evangeliums, und bestätigt ihn durch den Brauch der heiligen Sacramente.

Frage 66.

Was sind die Sacramente?

Antwort.

Es sind sichtbare heilige Wahrzeichen und Siegel, von Gott dazu eingesetzt, daß er uns durch den Brauch derselben die Verheißung des Evangeliums desto besser zu verstehen gebe und versiegele: nämlich, daß er uns von wegen des einzigen Opfers Christi, am Kreuz vollbracht, Vergebung der Sünden und ewiges Leben aus Gnaden schenke.

Frage 67.

Sind denn beide, das Wort und die Sacramente, dabin gerichtet, daß sie unsern Glauben

QUESTION 64.

But does not this doctrine make men careless and profane?

ANSWER.

No; for it is impossible that those who are implanted into Christ by true faith should not bring forth fruits of righteousness.

OF THE HOLY SACRAMENTS.QUESTION 65.

Since, then, we are made partakers of Christ and all his benefits by faith only, whence comes this faith?

ANSWER.

The Holy Ghost works it in our hearts by the preaching of the holy Gospel, and confirms it by the use of the holy Sacraments.

QUESTION 66.

What are the Sacraments?

ANSWER.

The Sacraments are visible, holy signs and seals, appointed of God for this end, that by the use thereof he may the more fully declare and seal to us the promise of the Gospel; namely, that he grants us out of free grace the forgiveness of sins and everlasting life, for the sake of the one sacrifice of Christ accomplished on the cross.

QUESTION 67.

Are both these, then, the Word and the Sacraments, designed to direct our faith to auf das Opfer Jesu Christi am Kreuz, als auf den einigen Grund unserer Seligkeit, weisen?

Antwort.

Ja freilich; denn der Heilige Geist lehret im Evangelio, und bestätigt durch die heiligen Sacamente, daß unsere ganze Seligkeit stehe in dem einigen Opfer Christi, für uns am Kreuz geschehen.

Frage 68.

Wie viel Sacamente hat Christus im Neuen Testamente eingesetzt?

Antwort.

Zwei: die heilige Taufe und das heilige Abendmahl.

Bon der heiligen Taufe.

Frage 69.

Wie wirst du in der heiligen Taufe erinnert und versichert, daß das einzige Opfer Christi am Kreuz dir zu gut komme?

Antwort.

Also, daß Christus dieß äußerliche Wasserbad eingesetzt, und dabei versichert hat, daß ich so gewiß mit seinem Blut und Geist von der Unreinigkeit meiner Seele, das ist, allen meinen Sünden gewaschen sei, so gewiß ich äußerlich mit dem Wasser, welches die Unsauberkeit des Leibes pflegt hinzunehmen, gewaschen bin.

Frage 70.

Was heißt mit dem Blut und Geist Christi gewaschen sein?

Antwort.

Es heißt Vergebung der Sünden

the sacrifice of Jesus Christ on the cross as the only ground of our salvation?

ANSWER.

Yes, truly; for the Holy Ghost teaches in the Gospel, and by the holy Sacraments assures us, that our whole salvation stands in the one sacrifice of Christ made for us on the cross.

QUESTION 68.

How many Sacaments has Christ appointed in the New Testament?

ANSWER.

Two: holy Baptism and the holy Supper.

OF HOLY BAPTISM.

QUESTION 69.

How is it signified and sealed unto thee in holy Baptism that thou hast part in the one sacrifice of Christ on the cross?

ANSWER.

Thus: that Christ has appointed this outward washing with water, and has joined therewith this promise, that I am washed with his blood and Spirit from the pollution of my soul, that is, from all my sins, as certainly as I am washed outwardly with water whereby commonly the filthiness of the body is taken away.

QUESTION 70.

What is it to be washed with the blood and Spirit of Christ?

ANSWER.

It is to have the forgiveness of von Gott aus Gnaden haben, um des Blutes Christi willen, welches er in seinem Opfer am Kreuz für uns vergossen hat; darnach auch durch den Heiligen Geist ernenert, und zu einem Glied Christi geheiligt sein, daß wir je länger je mehr der Sünde absterben, und in einem göttlichen, unsträflichen Leben wandeln.

Frage 71.

Wo hat Christus verheißen, daß wir so gewiß mit seinem Blut und Geist, als mit dem Taufwasser, gewaschen sind?

Antwort.

In der Einsetzung der Taufe, welche also lautet: Gehet hin, und lehret alle Völker, und taufet sie im Namen des Vaters, und des Sohnes, und des Heiligen Geistes: wer da glaubet und getauft wird, der wird selig werden; wer aber nicht glaubet, der wird verdammt werden. Diese Verheißung wird auch wiederholt, da die Schrift die Taufe das Bad der Wiedergeburt und Abwaschung der Sünden nennt.

Frage 72.

Ist denn das äußerliche Wasserbad die Abwaschung der Sünden selbst?

Antwort.

Nein; denn allein das Blut Jesu Christi, und der Heilige Geist reinigt uns von allen Sünden.

Frage 73.

Warum nennt denn der Heilige Geist die sins from God, through grace, for the sake of Christ's blood, which he shed for us in his sacrifice on the cross; and also to be renewed by the Holy Ghost, and sanctified to be members of Christ, that so we may more and more die unto sin, and lead holy and unblamable lives.

QUESTION 71.

Where has Christ promised that we are as certainly washed with his blood and Spirit as with the water of Baptism?

ANSWER.

In the institution of Baptism, which runs thus: Go ye, therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. He that believeth and is baptized, shall be saved; but he that believeth not, shall be damned. This promise is also repeated where the Scripture calls Baptism the washing of regeneration and the washing away of sins.

QUESTION 72.

Is, then, the outward washing of water itself the washing away of sins?

ANSWER.

No; for only the blood of Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit cleanse us from all sin.

QUESTION 73.

Why, then, doth the Holy Ghost call Baptism the washing of regeneration and the washing away of sins?

Taufe das Bad der Wiedergeburt und die Abwaschung der Sünden?

Antwort.

Gott redet also nicht ohne große Ursache: nämlich, nicht allein, daß Er uns damit will lehren, daß, gleichwie die Unsauberkeit des Leibes durch Wasser, also unsere Sünden durch's Blut und Geist Christi hinweg genommen werden; sondern vielmehr, daß Er uns durch dies göttliche Pfand und Wahrzeichen will versichern, daß wir so wahrhaftig von unsern Sünden geistlich gewaschen sind, als wir mit dem leiblichen Wasser gewaschen werden.

Frage 74.

Soll man auch die jungen Kinder taufen?

Antwort.

Ja: denn dieweil sie sowohl als die Alten in den Bund Gottes und seine Gemeine gehören, und ihnen in dem Blut Christi die Erlösung von Sünden und der Heilige Geist, welcher den Glauben wirkt, nicht weniger denn den Alten zugesagt wird; so sollen sie auch durch die Taufe, als des Bundes Zeichen, der christlichen Kirche eingeklebt und von der Ungläubigen Kindern unterschieden werden, wie im alten Testamente durch die Beschneidung geschehen ist, an welcher Statt im neuen Testamente die Taufe ist eingesetzt.

ANSWER.

God speaks thus not without great cause: namely, not only to teach us thereby that like as the filthiness of the body is taken away by water, so our sins also are taken away by the blood and Spirit of Christ; but much more, that by this divine pledge and token he may assure us that we are as really washed from our sins spiritually as our bodies are washed with water.

QUESTION 74.

Are infants also to be baptized?

ANSWER.

Yes; for since they, as well as their parents, belong to the covenant and people of God, and both redemption from sin and the Holy Ghost, who works faith, are through the blood of Christ promised to them no less than to their parents, they are also by Baptism, as a sign of the covenant, to be ingrafted into the Christian Church, and distinguished from the children of unbelievers, as was done in the Old Testament by Circumcision, in place of which in the New Testament Baptism is appointed.

Vom Heiligen Abendmahl Jesu Christi.

Frage 75.

Wie wirst du im Heiligen Abendmahl erinnert und versichert, daß du an dem einzigen Opfer Christi am Kreuz und allen seinen Gütern Gemeinschaft habest?

Antwort.

Also, daß Christus mir und allen Gläubigen von diesem gebrochenen Brot zu essen, und von diesem Kelch zu trinken befohlen hat, zu seinem Gedächtniß, und dabei verheißen: Erstlich, daß sein Leib so gewiß für mich am Kreuz geopfert und gebrochen, und sein Blut für mich vergossen sei, so gewiß ich mit Augen sehe, daß das Brot des Herrn mir gebrochen, und der Kelch mir mitgetheilet wird; und zum andern, daß Er selbst meine Seele mit seinem gekreuzigten Leib und vergossenen Blut so gewiß zum ewigen Leben speise und tränke, als ich aus der Hand des Dieners empfange und leiblich genieße das Brot und den Kelch des Herrn, welche mir als gewisse Wahrzeichen des Leibes und Bluts Christi gegeben werden.

Frage 76.

Was heißt den gekreuzigten Leib Christi essen und sein vergossenes Blut trinken?

Antwort.

Es heißt nicht allein mit gläubigem Herzen das ganze Leiden und Sterben Christi annehmen, und dadurch Vergebung der Sünden und ewiges Leben

OF THE HOLY SUPPER OF THE LORD.

QUESTION 75.

How is it signified and sealed unto thee in the Holy Supper that thou dost partake of the one sacrifice of Christ on the cross and all his benefits?

ANSWER.

Thus, that Christ has commanded me and all believers to eat of this broken bread, and to drink of this cup, and has joined therewith these promises: First, that his body was offered and broken on the cross for me, and his blood shed for me, as certainly as I see with my eyes the bread of the Lord broken for me, and the cup communicated to me; and, further, that with his crucified body and shed blood he himself feeds and nourishes my soul to everlasting life, as certainly as I receive from the hand of the minister, and taste with my mouth, the bread and cup of the Lord, which are given me as certain tokens of the body and blood of Christ.

QUESTION 76.

What is it to eat the crucified body and drink the shed blood of Christ?

ANSWER.

It is not only to embrace with a believing heart all the sufferings and death of Christ, and thereby to obtain the forgiveness of sins bekommen, sondern auch daneben durch den Heiligen Geist, der zugleich in Christo und in uns wohnet, also mit seinem gebenedeiten Leibe je mehr und mehr vereinigt werden, daß wir, obgleich Er im Himmel, und wir auf Erden sind, dennoch Fleisch von seinem Fleisch und Bein von seinen Beinen sind, und von Einem Geiste (wie die Glieder unsers Leibes von Einer Seele) ewig leben und regieret werden.

Frage 77.

Wo hat Christus verheißen, daß Er die Gläubigen so gewiß mit seinem Leib und Blut speise und tränke, als sie von diesem gebrochenen Brot essen, und von diesem Kelch trinken?

Antwort.

In der Einsetzung des heiligen Abendmahls, welche also lautet: Unser Herr Jesus, in der Nacht, da Er verrathen ward, nahm Er das Brot, dankete, und brach's, und sprach: „Nehmet, esset, das ist mein Leib, der für euch gebrochen wird; solches thut zu meinem Gedächtniß.“ Dasselben gleichen auch den Kelch, nach dem Abendmahl, und sprach: „Dieser Kelch ist das Neue Testament in meinem Blut; solches thut, so oft ihr's trinket, zu meinem Gedächtniß.“ Denn so oft ihr von diesem Brot esset, und von diesem Kelch trinket, sollt ihr des Herrn Tod verkündigen, bis daß Er kommt. Und diese Verheißung wird auch wie-and life eternal, but moreover, also, to be so united more and more to his sacred body by the Holy Ghost, who dwells both in Christ and in us, that although he is in heaven, and we on the earth, we are nevertheless flesh of his flesh and bone of his bones, and live and are governed forever by one Spirit, as members of the same body are by one soul.

QUESTION 77.

Where has Christ promised that he will thus feed and nourish believers with his body and blood, as certainly as they eat of this broken bread and drink of this cup?

ANSWER.

In the institution of the Supper, which runs thus: The Lord Jesus, the same night in which he was betrayed, took bread; and when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said: ‘Take, eat, this is my body, which is broken for you; this do in remembrance of me.’ After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying: ‘This cup is the New Testament in my blood; this do ye as often as ye drink it, in remembrance of me. For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ye do show the Lord’s death till he come.’ And this promise is repeated also by St. Paul, where he says: The cup of derholet durch St. Paulum, da er spricht: Der Kelch der Danksgung, damit wir dank sagen, ist er nicht die Gemeinschaft des Bluts Christi? Das Brot, das wir brechen, ist das nicht die Gemeinschaft des Leibes Christi? Denn Ein Brot ist's, so sind wir viele Ein Leib, dieweil wir alle Eines Brots theilhaftig sind?

Frage 78.

Wird denn aus Brot und Wein der wesentliche Leib und Blut Christi?

Antwort.

Nein: sondern wie das Wasser in der Taufe nicht in das Blut Christi verwandelt, oder die Abwaschung der Sünden selbst wird, deren es allein ein göttlich Wahrzeichen und Versicherung ist: also wird auch das heilige Brot im Abendmahl nicht der Leib Christi selbst, wiewohl es, nach Art und Brauch der Sacramente, der Leib Christi genennet wird.

Frage 79.

Warum nennet denn Christus das Brot seinen Leib, und den Kelch sein Blut, oder das Neue Testament in seinem Blute, und St. Paulus die Gemeinschaft des Leibes und Blutes Jesu Christi?

Antwort.

Christus redet also nicht ohne große Ursache: nämlich, daß Er uns nicht allein damit will lehren, daß, gleich wie Brot und Wein das zeitliche Leben erhalten, also sei auch sein gefreuzigter blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ? For we, being many, are one bread, and one body; for we are all partakers of that one bread.

QUESTION 78.

Do, then, the bread and wine become the real body and blood of Christ?

ANSWER.

No; but as the water in Baptism is not changed into the blood of Christ, nor becomes the washing away of sins itself, being only the divine token and assurance thereof, so also in the Lord's Supper the sacred bread does not become the body of Christ itself, though agreeably to the nature and usage of sacraments it is called the body of Christ.

QUESTION 79.

Why, then, doth Christ call the bread his body, and the cup his blood, or the New Testament in his blood; and St. Paul, the communion of the body and blood of Christ?

ANSWER.

Christ speaks thus not without great cause: namely, not only to teach us thereby that like as bread and wine sustain this temporal life, so also his crucified

Leib und vergossen Blut die wahre Speise und Trank unserer Seelen zum ewigen Leben, sondern vielmehr, daß Er uns durch dies sichtbare Zeichen und Pfand will versichern, daß wir so wahrhaftig seines wahren Leibes und Blutes durch Wirkung des Heiligen Geistes theilhaftig werden, als wir diese heiligen Wahrzeichen mit dem leiblichen Mund zu seinem Gedächtniß empfangen, und daß all sein Leiden und Geborsam so gewiß unser eigen sei, als hätten wir selbst in unserer eigenen Person alles gesitten und genug gethan.

(Frage 80.

Was ist für ein Unterschied zwischen dem Abendmahl des Herrn und der päpstlichen Messe?

Antwort.

Das Abendmahl bezeuget uns, daß wir vollkommene Vergebung aller unserer Sünden haben durch das einzige Opfer Jesu Christi, so Er selbst einmal am Kreuz vollbracht hat; [und daß wir durch den Heiligen Geist Christo werden eingeleibet, der jetzt mit seinem wahren Leib im Himmel zur Rechten des Vaters ist, und daselbst will angebetet werden]. Die Messe aber lebt, daß die Lebendigen und die Todten nicht durch das Leiden Christi Vergebung der Sünden haben, es sei denn, daß Christus noch täglich für sie von den Messpriestern geopfert werde; [und daß Christus leiblich unter der Gestalt Brots und Weins sei, und derhalben body and shed blood are the true meat and drink of our souls unto life eternal; but much more, by this visible sign and pledge to assure us that we are as really partakers of his true body and blood, through the working of the Holy Ghost, as we receive by the mouth of the body these holy tokens in remembrance of him; and that all his sufferings and obedience are as certainly our own as if we had ourselves suffered and done all in our own persons.

(QUESTION 80.

What difference is there between the Lord's Supper and the Popish Mass?

ANSWER.

The Lord's Supper testifies to us that we have full forgiveness of all our sins by the one sacrifice of Jesus Christ, which he himself has once accomplished on the cross; [and that by the Holy Ghost we are ingrafted into Christ, who with his true body is now in heaven at the right hand of the Father, and is to be there worshiped]. But the Mass teaches that the living and the dead have not forgiveness of sins through the sufferings of Christ unless Christ is still daily offered for them by the priests; [and that Christ is bodily under the form of bread and wine, and darin soll angebetet werden]. Und ist also die Messe im Grunde nichts anders, denn eine Verlängnung des einigen Opfers und Leidens Jesu Christi [und eine vermaledeite Abgötterei].)¹

Frage 81.

Welche sollen zum Tische des Herrn kommen?

Antwort.

Die sich selbst um ihrer Sünden willen missfallen, und doch vertrauen, daß dieselbigen ihnen verziehen, und die übrige Schwachheit mit dem Leiden und Sterben Christi bedeckt sei, begehren auch je mehr und mehr ihren Glauben zu stärken, und ihr Leben zu bessern. Die Unbußfertigen aber und Heuchler essen und trinken sich selbst das Gericht.

Frage 82.

Sollen aber zu diesem Abendmahl auch zugelassen werden, die sich mit ihrem Bekenntniß und Leben als Ungläubige und Gottlose erzeigen?

Antwort.

Nein; denn es wird also der Bund Gottes geschmähet, und sein Zorn über die ganze Gemeine gereizet. Derhalb den die christliche Kirche schuldig ist, nach der Ordnung Christi und seiner Apostel, solche bis zur Besserung ihres is therefore to be worshiped in them]. And thus the Mass at bottom is nothing else than a denial of the one sacrifice and passion of Jesus Christ [and an accursed idolatry].)¹

QUESTION 81.

Who are to come unto the table of the Lord?

ANSWER.

Those who are displeased with themselves for their sins, yet trust that these are forgiven them, and that their remaining infirmity is covered by the passion and death of Christ; who also desire more and more to strengthen their faith and amend their life. But the impenitent and hypocrites eat and drink judgment to themselves.

QUESTION 82.

Are they, then, also to be admitted to this Supper who show themselves to be, by their confession and life, unbelieving and ungodly?

ANSWER.

No; for by this the covenant of God is profaned, and his wrath provoked against the whole congregation; wherefore the Christian Church is bound, according to the order of Christ and his Apostles, by the office

¹ This 80th Question, as is now ascertained beyond controversy, is no part of the original Heidelberg Catechism, and was inserted by express order of the Elector Frederick III., as a counterblast to the anathemas of the Council of Trent (which closed December 4, 1563). It appeared in part in the second edition, and the passages in brackets were added in the third, with the remark at the close: ‘What in the first edition was overlooked, especially on p. 55 [the place for the 80th Question in the first edition], has now been added by command of his Electoral Grace.’ For further information on this famous Question, which caused even a temporary prohibition of the Catechism in the German Empire, see Vol. I., and my German edition of the Heidelberg Catechism.

Lebens durch das Amt der Schlüssel auszuschließen.

Frage 83.

Was ist das Amt der Schlüssel?

Antwort.

Die Predigt des heiligen Evangeliums, und die christliche Bußzucht, durch welche beide Stücke das Himmelreich den Glaubigen aufgeschlossen und den Ungläubigen zugeschlossen wird:

Frage 84.

Wie wird das Himmelreich durch die Predigt des heiligen Evangeliums auf- und zugeschlossen?

Antwort.

Also, daß nach dem Befehl Christi allen und jedem Glaubigen verkündigt und öffentlich bezeuget wird, daß ihnen, so oft sie die Verheißung des Evangeliums mit wahrer Glauben annehmen, wahrhaftig alle ihre Sünden von Gott, um des Verdienstes Christi willen, vergeben sind; und hinwiederum allen Ungläubigen und Heuchlern, daß der Zorn Gottes und die ewige Verdammnis auf ihnen liegt, so lange sie sich nicht bekehren. Nach welchem Zeugniß des Evangelii Gott beide in diesem und dem zukünftigen Leben urtheilen will.

Frage 85.

Wie wird das Himmelreich auf- und zugeschlossen durch die christliche Bußzucht?

Antwort.

Also, daß nach dem Befehl Christi diejenigen, so unter dem christlichen of the keys to exclude such persons until they amend their life.

QUESTION 83.

What is the Office of the Keys?

ANSWER.

The preaching of the holy Gospel and Church discipline; by which two things the kingdom of heaven is opened to believers and shut against unbelievers.

QUESTION 84.

How is the kingdom of heaven opened and shut by the preaching of the holy Gospel?

ANSWER.

In this way: that, according to the command of Christ, it is proclaimed and openly witnessed to believers, one and all, that as often as they accept with true faith the promise of the Gospel, all their sins are really forgiven them of God for the sake of Christ's merits; and on the contrary, to all unbelievers and hypocrites, that the wrath of God and eternal condemnation abide on them so long as they are not converted: according to which witness of the Gospel will be the judgment of God, both in this life and in that which is to come.

QUESTION 85.

How is the kingdom of heaven shut and opened by Church discipline?

ANSWER.

In this way: that, according to the command of Christ, if any un-

Namen unchristliche Lehre oder Wandel führen, nachdem sie etlichemal brüderlich vermahnet sind, und von ihren Irrthümern oder Lastern nicht abstehen, der Kirche, oder denen, so von der Kirche dazu verordnet sind, angezeiget, und so sie sich an derselben Vermahnung auch nicht kehren, von ihnen durch Verbietung der heiligen Saeramente aus der christlichen Gemeine, und von Gott selbst aus dem Reiche Christi werden ausgeschlossen; und wiederum als Glieder Christi und der Kirche angenommen, wenn sie wahre Besserung verheißen und erzeiger-der the Christian name show themselves unsound either in doctrine or life, and after repeated brotherly admonition refuse to turn from their errors or evil ways, they are complained of to the Church or to its proper officers, and, if they neglect to hear them also, are by them excluded from the holy Sacraments and the Christian communion, and by God himself from the kingdom of Christ; and if they promise and show real amendment, they are again received as members of Christ and his Church.

Der dritte Theil.

Von der Dankbarkeit.

Frage 86.

Die weil wir denn aus unserm Glend, ohne all unser Verdienst, aus Gnaden durch Christum erlöset sind, warum sollen wir gute Werke thun?

Antwort.

Darum, daß Christus, nachdem Er uns mit seinem Blut erkauft hat, uns auch durch seinen Heiligen Geist erneuert zu seinem Ebenbild, daß wir mit unserm ganzen Leben uns dankbar gegen Gott für seine Wohlthat erzeigen, und Er durch uns gepriesen werde. Darnach auch, daß wir bei uns selbst unsers Glaubens aus seinen Früchten gewiß seien, und mit unserm gottseligen Wandel unsern Nächsten auch Christo gewinnen.

THE THIRD PART.

OF THANKFULNESS.

QUESTION 86.

Since, then, we are redeemed from our misery by grace through Christ, without any merit of ours, why must we do good works?

ANSWER.

Because Christ, having redeemed us by his blood, renews us also by his holy Spirit after his own image, that with our whole life we may show ourselves thankful to God for his blessing, and that he may be glorified through us; then, also, that we ourselves may be assured of our faith by the fruits thereof, and by our godly walk may win our neighbors also to Christ.

Frage 87.

Können denn die nicht selig werden, die sich von ihrem un dankbaren, unbußfertigen Wandel zu Gott nicht bekehren?

Antwort.

Keineswegs; denn, wie die Schrift sagt: Kein Unkensch, Abgöttischer, Ehebrecher, Dieb, Geiziger, Trunkenbold, Lästerer, Räuber und dergleichen, wird das Reich Gottes erben.

Frage 88.

In wie viel Stücken steht die wahrhaftige Buße oder Befehrung des Menschen?

Antwort.

In zwei Stücken: in Absterbung des alten, und Auferstehung des neuen Menschen.

Frage 89.

Was ist die Absterbung des alten Menschen?

Antwort.

Sich die Sünde von Herzen lassen leid sein, und dieselbe je länger je mehr hassen und fließen.

Frage 90.

Was ist die Auferstehung des neuen Menschen?

Antwort.

Herzliche Freude in Gott durch Christum, und Lust und Liebe haben, nach dem Willen Gottes in allen guten Werken zu leben.

Frage 91.

Welches sind aber gute Werke?

Antwort.

Allein die aus wahrem Glauben nach dem Gesetz Gottes ihm zu Ehren

QUESTION 87.

Can they, then, not be saved who do not turn to God from their unthankful, impenitent life?

ANSWER.

By no means; for, as the Scripture saith, no unchaste person, idolater, adulterer, thief, covetous man, drunkard, slanderer, robber, or any such like, shall inherit the kingdom of God.

QUESTION 88.

In how many things does true repentance or conversion consist?

ANSWER.

In two things: the dying of the old man, and the quickening of the new.

QUESTION 89.

What is the dying of the old man?

ANSWER.

Heartfelt sorrow for sin; causing us to hate and turn from it always more and more.

QUESTION 90.

What is the quickening of the new man?

ANSWER.

Heartfelt joy in God; causing us to take delight in living according to the will of God in all good works.

QUESTION 91.

But what are good works?

ANSWER.

Those only which are done from true faith, according to the law of geschehen, und nicht die auf unser Guteūken oder Menschen-Schätzung gegründet sind.

Frage 92.

Wie lautet das Gesetz des Herrn?

Antwort.

Gott redet alle diese Worte:

Das Erste Gebot.

Ich bin der Herr, dein Gott, der Ich dich aus Aegyptenland, aus dem Diensthause, geführet habe. Du sollst keine anderen Götter vor Mir haben.

Das Andere Gebot.

Du sollst dir kein Bildniß, noch irgend ein Gleichniß machen, weder deß, das oben im Himmel, noch deß, das unten auf Erden, oder deß, das im Wasser unter der Erde ist; du sollst sie nicht anbeten, noch ihnen dienen. Denn Ich, der Herr, dein Gott, bin ein starker, eisriger Gott, der die Misserthat der Väter heimsucht an den Kindern bis in's dritte und vierte Glied, derer, die Mich hassen, und thue Barmherzigkeit an vielen Tausenden, die Mich lieben und Meine Gebote halten.

Das Dritte Gebot.

Du sollst den Namen des Herrn, deines Gottes, nicht missbrauchen, denn der Herr wird den nicht ungestraft lassen, der seinen Namen missbraucht.

God, for his glory; and not such as rest on our own opinion or the commandments of men.

QUESTION 92.

What is the law of God?

ANSWER.

God spake all these words, saying:

FIRST COMMANDMENT.

I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage. Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

SECOND COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth; thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them. For I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments.

THIRD COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

Das Vierte Gebet.

Gedenke des Sabbathtages, daß du ihn heiligest. Sechs Tage sollst du arbeiten, und alle deine Werke thun: aber am siebenten Tage ist der Sabbath des Herrn, deines Gottes; da sollst du keine Arbeit thun, noch dein Sohn, noch deine Tochter, noch dein Knecht, noch deine Magd, noch dein Vieh, noch der Fremdling, der in deinen Thoren ist; denn in sechs Tagen hat der Herr Himmel und Erde gemacht, und das Meer, und alles, was darinnen ist, und ruhete am siebenten Tage: darum segnete der Herr den Sabbathtag, und heiligte ihn.

Das Fünfte Gebet.

Du sollst deinen Vater und deine Mutter ehren, auf daß du lange lebst im Lande, das dir der Herr, dein Gott, giebt.

Das Sechste Gebet.

Du sollst nicht tödten.

Das Siebente Gebet.

Du sollst nicht ehebrechen.

Das Achte Gebet.

Du sollst nicht stehlen.

Das Neunte Gebet.

Du sollst kein falsch Zeugniß reden wider deinen Nächsten.

Das Zehnte Gebet.

Laß dich nicht gelüsten deines Nächsten Hauses; laß dich nicht gelüsten deines Nächsten Weibes, FOURTH COMMANDMENT.

Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work: but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy man-servant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor the stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it.

FIFTH COMMANDMENT.

Honor thy father and thy mother; that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

SIXTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not kill.

SEVENTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not commit adultery.

EIGHTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not steal.

NINTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

TENTH COMMANDMENT.

Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house; thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his mannoch seines Knechtes, noch seiner Magd, noch seines Ochsenes, noch seines Esels, noch alles, was dein Nächster hat.

Frage 93.

Wie werden diese Gebote getheilet?

Antwort.

In zwei Tafeln: deren die erste in vier Geboten lehret, wie wir uns gegen Gott sollen halten; die andere in sechs Geboten, was wir unserm Nächsten schuldig sind.

Frage 94.

Was fordert der Herr im ersten Gebot?

Antwort.

Dass ich, bei Verlierung meiner Seelen Heil und Seligkeit, alle Abgöttterei, Zaubererei, abergläubische Segen, Anrufung der Heiligen oder anderer Creationen, meiden und fliehen soll, und den einigen wahren Gott recht erkennen, ihm allein vertrauen, in aller Demuth und Geduld, von ihm allein alles Gute gewarten, und ihn von ganzem Herzen lieben, fürchten, und ehren; also, dass ich che alle Creationen übergebe, denn in dem Geringsten wider seinen Willen ihue.

Frage 95.

Was ist Abgöttterei?

Antwort.

In Statt des einigen wahren Gottes, der sich in seinem Wort hat offenbaret, oder neben demselben, etwas anderes dichten oder haben, darauf der Mensch sein Vertrauen setzt.

servant, nor his maid-servant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is thy neighbor's.

QUESTION 93.

How are these Commandments divided?

ANSWER.

Into two tables: the first of which teaches us, in four commandments, what duties we owe to God; the second, in six, what duties we owe to our neighbor.

QUESTION 94.

What does God require in the first commandment?

ANSWER.

That, on peril of my soul's salvation, I avoid and flee all idolatry, sorcery, enchantments, invocation of saints or of other creatures; and that I rightly acknowledge the only true God, trust in him alone, with all humility and patience expect all good from him only, and love, fear, and honor him with my whole heart; so as rather to renounce all creatures than do the least thing against his will.

QUESTION 95.

What is idolatry?

ANSWER.

It is, instead of the one true God who has revealed himself in his Word, or along with the same, to conceive or have something else on which to place our trust.

Frage 96.

Was will Gott im andern Gebot?

Antwort.

Daß wir Gott in keinem Wege verbilden, noch auf irgend eine andere Weise, denn Er in seinem Wort befohlen hat, verehren sollen.

Frage 97.

Soll man denn gar kein Bildniß machen?

Antwort.

Gott kann und soll keineswegs abgebildet werden; die Creaturen aber, ob sie schon mögen abgebildet werden, so verbietet doch Gott derselben Bildniß zu machen und zu haben, daß man sie verehre, oder ihm damit diene.

Frage 98.

Mögen aber nicht die Bilder als der Laien Bücher in den Kirchen geduldet werden?

Antwort.

Nein; denn wir sollen nicht wiser sein denn Gott, welcher seine Christenheit nicht durch stumme Götzen, sondern durch die lebendige Predigt seines Worts will unterweisen haben.

Frage 99.

Was will das dritte Gebet?

Antwort.

Daß wir nicht allein mit Fluchen, oder mit falschem Eid, sondern auch mit unnöthigem Schwören den Namen Gottes nicht lästern oder mißbrauchen, noch uns mit unserm Stillschweigen und Zusehen, solcher schrecklichen Sünden

QUESTION 96.

What does God require in the second commandment?

ANSWER.

That we in nowise make any image of God, nor worship him in any other way than he has commanded in his Word.

QUESTION 97.

Must we, then, not make any image at all?

ANSWER.

God may not and can not be imaged in any way; as for creatures, though they may indeed be imaged, yet God forbids the making or keeping any likeness of them, either to worship them, or by them to serve himself.

QUESTION 98.

But may not pictures be tolerated in churches as books for the laity?

ANSWER.

No; for we should not be wiser than God, who will not have his people taught by dumb idols, but by the lively preaching of his Word.

QUESTION 99.

What is required in the third commandment?

ANSWER.

That we must not by cursing, or by false swearing, nor yet by unnecessary oaths, profane or abuse the name of God; nor even by our silence and connivance be partakers of these horrible sins in den theilhaftig machen; und in Summa, daß wir den heiligen Namen Gottes anders nicht, denn mit Furcht und Ehrerbietung gebrauchen, auf daß er von uns recht bekennen, angerufen, und in allen unsern Worten und Werken gepriesen werde.

Frage 100.

Ist denn mit Fluchen und Schwören Gottes Namen lästern so eine schwere Sünde, daß Gott auch über die zürnet, die, so viel an ihnen ist, dieselbe nicht helfen wehren und verbieten?

Antwort.

Ja freilich: denn keine Sünde größer ist, noch Gott heftiger erzürnet, denn Lästerung seines Namens: darum er sie auch mit dem Tode zu strafen befohlen hat.

Frage 101.

Mag man aber auch gottselig bei dem Namen Gottes einen Eid schwören?

Antwort.

Ja: wenn es die Obrigkeit von ihren Unterthauen oder sonst die Noth erfordert, Treue und Wahrheit zu Gottes Ehre und des Nächsten Heil dadurch zu erhalten und zu fördern. Denn solches Eidschwören ist in Gottes Wort gegründet, und derhalben von den Heiligen im alten und neuen Testamente recht gebraucht worden.

Frage 102.

Mag man auch bei den Heiligen, oder andern Creaturen einen Eid schwören.

Antwort.

Nein: denn ein rechtmäßiger Eid others; and in sum, that we use the holy name of God no otherwise than with fear and reverence, so that he may be rightly confessed and worshiped by us, and be glorified in all our words and works.

QUESTION 100.

Is, then, the profaning of God's name, by swearing and cursing, so grievous a sin that his wrath is kindled against those also who seek not, as much as in them lies, to hinder and forbid the same?

ANSWER.

Yes, truly; for no sin is greater or more provoking to God than the profaning of his name. Wherefore he even commanded it to be punished with death.

QUESTION 101.

But may we not swear by the name of God in a religious manner?

ANSWER.

Yes; when the magistrate requires it, or it may be needful otherwise to maintain and promote fidelity and truth, to the glory of God and our neighbor's good. For such swearing is grounded in God's Word, and therefore was rightly used by the saints in the Old and New Testament.

QUESTION 102.

May we swear by the saints or any other creatures?

ANSWER.

No; for a lawful oath is a call-ist eine Anrufung Gottes, daß Er, als der einzige Herzenskundiger, der Wahrheit Zeugniß wolle geben, und mich strafen, so ich falsch schwöre, welche Ehre denn keiner Creatur gebühret.

Frage 103.

Was will Gott im vierten Gebot?

Antwort.

Gott will erftlich, daß das Predigtamt und Schulen erhalten werden, und ich, sonderlich am Feiertag, zu der Gemeine Gottes fleißig komme, das Wort Gottes zu lernen, die heiligen Sacramente zu gebrauchen, den Herrn öffentlich anzurufen, und das christliche Almosen zu geben. Zum andern, daß ich alle Tage meines Lebens von meinen bösen Werken feire, den Herrn durch seinen Geist in mir wirken lasse, und also den ewigen Sabbath in diesem Leben anfange.

Frage 104.

Was will Gott im fünften Gebot?

Antwort.

Dß ich meinem Vater und Mutter, und allen, die mir vorgesetzt sind, alle Ehre, Liebe und Treue beweisen, und mich aller guten Lehre und Strafe mit gebührlichem Gehorsam unterwerfen, und auch mit ihren Gebrechen Geduld haben soll, dieweil uns Gott durch ihre Hand regieren will.

ing upon God, as the only searcher of hearts, to bear witness to the truth, and to punish me if I swear falsely; which honor is due to no creature.

QUESTION 103.

What does God require in the fourth commandment?

ANSWER.

In the first place, that the ministry of the Gospel and schools be maintained; and that I, especially on the day of rest, diligently attend church, to learn the Word of God, to use the holy Sacraments, to call publicly upon the Lord, and to give Christian alms. In the second place, that all the days of my life I rest from my evil works, allow the Lord to work in me by his Spirit, and thus begin in this life the everlasting Sabbath.

QUESTION 104.

What does God require in the fifth commandment?

ANSWER.

That I show all honor, love, and faithfulness to my father and mother, and to all in authority over me; submit myself with due obedience to all their good instruction and correction, and also bear patiently with their infirmities, since it is God's will to govern us by their hand.

Frage 105.

Was will Gott im sechsten Gebot?

Antwort.

Daß ich meinen Nächsten weder mit Gedanken, noch mit Worten oder Geberden, viel weniger mit der That, durch mich selbst oder Andere, schmähen, hassen, beleidigen oder tödten; sondern alle Nachgierigkeit ablegen, auch mich selbst nicht beschädigen, oder muthwillig in Gefahr begeben soll. Darum auch die Obrigkeit, dem Totschlag zu wehren, das Schwert trägt.

Frage 106.

Redet doch diese Gebot allein vom Tödten.

Antwort.

Es will uns aber Gott durch Verbietung des Totschlags lehren, daß Er die Wurzel des Totschlags, als Neid, Haß, Zorn, Nachgierigkeit, hasset, und daß solches alles vor ihm ein heimlicher Totschlag sei.

Frage 107.

Ist's aber damit genug, daß wir unsern Nächsten, wie gemeldet, nicht tödten?

Antwort.

Nein: denn indem Gott Neid, Haß und Zorn verdammt, will Er von uns haben, daß wir unsern Nächsten lieben, als uns selbst, gegen ihn Geduld, Friede, Sanftmuth, Barmherzigkeit und Freindlichkeit erzeigen, seinen Schaden, so viel uns möglich, abwenden, und auch unsern Feinden Gutes thun.

QUESTION 105.

What does God require in the sixth commandment?

ANSWER.

That I neither in thought, nor in word or look, much less in deed, revile, hate, insult, or kill my neighbor, whether by myself or by another; but lay aside all desire of revenge: moreover, that I harm not myself, nor willfully run into any danger. Wherefore, also, to restrain murder, the magistrate is armed with the sword.

QUESTION 106.

But this commandment speaks only of killing.

ANSWER.

In forbidding this, however, God means to teach us that he abhors the root of murder—namely, envy, hatred, anger, and desire of revenge; and that all these are in his sight hidden murder.

QUESTION 107.

Is it, then, enough that we do not kill our neighbor in any such way?

ANSWER.

No; for in condemning envy, hatred, and anger, God requires us to love our neighbor as ourselves, to show patience, peace, meekness, mercy, and kindness towards him, and, so far as we have power, to prevent his hurt; also, to do good even unto our enemies.

Frage 108.

Was will das siebente Gebot?

Antwort.

Daz alle Unkeuschheit von Gott vermaledeiet sei, und daz wir darum ihr von Herzen feind sein, und keusch und züchtig leben sollen, es sei im heiligen Ehestand, oder außerhalb desselben.

Frage 109.

Verbietet Gott in diesem Gebot nichts mehr denn Ehebruch und dergleichen Schanden?

Antwort.

Dieweil beide unser Leib und Seele ein Tempel des Heiligen Geistes sind: so will Er, daz wir sie beide sauber und heilig bewahren; verbietet derhalben alle unkeusche Thaten, Geberden, Worte, Gedanken, Lust, und was den Menschen dazu reizen mag.

Frage 110.

Was verbietet Gott im achten Gebot?

Antwort.

Er verbietet nicht allein den Diebstahl und Räuberei, welche die Obrigkeit strafft; sondern Gott nennet auch Diebstahl alle böse Stücke und Anschläge, damit wir unseres Nächsten Gut gedenken an uns zu bringen, es sei mit Gewalt oder Schein des Rechtes, als unrechtem Gewicht, Elle, Maß, Waare, Münze, Bucher, oder durch einiges Mittel, das von Gott verboten ist; dazu auch allen Geiz und unnütze Verschwendung seiner Gaben.

QUESTION 108.

What does the seventh commandment teach us?

ANSWER.

That all unchastity is accursed of God; and that we should therefore loathe it from the heart, and live chastely and modestly, whether in holy wedlock or single life.

QUESTION 109.

Does God in this commandment forbid nothing more than adultery, and such like gross sins?

ANSWER.

Since our body and soul are both temples of the Holy Ghost, it is his will that we keep both pure and holy; for which reason he forbids all unchaste actions, gestures, words, thoughts, desires, and whatever may entice thereto.

QUESTION 110.

What does God forbid in the eighth commandment?

ANSWER.

Not only such theft and robbery as are punished by the magistrate, but God views as theft also all wicked tricks and devices whereby we seek to draw to ourselves our neighbor's goods, whether by force or with show of right, such as unjust weights, ells, measures, wares, coins, usury, or any means forbidden of God; so, moreover, all covetousness, and all useless waste of his gifts.

Frage 111.

Was gebietet dir aber Gott in diesem Gebot?

Antwort.

Daß ich meines Nächsten Nutzen, wo ich kann und mag, fördere, gegen ihn also handele, wie ich wollte, daß man mit mir handelte, und treulich arbeite, auf daß ich dem Fürftigen in seiner Noth helfen möge.

Frage 112.

Was will das neunte Gebot?

Antwort.

Daß ich wider Niemand falsch Zeugniß gebe, Niemand seine Worte verfehre, kein Aßtereder und Lästerer sei, Niemand unverhört und leichtlich verdammen helfe; sondern allerlei Lügen und Trügen, als eigene Werke des Teufels, bei schwerem Gottes-Zorn vermeide, in Gerichts- und allen andern Handlungen die Wahrheit liebe, aufrichtig sage und bekenne, auch meines Nächsten Ehre und Glimpf, nach meinem Vermögen, rette und fördere.

Frage 113.

Was will das zehnte Gebot?

Antwort.

Daß auch die geringste Lust oder Gedanken wider irgend ein Gebot Gottes in unser Herz nimmermehr kommen; sondern wir für und für von ganzem Herzen aller Sünde feind sein, und Lust zu aller Gerechtigkeit haben sollen.

QUESTION 111.

But what does God require of thee in this commandment?

ANSWER.

That I further my neighbor's good where I can and may, deal with him as I would have others deal with me, and labor faithfully that I may be able to help the poor in their need.

QUESTION 112.

What is required in the ninth commandment?

ANSWER.

That I bear false witness against no one; wrest no one's words; be no backbiter or slanderer; join in condemning no one unheard and rashly: but that I avoid, on pain of God's heavy wrath, all lying and deceit, as being the proper works of the devil; in matters of judgment and justice, and in all other affairs, love, honestly speak and confess the truth; and, so far as I can, defend and promote my neighbor's good name.

QUESTION 113.

What is required in the tenth commandment?

ANSWER.

That not even the least inclination or thought against any of God's commandments ever enter into our heart; but that, with our whole heart, we continually hate all sin, and take pleasure in all righteousness.

Frage 114.

Können aber die, so zu Gott bekehret sind, solche Gebote vollkommen halten?

Antwort.

Nein; sondern es haben auch die Allerheiligsten, so lange sie in diesem Leben sind, nur einen geringen Anfang dieses Gehorsams; doch also, daß sie mit ernstlichem Verfaß, nicht allein nach ethischen, sondern nach allen Geboten Gottes anfangen zu leben.

Frage 115.

Warum läßt uns denn Gott also scharf die zehn Gebote predigen, wenn sie in diesem Leben Niemand halten kann.

Antwort.

Erstlich, auf daß wir unser ganzes Leben lang unsere sündliche Art je länger je mehr erkennen, und [so viel]¹ desto begieriger Vergebung der Sünden und Gerechtigkeit in Christo suchen. Darnach, daß wir ohne Unterlaß uns besleißigen, und Gott bitten um die Gnade des Heiligen Geistes, daß wir je länger je mehr zu dem Ebenbilde Gottes erneuert werden, bis wir das Ziel der Vollkommenheit nach diesem Leben erreichen.

QUESTION 114.

Can those who are converted to God keep these commandments perfectly?

ANSWER.

No; but even the holiest men, while in this life, have only a small beginning of this obedience, yet so that with earnest purpose they begin to live, not only according to some, but according to all the commandments of God.

QUESTION 115.

Why, then, doth God so strictly enjoin upon us the ten commandments, since in this life no one can keep them?

ANSWER.

First, that all our life long we may learn more and more to know our sinful nature, and so the more earnestly seek forgiveness of sins and righteousness in Christ; secondly, that we may continually strive and beg from God the grace of the Holy Ghost, so as to become more and more changed into the image of God, till we attain finally to full perfection after this life.

¹ The words ‘so viel’ are to be found in all the German editions, but they are superseded by the following word ‘desto;’ they were, therefore, omitted in the Latin and English translations.

Vom Gebet.

Frage 116.

Warum ist den Christen das Gebet nöthig?

Antwort.

Darum, weil es das vornehmste Stück der Dankbarkeit ist, welche Gott von uns fordert, und weil Gott seine Gnade und Heiligen Geist allein denen will geben, die ihn mit herzlichem Seufzen ohne Unterlaß darum bitten, und ihm dafür danken.

Frage 117.

Was gehört zu einem solchen Gebet, das Gott gefalle, und von ihm erhört werde?

Antwort.

Erstlich, daß wir allein den einigen wahren Gott, der sich uns in seinem Wort hat geoffenbaret, um alles, daß er uns zu bitten befohlen hat, von Herzen aufrufen. Zum andern, daß wir unsre Noth und Elend recht gründlich erkennen, uns vor dem Angesicht seiner Majestät zu demüthigen. Zum dritten, daß wir diesen festen Grund haben, daß Er unser Gebet, unangesehen, daß wir's unwürdig sind, doch um des Herrn Christi willen gewißlich wolle erhören, wie Er uns in seinem Wort verheißen hat.

Frage 118.

Was hat uns Gott befohlen, von ihm zu bitten?

Antwort.

Alle geistliche und leibliche Nothdurft, welche der Herr Christus begriffen hat

OF PRAYER.

QUESTION 116.

Why is prayer necessary for Christians?

ANSWER.

Because it is the chief part of the thankfulness which God requires of us, and because God will give his grace and Holy Spirit only to such as earnestly and without ceasing beg them from him and render thanks unto him for them.

QUESTION 117.

What belongs to such prayer as God is pleased with and will hear?

ANSWER.

First, that from the heart we call only upon the one true God, who has revealed himself to us in his Word, for all that he has commanded us to ask of him; secondly, that we thoroughly know our need and misery, so as to humble ourselves before the face of his divine majesty; thirdly, that we be firmly assured that, notwithstanding our unworthiness, he will, for the sake of Christ our Lord, certainly hear our prayer, as he has promised us in his Word.

QUESTION 118.

What has God commanded us to ask of him?

ANSWER.

All things necessary for soul and body, which Christ our Lord has in dem Gebet, das Er uns selbst gelehret.

Frage 119.

Wie lautet das Gebet des Herrn?

Antwort.

Unser Vater, der du bist in den Himmeln:¹ Geheiligt werde dein Name. Dein Reich komme. Dein Wille geschehe auf Erden, wie im Himmel. Unser täglich Brot gieb uns heute. Und vergieb uns unsere Schulden, wie auch wir vergeben unsern Schuldigern. Und führe uns nicht in Versuchung, sondern erlöse uns vom Bösen. Denn dein ist das Reich, und die Kraft, und die Herrlichkeit in Ewigkeit. Amen.

Frage 120.

Warum hat uns Christus befohlen, Gott also anzureden: Unser Vater?

Antwort.

Dass Er gleich im Anfang unsers Gebets in uns erwecke die kindliche Furcht und Zuversicht gegen Gott, welche der Grund unseres Gebetes sein soll, nämlich, dass Gott unser Vater durch Christum worden sei, und welche uns viel weniger versagen, warum wir ihn im Glauben bitten, denn unsere Väter uns irdische Dinge abschlagen.

comprised in the prayer taught us by himself.

QUESTION 119.

What is the Lord's Prayer?

ANSWER.

Our Father who art in heaven: Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil: For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

QUESTION 120.

Why has Christ commanded us to address God thus: Our Father?

ANSWER.

To awaken in us, at the very beginning of our prayer, that filial reverence and trust toward God which are to be the ground of our prayer; namely, that God has become our Father through Christ, and will much less deny us what we ask of him in faith than our parents refuse us earthly things.

¹ The plural form 'Himmeln', as given in the editions of 1563, 1684, and 1721, follows closely the Greek original, Matt. vi. 9 (ἐν τοῖς οὐρανοῖς; Latin, in celis), though it is unusual in German.

Frage 121.

Warum wird hinzugehan: Der du bist in den Himmeln?

Antwort.

Auf daß wir von der himmlischen Majestät Gottes nichts Irdisches gedachten, und von seiner Allmächtigkeit alle Nothdurft Leibes und der Seele gewarten.

Frage 122.

Was ist die erste Bitte?

Antwort.

Geheiligt werde dein Name; das ist: Gib uns erstlich, daß wir dich recht erkennen, und dich in allen deinen Werken, in welchen leuchtet deine Allmächtigkeit, Weisheit, Güte, Gerechtigkeit, Barmherzigkeit und Wahrheit, heiligen, rühmen und preisen. Dar nach auch, daß wir unser ganzes Leben, Gedanken, Worte und Werke dahin richten, daß dein Name um unsertwillen nicht gelästert, sondern geehret und ge priesen werde.

Frage 123.

Was ist die andere Bitte?

Antwort.

Dein Reich komme; das ist: Regiere uns also durch dein Wort und Geist, daß wir uns dir je länger je mehr unterwerfen; erhalte und mehre deine Kirche, und zerstöre die Werke des Teufels und alle Gewalt, die sich wider dich erhebt, und alle bösen Rathschläge, die wider dein heiliges Wort erdacht werden, bis die Vollkommenheit deines Reichs herzukom-

QUESTION 121.

Why is it added: Who art in heaven?

ANSWER.

That we may have no earthly thought of the heavenly majesty of God, and may expect from his almighty power all things necessary for body and soul.

QUESTION 122.

What is the first petition?

ANSWER.

Hallowed be thy name. That is: Enable us rightly to know thee, and to hallow, magnify, and praise thee in all thy works, in which shine forth thy power, wisdom, goodness, justice, mercy, and truth; and likewise so to order our whole life, in thought, word, and work, that thy name may not be blasphemed, but honored and praised on our account.

QUESTION 123.

What is the second petition?

ANSWER.

Thy kingdom come. That is: So govern us by thy Word and Spirit that we may submit ourselves unto thee always more and more; preserve and increase thy Church; destroy the works of the devil, every power that exalteth itself against thee, and all wicked devices formed against thy holy Word, until the full coming of thy me, darin du wirst Alles in Allen sein.

Frage 124.

Was ist die dritte Bitte?

Antwort.

Dein Wille geschehe auf Erden, wie im Himmel; das ist: Verleihe, daß wir und alle Menschen unserem eigenen Willen absagen, und deinem allein guten Willen, ohne alles Widersprechen, gehorchen; daß also Jedermann sein Amt und Beruf so willig und treulich ausrichte, wie die Engel im Himmel.

Frage 125.

Was ist die vierte Bitte?

Antwort.

Gieb uns heute unser täglich Brot; das ist: Weltest uns mit aller leiblichen Nothdurft versorgen, auf daß wir dadurch erkennen, daß Du der einzige Ursprung alles Guten bist, und daß ohne deinen Segen weder unsere Sorgen und Arbeit, noch deine Gaben uns gedeihen, und wir derhalben unser Vertrauen von allen Creaturen abziehen, und allein auf dich setzen.

Frage 126.

Was ist die fünfte Bitte?

Antwort.

Bergieb uns unsere Schulden, wie auch wir vergeben unseren Schuldigern; das ist: Weltest uns armen Sündern alle unsere Missethat, auch das Böse, so uns noch immerdar anhänget, um des Bluts Christi willen kingdom, wherein thou shalt be all in all.

QUESTION 124.

What is the third petition?

ANSWER.

Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven. That is: Grant that we and all men may renounce our own will, and yield ourselves, without gainsaying, to thy will, which alone is good; that so every one may fulfill his office and calling as willingly and truly as the angels do in heaven.

QUESTION 125.

What is the fourth petition?

ANSWER.

Give us this day our daily bread. That is: Be pleased to provide for all our bodily need, that we may thereby know that thou art the only fountain of all good, and that without thy blessing neither our care and labor nor thy gifts can profit us, and may therefore withdraw our trust from all creatures, and place it alone in thee.

QUESTION 126.

What is the fifth petition?

ANSWER.

And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors. That is: Be pleased, for the sake of Christ's blood, not to impute to us, miserable sinners, our manifold transgressions, nor the evil which still nicht zurechnen, wie auch wir dieß Zeugniß deiner Gnade in uns finden, daß unser ganzer Vorsatz ist, unserem Nächsten von Herzen zu verzeihen.

Frage 127.

Was ist die sechste Bitte?

Antwort.

Und führe uns nicht in Versuchung, sondern erlöse uns vom Bösen; das ist: Dieweil wir aus uns selbst so schwach sind, daß wir nicht einen Augenblick bestehen können, und dazu unsere abgesagten Feinde, der Teufel, die Welt, und unser eigen Fleisch, nicht aufhören uns anzufechten: so wollest Du uns erhalten und stärken durch die Kraft deines Heiligen Geistes, auf daß wir ihnen mögen festen Widerstand thun, und in diesem geistlichen Streit nicht unterliegen, bis daß wir endlich den Sieg vollkommen behalten.

Frage 128.

Wie beschließest du dieß Gebet?

Antwort.

Denn dein ist das Reich, und die Kraft, und die Herrlichkeit in Ewigkeit; das ist: Solches alles bitten wir darum von Dir, weil Du, als unser König, und aller Dinge mächtig, uns alles Gute geben willst und kannst, und daß dadurch nicht wir, sondern Dein heiliger Name ewig soll gepriesen werden.

always cleaves to us; as we also find this witness of thy grace in us, that it is our full purpose heartily to forgive our neighbor.

QUESTION 127.

What is the sixth petition?

ANSWER.

And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.
That is: Since we are so weak in ourselves that we can not stand a moment, while our deadly enemies—the devil, the world, and our own flesh—assail us without ceasing, be pleased to preserve and strengthen us by the power of thy Holy Spirit, that we may make firm stand against them, and not sink in this spiritual war, until we come off at last with complete victory.

QUESTION 128.

How do you close this Prayer?

ANSWER.

For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever.
That is: All this we ask of thee, because as our King, having power over all things, thou art both willing and able to give us all good, and that thereby not we but thy holy name may be glorified forever.

Frage 129.

Was bedeutet das Wörtlein : Amen?

Antwort.

Amen heißt: das soll wahr und gewiß sein; denn mein Gebet viel gewisser von Gott erhöret ist, denn ich in meinem Herzen fühle, daß ich solches von ihm begehre.¹

QUESTION 129.

What is the meaning of the word Amen?

ANSWER.

Amen means: So shall it truly and surely be. For my prayer is much more certainly heard of God than I feel in my heart that I desire these things of him.

¹ The first edition of 1563 (pp. 84-94), as also the third (Niemeyer, p. 424), conclude with a 'List of such important proof-texts as have been explained in the preceding Catechism.' The List contains the summary of the divine law in the words of our Lord, Matt. xxii. 37-40, as a mirror of repentance, with the threat, Deut. xxvii. 26; then the Apostles' Creed, the words of institution for Holy Baptism and the Lord's Supper, the Ten Commandments, and the Lord's Prayer. The large and fine pulpit edition in the 'Kurpfälzischen Kirchenordnung' of 1724 adds to it 'A Short Summary of the Catechism,' and a number of Scripture passages for all sorts and conditions of men. The second and third editions of 1563 close with a remark already noticed with reference to the 80th Question, which was wanting in the first edition. Most editions are fortified with Scripture proofs, a careful selection of which has been made for my German tercentenary edition.

CONFESSIO FIDEI GALLICANA.

THE FRENCH CONFESSTION OF FAITH. A.D. 1559.

[This Confession was prepared by CALVIN and his pupil, DE CHANDIEU, revised and approved by a synod at Paris, 1559, delivered by Beza to Charles IX. at Poissy, 1561, adopted by the Synod of La Rochelle, 1571 (hence also called the 'Confession of Rochelle'), and solemnly sanctioned by Henry IV.]

The French original, with the old spelling, is printed in Beza's Histoire ecclésiastique des églises réformées, in Niemeyer's Collectio (pp. 313-320), and by Dr. Heppé, in the Zeitschrift für die historische Theologie, Gotha, 1875, pp. 524 sqq., from a MS. copy in Geneva. A Latin version of 1566 in the Corpus et Synopsis Confess., and in Niemeyer (pp. 329-339). A German translation, Heidelberg, 1562, and in Böckel.

We give the authoritative text, in modern spelling, from the edition published by the Société des livres religieux, at Toulouse, 1864: Confession de foi et discipline ecclésiastique des églises réformées de France. The Preface we have supplied in its original form, as reprinted by Niemeyer, and in Calvin's Opera, Vol. IX. p. 737. The shorter French recension, which has only thirty-five Articles, is reprinted in Calvin's Opera, Vol. IX. pp. 738-752, with the changes of the later edition.

The English translation was kindly prepared for this work by Miss EMILY O. BUTLER, of New York. An older version is in Quick's Synodicon, 1692, Vol. I.]

LES FRANÇOIS QUI DESIRENT VIVRE
SELON LA PURETÉ DE L'EVANGILE
DE NOSTRE SEIGNEUR JÉSUS CHRIST.

Au Roy.

Sire, nous rendons grâces à Dieu, de ce que n'ayans eu jusques ici aucun accès à vostre Majesté, pour lui faire entendre la rigueur des persécutions que nous avons endurées, et endurons iournellement pour vouloir suivre la pureté de l'Evangile, et le repos de nostre conscience : maintenant il nous fait cet heur de veoir qu'avez lu volonté de connoître le mérite de nostre cause, suivant l'Edit dernier donné à Amboise au moy de Mars, l'An présent 1559, qu'il a pleu à vostre Majesté faire publier. Qui est la cause qu'à présent nous osons ouvrir la bouche : laquelle nous a été parci devant fermée par l'injustice et violence de plusieurs voz officiers, estans plustost incitez de haine contre nous, que de bonne affection à vostre service. Et à fin, Sire, que nous puissions pleinement informer vostre Majesté de ce qui concerne cette cause, nous vous supplions très-humblement de voir et entendre nostre Confession de Foy, laquelle nous vous présentons : espérans qu'elle nous sera défense suffisante contre tous les blasmes et opprobres, dont jusques ici avons été chargéz à grand tort par ceux qui ont touours fait mestier de nous condamner, premier que nostre cause leur fust connerë. En la-

THE FRENCH SUBJECTS WHO WISH TO LIVE IN THE PURITY OF THE GOS-PEL OF OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST.

To the King.

Sire, we thank God that hitherto having had no access to your Majesty to make known the rigor of the persecutions that we have suffered, and suffer daily, for wishing to live in the purity of the Gospel and in peace with our own consciences, he now permits us to see that you wish to know the worthiness of our cause, as is shown by the last Edict given at Amboise in the month of March of this present year, 1559, which it has pleased your Majesty to cause to be published. This emboldens us to speak, which we have been prevented from doing hitherto through the injustice and violence of some of your officers, incited rather by hatred of us than by love of your service. And to the end, Sire, that we may fully inform your Majesty of what concerns this cause, we humbly beseech that you will see and hear our Confession of Faith, which we present to you, hoping that it will prove a sufficient answer to the blame and opprobrium unjustly laid upon us by those who have always made a point of condemning us without having any knowledge of our cause. In the which, Sire, we can affirm that there is nothing contrary to quelle, Sire, nous pouvons protester qu'il n'y a aucune chose qui répugne à la parole de Dieu, ne qui contrevienne à l'hommage que nous vous devons.

Car les articles de nostre Foy qui sont descrits assez au long en nostre Confession, reviennent tous à ce point, que puisque Dieu nous a suffisamment déclaré sa volonté par ses Prophètes et Apostres, et mesmes par la bouche de son fils nostre Seigneur Iésus Christ nous devons cet honneur et révérence à la parole de Dieu de n'y rien ajouter du nostre: mais de nous conformer entièrement à la règle qui nous y est prescritte. Et pour ce que l'Eglise Romaine, laissant l'usage et coustume de la primitive Eglise, a introduit nouveaux commandemens et nouvelle forme du service de Dieu: nous estimons estre très-raisonnable de préférer les commandemens de Dieu, qui est la vérité mesme, aux commandemens des hommes: qui de leur nature sont enclins à mensonge et vanité. Et quoy que noz adversaires prétendent à l'encontre de nous, si pouvons nous dire devant Dieu et les hommes, que nous ne souffrons pour autre raison que pour maintenir nostre Seigneur Iésus Christ estre nostre Seul Sauveur et Rédempteur, et sa doctrine seule doctrine de vie et de salut.

Et cette est la seule cause, Sire, pour laquelle les bourreaux ont en tant de fois les mains souillées du sang de voz poures sujets, lesquels n'espargnent point leurs vies pour maintenir cette mesme confession de Foy, ont bien peu faire entendre à tous qu'ils estoient pousses d'autre esprit que de celuy des hommes, qui naturellement ont plus de soucy de leurs repos et commoditez, que de l'honneur et gloire de Dieu.

Et partant, Sire, suivant, la bonté et douceur de laquelle promettez user envers voz poures sujets, nous supplions très-humblement vestre Majesté nous faire cette miséricorde, que de prendre en main la connoissance de la cause, pour laquelle estans poursuyvis à toute heure ou de mort, ou de bannissement, nous perdons the Word of God, or to the homage which we owe to you.

For the articles of our faith, which are all declared at some length in our Confession, all come to this: that since God has sufficiently declared his will to us through his Prophets and Apostles, and even by the mouth of his Son, our Lord Jesus Christ, we owe such respect and reverence to the Word of God as shall prevent us from adding to it any thing of our own, but shall make us conform entirely to the rules it prescribes. And inasmuch as the Roman Church, forsaking the use and customs of the primitive Church, has introduced new commandments and a new form of worship of God, we esteem it but reasonable to prefer the commandments of God, who is himself truth, to the commandments of men, who by their nature are inclined to deceit and vanity. And whatever our enemies may say against us, we can declare this before God and men, that we suffer for no other reason than for maintaining our Lord Jesus Christ to be our only Saviour and Redeemer, and his doctrine to be the only doctrine of life and salvation.

And this is the only reason, Sire, why the executioners' hands have been stained so often with the blood of your poor subjects, who, sparing not their lives to maintain this same Confession of Faith, have shown to all that they were moved by some other spirit than that of men, who naturally care more for their own peace and comfort than for the honor and glory of God.

And therefore, Sire, in accordance with your promises of goodness and mercy toward your poor subjects, we humbly beseech your Majesty graciously to examine the cause for which, being threatened at all times with death or exile, we thus lose the power of rendering the humble service that we owe you. May it par ce moyen la puissance de vous faire le très-humble service que nous vous devons. Qu'il plaise donc à vostre Maiesté, Sire, à lieu des feus et glaives dont on a usé parci devant, faire décliner nostre confession de Foy par la parole de Dieu: donnant permission et secrét pour ce faire. Et nous espérons que vous-mesmes serez iuge de nostre innocence, connoissant qu'il n'y a en nous ny hérésie, ny rébellion aucune: mais que nous tendons seulement à ce but, de pouvoir vivre en saine conscience, servans à Dieu selon ses commandemens, et honorans vostre Maiesté en toute obéissance et servitude.

Et par ce que nous avons nécessairement besoin d'estre, par la prédication de la parole de Dieu, retenus en nostre devoir et office tant envers luy: qu'envers vous: nous vous supplions très-humblement, Sire, qu'il nous soit permis d'estre quelquefois assembléz tant pour estre exhortez par la parole de Dieu à sa crainte, que pour estre conformez par l'administration des Sacremens que nostre Seigneur Jésus Christ a instituez en son Eglise. Et s'il plaist à vostre Maiesté nous donner lieu, auquel un chaeun puisse voir ce qui se fait en noz assemblées, la seule veue nous absoudra de l'accusation de tant de crimes énormes, dont nosdites assemblées ont esté diffumées parci devant. Car on n'y pourra reoir que toute modestie et chasteté, et on n'y pourra oyrr que louanges de Dieu, exhortations à son service, et prières pour la conservation de vostre Maiesté et de vostre Royaume. Que s'il ne vous plaist nous faire tant de grâce, au moins qu'il nous soit permis de poursvyvre particulièrement entre nous avec repos l'ordre qui y est establi.

Vous supplions très-humblement, Sire, de croire, que oyant lire cette supplication qui vous est maintenant présentée, vous oyez les cris et gémissemens d'une infinité de voz poures sujets qui implorent vostre miséricorde: à ce qu'elle esteigne les feus que la cruauté de voz inges a allumez en vostre Royaume. Et ainsi qu'il nous soit loisible, servans à vostre Maiesté please your Majesty, then, instead of the fire and sword which have been used hitherto, to have our Confession of Faith decided by the Word of God: giving permission and security for this. And we hope that you yourself will be the judge of our innocence, knowing that there is in us no rebellion or heresy whatsoever, but that our only endeavor is to live in peace of conscience, serving God according to his commandments, and honoring your Majesty by all obedience and submission.

And because we have great need, by the preaching of the Word of God, to be kept in our duty to him, as well as to yourself, we humbly beg, Sire, that we may sometimes be permitted to gather together, to be exhorted to the fear of God by his Word, as well as to be confirmed by the administration of the Sacraments which the Lord Jesus Christ instituted in his Church. And if it should please your Majesty to give us a place where any one may see what passes in our assemblies, we shall thereby be absolved from the charge of the enormous crimes with which these same assemblies have been defamed. For nothing will be seen but what is decent and well-ordered, and nothing will be heard but the praise of God, exhortations to his service, and prayers for the preservation of your Majesty and of your kingdom. And if it do not please you to grant us this favor, at least let it be permitted us to follow the established order in private among ourselves.

We beseech you most humbly, Sire, to believe that in listening to this supplication which is now presented to you, you listen to the cries and groans of an infinite number of your poor subjects, who implore of your mercy that you extinguish the fires which the cruelty of your judges has lighted in your kingdom. And that we may thus be permitted, in de servir à celuy qui nous a élevé en vostre dignité et grandeur.

Et s'il ne vous plaist, Sire, d'ouyr nostre voix, qu'il vous plaise d'ouyr celle du Fils de Dieu, lequel vous ayant donné puissance sur noz biens, sur noz corps et sur nostre propre vie: vous demande que la puissance et domination sur noz ames et consciences (lesquelles il s'est acquises au pris de son sang) luy soyeat réservées.

Nous le supplions, Sire, qu'il vous conduise tousiours par son Esprit, accroissant avec vostre auge, vostre grandeur et puissance, vous donnant victoire contre tous voz ennemis, établisant pour iamais en toute équité et iustice le throsne de vostre Maiesté: devant laquelle aussi il luy plaise nous faire trouver grâce, pour resentir quelque fruit de nostre présente supplication, à fin qu'ayons changé noz peines et afflictions à quelque repos et liberté, nous changeons aussi noz pleurs et larmes à une perpétuelle action de grâces à Dieu, et à vostre Maiesté, pour avoir fait chose à luy très-agréable, très-digne de vostre bonté et iustice, et très-nécessaire pour la conservation de voz plus humbles et plus obéissans sujets et serviteurs.

serving your Majesty, to serve him who has raised you to your power and dignity.

And if it should not please you, Sire, to listen to our voice, may it please you to listen to that of the Son of God, who, having given you power over our property, our bodies, and even our lives, demands that the control and dominion of our souls and consciences, which he purchased with his own blood, be reserved to him.

We beseech him, Sire, that he may lead you always by his Spirit, increasing with your age, your greatness and power, giving you victory over all your enemies, and establishing forever, in all equity and justice, the throne of your Majesty: before whom, may it please him that we find grace, and some fruit of this our present supplication, so that having exchanged our pains and afflictions for some peace and liberty, we may also change our tears and lamentations into a perpetual thanksgiving to God, and to your Majesty for having done that which is most agreeable to him, most worthy of your goodness and mercy, and most necessary for the preservation of your most humble and obedient subjects and servants.

II. Ce Dieu se manifeste tel aux hommes,⁶ premièrement par ses œuvres, tant par la création que par la conservation et conduite d'icelles. Secondement et plus clairement, par sa Parole,⁷ laquelle au commencement révélée par oracles,⁸ a été puis après rédigée par écrit⁹ aux livres que nous appelons l'Ecriture sainte.¹⁰

III. Toute cette Ecriture sainte est comprise aux livres canoniques du Vieux et du Nouveau Testament, desquels le nombre s'ensuit : les cinq livres de Moïse, savoir : GENÈSE, EXODE, LÉVITIQUE, NOMBRES, DEUTÉRONOME. Item, JOSUÉ, JUGES, RUTH, le premier et le second livres de SAMUEL, le premier et le second livres des Rois, le premier et le second livres des CHRONIQUES, autrement dits Paralipomenon ; le premier livre d'ESDRAS. Item, NÉHÉMIE, le livre d'ESTHER, JOB, les PSAUMES de David, les PROVERBES ou sentences de Salomon ; le livre de l'ECCLÉSIASTE, dit le PRÊCHEUR ; le CANTIQUE de ble, omnipotent; who is all-wise, all-good, all-just, and all-merciful.

II. As such this God reveals himself to men; firstly, in his works, in their creation, as well as in their preservation and control. Secondly, and more clearly, in his Word, which was in the beginning revealed through oracles, and which was afterward committed to writing in the books which we call the Holy Scriptures.

III. These Holy Scriptures are comprised in the canonical books of the Old and New Testaments, as follows: the five books of Moses, namely: GENESIS, EXODUS, LEVITICUS, NUMBERS, DEUTERONOMY; then JOSHUA, JUDGES, RUTH, the first and second books of SAMUEL, the first and second books of the KINGS, the first and second books of the CHRONICLES, otherwise called Paralipomenon, the first book of EZRA; then NEHEMIAH, the book of ESTHER, JOB, the PSALMS of David, the PROVERBS or MAXIMS of Solomon; the book of ECCLESIASTES, called the Preacher, the SONG OF SOLOMON; then the book of ISAIAH, JEREMIAH, LAMENTATIONS, ZEPHANIAH, HABAKUK, DANIEL, HOSEA, AMOS, OBADIAH, NAHUM, HABAKUK, ZEPHANIAH, MICAH, ZECHARIAH, HAGGAI, MALACHI.

IV. Nous connaissons ces livres être canoniques, et la règle très-certaine de notre foi,¹ non tant par le commun accord et consentement de l'Eglise, que par le témoignage et persuasion intérieure du Saint-Esprit, qui nous les fait discerner d'avec les autres livres ecclésiastiques, sur lesquels, encore

IV. We know these books to be canonical, and the sure rule of our faith, not so much by the common accord and consent of the Church, as by the testimony and inward illumination of the Holy Spirit, which enables us to distinguish them from other ecclesiastical books upon which, however useful, qu'ils soient utiles, on ne peut fonder aucun article de foi.

V. Nous croyons que la Parole qui est contenue en ces livres, est procédée de Dieu,¹ duquel seul elle prend son autorité,² et non des hommes. Et d'autant qu'elle est la règle de toute vérité,³ contenant tout ce qui est nécessaire pour le service de Dieu et de notre salut, il n'est pas loisible aux hommes, ni même aux Anges, d'y ajouter, diminuer ou changer.⁴ D'où il s'ensuit que ni l'antiquité, ni les coutumes, ni la multitude, ni la sagesse humaine, ni les jugements, ni les arrêts, ni les édits, ni les décrets, ni les conciles, ni les visions, ni les miracles, ne doivent être opposés à cette Ecriture sainte,⁵ mais, au contraire, toutes choses doivent être examinées, réglées et réformées selon elle.⁶ Et suivant cela, nous avouons les trois symboles, savoir : des Apôtres, de Nicée, et d'Athanase, parce qu'ils sont conformes à la parole de Dieu.

VI. Cette Ecriture sainte nous enseigne qu'en cette seule et simple essence divine, que nous avons confessée, il y a trois personnes, le Père, le Fils, et le Saint-Esprit.⁷

we can not found any articles of faith.

V. We believe that the Word contained in these books has proceeded from God, and receives its authority from him alone, and not from men. And inasmuch as it is the rule of all truth, containing all that is necessary for the service of God and for our salvation, it is not lawful for men, nor even for angels, to add to it, to take away from it, or to change it. Whence it follows that no authority, whether of antiquity, or custom, or numbers, or human wisdom, or judgments, or proclamations, or edicts, or decrees, or councils, or visions, or miracles, should be opposed to these Holy Scriptures, but, on the contrary, all things should be examined, regulated, and reformed according to them. And therefore we confess the three creeds, to wit: the Apostles', the Nicene, and the Athanasian, because they are in accordance with the Word of God.

VI. These Holy Scriptures teach us that in this one sole and simple divine essence, whom we have confessed, there are three persons: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Le Saint-Esprit procédant éternellement de tous deux, les trois personnes non confuses, mais distinctes, et toutefois non divisées, mais d'une même essence, éternité, puissance et égalité. Et en cela avouons ce qui a été déterminé par les conciles anciens, et détestons toutes sectes et hérésies qui ont été rejetées par les saints docteurs, comme saint Hilaire, saint Athanase, saint Ambroise, et saint Cyrille.

VII. Nous croyons que Dieu en trois personnes coopérantes, par sa vertu, sagesse et bonté incompréhensible, a créé toutes choses, non seulement le ciel, la terre et tout ce qui y est contenu; mais aussi les esprits invisibles,¹ desquels les uns sont déchus et trébuchés en perdition,² les autres ont persisté en obéissance.³ Que les premiers s'étant corrompus en malice, sont ennemis de tout bien, par conséquent de toute l'Eglise.⁴ Les seconds ayant été préservés par la grâce de Dieu, sont ministres pour Spirit. The Father, first cause, principle, and origin of all things. The Son, his Word and eternal wisdom. The Holy Spirit, his virtue, power, and efficacy. The Son begotten from eternity by the Father. The Holy Spirit proceeding eternally from them both; the three persons not confused, but distinct, and yet not separate, but of the same essence, equal in eternity and power. And in this we confess that which hath been established by the ancient councils, and we detest all sects and heresies which were rejected by the holy doctors, such as St. Hilary, St. Athanasius, St. Ambrose, and St. Cyril.

VII. We believe that God, in three co-working persons, by his power, wisdom, and incomprehensible goodness, created all things, not only the heavens and the earth and all that in them is, but also invisible spirits, some of whom have fallen away and gone into perdition, while others have continued in obedience. That the first, being corrupted by evil, are enemies of all good, consequently of the whole Church. The second, having been preserved by the grace of God, are ministers to glorify God's name.

glorifier le nom de Dieu, et servir au salut de ses élus.¹

VIII. Nous croyons que non-seulement il a créé toutes choses, mais qu'il les gouverne et conduit,² disposant, ordonnant selon sa volonté, de tout ce qui advient au monde,³ non pas qu'il soit auteur du mal, ou que la coulpe lui en puisse être imputée,⁴ vu que sa volonté est la règle souveraine et infaillible de toute droiture et équité;⁵ mais il a des moyens admirables de servir tellement des diables et des méchants, qu'il sait convertir en bien le mal qu'ils font, et duquel ils sont coupables.⁶ Et ainsi en confessant que rien ne se fait sans la providence de Dieu, nous adorons en humilité les secrets qui nous sont cachés, sans nous enquérir par-dessus notre mesure; mais plutôt appliquons à notre usage ce qui nous est montré en l'Ecriture sainte pour être en repos et sûreté,⁷ d'autant que Dieu, qui a toutes choses sujettes à soi, veille sur nous d'un soin paternel, tellement qu'il ne tombera point un cheveu de notre tête sans sa volonté.⁸ Et cependant il tient les diables et tous nos ennemis bridés, en sorte qu'ils ne nous peuvent faire aucune nuisance sans son congé.⁹

and to promote the salvation of his elect.

VIII. We believe that he not only created all things, but that he governs and directs them, disposing and ordaining by his sovereign will all that happens in the world; not that he is the author of evil, or that the guilt of it can be imputed to him, as his will is the sovereign and infallible rule of all right and justice; but he hath wonderful means of so making use of devils and sinners that he can turn to good the evil which they do, and of which they are guilty. And thus, confessing that the providence of God orders all things, we humbly bow before the secrets which are hidden to us, without questioning what is above our understanding; but rather making use of what is revealed to us in Holy Scripture for our peace and safety, inasmuch as God, who has all things in subjection to him, watches over us with a Father's care, so that not a hair of our heads shall fall without his will. And yet he restrains the devils and all our enemies, so that they can not harm us without his leave.

IX. Nous croyons que l'homme ayant été créé pur et entier, et conforme à l'image de Dieu, est, par sa propre faute, déchu de la grâce qu'il avait reçue,¹ et ainsi s'est aliené de Dieu, qui est la fontaine de justice et de tous biens, en sorte que sa nature est du tout corrompue. Et étant aveuglé en son esprit, et dépravé en son cœur, a perdu toute intégrité sans avoir rien de reste.² Et bien qu'il ait encore quelque discréction du bien et du mal,³ nonobstant nous disons, que ce qu'il a de clarté, se convertit en ténèbres quand il est question de chercher Dieu, tellement qu'il n'en peut nullement approcher par son intelligence et raison.⁴ Et bien qu'il ait une volonté par laquelle il est incité à faire ceci ou cela, toutefois elle est du tout captive sous péché, en sorte qu'il n'a nulle liberté à bien, que celle que Dieu lui donne.⁵

X. Nous croyons que toute la lignée d'Adam est infectée de telle contagion, qui est le péché originel, et un vice héréditaire, et non pas seulement une imitation, comme les Pélagiens ont voulu dire, lesquels nous détestons en leurs erreurs. Et n'estimons pas qu'il soit besoin de s'enquérir comme le péché vient d'un homme à l'autre, vu que c'est

IX. We believe that man was created pure and perfect in the image of God, and that by his own guilt he fell from the grace which he received, and is thus alienated from God, the fountain of justice and of all good, so that his nature is totally corrupt. And being blinded in mind, and depraved in heart, he has lost all integrity, and there is no good in him. And although he can still discern good and evil, we say, notwithstanding, that the light he has becomes darkness when he seeks for God, so that he can in nowise approach him by his intelligence and reason. And although he has a will that incites him to do this or that, yet it is altogether captive to sin, so that he has no other liberty to do right than that which God gives him.

X. We believe that all the posterity of Adam is in bondage to original sin, which is an hereditary evil, and not an imitation merely, as was declared by the Pelagians, whom we detest in their errors. And we consider that it is not necessary to inquire how sin was conveyed from one man to another, for what God had given Adam assez, que ce que Dieu lui avait donné n'était pas pour lui seul, mais pour toute sa lignée; et ainsi, qu'en la personne d'icelui nous avons été dénués de tous biens, et sommes trébuchés en toute pauvreté et malédiction.¹

XI. Nous croyons aussi que ce vice est vraiment péché, qui suffit à condamner tout le genre humain, jusqu'aux petits enfants dès le ventre de la mère, et que pour tel il est réputé devant Dieu;² même qu'après le baptême, c'est toujours péché quant à la coulpe, bien que la condamnation en soit abolie aux enfants de Dieu, ne la leur imputant point par sa bonté gratuite.³ Outre cela, que c'est une perversité produisant toujours des fruits de malice et de rébellion,⁴ tels que les plus saints, encore qu'ils y résistent, ne laissent point d'être entachés d'infirmités et de fautes pendant qu'ils habitent en ce monde.⁵

XII. Nous croyons que de cette corruption et condamnation générale, en laquelle tous les hommes sont plongés, Dieu retire ceux lesquels en son conseil éternel et immuable il a élus par sa seule bonté et miséricorde en notre Seigneur Jésus-Christ, sans considération de was not for him alone, but for all his posterity; and thus in his person we have been deprived of all good things, and have fallen with him into a state of sin and misery.

XI. We believe, also, that this evil is truly sin, sufficient for the condemnation of the whole human race, even of little children in the mother's womb, and that God considers it as such; even after baptism it is still of the nature of sin, but the condemnation of it is abolished for the children of God, out of his mere free grace and love. And further, that it is a perversity always producing fruits of malice and of rebellion, so that the most holy men, although they resist it, are still stained with many weaknesses and imperfections while they are in this life.

XII. We believe that from this corruption and general condemnation in which all men are plunged, God, according to his eternal and immutable counsel, calleth those whom he hath chosen by his goodness and mercy alone in our Lord Jesus Christ, without consideration leurs œuvres,¹ laissant les autres en cette même corruption et condamnation, pour démontrer en eux sa justice, comme aux premiers il fait luire les richesses de sa miséricorde.² Car les uns ne sont point meilleurs que les autres, jusqu'à ce que Dieu les discerne, selon son conseil immuable qu'il a déterminé en Jésus-Christ devant la création du monde; et nul aussi ne se pourrait introduire à un tel bien de sa propre vertu, vu que de notre nature nous ne pouvons avoir un seul bon mouvement, ni affection, ni pensée, jusqu'à ce que Dieu nous ait prévenus et nous y ait disposés.³

XIII. Nous croyons qu'en icelui Jésus-Christ tout ce qui était requis à notre salut nous a été offert et communiqué. Lequel nous étant donné à salut, nous à été quant et quant fait sapience, sanctification et rédemption: en sorte qu'en déclinant de lui, on renonce à la miséricorde du Père, où il nous convient aroir refuge unique.⁴

XIV. Nous croyons que Jésus-Christ étant la sagesse de Dieu, et son Fils éternel, a revêtu notre chair, afin d'être Dieu et homme en une personne,⁵ même homme semblable à nous, passible en corps et en âme, of their works, to display in them the riches of his mercy; leaving the rest in this same corruption and condemnation to show in them his justice. For the ones are no better than the others, until God discerns them according to his immutable purpose which he has determined in Jesus Christ before the creation of the world. Neither can any man gain such a reward by his own virtue, as by nature we can not have a single good feeling, affection, or thought, except God has first put it into our hearts.

XIII. We believe that all that is necessary for our salvation was offered and communicated to us in Jesus Christ. He is given to us for our salvation, and is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption: so that if we refuse him, we renounce the mercy of the Father, in which alone we can find a refuge.

XIV. We believe that Jesus Christ, being the wisdom of God and his eternal Son, has put on our flesh, so as to be God and man in one person; man, like unto us, capable of suffering in body and sinon en tant qu'il a été pur de toute macule.¹ Et quant à son humanité, qu'il a été vraie semence d'Abraham et de David,² bien qu'il ait été conçu par la vertu secrète du Saint-Esprit.³ En quoi nous détestons toutes les hérésies qui ont ancienement troublé les Eglises; et notamment aussi les imaginations diaboliques de Servet, lequel attribue au Seigneur Jésus une divinité fantastique, d'autant qu'il le dit être idée et patron de toutes choses, et le nomme Fils personnel ou figuratif de Dieu; et finalement lui forge un corps de trois éléments incrées, ainsi mêlé et détruit toutes les deux natures.

XV. Nous croyons qu'en une même personne, savoir, Jésus-Christ, les deux natures sont vraiment et inseparablement conjointes et unies, demeurant néanmoins chacune nature en sa propriété distincte:⁴ tellement que comme en cette conjonction la nature divine retenant sa propriété, est demeurée incrée, infinie et remplissant toutes choses; aussi la nature humaine est demeurée finie, ayant sa forme, mesure et propriété;⁵ et même bien que Jésus-Christ en ressuscitant ait donné l'immortalité à son corps, soul, yet free from all stain of sin. And as to his humanity, he was the true seed of Abraham and of David, although he was conceived by the secret power of the Holy Spirit. In this we detest all the heresies that have of old troubled the Church, and especially the diabolical conceits of Servetus, which attribute a fantastical divinity to the Lord Jesus, calling him the idea and pattern of all things, and the personal or figurative Son of God, and, finally, attribute to him a body of three uncreated elements, thus confusing and destroying the two natures.

XV. We believe that in one person, that is, Jesus Christ, the two natures are actually and inseparably joined and united, and yet each remains in its proper character: so that in this union the divine nature, retaining its attributes, remained uncreated, infinite, and all-pervading; and the human nature remained finite, having its form, measure, and attributes; and although Jesus Christ, in rising from the dead, bestowed immortality upon his body, yet he did not take from toutefois il ne lui a pas ôté la vérité de sa nature. Et ainsi, nous le considérons tellement en sa divinité, que nous ne le dépouillons point de son humanité.

XVI. Nous croyons que Dieu envoyant son Fils, a voulu montrer son amour et bonté inestimable envers nous, en le livrant à la mort, et le ressuscitant pour accomplir toute justice et pour nous acquérir la vie céleste.¹

XVII. Nous croyons que par le sacrifice unique que le Seigneur Jésus a offert en la croix,² nous sommes réconciliés à Dieu pour être tenus et réputés justes devant lui, parce que nous ne lui pouvons être agréables, ni être participants de son adoption, sinon d'autant qu'il nous pardonne nos fautes, et les ensevelit.³ Ainsi nous protestons que Jésus-Christ est notre laveur entier et parfait, qu'en sa mort nous avons entière satisfaction, pour nous acquitter de nos forfaits et iniquités dont nous sommes coupables, et ne pourrons être délivrés que par ce remède.⁴

XVIII. Nous croyons que toute notre justice est fondée en la rémission de nos péchés, comme aussi c'est notre seule félicité, comme dit David.⁵ C'est pourquoi nous rejetons it the truth of its nature, and we so consider him in his divinity that we do not despoil him of his humanity.

XVI. We believe that God, in sending his Son, intended to show his love and inestimable goodness towards us, giving him up to die to accomplish all righteousness, and raising him from the dead to secure for us the heavenly life.

XVII. We believe that by the perfect sacrifice that the Lord Jesus offered on the cross, we are reconciled to God, and justified before him; for we can not be acceptable to him, nor become partakers of the grace of adoption, except as he pardons [all] our sins, and blots them out. Thus we declare that through Jesus Christ we are cleansed and made perfect; by his death we are fully justified, and through him only can we be delivered from our iniquities and transgressions.

XVIII. We believe that all our justification rests upon the remission of our sins, in which also is our only blessedness, as saith the Psalmist (Psa. xxxii. 2).

tous autres moyens de nous pouvoir justifier devant Dieu;¹ et sans présumer de nulles vertus, ni mérites, nous nous tenons simplement à l'obéissance de Jésus-Christ, laquelle nous est allouée, tant pour couvrir toutes nos fautes, que pour nous faire trouver grâce et faireur devant Dieu. Et de fait, nous croyons qu'en déclinant de ce fondement, tant peu que ce soit, nous ne pourrions trouver ailleurs aucun repos, mais serions toujours agités d'inquiétude: d'autant que jamais nous ne sommes paisibles avec Dieu, jusqu'à ce que nous soyons bien résolus d'être aimés en Jésus-Christ, vu que nous sommes dignes d'être hâis en nousmêmes.

XIX. Nous croyons que c'est par ce moyen que nous avons liberté et privilège d'invoquer Dieu, avec pleine fiance qu'il se montrera notre Père.² Car nous n'aurions aucun accès au Père, si nous n'étions adressés par ce médiateur. Et pour être exaucés en son nom, il convient tenir notre vie du lui, comme de notre chef.

XX. Nous croyons que nous sommes faits participants de cette justice par la seule foi, comme il est dit qu'il a souffert pour nous acquérir le salut, qfin que quiconque

We therefore reject all other means of justification before God, and without claiming any virtue or merit, we rest simply in the obedience of Jesus Christ, which is impted to us as much to blot out all our sins as to make us find grace and favor in the sight of God. And, in fact, we believe that in falling away from this foundation, however slightly, we could not find rest elsewhere, but should always be troubled. Forasmuch as we are never at peace with God till we resolve to be loved in Jesus Christ, for of ourselves we are worthy of hatred.

XIX. We believe that by this means we have the liberty and privilege of calling upon God, in full confidence that he will show himself a Father to us. For we should have no access to the Father except through this Mediator. And to be heard in his name, we must hold our life from him as from our chief.

XX. We believe that we are made partakers of this justification by faith alone, as it is written: 'He suffered for our salvation, that whosoever believeth on croira en lui, ne périsse point.¹ Et que cela se fait, d'autant que les promesses de vie qui nous sont données en lui, sont appropriées à notre usage, et en sentons l'effet quand nous les acceptons, ne doutant point qu'étant assurés par la bouche de Dieu, nous ne serons point frustrés.² Ainsi la justice que nous obtenons par la foi, dépend des promesses gratuites par lesquelles Dieu nous déclare et testifie qu'il nous aime.³

XXI. Nous croyons que nous sommes illuminés en la foi par la grâce secrète du Saint-Esprit, tellement que c'est un don gratuit et particulier que Dieu départ à ceux que bon lui semble, en sorte que les fidèles n'ont de quoi s'en glorifier, étant obligés au double, de ce qu'ils ont été préférés aux autres.⁴ Même que la foi n'est pas seulement bâillée pour un coup aux élus pour les introduire au bon chemin, mais pour les y faire continuer aussi jusqu'au bout.⁵ Car comme c'est à Dieu de faire le commencement, aussi c'est à lui de parachever.⁶

him should not perish.¹ And this is done inasmuch as we appropriate to our use the promises of life which are given to us through him, and feel their effect when we accept them, being assured that we are established by the Word of God and shall not be deceived. Thus our justification through faith depends upon the free promises by which God declares and testifies his love to us.

XXI. We believe that we are enlightened in faith by the secret power of the Holy Spirit, that it is a gratuitous and special gift which God grants to whom he will, so that the elect have no cause to glory, but are bound to be doubly thankful that they have been preferred to others. We believe also that faith is not given to the elect only to introduce them into the right way, but also to make them continue in it to the end. For as it is God who hath begun the work, he will also perfect it.

XXII. We believe that by this faith we are regenerated in newness of life, being by nature sub-ment asservis à péché.¹ Or, nous recevons par foi la grâce de vivre saintement, et en la crainte de Dieu, en recevant la promesse qui nous est donnée par l’Evangile, savoir, que Dieu nous donnera son Saint-Esprit. Ainsi la foi non-seulement ne refroidit pas l’affection de bien et saintement vivre, mais l’engendre et excite en nous, produisant nécessairement les bonnes œuvres.² Au reste, bien que Dieu, pour accomplir notre salut, nous régénère, nous réformant à bien faire,³ toutefois nous confessons que les bonnes œuvres que nous faisons par la conduite de son Esprit, ne viennent point en compte pour nous justifier, ou mériter que Dieu nous tienne pour ses enfants, parce que nous serions toujours flottants en doute et inquiétude, si nos consciences ne s’appuyaient sur la satisfaction par laquelle Jésus-Christ nous a acquittés.⁴

XXIII. Nous croyons que toutes les figures de la loi ont pris fin à la venue de Jésus-Christ.⁵ Mais bien que les cérémonies ne soient plus en usage, néanmoins la substance et vérité nous en est demeurée en la personne de celui auquel gît tout accomplissement.⁶ Au surject to sin. Now we receive by faith grace to live holily and in the fear of God, in accepting the promise which is given to us by the Gospel, namely: that God will give us his Holy Spirit. This faith not only doth not hinder us from holy living, or turn us from the love of righteousness, but of necessity begetteth in us all good works. Moreover, although God worketh in us for our salvation, and reneweth our hearts, determining us to that which is good, yet we confess that the good works which we do proceed from his Spirit, and can not be accounted to us for justification, neither do they entitle us to the adoption of sons, for we should always be doubting and restless in our hearts, if we did not rest upon the atonement by which Jesus Christ hath acquitted us.

XXIII. We believe that the ordinances of the law came to an end at the advent of Jesus Christ; but, althoough the ceremonies are no more in use, yet their substance and truth remain in the person of him in whom they are fulfilled. And, moreover, we must seek aid from plus, il nous faut aider de la loi et des prophètes, tant pour régler notre vie, que pour être confirmés aux promesses de l'Evangile.

XXIV. Nous croyons, puisque Jésus-Christ nous est donné pour seul avocat,¹ et qu'il nous commande de nous retirer privément en son nom vers son Père;² et même qu'il ne nous est pas licite de prier, sinon en suivant la forme que Dieu nous a dictée par sa Parole;³ que tout ce que les hommes ont imaginé de l'intercession des Saints trépassés, n'est qu'abus et fallace de Satan, pour faire déoyer les hommes de la forme de bien prier.⁴ Nous rejetons aussi tous autres moyens que les hommes présument avoir pour se racheter envers Dieu, comme dérogeants au sacrifice de la mort et passion de Jésus-Christ.

Finalement, nous tenons le purgatoire pour une illusion procédée de cette même boutique, de laquelle sont aussi procédés les vœux monastiques, pèlerinages, défenses du mariage, et de l'usage des viandes, l'observation cérémonielle des jours la confession auriculaire, les indulgences et toutes autres telles choses, par lesquelles on pense mériter grâce et salut.⁵ Lesquelles the law and the prophets for the ruling of our lives, as well as for our confirmation in the promises of the gospel.

XXIV. We believe, as Jesus Christ is our only advocate, and as he commands us to ask of the Father in his name, and as it is not lawful for us to pray except in accordance with the model God hath taught us by his Word, that all imaginations of men concerning the intercession of dead saints are an abuse and a device of Satan to lead men from the right way of worship. We reject, also, all other means by which men hope to redeem themselves before God, as derogating from the sacrifice and passion of Jesus Christ.

Finally, we consider purgatory as an illusion proceeding from the same source, from which have also sprung monastic vows, pilgrimages, the prohibition of marriage, and of eating meat, the ceremonial observance of days, auricular confession, indulgences, and all such things by which they hope to merit forgiveness and salvation. These things choses nous rejetons, non-seulement pour la fausse opinion du mérite qui y est attaché, mais aussi parce que ce sont des inventions humaines, qui imposent joug aux consciences.

XXV. Or, parce que nous ne jouissons de Jésus-Christ que par l'Evangile,¹ nous croyons que l'ordre de l'Eglise, qui a été établi en son autorité, doit être sacré et inviolable, et partant que l'Eglise ne peut subsister sinon qu'il y ait des pasteurs qui aient la charge d'enseigner,² lesquels on doit honorer et écouter en révérence quand ils sont dûment appelés, et exercent fidèlement leur office.³ Non pas que Dieu soit attaché à telles aides ou moyens inférieurs, mais parce qu'il lui plaît nous entretenir sous telle bride. En quoi nous détestons tous Fantastiques qui voudraient bien, en tant qu'en eux est, anéantir le ministère et prédication de la parole de Dieu et des sacrements.

XXVI. Nous croyons donc que nul ne se doit retirer à part, et se contenter de sa personne, mais que tous ensemble doivent garder et entretenir l'union de l'Eglise, se soumettant à l'instruction commune et au joug de Jésus-Christ;⁴ et ce en quelque lieu où Dieu aura établi un vrai ordre de l'Eglise, we reject, not only for the false idea of merit which is attached to them, but also because they are human inventions imposing a yoke upon the conscience.

XXV. Now as we enjoy Christ only through the gospel, we believe that the order of the Church, established by his authority, ought to be sacred and inviolable, and that, therefore, the Church can not exist without pastors for instruction, whom we should respect and reverently listen to, when they are properly called and exercise their office faithfully. Not that God doth require such aid and subordinate means, but because it pleaseth him to govern us by such restraints. In this we detest all visionaries who would like, so far as lies in their power, to destroy the ministry and preaching of the Word and sacraments.

XXVI. We believe that no one ought to seclude himself and be contented to be alone; but that all jointly should keep and maintain the union of the Church, and submit to the public teaching, and to the yoke of Jesus Christ, wherever God shall have established a true order of the Church, even encore que les magistrats et leurs édits y soient contraires, que tous ceux qui ne s'y rangent, ou s'en séparent, contrarient à l'ordonnance de Dieu.¹

XXVII. Toutefois, nous croyons qu'il convient discerner soigneusement, et avec prudence, quelle est la vraie Eglise, parce que par trop on abuse de ce titre.² Nous disons donc, suivant la parole de Dieu, que c'est la compagnie des fidèles qui s'accordent à suivre cette Parole et la pure religion qui en dépend, et qui profitent en elle tout le temps de leur vie, croissant et se confirmant en la crainte de Dieu, selon qu'ils ont besoin de s'avancer et de marcher toujours plus outre.³ Même quoiqu'ils s'efforcent, qu'il leur convient avoir incessamment recours à la rémission de leurs péchés,⁴ néanmoins nous ne nions point que parmi les fidèles il n'y ait des hypocrites et réprouvés, desquels la malice ne peut effacer le titre de l'Eglise.⁵

XXVIII. Sous cette créance nous protestons que là où la parole de Dieu n'est point reçue, et où on ne fait nulle profession de s'assujettir à elle, et où il n'y a nul usage des sacrements, à parler proprement, on if the magistrates and their edicts are contrary to it. For if they do not take part in it, or if they separate themselves from it, they do contrary to the Word of God.

XXVII. Nevertheless we believe that it is important to discern with care and prudence which is the true Church, for this title has been much abused. We say, then, according to the Word of God, that it is the company of the faithful who agree to follow his Word, and the pure religion which it teaches; who grow in grace all their lives, believing and becoming more confirmed in the fear of God according as they feel the want of growing and pressing onward. Even although they strive continually, they can have no hope save in the remission of their sins. Nevertheless we do not deny that among the faithful there may be hypocrites and reprobates, but their wickedness can not destroy the title of the Church.

XXVIII. In this belief we declare that, properly speaking, there can be no Church where the Word of God is not received, nor profession made of subjection to it, nor use of the sacraments.

ne peut juger qu'il y ait aucune Eglise.¹ Partant, nous condamnons les assemblées de la papauté, vu que la pure vérité de Dieu en est bannie, esquelles les sacrements sont corrompus, abâtardis, falsifiés ou anéantis du tout; et esquelles toutes superstitions et idolâtries ont la vogue. Nous tenons donc que tous ceux qui se mêlent en tels actes, et y communiquent, se séparent et se retranchent du corps de Jésus-Christ.² Toutefois, parce qu'il reste encore quelque petite trace de l'Eglise en la papauté, et même que la vertu et substance du baptême y est demeurée, joint que l'efficace du baptême ne dépend pas de celui qui l'administre, nous confessons ceux qui y sont baptisés n'avoir besoin d'un second baptême.³ Cependant à cause des corruptions qui y sont, on n'y peut présenter les enfants sans se polluer.

XXIX. Quant est de la vraie Eglise, nous croyons qu'elle doit être gouvernée selon la police que notre Seigneur Jésus-Christ a établie.⁴ C'est qu'il y ait des pasteurs, des surveillants et des diacres, afin que la pure doctrine ait son cours, que les vices soient corrigés et réprimés, et que les pauvres

Therefore we condemn the papal assemblies, as the pure Word of God is banished from them, their sacraments are corrupted, or falsified, or destroyed, and all superstitions and idolatries are in them. We hold, then, that all who take part in these acts, and commune in that Church, separate and cut themselves off from the body of Christ. Nevertheless, as some trace of the Church is left in the papacy, and the virtue and substance of baptism remain, and as the efficacy of baptism does not depend upon the person who administers it, we confess that those baptized in it do not need a second baptism. But, on account of its corruptions, we can not present children to be baptized in it without incurring pollution.

XXIX. As to the true Church, we believe that it should be governed according to the order established by our Lord Jesus Christ. That there should be pastors, overseers, and deacons, so that true doctrine may have its course, that errors may be corrected and suppressed, and the poor and all who are in affliction may be helped in their necessities; and that assemblies may be held in the name of God, so that great and small may be edified.

XXX. *Nous croyons tous vrais pasteurs, en quelque lieu qu'ils soient, avoir même autorité et égale puissance sous un seul chef, seul souverain et seul universel évêque, Jésus-Christ;*¹ et pour cette cause, que nulle Eglise ne doit prétendre aucune domination ou seigneurie sur l'autre.

XXXI. Nous croyons que nul ne se doit ingérer de son autorité propre pour gouverner l'Eglise, mais que cela se doit faire par élection, en tant qu'il est possible et que Dieu le permet.² Laquelle exception nous y ajoutons notamment, parce qu'il a fallu quelquefois, et même de notre temps (auquel l'état de l'Eglise était interrompu), que Dieu ait suscité des gens d'une façon extraordinaire pour dresser l'Eglise de nouveau, qui était en ruine et désolation. Mais, quoi qu'il en soit, nous croyons qu'il se faut toujours conformer à cette règle. Que tous pasteurs, surveillants et diacres aient témoignage d'être appelés à leur office.³

XXX. We believe that all true pastors, wherever they may be, have the same authority and equal power under one head, one only sovereign and universal bishop, Jesus Christ; and that consequently no Church shall claim any authority or dominion over any other.

XXXI. We believe that no person should undertake to govern the Church upon his own authority, but that this should be derived from election, as far as it is possible, and as God will permit. And we make this exception especially, because sometimes, and even in our own days, when the state of the Church has been interrupted, it has been necessary for God to raise men in an extraordinary manner to restore the Church which was in ruin and desolation. But, notwithstanding, we believe that this rule must always be binding: that all pastors, overseers, and deacons should have evidence of being called to their office.

XXXII. Nous croyons aussi qu'il est bon et utile que ceux qui sont élus pour être superintendants, avisent entre eux quel moyen ils devront tenir pour le régime de tout le corps,¹ et toutefois qu'ils ne déclinent nullement de ce qui nous en a été donné par notre Seigneur Jésus-Christ.² Ce qui n'empêche point qu'il n'y ait quelques ordonnances particulières en chacun lieu, selon que la commodité le requerra.

XXXIII. Cependant nous excluons toutes inventions humaines, et toutes lois qu'on voudrait introduire sous ombre du service de Dieu, par lesquelles on voudrait lier les consciences,³ mais seulement recevons ce qui fait et est propre pour nourrir la concorde, et tenir chacun depuis le premier jusqu'au dernier en obéissance. En quoi nous avons à suivre ce que notre Seigneur Jésus a déclaré quant à l'excommunication ;⁴ laquelle nous approuvons et confessons être nécessaire avec toutes ses appartennances.

XXXIV. Nous croyons que les sacrements sont ajoutés à la Parole pour plus ample confirmation, afin de nous être gages et marreaux de XXXII. We believe, also, that it is desirable and useful that those elected to be superintendents devise among themselves what means should be adopted for the government of the whole body, and yet that they should never depart from that which was ordained by our Lord Jesus Christ. Which does not prevent there being some special ordinances in each place, as convenience may require.

XXXIII. However, we reject all human inventions, and all laws which men may introduce under the pretense of serving God, by which they wish to bind consciences; and we receive only that which conduces to concord and holds all in obedience, from the greatest to the least. In this we must follow that which the Lord Jesus Christ declared as to excommunication, which we approve and confess to be necessary with all its antecedents and consequences.

XXXIV. We believe that the sacraments are added to the Word for more ample confirmation, that they may be to us pledges and la grâce de Dieu, et par ce moyen aider et soulager notre foi, à cause de l'infirmité et rudesse qui est en nous,¹ et qu'ils sont tellement signes extérieurs, que Dieu opère par eux en la vertu de son Esprit, afin de ne nous y rien signifier en vain.² Toutefois, nous tenons que toute leur substance et vérité est en Jésus-Christ;³ et si on les sépare, ce n'est plus rien qu'ombrage et fumée.

XXXV. Nous en confessons seulement deux, communs à toute l'Eglise, desquels le premier, qui est le baptême, nous est donné pour témoignage de notre adoption; parce que là nous sommes entés au corps de Christ, à fin d'être lavés et nettoyés par son sang, et puis renouvelés en sainteté de vie par son Saint-Esprit.⁴ Nous tenons aussi, bien que nous ne soyons baptisés qu'une fois, que le profit qui nous est là signifié s'étend à la vie et à la mort, à fin que nous ayons une signature permanente, que Jésus-Christ nous sera toujours justice et sanctification.⁵ Or, bien que ce soit un sacrement de foi et de pénitence, néanmoins parce que Dieu reçoit en son Eglise les petits enfants avec leurs pères, nous disons que par l'autorité de Jésus-Christ les petits seals of the grace of God, and by this means aid and comfort our faith, because of the infirmity which is in us, and that they are outward signs through which God operates by his Spirit, so that he may not signify any thing to us in vain. Yet we hold that their substance and truth is in Jesus Christ, and that of themselves they are only smoke and shadow.

XXXV. We confess only two sacraments common to the whole Church, of which the first, baptism, is given as a pledge of our adoption; for by it we are grafted into the body of Christ, so as to be washed and cleansed by his blood, and then renewed in purity of life by his Holy Spirit. We hold, also, that although we are baptized only once, yet the gain that it symbolizes to us reaches over our whole lives and to our death, so that we have a lasting witness that Jesus Christ will always be our justification and sanctification. Nevertheless, although it is a sacrament of faith and penitence, yet as God receives little children into the Church with their fathers, we say, upon the authority of Jesus

XXXVI. Nous confessons que la sainte Cène (qui est le second sacrement) nous est un témoignage de l'union que nous avons avec Jésus-Christ,² d'autant qu'il n'est pas seulement une fois mort et ressuscité pour nous, mais aussi nous repaît et nourrit vraiment de sa chair et de son sang, à ce que nous soyons un avec lui, et que sa vie nous soit commune.³ Or, bien qu'il soit au ciel jusqu'à ce qu'il vienne pour juger tout le monde,⁴ toutefois nous croyons que par la vertu secrète et incompréhensible de son Esprit, il nous nourrit et vivifie de la substance de son corps et de son sang.⁵ Nous tenons bien que cela se fait spirituellement, non pas pour mettre au lieu de l'effet et de la vérité, imagination, ni pensée; mais d'autant que ce mystère surmonte en sa hautesse la mesure de notre sens, et tout ordre de nature. Bref, parce qu'il est céleste, il ne peut être appréhendé que par la foi.

XXXVII. Nous croyons (ainsi qu'il a été dit), que tant en la cène qu'au baptême, Dieu nous donne réellement et par effet ce qu'il y figure. Et partant, nous joignons Christ, that the children of believing parents should be baptized.

XXXVI. We confess that the Lord's Supper, which is the second sacrament, is a witness of the union which we have with Christ, inasmuch as he not only died and rose again for us once, but also feeds and nourishes us truly with his flesh and blood, so that we may be one in him, and that our life may be in common. Although he be in heaven until he come to judge all the earth, still we believe that by the secret and incomprehensible power of his Spirit he feeds and strengthens us with the substance of his body and of his blood. We hold that this is done spiritually, not because we put imagination and fancy in the place of fact and truth, but because the greatness of this mystery exceeds the measure of our senses and the laws of nature. In short, because it is heavenly, it can only be apprehended by faith.

XXXVII. We believe, as has been said, that in the Lord's Supper, as well as in baptism, God gives us really and in fact that which he there sets forth to us; avec les signes la vraie possession et jouissance de ce qui nous est là présenté. Et ainsi, tous ceux qui apportent à la table sacrée de Christ une pure foi, comme un vaisseau, reçoivent vraiment ce que les signes y testifient ; c'est que le corps et le sang de Jésus-Christ ne servent pas moins de manger et de boire à l'âme, que le pain et le vin font au corps.¹

XXXVIII. Ainsi nous tenons que l'eau étant un élément caduc, ne laisse pas de nous testifier en vérité le lavement intérieur de notre âme au sang de Jésus-Christ, par l'efficace de son Esprit,² et que le pain et le vin nous étant donnés en la cène, nous servent vraiment de nourriture spirituelle, d'autant qu'ils nous montrent comme à l'œil la chair de Jésus-Christ nous être notre viande, et son sang notre breuvage.³ Et rejetons les Fantastiques et Sacrementaires, qui ne veulent recevoir tels signes et marques, vu que notre Seigneur Jésus prononce : Ceci est mon corps, et cette coupe est mon sang.⁴

XXXIX. Nous croyons que Dieu veut que le monde soit gouverné par lois et police,⁵ afin qu'il y ait quelque bride pour réprimer les appétits désordonnés du monde. Et and that consequently with these signs is given the true possession and enjoyment of that which they present to us. And thus all who bring a pure faith, like a vessel, to the sacred table of Christ, receive truly that of which it is a sign ; for the body and the blood of Jesus Christ give food and drink to the soul, no less than bread and wine nourish the body.

XXXVIII. Thus we hold that water, being a feeble element, still testifies to us in truth the inward cleansing of our souls in the blood of Jesus Christ by the efficacy of his Spirit, and that the bread and wine given to us in the sacrament serve to our spiritual nourishment, inasmuch as they show, as to our sight, that the body of Christ is our meat, and his blood our drink. And we reject the Enthusiasts and Sacramentarians who will not receive such signs and marks, although our Saviour said : 'This is my body, and this cup is my blood.'

XXXIX. We believe that God wishes to have the world governed by laws and magistrates, so that some restraint may be put upon its disordered appetites.

ainsi qu'il a établi les royaumes, républiques et toutes autres sortes de principautés, soit héréditaires ou autrement, et tout ce qui appartient à l'Etat de justice, et en veut être reconnu auteur : à cette cause il a mis le glaive en la main des magistrats pour réprimer les péchés commis non-seulement contre la seconde table des commandements de Dieu, mais aussi contre la première. Il faut donc, à cause de lui, que non-seulement on endure que les supérieurs dominent,¹ mais aussi qu'on les honore et prenne en toute révérence, les tenant pour ses lieutenants et officiers, lesquels il a commis pour exercer une charge légitime et sainte.

XL. Nous tenons donc qu'il faut obéir à leurs lois et statuts,² payer tributs, impôts et autres devoirs, et porter le joug de subjection d'une bonne et franche volonté, encore qu'ils fussent infidèles, moyennant que l'empire souverain de Dieu demeure en son entier.³ Ainsi nous détestons ceux qui voudraient rejeter les supériorités, mettre communauté et confusion de biens, et renverser l'ordre de la justice.

And as he has established kingdoms, republics, and all sorts of principalities, either hereditary or otherwise, and all that belongs to a just government, and wishes to be considered as their Author, so he has put the sword into the hands of magistrates to suppress crimes against the first as well as against the second table of the Commandments of God. We must therefore, on his account, not only submit to them as superiors, but honor and hold them in all reverence as his lieutenants and officers, whom he has commissioned to exercise a legitimate and holy authority.

XL. We hold, then, that we must obey their laws and statutes, pay customs, taxes, and other dues, and bear the yoke of subjection with a good and free will, even if they are unbelievers, provided that the sovereign empire of God remain intact. Therefore we detest all those who would like to reject authority, to establish community and confusion of property, and overthrow the order of justice.

CONFESSIO BELGICA.

THE BELGIC CONFESSION. A.D. 1561. REVISED 1619.

[The Belgic Confession, composed in French by GUY DE BRÈS (died a martyr, 1567) for the Churches in Flanders and the Netherlands, 1561, was adopted by a Reformed Synod at Emden, 1571, and by the National Synod of Dort, 1619, which subjected the text to a careful revision by a comparison of French, Dutch, and Latin copies.]

The French text is taken from the authentic MS. of 1580, with the revision of Dort, as reprinted by the Société évangélique Belge, at Brussels, 1850, under the title, La Confession de foi des églises réformées Wallonnes et Flamandes, including a table of various readings. The headings of articles are supplemented from the Latin editions.

The English text (made from the Latin) is the one authorized by the 'Reformed (Dutch) Church in America,' and printed in its Constitution, etc. (New York, 103 Fulton Street). An older English version in the English Harmony of Confessions, Cambridge, 1586, and a recent one by Owen Jones, in Church of the Living God, etc. London, 1865, pp. 203-237.

A Latin translation, probably made by Beza, or under his direction, appeared in the Harmonia Confessionum, Geneva, 1581, and in the first edition of the Corpus et Syntagma Confessionum, Geneva, 1612; another, by Festus Hommius, Leyden, 1618; this was revised by the Synod of Dort, reprinted (as revised) in the second edition of the Corp. et Syntag. (1654), and (in its original form), with various readings, in Niemeyer's Collectio (pp. 360-380). It is also given in the Oxford Sylloge Confessionum (pp. 327-354). The Latin texts in these editions differ considerably.

There are several Dutch and German editions, and a Greek version (Ἐκκλησιῶν τῆς Βελγικῆς ἐξουλόγησις), made by Jac. Revius (Lugd. Batav. 1635, and Amstelod. 1638). The Greek edition before me (Utrecht, 1660) gives the Greek and Latin in parallel columns, and contains also the Heidelberg Catechism in Latin, with the Greek version of Fred. Sylburg.]

DE COGNITIONE DEI.

Nous le connaissons par deux moyens. Premièrement : Par la création, conservation et gouvernement du monde universel,³ d'autant que c'est devant nos yeux comme un beau livre, auquel toutes créatures, petites et grandes, servent de lettres pour nous faire contempler les choses invisibles de Dieu, savoir sa puissance éternelle et sa divinité, comme dit l'Apôtre saint Paul (Rom. i. 20). Toutes lesquelles choses sont suffisantes pour convaincre les hommes, et les rendre inexcusables.

Secondement : Il se donne à connaître à nous plus manifestement et évidemment par sa sainte et divine Parole,⁴ tout autant pleinement qu'il nous est de besoin en cette vie pour sa gloire et le salut des siens.

ART. II.

BY WHAT MEANS GOD IS MADE KNOWN UNTO US.

We know him by two means: first, by the creation, preservation, and government of the universe; which is before our eyes as a most elegant book, wherein all creatures, great and small, are as so many characters leading us to contemplate the invisible things of God, namely, his eternal power and Godhead, as the Apostle Paul saith (Rom. i. 20). All which things are sufficient to convince men, and leave them without excuse.

Secondly, he makes himself more clearly and fully known to us by his holy and divine Word; that is to say, as far as is necessary for us to know in this life, to his glory and our salvation.

ni apportée par volonté humaine : mais les saints hommes de Dieu ont parlé étant poussés du Saint-Esprit, comme dit saint Pierre.¹ Puis après, par le soin singulier que notre Dieu a de nous et de notre salut, il a commandé à ses serviteurs les Prophètes² et Apôtres³ de rédiger ses oracles par écrit : et lui-même a écrit de son doigt les deux Tables de la Loi.⁴ Pour cette cause, nous appelons tels écrits : Écritures saintes et divines.

ART. IV.

DE CANONICIS LIBRIS VETERIS ET NOVI TESTAMENTI.

Nous comprenons l'Écriture Sainte aux deux volumes du Vieux et du Nouveau Testament, qui sont livres canoniques, auxquels il n'y a rien à répliquer. Le nombre en est tel en l'Église de Dieu.

Dans l'Ancien Testament : Les cinq livres de Moïse, le livre de Josué, des Juges, Ruth, les deux livres de Samuel, et deux des Rois, les deux livres des Chroniques dits Paralipomènes, le premier d'Ezdras, Néhémie, Ester, Job, les Psamnes de David, les trois livres de Salomon, savoir : les Proverbes, l'Écclésiaste, et le Cantique ; les quatre grands Prophètes : Isaïe, by the will of man, but that holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost, as the Apostle Peter saith. And that afterwards God, from a special care which he has for us and our salvation, commanded his servants, the Prophets and Apostles, to commit his revealed Word to writing; and he himself wrote with his own finger the two tables of the law. Therefore we call such writings holy and divine Scriptures.

ART. IV.

CANONICAL BOOKS OF THE HOLY SCRIPTURES.

We believe that the Holy Scriptures are contained in two books, namely, the Old and New Testaments, which are canonical, against which nothing can be alleged. These are thus named in the Church of God.

The books of the Old Testament are : the five books of Moses, viz., Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy ; the book of Joshua, Judges, Ruth, two books of Samuel, and two of the Kings, two books of the Chronicles, commonly called Paralipomenon, the first of Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther ; Job, the Psalms of David, the three books of Solomon, namely, the Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and the Song of Songs; the four great Prophets: Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel; and the twelve lesser Prophets, viz., Hosea, Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi.

Jérémie, Ezéchiel, et Daniel. Puis les autres douze petits Prophètes : Osée, Joël, Amos, Abdias, Jonas, Michée, Nahum, Habacuc, Sophonie, Aggée, Zacharie, Malachie.

Dans le Nouveau Testament : les quatre Évangélistes, saint Matthieu, saint Marc, saint Luc, saint Jean ; les Actes des Apôtres, les quatorze Épîtres de saint Paul : aux Romains, deux aux Corinthiens, aux Galates, Ephésiens, Philippiens, Colossiens, deux aux Thessaloniciens, deux à Timothée, à Tite, Philémon, aux Hébreux ; et les sept Épîtres des autres Apôtres, savoir une de saint Jacques, deux de saint Pierre, trois de saint Jean, et une de saint Jude ; enfin l'Apocalypse de saint Jean Apôtre.

Those of the New Testament are : the four Evangelists, viz., Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John ; the Acts of the Apostles ; the fourteen Epistles of the Apostle Paul, viz., one to the Romans, two to the Corinthians, one to the Galatians, one to the Ephesians, one to the Philippians, one to the Colossians, two to the Thessalonians, two to Timothy, one to Titus, one to Philemon, and one to the Hebrews ; the seven Epistles of the other Apostles, viz., one of James, two of Peter, three of John, one of Jude ; and the Revelation of the Apostle John.

ART. V.

DE AUCTORITATE SACRÆ SCRIPTURÆ.

Nous recevons tous ces livres-là seulement, pour saints et canoniques, pour régler, fonder et établir notre foi, et croyons pleinement toutes les choses qui y sont contenues, non pas tant parce que l'Eglise les reçoit et approuve tels, mais principalement parce que le Saint-Esprit nous rend témoign-

ART. V.

WHENCE DO THE HOLY SCRIPTURES DERIVE THEIR DIGNITY AND AUTHORITY.

We receive all these books, and these only, as holy and canonical, for the regulation, foundation, and confirmation of our faith ; believing, without any doubt, all things contained in them, not so much because the Church receives and approves them as such, but more especially because the Holy Ghost age en notre cœur, qu'ils sont de Dieu, et aussi qu'ils sont approuvés tels par eux-mêmes; car les aveugles mêmes peuvent apercevoir que les choses adviennent qui y sont prédites.

ART. VI.

DE DISCRIMINE LIBRORUM CANONICORUM ET APOCRYPHORUM.

Nous mettons différence entre ces saints livres et les livres apocryphes, qui sont le troisième et quatrième livre d'Esdras, le livre de Tobie, Judith, Sapience, Ecclésiastique, Baruc, ce qui a été ajouté à l'histoire d'Ester, le cantique des trois Enfants en la fournaise, l'histoire de Susanne, l'histoire de l'idole Bel et du Dragon, l'Oraison de Manassé, et les deux livres des Macabées, lesquels l'Église peut bien lire et y prendre instruction dans les choses conformes aux livres canoniques; mais ils n'ont point telle force et vertu que par un témoignage qui en est tiré, on puisse arrêter quelque chose de la foi ou religion chrétienne, tant s'en faut qu'ils puissent ramoindrir l'autorité des autres saints livres.

ART. VII.

DE PERFECTIONE SACRÆ SCRIPTURE.

Nous croyons que cette Écriture Sainte contient parfaitement la volonté divine, et que tout ce que witnesseth in our hearts that they are from God, whereof they carry the evidence in themselves. For the very blind are able to perceive that the things foretold in them are fulfilling.

ART. VI.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE CANONICAL AND APOCRYPHAL BOOKS.

We distinguish these sacred books from the apocryphal, viz., the third and fourth book of Esdras, the books of Tobias, Judith, Wisdom, Jesus Syrach, Baruch, the appendix to the book of Esther, the Song of the Three Children in the Furnace, the History of Susannah, of Bell and the Dragon, the Prayer of Manasses, and the two books of Maccabees. All which the Church may read and take instruction from, so far as they agree with the canonical books; but they are far from having such power and efficacy as that we may from their testimony confirm any point of faith or of the Christian religion; much less to detract from the authority of the other sacred books.

ART. VII.

THE SUFFICIENCY OF THE HOLY SCRIPTURES TO BE THE ONLY RULE OF FAITH.

We believe that these Holy Scriptures fully contain the will of God, and that whatsoever man ought to l'homme doit croire pour être sauvé, y est suffisamment enseigné.¹ Car puisque toute la manière du service que Dieu requiert de nous y est très au long décrite, les hommes, même fussent-ils Apôtres, ne doivent enseigner autrement² que ce qui nous a été enseigné par les Saintes Écritures, encore même que ce fût un ange du Ciel, comme dit saint Paul :³ car puisqu'il est défendu d'ajouter ni diminuer à la Parole de Dieu,⁴ cela démontre bien que la doctrine est très-parfaite et accomplie en toutes sortes. Aussi ne faut-il pas comparer les écrits des hommes, quelque saints qu'ils aient été, aux écrits divins,⁵ ni la coutume à la vérité de Dieu⁶ (car la vérité est par-dessus tout), ni le grand nombre, ni l'ancienneté, ni la succession des temps ni des personnes, ni les conciles, décrets, ou arrêts : car tous hommes d'eux-mêmes sont menteurs,⁷ et plus vains que la vanité même. C'est pourquoi nous rejetons de tout notre cœur tout ce qui ne s'accorde whole manner of worship which God requires of us is written in them at large, it is unlawful for any one, though an Apostle, to teach otherwise than we are now taugt it were an angel from heaven, as the Apostle Paul saith. For since it is forbidden to add unto or take away any thing from the Word appear that the doctrine thereof is most perfect and complete in all respects. Neither may we com-of God, for the truth is above all:

for all men are of themselves liars, à cette règle infaillible,¹ comme nous sommes enseignés de faire par les Apôtres, disant : Éprouvez les esprits s'ils sont de Dieu,² et : Si quelqu'un vient à vous et n'apporte point cette doctrine, ne le recevez point en votre maison.³

ART. VIII.

DE SACROSANCTA TRINITATE PERSONARUM IN UNICA ESSENTIA DIVINA.

Suivant cette vérité et Parole de Dieu, nous croyons en un seul Dieu qui est une seule essence,⁴ en laquelle il y a trois personnes⁵ réellement, et à la vérité, et éternellement distinguées selon leurs propriétés incommunicables, savoir : le Père, le Fils, et le Saint-Esprit ;⁶ le Père étant cause, origine et commencement de toutes choses, tant visibles qu'invisibles.⁷ Le Fils qui est la Parole,⁸ la Sagesse,⁹ et l'Image du Père.¹⁰ Le Saint-Esprit, la Vertu et Puissance éternelle¹¹ procédante du Père et du Fils.¹² Et cependant une telle distinction ne fait pas que Dieu soit divisé en trois, puisque l'Écriture nous enseigne que le Père, le Fils, et le Saint-Esprit ont chacun sa personne

Apostles have taught us, saying, Try the spirits whether they are of God ; likewise, If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house.

ART. VIII.

GOD IS ONE IN ESSENCE, YET DISTINGUISHED IN THREE PERSONS.

According to this truth and this Word of God, we believe in one only God, who is one single essence, in which are three persons, really, truly, and eternally distinct, according to their incommunicable properties ; namely, the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghost. The Father is the cause, origin, and beginning of all things, visible and invisible ; the Son is the Word, Wisdom, and Image of the Father ; the Holy Ghost is the eternal Power and Might, proceeding from the Father and the Son. Nevertheless God is not by this distinction divided into three, since the Holy Scriptures teach us that the Father, and the Son, and the Holy Ghost have each his personality, distinguished by their properties ;

distincte par des propriétés ; de sorte, toutefois, que ces trois personnes ne sont qu'un seul Dieu. Il est donc manifeste que le Père n'est point le Fils, et que le Fils n'est point le Père : semblablement que le Saint-Esprit n'est pas le Père ni le Fils. Cependant ces personnes ainsi distinctes ne sont pas divisées, ni confondues, ni mêlées : car le Père n'a point pris chair ni aussi le Saint-Esprit, mais c'a été seulement le Fils.¹ Le Père n'a jamais été sans son Fils ni sans son Saint-Esprit, parce que tous trois sont d'éternité égale, en une même essence. Il n'y a point de premier ni de dernier, car tous trois sont un en vérité et puissance, en bonté et miséricorde.

ART. IX.

DE SACROSANCTA TRINITATE SCRIPTURÆ TESTIMONIA.

Nous connaissons toutes ces choses tant par les témoignages de la Sainte Écriture, que par les effets, et principalement par ceux-là que nous sentons en nous. Les témoignages des Écritures Saintes qui nous enseignent de croire cette sainte Trinité sont écrits en plusieurs lieux de l'Ancien Testament, qui n'ont point besoin de dénombrément, mais de choix et de but in such wise that these three persons are but one only God. Hence, then, it is evident that the Father is not the Son, nor the Son the Father, and likewise the Holy Ghost is neither the Father nor the Son. Nevertheless these persons thus distinguished are not divided nor intermixed ; for the Father hath not assumed the flesh, nor hath the Holy Ghost, but the Son only. The Father hath never been without his Son, or without his Holy Ghost. For they are all three co-eternal and co-essential. There is neither first nor last ; for they are all three one, in truth, in power, in goodness, and in mercy.

ART. IX.

THE PROOF OF THE FOREGOING ARTICLE OF THE TRINITY OF PERSONS IN ONE GOD.

All this we know, as well from the testimonies of Holy Writ as from their operations, and chiefly by those we feel in ourselves. The testimonies of the Holy Scriptures, that teach us to believe this Holy Trinity, are written in many places of the Old Testament, which are not so necessary to enumerate as to choose them out with discretion and judgment. In Genesis i. 26, 27, discretion. Au livre de la Genèse Dieu dit : Faisons l'homme à notre image, et selon notre semblance, etc.¹ Dieu donc crét l'homme à son image : il les crée, dis-je, mâle et femelle. Voici Adam est fait comme l'un de nous.² Il appartient par cela, qu'il y a pluralité de personnes en la Divinité, quand il dit : Faisons l'homme à notre image ; et puis il montre l'unité quand il dit : Dieu crée, etc. Il est vrai qu'il ne dit point là combien il y a de personnes ; mais ce qui nous est obscur en l'Ancien Testament nous est très-clair au Nouveau.

¹ Phil. ii. 6, 7 ; Gal. iv. 4 ; Jean i. 14.

Car quand notre Seigneur fût baptisé au Jourdain,³ la voix du Père a été entendue, disant : Celui-ci est mon Fils bien-aimé ; le Fils est vu en l'eau, et le Saint-Esprit apparaît en forme de colombe. De même au baptême de tous fidèles cette façon a été ordonnée de Christ : Baptisez toutes les nations au nom du Père et du Fils et du Saint-Esprit.⁴ En l'Évangile selon Saint Luc, l'ange Gabriel parle ainsi à Marie, mère de notre Seigneur : Le Saint-Esprit surviendra en toi et la vertu du Souverain te couvrira de son ombre, c'est pourquoi ce qui naîtra de toi

God saith : Let us make man in our image, after our likeness, etc. So God created man in his own image, male and female created he them. And Gen. iii. 22 : Behold, the man has become as one of us. From this saying, Let us make man in our image, it appears that there are more persons than one in the Godhead ; and when he saith God created, this signifies the unity. It is true he doth not say how many persons there are, but that which appears to us somewhat obscure in the Old Testament is very plain in the New.

For when our Lord was baptized in Jordan, the voice of the Father was heard, saying, This is my beloved Son : the Son was seen in the water ; and the Holy Ghost appeared in the shape of a dove. This form is also instituted by Christ in the baptism of all believers. Baptize all nations, in the name of the Father and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. In the Gospel of Luke the angel Gabriel thus addressed Mary, the mother of our Lord : The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee, therefore also saint, sera appelé le Fils de Dieu.¹ Et ailleurs il est dit : La grâce de notre Seigneur Jésus-Christ, et la charité de Dieu, et la communication du Saint-Esprit soient avec vous.² Il y en a trois qui donnent témoignage au Ciel, le Père, la Parole, et le Saint-Esprit et ces trois sont un.³ Dans tous ces passages nous sommes à plein enseignés des trois personnes en une seule essence divine. Et quoique cette doctrine surpassé l'entendement humain, cependant nous la croyons maintenant par la Parole, attendant d'en avoir pleine connaissance et jouissance au ciel.⁴

Or il faut aussi noter les offices et effets particuliers des trois personnes envers nous. Le Père est appelé notre Créateur par sa vertu.⁵ Le Fils est notre Sauveur et Rédempteur par son sang.⁶ Le Saint-Esprit est notre sanctificateur par sa demeurance en nos cœurs.⁷

Cette doctrine de la sainte Trinité a toujours été maintenue en la vraie Église, depuis le temps des Apôtres jusqu'à présent, contre les Juifs, les Mahométans, et conthat holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God. Likewise, The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost be with you. And There are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost, and these three are one. In all which places we are fully taught that there are three persons in one only divine essence. And although this doctrine far surpasses all human understanding, nevertheless we now believe it by means of the Word of God, but expect hereafter to enjoy the perfect knowledge and benefit thereof in heaven.

Moreover we must observe the particular offices and operations of these three persons towards us. The Father is called our Creator by his power; the Son is our Saviour and Redeemer by his blood; the Holy Ghost is our Sanctifier by his dwelling in our hearts.

This doctrine of the Holy Trinity hath always been defended and maintained by the true Church, since the times of the Apostles to this very day, against the Jews,

DE ETERNA DEITATE FILII DEI, DOMINI NOSTRI JESU CHRISTI.

Nous croyons que Jésus-Christ, quant à sa nature divine, est Fils unique de Dieu,¹ éternellement engendré,² n'étant ni fait ni créé (car il serait créature), d'une essence avec le Père,³ coéternel,⁴ la marque engravée de la personne du Père, et la splendeur de sa gloire,⁵ étant en tout semblable à Lui;⁶ lequel est Fils de Dieu non point seulement depuis qu'il a pris notre nature, mais de toute éternité;⁷ comme ces témoignages nous enseignent, étant rapportés l'un à l'autre. Moïse dit que Dieu a créé le monde;⁸ Saint-Jean dit que toutes choses

ART. X.

JESUS CHRIST IS TRUE AND ETERNAL GOD.

We believe that Jesus Christ, according to his divine nature, is the only begotten Son of God, begotten from eternity, not made nor created (for then he would be a creature), but co-essential and co-eternal with the Father, the express image of his person, and the brightness of his glory, equal unto him in all things. Who is the Son of God, not only from the time that he assumed our nature, but from all eternity, as these testimonies, when compared together, teach us. Moses saith that God created the world; and John saith that all ont été créées par la Parole, laquelle il appelle Dieu.¹ L'Apôtre dit que Dieu a fait les siècles par son Fils.² Saint-Paul dit encore que Dieu a créé toutes choses par Jésus-Christ.³ Il faut donc que celui qui est nommé Dieu, Parole, Fils, et Jésus-Christ, ait déjà été lorsque toutes choses ont été créées par lui.⁴ C'est pourquoi le prophète Michée dit : Son issue est dès les jours d'éternité.⁵ Et l'Apôtre : Il est sans commencement de jours, sans fin de vie.⁶ Il est donc le vrai Dieu éternel, le Tout-Puissant, lequel nous invoquons, adorons et servons.

things were made by that Word, which he calleth God ; and the Apostle saith that God made the worlds by his Son ; likewise, that God created all things by Jesus Christ. Therefore it must needs follow that he—who is called God, the Word, the Son, and Jesus Christ—did exist at that time when all things were created by him. Therefore the Prophet Micah saith : His goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting. And the Apostle : He hath neither beginning of days nor end of life. He therefore is that true, eternal, and almighty God, whom we invoke, worship, and serve.

DE PERSONA ET AETERNA DEITATE SPIRITUS SANCTI.

DE CREATIONE MUNDI, ET DE ANGELIS.

Nous croyons que le Père a créé de rien le ciel et la terre, et toutes créatures, quand bon lui a semblé, par sa Parole, c'est-à-dire par son Fils,² donnant à chaque créature leur être, forme et figures, et divers offices pour servir à leur Créateur: et que maintenant même il les soutient et gouverne toutes selon sa providence éternelle et par sa vertu infinie,³ pour servir à l'homme,⁴ afin que l'homme serve à son Dieu.⁵ Il a aussi créé les anges bons⁶ pour être ses messagers⁷ et pour servir à ses élus:⁸ desquels les uns sont trébuchés de l'excellence en laquelle Dieu les avait créés, en perdition éternelle;⁹ et les autres ont persisté et demeuré en leur premier état, par la grâce de Dieu.¹⁰ Les diables et esprits malins sont tellement corrompus, qu'ils sont ennemis de Dieu et de tout bien, épiant l'Église comme brigands, de tout leur pouvoir,¹¹

ART. XII.

OF THE CREATION.

We believe that the Father, by the Word—that is, by his Son—created of nothing the heaven, the earth, and all creatures, as it seemed good unto him, giving unto every creature its being, shape, form, and several offices to serve its Creator; that he doth also still uphold and govern them by his eternal providence and infinite power for the service of mankind, to the end that man may serve his God. He also created the angels good, to be his messengers and to serve his elect: some of whom are fallen from that excellency, in which God created them, into everlasting perdition; and the others have, by the grace of God, remained steadfast, and continued in their primitive state. The devils and evil spirits are so depraved that they are enemies of God and every good thing to the utmost of their power, as murderers watching to ruin the Church

This doctrine affords us unspeakable consolation, since we are taught thereby that nothing can befall us by chance, but by the direction of our most gracious and heavenly Father, who watches over us with a paternal care, keeping all creatures so under his power that not a hair of our head (for they are all numbered), nor a sparrow, can fall to the ground, without the will of our Father, in whom we do entirely trust; being persuaded that he so restrains the devil and all our enemies that, without his will and permission, they can not hurt us.

qu'il avait reçu,⁵ et s'est retranché de Dieu, qui était sa vraie vie, par son péché,⁶ ayant corrompu toute sa nature,⁷ par où il s'est rendu who say that God regards nothing,

OF THE CREATION AND FALL OF MAN, AND HIS INCAPACITY TO PERFORM WHAT IS TRULY GOOD.

We believe that God created man out of the dust of the earth, and made and formed him after his own image and likeness, good, righteous, and holy, capable in all things to will agreeably to the will of God. But being in honor, he understood it not, neither knew his excellency, but willfully subjected himself to sin, and consequently to death and the curse, giving ear to the words of the devil. For the commandment of life, which he had received, he transgressed; and by sin separated himself from God, who was his true life, having corrupted his whole nature, whereby he made himself liable to corporal and spiritual death. And being thus become wicked, perverse, and corrupt in all his ways, he hath lost all his excellent gifts which he had received from God, and et il ne lui en est demeuré de reste que de petites traces,¹ qui sont suffisantes pour rendre l'homme inexcusable,² d'autant que tout ce qui est de lumière en nous est converti en ténèbres,³ comme l'Écriture nous enseigne, disant : La lumière luit dans les ténèbres et les ténèbres ne l'ont point comprise,⁴ où saint Jean appelle les hommes ténèbres.

Par quoi nous rejetons tout ce qu'on enseigne du franc arbitre de l'homme, parce qu'il n'est que serf de péché,⁵ et ne peut aucune chose, s'il ne lui est donné du Ciel ;⁶ car qui est-ce qui se vantera de pouvoir faire quelque bien, comme de soi-même, puisque Christ dit : Nul ne peut venir à moi si mon Père qui m'a envoyé, ne l'attire ?⁷ Qui alléguera sa volonté, entendant que l'affection de la chair est inimitié contre Dieu ?⁸ Qui parlera de sa connaissance, voyant que l'homme sensuel ne comprend point les choses qui sont de l'Esprit de Dieu ?⁹ Bref, qui mettra en avant une seule pensée ? vu qu'il entend que nous ne sommes pas capables de penser quelque chose comme de

Therefore we reject all that is taught repugnant to this concerning the free will of man, since man is but a slave to sin; and has nothing of himself unless it is given him from heaven. For who may presume to boast that he of himself can do any good, since Christ saith, No man can come to me, except the Father which hath sent me draw him ? Who will glory in his own will, who understands that to be carnally minded is enmity against God ? Who can speak of his knowledge, since the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God ? DE PECCATO ORIGINALI.

Nous croyons que par la désobéissance d'Adam, le péché original a été répandu par tout le genre humain ;⁴ lequel péché est une corruption de toute la nature, et un vice héréditaire, duquel même sont entachés les petits enfants au ventre de leur mère :⁵ et qui produit en l'homme toute sorte de péché, y servant de racine,⁶ dont il est tant vilain et énorme devant Dieu qu'il est suffisant pour condamner le genre humain,⁷ et n'est pas aboli même par le baptême, ou déraciné du tout, vu que toujours les bouillons en sortent comme d'une malheureuse source ; quoique toutefois il ne soit point imputé à condam-sufficiency is of God? And therefore what the Apostle saith ought justly to be held sure and firm, that God worketh in us both to will and to do of his good pleasure. For there is no will nor understanding, conformable to the divine will and understanding, but what Christ hath wrought in man : which he teaches us when he saith, Without me ye can do nothing.

ART. XV.

OF ORIGINAL SIN.

We believe that, through the disobedience of Adam, original sin is extended to all mankind ; which is a corruption of the whole nature, and an hereditary disease, wherewith infants themselves are infected even in their mother's womb, and which produceth in man all sorts of sin, being in him as a root thereof ; and therefore is so vile and abominable in the sight of God that it is sufficient to condemn all mankind. Nor is it by any means abolished or done away by baptism ; since sin always issues forth from this woful source, as water from a fountain : notwithstanding it is not imputed to the children of God unto condemnation, but by his grace and mercy is forgiven them. Not that they should rest securely in sin, but that a sense of this corruption should make believers often to sigh, desiring to be delivered from this body of death. Wherefore we reject the error of the Pelagians, who assert that sin proceeds only from imitation.

ART. XVI.

DE PRÆDESTINATIONE DIVINA.

Nous croyons que toute la race d'Adam étant ainsi précipitée en perdition et ruine par la faute du premier homme, Dieu s'est démontré tel qu'il est, savoir miséricordieux et juste :² miséricordieux, en retirant et sauvant de cette perdition ceux qu'en son conseil éternel et immuable il a élus et choisis par sa pure bonté en Jésus-Christ notre Seigneur, sans aucun égard de leurs œuvres ;³ juste, en laissant les autres en leur ruine et trébuchement où ils se sont précipités.⁴

ART. XVI.

OF ETERNAL ELECTION.

We believe that all the posterity of Adam, being thus fallen into perdition and ruin by the sin of our first parents, God then did manifest himself such as he is; that is to say, MERCIFUL AND JUST: MERCIFUL, since he delivers and preserves from this perdition all whom he, in his eternal and unchangeable council, of mere goodness hath elected in Christ Jesus our Lord, without any respect to their works: JUST, in leaving others in the fall and perdition wherein they have involved themselves.

DE REPARATIONE GENERIS HUMANI PER FILIUM DEI.

Nous croyons que notre bon Dieu par sa merveilleuse sagesse et bonté, voyant que l'homme s'était ainsi précipité en la mort, tant corporelle que spirituelle, et rendu entièrement malheureux, s'est lui-même mis à le chercher, lorsque l'homme s'enfuyait de lui tout tremblant,¹ et l'a consolé, lui faisant promesse de lui donner son Fils, fait de femme, pour briser la tête du serpent, et le faire heureux.²

ART. XVIII.

DE INCARNATIONE FILII DEI.

Nous confessons donc que Dieu a accompli la promesse qu'il avait faite aux anciens Pères, par la bouche de ses saints Prophètes,³ en envoyant son propre Fils unique et éternel au monde, au temps ordonné par lui; lequel a pris la forme de serviteur, fait à la ressemblance des hommes,⁴ prenant vraiment à soi une vraie nature humaine, avec toutes ses infirmités (excepté le péché),⁵ étant conçu dans

ART. XVII.

OF THE RECOVERY OF FALLEN MAN.

We believe that our most gracious God, in his admirable wisdom and goodness, seeing that man had thus thrown himself into temporal and spiritual death, and made himself wholly miserable, was pleased to seek and comfort him when he trembling fled from his presence, promising him that he would give his Son, who should be made of a woman, to bruise the head of the serpent, and would make him happy.

ART. XVIII.

OF THE INCARNATION OF JESUS CHRIST.

We confess, therefore, that God did fulfill the promise which he made to the fathers by the mouth of his holy prophets when he sent into the world, at the time appointed by him, his own only-begotten and eternal Son, who took upon him the form of a servant, and became like unto men, really assuming the true human nature, with all its infirmities, sin excepted, being conceived in the womb le sein de la bienheureuse vierge Marie, par la vertu du Saint-Esprit sans œuvre d'homme ;¹ et non seulement il a pris la nature humaine quant au corps, mais aussi une vraie âme humaine,² afin qu'il fût vrai homme : car puisque l'âme était aussi bien perdue que le corps il fallait qu'il prît à soi tous les deux pour les sauver ensemble. C'est pourquoi nous confessons—contre l'hérésie des Anabaptistes, niant que Christ a pris chair humaine de sa mère—que Christ a participé à la même chair et sang des enfunts,³ qu'il est fruit des reins de David selon la chair;⁴ fait de la semence de David selon la chair;⁵ fruit du ventre de la vierge Marie;⁶ fait de femme;⁷ germe de David;⁸ rejeton de la racine de Jessé;⁹ sorti de Judu;¹⁰ descendu des Juifs selon la chair;¹¹ de la semence d'Abraham, puis qu'il a pris la semence d'Abraham,¹² et a été fait semblable à ses frères, excepté le péché;¹³ de sorte qu'il est par ce moyen vraiment notre Emmanuel, c'est-à-dire Dieu avec nous.¹⁴ of the blessed Virgin Mary, by the power of the Holy Ghost, without the means of man; and did not only assume human nature as to the body, but also a true human soul, that he might be a real man. For since the soul was lost as well as the body, it was necessary that he should take both upon him, to save both. Therefore we confess (in opposition to the heresy of the Anabaptists, who deny that Christ assumed human flesh of his mother) that Christ is become a partaker of the flesh and blood of the children; that he is a fruit of the loins of David after the flesh; made of the seed of David according to the flesh; a fruit of the womb of the Virgin Mary; made of a woman; a branch of David; a shoot of the root of Jesse; sprung from the tribe of Judah; descended from the Jews according to the flesh: of the seed of Abraham, since he took upon him the seed of Abraham, and became like unto his brethren in all things, sin excepted; so that in truth he is our IMMANUEL, that is to say, God with us.

ART. XIX.

DE UNIONE HYPOSTATICA, SEU PERSONALI, DUARUM NATURARUM IN CHRISTO.

Nous croyons que par cette conception la personne du Fils a été unie et conjointe inseparablement avec la nature humaine, de sorte qu'il n'y a point deux Fils de Dieu ni deux personnes, mais deux natures unies en une seule personne, chaque nature retenant ses propriétés distinctes. Ainsi que la nature divine est toujours demeurée incréeée, sans commencement de jours ni fin de vie,¹ remplissant le ciel et la terre : la nature humaine n'a pas perdu ses propriétés, mais est demeurée créature, ayant commencement de jours, étant d'une nature finie et retenant tout ce qui convient à un vrai corps.² Et encore que par sa résurrection il lui ait donné immortalité, néanmoins il n'a pas changé la vérité de sa nature humaine ; attendu que notre salut et résurrection dépendent aussi de la vérité de son corps. Mais ces deux natures sont tellement unies ensemble en une personne, qu'elles n'ont pas même été séparées par sa mort. Ce qu'il a donc en mourant recommandé à son Père c'était un

ART. XIX.

OF THE UNION AND DISTINCTION OF THE TWO NATURES IN THE PERSON OF CHRIST.

We believe that by this conception the person of the Son is inseparably united and connected with the human nature; so that there are not two Sons of God, nor two persons, but two natures united in one single person; yet each nature retains its own distinct properties. As then the divine nature hath always remained uncreated, without beginning of days or end of life, filling heaven and earth, so also hath the human nature not lost its properties, but remained a creature, having beginning of days, being a finite nature, and retaining all the properties of a real body. And though he hath by his resurrection given immortality to the same, nevertheless he hath not changed the reality of his human nature; forasmuch as our salvation and resurrection also depend on the reality of his body. But these two natures are so closely united in one person, that they were not separated even by his death. Therefore that which he, when dying, commended into the hands of his Father, was a real human spirit, vrai esprit humain, lequel sortit de son corps,¹ mais cependant la nature divine demeura toujours unie à l'humaine, même étant gisante au tombeau; et la divinité ne laissait d'être en lui, comme elle était en lui quand il était petit enfant, quoique pour un peu de temps elle ne se démontrât pas ainsi.

Voilà pourquoi nous le confessons être vrai Dieu et vrai homme: vrai Dieu pour vaincre la mort par sa puissance, et vrai homme, afin qu'il pût mourir pour nous selon l'infirmité de sa chair.

ART. XX.

DE MODO REDEMPTIONIS, PER DECLARATIONEM JUSTITIE ET MISERICORDIE DEI IN CHRISTO.

Nous croyons que Dieu étant très-parfairement miséricordieux et aussi très-juste, a envoyé son Fils prendre la nature en laquelle la désobéissance avait été commise, pour porter, en elle, la punition du péché par sa très-rigoureuse mort et passion.² Dieu donc a déclaré sa justice envers son Fils, chargé de nos péchés,³ et a répandu sa bonté et miséricorde sur nous, coupables et dignes de damnation, nous donnant son Fils à la mort, departing from his body. But in the mean time the divine nature always remained united with the human, even when he lay in the grave; and the Godhead did not cease to be in him, any more than it did when he was an infant, though it did not so clearly manifest itself for a while.

Wherefore we confess that he is VERY GOD AND VERY MAN: very God by his power to conquer death, and very man that he might die for us according to the infirmity of his flesh.

ART. XX.

GOD HATH MANIFESTED HIS JUSTICE AND MERCY IN CHRIST.

We believe that God, who is perfectly merciful and also perfectly just, sent his Son to assume that nature in which the disobedience was committed, to make satisfaction in the same, and to bear the punishment of sin by his most bitter passion and death. God therefore manifested his justice against his Son when he laid our iniquities upon him, and poured forth his mercy and goodness on us, who were guilty and worthy of dam-par un très-parfait amour, et le ressuscitant pour notre justification;¹ afin que par lui nous eussions immortalité et vie éternelle.

ART. XXI.

DE SATISFACTIONE CHRISTI PRO PECCATIS
NOSTRIS.

Nous croyons que Jésus-Christ est grand Sacrificateur éternellement, avec serment, selon l'ordre de Melchisédec,² et s'est présenté en notre nom devant son Père, pour apaiser sa colère avec pleine satisfaction,³ en s'offrant lui-même sur l'autel de la croix, et répandant son précieux sang pour la purification de nos péchés, comme les Prophètes avaient prédit : car il est écrit que le châtiment qui nous procure la paix a été mis sur le Fils de Dieu, et que nous sommes guéris par ses plaies ; qu'il a été mené à la morte comme un agneau, mis au rang des pêcheurs ;⁴ condamné comme malefactor par Ponce Pilate, quoiqu'il le prononçât innocent.⁵ Il a donc payé ce qu'il n'avait point ravi,⁶ et a souffert, lui juste pour les injustes,⁷ même en son corps nation, out of mere and perfect love, giving his Son unto death for us, and raising him for our justification, that through him we might obtain immortality and life eternal.

ART. XXI.

OF THE SATISFACTION OF CHRIST, OUR ONLY HIGH-PRIEST, FOR US.

We believe that Jesus Christ is ordained with an oath to be an everlasting High-Priest, after the order of Melchisedec : who hath presented himself in our behalf before his Father, to appease his wrath by his full satisfaction, by offering himself on the tree of the cross, and pouring out his precious blood to purge away our sins ; as the prophets had foretold. For it is written, He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities : the chastisement of our peace was upon him, and with his stripes we are healed ; he was brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and numbered with the transgressors ; and condemned by Pontius Pilate as a malefactor, though he had first declared him innocent. Therefore, he restored that which he took not away, and et en son âme, de sorte que sentant l'horrible punition due à nos péchés, sa sueur devint comme grumeaux de sang dé coulant en terre.¹ Il a crié : Mon Dieu, mon Dieu, pourquoi m'as-tu délaissé?² et a enduré tout cela pour la rémission de nos péchés. C'est pourquoi, à bon droit, nous disons avec saint Paul, que nous ne connaissons autre chose sinon Jésus-Christ et Jésus-Christ crucifié;³ nous estimons toutes choses comme de l'ordure, en comparaison de l'excellence de la connaissance de notre Seigneur Jésus-Christ;⁴ nous trouvons toutes consolations en ses plaies, et n'avons besoin de chercher ni inventer d'autre moyen pour nous réconcilier avec Dieu, que ce seul et unique sacrifice une fois fait, lequel rend les fidèles parfaits à perpétuité;⁵ c'est aussi la cause pourquoi il a été appelé par l'ange de Dieu, Jésus, c'est-à-dire Sauveur, vu qu'il devait sauver son peuple de ses péchés.⁶

ART. XXII.

DE FIDE JUSTIFICANTE, ET DE JUSTIFICATIONE FIDEI.

Nous croyons que pour obtenir la vraie connaissance de ce grand mystère, le Saint-Esprit allume en suffered the just for the unjust, as well in his body as in his soul, feeling the terrible punishment which our sins had merited; insomuch that his sweat became like unto drops of blood falling on the ground. He called out, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me? And hath suffered all this for the remission of our sins. Wherefore we justly say with the Apostle Paul, that we know nothing but Jesus Christ, and him crucified; we count all things but loss and dung for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus our Lord: in whose wounds we find all manner of consolation. Neither is it necessary to seek or invent any other means of being reconciled to God, than this only sacrifice, once offered, by which believers are made perfect forever. This is also the reason why he was called by the angel of God, JESUS, that is to say, SAVIOUR, because he should save his people from their sins.

ART. XXII.

OF OUR JUSTIFICATION THROUGH FAITH IN JESUS CHRIST.

We believe that, to attain the true knowledge of this great mystery, the Holy Ghost kindleth in nos cœurs une vraie foi, laquelle embrasse Jésus-Christ avec tous ses mérites, et le fait sien,¹ et ne cherche plus rien hors de lui.² Car il faut nécessairement que ce qui est requis pour notre salut ne soit point tout en Jésus-Christ ; ou, si tout y est, que celui qui a Jésus-Christ par la foi, ait tout son salut.³ De dire donc que Christ ne suffit point, mais qu'il y faut quelque autre chose avec, c'est un blasphème trop énorme contre Dieu ; car il s'ensuivrait que Jésus-Christ ne serait que demi Sauveur. C'est pourquoi, à juste cause, nous disons avec saint Paul, que nous sommes justifiés par la seule foi, ou par la foi sans les œuvres.⁴ Cependant nous n'entendons pas à proprement parler, que ce soit la foi même qui nous justifie ; car elle n'est que l'instrument par lequel nous embrassons Christ notre justice : mais Jésus-Christ nous allouant tous ses mérites et tant de saintes œuvres qu'il a faites pour nous et en notre nom, est notre justice,⁵ et la foi est l'instrument qui nous tient avec lui en la com-our hearts an upright faith, which embraces Jesus Christ with all his merits, appropriates him, and seeks nothing more besides him. For it must needs follow, either that all things which are requisite to our salvation are not in Jesus Christ, or if all things are in him, that then those who possess Jesus Christ through faith have complete salvation in Him. Therefore, for any to assert that Christ is not sufficient, but that something more is required besides him, would be too gross a blasphemy ; for hence it would follow that Christ was but half a Saviour. Therefore we justly say with Paul, that we are justified by faith alone, or by faith without works. However, to speak more clearly, we do not mean that faith itself justifies us, for it is only an instrument with which we embrace Christ our Righteousness. But Jesus Christ, imputing to us all his merits, and so many holy works, which he hath done for us and in our stead, is our Righteousness. And faith is an instrument that keeps us in communion with him in all his benefits, which, when they

DE JUSTITIA NOSTRA QUA CORAM DEO CON-SISTIMUS.

Nous croyons que notre bénédiction gît en la rémission de nos péchés à cause de Jésus-Christ, et qu'en cela est contenue notre justice devant Dieu, comme David et saint Paul nous enseignent, déclarant la bénédiction de l'homme, à qui Dieu alloue justice sans œuvres.¹ Et le même Apôtre dit que nous sommes justifiés gratuitement ou par grâce, par la rédemption qui est en Jésus-Christ.² C'est pourquoi nous tenons ce fondement ferme à jamais, donnant toute gloire à Dieu,³ en nous humiliant et reconnaissant tels que nous sommes, sans rien prétendre de nous mêmes ni de nos mérites,⁴ et nous nous appuyons et reposons en la seule obéissance de Christ crucifié;⁵ laquelle est nôtre, quand nous croyons en lui.⁶ Elle est suffisante pour couvrir toutes nos iniquités, et nous become ours, are more than sufficient to acquit us of our sins.

ART. XXIII.

OUR JUSTIFICATION CONSISTS IN THE FOR-GIVENESS OF SIN AND THE IMPUTATION OF CHRIST'S RIGHTEOUSNESS.

We believe that our salvation consists in the remission of our sins for Jesus Christ's sake, and that therein our righteousness before God is implied; as David and Paul teach us, declaring this to be the happiness of man, that God imputes righteousness to him without works. And the same Apostle saith, that we are justified freely by his grace, through the redemption which is in Jesus Christ. And therefore we always hold fast this foundation, ascribing all the glory to God, humbling ourselves before him, and acknowledging ourselves to be such as we really are, without presuming to trust in any thing in ourselves, or in any merit of ours, relying and resting upon the obedience of Christ crucified alone, which becomes ours when we believe in him. This is sufficient to cover all our iniquities, rendre assurés, éloignant de notre conscience la crainte, l'horreur et l'épouvantement, pour nous approcher de Dieu¹ sans faire comme notre premier père Adam, lequel tremblant se voulait couvrir avec des feuilles de figuier.² Et de fait s'il nous fallait comparaître devant Dieu étant appuyés tant peu que ce soit sur nous, ou sur quelque autre créature, hélas! nous serions engloutis.³ C'est pourquoi chacun doit dire avec David : O Seigneur, n'entre point en jugement avec tes serviteurs, car devant toi homme qui vive ne sera justifié.⁴

ART. XXIV.

DE SANCTIFICATIONE, ET DE BONIS OPERIBUS.

Nous croyons que cette vraie foi étant engendrée en l'homme par l'ouïe de la Parole de Dieu et par l'opération du Saint-Esprit,⁵ le régénère, et le fait un nouvel homme, le faisant vivre d'une nouvelle vie,⁶ l'affranchissant de la servitude du péché.⁷ Ainsi tant s'en faut que cette foi justifiante refroidisse les hommes de vivre bien et saintement,⁸ que tout and to give us confidence in approaching to God; freeing the conscience of fear, terror, and dread, without following the example of our first father, Adam, who, trembling, attempted to cover himself with fig-leaves. And, verily, if we should appear before God, relying on ourselves or on any other creature, though ever so little, we should, alas! be consumed. And therefore every one must pray with David : O Lord, enter not into judgment with thy servant : for in thy sight shall no man living be justified.

ART. XXIV.

OF MAN'S SANCTIFICATION AND GOOD WORKS.

We believe that this true faith, being wrought in man by the hearing of the Word of God and the operation of the Holy Ghost, doth regenerate and make him a new man, causing him to live a new life, and freeing him from the bondage of sin. Therefore it is so far from being true, that this justifying faith makes men remiss in a pious and holy life, that on

au rebours, sans elle jamais ils ne feront rien pour l'amour de Dieu, mais seulement pour l'amour d'eux-mêmes et craignant d'être condamnés. Il est donc impossible que cette sainte foi soit oisive en l'homme, vu que nous ne parlons pas de la foi vaine,¹ mais de celle que l'Écriture appelle foi opérante par la charité,² laquelle induit l'homme à s'exercer dans les œuvres que Dieu a commandées par sa Parole; lesquelles œuvres procédant de la bonne racine de foi, sont bonnes et reçues devant Dieu, puisqu'elles sont toutes sanctifiées par sa grâce. Cependant elles ne viennent point en compte pour nous justifier:³ car c'est par la foi en Christ que nous sommes justifiés même avant de faire de bonnes œuvres;⁴ autrement elles ne pourraient être bonnes, non plus que le fruit d'un arbre ne peut être bon, que premièrement l'arbre ne soit bon.⁵

Nous faisons donc de bonnes œuvres, mais non point pour mériter (car que mériterais-nous?) mais plutôt nous sommes redévables à Dieu pour les bonnes œuvres que nous faisons, et non pas

the contrary without it they would never do any thing out of love to God, but only out of self-love or fear of damnation. Therefore it is impossible that this holy faith can be unfruitful in man: for we do not speak of a vain faith, but of such a faith as is called in Scripture a faith that worketh by love, which excites man to the practice of those works which God has commanded in his Word. Which works, as they proceed from the good root of faith, are good and acceptable in the sight of God, forasmuch as they are all sanctified by his grace: howbeit they are of no account towards our justification. For it is by faith in Christ that we are justified, even before we do good works, otherwise they could not be good works any more than the fruit of a tree can be good before the tree itself is good.

Therefore we do good works, but not to merit by them (for what can we merit?)—nay, we are beholden to God for the good works we do, and not he to us, since it is he that worketh in us both to will

Nous ne voulons pas cependant nier que Dieu ne rémunère les bonnes œuvres, mais c'est par sa grâce qu'il couronne ses dons.⁴ Au reste, quoique nous fussions de bonnes œuvres, nous n'y fondons point notre salut :⁵ car nous ne pouvons faire aucune œuvre qui ne soit souillée par notre chair, et aussi digne de punition,⁶ et quand nous en pourrions montrer une, la mémoire d'un seul péché suffit pour la rejeter devant Dieu : de cette manière nous serions toujours endouté et flottant ça et là sans aucune certitude ; et nos pauvres consciences seraient toujours tourmentées, si elles ne se reposaient sur le mérite de la mort et passion de notre Sauveur.⁷

Let us therefore attend to what is written : When ye shall have done all those things which are commanded you, say we are unprofitable servants : we have done that which was our duty to do.

In the mean time we do not deny that God rewards good works, but it is through his grace that he crowns his gifts. Moreover, though we do good works, we do not find our salvation upon them; for we can do no work but what is polluted by our flesh, and also punishable; and although we could perform such works, still the remembrance of one sin is sufficient to make God reject them. Thus, then, we should always be in doubt, tossed to and fro without any certainty, and our poor consciences would be continually vexed if they relied not on the merits of the suffering and death of our Saviour.

ART. XXVI.

DE INTERCESSIONE CHRISTI.

Nous croyons que nous n'avons d'accès vers Dieu, sinon par un seul Médiateur et Avocat Jésus-Christ, le juste,⁴ qui pour cette cause a été fait Homme, unissant ensemble la nature divine et humaine, afin que nous hommes ayons entrée vers la majesté divine: autrement nous n'y aurions point d'entrée. Mais ce Médiateur que le Père nous a donné entre lui et nous, ne nous doit pas épouvanter par sa grandeur, pour nous en faire chercher un autre à notre fantaisie:⁵ car il n'y a personne ni au ciel ni en terre entre les créatures, qui nous coming of Christ, and that all the shadows are accomplished; so that the use of them must be abolished among Christians: yet the truth and substance of them remain with us in Jesus Christ, in whom they have their completion. In the mean time we still use the testimonies taken out of the law and the prophets, to confirm us in the doctrine of the gospel, and to regulate our life in all honesty to the glory of God, according to his will.

ART. XXVI.

OF CHRIST'S INTERCESSION.

We believe that we have no access unto God save alone through the only Mediator and Advocate, Jesus Christ the righteous, who therefore became man, having united in one person the divine and human natures, that we men might have access to the divine Majesty, which access would otherwise be barred against us. But this Mediator, whom the Father hath appointed between him and us, ought in nowise to affright us by his majesty, or cause us to seek another according to our fancy. aime plus que Jésus-Christ,¹ lequel, bien qu'il fût en la forme de Dieu, s'est anéanti lui-même, prenant la forme d'homme et de serviteur pour nous,² et s'est fait en tout semblable à ses frères. Si donc il nous fallait trouver un autre intercesseur qui nous ait en affection, qui trouverions-nous qui nous aime plus que celui qui a mis sa vie pour nous, lors même que nous étions ses ennemis?³ Et s'il en faut trouver un qui ait crédit et puissance, qui est celui qui en a autant que celui qui est assis à la droite du Père, et qui a toute puissance au ciel et en la terre?⁴ Et qui sera plutôt exaucé que le propre Fils de Dieu bien aimé?

La seule défiance donc a amené cette coutume de déshonorer les saints au lieu de les honorer, faisant ce que jamais ils n'ont fait ni demandé; mais l'ont rejeté constamment, et selon leur devoir, comme il appert par leurs écrits.⁵ Il ne faut pas ici alléguer que nous ne sommes pas dignes: car il n'est point ici question de présenter nos prières sur notre dignité mais seulement sur l'ex-

Jesus Christ; who, though he was in the form of God, yet made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a man and of a servant for us, and was made like unto his brethren in all things. If, then, we should seek for another mediator, who would be well affected towards us, whom could we find who loved us more than he who laid down his life for us, even when we were his enemies? And if we seek for one who hath power and majesty, who is there that hath so much of both as he who sits at the right hand of his Father, and who hath all power in heaven and on earth? And who will sooner be heard than the own well-beloved Son of God?

Therefore it was only through diffidence that this practice of dishonoring instead of honoring the saints was introduced, doing that which they never have done nor required, but have, on the contrary, steadfastly rejected, according to their bounden duty, as appears by their writings. Neither must we plead here our unworthiness; for the meaning is not that we should offer our prayers to God on account cellence et la dignité de Jésus-Christ,¹ duquel la justice est notre par la foi.

C'est pourquoi, à bon droit, l'Apôtre nous voulant ôter cette folle crainte, ou plutôt défiance, nous dit que Jésus-Christ a été fait en tout semblable à ses frères, afin qu'il fût souverain sacrificeur, miséricordieux et fidèle pour purifier les péchés du peuple : car parce qu'il a souffert étant tenté, il est aussi puissant pour secourir ceux qui sont tentés.² Et puis après, afin de nous donner meilleur courage d'approcher près de lui, il dit : Nous donc ayant un souverain sacrificeur, Jésus Fils de Dieu, qui est entré aux cieux, tenons la confession : car nous n'avons point un souverain sacrificeur qui ne puisse avoir compassion de nos infirmités, mais qui a été tenté de même que nous en toutes choses excepté le péché ; allons donc avec confiance au trône de la grâce, afin que nous obtenions miséricorde, et trouvions grâce pour être aidés.³ Le même Apôtre dit que nous avons liberté d'entrer au lieu saint par le sang

Therefore the Apostle, to remove this foolish fear or, rather, distrust from us, justly saith that Jesus Christ was made like unto his brethren in all things, that he might be a merciful and faithful high-priest, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered, being tempted, he is able to succor them that are tempted. And further to encourage us, he adds : Seeing, then, that we have a great high-priest that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. For we have not a high-priest which can not be touched with the feeling of our infirmities ; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin. Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need. The same Apostle saith : Having boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith, etc. Likewise, Christ hath de Jésus : Allons donc, dit-il, en certitude de foi, etc.¹ Et encore : Christ a perpétuelle sacrifice ; c'est pourquoi il peut sauver en plein ceux qui s'approchent de Dieu par lui, toujours vivant pour intercéder pour eux.² Que faut-il davantage ? puisque Christ lui-même prononce : Je suis la voie, la vérité, la vie : nul ne peut venir à mon Père, sinon par moi.³ A quel propos chercherons-nous un autre avocat ?⁴ puisqu'il a plu à Dieu de nous donner son Fils pour être notre Avocat.⁵ Ne le laissons point là pour en prendre un autre, ou plutôt chercher sans jamais trouver : car quand Dieu nous l'a donné, il savait bien que nous étions pécheurs.

C'est pourquoi, suivant le commandement de Christ, nous invoquons le Père céleste par Christ notre seul Médiateur, comme nous sommes enseignés par l'Oraison Dominicale,⁶ étant assurés que tout ce que nous demanderons au Père en son nom, nous l'obtiendrons.⁷ an unchangeable priesthood, wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them. What more can be required ? since Christ himself saith : I am the way, and the truth, and the life ; no man cometh unto the Father but by me. To what purpose should we then seek another advocate, since it hath pleased God to give us his own Son as our Advocate ? Let us not forsake him to take another, or rather to seek after another, without ever being able to find him ; for God well knew, when he gave him to us, that we were sinners.

Therefore, according to the command of Christ, we call upon the heavenly Father through Jesus Christ, our only Mediator, as we are taught in the Lord's Prayer; being assured that whatever we ask of the Father in his name will be granted us.

OF THE CATHOLIC CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

We believe and profess one catholic or universal Church, which is selle,¹ laquelle est une sainte congrégation et assemblée des vrais fidèles Chrétiens, attendant tout leur salut en Jésus-Christ, étant lavés par son sang, et sanctifiés et scellés par le Saint-Esprit.

Cette Église a été dès le commencement du monde, et sera ainsi jusqu'à la fin,² comme il appert en ce que Christ est Roi éternel, qui ne peut être sans sujets.³ Et cette sainte Église est maintenue de Dieu contre la rage de tout le monde,⁴ encore que pour quelque temps elle soit bien petite en apparence, aux yeux des hommes, et comme éteinte;⁵ comme le Seigneur pendant un temps si dangereux qu'était celui d'Achab, s'est réservé sept mille hommes, qui n'ont pas plié le genou devant Baal.⁶

Aussi cette sainte Église n'est point située, attachée ni limitée en un certain lieu, ou à certains personnages; mais elle est répandue et dispersée par tout le monde, étant toutefois jointe et unie de cœur et de volonté,⁷ en un même esprit par la vertu de la foi.⁸

a holy congregation and assembly of true Christian believers, expecting all their salvation in Jesus Christ, being washed by his blood, sanctified and sealed by the Holy Ghost.

This Church hath been from the beginning of the world, and will be to the end thereof; which is evident from this, that Christ is an eternal king, which, without subjects, he can not be. And this holy Church is preserved or supported by God against the rage of the whole world; though she sometimes (for a while) appear very small, and, in the eyes of men, to be reduced to nothing: as during the perilous reign of Ahab, when nevertheless the Lord reserved unto him seven thousand men, who had not bowed their knees to Baal.

Furthermore, this holy Church is not confined, bound, or limited to a certain place or to certain persons, but is spread and dispersed over the whole world; and yet is joined and united with heart and will, by the power of faith, in one and the same spirit.

DE COMMUNIONE SANCTORUM CUM VERA ECCLESIA.

Nous croyons que puisque cette sainte assemblée et congrégation, est l'assemblée des sauvés, et qu'il n'y a point de salut hors d'elle,¹ que nul, de quelque état et qualité qu'il soit, ne se doit retirer à part pour se contenter de sa personne,² mais tous ensemble s'y doivent ranger et unir, entretenant l'unité de l'Église,³ en se soumettant à son instruction et discipline, ployant le col sous le joug de Jésus-Christ,⁴ et servant à l'édification des frères, selon les dons que Dieu a mis en eux, comme membres communs d'un même corps;⁵ et, afin que cela se puisse mieux garder, c'est le devoir de tous fidèles, selon la Parole de Dieu, de se séparer de ceux qui ne sont point de l'Église⁶ pour se ranger à cette assemblée, en quelque lieu que Dieu l'ait mise,⁷ encore que les magistrats, et les édits des Princes fussent contraires, et que la mort et punition corporelle en dépendît.⁸

ART. XXVIII.

EVERY ONE IS BOUND TO JOIN HIMSELF TO THE TRUE CHURCH.

We believe, since this holy congregation is an assemblage of those who are saved, and out of it there is no salvation, that no person of whatsoever state or condition he may be, ought to withdraw himself, to live in a separate state from it; but that all men are in duty bound to join and unite themselves with it; maintaining the unity of the Church; submitting themselves to the doctrine and discipline thereof; bowing their necks under the yoke of Jesus Christ; and as mutual members of the same body, serving to the edification of the brethren, according to the talents God has given them. And that this may be better observed, it is the duty of all believers, according to the Word of God, to separate themselves from those who do not belong to the Church, and to join themselves to this congregation, wheresoever God hath established it, even though the magistrates and edicts of princes be against it; yea, though they should suffer death or bodily punishment.

DE NOTIS VERE ECCLESIE.

Nous croyons qu'il faut bien diligemment discerner, et avec bonne prudence par la Parole de Dieu, quelle est la vraie Église, à cause que toutes les sectes qui sont aujourd'hui au monde se couvrent de ce nom d'Église.

Nous ne parlons pas ici de la compagnie des hypocrites qui sont mêlés parmi les bons en l'Église, et cependant n'en sont point, bien qu'ils y soient présents quant au corps;¹ mais nous parlons de distinguer le corps et la communion de la vraie Église d'avec toutes autres sectes qui se disent être l'Église.

Les marques pour connaître la vraie Église sont telles : Si l'Église use de la pure prédication de l'Évangile;² si elle use de la pure administration des sacrements, comme Christ les a ordonnés;³ si la discipline ecclésiastique est en usage pour

Therefore all those who separate themselves from the same, or do not join themselves to it, act contrary to the ordinance of God.

ART. XXIX.

OF THE MARKS OF THE TRUE CHURCH, AND WHEREIN SHE DIFFERS FROM THE FALSE CHURCH.

We believe that we ought diligently and circumspectly to discern from the Word of God which is the true Church, since all sects which are in the world assume to themselves the name of the Church.

But we speak here not of the company of hypocrites, who are mixed in the Church with the good, yet are not of the Church, though externally in it; but we say that the body and communion of the true Church must be distinguished from all sects who call themselves the Church.

The marks by which the true Church is known are these : If the pure doctrine of the gospel is preached therein ; if she maintains the pure administration of the sacraments as instituted by Christ ; if church discipline is exercised in punishing of sin : in short, if all corriger les vices.¹ Bref, si on se règle selon la pure Parole de Dieu, rejetant toutes choses contraires à elle,² tenant Jésus-Christ pour le seul chef.³ Par cela on peut être assuré de connaître la vraie Église, et n'est le devoir d'aucun d'en être séparé. Et quant à ceux qui sont de l'Église, on les peut connaître par les marques des Chrétiens; savoir par la foi,⁴ et quand, ayant reçu un seul sauveur Jésus-Christ,⁵ ils fuient le péché et suivent justice,⁶ aimant le vrai Dieu et leurs prochains, sans se détourner à droite ou à gauche, crucifiant leur chair avec ses faits;⁷ non pas toutefois qu'il n'y ait une grande infirmité en eux, mais ils combattent contre par l'Esprit, tous les jours de leur vie,⁸ ayant continuellement recours au sang, à la mort, passion et obéissance du Seigneur Jésus, par lequel ils ont rémission de leurs péchés en la foi en lui.⁹

Quant à la fausse Église, elle s'attribue à elle et à ses ordonnances plus d'autorité qu'à la Parole de Dieu.¹⁰ Elle ne veut pas things are managed according to the pure Word of God, all things contrary thereto rejected, and Jesus Christ acknowledged as the only Head of the Church. Hereby the true Church may certainly be known, from which no man has a right to separate himself. With respect to those who are members of the Church, they may be known by the marks of Christians, namely, by faith; and when they have received Jesus Christ the only Saviour, they avoid sin, follow after righteousness, love the true God and their neighbor, neither turn aside to the right or left, and crucify the flesh with the works thereof. But this is not to be understood as if there did not remain in them great infirmities; but they fight against them through the Spirit all the days of their life, continually taking their refuge in the blood, death, passion, and obedience of our Lord Jesus Christ, in whom they have remission of sins through faith in him.

DE REGIMINE ECCLESIE.

Nous croyons que cette vraie Église doit être gouvernée selon la police spirituelle que notre Seigneur nous a enseignée par sa Parole : savoir qu'il y ait des Ministres ou Pasteurs pour prêcher la Parole de Dieu et administrer les sacrements ;⁴ qu'il y ait aussi des Surveillants et des Diacones, pour être avec les Pasteurs, comme le sénat de l'Église,⁵ et par ce moyen conserver la vraie religion, et faire que la vraie doctrine ait son cours, et aussi que les hommes vicieux soient corrigés spirituellement, et tenus sous

These two Churches are easily known and distinguished from each other.

ART. XXX.

CONCERNING THE GOVERNMENT OF, AND OFFICES IN, THE CHURCH.

We believe that this true Church must be governed by the spiritual policy which our Lord has taught us in his Word—namely, that there must be Ministers or Pastors to preach the Word of God, and to administer the Sacraments ; also elders and deacons, who, together with the pastors, form the council of the Church ; that by these means the true religion may be preserved, and the true doctrine every where propagated, likewise transgressors punished and restrained by spiritual means ; also that the poor and distressed may be relieved and bride ;¹ afin aussi que les pauvres et tous affligés soient secourus et consolés, selon qu'ils en ont besoin. Par ce moyen toutes choses iront bien et par bon ordre en l'Église, quand de tels personnages seront élus fidèles et selon la règle qu'en donne saint Paul à Timothée.²

ART. XXXI.

DE VOCATIONE MINISTRORUM ECCLESIE.

Nous croyons que les Ministres de la Parole de Dieu,³ les Anciens, et les Diacones,⁴ doivent être élus en leurs offices par élection légitime de l'Église, avec l'invocation du nom de Dieu, avec ordre, comme la Parole de Dieu enseigne. Chacun donc doit bien se donner garde de s'ingérer par moyens illicites, mais doit attendre le temps qu'il soit appelé de Dieu,⁵ afin qu'il ait le témoignage de sa vocation, pour être certain et assuré qu'elle est du Seigneur.

Et quant aux Ministres de la Parole, en quelque lieu qu'ils soient, ils ont une même puissance et autorité, étant tous Ministres de Jésus-Christ,⁶ seul Evêque universel et seul Chef de l'Église.⁷

comforted, according to their necessities. By these means every thing will be carried on in the Church with good order and decency, when faithful men are chosen, according to the rule prescribed by St. Paul to Timothy.

ART. XXXI.

OF THE MINISTERS, ELDERS, AND DEACONS.

We believe that the Ministers of God's Word, and the Elders and Deacons, ought to be chosen to their respective offices by a lawful election of the Church, with calling upon the name of the Lord, and in that order which the Word of God teacheth. Therefore every one must take heed not to intrude himself by indecent means, but is bound to wait till it shall please God to call him; that he may have testimony of his calling, and be certain and assured that it is of the Lord.

As for the Ministers of God's Word, they have equally the same power and authority wheresoever they are, as they are all Ministers of Christ, the only universal Bishop, and the only Head of the Church.

De plus, afin que la saint ordonnance de Dieu ne puisse être violée ou venir à mépris, nous disons que chacun doit avoir les Ministres de la Parole et les Anciens de l'Église, en singulière estime, pour l'œuvre qu'ils font, et être en paix avec eux, sans murmure, débat, ou contention,¹ autant que faire se peut.

ART. XXXII.

DE POTESTATE ECCLESIE IN CONDENDIS
LEGIBUS ECCLESIATICIS, ET IN ADMINI-STRANDA DISCIPLINA.

Nous croyons cependant que bien qu'il soit utile et bon aux gouverneurs de l'Église d'établir et disposer certain ordre entre eux, pour l'entretien du corps de l'Église, ils se doivent toutefois bien garder de décliner de ce que Christ notre seul Maître nous a ordonné.² C'est pourquoi nous rejetons toutes inventions humaines, et toutes lois qu'on voudrait introduire pour servir Dieu, et par elles lier et étreindre les consciences en quelque sorte que ce soit.³

Nous recevons donc seulement ce qui est propre pour garder et nourrir concorde et union, et

Moreover, that this holy ordinance of God may not be violated or slighted, we say that every one ought to esteem the Ministers of God's Word and the Elders of the Church very highly for their work's sake, and be at peace with them without murmuring, strife, or contention, as much as possible.

ART. XXXII.

OF THE ORDER AND DISCIPLINE OF THE CHURCH.

In the mean time we believe, though it is useful and beneficial, that those who are rulers of the Church institute and establish certain ordinances among themselves for maintaining the body of the Church; yet they ought studiously to take care that they do not depart from those things which Christ, our only master, hath instituted. And, therefore, we reject all human inventions, and all laws which man would introduce into the worship of God, thereby to bind and compel the conscience in any manner whatever.

Therefore we admit only of that which tends to nourish and preserve concord and unity, and to keep all

DE SACRAMENTIS.

Nous croyons que notre bon Dieu ayant égard à notre rudesse et infirmité, nous a ordonné des Sacrements, pour sceller en nous ses promesses,² et nous être gages de la bonne volonté et grace de Dieu envers nous, et aussi pour nourrir et soutenir notre foi ; lesquels il a ajoutés à la parole de l'Évangile, pour mieux représenter à nos sens extérieurs, tant ce qu'il nous donne à entendre par sa Parole, que ce qu'il fait intérieurement en nos coeurs, en ratifiant en nous le salut qu'il nous communique. Car ce sont signes et sceaux visibles de la chose intérieure et invisible, moyennant lesquels Dieu opère en nous par la vertu du Saint-Esprit. Les signes donc ne sont pas vains et vides pour nous tromper et décevoir ; car ils ont Jésus-Christ pour leur vérité, sans lequel ils ne seraient rien.³ men in obedience to God. For this purpose excommunication or church discipline is requisite, with the several circumstances belonging to it, according to the Word of God.

ART. XXXIII.
OF THE SACRAMENTS.

We believe that our gracious God, on account of our weakness and infirmities, hath ordained the Sacraments for us, thereby to seal unto us his promises, and to be pledges of the good will and grace of God towards us, and also to nourish and strengthen our faith, which he hath joined to the word of the gospel, the better to present to our senses, both that which he signifies to us by his Word, and that which he works inwardly in our hearts, thereby assuring and confirming in us the salvation which he imparts to us. For they are visible signs and seals of an inward and invisible thing, by means whereof God worketh in us by the power of the Holy Ghost. Therefore the signs are not in vain or insignificant, so as to deceive us. For Jesus Christ is the true object presented by them, without whom they would be of no moment.

De plus, nous nous contentons du nombre des sacrements que Christ notre Maître nous a ordonnés : lesquels ne sont que deux seulement, savoir le sacrement du Baptême et de la Sainte Cène de Jésus-Christ.¹

ART. XXXIV.

DE BAPTISMO.

Nous croyons et confessons que Jésus-Christ, qui est la fin de la Loi,² par son sang répandu, a mis fin à toute autre effusion de sang qu'on pourrait ou voudrait faire pour propitiation, ou satisfaction des péchés, et ayant aboli la circoncision qui se faisait par sang, a ordonné au lieu d'elle le sacrement du Baptême³ par lequel nous sommes reçus en l'Église de Dieu, et séparés de tous autres peuples et de toutes religions étrangères, pour être entièrement déliés à lui, portant sa marque et son enseigne : et nous sert de témoignage qu'il nous sera Dieu à jamais, nous étant Père propice. Il a donc commandé de baptiser tous ceux qui sont siens, au nom du Père et du Fils et du Saint-Esprit,⁴ avec eau pure : nous signifiant par cela que comme l'eau lave les ordures du

Moreover, we are satisfied with the number of Sacraments which Christ our Lord hath instituted, which are two only, namely, the Sacrament of Baptism, and the Holy Supper of our Lord Jesus Christ.

ART. XXXIV.

OF HOLY BAPTISM.

We believe and confess that Jesus Christ, who is the end of the law, hath made an end, by the shedding of his blood, of all other sheddings of blood which men could or would make as a propitiation or satisfaction for sin ; and that he, having abolished circumcision, which was done with blood, hath instituted the Sacrament of Baptism instead thereof, by which we are received into the Church of God, and separated from all other people and strange religions, that we may wholly belong to him whose ensign and banner we bear, and which serves as a testimony unto us that he will forever be our gracious God and Father. Therefore he has commanded all those who are his to be baptized with pure water, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost : thereby signifying corps quand elle est répandue sur nous, laquelle aussi est vue sur le corps du baptisé, et l'arrose; ainsi le sang de Christ par le Saint-Esprit, fait le même intérieurement en l'âme, l'arrosant et nettoyant de ses péchés et nous régénérant d'enfants de colère en enfants de Dieu:¹ non pas que l'eau matérielle fasse cela, mais c'est l'arrosement du précieux sang du Fils de Dieu,² lequel est notre Mer Rouge, par laquelle il nous faut passer pour sortir de la tyrannie de Pharaon, qui est le diable, et entrer en la terre spirituelle de Canaan. Ainsi les Ministres nous donnent de leur part le Sacrement et ce qui est visible:³ mais notre Seigneur donne ce qui est signifié par le Sacrement, savior les dons et grâces invisibles, lavant, purifiant, et nettoyant nos âmes, de toutes ordures et iniquités,⁴ renouvelant nos cœurs et les remplissant de toute consolation, nous donnant vraie assurance de sa bonté paternelle, nous revêtant du nouvel homme et nous dépouillant du vieil homme avec tous ses faits.⁵

Pour cette cause, nous croyons que quiconque prétend parvenir à

Not that this is ef-fected by the external water, but by the sprinkling of the precious blood of the Son of God; who is our Red Sea, through which we must pass to escape the tyranny of Pharaoh, that is, the devil, and to enter into the spiritual land of Ca-naan. Therefore, the Ministers, on their part, administer the Sacra-ment, and that which is visible, but our Lord giveth that which is sig-nified by the Saerament, namely, the gifts and invisible grace; wash-ing, cleansing, and purging our souls of all filth and unrighteous-ness; renewing our hearts and fill-ing them with all comfort; giving unto us a trne assurance of his fa-therly goodness; putting on us the new man, and putting off the old man with all his deeds.

Therefore, we believe that every man who is earnestly studious of la vie éternelle doit être une fois baptisé d'un seul baptême, sans jamais le réitérer :¹ car aussi nous ne pouvons naître deux fois. Et toutefois ce baptême ne profite pas seulement quand l'eau est sur nous, et que nous la recevons, mais profite tout le temps de notre vie.² Sur ceci nous détestons l'erreur des Anabaptistes, qui ne se contentent pas d'un seul baptême une fois reçu, et en outre condamnent le baptême des petits enfants des fidèles, lesquels nous croyons devoir être baptisés et scellés du signe de l'alliance ;³ comme les petits enfants étaient circoncis en Israël,⁴ sur les mêmes promesses qui sont faites à nos enfants. Et aussi à la vérité Christ n'a pas moins répandu son sang pour laver les petits enfants des fidèles, qu'il a fait pour les grands ;⁵ c'est pourquoi ils doivent recevoir le signe et le sacrement de ce que Christ a fait pour eux : comme en la loi le Seigneur commandait qu'on leur communiquât le sacrement de la mort et passion de Christ, quand ils étaient nouveau-nés, en offrant pour eux un agneau qui était le sacrement de Jésus-Christ.⁶ Et obtaining life eternal ought to be but once baptized with this only Baptism, without ever repeating the same : since we can not be born twice. Neither doth this Baptism only avail us at the time when the water is poured upon us and received by us, but also through the whole course of our life. Therefore we detest the error of the Anabaptists, who are not content with the one only baptism they have once received, and moreover condemn the baptism of the infants of believers, who, we believe, ought to be baptized and sealed with the sign of the covenant, as the children in Israel formerly were circumcised upon the same promises which are made unto our children. And, indeed, Christ shed his blood no less for the washing of the children of the faithful than for adult persons ; and, therefore, they ought to receive the sign and sacrament of that which Christ hath done for them ; as the Lord commanded in the law, that they should be made partakers of the sacrament of Christ's suffering and death shortly after they were born, by offering for them a lamb, which was a sacrament of Jesus Christ. over, what Circumcision was to the Jews, that Baptism is to our children. And for this reason Paul calls Baptism the Circumcision of Christ.

ART. XXXV.

OF THE HOLY SUPPER OF OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST.

Nous croyons et confessons que notre Sauveur Jésus-Christ a ordonné et institué le sacrement de la sainte Cène,² pour nourrir et sustenter ceux qu'il a déjà régénérés et entés en sa famille, qui est son Église. Or ceux qui sont régénérés ont en eux deux vies ;³ l'une corporelle et temporelle, laquelle ils ont apportée dès leur première naissance, et est commune à tous ; l'autre est spirituelle et céleste, laquelle leur est donnée en la seconde naissance,⁴ qui se fait par la parole de l'Évangile,⁵ en la communion du corps de Christ, et cette vie n'est commune qu'aux élus de Dieu.⁶ Ainsi Dieu nous a donné pour l'entretien de la vie corporelle et terrestre un pain terrestre et matériel, qui est propre à cela, lequel pain est commun à tous, comme aussi est la vie ; mais

We believe and confess that our Saviour Jesus Christ did ordain and institute the Sacrament of the Holy Supper, to nourish and support those whom he hath already regenerated and incorporated into his family, which is his Church. Now those who are regenerated have in them a twofold life, the one bodily and temporal, which they have from the first birth, and is common to all men ; the other spiritual and heavenly, which is given them in their second birth, which is effected by the word of the gospel, in the communion of the body of Christ ; and this life is not common, but is peculiar to God's elect. In like manner God hath given us, for the support of the bodily and earthly life, earthly and common bread, which is subservient thereto, and is common to pour entretenir la vie spirituelle et céleste qui se trouve dans les fidèles, il leur a envoyé un pain vivant qui est descendu du ciel, savoir Jésus-Christ,¹ lequel nourrit et entretient la vie spirituelle des fidèles, étant mangé, c'est-à-dire appliqué et reçu par la foi en l'esprit.² Pour nous figurer ce pain spirituel et céleste, Christ a ordonné un pain terrestre et visible qui est sacrement de son corps, et le vin pour sacrement de son sang,³ pour nous certifier qu'aussi véritablement que nous prenons et tenons le sacrement en nos mains, et le mangeons et buvons en nos bouches, dont puis après notre vie est sustentée, aussi vraiment par la foi (qui est la main et la bouche de notre âme) nous recevons le vrai corps et le vrai sang de Christ, notre seul Sauveur, en nos âmes, pour notre vie spirituelle.⁴

Or c'est une chose assurée que Jésus-Christ ne nous a pas recommandé ses Sacrements pour néant : partant il fait en nous tout ce qu'il nous représente par ces signes sacrés ; encore que la manière outrepasse notre entendement, et nous soit incomall men, even as life itself. But for the support of the spiritual and heavenly life which believers have, he hath sent a living bread, which descended from heaven, namely, Jesus Christ, who nourishes and strengthens the spiritual life of believers, when they eat him, that is to say, when they apply and receive him by faith, in the Spirit. Christ, that he might represent unto us this spiritual and heavenly bread, hath instituted an earthly and visible bread as a Sacrament of his body, and wine as a Sacrament of his blood, to testify by them unto us, that, as certainly as we receive and hold this Sacrament in our hands, and eat and drink the same with our mouths, by which our life is afterwards nourished, we also do as certainly receive by faith (which is the hand and mouth of our soul) the true body and blood of Christ our only Saviour in our souls, for the support of our spiritual life.

Now, as it is certain and beyond all doubt that Jesus Christ hath not enjoined to us the use of his Sacraments in vain, so he works in us all that he represents to us by these holy signs, though the manner surpasses our understanding, and can not be comprehended by préhensible, comme l'opération de l'Esprit de Dieu est secrète et incompréhensible. Cependant nous ne nous trompons pas en disant que ce qui est mangé est le propre et naturel corps de Christ, et son propre sang ce qui est bu;¹ mais la manière par laquelle nous le mangeons, n'est pas la bouche mais l'esprit par la foi. Ainsi Jésus-Christ demeure toujours assis à la droite de Dieu son Père dans les cieux,² et ne laisse pas pour cela de se communiquer à nous par la foi. Ce banquet est une table spirituelle en laquelle Christ se communique à nous avec tous ses biens, et nous fait jouir en elle, tant de lui-même que du mérite de sa mort et passion,³ nourrissant, fortifiant et consolant notre pauvre âme désolée, par le manger de sa chair, et la soulageant et recréant par le breuvage de son sang.⁴

En outre, bien que les sacrements soient conjoints à la chose signifiée, ils ne sont pas toutefois reçus de tous avec ces deux choses: le méchant prend bien le sacrement à sa condamnation;⁵ mais il ne reçoit pas la vérité du sacre-us, as the operations of the Holy Ghost are hidden and incomprehensible. In the mean time we err not when we say that what is eaten and drunk by us is the proper and natural body and the proper blood of Christ. But the manner of our partaking of the same is not by the mouth, but by the Spirit through faith. Thus, then, though Christ always sits at the right hand of his Father in the heavens, yet doth he not, therefore, cease to make us partakers of himself by faith. This feast is a spiritual table, at which Christ communicates himself with all his benefits to us, and gives us there to enjoy both himself and the merits of his sufferings and death, nourishing, strengthening, and comforting our poor comfortless souls, by the eating of his flesh, quickening and refreshing them by the drinking of his blood.

Further, though the Sacraments are connected with the thing signified, nevertheless both are not received by all men: the ungodly indeed receives the Sacrament to his condemnation, but he doth not receive the truth of the ment; comme Judas et Simon le magicien recevaient bien tous deux le sacrement, mais non pas Christ, qui y est signifié: ce qui est seulement communiqué aux fidèles. Finalentent nous recevons le saint sacrement en l'assemblée du peuple de Dieu avec humilité et révérence,¹ en faisant entre nous une sainte mémoire de la mort de Christ notre Sauveur avec actions de grâces, et y faisons confession de notre foi et religion chrétienne. C'est pourquoi nul ne se doit présenter qu'il ne se soit bien éprouvé soi-même, de peur qu'en mangeant de ce pain, et buvant de cette coupe, il ne mange et boive son jugement.² Bref, nous sommes par l'usage de ce saint sacrement émus à un ardent amour envers Dieu et nos prochains.

En quoi nous rejetons toutes les brouilleries et inventions damnables que les hommes ont ajoutées et mêlées aux sacrements, comme profanations, et disons qu'on se doit contenter de l'ordre que Christ et ses Apôtres nous en ont enseigné, et parler comme ils en ont parlé.

Sacrament. As Judas and Simon the sorcerer both, indeed, received the Saerament, but not Christ, who was signified by it, of whom believers only are made partakers. Lastly, we receive this holy Sacrament in the assembly of the people of God, with humility and reverence, keeping up among us a holy remembrance of the death of Christ our Saviour, with thanksgiving, making there confession of our faith and of the Christian religion. Therefore no one ought to come to this table without having previously rightly examined himself; lest by eating of this bread and drinking of this cup he eat and drink judgment to himself. In a word, we are excited by the use of this holy Saerament to a fervent love towards God and our neighbor.

Therefore, we reject all mixtures and damnable inventions, which men have added unto and blended with the Sacraments, as profanations of them, and affirm that we ought to rest satisfied with the ordinance which Christ and his Apostles have taught us, and that we must speak of them in the same manner as they have spoken.

ART. XXXVI.

DE MAGISTRATU.

Nous croyons que notre bon Dieu, à cause de la dépravation du genre humain, a ordonné des Rois, Princes, et Magistrats ;¹ voulant que le monde soit gouverné par lois et polices, afin que le débordement des hommes soit réprimé, et que tout se fasse avec bon ordre entre les hommes. Pour cette fin il a mis le glaive dans les mains du Magistrat pour punir les méchants, et maintenir les gens de bien : et non seulement leur office est de prendre garde et veiller sur la police, mais aussi de maintenir le sacré ministère, pour ôter et ruiner toute idolâtrie et faux service de Dieu ;² pour détruire le royaume de l'antechrist et avancer le royaume de Jésus-Christ, faire précher la Parole de l'Évangile partout, afin que Dieu soit honoré et servi de chacun, comme il le requiert par sa Parole.³

ART. XXXVI.

OF MAGISTRATES.

We believe that our gracious God, because of the depravity of mankind, hath appointed kings, princes, and magistrates, willing that the world should be governed by certain laws and policies; to the end that the dissoluteness of men might be restrained, and all things carried on among them with good order and decency. For this purpose he hath invested the magistracy with the sword, for the punishment of evil doers, and for the praise of them that do well. And their office is, not only to have regard unto and watch for the welfare of the civil state, but also that they protect the sacred ministry, and thus may remove and prevent all idolatry and false worship; that the kingdom of antichrist may be thus destroyed, and the kingdom of Christ promoted. They must, therefore, countenance the preaching of the word of the gospel every where, that God may be honored and worshiped by every one, as he commands in his Word.³

De plus chacun, de quelque qualité, condition, ou état qu'il soit, doit être soumis aux Magistrats,¹ et payer les tributs;² les avoir en honneur et révérence, et leur obéir en toutes choses qui ne sont point contraires à la Parole de Dieu;³ priant pour eux en leurs oraisons, afin que le Seigneur les veuille diriger en toutes leurs voies, et que nous menions une vie paisible et tranquille en toute piété et honnêteté.⁴

Et sur ceci nous détestons l'erreur des Anabaptistes et autres mutins, et en général de tous ceux qui veulent rejeter les autorités et Magistrats, et renverser la justice,⁵ établissant communautés de biens, et confondant l'honnêteté que Dieu a mise entre les hommes.⁶

ART. XXXVII.

DE JUDICIO EXTREMO, RESURRECTIONE CARNIS, ET VITA ÆTERNA.

Finalement nous croyons selon la Parole de Dieu, que quand le temps ordonné du Seigneur sera venu (lequel est inconnu à toutes créatures)⁷ et le nombre des Elus sera accompli, notre Seigneur Jésus-Christ viendra du Ciel cor-

Moreover, it is the bounden duty of every one, of what state, quality, or condition soever he may be, to subject himself to the magistrates; to pay tribute, to show due honor and respect to them, and to obey them in all things which are not repugnant to the Word of God; to supplicate for them in their prayers, that God may rule and guide them in all their ways, and that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty.

Wherefore we detest the error of the Anabaptists and other seditious people, and in general all those who reject the higher powers and magistrates, and would subvert justice, introduce a community of goods, and confound that decency and good order which God hath established among men.

OF THE LAST JUDGMENT.

Finally, we believe, according to the Word of God, when the time appointed by the Lord (which is unknown to all creatures) is come, and the number of the elect complete, that our Lord Jesus Christ will come from heaven, corporally hommes rendront compte de toutes paroles oiseuses qu'ils auront prononcées, lesquelles le monde n'estime que jeux et passetemps:¹ et lors les actions et pensées secrètes et les hypocrisies des hommes seront découvertes publiquement devant tous.²

C'est pourquoi, à bon droit, le souvenir de ce jugement est horrible et épouvantable aux iniques et méchants,³ et fort désirable et de grande consolation aux bons et élus; puisque alors sera accomplie leur rédemption totale, et qu'ils recevront là les fruits des labeurs et travaux qu'ils auront soutenus:⁴ leur innocence sera ouvertement connue de tous, et ils verront la vengeance horrible que Dieu fera des méchants⁵ qui les auront tyrannisés, affligés et tourmentés en ce mond;⁶ lesquels seront convaincus par le propre témoignage de leurs consciences⁷ et seront rendus immortels, de telle façon que ce sera pour être tourmentés au feu éternel,⁸ qui est préparé au diable et à ses anges.⁹

Et au contraire les fidèles et élus seront couronnés de gloire et all men shall give an account of every idle word they have spoken, which the world only counts amusement and jest; and then the secrets and hypocrisy of men shall be disclosed and laid open before all.

And, therefore, the consideration of this judgment is justly terrible and dreadful to the wicked and ungodly, but most desirable and comfortable to the righteous and the elect; because then their full deliverance shall be perfected, and there they shall receive the fruits of their labor and trouble which they have borne. Their innocence shall be known to all, and they shall see the terrible vengeance which God shall execute on the wicked, who most cruelly persecuted, oppressed, and tormented them in this world; and who shall be convicted by the testimony of their own consciences, and, being immortal, shall be tormented in that everlasting fire which is prepared for the devil and his angels.

[The English and Latin texts are an exact reprint from (Dunlop's) Collection of Confessions of Faith, Catechisms, Directories, Books of Discipline, etc., of Publick Authority in the Church of Scotland (Edinb. 1719, 1722, 2 vols.), Vol. II. pp. 13 sqq. The English original is given in the old spelling from a copy in Sir John Skene's edition of the Acts of Parliament, compared with many other editions. The Scripture passages are from Tyndale's and Coverdale's Version, then generally used among Protestants in England and Scotland. The Latin translation was made by PATRICK ADAMSON, at the desire of the Kirk, and printed by Robert Lekprevik, Andreapoli, 1572. Another but less accurate Latin translation is found in the Syntagma Confessionum (1654), pp. 110 sqq., and in Niemeyer's Collectio, pp. 340 sqq. ART. I.

OF GOD.

We confesse and acknawledge ane onclie God, to whom only we must cleave, whom onclie we must serve, whom onclie we must worship, and in whom onclie we must put our trust.¹ Who is Eternall, Infinit, Unmeasurable, Incomprehensible, Omnipotent, Invisible: ² ane in substance, and zit distinct in thre personnis, the Father, the Sone, and the holie Gost.³ Be whom we confesse and beleve all thingis in hevin and eirth, aswel Visible as Invisible, to have been created, to be reteined in their being, and to Deum enim nostrorum consiliorum conscientiam attestamus, quod ab omni prava heresi, atque adeo errore assertionis authoribus animo abhorremus; quod cum summa humilitate evangelii Christi puritatem amplectimur, qui unicus est nostrorum animorum cibus, atque ideo eo usque carus, ut decreverimus omnia que possunt humanitatem evenire potius experiri, quam ut nos eo cibo fraudari patiamur. Persuassimum enim id habemus, quod quemcunque Christi puduerit, aut qui eum coram hominibus negaverit, hunc ille coram Patre, sanctisque ejus angelis negabit. Atque ideo ejusdem Domini nostri omnipotentis Jesu Christi presenti ope freti, in animo habemus in hujus nostrae fidei, cuius capita sequuntur, confessione perseverare.

DE DEO.

Confitemur atque agnoscimus unicum Deum, cui uni adherere, uni servire, quem unum colere debeamus, in quo uno collocemus omnem spem salutis. Eundem etiam credimus eternum, infinitum, immensum, incomprehensibilem, omnipotentem, invisibilem; essentia quidem unum, in tres autem distinctum personas, Patrem, Filium, ac Spiritum sanctum. Per hunc Deum assereramus utque etiam credimus quarecumque visibilia aut invisibilia celo terraque continentur creata esse, constare, et inscrutabili

OF THE CREATIOUN OF MAN.

We confesse and acknawledge this our God to have created man, to wit, our first father Adam, to his awin image and similitude, to whome he gave wisdome, lordship, justice, free-wil, and cleir knawledge of himselfe, sa that in the haill nature of man there euld be noted no imperfectionoun.² Fra quhilk honour and perfectionoun, man and woman did bothe fal: the woman being deceived be the Serpent, and man obeying the voyce of the woman, both conspyring against the Soveraigne Majestie of God, who in expressed words had before threatned deith, gif they presumed to eit of the forbidden tre.³

ART. II.

DE CREATIONE HOMINIS.

Credimus item et confitemur ab hoc nostro Deo, hominem, id est, humani generis primum parentem Adamum, ad imaginem et similitudinem ipsius fuisse creatum, Item ab eodem sapientia, imperio, justitia, libertate arbitrii, et perspicua ipsius cognitione donatum: aucto ut in universa hominis natura nil animadverti posset, quod non omni ex parte foret absolutum. Ab hac autem dignitate, et naturae perfectione vir mulierque exciderunt; vir a muliere, mulier a serpente decepta: vir mulieris voci obtemperans, uterque conjuratione inita adversus Dei majestatem, qui aperte antea mortem iis comminatus fuerat, si de arbore vertita gustassent.

the Image of God utterlie defaced in man, and he and his posteritie of nature become enimies to God, slaves to Sathan, and servandis unto sin.¹ In samekle that deith everlasting hes had, and sall have power and dominiou over all that have not been, ar not, or sal not be regenerate from above: quhilk regeneration is wrocht be the power of the holie Gost, working in the hartes of the elect of Gon, ane assured faith in the promise of God, reveiled to us in his word, be quhilk faith we apprehend Christ Jesus, with the graces and benefites promised in him.²

ART. IV.

OF THE REVELATIOUN OF THE PROMISE.

For this we constantlie beleeve, that Gon, after the feirfull and horrible defection of man fra his obedience, did seek Adam againe, call upon him, rebuke his sinne, convict him of the same, and in the end made mnto him ane most joyful promise, to wit, That the seed of the woman suld break down the serpents head, that is, he suld destroy the works of the Devill. Quhilk promise, as it was repeated, and made mair cleare from time to time; so was it imbraced with joy, imago Dei in homine penitus oblitterata fuit: eaque contemptio, ipsum hominem totamque ejus posteritatem ita Deo inimicam, Sathanus mancipium, et peccato reddidit obnoxiam, ut sempiterna mors dominata fuerit, atque adeo in posterum dominatura sit in omnes, qui non fuerint, sunt, aut erunt divinitus regenerati. Hec autem regeneratio est uictio Spiritus sancti, qui in corda eorum quos Deus elegit, constantem inscrit fidem de promissis, quae Deus verbo suo nobis revelavit: qua fide Jesum Christum, omnemque gratiam et beneficentiam in Christo nobis promissam apprehendimus.

ART. IV.

DE REVELATIONE PROMISSORUM.

Constanter enim credimus, quod post formidabilem illam atque horrendum hominis ab obedientia Dei defectionem, rursus Deus Adamum requisierit, vocaverit nominatim, accusaverit, convicerit: denique promissione illa gaudii plena cum sic consolans promisit, Futurum ut semen mulieris caput serpentis contereret, hoc est, universa diaboli opera destrueret ac everteret. OF THE CONTINUANCE, INCREASE, AND PRESERVATION OF THE KIRK.

We maist constantly beleeve, that God preserved, instructed, multiplied, honoured, decored, and from death called to life, his Kirk in all ages fra Adam, till the cumming of Christ Jesus in the flesh.² For Abraham he called from his Fathers euntry, him he instructed, his seede he multiplied;³ the same he marveilouslie preserved, and mair marveilouslie delivered from the bondage and tyramnie of Pharaoh;⁴ to them he gave his lawes, constitutions and ceremonies;⁵ them he possessed in the land of Canaan;⁶ to them after Judges,⁷ and after Saul,⁸ he gave David to be king,⁹ to whome hee made promise, that of the fruite of his loynes suld ane Evocavit enim Abrahamum e patria, ac majorum suorum sedibus: cum erudit, semen ejus multiplicarit, multiplicatum mirabiliter conservavit; mirabilis etiam e servitute ac tyrannide Pharaonis exemit. DE CAUSA BONORUM OPERUM.

Itaque bonorum in nobis operum causam esse asserimus, non arbitrii nostri libertatem, sed Spiritum Domini nostri Jesu Christi, qui in cordibus nostris per veram habitat fidem, eaque dedit opera bona, quae a Deo preparata sunt, ut in eis ambularemus. Apostles dois declar. Secundly, the right administration of the Sacraments of Christ Jesus, quhilk man be annexed unto the word and promise of God, to seale and confirme the same in our hearts.¹ Last, Ecclesiastical discipline uprightlie ministred, as Goddis Worde prescribes, whereby vice is repressed, and vertew nurished.² Wheresoever then thir former notes are seene, and of ony time continue (be the number never so fewe, about two or three), there, without all doubt, is the trew Kirk of Christ: Who, according unto his promise, is in the middis of them.³ Not that universall, of quhilk we have before spoken, bot particilar, sik as wes in Corinthus,⁴ Galatia,⁵ Ephesus,⁶ and uther places, in quhilk the ministrie wes planted be Paull, and were of himselfe named the kirks of God. And sik kirks, we the inhabitantis of the Realme of Scotland, professoris of Christ Jesus, professis our selfis to have in our citties, townes, and places reformed, for the doctrine taucht in our Kirkis, conteined in the writen Worde of God, to wit, in the buiks of the Auld and New Testaments, Divini praedicatio, per quod Verbum Deus ipse sese nobis revelavit, quemadmodum scripta Prophetarum et Apostolorum nobis indicant; proximum indicium est, legitima sacramentorum Jesu Christi administratio, quae cum verbo et promissionibus divinis conjungi debent, ut ea in mentibus nostris obsignent et confirment. Postremum est, ecclesiasticae disciplinae severa, et ex Verbi Divini prescripto, observatio, per quam vitia reprimantur, et virtutes alantur. Ubiunque haec indicia apparuerint, atque ad tempus perseveraverint, quantumvis exiguis fuerit numerus, procul dubio ibi est ecclesia Christi, qui, juxta suam promissionem, in medio eorum est. Non illam dicimus universalem ecclesiam, de qua superius facta est mentio, sed particularem; tales erant Corinthia, Gallo-græca, et Ephesina, aliisque complures, in quibus verbi ministerium a Paulo fuerat plantatum, quasque ipse Dei ecclesias vocat. Hujusmodi ecclesias, qui in regno Scotorum nomen Christi profitemur, in oppidis, vicis, aliisque locis in quibus vere pietatis cultus est restitutus, nos habere asseveramus:

In the quhilk we affirme, that all thingis necessary to be beleaved for the salvation of mankinde is sufficiently expressed.¹ The interpretation quhairof, we confesse, neither appertaines to private nor publick persone, nether zit to ony Kirk, for ony preheminence or prerogative, personallie or locallie, quhilk ane hes above ane uther, bot apperteines to the Spirite of God, be the quhilk also the Scripture was written.² When controversie then happens, for the right understanding of ony place or sentence of Scripture, or for the reformation of ony abuse within the Kirk of God, we ought not sa meikle to luke what men before us have said or done, as unto that quhilk the haly Ghaist uniformelie speakes within the body of the Scriptures, and unto that quhilk Christ Jesus himselfe did, and commanded to be done.³ For this is ane thing universallie granted, that the Spirite of God, quhilk is the Spirite of unitie, is in nathing contrarioris unto himselfe.⁴ Gif then the interpretation, determination, or sentence of ony Doctor, Kirk, or Comcell, repugne to the plaine Worde of God, written in ea enim in iis doctrina traditur quae Dei Verbo scripto continentur; non et veteris Testamenti eos intelligimus libros, qui ab infantia usque ecclesiae semper habiti sunt canonici. Quibus in libris omnia quae ad humani generis salutem sunt necessaria, asservimus sufficienter esse expressa. Hujus Scripturæ interpretandi potestas penes nullum est hominem, sive is privatam, sive publicam gerat personam; nec penes ullum est ecclesium, quacunque illa, sive loci seu personæ prerogativa sibi blanditur: sed penes Spiritum Dei, cuius instinctu illa ipsa Scriptura confecta est. Igitur, cum de Scripturæ sensu et interpretatione, aut loci alicuius, aut sententie que in ea continetur controversia oritur, aut cum de collapse discipline emendatione agitur in ecclesia, spectare debemus non tam quid homines qui nos antecesserunt dixerint aut fecerint, quam quid perpetuo sibi consentiens Spiritus Sanctus in Scripturis loquatur; præterea, quid Christus ipse fecerit aut fieri jusserrit: illud enim omnes uno fatentur ore, Spiritum Dei (qui et unitatis item est spiritus) nunquam secum pugnare. Itaque, si qua eiusvis doctoris, aut ecclesiae, aut concilii interpretatio, decretum aut opinio, cum expresso ony uther place of the Scripture, it is a thing maist certaine, that there is not the true understanding and meaning of the haly Ghaist, although that Councels, Realmes, and Nations have approved and received the same. For we dare non receive or admit ony interpretation quhilk repugnes to ony principall point of our faith, or to ony uther plaine text of Scripture, or zit unto the rule of charitie.

ART. XIX.

OF THE AUTHORITIE OF THE SCRIPTURES.

As we beleeve and confesse the Scriptures of God sufficient to instruct and make the man of God perfite, so do we affirme and avow the authoritie of the same to be of God, and nether to depend on men nor angelis.¹ We affirme, therefore, that sik as allege the Scripture to have na uther authoritie bot that quhilk it hes received from the Kirk, to be blasphemous against God, and injurious to the trew Kirk, quhilk alwaies heares and obeyis the voice of her awin Spouse and Pastor;² bot takis not upon her to be maistres over the samin.

Dei Verbo quod in alia Scripturæ parte continetur, pugnaverit, luce clarior est, eam nec esse veram explicationem, nec mentem Spiritus Sancti, quantumvis eam concilia, regna, et nationes probaverint ac receperint. Nos enim nullam interpretationem recipere aut admittere audemus, quæ pugnet aut cum aliquo ex præcipuis fidei nostræ capitibus, aut cum perspicua Scriptura, aut cum caritatis regula.

ART. XIX.

DE SCRIPTURÆ AUTORITATE.

Quemadmodum credimus et contemnemus, ex Scripturis divinis Dei cognitionem abunde hominibus tradi; ita affirmamus atque asseveramus, a nullo hominum aut angelorum, sed a Deo solo Scripturæ autoritatem pendere. Igitur qui tantam esse Scripturæ autoritatem volunt, quantam illi ecclesie concedunt suffragia, eos constanter asserimus adversus Deum blasphemos esse, adversus veram ecclesiam contumeliosos; que sui sponsi, suique pastoris vocem audit, eique obtemperat, neque tantum sibi assumit ut domina ejus videri velit.

OF GENERALL COUNCELLIS, OF THEIR POWER, AUTHORITIE, AND CAUSE OF THEIR CONVENTION.

As we do not rashlie damne that quhilk godly men, assembled together in generall Councel lawfully gathered, have proponed unto us; so without just examination dare we not receive quhatsoever is obtruded unto men under the name of generall Councellis: For plaine it is, as they wer men, so have some of them manifestlie erred, and that in matters of great weight and importance.¹ So farre then as the councell previs the determination and commandement that it gives bee the plaine Worde of God, so soone do we reverene and imbrace the same. Bot gif men, under the name of a councel, pretend to forge unto us new artickles of our faith, or to make constitutionis repugning to the Word of God; then utterlie we must refuse the same as the doctrine of Devils, quhilk drawis our saules from the voyce of our onlie God to follow the doctrines and constitutiones of men.² The cause then quhy that generall Connellis convened, was nether to make ony perpetual Law, quhilk God before had not maid, nether zit to

DE CONCILIIS GENERALIBUS, DEQUE EORUM POTESTATE, AUTORITATE ET CAUSIS CUR COGANTUR.

Quemadmodum que ab hominibus piis, legitime ad generale concilium convocatis nobis proposita sunt, ea non temere aut praeципitanter damnamus; ita nec sine justa examinatione recipere audeamus, quiequid generalis concilii nomine nobis obtruditur: quippe cum homines eos fuisse constet, qui in manifestos inciderint errores, idque in rebus non minimi momenti. Itaque sicubi concilium perspicuo verbi divini testimonio sua decreta confirmat, statim ea reveremur atque amplectimur: sed si homines nova fidei dogmata, constitutiones eum Verbo Dei pugnantes edant, iisque interim nomen concilii prætendant, ea nos penitus rejicimus atque recusamus tanquam doctrinam diabolicalam, que a Dei Verbo vel constitutiones et doctrinas hominum animus nostras avocent. Causa igitur cur generalia concilia cogarentur non est, ut leges quas Deus non jussisset velut perpetuo duraturas rogarent; neque ut nova de fide dogmata comminiserentur, neque ut Verbum Dei autoritate sua confirmarent; multo etiam minus ut pro-

The uther wes for gude policie, and ordour to be constitute and observed in the Kirk, quhillk, as in the house of God,³ it becuminis *al things to be done decently and in ordour.*⁴ Not that we think that any policie and an ordour in ceremonies can be appoynted for al ages, times, and places: For as ceremonies, sik as men have devised, ar bot temporall; so may and ancht they to be changed, when they rather foster superstition then that they edifie the Kirk using the same.

Verbo Dei, aut verbi divini interpretatione nobis obtruderent, quod neque Deus antea voluisse, nec per scripturas suas nobis indicasset: sed cogebantur concilia (de iis loquimur quae hoc nomine censerentur) partim ut haereses confutarent, partim, ut publicam fidei sue confessionem ad posteros transmitterent: atque horum utrunque faciebant ex verbi divini scripti autoritate, non autem quod putarent, hujus conventionis causa haec se prærogativa donatum iri, ut errare non possent. Atque hanc præcipuam illis fuisse causam existimamus publicorum conventuum. Erat et altera illa ad disciplinam ordinandam, ut in ecclesia, quæ Dei familia est, omnia honeste atque ordine gererentur: nec hoc tamen in eum sensum accipi volumus, ut credamur existimare unam aliquam legem, et ceremoniarum ritum præscribi posse, qui omnibus et locis et saeculis convenire possit; nam ut ceremoniae omnes ab hominibus ex cogitate temporarie sunt, ita eum temporum momentis mutari possunt, et mutari etiam debent, quoties carum usus superstitionem potius alat, quam ecclesiam edificet.

wee break, is the communion of Christes bodie, and the eupe quhilke we blesse, is the communion of his blude.¹ So that we confesse, and undoubtedlie beleeve, that the faithfull, in the richt use of the Lords Table, do so eat the bodie and drinke the blude of the Lord Jesus, that he remaines in them, and they in him: Zea, they are so maid flesh of his flesh, and bone of his bones;² that as the eternall God-head hes given to the flesh of Christ Jesus (quhilke of the awin conditioun and nature wes mortal and corruptible³) life and immortalitie; so dois Christ Jesus his flesh and blude eattin and drunkin be us, give unto us the same prerogatives. Quhilke, albeit we confesse are nether given unto us at that time onelie, nether zit be the proper power and vertue of the Sacrament onelie; zit we affirme that the faithfull, in the richt use of the Lords Table, hes coniunctioun with Christ Jesus,⁴ as the naturall man can not apprehend: Zea, and farther we affirme, that albeit the faithfull, oppressed be negligencie and manlie infirmitie, dois not profit sameikle as they wald, in the verie instant action of the Supper; zit sall it after bring frute furth, as livelie seid sawin in gude ground.

tanto distet a nobis intervallo, qui nunc mortales in terra degimus; hoc tamen constanter tenemus, panem quem frangimus communionem esse corporis Jesu Christi, et calicem cui benedicimus, sanguinis ejus item esse communionem. Itaque confitemur, et procul dubio eredimus, quod fideles, in recto cœnæ dominicæ usu, ita corpus Domini Jesu edant, et sanguinem bibant, ut ipsi in Christo mancant, et Christus in eis: quin et caro de carne ejus, et os ex ossibus ejus ita sunt, ut quemadmodum carni Christi, quæ suapte natura mortalis erat et corruptibilis, divinitas vitam et immortalitatem largita est; ita ut carnem Jesu Christi edimus, et bibimus ejus sanguinem, eisdem et nos prærogativis donamur; quas ut non eo solum tempore nobis donari fatemur, neque vi solum et potestate sacramentorum, sic in recto cœnæ dominicæ usu, talem fidelibus cum Christo conjunctionem esse affirmamus, qualiter humana mens capere nequeat. For the haly Spirite, quhilke can never be divided fra the richt institution of the Lord Jesus, wil not frustrat the faithfull of the fruit of that mysticall action: Bot all thir, we say, cummis of trew faith, quhilke apprehendis Christ Jesus, who only makis this Sacrement effectuall unto us. And therefore, whosoever sclanders us, as that we affirmie or beleevie Sacraments to be naked and bair Signes, do injurie unto us, and speaks against the manifest trueth. Bot this liberallie and franklie we confesse, that we make ane distinction betwixt Christ Jesus in his eternall substance, and betwixt the Elements of the Sacramentall Signes. So that wee will nether worship the Signes, in place of that quhilke is signified be them, nether hit doe we dispise, and interpret them as unprofitable and vaine, bot do use them with all reverence, examining our selves diligentlie before that so we do; because we are assured be the mouth of the Apostle, *That sic as eat of that bread, and drink of that coup unworthie, are guiltie of the bodie and blude of Christ Jesus.*¹ uberem terram jactum aliquando in frugem erumpet. Spiritus enim Sanctus, qui a vera Christi institutione nunquam potest excludi, non committet, ut hujus mysticæ actionis fructu fideles frustrentur. Hæc autem omnia manare dicimus e veræ fidei fontibus, per quam Jesum Christum apprehendimus, qui unus sacramentorum suorum effectum in nobis producit. Itaque, quicunque nos calumniantur, tanquam sacramenta dicamus aut credamus nuda modo signa esse, non modo adversus nos, sed adversus veritatem sunt contumeliosi. Illud autem ingenuè confitemur, nos magnum discrimen facere inter elementa signorum sacramentalium, et aeternam Jesu Christi substantiam. Neque enim cum signis exhibemus honorem, qui rei que per ea significatur est exhibendus: neque rursus ea contemnimus, aut vana et inutilia esse arbitramur; sed post diligentem nostri examinationem, illis reverenter utimur; persuasum enim habemus ex verbis apostoli, Quicunque ex illo pane edit, aut ex illo calice bibit indigne, eum esse reum corporis et sanguinis Jesu Christi.

OF THE RICHT ADMINISTRATIOUN OF THE SACRAMENTIS.

That Sacramentis be richtlie ministrat, we jndge twa things requisite: The ane, that they be ministrat be lauchful Ministers, whom we affirme to be only they that ar appoynted to the preaching of the word, into quhais mouthes God hes put sum Sermon of exhortation, they being men lauchfullie chosen thereto be sum Kirk. The uther, that they be ministrat in sik elements, and in sik sort, as God hes appoynted; else, we affirme, that they cease to be the richt Sacraments of Christ Jesus. And therfore it is that we flee the doctrine of the Papistical Kirk, in participationn of their sacraments; first, because their Ministers are na Ministers of Christ Jesus; zea (quhilk is mair horrible) they suffer wemen, whome the haly Ghaist will not suffer to teache in the Congregation, to baptize: And secundly, because they have so adulterate both the one Sacrement and the uther with their awin inventions, that no part of Christs action abydes in the originall puritie: For Oyle, Salt, Spittill, and sik lyke in Baptisme, ar bot mennis inventioonis. ART. XXII.

DE RECTA ADMINISTRATIONE SACRA-MENTORUM.

Ad rectam sacramentorum administrationem duo arbitramur esse necessaria; alterum, ut ea ministratio per legitimos fiat ministros: legitimos autem eos esse asserimus, quibus verbi praedicatio commissa est, in quorum ora Deus exhortationis indidit sermonem, modo legitime ab aliqua electi sint ecclesia: alterum autem, ut sub ea elementorum forma, et in eum morem administrentur quem Deus instituit; alioqui enim vera Christi sacramenta esse desinunt. Eaque causa est, cur in sacramentorum participatione, a papisticæ ecclesie communione abhorremus, primum, quod corum ministri Christi ministri non sunt; et (quod longe detestabilius est) faminis, quas Spiritus Sanctus ne docere quidem in ecclesia patitur, illi permittunt, ut etiam baptismum administrent. Deinde, quod utrumque sacramentum ita suis commentis adulterarint, ut ejus ceremonie, quæ a Christo peracta est, nulla pars antiquam et genuinum suam retineat puritatem: nam oleum, sal, sputum, ceteraque id genus in baptismo, mera sunt hominum commenta: panis veneratio, adoratio, per urbes et ricos gestatio, in pixide conservatio, non est sacra-buistis, ar prophanatioun of Christs Sacramentis, and na use of the same: For Christ Jesus saide, *Take, eat, &c., do ze this in remembrance of me.*¹ Be quhilk words and charge he sanctifyed bread and wine, to the Sacrament of his halie bodie and blude, to the end that the ane suld be eaten, and that all suld drinke of the uther, and not that thay suld be keiped to be worshipped and honoured as God, as the Papistes have done heirofore. Who also committed Sacrilege, steilling from the people the ane parte of the Sacrament, to wit, the blessed coupe. Moreover, that the Sacramentis be richtly used, it is required, that the end and cause why the Sacramentis were institute, be understandend and observed, asweil of the minister as of the receiveris: For gif the opinion be changed in the receiver, the richt use ceassis; quhilk is maist evident be the refection of the sacrifices: As also gif the teacher planely teache fals doctrine, quhilk were odious and abhominable before God (albeit they were his awin ordinance) because that wicked men use them to an uther end than God hes ordaned. The same affirme we of the Sacra-ments in the Papistical kirk; in mentorum Christi usus, sed prophanatio: Christus enim dixit, Accipite, comedite, etc., hoc facite in mei memoriam. His verbis, atque hoc mandato, panem et vinum in corporis et sanguinis sui sacramenta sanctificavit, ut alterum ederetur, alterum liberetur ab omnibus, non autem ut servarentur ad venerationem, utque instar Dei adorarentur, quod haec tenus a papistis est factum. Iidem quoque sacrilegio se alligarunt, cum alteram sacramenti partem, hoc est, sacrum calicem, populo substraxerunt. Praeterea, ad rectum sacramentorum usum illud quoque est necessarium, ut intelligatur quem ad finem tam minister, quam qui sacramenta accipit, ea referant: nam qui sacramentum accipit, si secus atqui oportet de fine ejus senserit, ibi sacramenti quoque usus et fructus cessat; quod et in sacrificiorum rejectione est evidens: item si doctor falsam doctrinam palam obtrudat, quamquam sacramenta sint a Deo instituta, tamen quia impii alio quam quo Deus voluit ea referant, ei sunt ingrata et detestabilia. Il autem usuvenire asserimus in sacramentis ecclesia papisticae; tota enim ceremonia a Christo instituta, tam in forma exteriore, quam in fine et fructus

quhilk, we affirme, the haill action of the Lord Jesus to be adulterated, aswell in the external forme, as in the end and opinion. Quhat Christ Jesus did, and commanded to be done, is evident be the Evangelistes and be Saint Paull: quhat the Preist dois at his altar we neid not to rehearse. The end and cause of Christs institution, and why the selfesame suld be used, is expressed in thir words, Doe ze this in remembrance of me, als oft as ze sall eit of this bread, and drinke of this coupe, ze sall shaw furth, that is, extoll, preach, magnifie and praise the Lords death, till he cum.¹ Bot to quhat end, and in what opinioun the Preistes say their Messe, let the wordes of the same, their awin Doetouris and wrytings witnes: To wit, that they, as Mediatoris betwix Christ and his Kirk, do offer unto God the Father, a Sacrifice propitiatorie for the sinnes of the quick and the dead. Quhilk doctrine, as blasphemous to Christ Jesus, and making derogation to the sufficiencie of his only Sacrifice, once offered for purgatioun of all they that sall be sanctifyed,² we utterly abhorre, detest and renounce.

opinione, penitus est adulterata; quid Jesus Christus egerit, quid fieri praeceperit, id perspicuum est ex evangelistis et Paulo; quid sacerdos agat ad aram, nihil opus est commemorare. Finis et causa cur Christus ea instituerit, et cur nos item eisdem et eodem modo uti debcamus, his verbis diserte exprimitur, Hoe facite in mei memoria, quoties de hoc pane cederitis, et de hoc calice bibetis, annunciatibus, hoc est, efferetis, vulgabitis, praedicabitis, et prosequemini laudibus mortem Domini donee veniat. Sed quil sacerdotes missando spectent, quam opinionem de missa velint haberi, ipsa missæ verba, ipsi doctores corum judicabunt, quippe qui, tanquam conciliatores ecclesiae cum Christo, sacrificium Deo Patri offerant propitiatorium pro peccatis vivorum et mortuorum: Hanc nos corum doctrinam velut contumeliosam adversus Jesum Christum rejicimus et detestamur; quippe quæ unico sacrificio, semel ab eo pro omnibus qui sanctificabuntur oblato, detrahatur, et velut parum efficax in eum usum coarguat.

QUIBUS COMMUNICARI SACRAMENTA DEBEANT.

Baptismum existimamus non minus communicandum infantibus fulgium, quam iis quibus est rationis et judicii usus: itaque damnamus errorem Anabaptistarum, qui ante fidem et rationis usum negant ad pueros pertinere baptismum. Cœna autem dominicæ participes esse debere eos modo credimus, qui in familia fidei contineantur; quique sese ipsi probare et examinare possint, non modo in iis quæ proprie ad fidei causam spectant, sed etiam quæ ad officium erga proximum pertineant. At qui edunt et bibunt ex hac saera mensa, interim fidei vacui, aut a fraterna caritate alieni, hi indigne edunt. Hanc igitur ob causam, in nostris ecclesiis ministri et publice et privatim de fide et vita eorum cognoscunt, qui ad mensam domini Jesu Christi accedunt.

DE MAGISTRATU CIVILI.

Agnoscimus item et confitemur imperia, regna, dominatus, et civitates, divisas et institutas esse a Deo: item imperatoribus in sua imperia, regibus in regna, dueibus et principibus in dynastias, aliisque magistratibus in suas civitates, jus et potestatem esse ex ordinatione et instituto Dei, ad glorie ipsius manifestationem, et singularem humani generis utilitatem et commoditatem. Itaque quicunque id agit, ut jamdiu corroboratum inter homines civilem ordinem aut tollat aut conturbet, cum nos asserimus non modo humani generis esse inimicum, sed adversus expressam Dei voluntatem impium gerere bellum. Praeterea asserimus atque affirmamus, iis qui autoritate justa funguntur, omnem laudem, honorem, et reverentiam esse deferendam: propterea, quod cum vices Dei inter homines gerant, in eorum conciliis Deus ipse assideat, ac de ipsis judicibus et principibus (quibus gladium dedit, ut bonos tucantur, et in noxiis animadvertant) ipse judicabit. Praeterea affirmamus regum, principum, aliorumque magistratum, vel principium esse munus ut religionem puram tucantur, adulteratam maulis purgent; neque enim ad civilis modo ordinis conservationem, sed ad religionis etiam tutelam sunt instituti, ut idolatriam, omnemque superstitionem in ea oborientem

And therefore wee confesse and avow, that sik as resist the supreme power, doing that thing quhilk appertains to his charge, do resist Goddis ordinance; and therefore cannot be guiltles. And farther we affirme, that whosoever denies unto them ayde, their counsell and comfort, quhiles the Princes and Rulers vigilantly travell in execution of their office, that the same men deny their helpe, support and counsell to God, quha, be the presence of his Lieu-tenant, dois crave it of them.

CONFESSIO FIDEI SCOTICANÆ II.

THE SECOND SCOTCH CONFESION, OR THE NATIONAL COVENANT.
A.D. 1580.

[This Confession is a strong anti-papal appendix to the former, and was subscribed by the King, the Council and Court, at Holyrood House, 1580, by persons of all ranks in 1581, again in 1590 and 1638. The text, with the quaint old spelling, is likewise taken from Dunlop's Collection of Scotch Confessions, Vol. II. pp. 103 sqq. and 811 sqq. The Latin version is said to have been made by JOHN CRAIG, who wrote the Scotch, and is superior to the one in the Syntagma Confess. (pp. 126 sqq.), which Niemeyer (pp. 357 sqq.) has reproduced.]

THE CONFESION OF FAITH OF THE
KIRK OF SCOTLAND; OR,
THE NATIONAL COVENANT.

We all, and every ane of us underwritten, protest, That after lang and dew examination of our awne consciences in matters of trew and false religion, we ar now throughlie resovit in the trewhth be the Word and spreit of God: and theirfoir we believe with our heartis, confesse with our monthis, subserue with our handis, and constantlie affirme before God and the haill wairld, That this only is the trew Christian Faith and Religion, pleasing God, and bringing salvation to man, quhilk is now, be the mercie of God, revealed to the wairld be the preaching of the blessed Evangel; and is received, believed, and defendit by mony and sundrie notabil kirkis and realmes, but chiefly be the Kirke of Scotland, the Kings Majestie and three Estatis of this Realme, as Godis eternall trewhth, and only ground of our salvation; as mair particularlie is expressed in the Confession of our Faith, stablished, and publickly confirmed by sundrie Actis of Parliaments, and now of a lang tyme hath been openlie professed by the Kings Majestie, and haill body of this Realme both in brugh and land. To the quhilke Confession and forme of Religion we willingly agree in our consciences in all pointis, as unto Godis undouted trewh and veritie, groundit only upon his written word.

And theirfoir we abhorre and detest all contrarie Religion and Doctrine; but chiefly all kynde of Papistrie in generall and particular headis, even as they ar now damned and confuted by the word of God and kirk of Scotland. But in special, we detest and refuse the usurped authoritie of that Romane Antichrist upon the scriptures of God, upon the Kirk, the civill Magistrate, and conscientees of men: All his tyranous lawes made upon indifferent thingis againis our Christian libertie: His erroneous doctrine againis the sufficiencie of the written word, the perfection of the law, the office of Christ, and his blessed Evangell: His corrupted doctrine concerning originall sinne, our natural inhabilitie and rebellion to Godis Law, our justification by faith onlie, our unperfect sanctifi-et propugnata est; explicata etiam uberius, in Fidei confessione, plurimis comitiorum publicorum actis confirmata, regisque serenissimi et universorum hujus regni civium publica multorum jam annorum professione approbata. Cui nos Confessioni cultusque divini formulae, ut veritati divinae certissima sacrarum autoritate subnixa, lumentissimis animis in singulis assentimur.

Omniaque ideo contraria de religione dogmata aversamur; prae- certim vero papismum universum et singula ejus capita, quemadmodum hodie Dei verbo confutata et ab ecclesia Scoticana damnata sunt. Nominatim detestamur anti- christi istius Romani in sacras scripturas, in ecclesias, in magistratum politicum, et in hominum conscientias sacrilege vendicatam autoritatem, nefarias omnes de rebus aliaphoris leges, libertati Christianae derogantes: impium de sacrarum literarum, de legis, de officii Christi, de beati evangelii imperfectione dogma: perversam de peccato originis, de natura nostrae impotentia et in legem divinam contumacia, de justificatione per solam fidem: de imperfecta nostra sanctitate et obedientia legi praestanda; de natura, numero et usu cation and obedience to the law; the nature, number, and use of the holy sacraments: His fyve bastard sacraments; with all his ritis, ceremonies, and false doctrine, added to the ministration of the trew sacraments without the Word of God: His ernell judgement againis infants departing without the sacrament: His absolute necessitie of baptisme: His blasphemous opinion of transubstantiation, or reall presence of Christis body in the elements, and receiving of the same by the wicked, or bodies of men: His dispensations with solemnit aithis, perjuries, and degrees of marriage forbidden in the Word: His erueltie againis the innocent divorceit: His divilish messe: His blasphemous priesthead: His prophanie sacrifice for the sinnis of the deade and the quicke: His canonization of men, calling upon angelis or sanctis depairted; worshipping of imagerie, reliques, and crocis; dedicating of kirkis, altares, dayes; vowes to creatures: His purgatory, prayers for the dead; praying or speaking in a strange language: His processions and blasphemous letany: His multitude of advocatis or mediators with his manifold orders, and auricular confessions: His despered and uncertain Repentance: His

And finallie, We detest all his vain allegories, ritis, signes, and traditions brought in the Kirk, without or againis the Word of God and doctrine of this trew reformed Kirk; to the quhilk we joyn our selves willinglie in Doctrine, Faith, Religion, Discipline, and use of the holy sacraments, as livelie members of the same, in Christ our head: Promising and swearing be the GREAT NAME OF THE LORD our GOD, That we sall contenow in the obedience of the Doctrine and Discipline of this Kirk,¹ and sall defend

And seing that monie ar stirred up be Sathan, and that Roman Antichrist, to promise, sweare, subservye, and for a tyme use the holie sacraments in the Kirk deceitfullie, againis their awne conscience, minding heirby, first under the external cloke of Religion, to corrupt and subvert secretlie Godis trew Religion within the Kirk; and afterward, when tyme may serve, to become open enemies and persecuters of the same, under vain houpe of the Papis dispensation, devysed againis the Word of God, to his greater confusion, and their double condemnation in the day of the Lord Jesus: We theirfoir, willing to take away all suspicione of hypocrisie, and of sic double dealing with God and his Kirk, protest, and call the SEARCHER OF ALL HEARTIS for witness, that our mindis and heartis do fullilie agree with this our Confession, promeis, aith, and subscription: sa that we ar not movit with ony warldlie respect, but ar perswadit onlie in our conscience, ARTICULI XXXIX. ECCLESIAE ANGLICANÆ. A.D. 1562.

THE THIRTY-NINE ARTICLES OF RELIGION OF THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND,
PUBLISHED A.D. 1571,

Together with the Revision of the Same, as set forth by the PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,

A.D. 1801.

1. The Latin text of the Elizabethan Articles, adopted in 1562, is a reprint of the editio princeps of Reginald Wolfe, royal printer, London, 1562, issued by express authority of the Queen, and reproduced by Charles Hardwick, in his History of the Articles of Religion, new edition, Cambridge, 1859, pp. 277 sqq. (Hardwick gives also, in four parallel columns, the English edition of 1571, and the Forty-two Articles of 1553, Latin and English, with the textual variations of the Parker MS. of 1571, and other printed editions.)

2. The English text is reprinted, with the old spelling, from the authorized London edition of John Cawood, 1571, as found in Hardwick, l. c.

The question of the comparative authority of the Latin and English texts is answered by Burnet, Waterland, and Hardwick, to the effect that both are equally authentic, but that in doubtful cases the Latin must determine the sense. The Articles were passed, recorded, and ratified in the year 1562 (1563), in Latin only; but these Latin Articles were revised and translated by the Convocation of 1571, and both the Latin and English texts, adjusted as nearly as possible, were published in the same year by the royal authority. Subscription was hereafter required to the English Articles, called the Articles of 1562, by the famous Act of the XIII. of Elizabeth. See Hardwick, l. c. p. 159.

3. The American Revision of the Articles, as adopted by the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, held in Trenton, New Jersey, Sept. 12, 1801, is taken from the standard American edition of The Book of Common Prayer (published by the Harpers, New York, 1844, and by the New York Bible and Common Prayer-Book Society, 1873, pp. 512 sqq.). It has been compared with the Journal of the Convention, edited by Dr. W. STEVENS PERRY, in Journals of the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, 1785-1835 (Claremont, N. H., 1874), Vol. I. pp. 279 sqq.

4. To facilitate the comparison, the words in which the English and American editions differ are printed in italics. The chief differences are the omission of the Athanasian Creed, in Art. VIII.; the omission of Art. XXI., on the Authority of General Councils; and the entire reconstruction of Art. XXXVII., on the Power of the Civil Magistrate.]

The English editions of the Articles are usually preceded by the following Royal Declaration, which is the work of Archbishop Laud (1628):

‘Being by God’s Ordinance, according to Our just Title, Defender of the Faith, and Supreme Goverour of the Church, within these Our Dominions, We hold it most agreeable to this Our Kingly Office, and Our own religious Zeal, to conserve and maintain the Church committed to Our Charge, in the Unity of true Religion, and in the Bond of Peace; and not to suffer unnecessary Disputations, Altercations, or Questions to be raised, which may nourish Faction both in the Church and Commonwealth. We have therefore, upon mature Deliberation, and with the Advice of so many of Our Bishops as might conveniently be called together, thought fit to make this Declaration following:

‘That the Articles of the Church of England (which have been allowed and authorized heretofore, and which Our Clergy generally have subscribed unto) do contain the true Doctrine of the Church of England agreeable to God’s Word, which We do therefore ratify and confirm, requiring all Our loving Subjects to continue in the uniform Profession thereof, and prohibiting the least difference from the said Articles; which to that End We command to be new printed, and this Our Declaration to be published therewith.

‘That We are Supreme Goverour of the Church of England: And that if any Difference arise about the external Policy, concerning the Injunctions, Canone, and other Constitutions whatsoever thereto belonging, the Clergy in their Convocation is to order and settle them, having first obtained leave under Our Broad Seal so to do: and We approving their said Ordinances and Constitutions, providing that none be made contrary to the Laws and Customs of the Land.

‘That out of Our Princeely Care that the Churchmen may do the Work which is proper unto them, the Bishops and Clergy, from time to time in Convocation, upon their humble Desire, shall have Licence under Our Broad Seal to deliberate of, and to do all such Things, as, being made plain by them, and assented unto by Us, shall concern the settled Continuance of the Doctrine and Discipline of the Church of England now established; from which We will not endure any varying or departing in the least Degree.

That for the present, though some differences have been ill raised, yet We take comfort in this, that all Clergymen within Our Realm have always most willingly subscribed to the Articles established; which is an argument to Us, that they all agree in the true, usual, literal meaning of the said Articles; and that even in those curious points, in which the present differences lie, men of all sorts take the Articles of the Church of England to be for them; which is an argument again, that none of them intend any desertion of the Articles established.

That, therefore, in these both curious and unhappy differences, which have for so many hundred years, in different times and places, exercised the Church of Christ, We will, that all further curious search be laid aside, and these disputes shut up in God's promises, as they be generally set forth to us in the holy Scriptures, and the general meaning of the Articles of the Church of England according to them. And that no man hereafter shall either print or preach to draw the Article aside any way, but shall submit to it in the plain and full meaning thereof: and shall not put his own sense or comment to be the meaning of the Article, but shall take it in the literal and grammatical sense.

That if any publick Reader in either of Our Universities, or any Head or Master of a College, or any other person respectively in either of them, shall affix any new sense to any Article, or shall publicly read, determine, or hold any publick Disputation, or suffer any such to be held either way, in either the Universities or Colleges respectively; or if any Divine in the Universities shall preach or print any thing either way, other than is already established in Convocation with our Royal Assent, he, or they the Offenders, shall be liable to our displeasure, and the Church's censure in Our Commission Ecclesiastical, as well as any other: And we will see there shall be due Execution upon them.'

XIII.

Of workes before iustifica-tion.

Workes done before the grace of Christe, and the inspiration of his spirite, are not pleasaunt to God forasmuche as they spring not of fayth in Jesu Christ, neither do they make men meete to receaue grace, or (as the schole auethours saye) deserue grace of congruitie: yea rather for that they are not done as GOD hath wylled and com-maunded them to be done, we doubt not but they haue the nature of synne.

XIV.

Opera Supererogationis.

Opera quæ supererogationis appellant, non possunt sine arrogantia et impietate praedicari. Nam illis declarant homines non tantum se Deo reddere que tenentur sed plus in eius gratiam fa-eere quam deberent: cum apertè Christus dicat: Cum feceritis omnia quecumque preecepta sunt uobis, dicite: Serui inutiles sumus.

AMERICAN REVIS. 1801.

XIII.

Of Works before Justifica-tion.

Works done before the grace of Christ, and the Inspiration of his Spirit, are not pleasant to God, forasmuch as they spring not of faith in Jesus Christ; neither do they make men meet to receive grace, or (as the School-authors say) deserve grace of congruity: yea rather, for that they are not done as God hath willed and commanded them to be done, we doubt not but they have the nature of sin.

XIV.

Of workes of supererogation.

Voluntarie workes be-sydes, ouer and aboue Gods commaundementes, which they call workes of supererogation, can not be taught without arro-gancie and impietie. For by them men do declare that they do not onely render vnto God as muche as they are bounde to do, but that they do more for his sake than of bounden duetie is required: Whereas Christe sayth playnly, When ye have done al that are commaunded to you, say, We be vnprofitable seruantes.

Of Works of Supererogation.

Voluntary Works besides, over and above, God's Com-mandments, which they call Works of Supererogation, can not be taught without arrogancy and impiety: for by them men do declare, that they do not only ren-der unto God as much as they are bound to do, but that they do more for his sake, than of bounden duty is required: whereas Christ saith plainly, When ye have done all that are command-ed to you, say, We are un-profitable servants.

XV.

Nemo præter Christum sine peccato.

Christus in nostræ naturæ ueritate per omnia similis factus est nobis, excepto peccato, à quo prorsus erat immunitis, tum in carne tum in spiritu. Venit, ut Agnus absque macula esset, qui mundi peccata per immolationem sui semel factam, tolleret: et peccatum (ut inquit Ioannes) in eo non erat. Sed nos reliqui, etiam baptizati, et in Christo regenerati, in multis tamen offendimus omnes: Et si dixerimus quia peccatum non habemus, nos ipsos seducimus, et veritas in nobis non est.

XVI.

De Lapsis post Baptismum.

Non omne peccatum Mortale post baptismum uoluntarie perpetratum, est peccatum in Spiritum sanctum et irremissibile. Proinde lapsis à baptismo in peccatu, locus paenitentia non est negandus. Post acceptum spiritum sanctum, possumus à gratia data recedere atque peccare, denuóque per gratiam Dei resurgere ac resipiscere. Ideóque illi damnandi sunt, qui se quamdiu

XV.

Of Christe alone without sinne.

Christe in the trueth of oure nature, was made lyke vnto vs in al thinges (sinne only except) from which he was clearley voyde, both in his fleshe, and in his spirite. He came to be the lambe without spot, who by the sacrifice of hym self once made, shoulde take away the sinnes of the worlde: and sinne, (as S. John sayeth) was not in hym. But al we the rest, (althrough baptizied, and borne agayne in Christ) yet offend in many thinges, and if we say we haue no sinne, we deceave our selues, and the trueth is not in vs.

XVI.

Of sinne after Baptisme.

Not euery deadly sinne willingly committed after baptisme, is sinne agaynst the holy ghost, and vnpardonable. Wherefore the graunt of repentaunce is not to be denyed to such as fall into sinne after baptisme. After we have receaved the holy ghost, we may depart from grace geuen, and fall into sinne, and by the grace of God (we may) aryse agayne,

XV.

Of Christ alone without Sin.

Christ in the truth of our nature was made like unto us in all things, sin only except, from which he was clearly void, both in his flesh, and in his spirit. He came to be the Lamb without spot, who, by sacrifice of himself once made, should take away the sins of the world; and sin (as Saint John saith) was not in him. But all we the rest, although baptized, and born again in Christ, yet offend in many things; and if we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.

XVI.

Of Sin after Baptism.

Not every deadly sin willingly committed after Baptism is sin against the Holy Ghost, and unpardonable. Wherefore the grant of repentance is not to be denied to such as fall into sin after Baptism. After we have received the Holy Ghost, we may depart from grace given, and fall into sin, and by the grace of God we may arise again, and amend our lives. And Predestination to Life is the everlasting purpose of God, whereby (before the foundations of the world were laid) he hath constantly decreed by his counsel secret to us, to deliver from curse and damnation those whom he hath chosen in Christ out of mankind, and to bring them by Christ to everlasting salvation, as vessels made to honour. Wherefore, they which be endued with so excellent a benefit of God, be called according to God's purpose by his Spirit working in due season: they through Grace obey the calling: they be justified freely: they be made sons of God by adoption: they be made like the image of his only-begotten Son Jesus Christ: they walk religiously in good works, and at length, by God's mercy, they attain to everlasting felicity.

THE ANGLICAN CATECHISM. A.D. 1549, 1662.

[The Catechism of the Church of England, and of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, is found in all editions of 'The Book of Common Prayer,' between the Baptismal Service and the Order of Confirmation. It was a part of the first Prayer-book of Edward VI. (1549), headed 'Confirmacion,' but has undergone several modifications. The Preface to the Commandments with their full text was added in 1552. The explanation of the Sacraments was added in 1604 by Bishop Overall, at that time Dean of St. Paul's and Prolocutor of the Convocation. The last revision of the Prayer-book in 1661 (published 1662) introduced the heading 'A Catechism,' and a few changes in the answer on baptism. The American text, in the explanation of the Commandments, substitutes 'the civil authority' for 'the king and all that are put in authority under him,' and omits several directions in the rubrics. These and other changes are indicated by italics.

The authentic text is found in the Black-letter Prayer-book, so called, which contains the original marginal MS. notes and alterations of 1661, and was annexed to the Act of Uniformity. It was supposed to be lost, but recovered in 1867 in the Library of the House of Lords, and reproduced in phot zincographic fac-simile for the Royal Commissioners on Ritual, with a Preface by Dean Stanley, London, 1871, large 4to. Besides this, I have compared the reprint of the Prayer-book of 1662, published in London, 1853, pp. 251-258, and The Book of Common Prayer, with notes legal and historical, by Archibald John Stephens, Lond. 1854, Vol. III, pp. 1449-1477.]

A CATECHISM;

THAT IS TO SAY,

AN INSTRUCTION, TO BE LEARNED OF EVERY PERSON BEFORE HE BE BROUGHT TO BE CONFIRMED BY THE BISHOP.

Ques. What is your name?

Answer. N. or M.

Ques. Who gave you this name?

Ans. My *Godfathers and Godmothers*¹ in my Baptism; wherein I was made a member of Christ, the child of God, and an inheritor of the kingdom of heaven.

Ques. What did your *Godfathers and Godmothers*² then for you?

Ans. They did promise and vow three things in my name. First, that I should renounce the devil and all his works, the pomps and vanity of this wicked world, and all the sinful lusts of the flesh. Secondly, that I should believe all the Articles of the Christian Faith. And, thirdly, that I should keep God's holy will and commandments, and walk in the same all the days of my life.

Ques. Dost thou not think that thou art bound to believe and to do as they have promised for thee?

Ans. Yes, verily; and by God's help so I will. And I heartily thank our heavenly Father that he hath called me to this state of salvation through Jesus Christ our Saviour. And I pray unto God to give me his grace, that I may continue in the same unto my life's end.

Catechist. Rehearse the Articles of thy Belief.

Answer. I believe in God the Father Almighty, Maker of heaven and earth :

And in Jesus Christ his only Son our Lord, who was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried ; he descended into hell ; the third day he rose again from the dead ; he ascended into heaven, and sitteth at the right hand of God the Father Almighty ; from thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead.

I believe in the Holy Ghost ; the holy Catholie Church ; the communion of saints ; the forgiveness of sins ; the resurrection of the body ; and the life everlasting. Amen.

Ques. What dost thou chiefly learn in these Articles of thy Belief ?

Ans. First, I learn to believe in God the Father, who hath made me, and all the world.

Secondly, in God the Son, who hath redeemed me, and all mankind.

Thirdly, in God the Holy Ghost, who sanctifieth me, and all the *elect*¹ people of God.

Ques. You said that your *Godfathers and Godmothers*² did promise for you that you should keep God's Commandments. Tell me how many there be ?

Ans. Ten.

Ques. Which *be*³ they ?

Ans. The same which God spake in the twentieth chapter of Exodus, saying, I am the Lord thy God, who brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

I. Thou shalt have none other gods but me.

II. Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven image, nor the likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or in the earth beneath, or in the water under the earth. Thou shalt not bow down to them, nor worship them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, and visit the sins of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; and show mercy unto thousands in them that love me, and keep my commandments.

³ Amer. ed. : are.

III. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

IV. Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath-day. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all that thou hast to do; but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God. In it thou shalt do no manner of work, thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, thy man-servant, and thy maid-servant, thy cattle, and the stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the seventh day, and hallowed it.

V. Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

VI. Thou shalt do no murder.

VII. Thou shalt not commit adultery.

VIII. Thou shalt not steal.

IX. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

X. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his servant, nor his maid, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor any thing that is his.

Ques. What dost thou chiefly learn by these Commandments?

Ans. I learn two things: my duty towards God, and my duty towards my neighbor.

Ques. What is thy duty towards God?

Ans. My duty towards God is to believe in him, to fear him, and to love him with all my heart, with all my mind, with all my soul, and with all my strength; to worship him, to give him thanks, to put my whole trust in him, to call upon him, to honor his holy name and his Word, and to serve him truly all the days of my life.

Ques. What is thy duty towards thy neighbor?

Ans. My duty towards my neighbor is to love him as myself, and to do to all men as I would they should do unto me: to love, honor, and succor my father and mother: to honor and obey the King [Queen], and all that are put in authority under him [her]:¹ to submit myself to all my governors, teachers, spiritual pastors and masters: to order myself lowly and reverently to all my betters: to hurt nobody by word nor deed: to be true and just in all my dealing: to bear no malice nor hatred in my heart: to keep my hands from picking and stealing, and my tongue from evil-speaking, lying, and slandering: to keep my body in temperance, soberness, and chastity: not to covet nor desire other men's goods; but to learn and labor truly to get mine own living, and to do my duty in that state of life unto which it shall please God to call me.

Catechist. My good child,² know this, that thou art not able to do these things of thyself, nor to walk in the commandments of God, and to serve him, without his special grace; which thou must learn at all times to call for by diligent prayer. Let me hear, therefore, if thou canst say the Lord's Prayer.

Answer. Our Father, *which*³ art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive *them that*⁴ trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation; but deliver us from evil. Amen.

Ques. What desirest thou of God in this Prayer?

Ans. I desire my Lord God our heavenly Father, who is the giver of all goodness, to send his grace unto me, and to all people; that we may worship him, serve him, and obey him, as we ought to do. And I pray unto God, that he will send us all things that be needful both for our souls and bodies; and that he will be merciful unto us, and forgive us our sins; and that it will please him to save and defend us in all dangers, ghostly and bodily;⁵ and that he will keep us from all sin and wickedness, and from our *ghostly*⁶ enemy, and from everlasting death. And this I trust he will do of his mercy and goodness, through our Lord Jesus Christ. And therefore I say, Amen, so be it.

Ques. How many Sacraments hath Christ ordained in his Church?

Ans. Two only, as generally necessary to salvation: that is to say, Baptism, and the Supper of the Lord.

Ques. What meanest thou by this word Sacrament?

Ans. I mean an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace given unto us, ordained by Christ himself as a means whereby we receive the same, and a pledge to assure us thereof.

Ques. How many parts are there in a Sacrament?

Ans. Two: the outward visible sign, and the inward spiritual grace.

Ques. What is the outward visible sign or form in Baptism?

Ans. Water; wherein the person *is baptized*¹ IN THE NAME OF THE FATHER, AND OF THE SON, AND OF THE HOLY GHOST.

Ques. What is the inward and spiritual grace?

Ans. A death unto sin, and a new birth unto righteousness: for, being by nature born in sin, and the children of wrath, we are hereby made the children of grace.

Ques. What is required of persons to be baptized?

Ans. Repentance, whereby they forsake sin; and Faith, whereby they steadfastly believe the promises of God made to them in that Sacrament.

Ques. Why, then, are infants baptized, when by reason of their tender age they can not perform them?

Ans. Because they promise them both by their Sureties;² which promise, when they come to age, themselves are bound to perform.

Ques. Why was the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper ordained?

Ans. For the continual remembrance of the sacrifice of the death of Christ, and of the benefits which we receive thereby.

Ques. What is the outward part or sign of the Lord's Supper?

Ans. Bread and wine, which the Lord hath commanded to be received.

Ques. What is the inward part, or thing signified?

Ans. The body and blood of Christ, which are verily and indeed taken and received by the faithful in the Lord's Supper.

¹ Edition of 1604: the person baptized is dipped, or sprinkled with it. The change was made in 1661.

² Ed. of 1604: Yes; they do perform them by their Sureties, who promise and vow them both in their names: which, etc.

Ques. What are the benefits whereof we are partakers thereby?

Ans. The strengthening and refreshing of our souls by the body and blood of Christ, as our bodies are by the bread and wine.

Ques. What is required of them who come to the Lord's Supper?

Ans. To examine themselves, whether they repent them truly of their former sins, steadfastly purposing to lead a new life; have a lively faith in God's mercy through Christ, with a thankful remembrance of his death; and be in charity with all men.

¶ The *Curate*¹ of every parish shall diligently, upon Sundays and Holy-days,² after the second Lesson at Evening Prayer, openly in the church instruct and examine so many children of his parish sent unto him, as he shall think convenient, in some part of this Catechism.

¶ And all Fathers, Mothers, Masters, and Dames,³ shall cause their children, servants, and apprentices (which have not learned their Catechism), to come to the church at the time appointed, and obediently to hear, and be ordered by the Curate,⁴ until such time as they have learned all that is here appointed for them to learn.

¶ So soon as children are come to a competent age, and can say, in their mother tongue, the Creed, the Lord's Prayer, and the Ten Commandments, and also can answer to the other Questions of this short Catechism, they shall be brought to the Bishop. And every one shall have a Godfather or a Godmother as a witness of their Confirmation.

¶ And whosoever the Bishop shall give knowledge for children to be brought unto him for their Confirmation, the *Curate*⁴ of every parish shall either bring, or send in writing, with his hand subscribed thereunto, the names of all such persons within his parish as he shall think fit to be presented to the Bishop to be confirmed. And, if the Bishop approve of them, he shall confirm them in manner following.

¹ The American edition reads Minister for Curate, and omits the other words printed in italics.

² The American edition adds: or on some other convenient occasion.

³ The American edition reads Mistresses for Dames.

⁴ The American edition reads Minister.

THE LAMBETH ARTICLES. A.D. 1595.

[The Lambeth Articles are a Calvinistic Appendix to the Thirty-nine Articles. They were composed by Dr. Whitaker, Regius Professor of Divinity at Cambridge, whose original draft (Hardwick, pp. 344-347) was still more 'ad mentem Calvinii', in opposition to the nine propositions of Barret (see Strype's Whitgift, Vol. III. p. 320). They were formally approved by the Archbishop of Canterbury (Dr. Whitgift), the Archbishop of York (Dr. Matthew Hutton, who indorsed the first article with 'verissimum', and approved the rest), and a number of prelates convened at Lambeth Palace, London, Nov. 29, 1595, but not sanctioned by Queen Elizabeth (who was rather displeased with the convening of a synod without her royal permission), and met with considerable opposition. They were accepted by the Dublin Convocation of 1615, and engrafted on the Irish Articles. During the Arminian reaction under the Stuarts they lost their authority.

The Latin text is taken from Strype's Life and Acts of John Whitgift, Vol. II. p. 280 (Oxford edition, 1822). Strype copied it from the authentic MS. of the Lord Treasurer (probably presented to him by Dr. Whitaker).

The English text is from Thomas Fuller's Church History of Britain, Vol. III. p. 147 (London edition of 1837, or Vol. V. p. 220 of the Oxford University Press ed. 1845).]

ARTICULI APPROBATI A REVERENDISSIMIS DOMINIS D.D. JOANNE ARCHI-EPISCOPO CANTUARIENSI, ET RICHARDO EPISCOPO LONDINENSI, ET ALIIS
THEOLOGIS, LAMBETHÆ, NOVEMBRIS 20, ANNO 1595.

1. Deus ab aeterno praedestinavit quosdam ad vitam, et quosdam ad mortem reprobavit.

2. Causa movens aut efficiens praedestinationis ad vitam non est prævisio fidei, aut perseverantie, aut bonorum operum, aut ullius rei, que insit in personis praedestinatis, sed sola voluntas beneplaciti Dei.

3. Praedestinatorum profinitus et certus numerus est qui nec augeri nec minui potest.

4. Qui non sunt praedestinati ad salutem necessario propter peccata sua damnabuntur.

5. Vera, viva [et] justificans fides, et Spiritus Dei sanctificans non extinguitur, non excidit, non

1. God from eternity hath predestinated certain men unto life; certain men he hath reprobated.

2. The moving or efficient cause of predestination unto life is not the foresight of faith, or of perseverance, or of good works, or of any thing that is in the person predestinated, but only the good will and pleasure of God.

3. There is predetermined a certain number of the predestinate, which can neither be augmented nor diminished.

4. Those who are not predestinated to salvation shall be necessarily damned for their sins.

5. A true, living, and justifying faith, and the Spirit of God justifying [sanctifying], is not extin*evanescit in electis, aut finaliter aut totaliter.*

guished, falleth not away; it vanisheth not away in the elect, either finally or totally.

6. Homo vere fidelis, id est, fide justificante præditus, certus est plerophoria fidei, de remissione peccatorum suorum, et salute sempiterna sua per Christum.

6. A man truly faithful, that is, such a one who is endued with a justifying faith, is certain, with the full assurance of faith, of the remission of his sins and of his everlasting salvation by Christ.

7. Gratia salutaris non tribuitur, non communicatur, non con-ceditur universis hominibus, quaservari possint, si voluerint.

7. Saving gracie is not given, is not granted, is not communicated to all men, by which they may be saved if they will.

8. Nemo potest venire ad Chri-stum, nisi datum ei fuerit, et nisi Pater eum traxerit. Et omnes homines non trahuntur a Patre, ut veniant ad Filium.

8. No man can come nnto Christ unless it shall be given nnto him, and unless the Father shall draw him; and all men are not drawn by the Father, that they may come to the Son.

9. Non est positum in arbitrio aut potestate uniuscuiusque ho-minis servari.

9. It is not in the will or power of every one to be saved.

NOTE.

It is interesting to compare with these Lambeth Articles the brief and clear statement of Calvin's doctrine of predestination, which was discovered by the Strasburg editors in an autograph of Calvin, without date, in the Library of Geneva (Cod. 145, fol. 100), and published in Opera, Vol. IX. p. 713, as follows:

ARTICULI DE PRÆDESTINATIONE.

‘Ante creatum primum hominem statuerat Deus æterno consilio quid de toto genere humano fieri vellet.

‘Hoc arcane Dei consilio factum est ut Adam ab integro naturæ sue statu deficeret ac sua defectione traheret omnes suos posteros in ventum æternæ mortis.

‘Ab hoc eodem decreto pendet discrimen inter electos et reprobos; quia alios sibi adoptavit in salutem, alios æterno exitio destinavit.

‘Tametsi justæ Dei vindictæ rasa sunt reprobi, rursum electi vasa misericordiae, causa tamen discriminis non alia in Deo querenda est quam mera ejus voluntas, que summa est justitiae regula.

‘Tametsi electi fide percipiunt adoptionis gratiam, non tamen pendet electio a fide, sed tempore et ordine prior est.

'Sicut initium et perseverantia fidei a gratuita Dei electione fluit, ita non alii vere illuminantur in fidem, nec alii Spiritu regenerationis donantur, nisi quos Deus elegit: reprobos vero vel in sua cecitate manere necesse est, vel excidere a parte fidei, si qua in illis fuerit.'

'Tamen si in Christo eligimur, ordine tamen illud prius est ut nos Dominus in suis euseat, quam ut faciat Christi membra.'

'Tamen si Dei voluntas summa et prima est rerum omnium causa, et Deus diabolum et impios omnes suo arbitrio subjectos habet, Deus tamen neque peccati causu vocari potest, neque mali autor, neque ulli culpe obnoxius est.'

'Tamen si Deus peccato vere infensus est et damnat quidquid est injustitiae in hominibus, quia illi displicet, non tamen nuda ejus permissione tantum, sed nutu quoque et arcane decreto gubernantur omnia hominum facta.'

'Tamen si diabolus et reprobri Dei ministri sunt et organa, et arcana ejus judicia exsequuntur, Deus tamen incomprehensibili modo sic in illis et per illos operatur ut nihil ex eorum vitiis labitis contrahat, quia illorum malitia justae recteque utitur in bonum finem, licet modus sapientiae nobis sit absconditus.'

'Inscite vel calumniose faciunt qui Deum fieri dicunt autorem peccati, si omnia eo volente et ordinante fiant: quia inter manifestam hominum pravitatem et arcana Dei judicia non distinguunt.'

THE IRISH ARTICLES OF RELIGION. A.D. 1615.

[The Irish Articles—probably composed by the learned Archbishop James Ussher (then Professor of Divinity in Dublin), and adopted by the Archbishops, Bishops, and Convocation of the Irish Episcopal Church, and approved by the Viceroy in 1615, four years before the Synod of Dort—although practically superseded by the Thirty-nine Articles, are important as a testimony of the prevailing Calvinism of the leading divines in that Church, which had previously been expressed also in the nine Lambeth Articles. They are still more important as the connecting link between the Thirty-nine Articles and the Westminster Confession, and as the chief source of the latter. The agreement of the two formularies in the order of subjects, the headings of chapters, and in many single phrases, as well as in spirit and sentiment, is very striking. See the comparison in Dr. Alex. F. Mitchell's Minutes of the Westminster Assembly of Divines, Edinb. 1874, Introd. pp. xlvi. sqq. On the history and authority of the Irish Articles see Hardwick's History of the Articles of Religion, 2d ed. pp. 181 sqq.

The text is taken from the original edition of 1615, as appended to Dr. Elrington's Life of Archbishop Ussher (in Works of the Most Rev. James Ussher, Dublin, 1847, Vol. I. Appendix IV.), and reprinted in Hardwick's History, Append. Sixth, pp. 351 sqq. He added a few references to the Lambeth Articles. The spelling is here modernized.]

ARTICLES OF RELIGION,

Agreed upon by the Archbishops and Bishops, and the rest of the Clergy of Ireland, in the Convocation holden at Dublin in the Year of our Lord God 1615, for the Avoiding of Diversities of Opinions, and the Establishing of Consent touching True Religion.

OF THE HOLY SCRIPTURE AND THE THREE CREEDS.

1. The ground of our religion and the rule of faith and all saving truth is the Word of God, contained in the holy Scripture.

2. By the name of holy Scripture we understand all the Canonical Books of the Old and New Testament, viz.:

Of the Old Testament.

The Five Books of Moses.	Job.
Joshua.	Psalms.
Judges.	Proverbs.
Ruth.	Ecclesiastes.
The First and Second of Samuel.	The Song of Solomon.
The First and Second of Kings.	Isaiah.
The First and Second of Chronicles.	Jeremiah, his Propheey and Lamentation.
Ezra.	Ezekiel.
Nchemiah.	Daniel.
Esther.	The Twelve lesser Prophets.

Of the New Testament.

The Gospels according to	Luke,
Matthew,	John,
Mark,	The Acts of the Apostles.

The Epistle of St. Paul to the Romans.	Titus.
II. Corinthians.	Philemon.
Galatians.	Hebrews.
Ephesians.	The Epistle of St. James.
Philippians.	St. Peter II.
Colossians.	St. John III.
II. Thessalonians.	St. Jude.
II. Timothy.	The Revelation of St. John.

All which we acknowledge to be given by the inspiration of God, and in that regard to be of most certain credit and highest authority.

3. The other Books, commonly called Apocryphal, did not proceed from such inspiration, and therefore are not of sufficient authority to establish any point of doctrine; but the Church doth read them as Books containing many worthy things for example of life and instruction of manners.

Such are these following:

The Third Book of Esdras.	Barneh, with the Epistle of Jeremiah.
The Fourth Book of Esdras.	The Song of the Three Children.
The Book of Tobias.	Susanna.
The Book of Judith.	Bell and the Dragon.
Additions to the Book of Esther.	The Prayer of Manasses.
The Book of Wisdom.	The First Book of Maccabæus.
The Book of Jesus, the Son of Sarah, called Ecclesiasticiens.	The Second Book of Maccabæus.

4. The Scriptures ought to be translated out of the original tongues into all languages for the common use of all men: neither is any person to be discouraged from reading the Bible in such a language as he doth understand, but seriously exhorted to read the same with great humility and reverence, as a special means to bring him to the true knowledge of God and of his own duty.

5. Although there be some hard things in the Scripture (especially such as have proper relation to the times in which they were first uttered, and prophecies of things which were afterwards to be fulfilled), yet all things necessary to be known unto everlasting salvation are clearly delivered therein; and nothing of that kind is spoken under dark mysteries in one place which is not in other places spoken more familiarly and plainly, to the capacity both of learned and unlearned.

6. The holy Scriptures contain all things necessary to salvation, and are able to instruct sufficiently in all points of faith that we are bound to believe, and all good duties that we are bound to practice.

7. All and every the Articles contained in the Nicene Creed, the Creed of Athanasius, and that which is commonly called the Apostles' Creed, ought firmly to be received and believed, for they may be proved by most certain warrant of holy Scripture.

OF FAITH IN THE HOLY TRINITY.

8. There is but one living and true God, everlasting, without body, parts, or passions; of infinite power, wisdom, and goodness; the maker and preserver of all things, both visible and invisible. And in unity of this Godhead, there be three persons of one and the same substance, power, and eternity: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost.

9. The essence of the Father doth not beget the essence of the Son; but the person of the Father begetteth the person of the Son, by communicating his whole essence to the person begotten from eternity.

10. The Holy Ghost, proceeding from the Father and the Son, is of one substance, majesty, and glory with the Father and the Son, very and eternal God.

OF GOD'S ETERNAL DECREE AND PREDESTINATION.

11. God from all eternity did, by his unchangeable counsel, ordain whatsoever in time should come to pass; yet so, as thereby no violence is offered to the wills of the reasonable creatures, and neither the liberty nor the contingency of the second causes is taken away, but established rather.

12. By the same eternal counsel God hath predestinated some unto life, and reprobated some unto death: of both which there is a certain number, known only to God, which can neither be increased nor diminished.¹

13. Predestination to life is the everlasting purpose of God whereby, before the foundations of the world were laid, he hath constantly decreed in his sacred counsel to deliver from curse and damnation those whom he hath chosen in Christ out of mankind, and to bring them by Christ unto everlasting salvation, as vessels made to honor.

14. The cause moving God to predestinate unto life is not the foreseeing of faith, or perseverance, or good works, or of any thing which is in the person predestinated, but only the good pleasure of God himself.¹ For all things being ordained for the manifestation of his glory, and his glory being to appear both in the works of his mercy and of his justice, it seemed good to his heavenly wisdom to choose out a certain number towards whom he would extend his undeserved mercy, leaving the rest to be spectacles of his justice.

15. Such as are predestinated unto life be called according unto God's purpose (his spirit working in due season), and through grace they obey the calling, they be justified freely; they be made sons of God by adoption; they be made like the image of his only-begotten Son Jesus Christ; they walk religiously in good works; and at length, by God's mercy, they attain to everlasting felicity. But such as are not predestinated to salvation shall finally be condemned for their sins.²

16. The godlike consideration of predestination and our election in Christ is full of sweet, pleasant, and unspeakable comfort to godly persons, and such as feel in themselves the working of the spirit of Christ, mortifying the works of the flesh and their earthly members, and drawing up their minds to high and heavenly things: as well because it doth greatly confirm and establish their faith of eternal salvation, to be enjoyed through Christ, as because it doth fervently kindle their love towards God; and, on the contrary side, for curious and carnal persons lacking the spirit of Christ to have continually before their eyes the sentence of God's predestination is very dangerous.

17. We must receive God's promises in such wise as they be generally set forth unto us in holy Scripture; and in our doings that will of God is to be followed which we have expressly declared unto us in the Word of God.

OF THE CREATION AND GOVERNMENT OF ALL THINGS.

18. In the beginning of time, when no creature had any being, God, by his word alone, in the space of six days, created all things, and afterwards, by his providence, doth continue, propagate, and order them according to his own will.

² Ibid. iv.

19. The principal creatures are angels and men.

20. Of angels, some continued in that holy state wherin they were created, and are by God's grace forever established therein; others fell from the same, and are reserved in chains of darkness unto the judgment of the great day.

21. Man being at the beginning created according to the image of God (which consisted especially in the wisdom of his mind and the true holiness of his free will), had the covenant of the law ingrafted in his heart, whereby God did promise unto him everlasting life upon condition that he performed entire and perfect obedience unto his Commandments, according to that measure of strength wherewith he was endued in his creation, and threatened death unto him if he did not perform the same.

OF THE FALL OF MAN, ORIGINAL SIN, AND THE STATE OF MAN BEFORE JUSTIFICATION.

22. By one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death went over all men, forasmuch as all have sinned.

23. Original sin standeth not in the imitation of Adam (as the Pelagians dream), but is the fault and corruption of the nature of every person that naturally is engendered and propagated from Adam: whereby it cometh to pass that man is deprived of original righteousness, and by nature is bent unto sin. And therefore, in every person born into the world, it deserveth God's wrath and damnation.

24. This corruption of nature doth remain even in those that are regenerated, whereby the flesh always lusteth against the spirit, and can not be made subject to the law of God. And howsoever, for Christ's sake, there be no condemnation to such as are regenerate and do believe, yet doth the Apostle acknowledge that in itself this concupiscence hath the nature of sin.

25. The condition of man after the fall of Adam is such that he can not turn and prepare himself, by his own natural strength and good works, to faith, and calling upon God. Wherefore, we have no power to do good works, pleasing and acceptable unto God, without the grace of God preventing us, that we may have a good will, and working with us when we have that good will.

26. Works done before the grace of Christ and the inspiration of his Spirit are not pleasing unto God, forasmuch as they spring not of faith in Jesus Christ, neither do they make men meet to receive grace, or (as the School Authors say) deserve grace of congruity: yea, rather, for that they are not done in such sort as God hath willed and commanded them to be done, we doubt not but they are sinful.

27. All sins are not equal, but some far more heinous than others; yet the very least is of its own nature mortal, and, without God's mercy, maketh the offender liable unto everlasting damnation.

28. God is not the author of sin: howbeit, he doth not only permit, but also by his providence govern and order the same, guiding it in such sort by his infinite wisdom as it turneth to the manifestation of his own glory and to the good of his elect.

OF CHRIST, THE MEDIATOR OF THE SECOND COVENANT.

29. The Son, which is the Word of the Father, begotten from everlasting of the Father, the true and eternal God—of one substance with the Father—took man's nature in the womb of the blessed Virgin, of her substance, so that two whole and perfect natures—that is to say, the Godhead and manhood—were inseparably joined in one person, making one Christ very God and very man.

30. Christ, in the truth of our nature, was made like unto us in all things—sin only excepted—from which he was clearly void, both in his life and in his nature. He came as a lamb without spot to take away the sins of the world, by the sacrifice of himself once made, and sin (as St. John saith) was not in him. He fulfilled the law for us perfectly: For our sakes he endured most grievous torments immediately in his soul, and most painful sufferings in his body. He was crucified, and died to reconcile his Father unto us, and to be a sacrifice not only for original guilt, but also for all our actual transgressions. He was buried, and descended into hell, and the third day rose from the dead, and took again his body, with flesh, bones, and all things appertaining to the perfection of man's nature: wherewith he ascended into Heaven, and there sitteth at the right hand of his Father, until he return to judge all men at the last day.

OF THE COMMUNICATING OF THE GRACE OF CHRIST.

31. They are to be condemned that presume to say that every man shall be saved by the law or sect which he professeth, so that he be diligent to frame his life according to that law and the light of nature. For holy Scripture doth set out unto us only the name of Jesus Christ whereby men must be saved.

32. None can come unto Christ unless it be given unto him, and unless the Father draw him. And all men are not so drawn by the Father that they may come unto the Son. Neither is there such a sufficient measure of grace vouchsafed unto every man whereby he is enabled to come unto everlasting life.¹

33. All God's elect are in their time inseparably united unto Christ by the effectual and vital influence of the Holy Ghost, derived from him as from the head unto every true member of his mystical body. And being thus made one with Christ, they are truly regenerated, and made partakers of him and all his benefits.

OF JUSTIFICATION AND FAITH.

34. We are accounted righteous before God only for the merit of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, applied by faith, and not for our own works or merits. And this righteousness, which we so receive of God's mercy and Christ's merits, embraced by faith, is taken, accepted, and allowed of God, for our perfect and full justification.

35. Although this justification be free unto us, yet it cometh not so freely unto us that there is no ransom paid therefore at all. God showed his great mercy in delivering us from our former captivity without requiring of any ransom to be paid or amends to be made on our parts; which thing by us had been impossible to be done. And whereas all the world was not able of themselves to pay any part towards their ransom, it pleased our heavenly Father of his infinite mercy, without any desert of ours, to provide for us the most precious merits of his own Son, whereby our ransom might be fully paid, the law fulfilled, and his justice fully satisfied. So that Christ is now the righteousness of all them that truly believe in him. He, for them, paid their ransom by his death. He, for them, fulfilled the law in his life; that now, in him, and by him, every true Christian man may be called a fulfiller of the law: forasmuch as that which our infirmity was not able to effect, Christ's justice hath performed. And thus the justice and mercy of God do embrace each other: the grace of God not shutting out the justice of God in the matter of our justification, but only shutting out the justice of man (that is to say, the justice of our own works) from being any cause of deserving our justification.

36. ¹When we say that we are justified by faith only, we do not mean that the said justifying faith is alone in man without true repentance, hope, charity, and the fear of God (for such a faith is dead, and can not justify); neither do we mean that this, our act, to believe in Christ, or this, our faith in Christ, which is within us, doth of itself justify us or deserve our justification unto us (for that were to account ourselves to be justified by the virtue or dignity of something that is within ourselves); but the true understanding and meaning thereof is, that although we hear God's Word, and believe it—although we have faith, hope, charity, repentance, and the fear of God within us, and add never so many good works thereunto—yet we must renounce the merit of all our said virtues, of faith, hope, charity, and all our other virtues and good deeds which we either have done, shall do, or can do, as things that be far too weak and imperfect and insufficient to deserve remission of our sins and our justification, and therefore we must trust only in God's mercy and the merits of his most dearly beloved Son, our only Redeemer, Saviour, and Justifier, Jesus Christ. Nevertheless, because faith doth directly send us to Christ for our justification, and that by faith given us of God we embrace the promise of God's mercy and the remission of our sins (which thing none other of our virtues or works properly doth), therefore the Scripture useth to say that faith without works—and the ancient fathers of the Church to the same purpose—that only faith doth justify us.

37. By justifying faith we understand not only the common belief of the articles of Christian religion, and the persuasion of the truth of God's Word in general, but also a particular application of the gracious promises of the gospel to the comfort of our own souls, whereby we lay hold on Christ, with all his benefits; having an earnest trust and confidence in God, that he will be merciful unto us for his only Son's sake. So that a true believer may be certain, by the assurance of faith, of the forgiveness of his sins, and of his everlasting salvation by Christ.¹

38. A true, lively, justifying faith and the sanctifying spirit of God is not extinguished nor vanished away in the regenerate, either finally or totally.²

OF SANCTIFICATION AND GOOD WORKS.

39. All that are justified are likewise sanctified, their faith being always accompanied with true repentance and good works.

40. Repentance is a gift of God, whereby a godly sorrow is wrought in the heart of the faithful for offending God, their merciful Father, by their former transgressions, together with a constant resolution for the time to come to cleave unto God and to lead a new life.

41. Albeit that good works, which are the fruits of faith, and follow after justification, can not make satisfaction for our sins and endure the surety of God's judgment; yet are they pleasing to God, and accepted of him in Christ, and do spring from a true and lively faith, which by them is to be discerned, as a tree by the fruit.

42. The works which God would have his people to walk in are such as he hath commanded in his holy Scripture, and not such works as men have devised out of their own brain, of a blind zeal and devotion, without the warrant of the Word of God.

43. The regenerate can not fulfill the law of God perfectly in this life. For in many things we offend all; and if we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.

44. Not every heinous sin willingly committed after baptism is sin against the Holy Ghost, and unpardonable. And therefore to such as fall into sin after baptism, place for repentance is not to be denied.

45. Voluntary works, besides over and above God's commandments, which they call works of supererogation, can not be taught without arrogance and impiety; for by them men do declare that they do not only render unto God as much as they are bound to do, but that they do more for his sake than of bounden duty is required.

OF THE SERVICE OF GOD.

46. Our duty towards God is to believe in him, to fear him, and to love him with all our heart, with all our mind, and with all our soul, and with all our strength ; to worship him, and to give him thanks ; to put our whole trust in him, to call upon him, to honor his holy name and his Word, and to serve him truly all the days of our life.¹

47. In all our necessities we ought to have recourse unto God by prayer : assuring ourselves that whatsoever we ask of the Father, in the name of his Son (our only Mediator and Intercessor) Christ Jesus, and according to his will, he will undoubtedly grant it.

48. We ought to prepare our hearts before we pray, and understand the things that we ask when we pray : that both our hearts and voices may together sound in the ears of God's majesty.

49. When almighty God smiteth us with affliction, or some great calamity hangeth over us, or any other weighty cause so requireth, it is our duty to humble ourselves in fasting, to bewail our sins with a sorrowful heart, and to addict ourselves to earnest prayer, that it might please God to turn his wrath from us, or supply us with such graces as we greatly stand in need of.

50. ²Fasting is a withholding of meat, drink, and all natural food, with other outward delights, from the body, for the determined time of fasting. As for those abstinences which are appointed by public order of our State, for eating of fish and forbearing of flesh at certain times and days appointed, they are noways meant to be religious fasts, nor intended for the maintenance of any superstition in the choice of meats, but are grounded merely upon politic considerations, for provision of things tending to the better preservation of the commonwealth.

51. We must not fast with this persuasion of mind, that our fasting can bring us to heaven, or ascribe holiness to the outward work wrought : for God alloweth not our fast for the work sake (which of itself is a thing merely indifferent), but simply respecteth the heart, how it is affected therein. It is, therefore, requisite that first, before all things, we cleanse our hearts from sin, and then direct our fast to such ends as God will allow to be good : that the flesh may thereby be chastised, the spirit may be more fervent in prayer, and that our fasting may be a testimony of our humble submission to God's majesty, when we acknowledge our sins unto him, and are inwardly touched with sorrowfulness of heart, bewailing the same in the affliction of our bodies.

52. All worship devised by man's phantasy besides or contrary to the Scriptures (as wandering on pilgrimages, setting up of candles, stations, and jubilees, Pharisaical sects and feigned religions, praying upon beads, and such like superstition) hath not only no promise of reward in Scripture, but contrariwise threatenings and maledictions.

53. All manner of expressing God the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost in an outward form is utterly unlawful; as also all other images devised or made by man to the use of religion.

54. All religious worship ought to be given to God alone: from whom all goodness, health, and grace ought to be both asked and looked for, as from the very author and giver of the same, and from none other.

55. The name of God is to be used with all reverence and holy respect, and therefore all vain and rash swearing is utterly to be condemned. Yet, notwithstanding, upon lawful occasions, an oath may be given and taken, according to the Word of God: justice, judgment, and truth.

56. The first day of the week, which is the Lord's day, is wholly to be dedicated unto the service of God; and therefore we are bound therein to rest from our common and daily business, and to bestow that leisure upon holy exercises, both public and private.

OF THE CIVIL MAGISTRATE.

57. The King's majesty under God hath the sovereign and chief power within his realms and dominions, over all manner of persons, of what estate, either ecclesiastical or civil, soever they be; so as no other foreign power hath, or ought to have, any superiority over them.

58. We do profess that the supreme government of all estates within the said realms and dominions, in all cases, as well ecclesiastical as temporal, doth of right appertain to the King's highness. Neither do we give unto him hereby the administration of the Word and Sacraments, or the power of the Keys, but that prerogative only which we see to have been always given unto all godly princes in holy Scripture by God himself; that is, that he should contain all estates and degree committed to his charge by God, whether they be ecclesiastical or civil, within their duty, and restrain the stubborn and evil-doers with the power of the civil sword.

59. The Pope, neither of himself, nor by any authority of the Church or See of Rome, or by any other means with any other, hath any power or authority to depose the King, or dispose any of his kingdoms or dominions; or to authorize any other prince to invade or annoy him or his countries; or to discharge any of his subjects of their allegiance and obedience to his Majesty; or to give license or leave to any of them to bear arms, raise tumult, or to offer any violence or hurt to his royal person, state, or government, or to any of his subjects within his Majesty's dominions.

60. That princes which be excommunicated or deprived by the Pope may be deposed or murdered by their subjects, or any other whatsoever, is impious doctrine.

61. The laws of the realm may punish Christian men with death for heinous and grievous offenses.

62. It is lawful for Christian men, at the commandment of the magistrate, to bear arms and to serve in just wars.

OF OUR DUTY TOWARDS OUR NEIGHBORS.

63. ¹Our duty towards our neighbors is, to love them as ourselves, and to do to all men as we would they should do to us; to honor and obey our superiors; to preserve the safety of men's persons, as also their chastity, goods, and good names; to bear no malice nor hatred in our hearts; to keep our bodies in temperance, soberness, and chastity; to be true and just in all our doings; not to covet other men's goods, but labor truly to get our own living, and to do our duty in that estate of life unto which it pleaseth God to call us.

64. For the preservation of the chastity of men's persons, wedlock is commanded unto all men that stand in need thereof. Neither is there any prohibition by the Word of God but that the ministers of the Church may enter into the state of matrimony: they being nowhere commanded by God's law either to vow the estate of single life or to abstain from marriage. Therefore it is lawful also for them, as well as for all other Christian men, to marry at their own discretion, as they shall judge the same to serve better to godliness.

65. The riches and goods of Christians are not common, as touching the right, title, and possession of the same: as certain Anabaptists falsely affirm. Notwithstanding every man ought of such things as he possesseth liberally to give alms to the poor, according to his ability.

66. Faith given, is to be kept, even with heretics and infidels.

67. The Popish doctrine of Equivocation and Mental Reservation is ungodly, and tendeth plainly to the subversion of all human society.

OF THE CHURCH AND OUTWARD MINISTRY OF THE GOSPEL.

68. There is but one Catholic Church (out of which there is no salvation), containing the universal company of all the saints that ever were, are, or shall be, gathered together in one body, under one head, Christ Jesus: part whereof is already in heaven triumphant, part as yet militant here upon earth. And because this Church consisteth of all those, and those alone, which are elected by God unto salvation, and regenerated by the power of his Spirit, the number of whom is known only unto God himself: therefore it is called the Catholic or universal, and the Invisible Church.

69. But particular and visible Churches (consisting of those who make profession of the faith of Christ, and live under the outward means of salvation) be many in number: wherein the more or less sincerely, according to Christ's institution, the Word of God is taught, the Sacraments are administered, and the authority of the Keys is used, the more or less pure are such Churches to be accounted.

70. Although in the visible Church the evil be ever mingled with the good, and sometimes the evil have chief authority in the ministration of the Word and Sacraments: yet, forasmuch as they do not the same in their own name, but in Christ's, and minister by his commission and authority, we may use their ministry both in hearing the Word and in receiving the Sacraments. Neither is the effect of Christ's ordinance taken away by their wickedness, nor the grace of God's gifts diminished from such as by faith and rightly do receive the Sacraments ministered unto them; which are effectual, because of Christ's institution and promise, although they be ministered by evil men. Nevertheless it appertaineth to the discipline of the Church that inquiry be made of evil ministers, and that they be accused by those that have knowledge of their offenses, and finally, being found guilty, by just judgment be deposed.

71. It is not lawful for any man to take upon him the office of public preaching or ministering the Sacraments in the Church, unless he be first lawfully called and sent to execute the same. And those we ought to judge lawfully called and sent which be chosen and called to this work by men who have public authority given them in the Church to call and send ministers into the Lord's vineyard.

72. To have public prayer in the Church, or to administer the Sacraments in a tongue not understood of the people, is a thing plainly repugnant to the Word of God and the custom of the Primitive Church.

73. That person which by public denunciation of the Church is rightly cut off from the unity of the Church, and excommunicate, ought to be taken of the whole multitude of the faithful as a heathen and publican, until by repentance he be openly reconciled and received into the Church by the judgment of such as have authority in that behalf.

74. God hath given power to his ministers, not simply to forgive sins (which prerogative he hath reserved only to himself), but in his name to declare and pronounce unto such as truly repent and unfeignedly believe his holy Gospel the absolution and forgiveness of sins. Neither is it God's pleasure that his people should be tied to make a particular confession of all their known sins unto any mortal man: howsoever, any person grieved in his conscience upon any special cause may well resort unto any godly and learned minister to receive advice and comfort at his hands.

OF THE AUTHORITY OF THE CHURCH, GENERAL COUNCILS, AND BISHOP OF ROME.

75. It is not lawful for the Church to ordain any thing that is contrary to God's Word: neither may it so expound one place of Scripture that it be repugnant to another. Wherefore, although the Church be a witness and a keeper of holy Writ, yet as it ought not to decree any thing against the same, so besides the same ought it not enforce any thing to be believed upon necessity of salvation.

76. General councils may not be gathered together without the commandment and will of prinees; and when they be gathered together (forasmuch as they be an assembly of men not always governed with the Spirit and Word of God) they may err, and sometimes have erred, even in things pertaining to the rule of piety. Wherefore things ordained by them as necessary to salvation have neither strength nor authority, unless it may be shwon that they be taken out of holy Scriptures.

77. Every particular Church hath authority to institute, to change, and clean to put away ceremonies and other ecclesiastical rites, as they be superfluons or be abused; and to constitute other, making more to seemliness, to order, or edification.

78. As the Churches of Jerusalem, Alexandria, and Antioch have erred, so also the Church of Rome hath erred, not only in those things which concern matter of practice and point of ceremonies, but also in matters of faith.

79. The power which the Bishop of Rome now challengeth to be supreme head of the universal Church of Christ, and to be above all emperors, kings, and princes, is a usurped power, contrary to the Scriptures and Word of God, and contrary to the example of the Primitive Church; and therefore is for most just causes taken away and abolished within the King's Majesty's realms and dominions.

80. The Bishop of Rome is so far from being the supreme head of the universal Church of Christ, that his works and doctrine do plainly discover him to be that man of sin, foretold in the holy Scriptures, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and abolish with the brightness of his coming.

OF THE STATE OF THE OLD AND NEW TESTAMENT.

81. In the Old Testament the Commandments of the Law were more largely, and the promises of Christ more sparingly and darkly propounded, shadowed with a multitude of types and figures, and so much the more generally and obscurely delivered as the manifesting of them was further off.

82. The Old Testament is not contrary to the New. For both in the Old and New Testament everlasting life is offered to mankind by Christ, who is the only Mediator between God and man, being both God and man. Wherefore they are not to be heard which feign that the old fathers did look only for transitory promises. For they looked for all benefits of God the Father through the merits of his Son Jesus Christ, as we now do: only they believed in Christ which should come, we in Christ already come.

83. The New Testament is full of grace and truth, bringing joyful tidings unto mankind that whatsoever formerly was promised of Christ is now accomplished; and so, instead of the ancient types and ceremonies, exhibiteth the things themselves, with a large and clear declaration of all the benefits of the Gospel. Neither is the ministry thereof restrained any longer to one circumcised nation, but is indifferently propounded unto all people, whether they be Jews or Gentiles. So that there is now no nation which can truly complain that they be shut forth from the communion of saints and the liberties of the people of God.

84. Although the Law given from God by Moses as touching ceremonies and rites be abolished, and the civil precepts thereof be not of necessity to be received in any commonwealth, yet, notwithstanding, no Christian man whatsoever is freed from the obedience of the Commandments which are called Moral.

OF THE SACRAMENTS OF THE NEW TESTAMENT.

85. The Sacraments ordained by Christ be not only badges or tokens of Christian men's profession, but rather certain sure witnesses and effectual or powerful signs of grace and God's good will towards us, by which he doth work invisibly in us, and not only quicken, but also strengthen and confirm our faith in him.

86. There be two Sacraments ordained of Christ our Lord in the Gospel: that is to say, Baptism and the Lord's Supper.

87. Those five which by the Church of Rome are called Sacraments, to wit: Confirmation, Penance, Orders, Matrimony, and Extreme Unction, are not to be accounted Sacraments of the Gospel; being such as have partly grown from corrupt imitation of the Apostles, partly are states of life allowed in the Scriptures, but yet have not like nature of Sacraments with Baptism and the Lord's Supper, for that they have not any visible sign or ceremony ordained of God, together with a promise of saving grace annexed thereto.

88. The Sacraments were not ordained of Christ to be gazed upon, or to be carried about, but that we should duly use them. And in such only as worthily receive the same, they have a wholesome effect and operation; but they that receive them unworthily, thereby draw judgment upon themselves.

OF BAPTISM.

89. Baptism is not only an outward sign of our profession, and a note of difference, whereby Christians are discerned from such as are no Christians; but much more a Sacrament of our admission into the Church, sealing unto us our new birth (and consequently our justification, adoption, and sanctification) by the communion which we have with Jesus Christ.

90. The Baptism of Infants is to be retained in the Church, as agreeable to the Word of God.

91. In the administration of Baptism, exorcism, oil, salt, spittle, and superstitious hallowing of the water, are for just causes abolished; and without them the Sacrament is fully and perfectly administered, to all intents and purposes, agreeable to the institution of our Saviour Christ.¹

OF THE LORD'S SUPPER.

92. The Lord's Supper is not only a sign of the mutual love which Christians ought to bear one towards another, but much more a Sacrament of our preservation in the Church, sealing unto us our spiritual nourishment and continual growth in Christ.

93. The change of the substance of bread and wine into the substance of the body and blood of Christ, commonly called Transubstantiation, can not be proved by holy Writ; but is repugnant to plain testimonies of the Scripture, overthroweth the nature of a Sacrament, and hath given occasion to most gross idolatry and manifold superstitions.

94. In the outward part of the holy Communion, the body and blood of Christ is in a most lively manner represented; being no otherwise present with the visible elements than things signified and sealed are present with the signs and seals—that is to say, symbolically and relatively. But in the inward and spiritual part the same body and blood is really and substantially presented unto all those who have grace to receive the Son of God, even to all those that believe in his name. And unto such as in this manner do worthily and with faith repair unto the Lord's table, the body and blood of Christ is not only signified and offered, but also truly exhibited and communicated.

95. The body of Christ is given, taken, and eaten in the Lord's Supper only after a heavenly and spiritual manner; and the mean whereby the body of Christ is thus received and eaten is Faith.

96. The wicked, and such as want a lively faith, although they do carnally and visibly (as St. Augustine speaketh) press with their teeth the Sacrament of the body and blood of Christ, yet in nowise are they made partakers of Christ; but rather to their condemnation do eat and drink the sign or Sacrament of so great a thing.

97. Both the parts of the Lord's Sacrament, according to Christ's institution and the practice of the ancient Church, ought to be ministered unto God's people; and it is plain sacrilege to rob them of the mystical cup, for whom Christ hath shed his most precious blood.¹

98. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was not by Christ's ordinance reserved, carried about, lifted up, or worshiped.

99. The sacrifice of the Mass, wherein the priest is said to offer up Christ for obtaining the remission of pain or guilt for the quick and the dead, is neither agreeable to Christ's ordinance nor grounded upon doctrine Apostolic; but contrariwise most ungodly and most injurious to that all-sufficient sacrifice of our Saviour Christ, offered once forever upon the cross, which is the only propitiation and satisfaction for all our sins.

100. Private mass—that is, the receiving of the Eucharist by the priest alone, without a competent number of communicants—is contrary to the institution of Christ.

OF THE STATE OF THE SOULS OF MEN AFTER THEY BE DEPARTED OUT OF THIS LIFE, TOGETHER WITH THE GENERAL RESURRECTION AND THE LAST JUDGMENT.

101. After this life is ended the souls of God's children be presently received into heaven, there to enjoy unspeakable comforts; the souls of the wicked are cast into hell, there to endure endless torments.

102. The doctrine of the Church of Rome concerning Limbus Patrum, Limbus Puerorum, Purgatory, Prayer for the Dead, Pardons, Adoration of Images and Relics, and also Invocation of Saints, is vainly invented without all warrant of holy Scripture, yea, and is contrary unto the same.

103. At the end of this world the Lord Jesus shall come in the clouds with the glory of his Father; at which time, by the almighty power of God, the living shall be changed and the dead shall be raised; and all shall appear both in body and soul before his judgment-seat, to receive according to that which they have done in their bodies, whether good or evil.

104. When the last judgment is finished, Christ shall deliver up the kingdom to his Father, and God shall be all in all.

THE DECREE OF THE SYNOD.

If any minister, of what degree or quality soever he be, shall publicly teach any doctrine contrary to these Articles agreed upon, if, after due admonition, he do not conform himself, and cease to disturb the peace of the Church, let him be silenced, and deprived of all spiritual promotions he doth enjoy.

THE FIVE ARMINIAN ARTICLES. A.D. 1610.

[The official Dutch text is taken from the first edition of 1612, as printed in De Remonstrantie en het Remonstrantisme. Historisch onderzoek door Dr. JOANNES TIDEMAN, Predikant bij de Remonstrantsche Gereformeerde Gemeente te Rotterdam (Te Haarlem, 1851), pp. 17-20. I procured a copy from my friend, Dr. J. J. van Oosterzee, of Utrecht. The Latin translation of Petrus Bertius was literally copied for me by another friend in Holland, Dr. M. Cohen Stuart, from the Scripta adversaria Collationis Hugienensis, Lugd. Batav. 1616. The English translation is made for this edition. An older English version, with the Latin (but with several omissions), is given by Peter Heylin, in his Historia Quinquarticularis, London, 1660, pp. 50-53. The Preface, the five negative Articles, and Conclusion (see Tideman, pp. 8-27) are omitted.

THE CANONS OF THE SYNOD OF DORT. A.D. 1618 AND 1619.

[We give first the full Latin text of the Acts of the Synod of Dort (Dordrecht) on the five controverted heads of doctrine, viz., the Preface, the Articles of Faith, the Errors Rejected, the Names of Subscribers, the Conclusion, the Sentence against the Remonstrants, and the Approval of the States-General, but distinguishing the several parts by different type. They were officially published May 6, 1619, and often since in Latin, Dutch, German, and English. The original is given in the Corpus et Syntagma Confess. ed. II. 1654, in the Oxford Sylloge Confess. (pp. 397-454), in Niemeyer's Collectio (pp. 690-728); the German in Beck's and Bückel's Collections. To the Latin text we append the English abridgment, as adopted by the Reformed Dutch Church in America.]

JUDICIO SYNODI NATIONALIS REFORMATARUM ECCLESiarum BELGICARUM,

Habite Dordrechti Anno MDCXVIII. et MDCXIX. Cui plurimi insignes Theologi Reformatarum Ecclesiarum Magnæ Britanniae, Germaniae, Galliae, interfuerunt, de Quinque Doctrinæ Capitibus in Ecclesiis Belgicis Controversis: promulgatum VI. Maii MDCXIX.

PREFATIO.

IN NOMINE DOMINI ET SERVATORIS NOSTRI JESU CHRISTI. AMEN.

Inter plurima, quæ Dominus et Servator noster Jesus Christus militanti sue Ecclesiæ in hac ærumnosa peregrinatione dedit solatia, merito celebratur illud, quod ei ad Patrem suum in celeste sanctuarium abiitrus reliquit: Ego, inquiens, sum vobiscum omnibus diebus usque ad consummationem seculi. Hujus suarissime promissionis veritas elucet in omnium temporum Ecclesia, quæ quam non solum aperta inimicorum violentia, et hereticorum impietate, sed etiam operta seductorum astutia inde ab initio fuerit oppugnata, sane, si unquam salutari promissio sue præsentie præsidio eam destituissest Dominus, pridem aut rī tyrannorum fuisset oppressa, aut fraude impostorum in exitium seducta. Sed bonus ille Pastor, qui gregem suum, pro quo animam suam posuit, constantissime diligit, persecutorum rabiem tempestive semper, et exsulta sepe dextera, miraculose repressit, et seductorum vias tortuosas, ac consilia fraudulenta detexit atque dissiparit, utroque se in Ecclesia sua præsentissimum esse demonstrans. Hujus rei illustre documentum exstat in historiis priorum imperatorum, regum, et principum, quos Filius Dei in subsidium Ecclesiæ sue toties excitarit, sancto domus sue zelo accendit, eorumque opera, non tantum tyrannorum furores compescuit, sed etiam Ecclesiæ cum falsis doctoribus religionem varie adulterantibus conflictanti, sanctarum synodorum remedia procuravit, in quibus fideles Christi servi conjunctis precibus, consiliis, et laboribus pro Ecclesia et veritate Dei fortiter steterunt, Satane ministris, licet in angelos lucis se transformantibus, intrepide se opposuerunt, errorum et discordie semina sustulerunt, Ecclesiam in religionis puræ concordia conservarunt, et sincerum Dei cultum ad posteritatem illibatum transmisserunt.

Simili beneficio fidelis noster Servator Ecclesiæ Belgicæ, annos aliquam multos afflictissimæ, gratiosam suam præsentiam hoc tempore testatus est. Hanc enī Ecclesiam a Romani antichristi tyrannide et horribili papatus idolatria potenti Dei manu vindicatam, in belli diuturni periculis toties miraculose custoditam, et in vere doctrinæ atque discipline concordia ad Dei sui laudem, admirabile reipub. incrementum, totiusque reformati orbis gaudium efflorescentem, JACOBUS ARMINIUS ejusque sectatores, nomen Remonstrantium præ se ferentes, variis, tam veteribus, quam novis erroribus, priuum tecte, deinde aperte tentarunt, et scandalosissimis dissensionibus ac schismatisbus pertinaciter turbatam, in tantum discrimen adduxerunt, ut florentissime Ecclesie, nisi Servatoris nostri miseratio opportune intervenisset, horribili dissidiorum et schismatum incendio tandem conflagrassent. Benedictus autem sit in secula Dominus, qui postquam ad momentum faciem suam a nobis (qui multis modis iram et indignationem ejus provocaveramus) abscondisset, universo orbi testatum fecit, se fidei sui non oblivisci, et suspiria suorum non spernere. Cum enim vix illa remedii spes humanitus appareret, illustrissimis et præpotentibus Belgii federati ordinibus generalibus hanc mentem inspiravit, ut consilio et directione illustrissimi et fortissimi principis Arausicanus legitimis mediis, quæ ipsorum apostolorum, et que eos secutæ Ecclesie Christianæ exemplis longo temporum decursu sunt comprobata, et magno cum fructu in Ecclesia etiam Belgica antehuc usurpatu, sacerdotibus hisce malis obviam ire decreverint, synodumque ex omnibus, quibus præsunt, provinciis, auctoritate sua, Dordrechtum convocarint, expeditis ad eam et favore serenissimi ac potentissimi Magnæ Britanniae regis JACOBI, et illustrissimorum principum, comitum, et rerum publicarum, impetratis plurimis gravissimis theologis, ut communis tot Reformatæ Ecclesie theologorum iudicio, ista ARMINII ejusque sectatorum dogmata accurate, et ex solo Dei verbo, dijudicarentur, vera doctrina stabiliretur, et falsa rejiceretur, Ecclesiisque Belgicis concordia, pax et tranquillitas, divina benedictione, restitueretur. Hoc est illud Dei beneficium, in quo exultant Ecclesie Belgica, et fidelis Servatoris sui miserationes humiliter agnoscunt, ac gratae prædicant.

Hæc igitur veneranda Synodus (prævia per summi magistratus auctoritatem in omnibus Belgicis Ecclesiis, ad iræ Dei deprecationem et gratiosi auxilii implorationem, precum et jejunii inductione et celebratione) in nomine Domini Dordrechti congregata, divini Numinis et salutis Ecclesie accensa amore, et post invocatum Dei nomen, sancto juramento obstricta, se solam Scripturam sacram pro iudicii norma habituram, et in caussæ hujus cognitione et iudicio, bona integraque conscientia versaturam esse, hoc egit sedulo magna patientia, ut præcipios horum dogmatum patronos, coram se citatos, induceret ad sententiam suam de Quinque notis doctrine Capitibus, sententiæque rationes, plenius exponendus. Sed cum Synodi iudicium repudiarent, atque ad interrogatoria, eo, quo æquum erat, modo respondere detrectarent, neque Synodi monitiones, nec generosorum atque amplissimorum ordinum generalium Delegatorum mandata, imo ne ipsorum quidem illustrissimorum et præpotentum DD. ordinum generalium imperia, quicquam apud illos proficerent, aliam riam eorundem Dominorum jussu, et ex consuetudine jam olim in synodis antiquis recepta, ingredi coacta fuit: atque ex scriptis, confessionibus, ac declarationibus, partim antea editis, partim etiam huic Synodo exhibitis, examen illorum quinque dogmatum institutum est. Quod cum jam per singularem Dei gratiam, maxima diligentia, fide, ac conscientia, omnium et singulorum consensu absolutum sit, Synodus huc ad Dei gloriam, et ut veritatis salutaris integratæ, conscientiarum tranquillitatæ, et paci ac saluti Ecclesie Belgicee consulatur, sequens iudicium, quo et vera verboque Dei consentanea de prædictis Quinque Doctrinæ Capitibus sententia exponitur, et falsa verboque Dei dissentanea rejicitur, statuit promulgandum.

SENTENTIA, DE DIVINA PRÆDESTINATIONE, ET ANNEXIS EI CAPITIBUS,

Quam Synodus Dordrechana Verbo Dei consentaneam, atque in Ecclesiis Reformatis hactenus receptam esse, judicat, quibusdam Articulis exposita.

PRIMUM DOCTRINÆ CAPUT, DE DIVINA PRÆDESTINATIONE.

ARTICULUS PRIMUS.

Cum omnes homines in Adamo peccaverint, et rei sint facti maledictionis et mortis æternæ, Deus nemini fecisset injuriam, si universum genus humanum in peccato et maledictione relinquere, ac propter peccatum damnare voluisse, juxta illa Apostoli, Totus mundus est obnoxius condemnationi Dei. Rom. iii. 19. Omnes peccaverunt et desistunt gloria Dei. Ver. 23. Et, Stipendium peccati mors est. Rom. vi. 23.

II.

Verum in hoc manifestata est charitas Dei, quod Filium suum unigenitum in mundum misit, ut omnis qui credit in eum, non pereat, sed habeat vitam aeternam. 1 Johan. iv. 9; Johan. iii. 16.

III.

Ut autem homines ad fidem addueantur, Deus clementer laetissimi hujus munitii praecones mittit, ad quos vult, et quando vult, quorum ministerio homines ad resipiscentiam et fidem in Christum crucifixum vocantur. Quomodo enim credent in eum, de quo non audierint? quomodo autem audient absque praedicante? quomodo praedicabunt, nisi fuerint missi? Rom. x. 14, 15.

IV.

Qui huie Evangelio non credunt, super eos manet ira Dei. Qui vero illud recipiunt, et Servatorem Jesum vera ac viva fide amplectuntur, illi per ipsum ab ira Dei et interitu liberantur, ac vita aeterna donantur.

V.

Incredulitatis istius, ut et omnium aliorum peccatorum, caussa seu culpa neutquam est in Deo, sed in homine. Fides autem in Jesum Christum et salus per ipsum, est gratitum Dei donum, sicut scriptum est: Gratia saluti estis per fidem, et hoc non ex vobis, Dei donum est. Ephes. ii. 8. Item: Gratis datum est vobis in Christum credere. Phil. i. 29.

VI.

Quod autem aliqui in tempore fide a Deo donantur, aliqui non donantur, id ab aeterno ipsius decreto provenit; Omnia enim opera sua novit ab aeterno: Actor. xv. 18; Ephes. i. 11; secundum quod decretum electorum corda, quantumvis dura, gratiose emollit, et ad credendum inflectit, non electos autem justo iudicio suae malitia et duritiae relinquit. Atque hic potissimum sese nobis aperit profunda, misericors pariter et justa hominum aequaliter perditorum discretio; sive decre-tum illud electionis et reprobationis in verbo Dei revelatum. Qnod ut perversi, impuri, et parum stabiles in suum detorquent exitium, ita sanctis et religiosis animabus ineffabile praestat solatium.

VII.

Est autem electio immutabile Dei propositum, quo ante jacta mundi fundamenta ex universo genere humano, ex primæva integritate in peccatum et exitium sua culpa prolapso, secundum liberrimum voluntatis suae beneplacitum, ex mera gratia, certam quorundam hominum multitudinem, aliis nec meliorum, nec digniorum, sed in communii miseria cum aliis jacentium, ad salutem elegit in Christo, quem etiam ab aeterno Mediatorem et omnium electorum caput, salutisque fundamen-tum constituit; atque ita eos ipsi salvandos dare, et ad ejus commun-ionem per verbum et Spiritum suum efficaciter vocare ac trahere; sen vera et ipsum fide donare, justificare, sanctificare, et potenter in Filii sui communione custoditos tandem glorificare decrevit, ad de-monstrationem suaे misericordiae, et laudem divitiarum gloriosae suaे gratiae, sicut scriptum est: Elegit nos Deus in Christo, ante jacta mundi fundamenta, ut essemus sancti et inculpati in conspectu ejus, cum charitate; qui prædestinavit nos quos adoptaret in filios, per Jesum Christum, in sese, pro beneplacito voluntatis suaे, ad laudem gloriosae suaे gratiae, qua nos gratis sibi acceptos fecit in illo dilecto. Ephes. i. 4, 5, 6. Et alibi: Quos prædestinavit, eos etiam vocavit; et quos vocavit, eos etiam justificavit; quos autem justificavit, eos etiam glorificavit. Rom. viii. 30.

VIII.

Hæc electio non est multiplex, sed una et eadem omnium salvando-rum in Vetere et Novo Testamento, quandoquidem Scriptura unicum prædicat beneplacitum, propositum, et consilium voluntatis Dei, quo nos ab aeterno elegit et ad gratiam et ad gloriam; et ad salutem et ad viam salutis, quam præparavit ut in ea ambulemus.

IX.

Eadem hæc electio facta est non ex prævisa fide, fideique obedientia, sanctitate, aut alia aliqua bona qualitate et dispositione, tanquam caussa seu conditione in homine eligendo prærequisita, sed ad fidem, fideique obedientiam, sanctitatem, etc. Ac proinde electio est fons omnis salutaris boni: unde fides, sanctitas, et reliqua dona salvifica, ipsa denique vita æterna, ut fructus et effectus ejus profluunt, secundum illud Apostoli: Elegit nos (non quia eramus, sed) ut essemus sancti et inculpati in conspectu ejus in charitate. Ephes. i. 4.

X.

Causa vero hujus gratuitæ electionis, est solum Dei beneplacitum, non in eo consistens, quod certas qualitates seu actiones humanas, ex omnibus possibilibus, in salutis conditionem elegit; sed in eo, quod certas quasdam personas ex communi peccatorum multitudine sibi in peculium adseivit, sicut scriptum est: Nondum natis pueris, cum neque boni quippiam fecissent neque mali, etc., dictum est (nempe Rebeccæ), Major serviet minori, sicut scriptum est, Jacob dilexi, Esau odio habui. Rom. ix. 11, 12, 13. Et, Crediderunt quotquot erant ordinati ad vitam æternam. Act. xiii. 48.

XI.

Atque ut Deus ipse est sapientissimus, immutabilis, omniscius, et omnipotens: ita electio ab ipso facta nec interrumpi, nec mutari, revocari, aut abrumpi, nec electi abjici, nec numerus eorum minui potest.

XII.

De hac æterna et immutabili sui ad salutem electione, electi suo tempore, variis licet gradibus et dispari mensura, certiores redduntur, non quidem arcana et profunditates Dei enriose scrutando; sed fructus electionis infallibiles, in verbo Dei designatos, ut sunt vera in Christum fides, filialis Dei timor, dolor de peccatis secundum Deum, esurie et siti justitiae, etc., in sese cum spirituali gaudio et sancta voluptate observando.

XIII.

Ex hujus electionis sensu et certitudine, filii Dei majorem indies sese coram Deo humiliandi, abyssum misericordiarum ejus adorandi, seipso purificandi, et eum, qui ipsos prior tantopere dilexit, vicissim ardenter diligendi, materiam desumunt: tantum abest, ut hac electionis doctrina atque ejus meditatione in mandatorum divinorum observatione segnores, aut carnaliter securi, reddantur. Quod iis justo Dei judicio solet accidere, qui de electionis gratia, vel temere præsumentes, vel otiose et proterve fabulantes, in viis electorum ambulare nolunt.

XIV.

Ut autem hæc de divina electione doctrina sapientissimo Dei consilio per prophetas, Christum ipsum, atque Apostolos, sub Veteri æque atque sub Novo Testamento, est prædicata, et sacrarum deinde literarum monnumentis commendata: ita et hodie in Ecclesia Dei, cui ea peculia riter est destinata, cum spiritu discretionis, religiose et sancte, suo loco et tempore, missa omni curiosa viarum altissimi scrutatione, est proponenda, idque ad sanctissimi nominis divini gloriam, et vividum populi ipsius solatium.

XV.

Caterum æternam et gratuitam hanc electionis nostri gratiam eo vel maxime illustrat, nobisque commendat Scriptura Sacra, quod porro testatur non omnes homines esse electos, sed quosdam non electos, sive in æterna Dei electione præteritos, quos scilicet Deus ex liberrimo, justissimo, irreprehensibili, et immutabili beneplacito decrevit in communi miseria, in quam se sua culpa præcipitarunt, relinquere, nec salvifica fide et conversionis gratia donare, sed in viis suis, et sub justo judicio relictos, tandem non tantum propter infidelitatem, sed etiam cætera omnia peccata, ad declaracionem justitiae suæ dannare, et æternum punire. Atque hoc est decretum reprobationis, quod Deum neutiquam peccati authorem (quod cogitat blasphemum est) sed tremendum, irreprehensibilem, et justum judicem ac vindicem constituit.

XVI.

Qui vivam in Christum fidem, seu certam cordis fiduciam, pacem conscientiæ, studium filialis obedientiæ, gloriationem in Deo per Christum in se nondum efficaciter sentiunt, mediis tamen, per quæ Deus ista se in nobis operaturum promisit, nuntiatur, ii ad reprobationis mentionem non consternari, nec se reprobis accensere, sed in usu mediiorum diligenter pergere, ac horam uberioris gratiæ ardenter desiderare et reverenter humilianterque expectare debent. Multo autem minus doctrina de reprobatione terrori debent ii, qui eum serio ad Deum converti, ei unice placere, et e corpore mortis eripi desiderant, in via tamen pietatis et fidei eo usque, quo volunt, pervenire nondum possunt, siquidem linum fumigans se non extincturum, et arundinem quassatam se non fracturum, promisit misericors Deus. Iis autem hæc doctrina merito terrori est, qui Dei et Servatoris Jesu Christi obliti, mundi curis et carnis voluptatibus se totos manciparunt, quamdiu ad Deum serio non convertuntur.

XVII.

Quandoquidem de voluntate Dei ex verbo ipsius nobis est judicandum, quod testatur liberos fidelium esse sanctos, non quidem natura, sed beneficio fœderis gratuiti, in quo illi cum parentibus comprehenduntur, pii parentes de electione et salute suorum liberorum, quos Deus in infantia ex hac vita evocat, dubitare non debent.

XVIII.

Adversus hanc gratuitæ electionis gratiam, et justæ reprobationis severitatem, obmurmuranti opponimus hoc apostolicum: O homo! tu quis es qui ex adverso responsas Deo? Rom. ix. 20. Et illud Servatoris nostri, An non licet mihi quod volo facere in meis? Matt. xx. 15. Nos vero hæc mysteria religiose adorantes, cum Apostolo exclamamus: O profunditatem divitiarum tum sapientiae tum cognitionis Dei! Quam imperscrutabilia sunt Dei iudicia, et ejus vice impervestigabiles! Quis enim cognovit mentem Domini? Aut quis fuit ei a consiliis? Aut quis prior dedit ei ut reddatur ei? Nam ex eo, et per eum, et in eum sunt omnia. Ipsi sit gloria in sæcula. Amen. Rom. xi. 33–36.

REJECTIO ERRORUM,

Quibus Ecclesiae Belgicæ sunt aliquamdiu perturbatae. Exposita doctrina Orthodoxa de Electione et Reprobatione, Synodus rejicit errores eorum:

I.

Qui docent, ‘Voluntatem Dei de servandis credituris, et in fide fideique obedientia perseveraturis, esse totum et integrum electionis ad salutem decretum; nec quicquam aliud de hoc decreto in verbo Dei esse revelatum.’ Hi enim simplicioribus imponunt, et Scripturæ sacrae manifeste contradicunt, testanti Deum non tantum servare velle credituros, sed etiam certos quosdam homines ab æterno elegisse, quos præ aliis in tempore fide in Christum et perseverantia donaret; sicut scriptum est, Manifestum feci nomen tuum hominibus, quos dedisti michi. Johan. xvii. 6. Item, Crediderunt quotquot ordinati erant ad vitam aeternam. Act. xiii. 48. Et, Elegit nos ante jacta mundi fundamenta, ut essemus sancti, etc. Ephes. 1. 4.

II.

Qui docent, ‘Electionem Dei ad vitam aeternam esse multiplicem; aliam generalem et indefinitam, aliam singularem et definitam; et hanc rursum vel incompletam, revocabilem, non peremptoriam, sive conditionatam: vel completam, irrevocabilem, peremptoriam, seu absolutam.’ Item, ‘Aliam electionem esse ad fidem, aliam ad salutem; ita ut electio ad fidem justificantem absque electione peremptoria ad salutem esse possit.’ Hoc enim est humani cerebri commentum extra Scripturas exegitatum, doctrinam de electione corrumpens, et a ream hanc salutis eatenam dissolvens: Quos praedestinavit, eos etiam vocavit: et quos vocavit, eos etiam justificavit: quos autem justificavit, eos etiam glorificavit. Rom. viii. 30.

III.

Qui docent, ‘Dei beneplacitum ac propositum, cuius Scriptura meminit in doctrina electionis, non consistere in eo, quod Deus certos quosdam homines praे aliis elegerit, sed in eo, quod Deus ex omnibus possibilibus conditionibus (inter quas etiam sunt opera legis) sive ex omnium rerum ordine actum fidei, in sese ignobilem, et obedientiam fidei imperfectam, in salutis conditionem elegerit; eamque gratiose pro perfecta obedientia reputare, et vitae aeternae præmio dignam censere voluerit.’ Hoc enim errore perniciose beneplacitum Dei et meritum Christi enervatur, et homines inutilibus quaestionibus a veritate justificationis gratuita, et simplicitate Scripturarum avocantur; illudque Apostoli falsi arguitur; Deus nos vocavit ratione sancta; non ex operibus, sed ex suo proposito et gratia, quæ data est nobis in Christo Jesu ante tempora saeculorum. 2 Tim. i. 9.

IV.

Qui docent, ‘In electione ad fidem hanc conditionem prærequiri, ut homo lumine naturæ recte utatur, sit probus, parvus, humilis, et ad vitam aeternam dispositus, quasi ab ipsis electio aliquatenus pendeat.’ Pelagium enim sapiunt, et minime obscure falsi insimulant Apostolum scribentem: Versati sumus olim in cupiditatibus carnis nostra, facientes que carni et cogitationibus libebant, eramusque natura filii iræ, ut et reliqui. Sed Deus, qui dicens est misericordia, propter multam charitatem suam, qua dilexit nos, etiam nos cum in offensis mortui essemus, una vivificavit cum Christo, cuius gratia estis servi, unaque suscitavit, unaque collocavit in calis in Christo Jesu; ut ostenderet in sculis supervenientibus supereminentibus illas opes sue gratia, pro sua erga nos benignitate in Christo Jesu. Gratia enim estis servi per fidem (et hoc non ex robis, Dei donum est), non ex operibus, ut ne quis glorietur. Ephes. ii. 3-9.

V.

Qui docent, ‘Electionem singularium personarum ad salutem, incompletam et non peremptoriam, factam esse ex prævisa fide, resipiscientia, sanctitate et pietate inchoata, aut aliquamdiu continuata: completam vero et peremptoriam ex prævisa fidei, resipiscientiae, sanctitatis, et pietatis finali perseverantia: et hanc esse gratiosam et evangelicam dignitatem, propter quam qui eligitur dignior sit illo qui non eligitur: ac proinde fidem, fidei obedientiam, sanctitatem, pietatem, et perseverantiam non esse fructus sive effectus electionis immutabilis ad gloriam, sed conditions, et eaussas sine quibus non, in eligendis complete prærequisitas, et prævisas, tanquam præstitas.’ Id quod toti Scripturæ repugnat, quæ hæc et alia dicta passim auribus et cordibus nostris ingerit: Electio non est ex operibus, sed ex vocante. Rom. ix. 11. Credebant quotquot ordinati erant ad vitam aeternam. Act. xiii. 48. Elegit nos in semetipso ut sancti essemus. Ephes. i. 4. Non vos me elegistis, sed ego elegi vos. Johan. xv. 16. Si ex gratia, non ex operibus. Rom. xi. 6. In hoc est charitas, non quod nos dilixerimus Deum, sed quod ipse dilexit nos, et misit Filium suum. 1 Johan. iv. 10.

VI.

Qui docent, 'Non omnem electionem ad salutem inimitabilem esse, sed quosdam electos, nullo Dei decreto obstante, perire posse et æternam perire.' Quo crasso errore et DEUM inimitabilem faciunt, et consolationem piorum de electionis sua constantia subvertunt, et Scripturis sacris contradicunt docentibus, Electos non posse seduci: Matt. xxiv. 24. CHRISTUM datos sibi a Patre non perdere: Johan. vi. 39. DEUM quos predestinavit, vocavit et justificavit, eos etiam glorificare. Rom. viii. 30.

VII.

Qui docent, 'Electio immutabilis ad gloriam nullum in hæc vita esse fructum, nullum sensum, nullam certitudinem, nisi ex conditione mutabili et contingente.' Præterquam enim quod absurdum sit ponere certitudinem incertam, adversantur hæc experientiae sanctorum, qui cum Apostolo ex sensu electionis sui exultant, Deique hoc beneficium celebrant, qui gaudent cum discipulis, secundum Christi admonitionem, quod nomina sua scriptu sunt in cælis: Luc. x. 20; qui sensum deinde electionis ignitis tentationum diabolicarum telis opponunt, quærentes, Quis intentabit crimina adversus electos Dei? Rom. viii. 33.

VIII.

Qui docent, 'Deum neminem ex mera iusta sua voluntate decrevisse in lapsu Adæ et in communi peccati et damnationis statu relinquere, aut in gratiæ ad fidem et conversionem necessarie communicatione preterire.' Stat enim illud, Quorum vult, miscretur; quos vult, indurat. Rom. ix. 18. Et illud, Vobis datum est nosse mysteria regni cælorum, illis autem non est datum. Matt. xiii. 11. Item, Glorifico te, Pater, Domine cæli et terra, quod hæc occultaveris sapientibus et intelligentibus, et ea detexeris infantibus: etiam, Pater, quia ita placuit tibi. Matt. xi. 25, 26.

IX.

Qui docent, 'Caussam eur Deus ad hanc potius, quam ad aliam gentem Evangelium mittat, non esse merum et solum Dei beneplacitum, sed quod hæc gens melior et dignior sit ea, cui Evangelium non communicatur.' Reclamat enim Moses, populum Israeliticum sic alloquens, En Jehovæ Dei tui sunt cæli, et cæli cælorum, terra, et quicquid est in ea: Tantum in majores tuos propensus fuit amore Jehova diligendo eos; unde selegit semen eorum post eos, vos inquam, præ omnibus populis, sicut est hodie. Deut. x. 14, 15. Et Christus: Væ tibi Chorazin, vœ tibi Bethsaida, quia si in Tyro et Sicione factæ essent virtutes ille que in vobis factæ sunt, in sacco et cinere olim pænitentiam egissent. Matt. xi. 21.

SECUNDUM DOCTRINÆ CAPUT, DE MORTE CHRISTI, ET HOMINUM PER EAM REDEMPTIONE.

Articulus Primus.

Deus non tantum est summe misericors, sed etiam summe justus. Postulat autem ejus justitia (prout se in verbo revelavit), ut peccata nostra, adversus infinitam ejus majestatem commissa, non tantum temporalibus, sed etiam æternis, tum animi, tum corporis, pœnis puniantur: quas pœnas effugere non possumus, nisi justitiae Dei satisfiat.

II.

Cum vero ipsi satisfacere, et ab ira Dei nos liberare non possimus, Deus ex immensa misericordia Filium suum unigenitum nobis Sponsorem dedit, qui, ut pro nobis satisfaceret, peccatum et maledictio in cruce pro nobis, seu vice nostra, factus est.

III.

Haec mors Filii Dei est unica et perfectissima pro peccatis victimæ et satisfactio, infiniti valoris et pretii, abunde sufficiens ad totius mundi peccata expianda.

IV.

Ideo autem haec mors tanti est valoris et pretii, quia persona, quæ eam subiit, non tantum est verus et perfecte sanctus homo, sed etiam unigenitus Dei Filius, ejusdem æternæ et infinitæ cum Patre et Spiritu S. essentiæ, qualem nostrum Servatorem esse oportebat. Deinde, quia mors ipsius fuit conjuncta cum sensu iræ Dei et maledictionis, quam nos peccatis nostris eramus commeriti.

V.

Cæterum promissio Evangelii est, ut quisquis credit in Christum crucifixum, non pereat, sed habeat vitam æternam. Quæ promissio omnibus populis et hominibus, ad quos Deus pro suo beneplacito mittit Evangelium, promiscue et indiscriminatim annunciar et proponi debet cum resipiscentiae et fidei mandato.

VI.

Quod antem multi per Evangelium vocati non resipiscunt, nec in Christum credunt, sed infidelitate pereunt, non fit hoc hostiae CHRISTI in cruce oblatæ defectu, vel insufficientia, sed propria ipsorum culpa.

VII.

Quotquot autem vere credunt, et per mortem CHRISTI a peccatis, et interitu liberantur ac servantur, illis hoc beneficium, ex sola Dei gratia, quam nemini debet, ab æterno ipsis in CHRISTO data, obtingit.

VIII.

Fuit enim hoc Dei Patris liberrimum consilium, et gratiosissima voluntas atque intentio, ut mortis pretiosissimæ Filii sui vivifica et salvifica efficacia sese exereret in omnibus electis, ad eos solos fide justificante donandos, et per eam ad salutem infallibiliter perducendos: hoc est, voluit Deus, ut Christus per sanguinem crucis (quo novum fœdus confirmavit) ex omni populo, tribu, gente, et lingua, eos omnes et solos, qui ab æterno ad salutem electi, et a Patre ipsi dati sunt, efficaciter redimeret, fide (quam, ut et alia Spiritus Sancti salvifica dona, ipsis morte sua acquisivit) donaret, ab omnibus peccatis, tum originali, tum actualibus, tam post, quam ante fidem commissis sanguine suo mundaret, ad finem usque fideliter custodiret, tandemque absque omni labe et macula gloriosos coram se sisteret.

IX.

Hoc consilium, ex æterno erga electos amore profectum ab initio mundi in præsens usque tempus, frustra obnintentibus inferorum portis, potenter impletum fuit, et deinceps quoque implebitur: ita quidem ut electi suis temporibus in unum colligantur, et semper sit aliqua credentium Ecclesia in sanguine Christi fundata, quæ illum Servatorem suum, qui pro ea, tanquam Sponsus pro sponsa, animam suam in cruce exposuit, constanter diligit, perseveranter colat, atque hic et in omnem æternitatem celebret.

REJECTIO ERRORUM.

Exposita doctrina orthodoxa, rejicit Synodus errores eorum:

I.

Qui docent, 'Quod Deus Pater Filium suum in mortem crucis destinaverit, sine certo ac definito consilio quemquam nominatiū salvandi, adeo ut impetratio mortis Christi sua necessitas, utilitas, dignitas sarta tecta, et numeris suis perfecta, completa atque integra constare potuisset, etiam si impetrata redemptio nulli individuo unquam actu ipso fuisset applicata.' Haec enim assertio in Dei Patris sapientiam meritumque Jesu Christi contumeliosa, et Scripturæ contraria est. Sic enim ait Servator: Ego animam pono pro ovibus, et agnosco eas. Johan. x. 15, 27. Et de Servatore Esaias propheta: Cum posuerit se sacrificium pro reatu, videbit semen, prolongabit dies, et voluntas Jehovah in manu ejus prosperabitur. Esai. liii. 10. Denique, articulum Fidei, quo Ecclesiam credimus, evertit.

II.

Qui docent, 'Non fuisse hunc finem mortis Christi, ut novum gratiae fœdus suo sanguine re ipsa sanciret, sed tantum, ut nudum ius Patri acquireret, quocunque fœdus, vel gratiae, vel operum, cum hominibus denuo inenundi.' Hoc enim repugnat Scripturæ, que docet, Christum melioris, id est, novi faderis Sponsorem et Mediatorem factum esse. Heb. vii. 22. Et, Testamentum in mortuis demum ratum esse. Heb. ix. 15, 17.

III.

Qui docent, 'Christum per suam satisfactionem, nullis certo meruisse ipsam salutem et fidem, qua haec Christi satisfactio ad salutem efficaciter applicetur, sed tantum Patri acquisivisse potestatem vel plenariam voluntatem, de novo cum hominibus agendi, et novas, quas enique vellet conditiones, prescribendi, quarum præstatio a libero hominis arbitrio pendeat, atque ideo fieri potuisse, ut vel nemo, vel omnes eas implerent.' Hi enim de morte Christi nimis abjecte sentiunt, primarium fructum seu beneficium per eam partum nullatenus agnoscunt, et Pelagianum errorem ab inferis revocant.

IV.

Qui docent, 'Fœdus illud novum gratiae, quod Deus Pater, per mortis Christi interventum cum hominibus pepigit, non in eo consistere, quod per fidem, quatenus meritum Christi apprehendit, coram Deo justificemur et salvemur; sed in hoc, quod Deus, abrogata perfecta obedientie legalis exactione, fidem ipsam et fidei obedientiam imperfectam pro perfecta legis obedientia reputet, et vitæ aeternæ præmio gratiōe dignam censeat.' Hi enim contradicunt Scripturæ, Justificantur gratis, ejus gratia, per redemptionem factam in Jesu Christo, quem proposuit Deus placamentum per fidem in sanguine ejus. Rom. iii. 24, 25. Et cum impio Socino, novam et peregrinam hominis coram Deo justificationem, contra totius Ecclesiae consensum, inducunt.

V.

Qui docent, 'Omnes homines in statum reconciliationis et gratiam fœderis esse assumptos, ita ut nemo propter peccatum originale sit damnationi obnoxius, aut damnandus, sed omnes ab istius peccati reatu sint immunes.' Haec enim sententia repugnat Scriptura, affirmanti nos natura esse filios ira. [Ephes. ii. 3.]

VI.

Qui impetracionis et applicationis distinctionem usurpant, ut incantis et imperitis hanc opinionem instillent: Deum, quantum ad se attinet, omnibus hominibus ex aequo ea beneficia voluisse conferre, quae per mortem Christi acquiruntur; quod autem quidam præ aliis participes fiant remissionis peccatorum, et vitæ aeternæ, discrime illud pendere ex libero eorum arbitrio, se ad gratiam indifferenter oblatam applicante, non autem ex singulari misericordiae dono, efficaciter in illis operante, ut præ alii gratiam illam sibi applicant. Nam isti, dum simulant se distinctionem hanc sano sensu proponere, populo perniciosum Pelagianismi venenum conantur propinare.

VII.

Qui docent, ‘CHRISTUM, pro iis, quos DEUS summe dilexit, et ad vitam æternam elegit, mori nec potuisse, nec debuisse, nec mortuum esse, cum talibus morte CHRISTI non sit opus.’ Contradicunt enim Apostolo dicenti: Christus dilexit me, et tradidit seipsum pro me. Galat. ii. 20. Item, Quis est, qui crimina intentet adversus electos DEI? DEUS est is, qui justificat. Quis est qui condemnet? CHRISTUS est, qui mortuus est. Rom. viii. 33, 34: nimirum, pro illis. Et Salvatori asseveranti, Ego pono animam meam pro oribus meis, Johan. x. 15. Et, Hoc est præceptum meum, ut diligatis alii alios, sicut ego dilexi vos. Majorem dilectionem nemo habet, quam ut ponat animam suam pro amicis. Johan. xv. 12, 13.

Huic capiti eadem quæ prius subscribuntur nomina.

TERTIUM ET QUARTUM DOCTRINÆ CAPUT, DE HOMINIS CORRUPTIONE, ET CONVERSIONE AD DEUM EJUSQUE MODO.

Articulus Primus.

Homo ab initio ad imaginem DEI conditus vera et salutari sui Creatoris et rerum spiritualium notitia in mente, et justitia in voluntate et corde, puritate in omnibus affectibus exornatus, adeoque totus sanctus fuit; sed Diaboli instinctu, et libera sua voluntate a Deo desciscens, eximiis istis donis seipsum orbavit: atque e contrario eorum loco cœcitatem, horribiles tenebras, vanitatem, ac perversitatem judicii in mente, malitiam, rebellionem, ac duritiem in voluntate et corde, impuritatem denique in omnibus affectibus contraxit.

II.

Qualis autem post lapsum fuit homo, tales et liberos procreavit, nempe corruptus corruptos; corruptione ab Adamo in omnes posteros [solo Christo excepto] non per imitationem [quod Pelagiani olim voluerunt], sed per vitiosæ naturæ propagationem, justo Dei judicio, derivata.

III.

Itaque omnes homines in peccato concipiuntur, et filii iræ nascentur, inepti ad omne bonum salutare, propensi ad malum, in peccatis mortui, et peccati servi; et absque Spiritu Sancti regenerantis gratia, ad Deum redire, naturam depravatam corrigere, vel ad ejus correctionem se disponere nec volunt, nec possunt.

IV.

Residuum quidem est post lapsum in homine lumen aliquod naturæ, enjus beneficio ille notitias quasdam de Deo, de rebus naturalibus, de discrimine honestorum et turpium retinet, et aliquod virtutis ac disciplinæ externæ studium ostendit: sed tantum abest, ut hoc naturæ lumine ad salutarem Dei cognitionem pervenire, et ad eum se convertere possit, ut ne quidem eo in naturalibus ac civilibus recte utatur, quinimo qualemcumque id demum sit, id totum variis modis contaminet, atque in injustitia detineat, quod dum facit, coram Deo inexcusabilis redditur.

V.

Quæ luminis naturæ, eadem hæc Decalogi per Mosen a Deo Judæis peculiariter traditi est ratio: cum enim is magnitudinem quidem peccati retegat, ejusque hominem magis ac magis reum peragat, sed nec remedium exhibeat, nec vires emergendi ex miseria conferat, adeoque per carnem infirmatus transgressorē maledictione relinquat, non potest homo per eum salutarem gratiam obtinere.

VI.

Quod igitur nec lumen naturæ, nec lex potest, id Spiritus Sancti virtute præstat Deus, per sermonem, sive ministerium reconciliationis, quod est Evangelium de Messia, per quod placuit Deo homines credentes tam in Veteri, quam in Novo Testamento servare.

VII.

Hoc voluntatis snae mysterium Deus in Veteri Testamento pancerioribus patet fecit, in Novo Testamento pluribus, sublato jam popolorum discrimine, manifestat. Cujus dispensationis caussa, non in gentis unius præ alia dignitate, aut meliore luminis naturæ usu, sed in liberissimo beneplacito, et gratuita dilectione Dei est collocanda. Unde illi, quibus præter et contra omne meritum tanta fit gratia, eam humili et grato corde agnoscere, in reliquis autem, quibus ea gratia non fit, severitatem et justitiam judiciorum Dei cum Apostolo adorare, nequaquam vero curiose scrutari debent.

VIII.

Quotquot autem per Evangelium vocantur, serio vocantur. Serio enim et verissime ostendit Deus verbo suo, quid sibi gratum sit, nimirum, ut vocati ad se veniant. Serio etiam omnibus ad se venientibus et credentibus requiem animarum, et vitam aeternam promittit.

IX.

Quod multi per ministerium Evangelii vocati, non veniunt et non convertuntur, hujus culpa non est in Evangelio, nec in Christo per Evangelium oblato, nec in Deo per Evangelium vocante, et dona etiam varia iis conferente, sed in vocatis ipsis, quorum aliqui verbum vitae non admittunt securi; alii admittunt quidem, sed non in cor immittunt, ideoque post evanidum fidei temporarie gaudium resilunt; alii spinis curarum et voluptatibus saeculi semen verbi suffocant, fructusque nullos proferunt; quod Servator noster seminis parabola docet, Matt. xiii.

X.

Quod autem alii, per ministerium Evangelii vocati, veniunt et convertuntur, id non est adscribendum homini, tanquam seipsum per liberum arbitrium ab aliis pari vel sufficiente gratia ad fidem et conversionem instructis discernenti (quod superba Pelagii haeresis statuit), sed Deo, qui ut suos ab aeterno in Christo elegit, ita eosdem in tempore efficaciter vocat, fide et resipiscientia donat, et e potestate tenebrarum erutos in Filii sui regnum transfert, ut virtutes ejus, qui ipsos e tenebris in admirandam hanc lucem vocavit, praedicent, et non in se, sed in Domino, glorientur. Scriptura apostolica passim id testante.

XI.

Cæterum, quando Deus hoc summum beneplacitum in electis exequitur, seu veram in iis conversionem operatur, non tantum Evangelium illis externe praedicari curat, et mentem eorum per Spiritum Sanctum potenter illuminat, ut recte intelligent et dijudicent quae sunt Spiritus Dei, sed ejusdem etiam Spiritus regenerantis efficacia ad intima hominis penetrat, cor clausum aperit, durum emollit, praeputiatum cirenm-cidit, voluntati novas qualitates infundit, facitque eam ex mortua vivam, ex mala bonam, ex nolente volentem, ex refractaria morigeram, agitque et roborat eam, ut, eeu arbor bona, fructus bonarum actionum proferre possit.

XII.

Atque haec est illa tantopere in Scripturis praedicata regeneratio, nova creatio, suscitatio e mortuis, et vivificatio, quam Deus sine nobis, in nobis operatur. Ea autem neutquam fit per solam forinsecus insontantem doctrinam, moralem suasionem, vel talen operandi rationem, ut post Dei (quoad ipsum) operationem, in hominis potestate maneat regenerari vel non regenerari, converti vel non converti; sed est plane supernaturalis, potentissima simul et suavissima, mirabilis, arcana, et ineffabilis operatio, virtute sua, secundum Scripturam (qua ab Authore hujus operationis est inspirata) nec creatione, nec mortuorum resuscitatione minor, aut inferior, adeo ut omnes illi, in quorum cordibus admirando hoc modo Deus operatur, certo, infallibiliter, et efficaciter regenerentur, et actu credant. Atque tum voluntas jam renovata, non tantum agitur et movetur a Deo, sed a Deo acta, agit et ipsa. Quam obrem etiam homo ipse per gratiam istam acceptam credere et resipiscere recte dicitur.

XIII.

Modum hujus operationis fideles in hac vita plene comprehendere non possunt; in eo interim acquiescentes, quod per istam Dei gratiam, se corde credere, et Servatorem suum diligere, sciant ac sentiant.

XIV.

Sic ergo fides Dei donum est, non eo quod a Deo hominis arbitrio offeratur, sed quod homini reipsa conferatur, inspiretur, et infundatur. Non etiam quod Deus potentiam credendi tantum conferat, consensum vero seu actum credendi ab hominis deinde arbitrio expectet, sed, quod et velle credere, et ipsum credere in homine is efficiat, qui operatur et velle et facere, adeoque omnia operatur in omnibus.

XV.

Hanc gratiam Deus nemini debet. Quid enim debeat ei, qui prior dare nihil potest, ut ei retribuatur? Imo quid debeat ei, qui de suo nihil habet, prater peccatum et mendacium? Qui ergo gratiam illam accipit, soli Deo aeternas debet et agit gratias; qui illam non accipit, is aut haec spiritualia omnino non curat, et in suo sibi placet: aut securus se habere inaniter gloriat, quod non habet. Porro de iis, qui externe fidem profitentur, et vitam emendant, optime secundum exemplum apostolorum judieandum et loquendum est, penetralia enim cordium nobis sunt incompta. Pro aliis autem qui nondum sunt vocati, orandus est Deus, qui quæ non sunt vocat tanquam sint. Nentiquam vero adversus eos est superbiendum, ac si nosmetipsos discrevissemus.

XVI.

Sicuti vero per lapsum homo non desiit esse homo, intellectu et voluntate prædictus, nec peccatum, quod universum genus humanum pervasit, naturam generis humani sustulit, sed depravavit, et spiritualiter oecidit; ita etiam hæc divina regenerationis gratia, non agit in hominibus tanquam truncis et stipitibus, nec voluntatem ejusque proprietates tollit, aut invitam violenter cogit, sed spiritualiter vivificat, sanat, corrigit, suaviter simul ac potenter flectit: ut ubi antea plene dominabatur earnis rebellio et resistantia, nunc regnare incipiat prompta, ac sincera Spiritus obedientia; in quo vera et spiritualis nostræ voluntatis instauratio et libertas consistit. Qua ratione nisi admirabilis ille omnis boni opifex nobiscum ageret, nulla spes esset homini surgendi e lapsu per liberum arbitrium, per quod se, cum staret, præcipitavit in exitium.

XVII.

Quemadmodum etiam omnipotens illa Dei operatio, qua vitam hanc nostram naturalem producit et sustentat, non excludit sed requirit usum mediorum, per quæ Deus pro infinita sua sapientia et bonitate virtutem istam suam exercere voluit: ita et hæc prædicta supernaturalis Dei operatio, qua nos regenerat, neutiquam excludit, aut evertit usum Evangelii, quod sapientissimus Deus in semen regenerationis, et cibum animæ ordinavit. Quare, ut Apostoli, et qui eos secuti sunt doctores, de gratia hæc Dei ad ejus gloriam et omnis superbiae depressionem, pie populum docerunt, neque tamen interim sanctis Evangelii monitis, sub verbi, saeramentorum, et disciplinæ exercitio eum continere neglexerunt: sie etiamnum, absit, ut docentes aut discentes in Ecclesia Deum tentare præsumant, ea separando, quæ Deus pro suo beneplacito voluit esse coniunctissima. Per monita enim confertur gratia, et quo nos officium nostrum facimus promptius, hoc ipso Dei in nobis operantis beneficium solet esse illustrius, reetissimeque ejus opus procedit. Cui soli omnis, et mediorum, et salutaris eorum fructus atque efficacie debetur gloria in sæcula. Amen.

REJECTIO ERRORUM.

Exposita doctrina orthodoxa, Synodus rejicit errores eorum :

I.

Qui docent, 'Proprie dici non posse, quod peccatum originis per se sufficiat toti generi humano condemnando, aut temporales et aeternas penas promerendo.' Contradicunt enim Apostolo, dicenti, Rom. v. 12: Per unum hominem peccatum in mundum introiit, ac per peccatum mors, et ita in omnes homines mors transiit, in quo omnes peccaverunt. Et vers. 16: Reatus ex uno introiit ad condemnationem. Item, Rom. vi. 23: Peccati stipendum mors est.

II.

Qui docent, 'Dona spiritualia, sive habitus bonos, et virtutes, nt sunt bonitas, sanctitas, justitia, in voluntate hominis, cum primum crearetur, locum habere non potuisse, ac proinde nec in lapsu ab ea separari.' Pugnat enim hoc cum descriptione imaginis Dei, quam Apostolus ponit Ephes. iv. 24; ubi illam describit ex justitia et sanctitate, quae omnino in voluntate locum habent.

III.

Qui docent, 'Dona spiritualia non esse in morte spirituali ab hominis voluntate separata, cum ea in sese nunquam corrupta fuerit, sed tantum per tenebras mentis, et affectuum inordinationem impedita; quibus impedimentis sublati, liberam suam facultatem sibi insitam exercere, id est, quodvis bonum sibi propositum ex se, aut velle, sive eligere, aut non velle, sive non eligere possit.' Novum hoc et erroneum est, atque eo facit ut extollantur vires liberi arbitrii, contra Jeremie prophetae dictum, cap. xvii. 9: Fraudulentum est cor ipsum supra omnia et perversum. Et Apostoli, Ephes. ii. 3: Inter quos (homines contumaces) et nos omnes conversati sumus olim in cupiditatibus carnis nostre, facientes voluntates carnis ac cogitationum.

IV.

Qui docent, 'Hominem irregenitum non esse proprio nec totaliter in peccatis mortuum, aut omnibus ad bonum spirituale viribus destitutum, sed posse justitiam vel vitam esurire ac sitire, sacrificiumque Spiritus contriti, et contribulati, quod Deo acceptum est, offerre.' Adversantur enim haec apertis Scripturae testimoniosis, Ephes. ii. 1, 5: Eratis mortui in offensis et peccatis. Et Gen. vi. 5 et viii. 21: Imaginatio cogitationum cordis hominis tautummodo mala est omni die. Adhac liberationem ex miseria et vitam esurire ac sitire, Deoque sacrificium Spiritus contriti offerre, regenitorum est, et eorum qui beati dicuntur. Psa. li. 19 et Matt. v. 6.

V.

Qui docent, 'Hominem corruptum et animalem gratia communi, quae ipsis est lumen naturae, sive donis post lapsum relictis, tam recte uti posse, ut bono isto usu majorem gratiam, puta evangelicam, sive salutarem, et salutem ipsam gradatim obtinere possit. Et haec ratione DEUM se ex parte sua paratum ostendere, ad Christum omnibus revelandum, quandoquidem media ad Christi revelationem, fidem, et resipiscientiam necessaria, omnibus sufficienter et efficaciter administret.' Falsum enim hoc esse praeter omnium temporum experientiam Scriptura testatur. Psa. cxlvii. 19, 20: Indicat verba sua Jacobo, statuta sua et iura sua Israeli, non fecit ita ulli genti, et iura ista non norerunt. Act. xiv. 16: Deus sicut prateritis atatibus omnes gentes suis ipsarum viis incedere. Act. xvi. 6, 7: Prohibiti sunt (Paulus cum suis) a Spiritu Sancto loqui sermonem Dei in Asia. Et, Quum renissent in Mysiam, tentabant ire versus Bithyniam, sed non permisit eis Spiritus.

VI.

Qui docent, 'In vera hominis conversione, non posse novas qualitates, habitus, seu dona in voluntatem ejus a Deo infundi, atque adeo fidem, qua primum convertimur, et a qua fideles nominamur, non esse qualitatem seu donum a Deo infusum; sed tantum actum hominis, neque aliter donum dei posse, quam respectu potestatis ad ipsam pervenire.' Contradicunt enim haec sacris literis, quae testantur DEUM novas qualitates fidei, obedientiae, ac sensus amoris sui cordibus nostris infundere. Jer. xxxi. 33: Indam legem meam menti eorum, ac cordi eorum inscribam eam. Esa. xliv. 3: Effundam aquas super sicutem, et fluenter super aridam; effundam Spiritum meum super semen tuum. Rom. v. 5: Charitas Dei effusa est in cordibus nostris per Spiritum Sanctum, qui datus est nobis. Repugnant etiam continuae praxi Ecclesiae, sic apud prophetam orantis: Converte me, Domine, et convertar. Jer. xxxi. 18.

VII.

Qui docent, 'Gratiam, qua convertimur ad Deum, nihil aliud esse quam lenem suasionem; seu' (ut alii explicant) 'nobilissimum agendi modum in conversione hominis, et naturae humanae convenientissimum esse, qui fiat suasionibus; nihilque obstare quo minus vel sola moralis gratia homines animales reddat spirituales; imo Deum non aliter quam morali ratione consensum voluntatis producere: atque in eo consistere operationis divinae efficaciam, qua Satanæ operationem supereret, quod Deus aeterna bona, Satan antem temporaria promittat.' Omnino enim hoc Pelagianum est, et universæ Scripturæ contrarium, quæ præter hunc etiam alium, et longe efficaciorem ac divinorem Spiritus Sancti agendi modum, in hominis conversione agnoscit. Ezech. xxxvi. 26: Dabo robis cor meum, et spiritum novum dabo in medio vestri, et auferam cor lapideum, daboque cor carneum, etc.

VIII.

Qui docent, 'Deum in hominis regeneratione eas suæ omnipotentie vires non adhibere, quibus voluntatem ejus ad fidem et conversionem potenter et infallibiliter flectat; sed positis omnibus gratiae operationibus, quibus Deus ad hominem convertendum utitur, hominem tamen Deo, et Spiritui regenerationem ejus intendent, et regenerare ipsum volenti, ita posse resistere, et actu ipso saepe resistere, ut sui regenerationem prorsus impedit, atque adeo in ipsis manere potestate, ut regeneretur vel non regeneretur.' Hoc enim nihil aliud est, quam tollere omnem efficaciam gratiae Dei in nostri conversione, et actionem Dei omnipotentis subiecte voluntati hominis, idque contra Apostolos, qui docent, Nos credere pro efficacitate fortis roboris Dei. Ephes. i. 19. Et, Deum bonitatis sue gratuitam benevolentiam et opus fidei potenter in nobis completere. 2 Thess. i. 11. Item, Divinam ipsius vim omnia nobis donasse, que ad vitam et pietatem pertinent. 2 Pet. i. 3.

IX.

Qui docent, 'Gratiam et liberum arbitrium esse causas partiales simul concurrentes ad conversionis initium; nec gratiam ordine causalitatis efficientiam voluntatis antecedere;' id est, 'Deum non prius hominis voluntatem efficaciter juvare ad conversionem, quam voluntas ipsa hominis se movet ac determinat.' Hoc enim dogma Ecclesia prisca in Pelagianis jam olim condemnavit, ex Apostolo Rom. ix. 16: Non est volentis nec currentis, sed Dei miserentis. Et, 1 Cor. iv. 7: Quis te discernit? Et, Quid habes quod non acceperis? Item, Phil. ii. 13: Deus est qui in vobis operatur ipsum velle et perficere pro suo beneplacito.

Huic capiti eadem quæ prius subscribuntur nomina.

QUINTUM DOCTRINÆ CAPUT, DE PERSEVERANTIA SANCTORUM.

Articulus Primus.

Quos Dens secundum propositum sum, ad communionem Filii sui Domini nostri Jesu Christi, vocat, et per Spiritum Sanctum regenerat, eos quidem et a peccati dominio et servitute, non autem a carne, et corpore peccati, penitus in hac vita liberat.

II.

Hinc quotidiana infirmitatis peccata oriuntur, et optimis etiam sanctorum operibus nævi adhaerescunt: quæ illis perpetuam sese coram Deo humiliandi, ad Christum crucifixum confugiendi, carnem magis ac magis per Spiritum precium et sancta pietatis exercitia mortificandi, et ad perfectionis metam suspirandi, materiam suggestur; tantisper dum hoc mortis corpore soluti, cum Agno Dei in cœlis regnent.

III.

Propter istas peccati inhabitantis reliquias, et mundi insuper ac Satanae tentationes, non possent conversi in ista gratia perstare, si suis viribus permitterentur. Sed fidelis est Deus, qui ipsos in gratia semel collata misericorditer confirmat, et in eadem usque ad finem potenter conservat.

IV.

Etsi autem illa potentia Dei vere fideles in gratia confirmantis et conservantis, major est, quam quæ a carne superari possit; non semper tamen conversi ita a Deo aguntur et moventur, ut non possint in quibusdam actionibus particularibus a ductu gratiae, suo vitio, recedere, et a carnis conenpicecentiis seduci, iisque obsequi. Quapropter ipsis perpetuo est vigilandum et orandum, ne in tentationes inducantur. Quod cum non faciunt, non solum a carne, mundo, et Satana, in peccata etiam gravia et atrocia abripi possunt, verum etiam interdum justa Dei permissione abripiuntur. Quod tristes Davidis, Petri, aliorumque sanctorum lapsus, in sacra Scriptura descripti, demonstrant.

V.

Talibus autem enormibus peccatis Deum valde offendunt, reatum mortis incurruunt, Spiritum S. contristant, fidei exercitium interrumpunt, conscientiam gravissime vulnerant, sensum gratiae nonnunquam ad tempus amittunt: donec per seriam resipiscentiam in vitam revertentibus paternus Dei vultus rursum affulgeat.

VI.

Deus enim, qui dives est misericordia, ex immutabili electionis proposito, Spiritum Sanctum, etiam in tristibus lapsibus, a suis non prorsus aufert, nec eousque eos prolabi sinit, ut gratia adoptionis, justificationis statu excidant, aut peccatum ad mortem, sive in Spiritum Sanctum committant, et ab eo penitus deserti in exitium aeternum sese praecipitent.

VII.

Primo enim in istis lapsibus conservat in illis semen suum immortale, ex quo regeniti sunt, ne illud pereat aut excutiatur. Deinde per verbum et Spiritum suum, eos certo et efficaciter renovat ad pœnitentiam, ut de admissis peccatis ex animo secundum Deum doleant, remissionem in sanguine Mediatoris, per fidem, contrito corde, expetant, et obtineant, gratiam Dei reconciliati iterum sentiant, miserations per fidem ejus adorent, ac deinceps salutem suam cum timore et tremore studiosius operentur.

VIII.

Ita non suis meritis, aut viribus, sed ex gratuita Dei misericordia id obtinent, ut nec totaliter fide et gratia excidant, nec finaliter in lapsibus maneant aut pereant. Quod quoad ipsos non tantum facile fieri posset, sed et indubie fieret; respectu autem Dei fieri omnino non potest: eum nec consilium ipsius mutari, promissio excidere, vocatio secundum propositum revocari, Christi meritum, intercessio, et custodia irrita reddire Spiritus Sancti obsignatio frustranea fieri aut deleri possit.

IX.

De hac electorum ad salutem custodia, vereque fidelium in fide perseverantia, ipsi fideles certi esse possunt, et sunt pro mensura fidei, qua certo credunt se esse et perpetuo mansuros vera et viva Ecclesiæ membra, habere remissionem peccatorum, et vitam aeternam.

X.

Ac proinde hæc certitudo non est ex peculiari quadam revelatione praeter aut extra verbum facta, sed ex fide promissionum Dei, quas in verbo suo copiosissime in nostrum solatium revelavit: ex testimonio Spiritus Sancti testantis cum spiritu nostro nos esse Dei filios et heredes. Rom. viii. 16. Denique ex serio et sancto bonæ conscientiae et bonorum operum studio. Atque hoc solidō obtinendæ victoriae solatio, et infallibili aeternæ gloriæ arrha, si in hoc mundo electi Dei destituerentur, omnium hominum essent miserrimi.

XI.

Interim testatur Scriptura fideles in hac vita cum variis earnis dubitationibus conflictari, et in gravi temptatione constitutos hanc fidei plerophoriam, ac perseverantiae certitudinem, non semper sentire. Verum Dens, Pater omnis consolationis, supra vires tentari eos non sinit, sed cum temptatione prestat evasionem. 1 Cor. x. 13. Ac per Spiritum Sanctum perseverantiae certitudinem in iisdem rursum excitat.

XII.

Tantum autem abest, ut hæc perseverantiae certitudo vere fideles superbos, et carnaliter securos reddat, ut e contrario humilitatis, filialis reverentiae, veræ pietatis, patientiae in omni lucta, precum ardentium, constantiae in cruce et veritatis confessione, solidique in Deo gaudii vera sit radix: et consideratio istius beneficij sit stimulus ad serium et continuum gratitudinis et bonorum operum exercitium, ut ex Scripturæ testimoniis et sanctorum exemplis constat.

XIII.

Neque etiam in iis, qui a lapsu instaurantur, lasciviam aut pietatis injuriam procreat rediviva perseverantiae fiducia; sed multo majorem curam de viis Domini solicite custodiendis, quæ præparatae sunt ut in illis ambulando perseverantiae suæ certitudinem retineant, ne propter paternæ benignitatis abusum propitii Dei facies (enjus contemplatio piis vita dulcior, subductio morte acerbior) denuo ab ipsis avertatur, et sic in graviores animi cruciatus incident.

XIV.

Quemadmodum autem Deo placuit, opus hoc suum gratiae per prædicationem Evangelii in nobis inchoare; ita per ejusdem auditum, lectionem, meditationem, adhortationes, minas, promissa, nec non per usum sacramentorum illud conservat, continuat, et perficit.

XV.

Hanc de vere credentium ac sanctorum perseverantia, ejusque certitudine, doctrinam, quam Deus ad nominis sui gloriam, et piarum animarum solatum, in verbo suo abundantissime revelavit, cordibusque fidelium imprimis, caro quidem non capit, Satanus odit, mundus ridet, imperiti et hypocritæ in abusum rapiunt, spiritusque erronei oppugnant; sed sponsa Christi ut inæstimabilis pretii thesaurum tenerrime semper dilexit, et constanter propugnavit: quod ut porro faciat procurabit Deus, adversus quem nec consilium valere, nec robur ullum prævalere potest. Cui soli Deo, Patri, Filio, et Spiritui Sancto sit honor et gloria in sempiternum. Amen.

REJECTIO ERRORUM CIRCA DOCTRINAM DE PERSEVERANTIA SANCTORUM.

Exposita doctrina orthodoxa, Synodus rejicit errores corum:

I.

Qui docent, ‘Perseverantium vere fidelium non esse effectum electionis, aut donum Dei morte Christi partum, sed esse conditionem novi fœderis, ab homine ante sui electionem ac justificationem’ (ut ipsi loquuntur) ‘peremptoriam, libera voluntate præstandam.’ Nam sacra Scriptura testatur eam ex electione sequi, et vi mortis, resurrectionis et intercessionis Christi electis donari. Rom. xi. 7: Electio assecuta est, reliqui occalluerunt. Item, Rom. viii. 32: Qui proprio Filio non pepercit, sed pro omnibus nobis tradidit ipsum, quomodo non cum eo nobis omnia donabit? Quis intentabit crimina adversus electos Dei? Deus est qui justificat. Quis est qui condemnat? Christus in est qui mortuus est, immo qui etiam resurrexit, qui etiam sedet ad dexteram Dei, qui etiam intercedit pro nobis: Quis nos separabit a dilectione Christi?

II.

Qui docent, ‘Deum quidem hominem fidem sufficientibus ad perseverandum viribus instruere, ac paratum esse eas in ipso conservare si officium faciat: positis tamen illis omnibus, quæ ad perseverandum in fide necessaria sunt, quæque Deus ad conservandam fidem adhibere vult, pendere semper a voluntatis arbitrio, ut perseveret, vel non perseveret.’ Haec enim sententia manifestum Pelagianismum continet; et homines, dum vult facere liberos, facit sacrilegos, contra perpetuum evangelicæ doctrinæ consensum, quæ omnem glorianti materiam homini adimit, et hujus beneficij laudem soli divinæ gratiae transcribit; et contra Apostolum testautem: Deum esse qui confirmabit nos usque in finem inculpatos in die Domini nostri Jesu Christi. 1 Cor. i. 8.

III.

Qui docent, 'Vere credentes et regenitos non tantum posse a fide justificante, item gratia, et salute totaliter et finaliter excidere, sed etiam re ipsa non raro ex iis excidere, atque in aeternum perire.' Nam haec opinio ipsam justificationis ac regenerationis gratiam, et perpetuam Christi custodiam irritam reddit, contra diserta Apostoli Pauli verba, Rom. v. 8, 9: Si Christus pro nobis mortuus est, quum adhuc essemus peccatores, multo igitur magis, jam justificati in sanguine ejus, servabimur per ipsum ab ira. Et contra Apostolum Johannem, I John iii. 9: Omnis qui natus est ex Deo, non dat operam peccato: quia semen ejus in eo manet, nec potest peccare, quia ex Deo genitus est. Nec non contra verba Jesu Christi, Johan. x. 28, 29: Ego vitam aeternam do oribus meis, et non peribunt in aeternum, nec rapiet eas quisquam de manu mea; Pater meus, qui mihi eas dedit, major est omniibus, nec ullus potest eas rapere de manu Patris mei.

IV.

Qui docent, 'Vere fideles ac regenitos posse peccare peccato ad mortem, vel in Spiritum Sanctum.' Quum idem Apostolus Johan. [Ep. I.] cap. v. postquam vers. 16, 17 peccantium ad mortem meminisset, et pro iis orare vnuisset, statim ver. 18 subjungat: Scimus quod quisquis natus est ex Deo, non peccat (nempe illo peccati genere), sed qui genitus est ex Deo, conservat seipsum, et malignus ille non tangit eum.

V.

Qui docent, 'Nullam certitudinem futurae perseverantiae haberi posse in hac vita, absque speciali revelatione.' Per hanc enim doctrinam vere fidelium solida consolatio in hac vita tollitur, et pontificiorum dubitatio in Ecclesiam reducitur. Sacra vero Scriptura passim hanc certitudinem, non ex speciali et extraordinaria revelatione, sed ex propriis filiorum Dei signis, et constantissimis Dei promissionibus petit. In primis Apostolus Paulus, Rom. viii. 39: Nulla res creata potest nos separare a charitate Dei, que est in Christo Jesu, Domino nostro. Et Johannes, Epist. I. iii. 24: Qui servat mandata ejus, in eo manet, et ille in eo: et per hoc novimus ipsum in nobis manere, ex Spiritu quem dedit nobis.

VI.

Qui docent, 'Doctrinam de perseverantiae ac salutis certitudine, ex natura et indole sua, esse carnis pulvinar, et pietati, bonis moribus, precibus aliisque sanctis exercitiis noxiā; contra vero de ea dubitare, esse laudabile.' Hi enim demonstrant se efficaciam divinae gratiae, et inhabitantis Spiritus S. operationem ignorare: et contradicunt Apostolo Johanni contrarium disertis verbis affirmanti, Epist. I. iii. 2, 3: Dilecti mei, nunc filii Dei sumus; sed nondum patet factum est id quod erimus: scimus autem fore, ut quum ipse patet factus fuerit, similes ei simus, quoniam ridebitus cum, sicuti est. Et quisquis habet hanc spem in eo, purificat seipsum, sicut et ille parvus est. Hi præterea sanctorum tam Veteris quam Novi Testamenti exemplis redargiuntur, qui licet de sua perseverantia et salute essent certi, in precibus tamen, aliisque pietatis exercitiis, assidui fuernunt.

VII.

Qui docent, 'Fidem temporiorum a justificante et salvifica fide non differre nisi sola duratione.' Nam Christus ipse Matt. xiii. 20 et Lue. viii. 13 ac deinceps, triplex præterea inter temporios et veros fideles discrimen manifesto constituit, quum illos dicit semen recipere in terra petrosa, hos in terra bona, seu corde bono: illos carere radice, hos radicem firmam habere: illos fructibus esse vacuos, hos fructum suum diversa mensura, constanter seu perseveranter proferre.

VIII.

Qui docent, 'Non esse absurdum, hominem priore regeneratione extincta, iterato, imo saepius renasci.' Hi enim per hanc doctrinam negant seminis Dei, per quod renascimur, incorruptibilitatem: adversus testimonium Apostoli Petri, Epist. I. i. 23: Renati non ex semine corruptibili, sed incorruptibili.

IX.

Qui docent, ‘Christum nunquam rogasse pro infallibili erudiantem in fide perseverantia.’ Contradicunt enim ipsi Christo, dicenti, Luc. xxii. 32: Ego rogavi pro te, Petre, ne deficiat fides tua; et Evangeliste Johanni, testanti, Johan. xvii. 20, Christum non tantum pro apostolis, sed etiam pro omnibus, per sermonem ipsorum credituris, orasse, ver. 11: Pater sancte, conserva eos in nomine tuo; Et ver. 15: Nou oro ut eos tollas e mundo, sed ut conserves eos a malo.

CONCLUSIO.

Atque haec est perspicua, simplex, et ingenua Orthodoxæ de Quinque Articulis in Belgio controversiæ doctrinæ declaratio, et errorum, quibus Ecclesiæ Belgicæ aliquamdiu sunt perturbatae, rejectio, quam Synodus ex verbo Dei desumptam, et Confessionibus Reformatarum Ecclesiarum consentaneam esse judicat. Unde liquido apparet eos, quos id minime decuit, citra omnem veritatem, æquitatem, et charitatem, populo inculcatum voluisse:

‘Doctrinam Ecclesiarum Reformatarum de prædestinatione et annexis ei capitibus, proprio quodam genio atque impulsu, animos hominum ab omni pietate et religione abducere: esse carnis et Diaboli pulvinar, arceinqne Satanæ, ex qua omnibus insidietur, plurimos sauciet, et multos tum desperationis, tum securitatis jaculis lethaliter configat: eandem facere Deum authorem peccati, injustum, tyrrannum, hypocritam; nec aliud esse quam interpolatum Stoicismum, Manichismum, Libertinismum, Turcismum: eandem reddere homines carnaliter securos, quippe ex ea persuasos electorum saluti, quomodounque vivant, non obesse, ideoque eos secure atrocissima quæque scelera posse perpetrare; reprobis ad salutem non prodesse, si vel omnia sanctorum opera vere fecerint: eadem doceri Deum nudo puroque voluntatis arbitrio, absque omni ullius peccati respectu, vel intuitu, maximam mundi partem ad æternam damnationem prædestinasse et creasse: eodem modo, quo electio est fons et caussa fidei ac bonorum operum, reprobationem esse caussam infidelitatis et impietatis: multos fidelium infantes ab uberibus matrum innoxios abripi et tyrannice in gehennam præcipitari, adeo ut iis nec baptismus, nec Ecclesiæ in eorum baptismo preces prodesse queant.’

Et quæ ejus generis sunt alia plurima, quæ Ecclesiæ Reformatæ non solum non agnoscunt, sed etiam toto pectore detestantur. Quare quot-quot nomen Servatoris nostri Jesu Christi pie invocant, eos Synodus hæc Dordrechtana per nomen Domini obtestatur, ut de Ecclesiarum Reformatarum fide, non ex coacervatis hinc inde calumniis, vel etiam privatis nonnullorum, tum veterum tum recentium doctorum dictis, sæpe etiam aut mala fide citatis, aut corruptis, et in alienum sensum detortis, sed ex publicis ipsarum Ecclesiarum Confessionibus, et ex hac orthodoxæ doctrinæ declaratione, unanimi omnium et singulorum totius Synodi membrorum consensu firmata, judicent. Calumniatores deinde ipsos serio monet, viderint quam grave Dei judicium sint subituri, qui contra tot Ecclesias, contra tot Ecclesiarum Confessiones, falsum testimonium dicunt, conscientias infirmorum turbant, multisque vere fidelium societatem suspectam reddere satagunt.

Postremo hortatur haec Synodus omnes in Evangelio Christi symystas, ut in hujus doctrinæ pertractatione, in scholis atque in ecclesiis, pie et religiose versentur, eam tum lingua, tum calamo, ad Divini nominis gloriam, vitæ sanctitatem, et consternatorum animorum solatium accommodent, cum Scriptura secundum fideli analogiam non solum sentiant, sed etiam loquantur; a phrasibus denique iis omnibus abstineant, quæ præscriptos nobis genuini sanctorum Scripturarum sensus limites excedunt, et protervis sophistis justam ansam præbere possint doctrinam Ecclesiarum Reformatarum sugillandi, aut etiam calumniandi. Filius Dei Jesus Christus, qui ad dextram Patris sedens dat dona hominibus, sanctificet nos in veritate, eos qui errant adducat ad veritatem, calumniatoribus sanæ doctrinæ ora obstruat, et fidos verbi sui ministros spiritu sapientiae et discretionis instruat, ut omnia ipsorum eloquia ad gloriam Dei, et ædificationem auditorum, cedant. Amen.

SENTENTIA SYNODI DE REMONSTRANTIBUS.

Explicata hactenus, et asserta, per Dei gratiam, veritate, erroribus rejectis, et damnatis, abstersis inquis calumniis; SYNODUS HÆC DORDRECHTANA (quæ ipsi porro cura superest) serio, obnixe et pro auctoritate, quam ex Dei verbo in omnia suarum Ecclesiarum membra obtinet, in Christi nomine rogat, hortatur, monet, atque injungit omnibus et singulis in Foederato Belgio Ecclesiarum Pastoribus, academiarum et scholarum Doctoribus, Rectoribus, et Magistris, atque adeo omnibus in universum, quibus vel animarum cura, vel juventutis disciplina est demandata, ut missis quinque notis Remonstrantium Articulis, qui et errore sunt, et mera errorum latibula, hanc sanam veritatis salutaris doctrinam, ex purissimis verbi divini fontibus haustam, sinceram, et inviolatam, pro viribus et munere suo, conservent: illam populo et juventuti fideliter et prudenter proponant et explicent; usumque ejus suavissimum atque utilissimum, tum in vita, tum in morte, diligenter declarant: errantes ex grege, secus sentientes, et opinionum novitate abreptos, veritatis evidenti mansueti erudiant, si quando det ipsis Deus resipicentiam, ad agnoscendam veritatem: ut saniori menti redditi, uno spiritu, ore, fide, charitate, Ecclesie Dei, et sanctorum communioni, denuo accedant; atque tandem coalescat vulnus Ecclesiæ, et fiat omnium ejus membrorum cor unum et anima una in Domino.

At vero, quia nonnulli e nobis egressi, sub titulo Remonstrantium (quod nomen Remonstrantium ut et Contra-Remonstrantium, SYNODUS perpetua oblivione delendum censem), studiis et consiliis privatis, modis illegitimis, disciplina et ordine Ecclesie violato, atque fratrum suorum monitionibus et judiciis contemptis, Belgicas Ecclesias antea florentissimas, in fide et charitate coniunctissimas, in his Doctrinæ Capitibus, graviter et periculose admodum turbaverunt: errores noxios et veteres revocarunt, et novos procederunt, publice et privatim, voce ac scriptis, in vulgus sparserunt, et acerrime propignarunt: doctrinam, haetenus in Ecclesiis receptam, calumniis et contumeliis enormibus insectandi, nec modum nec finem fecerunt: scandalis, dissidiis, conscientiarum scrupulis, et exagitationibus, omnia passim compleverunt: quæ certe gravia in fidem, in charitatem, in bonos mores, in Ecclesie unitatem et pacem, peccata, cum in nullo homine tolerari juste possint, in Pastoribus censura severissima ab omni aevo in Ecclesia usurpata, necessario animadverti debent; SYNODUS, invokeato Dei sancto nomine, suæ auctoritatis ex verbo Dei probe conscientia, omnium legitimarum tum veterum tum recentium Synodorum vestigis insistens, et illustrissimorum DD. Ordinum Generalium auctoritate munita, declarat atque judicat, Pastores illos, qui partium in Ecclesia ductores, et errorum doctores sese præbuerunt, corrupta religionis, scissæ Ecclesiæ unitatis, et gravissimorum scandalorum, citatos vero ad hanc Synodum, intollerande insuper adversus supremi magistratus in hac Synodo publicata decreta, ipsamque hanc venerandam Synodum, pervacie, reos et convictos teneri. Quas ob causas, primo Synodus prædictis citatis omni ecclesiastico munere interdicit, eosque ab officiis suis abdicat, et academicis functionibus etiam indignos esse judicat, donec per seriam resipiscientiam, dietis, factis, studiis contrariis abunde comprobata, Ecclesia satisfaciant, et cum eadem vere et plene reconcilientur, atque ad ejus communionem recipientur: quod nos in ipsorum bonum, et totius Ecclesiæ gaudium unice in Christo Domino nostro exoptamus. Reliquos autem, quorum cognitio ad Synodum hanc Nationalem non devenit, Synodus Provincialibus, Classibus, et Presbyteriis, ex ordine recepto, committit: quæ omni studio procurent ne quid Ecclesia detimenti vel in præsens capere, vel in posterum metuere possit. Errorum istorum sectatores spiritu prudentiae discriminent: refractarios, clamosos, factiosos, turbatores, quam primum officiis ecclesiasticis, et scholasticis, quæ sunt suæ cognitionis et curæ, abdcent: eoque nomine monentur, ut nulla interjecta mora, post acceptum hujus Synodi Nationalis judicium, impetrata ad hoc magistratus auctoritate, convenient, ne lentitudine malum invaleseat et roboretur. Ex infirmitate, et vitio temporum lapsos, vel abreptos, et in levioribus forte hæsitantes, aut etiam dissentientes, modestos tamen, sedatos, vitae inculpatæ, dociles, omni lenitate, charitatis officiis, patientia, ad veram atque perfectam concordiam cum Ecclesia provocent: ita tamen, ut diligenter sibi caveant, ne quemquam ad sacrum ministerium admittant, qui doctrinæ hisce synodicis constitutionibus declaratae subseribere, eamque docere recuset: neminem etiam retineant, cuius manifesta dissensione, doctrina in hac Synodo tanto consensu comprobata violari, et Pastorum concordia, Ecclesiarumque tranquillitas denuo turbari queat. Praterea veneranda hæc Synodus serio monet ecclesiasticos omnes cœtus, ut invigilant diligentissime in greges sibi commissos, omnibus subnascentibus in Ecclesia novitatibus mature obviam eant, easque tanquam zizania ex agro Domini evellant: attendant scholis et scholarum moderatoribus ne qua ex privatis sententiis et pravis opinionebus juventuti instillatis, postmodum Ecclesiæ et reipub. pernicies denuo eructur. Denique illustrissimis et præpotentibus DD. Federati Belgii Ordinibus Generalibus, gratis reverenter actis, quod tam necessario et opportuno tempore, afflitiis et labentibus Ecclesiæ rebus, Synodi remedio clementer succurrerint, probos et fideles DEI servos in suam tutelam receperint, pignos omnis benedictionis et praesentie divinæ, verbi nempe ipsius veritatem, in suis ditionibus sancte et religiose conservatam voluerint: nulli labori, nullis sumptibus ad tantum opus promovendum et perficiendum pepercident: pro quibus eximiis officiis largissimam a Domino et publice et privatim, et spiritualem et temporalem, remunerationem toto pectore SYNODUS comprecatur: Eosdem porro Dominos clementissimos obnixe et demisse rogat, ut hanc salutarem doctrinam, fidelissime ad verbum Dei et Reformatarum Ecclesiarum consensum a Synodo expressam, in suis regionibus solam et publice audiri velint et jubeant: arecant suborientes omnes haereses et errores, spiritus inquietos et turbulentos compescant: veros et benignos Ecclesiæ nutritios ac tutores sese probare pergent: in personas supra dictas sententiam pro jure ecclesiastico, patriis legibus confirmato, ratam esse velint, et anctoritatis suæ adjecto cæculo, synodicas constitutiones immotas et perpetuas reddant.

THE CANONS OF THE SYNOD OF DORT,

As held by the Reformed [Dutch] Church in America.

[We append the English text of the Canons of Dort from the Constitution of the Reformed (formerly Reformed Dutch) Church in America, published in New York. It contains only the positive articles on the Five Points, and omits the Preface and Conclusion, the rejection of the opposite errors, and the Sentence against the Remonstrants. In this abridged form the Canons of Dort are still in force in said Church, together with the Belgic Confession and the Heidelberg Catechism, although the name Dutch (which had been first formally assumed in 1792) was dropped in 1867 from her ecclesiastical title, the Dutch language being now superseded by the English.]

FIRST HEAD OF DOCTRINE.

Of Divine Predestination.

ART. I. As all men have sinned in Adam, lie under the curse, and are obnoxious to eternal death, God would have done no injustice by leaving them all to perish, and delivering them over to condemnation on account of sin, according to the words of the Apostle (Rom. iii. 19), ‘that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God;’ (ver. 23) ‘for all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God;’ and (vi. 23), ‘for the wages of sin is death.’

ART. II. But ‘in this the love of God was manifested, that he sent his only-begotten Son into the world,’ ‘that whosoever believeth on him should not perish, but have everlasting life’ (1 John iv. 9; John iii. 16).

ART. III. And that men may be brought to believe, God mercifully sends the messengers of these most joyful tidings to whom he will, and at what time he pleaseth; by whose ministry men are called to repentance and faith in Christ exalted. ‘How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? And how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? And how shall they hear without a preacher? And how shall they preach, except they be sent?’ (Rom. x. 14, 15).

ART. IV. The wrath of God abideth upon those who believe not this gospel; but such as receive it, and embrace Jesus the Saviour by a true and living faith, are by him delivered from the wrath of God and from destruction, and have the gift of eternal life conferred upon them.

ART. V. The cause or guilt of this unbelief, as well as of all other sins, is nowise in God, but in man himself: whereas faith in Jesus Christ, and salvation through him is the free gift of God, as it is written, ‘By grace ye are saved through faith, and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God’ (Eph. ii. 8); and, ‘Unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him,’ etc. (Phil. i. 29).

ART. VI. That some receive the gift of faith from God, and others do not receive it, proceeds from God’s eternal decree. ‘For known unto God are all his works from the beginning of the world’ (Acts xv. 18; Eph. i. 11). According to which decree he graciously softens the hearts of the elect, however obstinate, and inclines them to believe; while he leaves the non-elect in his just judgment to their own wickedness and obduracy. And herein is especially displayed the profound, the merciful, and at the same time the righteous discrimination between men, equally involved in ruin; or that decree of election and reprobation, revealed in the Word of God, which, though men of perverse, impure, and unstable minds wrest it to their own destruction, yet to holy and pious souls affords unspeakable consolation.

ART. VII. Election is the unchangeable purpose of God, whereby, before the foundation of the world, he hath, out of mere grace, according to the sovereign good pleasure of his own will, chosen, from the whole human race, which had fallen through their own fault, from their primitive state of rectitude, into sin and destruction, a certain number of persons to redemption in Christ, whom he from eternity appointed the Mediator and head of the elect, and the foundation of salvation.

This elect number, though by nature neither better nor more deserving than others, but with them involved in one common misery, God hath decreed to give to Christ to be saved by him, and effectually to call and draw them to his communion by his Word and Spirit; to bestow upon them true faith, justification, and sanctification; and having powerfully preserved them in the fellowship of his Son, finally to glorify them for the demonstration of his mercy, and for the praise of the riches of his glorious grace: as it is written, ‘According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love; having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will, to the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the Beloved’ (Eph. i. 4-6). And elsewhere, ‘Whom he did predestinate, them he also called; and whom he called, them he also justified; and whom he justified, them he also glorified’ (Rom. viii. 30).

Art. VIII. There are not various decrees of election, but one and the same decree respecting all those who shall be saved both under the Old and New Testament; since the Scripture declares the good pleasure, purpose, and counsel of the divine will to be one, according to which he hath chosen us from eternity, both to grace and to glory, to salvation and the way of salvation, which he hath ordained that we should walk therein.

Art. IX. This election was not founded upon foreseen faith, and the obedience of faith, holiness, or any other good quality or disposition in man, as the prerequisite, cause, or condition on which it depended; but men are chosen to faith and to the obedience of faith, holiness, etc. Therefore election is the fountain of every saving good; from which proceed faith, holiness, and the other gifts of salvation, and finally eternal life itself, as its fruits and effects, according to that of the Apostle. ‘He hath chosen us [not because we were, but] that we should be holy and without blame before him in love’ (Eph. i. 4).

Art. X. The good pleasure of God is the sole cause of this gracious election; which doth not consist herein that God, foreseeing all possible qualities of human actions, elected certain of these as a condition of salvation, but that he was pleased out of the common mass of sinners to adopt some certain persons as a peculiar people to himself, as it is written, ‘For the children being not yet born, neither having done any good or evil,’ etc., ‘it was said [namely, to Rebecca] the elder shall serve the younger; as it is written, Jacob have I loved, but Esau have I hated’ (Rom. ix. 11–13); and, ‘As many as were ordained to eternal life believed’ (Acts xiii. 48).

Art. XI. And as God himself is most wise, unchangeable, omniscient, and omnipotent, so the election made by him can neither be interrupted nor changed, recalled nor annulled; neither can the elect be cast away, nor their number diminished.

Art. XII. The elect, in due time, though in various degrees and in different measures, attain the assurance of this their eternal and unchangeable election, not by inquisitively prying into the secret and deep things of God, but by observing in themselves, with a spiritual joy and holy pleasure, the infallible fruits of election pointed out in the Word of God; such as a true faith in Christ, filial fear, a godly sorrow for sin, a hungering and thirsting after righteousness, etc.

ART. XIII. The sense and certainty of this election afford to the children of God additional matter for daily humiliation before him, for adoring the depth of his mercies, and rendering grateful returns of ardent love to him who first manifested so great love towards them. The consideration of this doctrine of election is so far from encouraging remissness in the observance of the divine commands or from sinking men into carnal security, that these, in the just judgment of God, are the usual effects of rash presumption or of idle and wanton trifling with the grace of election, in those who refuse to walk in the ways of the elect.

ART. XIV. As the doctrine of divine election by the most wise counsel of God was declared by the Prophets, by Christ himself, and by the Apostles, and is clearly revealed in the Scriptures both of the Old and New Testament, so it is still to be published in due time and place in the Church of God, for which it was peculiarly designed, provided it be done with reverence, in the spirit of discretion and piety, for the glory of God's most holy name, and for enlivening and comforting his people, without vainly attempting to investigate the secret ways of the Most High.

ART. XV. What peculiarly tends to illustrate and recommend to us the eternal and unmerited grace of election is the express testimony of sacred Scripture, that not all, but some only, are elected, while others are passed by in the eternal decree; whom God, out of his sovereign, most just, irreprehensible and unchangeable good pleasure, hath decreed to leave in the common misery into which they have willfully plunged themselves, and not to bestow upon them saving faith and the grace of conversion; but permitting them in his just judgment to follow their own way; at last, for the declaration of his justice, to condemn and punish them forever, not only on account of their unbelief, but also for all their other sins. And this is the decree of reprobation which by no means makes God the author of sin (the very thought of which is blasphemy), but declares him to be an awful, irreprehensible, and righteous judge and avenger.

ART. XVI. Those who do not yet experience a lively faith in Christ, an assured confidence of soul, peace of conscience, an earnest endeavor after filial obedience, and glorying in God through Christ, efficaciously wrought in them, and do nevertheless persist in the use of the means which God hath appointed for working these graces in us, ought not to be alarmed at the mention of reprobation, nor to rank themselves among the reprobate, but diligently to persevere in the use of means, and with ardent desires devoutly and humbly to wait for a season of richer grace. Much less cause have they to be terrified by the doctrine of reprobation, who, though they seriously desire to be turned to God, to please him only, and to be delivered from the body of death, can not yet reach that measure of holiness and faith to which they aspire; since a merciful God has promised that he will not quench the smoking flax, nor break the bruised reed. But this doctrine is justly terrible to those who, regardless of God and of the Saviour Jesus Christ, have wholly given themselves up to the cares of the world and the pleasures of the flesh, so long as they are not seriously converted to God.

ART. XVII. Since we are to judge of the will of God from his Word, which testifies that the children of believers are holy, not by nature, but in virtue of the covenant of grace, in which they together with the parents are comprehended, godly parents have no reason to doubt of the election and salvation of their children whom it pleaseth God to call out of this life in their infancy.

ART. XVIII. To those who murmur at the free grace of election, and just severity of reprobation, we answer with the Apostle: ‘Nay but, O man, who art thou that repliest against God?’ (Rom. ix. 20); and quote the language of our Saviour: ‘Is it not lawful for me to do what I will with mine own?’ (Matt. xx. 15). And therefore with holy adoration of these mysteries, we exclaim, in the words of the Apostle: ‘O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out! For who hath known the mind of the Lord, or who hath been his counselor? or who hath first given to him, and it shall be recompensed unto him again? For of him, and through him, and to him are all things: to whom be glory forever. Amen.’ (Rom. xi. 33-36.)

SECOND HEAD OF DOCTRINE.

Of the Death of Christ, and the Redemption of Men thereby.

ART. I. God is not only supremely merciful, but also supremely just. And his justice requires (as he hath revealed himself in his Word) that our sins committed against his infinite majesty should be punished, not only with temporal, but with eternal punishments, both in body and soul; which we can not escape, unless satisfaction be made to the justice of God.

ART. II. Since, therefore, we are unable to make that satisfaction in our own persons, or to deliver ourselves from the wrath of God, he hath been pleased of his infinite mercy to give his only-begotten Son for our surety, who was made sin, and became a curse for us and in our stead, that he might make satisfaction to divine justice on our behalf.

ART. III. The death of the Son of God is the only and most perfect sacrifice and satisfaction for sin; is of infinite worth and value, abundantly sufficient to expiate the sins of the whole world.

ART. IV. This death derives its infinite value and dignity from these considerations; because the person who submitted to it was not only really man and perfectly holy, but also the only-begotten Son of God, of the same eternal and infinite essence with the Father and Holy Spirit, which qualifications were necessary to constitute him a Saviour for us; and because it was attended with a sense of the wrath and curse of God due to us for sin.

ART. V. Moreover the promise of the gospel is, that whosoever believeth in Christ crucified shall not perish, but have everlasting life. This promise, together with the command to repent and believe, ought to be declared and published to all nations, and to all persons promiscuously and without distinction, to whom God out of his good pleasure sends the gospel.

ART. VI. And, whereas many who are called by the gospel do not repent nor believe in Christ, but perish in unbelief; this is not owing to any defect or insufficiency in the sacrifice offered by Christ upon the cross, but is wholly to be imputed to themselves.

ART. VII. But as many as truly believe, and are delivered and saved from sin and destruction through the death of Christ, are indebted for this benefit solely to the grace of God given them in Christ from everlasting, and not to any merit of their own.

ART. VIII. For this was the sovereign counsel and most gracious will and purpose of God the Father, that the quickening and saving efficacy of the most precious death of his Son should extend to all the elect, for bestowing upon them alone the gift of justifying faith, thereby to bring them infallibly to salvation : that is, it was the will of God, that Christ by the blood of the cross, whereby he confirmed the new covenant, should effectually redeem out of every people, tribe, nation, and language, all those, and those only, who were from eternity chosen to salvation, and given to him by the Father ; that he should confer upon them faith, which, together with all the other saving gifts of the Holy Spirit, he purchased for them by his death ; should purge them from all sin, both original and actual, whether committed before or after believing ; and having faithfully preserved them even to the end, should at last bring them free from every spot and blemish to the enjoyment of glory in his own presence forever.

ART. IX. This purpose proceeding from everlasting love towards the elect, has, from the beginning of the world to this day, been powerfully accomplished, and will, henceforward, still continue to be accomplished, notwithstanding all the ineffectual opposition of the gates of hell ; so that the elect in due time may be gathered together into one, and that there never may be wanting a Church composed of believers, the foundation of which is laid in the blood of Christ, which may steadfastly love and faithfully serve him as their Saviour, who, as a bridegroom for his bride, laid down his life for them upon the cross ; and which may celebrate his praises here and through all eternity.

THIRD AND FOURTH HEADS OF DOCTRINE.

Of the Corruption of Man, his Conversion to God, and the Manner thereof.

ART. I. Man was originally formed after the image of God. His understanding was adorned with a true and saving knowledge of his Creator, and of spiritual things ; his heart and will were upright, all his affections pure, and the whole Man was holy ; but revolting from God by the instigation of the devil, and abusing the freedom of his own will, he forfeited these excellent gifts, and on the contrary entailed on himself blindness of mind, horrible darkness, vanity, and perverseness of judgment; became wicked, rebellious, and obdurate in heart and will, and impure in [all] his affections.

ART. II. Man after the fall begat children in his own likeness. A corrupt stock produced a corrupt offspring. Hence all the posterity of Adam, Christ only excepted, have derived corruption from their original parent, not by imitation, as the Pelagians of old asserted, but by the propagation of a vicious nature [in consequence of a just judgment of God].¹

ART. III. Therefore all men are conceived in sin, and are by nature children of wrath, incapable of any saving good, prone to evil, dead in sin, and in bondage thereto; and, without the regenerating grace of the Holy Spirit, they are neither able nor willing to return to God, to reform the depravity of their nature, nor to dispose themselves to reformation.

ART. IV. There remain, however, in man since the fall, the glimmerings of natural light, whereby he retains some knowledge of God, of natural things, and of the difference between good and evil, and discovers some regard for virtue, good order in society, and for maintaining an orderly external deportment. But so far is this light of nature from being sufficient to bring him to a saving knowledge of God, and to true conversion, that he is incapable of using it aright even in things natural and civil. Nay farther, this light, such as it is, man in various ways renders wholly polluted, and holds it [back] in unrighteousness; by doing which he becomes inexcusable before God.

ART. V. In the same light are we to consider the law of the decalogue, delivered by God to his peculiar people the Jews, by the hands of Moses. For though it discovers the greatness of sin, and more and more convinces man thereof, yet as it neither points out a remedy nor imparts strength to extricate him from misery, and thus being weak through the flesh, leaves the transgressor under the curse, man can not by this law obtain saving grace.

ART. VI. What, therefore, neither the light of nature nor the law could do, that God performs by the operation of his Holy Spirit through the word or ministry of reconciliation : which is the glad tidings concerning the Messiah, by means whereof it hath pleased God to save such as believe, as well under the Old as under the New Testament.

ART. VII. This mystery of his will God discovered to but a small number under the Old Testament ; under the New, he reveals himself to many, without any distinction of people. The cause of this dispensation is not to be ascribed to the superior worth of one nation above another, nor to their making a better use of the light of nature, but results wholly from the sovereign good pleasure and unmerited love of God. Hence they to whom so great and so gracious a blessing is communicated, above their desert, or rather notwithstanding their demerits, are bound to acknowledge it with humble and grateful hearts, and with the Apostle to adore, not curiously to pry into the severity and justice of God's judgments displayed in others, to whom this grace is not given.

ART. VIII. As many as are called by the gospel are unfeignedly called ; for God hath most earnestly and truly declared in his Word what will be acceptable to him, namely, that all who are called should comply with the invitation. He, moreover, seriously promises eternal life and rest to as many as shall come to him, and believe on him.

ART. IX. It is not the fault of the gospel, nor of Christ offered therein, nor of God, who calls men by the gospel, and confers upon them various gifts, that those who are called by the ministry of the Word refuse to come and be converted. The fault lies in themselves ; some of whom when called, regardless of their danger, reject the Word of life ; others, though they receive it, suffer it not to make a lasting impression on their heart ; therefore, their joy, arising only from a temporary faith, soon vanishes, and they fall away ; while others choke the seed of the Word by perplexing cares and the pleasures of this world, and produce no fruit. This our Saviour teaches in the parable of the sower (Matt. xiii.).

ART. X. But that others who are called by the gospel obey the call and are converted, is not to be ascribed to the proper exercise of free-will, whereby one distinguishes himself above others equally furnished with grace sufficient for faith and conversion (as the proud heresy of Pelagius maintains) ; but it must be wholly ascribed to God, who, as he hath chosen his own from eternity in Christ, so he [calls them effectually in time]¹ confers upon them faith and repentance, rescues them from the power of darkness, and translates them into the kingdom of his own Son, that they may show forth the praises of him who hath called them out of darkness into his marvelous light; and may glory not in themselves but in the Lord, according to the testimony of the Apostles in various places.

ART. XI. But when God accomplishes his good pleasure in the elect, or works in them true conversion, he not only causes the gospel to be externally preached to them, and powerfully illuminates their minds by his Holy Spirit, that they may rightly understand and discern the things of the Spirit of God, but by the efficacy of the same regenerating Spirit he pervades the inmost recesses of the man; he opens the closed and softens the hardened heart, and circumcises that which was uncircumcised; infuses new qualities into the will, which, though heretofore dead, he quickens; from being evil, disobedient, and refractory, he renders it good, obedient, and pliable; actuates and strengthens it, that, like a good tree, it may bring forth the fruits of good actions.

ART. XII. And this is the regeneration so highly celebrated in Scripture and denominated a new creation: a resurrection from the dead; a making alive, which God works in us without our aid. But this is nowise effected merely by the external preaching of the gospel, by moral suasion, or such a mode of operation that, after God has performed his part, it still remains in the power of man to be regenerated or not, to be converted or to continue unconverted; but it is evidently a supernatural work, most powerful, and at the same time most delightful, astonishing, mysterious, and ineffable; not inferior in efficacy to creation or the resurrection from the dead, as the Scripture inspired by the author of this work declares; so that all in whose hearts God works in this marvelous manner are certainly, infallibly, and effectually regenerated, and do actually believe. Whereupon the will thus renewed is not only actuated and influenced by God, but, in consequence of this influence, becomes itself active. Wherefore, also, man is himself rightly said to believe and repent, by virtue of that grace received.

ART. XIII. The manner of this operation can not be fully comprehended by believers in this life. Notwithstanding which, they rest satisfied with knowing and experiencing that by this grace of God they are enabled to believe with the heart and to love their Saviour.

ART. XIV. Faith is therefore to be considered as the gift of God, not on account of its being offered by God to man, to be accepted or rejected at his pleasure, but because it is in reality conferred, breathed, and infused into him; nor even because God bestows the power or ability to believe, and then expects that man should, by the exercise of his own free will, consent to the terms of salvation, and actually believe in Christ; but because he who works in man both to will and to do, and indeed all things in all, produces both the will to believe and the act of believing also.

ART. XV. God is under no obligation to confer this grace upon any; for how can he be indebted to man, who had no previous gift to bestow as a foundation for such recompense? Nay, who has nothing of his own but sin and falsehood. He, therefore, who becomes the subject of this grace owes eternal gratitude to God, and gives him thanks forever. Whoever is not made partaker thereof is either altogether regardless of these spiritual gifts and satisfied with his own condition, or is in no apprehension of danger, and vainly boasts the possession of that which he has not. With respect to those who make an external profession of faith and live regular lives, we are bound, after the example of the Apostle, to judge and speak of them in the most favorable manner; for the secret recesses of the heart are unknown to us. And as to others, who have not yet been called, it is our duty to pray for them to God, who calleth those things which be not as though they were. But we are in no wise to conduct ourselves towards them with haughtiness, as if we had made ourselves to differ.

ART. XVI. But as man by the fall did not cease to be a creature endowed with understanding and will, nor did sin, which pervaded the whole race of mankind, deprive him of the human nature, but brought upon him depravity and spiritual death; so also this grace of regeneration does not treat men as senseless stocks and blocks, nor take away their will and its properties, neither does violence thereto; but spiritually quickens, heals, corrects, and at the same time sweetly and powerfully bends it, that where carnal rebellion and resistance formerly prevailed a ready and sincere spiritual obedience begins to reign; in which the true and spiritual restoration and freedom of our will consist. Wherefore, unless the admirable Author of every good work wrought in us, man could have no hope of recovering from his fall by his own free will, by the abuse of which, in a state of innocence, he plunged himself into ruin.

ART. XVII. As the almighty operation of God, whereby he prolongs and supports this our natural life, does not exclude, but requires the use of means, by which God of his infinite mercy and goodness hath chosen to exert his influence; so also the before-mentioned supernatural operation of God, by which we are regenerated, in nowise excludes or subverts the use of the gospel, which the most wise God has ordained to be the seed of regeneration and food of the soul. Wherefore as the Apostles, and the teachers who succeeded them, piously instructed the people concerning this grace of God, to his glory and the abasement of all pride, and in the mean time, however, neglected not to keep them by the sacred precepts of the gospel, in the exercise of the Word, the sacraments and discipline; so, even to this day, be it far from either instructors or instructed to presume to tempt God in the Church by separating what he of his good pleasure hath most intimately joined together. For grace is conferred by means of admonitions; and the more readily we perform our duty, the more eminent usually is this blessing of God working in us, and the more directly is his work advanced; to whom alone all the glory, both of means and their saving fruit and efficacy, is forever due. Amen.

FIFTH HEAD OF DOCTRINE.

Of the Perseverance of the Saints.

ART. I. Whom God calls, according to his purpose, to the communion of his Son our Lord Jesus Christ, and regenerates by the Holy Spirit, he delivers also from the dominion and slavery of sin in this life; though not altogether from the body of sin and from the infirmities of the flesh, so long as they continue in this world.

ART. II. Hence spring daily sins of infirmity, and hence spots adhere to the best works of the saints, which furnish them with constant matter for humiliation before God, and flying for refuge to Christ crucified; for mortifying the flesh more and more by the spirit of prayer and by holy exercises of piety; and for pressing forward to the goal of perfection, till being at length delivered from this body of death, they are brought to reign with the Lamb of God in heaven.

ART. III. By reason of these remains of indwelling sin, and the temptations of sin and of the world,¹ those who are converted could not persevere in a state of grace if left to their own strength. But God is faithful, who having conferred grace, mercifully confirms and powerfully preserves them therein, even to the end.

ART. IV. Although the weakness of the flesh can not prevail against the power of God, who confirms and preserves true believers in a state of grace, yet converts are not always so influenced and actuated by the Spirit of God as not in some particular instances sinfully to deviate from the guidance of divine grace, so as to be seduced by, and to comply with, the lusts of the flesh; they must therefore be constant in watching and prayer, that they be not led into temptation. When these are neglected, they are not only liable to be drawn into great and heinous sins by Satan, the world, and the flesh,² but sometimes by the righteous permission of God actually fall into these evils. This the lamentable fall of David, Peter, and other saints described in Holy Scriptures, demonstrates.

ART. V. By such enormous sins, however, they very highly offend God, incur a deadly guilt, grieve the Holy Spirit, interrupt the exercise of faith, very grievously wound their consciences, and sometimes lose the sense of God's favor, for a time, until on their returning into the right way by serious repentance, the light of God's fatherly countenance again shines upon them.

ART. VI. But God, who is rich in mercy, according to his unchangeable purpose of election, does not wholly withdraw the Holy Spirit from his own people, even in their melancholy falls; nor suffer them to proceed so far as to lose the grace of adoption and forfeit the state of justification, or to commit the sin unto death;³ nor does he permit them to be totally deserted, and to plunge themselves into everlasting destruction.

ART. VII. For in the first place, in these falls he preserves in them the incorruptible seed of regeneration from perishing or being totally lost ; and again, by his Word and Spirit, he certainly and effectually renews them to repentance, to a sincere and godly sorrow for their sins, that they may seek and obtain remission in the blood of the Mediator, may again experience the favor of a reconciled God, through faith adore his mercies, and henceforward more diligently work out their own salvation with fear and trembling.

² by the flesh, the world, and Satan (a carne, mundo, et Satana).

³ or against the Holy Ghost (sire in Spiritum Sanctum).

ART. VIII. Thus, it is not in consequence of their own merits or strength, but of God's free mercy, that they do not totally fall from faith and grace, nor continue and perish finally in their backslidings ; which, with respect to themselves is not only possible, but would undoubtedly happen ; but with respect to God, it is utterly impossible, since his counsel can not be changed, nor his promise fail, neither can the call according to his purpose be revoked, nor the merit, intercession, and preservation of Christ be rendered ineffectual, nor the sealing of the Holy Spirit be frustrated or obliterated.

ART. IX. Of this preservation of the elect to salvation, and of their perseverance in the faith, true believers for themselves may and do obtain assurance according to the measure of their faith, whereby they arrive at the certain persuasion that they ever will continue true and living members of the Church ; and that they experience forgiveness of sins, and will at last inherit eternal life.

ART. X. This assurance, however, is not produced by any peculiar revelation contrary to, or independent of the Word of God, but springs from faith in God's promises, which he has most abundantly revealed in his Word for our comfort ; from the testimony of the Holy Spirit, witnessing with our spirit, that we are children and heirs of God (Rom. viii. 16) ; and, lastly, from a serious and holy desire to preserve a good conscience, and to perform good works. And if the elect of God were deprived of this solid comfort, that they shall finally obtain the victory, and of this infallible pledge or earnest of eternal glory, they would be of all men the most miserable.

ART. XI. The Scripture moreover testifies that believers in this life have to struggle with various carnal doubts, and that under grievous temptations they are not always sensible of this full assurance of faith and certainty of persevering. But God, who is the Father of all consolation, does not suffer them to be tempted above that they are able, but will with the temptation also make a way to escape, that they may be able to bear it (1 Cor. x. 13); and by the Holy Spirit again inspires them with the comfortable assurance of persevering.

ART. XII. This certainty of perseverance, however, is so far from exciting in believers a spirit of pride, or of rendering them carnally secure, that, on the contrary, it is the real source of humility, filial reverence, true piety, patience in every tribulation, fervent prayers, constancy in suffering and in confessing the truth, and of solid rejoicing in God; so that the consideration of this benefit should serve as an incentive to the serious and constant practice of gratitude and good works, as appears from the testimonies of Scripture and the examples of the saints.

ART. XIII. Neither does renewed confidence of persevering produce licentiousness or a disregard to piety in those who are recovered from backsliding; but it renders them much more careful and solicitous to continue in the ways of the Lord, which he hath ordained, that they who walk therein may maintain an assurance of persevering; lest by abusing his fatherly kindness, God should turn away his gracious countenance from them (to behold which is to the godly dearer than life, the withdrawing whereof is more bitter than death), and they in consequence thereof should fall into more grievous torments of conscience.

ART. XIV. And as it hath pleased God, by the preaching of the gospel, to begin this work of grace in us, so he preserves, continues, and perfects it by the hearing and reading of his Word, by meditation thereon, and by the exhortations, threatenings, and promises thereof, as well as by the use of the Sacraments.

ART. XV. The carnal mind is unable to comprehend this doctrine of the perseverance of the saints, and the certainty thereof, which God hath most abundantly revealed in his Word, for the glory of his name and the consolation of pious souls, and which he impresses upon the hearts of the faithful. Satan abhors it; the world ridicules it; the ignorant and hypocrite abuse, and heretics oppose it. But the spouse of Christ hath always most tenderly loved and constantly defended it, as an inestimable treasure; and God, against whom neither counsel nor strength can prevail, will dispose her to continue this conduct to the end. Now to THIS ONE GOD, FATHER, SON, AND HOLY SPIRIT BE HONOR AND GLORY FOREVER. Amen.

CONCLUSION.

And this is the perspienous, simple, and ingenuons declaration of the orthodox doctrine respecting the five articles which have been controverted in the Belgic Churches; and the rejection of the errors, with which they have for some time been troubled. This doctrine the Synod judges to be drawn from the Word of God, and to be agreeable to the confession of the Reformed Churches. Whence it clearly appears that some, whom such conduct by no means became, have violated all truth, equity, and charity, in wishing to persuade the public:

'That the doctrine of the Reformed Churches concerning predestination, and the points annexed to it, by its own genins and necessary tendency, leads off the minds of men from all piety and religion; that it is an opiate administered by the flesh and the devil; and the strong-hold of Satan, where he lies in wait for all, and from which he wounds multitndes, and mortally strikes through many with the darts both of despair and security: that it makes God the author of sin, unjust, tyrannical, hypocritical; that it is nothing more than an interpolated Stoicism, Manicheism, Libertinism, Turecism; that it renders men carnally secure, since they are persuaded by it that nothing can hinder the salvation of the elect, let them live as they please; and, therefore, that they may safely perpetrate every species of the most atrocious crimes; and that, if the reprobate should even perform truly all the works of the saints, their obedience would not in the least contribute to their salvation; that the same doctrine teaches that God, by a mere arbitrary act of his will, without the least respect or view to any sin, has predestinated the greatest part of the world to eternal damnation, and has created them for this very purpose; that in the same manner in which the election is the fountaint and cause of faith and good works, reprobation is the cause of unbelief and impiety; that many children of the faithful are torn, guiltless, from their mothers' breasts, and tyrannically plunged into hell: so that neither baptism nor the prayers of the Church at their baptism can at all profit them; and many other things of the same kind which the Reformed Churches not only do not acknowledge, but even detest with their whole soul.'

Wherefore, this Synod of Dort, in the name of the Lord, conjures as many as pionously call upon the name of our Saviour Jesus Christ to judge of the faith of the Reformed Churches, not from the calumnies which on every side are heaped upon it, nor from the private expressions of a few among ancient and modern teachers, often dishonestly quoted, or corrupted and wrested to a meaning quite foreign to their intention; but from the public confessions of the Churches themselves, and from this declaration of the orthodox doctrine, confirmed by the unanimous consent of all and each of the members of the whole Synod. Moreover, the Synod warns calumniators themselves to consider the terrible judgment of God which awaits them, for bearing false witness against the confessions of so many Churches; for distressing the con-sciences of the weak ; and for laboring to render suspected the society of the truly faithful.

Finally, this Synod exhorts all their brethren in the gospel of Christ to conduct themselves piously and religiously in handling this doctrine, both in the universities and churches ; to direct it, as well in discourse as in writing, to the glory of the Divine name, to holiness of life, and to the consolation of afflicted souls ; to regulate, by the Scripture, according to the analogy of faith, not only their sentiments, but also their language, and to abstain from all those phrases which exceed the limits necessary to be observed in ascertaining the genuine sense of the Holy Scriptures, and may furnish insolent sophists with a just pretext for violently assailing, or even vilifying, the doctrine of the Reformed Churches.

May Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who, seated at the Father's right hand, gives gifts to men, sanctify us in the truth ; bring to the truth those who err ; shut the mouths of the calumniators of sound doctrine, and endue the faithful ministers of his Word with the spirit of wisdom and discretion, that all their discourses may tend to the glory of God, and the edification of those who hear them. Amen.

That this is our faith and decision, we certify by subscribing our names.

Here follow the names, not only of PRESIDENT, ASSISTANT PRESIDENT, and SECRETARIES of the Synod, and of the PROFESSORS OF THEOLOGY in the Dutch Churches, but of all the MEMBERS who were deputed to the Synod as the Representatives of their respective Churches ; that is, of the Delegates from Great Britain, the Electoral Palatinate, Hessen, Switzerland, Wetteraw, the Republic and Church of Geneva, the Republic and Church of Bremen, the Republic and Church of Emden, the Duchy of Gelderland, and of Zutphen, South Holland, North Holland, Zealand, the Province of Utrecht, Friesland, Transisalania, the State of Groningen, and Omland, Drent, and the French Churches.

Church to an high and reverent esteem of¹ the holy Scripture;² and the heavenliness of the matter, the efficacy of the doctrine, the majesty of the style, the consent of all the parts, the scope of the whole (which is to give all glory to God), the full discovery it makes of the only way of man's salvation, the many other incomparable excellencies, and the entire perfection thereof, are arguments whereby it doth abundantly evidence itself to be the Word of God; yet, notwithstanding, our full persuasion and assurance of the infallible truth, and divine authority thereof, is from the inward work of the Holy Spirit, bearing witness by and with the Word in our hearts.³

VI. The whole counsel of God, concerning all things necessary for his own glory, man's salvation, faith, and life, is either expressly set down in Scripture, or by good and necessary consequence may be deduced from Scripture: unto which nothing at any time is to be added, whether by new revelations of the Spirit, or traditions of men.⁴ Nevertheless we acknowledge the inward illumination of the Spirit of God to be necessary for the saving understanding of such things as are revealed in the Word;¹ and concerning the worship of God, and government of the Church, common to human actions and societies, which are to be ordered by the light of nature and Christian prudence, according to the general rules of the Word, which are always to be observed.²

VII. All things in Scripture are not alike plain in themselves, nor alike clear unto all;³ yet those things which are necessary to be known, believed, and observed, for salvation, are so clearly propounded and opened in some place of Scripture or other, that not only the learned, but the unlearned, in a due use of the ordinary means, may attain unto a sufficient understanding of them.⁴

VIII. The Old Testament in Hebrew (which was the native language of the people of God of old), and the New Testament in Greek (which at the time of the writing of it was most generally known to the nations), being immediately inspired by God, and by his singular care and providence kept pure in all ages, are therefore authentical;⁵ so as in all controverrevelantur, agnoscimus esse necessarium: quin etiam nonnullas esse circumstantias cultum Dei specimen tantes et Ecclesiae regimen, iis cum humanis actionibus et societatibus communes, quae naturali lumine ac prudentia Christiana secundum generales verbi regulas (perpetuo quidem illas observandas) sunt regulandae.²

sies of religion the Church is finally to appeal unto them.¹ But because these original tongues are not known to all the people of God who have right unto, and interest in the Scriptures, and are commanded, in the fear of God, to read and search them,² therefore they are to be translated into the vulgar language of every nation unto which they come,³ that the Word of God dwelling plentifully in all, they may worship him in an acceptable manner,⁴ and, through patience and comfort of the Scriptures, may have hope.⁵

IX. The infallible rule of interpretation of Scripture is the Scripture itself; and therefore, when there is a question about the true and full sense of any Scripture (which is not manifold, but one), it must⁶ be searched and known by other places that speak more clearly.⁷

X. The Supreme Judge, by which all controversies of religion are to be determined, and all decrees of councils, opinions of ancient writers, doctrines of men, and private spirits, are to be examined, and in whose sentence we are to rest, can illa ultimo in omnibus de religione controversiis Ecclesia debat appellare.¹ Quoniam autem Originales istae lingue non sunt toti Dei populo intellectae (Quorum tamen et jus est ut scripturas habent, et interest plurimum, quique eas in timore Dei legere jubentur et perserutari)² proinde sunt in vulgarem eujusque Gentis, ad quam per venerint linguam transferenda,³ ut omnes, verbo Dei opulerter in ipsis habitante, Deum grato acceptoque modo colant,⁴ et per patientiam ac consolationem Scripturarum spem habeant.⁵

Of the Fall of Man, of Sin, and of the Punishment thereof.

I. Our first parents, being seduced by the subtlety and temptation of Satan, sinned in eating the forbidden fruit.¹ This their sin God was pleased, according to his wise and holy counsel, to permit, having purposed to order it to his own glory.²

II. By this sin they fell from their original righteousness and communion with God,³ and so became dead in sin,⁴ and wholly defiled in all the faculties and parts of soul and body.⁵

III. They being the root of all mankind,⁶ the guilt of this sin was imputed, and the same death in sin and corrupted nature conveyed to all their posterity descending from them by ordinary generation.⁷

IV. From this original corruption, whereby we are utterly indisposed, disabled, and made opposite to all good,⁸ and wholly inclined to all evil,⁹ do proceed all actual transgressions.¹⁰

Of God's Covenant with Man.

I. IV. This covenant of grace is frequently set forth in the Scripture by the name of a testament, in reference to the death of Jesus Christ the testator, and to the everlasting inheritance, with all things belonging to it, therein bequeathed.⁷

VI. Under the gospel, when Christ the substance⁴ was exhibited, the ordinances in which this covenant is dispensed are the preaching of the word and the administration of the sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper;⁵ which, though fewer in number, and administered with more simplicity and less outward glory, yet in them it is held forth in more fullness, evidence, and spiritual efficacy,⁶ to all nations, both Jews and Gentiles;⁷ and is called the New Testament.⁸ There are not, therefore, two covenants of grace differing in substance, but one and the same under various dispensations.⁹

CHAPTER VIII.

Of Christ the Mediator.

I. It pleased God, in his eternal purpose, to choose and ordain the Lord Jesus, his only-begotten Son, to be the Mediator between God and man,¹ the Prophet,² Priest,³ and King;⁴ the Head and Saviour of his Church,⁵ the Heir of all things,⁶ and Judge of the world;⁷ unto whom he did, from all eternity, give a people to be his seed,⁸ and to be by him in time redeemed, called, justified, sanctified, and glorified.⁹

II. The Son of God, the second person in the Trinity, being very and eternal God, of one substance, and equal with the Father, did, when the fullness of time was come, take upon him man's nature,¹⁰ with all the essential properties and common infirmities thereof, yet without sin:¹¹ being conceived by the power of the Holy Ghost in the womb of the Virgin Mary, of her substance.¹² So that two whole, perfect, and distinct natures, the Godhead and the manhood, were inseparably joined to-

CHAPTER IX.

Of Free-will.

I. God hath endued the will of man with that natural liberty, that is neither forced nor by any absolute necessity of nature determined to good or evil.²

II. Man, in his state of innocency, had freedom and power to will and to do that which is good and well-pleasing to God, but yet mutably, so that he might fall from it.⁴

III. Man, by his fall into a state of sin, hath wholly lost all ability of will to any spiritual good accompanying salvation;⁵ so as a natural man, being altogether averse from that good,⁶ and dead in sin,⁷ is not able, by his own strength, to convert himself, or to prepare himself thereunto.⁸

IV. When God converts a sinner, and translates him into the state of grace, he freeth him from his natural bondage under sin,⁹ and by his grace alone enables him freely to will and to do that which is spiritually good;¹⁰ yet so

Of Effectual Calling.

I. All those whom God hath predestinated unto life, and those only, he is pleased, in his appointed and accepted time, effectually to call,³ by his Word and Spirit,⁴ out of that state of sin and death, in which they are by nature, to grace and salvation by Jesus Christ;⁵ enlightening their minds, spiritually and savingly, to understand the things of God;⁶ taking away their heart of stone, and giving unto them an heart of flesh;⁷ renewing their wills, and by his almighty power determining them to that which is good;⁸ and effectually drawing them to Jesus Christ;⁹ yet so as they come most freely, being made willing by his grace.¹⁰

Of Justification.

I. Those whom God effectually calleth he also freely justifieth;² not by infusing righteousness into them, but by pardoning their sins, and by accounting and accepting their persons as righteous: not for any thing wrought in them, or done by them, but for Christ's sake alone; nor³ by imputing faith itself, the act of believing, or any other evangelical obedience to them, as their righteousness; but by imputing the obedience and satisfaction of Christ unto them,⁴ they receiving and resting on him and his righteousness by faith; which faith they have not of themselves, it is the gift of God.⁵

II. Faith, thus receiving and resting on Christ and his righteousness, is the alone instrument of justification;⁶ yet is it not alone in the person justified, but is ever accompanied with all other saving graces, and is no dead faith, but worketh by love.⁷

De Justificatione.

IV. God did, from all eternity, decree to justify all the elect,⁶ and Christ did, in the fullness of time, die for their sins, and rise again for their justification:⁷ nevertheless, they are not justified until the Holy Spirit doth, in due time, actually apply Christ unto them.⁸

V. God doth continue to forgive the sins of those that are justified;⁹ and although they can never fall from the state of justification,¹⁰ yet they may by their sins fall under God's fatherly displeasure, and not have the light of his countenance restored unto them, until they humble them-

Of Sanctification.

I. They who are effectually called and regenerated, having a new heart and a new spirit created in them, are further sanctified, really and personally, through the virtue of Christ's death and resurrection,¹ by his Word and Spirit dwelling in them;² the dominion of the whole body of sin is destroyed,³ and the several lusts thereof are more and more weakened and mortified,⁴ and they more and more quickened and strengthened, in all saving graces,⁵ to the practice of true holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord.⁶

II. This sanctification is throughout in the whole man,⁷ yet imperfect in this life; there abideth still some remnants of corruption in every part,⁸ whence ariseth a continual and irreconcilable war, the flesh lusting against the spirit, and the spirit against the flesh.⁹

III. In which war, although the remaining corruption for a time may much prevail,¹⁰ yet, through the continual supply of strength from the sanctifying Spirit of

CHAPTER XIV.

Of Saving Faith.

I. The grace of faith, whereby the elect are enabled to believe to the saving of their souls,⁴ is the work of the Spirit of Christ in their hearts,⁵ and is ordinarily wrought by the ministry of the Word;⁶ by which also, and by the administration of the sacraments and prayer, it is increased and strengthened.⁷

II. By this faith a Christian believeth to be true whatsoever is revealed in the Word, for the authority of God himself speaking therein;⁸ and acteth differently upon that which each particular passage thereof containeth; yielding obedience to the commands,⁹ trembling at the threatenings,¹⁰ and embracing the promises of God for this life and that which is to come.¹¹ But the principal acts of saving faith are accepting, receiving, and resting upon Christ alone

CHAPTER XV.

Of Repentance unto Life.

I. Repentance unto life is an evangelical grace,⁶ the doctrine whereof is to be preached by every minister of the gospel, as well as that of faith in Christ.⁷

II. By it a sinner, out of the sight and sense, not only of the danger, but also of the filthiness and odiousness of his sins, as contrary to the holy nature and righteous law of God, and upon the apprehension of his mercy in Christ to such as are penitent, so grieves for and hates his sins as to turn from them all unto God,⁸ purposing and endeavoring

III. Although repentance be not to be rested in as any satisfaction for sin, or any cause of the pardon thereof,² which is the act of God's free grace in Christ;³ yet is it of such necessity to all sinners that none may expect pardon without it.⁴

IV. As there is no sin so small but it deserves damnation,⁵ so there is no sin so great that it can bring damnation upon those who truly repent.⁶

V. Men ought not to content themselves with a general repentance, but it is every man's duty to endeavor to repent of his particular sins particularly.⁷

VI. As every man is bound to make private confession of his sins to God, praying for the pardon thereof,⁸ upon which, and the forsaking of them, he shall find mercy;⁹ so he that scandalizeth his brother, or the Church of Christ, ought to be willing, by a private or public confession and sorrow for his sin, to declare his repent-

Of Good Works.

II. This certainty is not a bare conjectural and probable persuasion, grounded upon a fallible hope;⁴ but an infallible assurance of faith, founded upon the divine truth of the promises of salvation;⁵ the inward evidence of those graces unto which these promises are made,⁶ the testimony of the Spirit of adoption witnessing with our spirits that we are the children of God:⁷ which Spirit is the earnest of our inheritance, whereby we are sealed to the day of redemption.⁸

III. This infallible assurance doth not so belong to the essence of faith, but that a true believer may wait long, and conflict with many difficulties before he be partaker of it:⁹ yet, being enabled by the Spirit to know the things which are freely given him of God, he

CHAPTER XIX.

Of the Law of God.

I. God gave to Adam a law, as a covenant of works, by which he bound him and all his posterity to personal, entire, exact, and perpetual obedience; promised life upon the fulfilling, and threatened death upon the breach of it; and endued him with power and ability to keep it.³

II. This law, after his fall, continued to be a perfect rule of righteousness; and, as such, was delivered by God upon mount Sinai in ten commandments, and written in two tables;⁴ the first four commandments containing our duty towards God, and the other six our duty to man.⁵

III. Beside this law, commonly called moral, God was pleased to give to the people of Israel, as a Church under age, ceremonial laws, containing several typical ordioperationem spiritus eadem illa certitudo tempestive possit revivisci: quibusque interim ne prorsus in desperationem ruant sufficiuntur.²

De Lege Dei.

II. Lex ista post lapsum non desit esse justitiae regula perfectissima; quo etiam nomine a Deo est in monte Sinai tradita, tabulis duabus descripta, decem præceptis comprehensa; quorum quatuor prima officium nostrum erga Deum, sex autem reliqua nostrum erga homines officium complectuntur.⁵

The moral law doth forever bind all, as well justified persons as others, to the obedience thereof;⁵ and that not only in regard of the matter contained in it, but also in respect of the authority of God the Creator who gave it.⁶ Neither doth Christ in the gospel any way dissolve, but much strengthen, this obligation.⁷

CHAPTER XX.

Of Christian Liberty, and Liberty of Conscience.

I. The liberty which Christ hath purchased for believers under the gospel consists in their freedom from the guilt of sin, the condemning wrath of God, the curse of the moral law;³ and in their being delivered from this present evil world, bondage to Satan, and dominion of sin,⁴ from the evil of afflictions, the sting of death, the victory of the grave, and everlasting damnation;⁵ as also in their free access to God,⁶ and their yielding obedience unto him, not out of slavish fear, but a child-like love and⁷ willing mind.⁸ All which were common also to believers under the law;⁹ but under the New Testament the liberty of Christians is further enlarged in their freedom from the yoke of the ceremonial law, to which the Jewish Church was subjected;¹ and in greater boldness of access to the throne of grace;² and in fuller communications of the free Spirit of God, than believers under the law did ordinarily partake of.³

II. God alone is Lord of the conscience,⁴ and hath left it free from the doctrines and commandments of men which are in any thing contrary to his Word, or beside it in matters of faith or worship.⁵ So that to believe such doctrines, or to obey such commands⁶ out of conscience, is to betray true liberty of conscience;⁷ and the requiring of⁸ an implicit faith, and an absolute and blind obedience, is to destroy liberty of conscience, and reason also.⁹

III. They who, upon pretense of Christian liberty, do practice any sin, or cherish any lust, do thereby destroy the end of Christian liberty; which is, that, being delivered out of the hands of our enemies, we might serve the Lord without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him, all the days of our life.¹⁰

Of Religious Worship and the Sabbath-day.

I. The light of nature sheweth that there is a God, who hath lordship and sovereignty over all; is good, and doeth good unto all; and is therefore to be feared, loved, praised, called upon, trusted in, and served with all the heart, and with all the soul, and with all the might.¹ But the acceptable way of worshiping the true God is instituted by himself, and so limited to² his own revealed will, that he may not be worshiped according to the imaginations and devices of men, or the suggestions of Satan, under any visible representations³ or any other way not prescribed in the Holy Scripture.⁴

II. Religious worship is to be given to God, the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost; and to him alone:⁵ not to angels, saints, or any other creature:⁶ and since the fall, not without a Mediator; nor in the mediation of any other but of Christ alone.⁷

Neither prayer, nor any other part of religious worship, is now, under the gospel, either tied unto, or made more acceptable by any place in which it is performed, or towards which it is directed:⁵ but God is to be worshiped every where⁶ in spirit and⁷ truth;⁸ as in private families⁹ daily,¹⁰ and in secret each one by himself,¹¹ so more solemnly in the public assemblies, which are not carelessly or willfully to be neglected or forsaken, when God, by his Word or providence, calleth therennto.¹²

VIII. This Sabbath is then kept holy unto the Lord, when men, after a due preparing of their hearts, and ordering of their common affairs beforehand, do not only observe an holy rest all the day from their own works, words, and thoughts, about their worldly employments and recreations;⁴ but also are taken up the whole time in the public and private exercises of his worship, and in the duties of necessity and mercy.⁵

CHAPTER XXII.

Of Lawful Oaths and Vows.

I. A lawful oath is a part of religious worship,⁶ wherein, upon just occasion, the person swearing solemnly calleth God to witness what he asserteth or promiseth; and to judge him according to the truth or falsehood of what he sweareth.⁷

II. The name of God only is that *quidem ab orbe condito ad resurrectionem usque Christi dies ultimus erat in septimana; deinde autem a Christi resurrectione in septimana diem primum transferebatur;*¹ *qui quidem in Scriptura Dies Dominicus² nuncupatur, estque perpetuo ad finem mundi tanquam Sabbathum Christianum celebrandus.*³

VIII. *Tunc autem hoc Sabbathum Deo sancte celebratur, quam post corda rite preparata, et compositas suas res mundanas, homines non solum a suis ipsorum operibus, dictis, cogitatis; (que circa illas exerceri solent) a recreationibus etiam ludicris quietem sanctam toto observant die;*⁴ *verum etiam in exercitiis divini cultus publicis privatisque, ac in officiis necessitatis et misericordie toto illo tempore occupantur.*⁵

by which men ought to swear, and therein it is to be used with all holy fear and reverence;¹ therefore to swear vainly or rashly by that glorious and dreadful name, or to swear at all by any other thing, is sinful, and to be abhorred.² Yet as, in matters of weight and moment, an oath is warranted by the Word of God, under the New Testament, as well as under the Old,³ so a lawful oath, being imposed by lawful authority, in such matters ought to be taken.⁴

III. Whosoever taketh an oath ought duly to consider the weightiness of so solemn an act, and therein to avouch nothing but what he is fully persuaded is the truth.⁵ Neither may any man bind himself by oath to any thing but what is good and just, and what he believeth so to be, and what he is able and resolved to perform.⁶ Yet it is a sin to refuse an oath touching any thing that is good and just, being imposed by lawful authority.⁷

VI. It is not to be made to any creature, but to God alone:⁵ and that it may be accepted, it is to be made voluntarily, out of faith and conscience of duty, in way of thankfulness for mercy received, or for the⁶ obtaining of what we want; whereby we more strictly bind ourselves to necessary duties, or to other things, so far and so long as they may fitly conduce theremunto.⁷

CHAPTER XXIII.

Of the Civil Magistrate.

I. God, the Supreme Lord and King of all the world, hath ordained civil magistrates to be under him, over the people, for his own glory and the public good, and to this end hath armed them with the power of the sword, for the defense and encouragement of them that are good, and for the punishment of evil-doers.⁴

II. It is lawful for Christians to accept and execute the office of a magistrate when called thereunto;⁵ in the managing whereof, as they ought especially to maintain piety, justice, and peace, according to the wholesome laws of each commonwealth,⁶ so, for that end, they may lawfully, now under the New Testament, wage war upon just and necessary occasion.^{7 & 8} shall enjoy the full, free, and unquestioned liberty of discharging every part of their sacred functions, without violence or danger (Isa. xlix. 23). And, as Jesus Christ hath appointed a regular government and discipline in his Church, no law of any commonwealth should interfere with, let, or hinder, the due exercise thereof, among the voluntary members of any denomination of Christians, according to their own profession and belief (Psa. cv. 15; Acts xviii. 14–16). It is the duty of civil magistrates to protect the person and good name of all their people, in such an effectual manner as that no person be suffered, either upon pretence of religion or infidelity, to offer any indignity, violence, abuse, or injury to any other person whatsoever: and to take order, that all religious and ecclesiastical assemblies be held without molestation or disturbance (2 Sam. xxiii. 3; 1 Tim. ii. 1; Rom. xiii. 4).]

CHAPTER XXIV.

Of Marriage and Divorce.

I. Marriage is to be between one man and one woman: neither is it lawful for any man to have more than one wife, nor for any woman to have more than one husband at the same time.²

II. Marriage was ordained for the mutual help of husband and wife;³ for the increase of mankind with a legitimate issue, and of the Church with an holy seed;⁴ and for preventing of uncleanness.⁵

III. It is lawful for all sorts of people to marry who are able with judgment to give their consent.⁶ Yet it is the duty of Christians to marry only in the Lord.⁷ And, therefore, such as profess the true reformed religion should not marry with infidels, Papists, or other idolaters: neither should such as are godly be unequally yoked, by marrying with such as are notoriously wicked in their life, or maintain damnable heresies.⁸

IV. Marriage ought not to be within the degrees of consanguinity or affinity forbidden in the Word;¹ nor can such incestuous marriages ever be made lawful by any law of man, or consent of parties, so as those persons may live together, as man and wife.² The man may not marry any of his wife's kindred nearer in blood than he may of his own, nor the woman of her husband's kindred nearer in blood than of her own.³

V. Adultery or fornication, committed after a contract, being detected before marriage, giveth just occasion to the innocent party to dissolve that contract.⁴ In the case of adultery after marriage, it is lawful for the innocent party to sue out a divorce,⁵ and after the divorce to marry another, as if the offending party were dead.⁶

CHAPTER XXV.

Of the Church.

I. The catholic or universal Church, which is invisible, consists of the whole number of the elect, that have been, are, or shall be gathered into one, under Christ the head thereof; and is the spouse, the body, the fullness of him that filleth all in all.³

II. The visible Church, which is also catholic or universal under the gospel (not confined to one nation as before under the law) consists of all those, throughout the world, that profess the true religion,⁴ and of⁵ their children;⁶ and is the kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ,⁷ the house and family of God,⁸ out of which there is no ordinary possibility of salvation.⁹

CHAPTER XXVI.

Of the Communion of Saints.

I. All saints that are united to Jesus Christ their head, by his Spirit and by faith, have fellowship with him in his graces, sufferings, death, resurrection, and glory:² and being united to one another in love, they have communion in each other's gifts and graces,³ and are obliged to the performance of such duties, public and private, as do conduce to their mutual good, both in the inward and outward man.⁴

II. Saints, by profession, are bound to maintain an holy fellowship and communion in the worship of God, and in performing such other spiritual services as tend to their mutual edification;⁵ as also in relieving each other in outward things, according to their several abilities and necessities.

III. This communion which the saints have with Christ, doth not make them in anywise partakers of the substance of his Godhead, or to be equal with Christ in any respect: either of which to affirm is impious and blasphemous.² Nor doth their communion one with another, as saints, take away or infringe the title or propriety³ which each man hath in his goods and possessions.⁴

CHAPTER XXVII.

Of the Sacraments.

I. Sacraments are holy signs and seals of the covenant of grace,⁵ immediately instituted by God,⁶ to represent Christ and his benefits, and to confirm our interest in him:⁷ as also to put a visible difference between those that belong unto the Church and the rest of the world;⁸ and solemnly to engage them to the service of God in Christ, according to his Word.⁹

II. There is in every sacrament

*vel indigentiae. Quæ quidem communio, prout opportunitatem Deus obtulerit, est ad eos omnes, qui ubivis locorum Domini Jesu nomen invocant, extendenda.*¹

III. *Hæc autem communio quæ sancti cum Christo potiuntur, eos substantia Deitatis ejus neutiquam reddit participes, nec ullo respectu aquales Christo: Quorum utrumvis affirmare impium est ac blasphemum; neque sane communio illa, quæ iis secum mutuo quatenus sanctis interredit; cuiusquam ad bona et possessiones suas jus privatum vel tollit vel imminuit.*⁴

V. Although it be a great sin to contemn or neglect this ordinance,² yet grace and salvation are not so inseparably annexed unto it, as that no person can be regenerated or saved without it,³ or that all that are baptized are undoubtedly regenerated.⁴

VI. The efficacy of baptism is not tied to that moment of time wherein it is administered;⁵ yet, notwithstanding, by the right use of this ordinance the grace promised is not only offered, but really exhibited and conferred by the Holy Ghost, to such (whether of age or infants) as that grace belongeth unto, according to the counsel of God's own will, in his appointed time.⁶

the sacrament of his body and blood, called the Lord's Supper, to be observed in his Church, unto the end of the world; for the perpetual remembrance of the sacrifice of himself in his death, the sealing all benefits thereof unto true believers, their spiritual nourishment and growth in him, their further engagement in, and to all duties which they owe unto him; and to be a bond and pledge of their communion with him, and with each other, as members of his mystical body.¹

II. In this sacrament Christ is not offered up to his Father, nor any real sacrifice made at all for remission of sins of the quick or dead,² but only a commemoration of that one offering up of himself, by himself, upon the cross, once for all, and a spiritual oblation of all possible praise unto God for the same;³ so that the Popish sacrifice of the mass, as they call it, is most abominably injurious to Christ's one only sacrifice, the alone propitiation for all the sins of the elect.⁴

III. The Lord Jesus hath, in this ordinance, appointed his ministers to declare his word of institution to the people, to pray, and bless the elements of bread and wine, and thereby to set them apart from a common to an holy use; and to take and break the bread, to take the cup, and (they communicating also themselves) to give both to the communicants;¹ but to none who are not then present in the congregation.²

IV. Private masses, or receiving this sacrament by a priest, or any other, alone;³ as likewise the denial of the cup to the people;⁴ worshiping the elements, the lifting them up, or carrying them about for adoration, and the reserving them for any pretended religious use, are all contrary to the nature of this sacrament, and to the institution of Christ.⁵

V. The outward elements in this sacrament, duly set apart to the uses ordained by Christ, have such relation to him crucified, as that truly, yet sacramentally only, they are sometimes called by the name of the things they represent, to wit, the body and blood of Christ;⁶ albeit, in substance and nature, they still

VI. That doctrine which maintains a change of the substance of bread and wine, into the substance of Christ's body and blood (commonly called transubstantiation) by consecration of a priest, or by any other way, is repugnant, not to Scripture alone, but even to common-sense and reason; overthroweth the nature of the sacrament; and hath been, and is the cause of manifold superstitions, yea, of gross idolatries.²

VII. Worthy receivers, outwardly partaking of the visible elements in this sacrament,³ do then also inwardly by faith, really and indeed, yet not carnally and corporally, but spiritually, receive and feed upon Christ crucified, and all benefits of his death: the body and blood of Christ being then not corporally or carnally in, with, or under the bread and wine; yet as really, but spiritually, present to the faith of believers in that ordinance, as the elements themselves are, to their outward senses.⁴

VIII. Although ignorant and wicked men receive the outward elements in this sacrament, yet

CHAPTER XXX.

Of Church Censures.

I. The Lord Jesus, as king and head of his Church, hath therein appointed a government in the hand of Church officers, distinct from the civil magistrate.³

II. To these officers the keys of the kingdom of heaven are committed, by virtue whereof they have power respectively to retain and remit sins, to shut that kingdom against the impenitent, both by the Word and censures; and to open it unto penitent sinners, by the ministry of the gospel, and by absolution from censures, as occasion shall require.⁴

⁴ Matt. xvi. 19; xviii. 17, 18; John xx. 21-23; 2 Cor. ii. 6-8.

III. Church censures are necessary for the reclaiming and gaining of offending brethren; for deterring of others from the¹ like offenses; for purging out of that leaven which might infect the whole lump; for vindicating the honor of Christ, and the holy profession of the gospel; and for preventing the wrath of God, which might justly fall upon the Church, if they should suffer his covenant, and the seals thereof, to be profaned by notorious and obstinate offenders.²

IV. For the better attaining of these ends, the officers of the Church are to proceed by admonition, suspension from the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper for a season, and by excommunication from the Church, according to the nature of the crime and demerit of the person.³

CHAPTER XXXI.

Of Synods and Councils.

I. For the better government and further edification of the Church, there ought to be such assemblies as are commonly called synods or councils.⁴

QUESTION.

What is the chief and highest end of man?

A. Mans chief and highest end is, to glori-fie God, and fully to enjoy him for ever.

Q. How doth it appear that there is a God?

A. The very light of nature in man, and the works of God, declare plainly that there is a God: but his Word and Spirit only do sufficiently and effectually reveale him unto men for their salvation.

Q. What is the Word of God?

A. The holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testament are the Word of God, the only Rule of Faith and obedience.

THE WESTMINSTER SHORTER CATECHISM. A.D. 1647.

CATECHISMUS WESTMONASTERIENSIS MINOR.

[This Catechism was prepared by the Westminster Assembly in 1647, and adopted by the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland, 1648; by the Presbyterian Synod of New York and Philadelphia, May, 1788; and by nearly all the Calvinistic Presbyterian and Congregational Churches of the English tongue. It was translated into Greek, Hebrew, Arabic, and many other languages, and appeared in innumerable editions. Although little known on the continent of Europe, it is more extensively used than any other Protestant catechism, except perhaps the Small Catechism of Luther and the Heidelberg Catechism. Want of space compels us to omit the Assembly's Larger Catechism, which is easy of access. For the same reason we have omitted the Scripture proofs.]

The English original is conformed to the edition of the Presbyterian Board, compared with the London edition of 1658 and other older English and Scotch editions, which present no variations of any account. The Latin translation is from the Cambridge and Edinburgh editions, containing the Confession and both Catechisms, and reprinted in Niemeyer's Appendix.]

THE SHORTER CATECHISM.

Ques. 1. What is the chief end of man?

Ans. Man's chief end is to glorify God, and to enjoy him forever.

Ques. 2. What rule hath God given to direct us how we may glorify and enjoy him?

Ans. The Word of God, which is contained in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments,¹ is the only rule to direct us how we may glorify and enjoy him.

Ques. 3. What do the Scriptures principally teach?

Ans. The Scriptures principally teach what man is to believe concerning God, and what duty God requires of man.

Ques. 4. What is GOD?

Ans. God is a Spirit, infinite, eternal, and unchangeable, in his Ques. 105. What do we pray for in the fifth petition?

Ans. In the fifth petition, which is, ‘And forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors,’ we pray that God, for Christ’s sake, would freely pardon all our sins; which we are the rather encouraged to ask, because by his grace we are enabled from the heart to forgive others.

Ques. 106. What do we pray for in the sixth petition?

Ans. In the sixth petition, which is, ‘And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil,’ we pray that God would either keep us from being tempted to sin, or support and deliver us when we are tempted.

Ques. 107. What doth the conclusion of the Lord’s Prayer teach us?

Ans. The conclusion of the Lord’s Prayer, which is, ‘For thine is the kingdom, and the power and the glory forever, Amen,’ teacheth us to take our encouragement in prayer from God only, and in our prayers to praise him; ascribing kingdom, power, and glory to him; and in testimony of our desire and assurance to be heard, we say, Amen.

Quæs. Quid preciamur in petitione quinta?

Resp. In petitione quinta, cuius verba sunt [Ac remitte nobis debita nostra, sic ut remittimus debitoribus nostris] preciamur ut Deus peccata nostra omnia gratis velit propter Christum condonare, quod quidem ut petamus eo magis animus nobis fit, quod aliis animitus condonare gratia ipsius auxiliante valcamus.

Quæs. Quid petimus in sexta petitione?

Resp. In petitione sexta, quam hec verba complectuntur [Et ne nos inducas in temptationem, sed libera nos a malo] oramus ut velit nos Deus aut immunes a temptatione ad peccatum conservare, aut certe tentatos suffuleire ac liberare.

Quæs. Quid nos docet orationis Dominicæ conclusio?

Resp. Orationis Dominicæ conclusio [Quia tuum est regnum, potentia et gloria, in secula, Amen] Nos docet animos ac confidentiam nobis in orando a solo Deo derivare, eumque in precibus nostris laudare, regnum ei, potentiam, ac gloriam tribuenlo; quoque desiderium nostrum testemur, et exauditionis confidentiam, dicimus, Amen.

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

EXODUS XX.

God spake all these words, saying, I am the Lord thy God, which have brought thee out of the land of Egypt, out of the house of bondage.

I. Thou shalt have no other gods before me.

II. Thou shalt not make unto thee any graven image, or any likeness of any thing that is in heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth: thou shalt not bow down thyself to them, nor serve them: for I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me; and showing mercy unto thousands of them that love me and keep my commandments.

III. Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain: for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain.

IV. Remember the Sabbath-day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is

VI. Non occides.

VII. Non mœchaberis.

VIII. Non furaberis.

IX. Non eris adversus proximum tuum testis mendax.

X. Non concupisces proximi tui domum, non concupisces proximi tui uxorem, non servum, non ancillam, non boarem, non asinum neque aliud denique quicquam quod est proximi tui.

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

MATT. VI.

Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. Amen.

ORATIO DOMINICA.

MATT. VI.

Pater noster qui es in cœlis, sanctifectur nomen tuum, adveniat regnum tuum, fiat voluntas tua in terris sicut in cœlis, panem nostrum quotidianum da nobis hodie, ac remitte nobis debita nostra, sicut nos remittimus debitoribus nostris, et ne nos inducas in temptationem, sed libera nos a malo, quia tuum est regnum, potentia et gloria in secula. Amen.

THE CREED.

I believe in God the Father almighty, maker of heaven and earth; and in Jesus Christ his only Son, our Lord; who¹ was conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary; suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried; he descended into hell: * the third day he rose again from the dead; he ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the right hand of God the Father almighty; from thence he shall come to judge the quick and the dead. I believe in the Holy Ghost; the holy catholic church; the communion of saints; the forgiveness of sins; the resurrection of the body; and the life everlasting. Amen.

* i. e., Continued in the state of the dead, and under the power of death, until the third day.

SYMBOLUM.

Credo in Deum Patrem omnipotentem, creatorum caeli ac terre; et in Jesum Christum filium ejus unicum, Dominum nostrum; qui conceptus est ex Spiritu sancto, natus ex Maria Virgine; passus sub Pontio Pilato, crucifixus, mortuus et sepultus; descendit ad inferos: tertio die resurrexit a mortuis: ascendit in cælum, et selet ad dextram Dei patris omnipotentis: unde venturus est ad judicandum vivos et mortuos. Credo in Spiritum Sanctum: Sanctam ecclesiam catholicam: Sanctorum communionem: remissionem peccatorum, resurrectionem corporis et vitam aeternam. Amen.

* i. e., Permansit in statu mortuorum et sub potestate mortis usque ad diem tertium.

The oldest editions of the Westminster Shorter Catechism have the following addendum :

So much of every Question both in the Larger and Shorter Catechism, is repeated in the Answer, as maketh every Answer an entire Proposition, or sentence in itself: to the end the Learner may further improve it upon all occasions, for his increase in knowledge and piety, even out of the course of catechising, as well as in it.

And albeit the substance of the doctrine comprised in that Abridgment commonly called, The Apostles' Creed, be fully set forth in each of the Catechisms, so as there is no necessity of inserting the Creed itself, yet it is here annexed, not as though it were composed by the Apostles, or ought to be esteemed Canonical Scripture, as the Ten Commandments, and the Lord's Prayer (much less a Prayer, as ignorant people have been apt to make both it and the Decalogue), but because it is a brief sum of the Christian faith, agreeable to the Word of God, and anciently received in the Churches of Christ.

E quæstione qualibet utriusque catechismi repetitum dedimus in responsione quantum responsum quamlibet reddit propositionem integrum, sive sententiam absolutam. Eo nempe consilio ut discenti ulterius utilis esse possit, quoties occasio tulerit, ad cognitionis ac pietatis incrementum, vel extra catechisandi rationem.

Et quamvis in alterutro Catechismo substantia doctrinæ in compendio illo (Symbolo apostolico vulgo dicto) comprehensæ plene ac perfecte exhibeat, adeo quidem ut nulla subsistat necessitas symbolum ipsum inserendi: nihilominus tamen hic illud subnectendum esse duximus; non perinde quasi aut ab ipsis Apostolis fuerit concinnatum, aut pariter cum decalogo, ac oratione Dominica pro Scriptura canonica haberi debeat: (nedum certe pro oratione, quo nomine ignara plebeculi cum illud tum decalogum in proclivi fuit ut usurparet), verum quod sit fidei Christianæ breve compendium, verbo Dei consentaneum, ac in Ecclesiis Christi antiquitus receptum.

A PREFACE.

Confession of the Faith that is in us, when justly called for, is so indispensable a due all owe to the Glory of the Sovereign GOD, that it is ranked among the Duties of the first Commandment, such as Prayer is; and therefore by Paul yoked with Faith itself, as necessary to salvation: with the heart man believeth unto righteousness, and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation. Our Lord Christ himself, when he was accused of his Doctrine, considered simply as a matter of fact by Preaching, refused to answer; because, as such, it lay upon evidence, and matter of testimony of others; unto whom therefore he refers himself: But when both the High-Priest and Pilate expostulate his Faith, and what he held himself to be; he without any demur at all, cheerfully makes Declaration, That he was the Son of God; so to the High-Priest: and that he was a King, and born to be a King; thus to Pilate. Though upon the uttering of it his life lay at the stake; Which holy Profession of his is celebrated for our example, 1 Tim. vi. 13.

Confessions, when made by a company of Professors of Christianity jointly meeting to that end, the most genuine and natural use of such Confessions is, That under the same form of words, they express the substance of the same common salvation or unity of their faith; whereby speaking the same things, they show themselves perfectly joined in the same mind, and in the same judgment, 1 Cor. i. 10.

And accordingly such a transaction is to be looked upon but as a meet or fit medium or means whereby to express that their common faith and salvation, and no way to be made use of as an imposition upon any: Whatever is of force or constraint in matters of this nature, causeth them to degenerate from the name and nature of Confessions, and turns them from being Confessions of Faith, into Exactions and Impositions of Faith.

And such common Confessions of the Orthodox Faith, made in simplicity of heart by any such Body of Christians, with concord among themselves, ought to be entertained by all others that love the truth as it is in Jesus, with an answerable rejoicing: For if the unanimous opinions and assertions but in some few points of Religion, and that when by two Churches, namely, that of Jerusalem, and the Messengers of Antioch met, assisted by some of the Apostles, were by the Believers of those times received with so much joy, (as it is said, They rejoiced for the consolation) much more this is to be done, when the whole substance of Faith, and form of wholesome words shall be declared by the Messengers of a multitude of Churches, though wanting those advantages of Counsel and Authority of the Apostles, which that Assembly had.

Which acceptance is then more specially due, when these shall (to choose) utter and declare their Faith, in the same substance for matter, yea, words, for the most part, that other Churches and Assemblies, reputed the most Orthodox, have done before them: For upon such a correspondence, all may see that actually accomplished, which the Apostle did but exhort unto, and pray for, in those two more eminent Churches of the Corinthians and the Romans, (and so in them for all the Christians of his time) that both Jew and Gentile, that is, men of different persuasions, (as they were) might glorify GOD with one mind and with one mouth. And truly, the very turning of the Gentiles to the owning of the same Faith, in the substance of it, with the Christian Jew (though differing in greater points than we do from our Brethren) is presently after dignified by the Apostle with this style, That it is the Confession of Jesus Christ himself; not as the Object only, but as the Author and Maker thereof: I will confess to thee (saith Christ to God) among the Gentiles. So that in all such accords, Christ is the great and first Confessor; and we, and all our Faith uttered by Us, are but the Epistles, (as Paul) and Confessions (as Isaiah there) of their Lord and ours; He, but expressing what is written in his heart, through their hearts and mouths, to the glory of God the Father: And shall not we all rejoice herein, when as Christ himself is said to do it upon this occasion: as it there also follows, I will sing unto thy Name.

Further, as the soundness and wholesomeness of the matter gives the vigor and life to such Confessions, so the inward freeness, willingness, and readiness of the Spirits of the Confessors do contribute the beauty and loveliness thereto: As it is in Prayer to God, so in Confessions made to men. If two or three met, do agree, it renders both, to either the more acceptable. The Spirit of Christ is in himself too free, great and generous a Spirit, to suffer himself to be used by any human arm, to whip men into belief; he drives not, but gently leads into all truth, and persuades men to dwell in the tents of like precious Faith; which would lose of its preciousness and value, if that sparkle of freeness shone not in it: The Character of His People, is to be a willing people in the day of his power (not Man's) in the beauties of holiness, which are the Assemblings of the Saints: one glory of which Assemblings in that first Church, is said to have been, They met with one accord; which is there in that Psalm prophesied of, in the instance of that first Church, for all other that should succeed.

And as this great Spirit is in himself free, when, and how far, and in whom to work, so where and when he doth work, he carrieth it with the same freedom, and is said to be a free Spirit, as he both is, and works in us: And where this Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

Now, as to this Confession of ours, besides, that a conspicuous conjunction of the particulars mentioned, hath appeared therein: There are also four remarkable Attendants thereon, which added, might perhaps in the eyes of sober and indifferent Spirits, give the whole of this Transaction a room and rank amongst other many good and memorable things of this Age: at least all set together, do cast as clear a gleam and manifestation of God's Power and Presency, as hath appeared in any such kind of Confessions, made by so numerous a company these later years.

The first, is the Temper (or distemper rather) of the Times, during which, these Churches have been gathering, and which they have run through. All do (out of a general sense) complain that the times have been perilous, or difficult times (as the Apostle foretold); and that in respect to danger from seducing spirits, more perilous than the hottest seasons of Persecution.

We have failed through an Aestnation, Fluxes and Refluxes of great varieties of Spirits, Doctrines, Opinions and Occurrences, and especially in the matter of Opinions, which have been accompanied in their several seasons, with powerful persuasions and temptations, to seduce those of our way. It is known, men have taken the freedom (notwithstanding what Authority hath interposed to the contrary) to vent and vend their own vain and accursed imaginations, contrary to the great and fixed Truths of the Gospel, insomuch, as take the whole Round and Circle of Delusions, the Devil hath in this small time, ran: it will be found, that every Truth, of greater or lesser weight, hath by one or other hand, at one time or another, been questioned and called to the Bar amongst us, yea, and impleaded, under the pretext (which hath some degree of Justice in it) that all should not be bound up to the Traditions of former times, nor take Religion upon trust.

Whence it hath come to pass, that many of the soundest Professors were put upon a new search and disquisition of such Truths, as they had taken for granted, and yet had lived upon the comfort of: to the end they might be able to convince others, and establish their own hearts against that darkness and unbelief, that is ready to close with error, or at least to doubt of the truth, when error is speciously presented. And herenupon we do professedly account it one of the greatest advantages gained out of the Temptations of these Times, yea the honor of the Saints and Ministers of these Nations, That after they had sweetly been exercised in, and had improved practical and experimental Truths, this should be their further Lot, to examine and discuss, and indeed, amew to learn over every Doctrinal Truth, both out of the Scriptures, and also with a fresh taste thereof in their own hearts: which is no other than what the Apostle exhorts to, Try all things, hold fast that which is good. Conversion unto God at first, what is it else than a savory and affectionate application, and the bringing home to the heart with spiritual light and life, all truths that are necessary to salvation, together with other lesser Truths? All which we had afore conversion taken in but notionally from common Education and Tradition.

Now that after this first gust those who have been thus converted should be put upon a new probation and search out of the Scriptures, not only of all principles explicitly ingredients to Conversion; (unto which the Apostle referreth the Galatians when they had diverted from them) but of all other superstructures as well as fundamentals; and together therewith, anew to experiment the power and sweetness of all these in their own souls: What is this but tried Faith indeed? and equivalent to a new conversion unto the truth? An Anchor that is proved to be sure and steadfast, that will certainly hold in all contrary storms. This was the eminent seal and commendation which those holy Apostles that lived and wrote last (Peter, John, and Jude in their Epistles) did set and give to the Christians of the latter part of those primitive times. And besides, it is clear and evident by all the other Epistles, from first to last, that it cost the Apostles as much, and far more care and pains to preserve them they had converted, in the truth, than they had taken to turn them thereunto at first: And it is in itself as great a work and instance of the power of God, that keeps, yea, guards us through faith unto salvation.

Secondly, let this be added (or superadded rather) to give full weight and measure, even to running over, that we have all along this season, held forth (though quarreled with for it by our brethren) this great principle of these times, That amongst all Christian States and Churches, there ought to be vouchsafed a forbearance and mutual indulgence unto Saints of all persuasions, that keep unto, and hold fast the necessary foundations of faith and holiness, in all other matters extra fundamental, whether of Faith or Order.

This to have been our constant principle, we are not ashamed to confess to the whole Christian world. Wherein yet we desire we may be understood, not as if in the abstract we stood indifferent to falsehood or truth, or were careless whether faith or error, in any Truths but fundamental, did obtain or not, so we had our liberty in our petty and smaller differences; or as if to make sure of that, we had cut out this wide cloak for it: No, we profess that the whole, and every particle of that Faith delivered to the Saints (the substance of which we have according to our light here professed) is, as to the propagation and furtherance of it by all Gospel means, as precious to us as our lives; or what can be supposed dear to us; and in our sphere we have endeavored to promote them accordingly: But yet withal, we have and do contend (and if we had all the power which any, or all of our brethren of differing opinions have desired to have over us, or others, we should freely grant it unto them all) we have and do contend for this, That in the concrete, the persons of all such gracious Saints, they and their errors, as they are in them, when they are but such errors as do and may stand with communion with Christ, though they should not repent of them, as not being convinced of them to the end of their days; that those, with their errors (that are purely spiritual, and intrench and overthrow not civil societies,) as concrete with their persons, shold for Christ's sake be borne withal by all Christians in the world; and they notwithstanding be permitted to enjoy all Ordinances and spiritual Privileges according to their light, as freely as any other of their brethren that pretend to the greatest Orthodoxy; as having as equal, and as fair a right in and unto Christ, and all the holy things of Christ, that any other can challenge to themselves.

And this doth afford a full and invincible testimony on our behalf, in that whiles we have so earnestly contended for this just liberty of Saints in all the Churches of Christ, we ourselves have no need of it: that is, as to the matter of the profession of Faith which we have maintained together with others: and of this, this subsequent Confession of Faith gives sufficient evidence. So as we have the confidence in Christ, to utter in the words of those two great Apostles, That we have stood fast in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free (in the behalf of others, rather than ourselves) and having been free, have not made use of our liberty for a cloak of error or maliciousness in ourselves. And yet, lo, whereas from the beginning of the rearing of these Churches, that of the Apostle hath been (by some) prophesied of us, and applied to us, That while we promised (unto others) liberty, we ourselves would become servants of corruption, and be brought in bondage to all sorts of fancies and imaginations; yet the whole world may now see after the experience of many years ran through (and it is manifest by this Confession) that the great and gracious God hath not only kept us in that common unity of the Faith and Knowledge of the Son of God, which the whole Community of Saints have and shall in their Generations come unto, but also in the same Truths, both small and great, that are built thereupon, that any other of the best and more pure Reformed Churches in their best times (which were their first times) have arrived unto: This Confession withal holding forth a professed opposition unto the common errors and heresies of these times.

These two considerations have been taken from the seasons we have gone through.

Thirdly, let the space of time itself, or days, wherein from first to last the whole of this Confession was framed and consented to by the whole of us, be duly considered by sober and ingenuous spirits: the whole of days in which we had meetings about it (set aside the two Lord's days, and the first day's meeting, in which we considered and debated what to pitch upon) were but 11 days, part of which also was spent by some of us in Prayer, others in consulting; and in the end all agreeing. We mention this small circumstance but to this end (which still adds unto the former) That it gives demonstration, not of our freeness and willingness only, but of our readiness and preparedness unto so great a work; which otherwise, and in other Assemblies, hath ordinarily taken up long and great debates, as in such a variety of matters of such concernment, may well be supposed to fall out. And this is no other than what the Apostle Peter exhorts unto, Be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason, or account of the hope that is in you. The Apostle Paul saith of the spiritual Truths of the Gospel, That God hath prepared them for those that love him. The inward and innate constitution of the new Creature being in itself such as is suited to all those Truths, as congenial thereunto: But although there be this mutual adaptness between these two, yet such is the mixture of ignorance, darkness and unbelief, carnal reason, pre-occupation of judgment, interest of parties, wantonness in opinion, proud adhering to our own persuasions, and perverse oppositions and averseness to agree with others, and a multitude of such like distempers common to believing man: All which are not only mixed with, but at times (especially in such times as have passed over our heads) are ready to overcloud our judgments, and to cause our eyes to be double, and sometimes prevail as well as lusts, and do bias our wills and affections: And such is their mixture, that although there may be existent an habitual preparedness in men's spirits, yet not always a present readiness to be found, specially not in such a various multitude of men, to make a solemn and deliberate profession of all truths, it being as great a work to find the spirits of the just (perhaps the best of Saints) ready for every truth, as to be prepared to every good work.

It is therefore to be looked at, as a great and special work of the Holy Ghost, that so numerous a company of Ministers, and other principal brethren, should so readily, speedily, and jointly give up themselves unto such a whole Body of Truths that are after godliness.

This argues they had not their faith to seek; but, as is said of Ezra, that they were ready Scribes, and (as Christ) instructed unto the Kingdom of Heaven, being as the good householders of so many families of Christ, bringing forth of their store and treasury New and Old. It shows these truths had been familiar to them, and they acquainted with them, as with their daily food and prorision (as Christ's allusion there insinuates): In a word, that so they had preached, and that so their people had believed, as the Apostle speaks upon one like particular occasion. And the Apostle Paul considers (in cases of this nature) the suddenness or length of the time, either one way or the other; whether it were in men's forsaking or learning of the truth. Thus the suddenness in the Galatians' case in leaving the truth, he makes a wonder of it: I marvel that you are SO SOON (that is, in so short a time) removed from the true Gospel unto another. Again on the contrary, in the Hebrews he aggravates their backwardness, That when for the time you ought to be Teachers, you had need that one teach you the very first principles of the Oracles of God. The Parallel contrary to both these having fallen out in this transaction, may have some ingredient and weight with ingenuous spirits in its kind, according to the proportion is put upon either of these forementioned in their adverse kind, and obtain the like special observation.

This accord of ours hath fallen out without having held any correspondency together, or prepared consultation, by which we might come to be advised of one another's minds. We allege not this as a matter of commendation in us; no, we acknowledge it to have been a great neglect: And accordingly one of the first proposals for union amongst us was, That there might be a constant correspondence held among the Churches for counsel and mutual edification, so for time to come to prevent the like omission.

We confess that from the first, every [one], or at least the generality of our Churches, have been in a manner like so many Ships (thong holding forth the same general colors) launched singly, and sailing apart and alone in the vast Ocean of these tumultuating times, and they exposed to every wind of Doctrine, under no other conduct than the Word and Spirit, and their particular Elders and principal Brethren, without Associations among ourselves, or so much as holding out common lights to others, whereby to know where we were.

But yet whilst we thus confess to our own shame this neglect, let all acknowledge, that God hath ordered it for his high and greater glory, in that his singular care and power should have so watched over each of these, as that all should be found to have steered their course by the same Chart, and to have been bound for one and the same Port, and that upon this general search now made, that the same holy and blessed truths of all sorts, which are current and warrantable amongst all the other Churches of Christ in the world, should be found to be our Lading.

The whole, and every [one] of these things when put together, do cause us (whatever men of prejudiced and opposite spirits may find out to slight them) with a holy admiration, to say, That this is no other than the Lord's doing; and which we with thanksgiving do take from his hand as a special token upon us for good, and doth show that God is faithful and upright towards those that are planted in his house: And that as the Faith was but once for all, and intentionally first delivered unto the Saints; so the Saints, when not abiding scattered, but gathered under their respective Pastors according to God's heart into an house, and Churches unto the living God, such together are, as Paul forespake it, the most steady and firm pillar and seat of Truth that God hath any where appointed to himself on earth, where his truth is best conserved, and publicly held forth; there being in such Assemblies weekly a rich dwelling of the Word amongst them, that is, a daily open house kept by the means of those good Householders, their Teachers and other Instructors respectively appropriated to them, whom Christ in the virtue of his Ascension, continues to give as gifts to his people, himself dwelling amongst them; to the end that by this, as the most sure standing permanent means, the Saints might be perfected, till we all (even all the Saints in present and future ages) do come by this constant and daily Ordinance of his unto the unity of the Faith and Knowledge of the Son of God unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ (which though growing on by parts and piecemeal, will yet appear complete, when that great and general Assembly shall be gathered, then when this world is ended, and these dispensations have had their fullness and period) and so that from henceforth (such a provision being made for us) we be no more children tossed to and fro, and carried about with every wind of Doctrine.

And finally, this doth give a fresh and recent demonstration, that the great Apostle and High-priest of our profession is indeed ascended into heaven, and continues there with power and care, faithful as a son over his own house, whose house are we, if we hold fast the confidence and the rejoicing of the hope firm unto the end: and shows that he will, as he hath promised, be with his own Institutions to the end of the world.

It is true, that many sad miscarriages, divisions, breaches, fallings off from holy Ordinances of God, have along this time of temptation (especially in the beginning of it) been found in some of our Churches; and no wonder, if what hath been said be fully considered: Many reasons might further be given hereof, that would be a sufficient Apology, without the help of a retortion upon other Churches (that promised themselves peace) how that more destroying ruptures have befallen them, and that in a wider sphere and compass; which though it should not justify us, yet may serve to stop others' mouths.

Let Rome glory of the peace in, and obedience of her Children, against the Reformed Churches for their divisions that occurred (especially in the first rearing of them) whilst we all know the causes of their dull and stupid peace to have been carnal interests, worldly correspondencies, and coalitions, strengthened by gratifications of all sorts of men by that Religion, the principles of blind Devotion, Traditional Faith, Ecclesiastical Tyranny, by which she keeps her Children in bondage to this day. We are also certain, that the very same prejndices that from hence they would cast upon the Reformed (if they were just) do lie as fully against those pure Churches raised up by the Apostles themselves in those first times: for as we have heard of their patience, sufferings, consolations, and the transcending gifts poured out, and graces shining in them, so we have heard complaints of their divisions too, of the forsakings of their Assemblies, as the custom or manner of SOME was (which later were in that respect felo de se, and needed no other delivering up to Satan as their punishment, than what they executed upon themselves). We read of the shipwreck also of Faith and a good Conscience, and overthrowings of the faith of SOME; and still but of some not all, nor the most: which is one piece of an Apology the Apostle again and again inserts to future ages, and through mercy we have the same to make.

And truly we take the confidence professedly to say, that these temptations common to the purest Churches of Saints separated from the mixture of the world, though they grieve us (for who is offended, and we burn not?), yet they do not at all stumble us, as to the truth of our way, had they been many more: We say it again, these stumble us no more (as to that point) than it doth offend us against the power of Religion itself, to have seen, and to see daily in particular persons called out and separated from the world by an effectual work of conversion, that they for a while do suffer under disquietments, vexations, turmoils, unsettlements of spirit, that they are tossed with tempests and horrid tentations, such as they had not in their former estate, whilst they walked according to the course of this world: For Peter hath sufficiently instructed us whose business it is to raise such storms, even the Devil's; and also whose design it is, that after they have suffered a while, thereby they shall be settled, perfected, stablished, that have so suffered, even the God of all Grace. And look what course of dispensation God holds to Saints personally, he doth the like to bodies of Saints in Churches, and the Devil the same for his part too: And that consolatory Maxim of the Apostle, God shall tread down Satan under your feet shortly, which Paul uttereth concerning the Chnreh of Roue, shows how both God and Satan have this very hand therein; for he speaks that very thing in reference unto their divisions, as the coherence clearly manifests; and so you have both designs expressed at once.

Yea, we are not a little induced to think, that the divisions, breaches, etc., of those primitive Churches would not have been so frequent among the people themselves, and not the Elders only, had not the freedom, liberties, and rights of the Members (the Brethren, we mean) been stated and exercised in those Churches, the same which we maintain and contend for to be in ours.

Yea (which perhaps may seem more strange to many) had not those Churches been constituted of members enlightened further than with notional and traditional knowledge, by a new and more powerful light of the Holy Ghost, wherein they had been made partakers of the Holy Ghost and the heavenly gift, and their hearts had tasted the good Word of God, and the Powers of the world to come, and of such Members at lowest, there had not fallen out those kinds of divisions among them.

For Experience hath shown, that the common sort of mere Doctrinal Professors (such as the most are nowadays), whose highest elevation is but freedom from moral scandal, joined with devotion to Christ through mere Education, such as in many Turks is found towards Mohammed, that these finding and feeling themselves not much concerned in the active part of Religion, so they may have the honor (especially upon a Reformation of a new Refinement) that themselves are approved Members, admitted to the Lord's Supper, and their Children to the Ordinance of Baptism; they regard not other matters (as Gallio did not), but do easily and readily give up themselves unto their Guides, being like dead fishes carried with the common stream; whereas those that have a further renewed Light by a work of the Holy Ghost, whether saving or temporary, are upon the quite contrary grounds apt to be busy about, and inquisitive into, what they are to receive and practice, or wherein their Consciences are professedly concerned and involved: And thereupon they take the freedom to examine and try the spirits, whether of God or no: And from hence are more apt to dissatisfaction, and from thence to run into division, and many of such proving to be enlightened but with a temporary, not saving Faith (who have such a work of the Spirit upon them, and profession in them, as will and doth approve itself to the judgment of Saints, and ought to be so judged, until they be otherwise discovered) who at long-run, prove hypocrites, through indulgence unto Lusts, and then out of their Lusts persist to hold up these divisions unto breach of, or departings from, Churches, and the Ordinances of God, and God is even with them for it, they waxing worse and worse, deceiving and being deceived; and even many of those that are sincere, through a mixture of darkness and erroneousness in their Judgments, are for a season apt out of Conscience to be led away with the error of others, which lie in wait to deceive.

In somuch as the Apostle upon the example of those first times, forseeing also the like events in following generations upon the like causes, hath been bold to set this down as a ruled Case, that likewise in other Churches so constituted and de facto emprivileged as that of the Church of Corinth was (which single Church, in the Sacred Records about it, is the completest Mirror of Church Constitution, Order, and Government, and Events thereupon ensuing, of any one Church whatever that we have story of), his Maxim is, There must be also divisions amongst you; he setly inserts an [ALSO] in the case, as that which had been in his own observation, and that which would be ἐπὶ τὸ πολὺ the fate of other Churches like thereunto, so prophesieth he: And he speaks this as peremptorily, as he doth elsewhere in that other, We must through many tribulations enter into the Kingdom of Heaven: Yea, and that all that will live godly in Christ Jesus, shall suffer persecution: There is a [MUST] upon both alike; and we bless God, that we have run through both, and do say, and we say no more, That as it was then, so it is now, in both respects.

However, such hath been the powerful hand of God's providence in these, which have been the worst of our Trials, That out of an approved Experience and Observation of the Issue, we are able to add that other part of the Apostle's Prediction, That therefore such rents must be, that they which are approved may be made manifest among you; which holy issue God (as having aimed at it therein) doth frequently and certainly bring about in Churches, as he doth bring upon them that other fate of division, Let them therefore look unto it, that are the Authors of such disturbances, as the Apostle warneth, Gal. v. 10. The experiment is this, That we have seen, and do daily see, that multitudes of holy and precious souls, and (in the Holy Ghost's word) approved Saints, have been, and are the more rooted and grounded by means of these shakings, and do continue to cleave the faster to Christ, and the purity of his Ordinances, and value them the more by this cost God hath put them to for the enjoying of them, Who having been planted in the House of the Lord, have flourished in the Courts of our God, in these evil times, to show that the Lord is upright. And this experimented event from out of such divisions, hath more confirmed us, and is a louder Apology for us, than all that our opposites are able from our breaches to allege to prejndice us.

We will add a few words for conclusion, and give a more particular account of this our Declaration. In drawing up this Confession of Faith, we have had before us the Articles of Religion, approved and passed by both Houses of Parliament, after advice had with an Assembly of Divines, called together by them for that purpose. To which Confession, for the substance of it, we fully assent, as do our Brethren of New England, and the Churches also of Scotland, as each in their general Synods have testified.

A few things we have added for obviating some erroneous Opinions, that have been more broadly and boldly here of late maintained by the Asserters, than in former times; and made other additions and alterations in method, here and there, and some clearer Explanations, as we found occasion.

We have endeavored throughout, to hold to such Truths in this our Confession, as are more properly termed matters of Faith; and what is of Church-order, we dispose in certain Propositions by itself. To this course we are led by the Example of the Honorable Houses of Parliament, observing what was established, and what omitted by them in that Confession the Assembly presented to them. Who thought it not convenient to have matters of Discipline and Church Government put into a Confession of Faith, especially such particulars thereof, as then were, and still are controverted and under dispute by men Orthodox and found in Faith. The 30th cap. therefore of that Confession, as it was presented to them by the Assembly, which is of Church Censures, their Use, Kinds, and in whom placed: As also cap. 31, of Synods and Councils, by whom to be called, of what force in their Decrees and Determinations. And the 4th Paragr. of the 20th cap., which determines what Opinions and Practices disturb the peace of the Church, and how such Disturbers ought to be proceeded against by the Censures of the Church, and punished by the Civil Magistrate. Also a great part of the 24th cap. of Marriage and Divorce. These were such doubtful assertions, and so unsuitable to a Confession of Faith, as the Honorable Houses in their great Wisdom thought fit to lay them aside: There being nothing that tends more to heighten Dissensions among Brethren, than to determine and adopt the matter of their difference, under so high a Title, as to be an Article of our Faith: So that there are two whole Chapters, and some Paragraphs in other Chapters in their Confession, that we have upon this account omitted; and the rather do we give this notice, because that Copy of the Parl. followed by us, is in few men's hands; the other as it came from the Assembly, being approved of in Scotland, was printed and hastened into the world, before the Parl. had declared their Resolutions about it; which was not till June 20, 1648, and yet hath been, and continueth to be the Copy (ordinarily) only sold, printed, and reprinted for these 11 years.

After the 19th cap. of the Law, we have added a cap. of the Gospel, it being a Title that may not well be omitted in a Confession of Faith: In which Chapter, what is dispersed, and by intimation in the Assemblies' Confession, with some little addition, is here brought together, and more fully, under one head.

That there are not Scriptures annexed, as in some Confessions (though in divers others it's otherwise), we give the same account as did the Reverend Assembly in the same case; which was this: 'The Confession being large, and so framed, as to meet with the common Errors, 'if the Scriptures should have been alleged with any clearness, and by showing where the strength of the proof lieth, it would have required a Volume.'

We say further, it being our utmost end in this (as it is indeed of a Confession) humbly to give an account what we hold and assert in these matters; that others, especially the Churches of Christ may judge of us accordingly: This we aimed at, and not so much to instruct others, or convince gainsayers. These are the proper works of other Institutions of Christ, and are to be done in the strength of express Scripture. A Confession is an Ordinance of another nature.

What we have laid down and asserted about Churches and their Government, we humbly conceive to be the Order which Christ himself hath appointed to be observed, we have endeavored to follow Scripture light; and those also that went before us according to that Rule, desirous of nearest uniformity with Reforming Churches, as with our Brethren in New England, so with others, that differ from them and us.

The Models and Platforms of this subject laid down by learned men, and practiced by Churches, are various: We do not judge it brotherly, or grateful, to insist upon comparisons, as some have done; but this Experience teacheth, That the variety, and possibly the Disputes and Emulations arising thence, have much strengthened, if not fixed, this unhappy persuasion in the minds of some learned and good men, namely, That there is no settled Order laid down in Scripture; but it's left to the Prudence of the Christian Magistrate, to compose or make choice of such a Form as is most suitable and consistent with their Civil Government. Where this Opinion is entertained in the persuasion of Governors, there, Churches asserting their Power and Order to be jure divino, and the appointment of Jesus Christ, can have no better nor more honorable Entertainment, than a Toleration or Permission.

Yet herein there is this remarkable advantage to all parties that differ, about what in Governent is of Christ's appointment; in that such Magistrates have a far greater latitude in conscience, to tolerate and permit the several forms of each so bound up in their persuasion, than they have to submit unto what the Magistrate shall impose: And thereupon the Magistrate exercising an indulgency and forbearance, with protection and encouragement to the people of God, so differing from him, and amongst themselves: Doth thereupon discharge as great a faithfulness to Christ, and love to his people, as can any way be supposed and expected from any Christian Magistrate, of what persuasion soever he is. And where this clemency from Governors is shown to any sort of persons, or Churches of Christ, upon such a principle, it will in equity produce this just effect, That all that so differ from him, and amongst themselves, standing in equal and alike difference from the principle of such a Magistrate, he is equally free to give alike liberty to them, one as well as the other.

This faithfulness in our Governors we do with thankfulness to God acknowledge, and to their everlasting honor, which appeared much in the late Reformation. The Hierarchy, Common Prayer-Book, and all other things grievous to God's People, being removed, they made choice of an Assembly of learned men, to advise what Government and Order is meet to be established in the room of these things; and because it was known there were different opinions (as always hath been among godly men) about forms of Church Government, there was by the Ordinance first sent forth to call an Assembly, not only a choice made of persons of several persuasions, to sit as Members there, but liberty given, to a lesser number, if dissenting, to report their Judgments and Reasons, as well and as freely as the major part.

Hereupon the Honorable House of Commons (an Indulgence we hope will never be forgotten) finding by Papers received from them, that the Members of the Assembly were not like to compose differences amongst themselves, so as to join in the same Rule for Church Government, did order further as followeth: That a Committee of Lords and Commons, etc., do take into consideration the differences of the Opinions in the Assembly of Divines in point of Church government, and so endeavor a union if it be possible; and in case that can not be done, to endeavor the finding out some way, how far tender consciences, wh^o can not in all things submit to the same Rule which that be established, may be born wth according to the Word, and as may stand wth the Public Peace.

By all which it is evident, the Parliament purposed not to establish the Rule of Church Government with such rigor, as might not permit and bear with a practice different from what they had established: In persons and Churches of different principles, if occasion were. And this Christian Clemency and indulgence in our Governors, hath been the foundation of that Freedom and Liberty, in the managing of Church affairs, which our Brethren, as well as WE, that differ from them, do now, and have many years enjoyed.

The Honorable Houses by several Ordinances of Parliament after much consultation, having settled Rules for Church Government, and such an Ecclesiastical Order as they judged would best joint with the Laws and Government of the Kingdom, did publish them, requiring the practice hereof throughout the Nation; and in particular, by the Min. of the Pr. of Lon. But (upon the former reason, or the like charitable consideration) these Rules were not imposed by them under any Penalty, or rigorous enforcement, though frequently urged thereunto by some.

Our Reverend Brethren of the Province of London, having considered of these Ordinances, and the Church Government laid down in them, declared their Opinions to be, That there is not a complete Rule in those Ordinances: also, that there are many necessary things not yet established, and some things wherein their consciences are not so fully satisfied. These Brethren, in the same Paper, have published also their joint Resolution to practice in all things according to the Rule of the Word, and according to these Ordinances, so far as they conceive them [to] correspond to it, and in so doing, they trust they shall not grieve the Spirit of the truly godly, nor give any just occasion to them that are contrary minded, to blame their proceedings.

We humbly conceive that (WE being dissatisfied in these things as our Brethren) the like liberty was intended by the Honorable Houses, and may be taken by us of the Congregational way (without blame or grief to the spirits of those Brethren at least), to resolve, or rather to continue in the same Resolution and Practice in these matters, which indeed were our practices in times of greatest opposition, and before this Reformation was begun.

And as our Brethren the Ministers of London, drew up and published their opinions and apprehensions about Church Government into an entire System; so we now give the like public account of our Consciences, and the Rules by which we have constantly practiced hitherto; which we have here drawn up, and do present. Whereby it will appear how much, or how little we differ in these things from our Presbyterian Brethren.

And we trust there is no just cause why any man, either for our differing from the present settlement, it being out of Conscience, and not out of contempt, or our differences one from another, being not wilful, should charge either of us with that odious reproach of Schism. And indeed, if not for our differing from the State settlement, much less because we differ from our Brethren, our differences being in some lesser things, and circumstances only, as themselves acknowledge. And let it be further considered, that we have not broken from them or their Order by these differences (but rather they from us), and in that respect we less deserve their censure; our practice being no other than what it was in our breaking from Episcopacy, and long before Presbytery, or any such form as now they are in, was taken up by them; and we will not say how probable it is, that the yoke of Episcopacy had been upon our neck to this day, if some such way (as formerly, and now is, and hath been termed Schism) had not with much suffering been then practiced, and since continued in.

For Novelty wherewith we are likewise both charged by the Enemies of both, it is true, in respect of the public and open Profession, either of Presbytery or Independency, this Nation hath been a stranger to each way, it's possible, ever since it hath been Christian; though for ourselves we are able to trace the footsteps of an Independent Congregational way in the ancientest customs of the Churches; as also in the Writings of our soundest Protestant Divines, and (that which we are much satisfied in) a full concurrence throughout in all the substantial parts of Church Government, with our Reverend Brethren the old Puritan Non-conformists, who being instant in Prayer and much sufferings, prevailed with the Lord, and we reap with joy, what they sowed in tears. Our Brethren also that are for Presbyterial Subordinations, profess what is of weight against Novelty for their way.

And now therefore seeing the Lord, in whose hand is the heart of Princes, hath put into the hearts of our Governors, to tolerate and permit (as they have done many years) persons of each persuasion, to enjoy their Consciences, though neither come up to the Rule established by Authority: And that which is more, to give us both Protection, and the same encouragement, that the most devoted Conformists in those former Superstitions Times enjoyed; yea, and by a public Law to establish this Liberty for time to come; and yet further, in the midst of our fears, to set over us a Prince that owns this Establishment, and cordially resolves to secure our Churches in the enjoyment of these Liberties, if we abuse them not to the disturbance of the Civil Peace.

This should be a very great engagement upon the hearts of all, though of different persuasions, to endeavor our utmost, jointly to promote the honor and prosperity of such a Government and Governors by whatsoever means, which in our Callings as Ministers of the Gospel, and as Churches of Jesus Christ the Prince of Peace, we are any way able to do; as also to be peaceably disposed one towards another, and with mutual toleration to love as brethren, notwithstanding such differences: remembering, as it's very equal we should, the differences that are between Presbyterians and Independents being differences between fellow-servants, and neither of them having authority given from God or Man, to impose their Opinions, one more than the other. That our Governors after so solemn an establishment, should thus bear with us both, in our greater differences from their Rule: and after this, for any of us to take a fellow-servant by the throat, upon the account of a lesser reckoning, and nothing due to him upon it, is to forget, at least not to exercise, that compassion and tenderness we have found, where we had less ground to challenge or expect it.

Our prayer unto God is, That whereto we have already attained, we all may walk by the same rule, and that wherein we are otherwise minded, God would reveal it to us in his due time.

A DECLARATION OF FAITH.

[As the Savoy Declaration is merely a modification of the Westminster Confession to suit the Congregational polity, it is only necessary to note the principal omissions, additions, and changes, which will be better understood by comparison with the corresponding original and with the more thorough change made by the American Presbyterians in Chap. XXIII. 3.]

Chap. XX. is added to the Westminster Confession (which accounts for the change of numbers of chapters after Chap. XX.), and reads as follows :

CHAPTER XX.

Of the Gospel, and of the Extent of the Grace thereof.

I. The covenant of works being broken by sin, and made unprofitable unto life, God was pleased to give unto the elect the promise of Christ, the seed of the woman, as the means of calling them, and begetting in them faith and repentance. In this promise the gospel, as to the substance of it, was revealed, and was therein effectual for the conversion and salvation of sinners.

II. This promise of Christ, and salvation by him, is revealed only in and by the Word of God; neither do the works of creation or providence, with the light of nature, make discovery of Christ, or of grace by him, so much as in a general or obscure way; much less that men, destitute of the revelation of him by the promise or gospel, should be enabled thereby to attain saving faith or repentance.

III. The revelation of the gospel unto sinners, made in divers times and by sundry parts, with the addition of promises and precepts for the obedience required therein, as to the nations and persons to whom it is granted, is merely of the sovereign will and good pleasure of God, not being annexed by virtue of any promise to the due improvement of men's natural abilities, by virtue of common light received without it, which none ever did make, or can so do: and therefore in all ages the preaching the gospel hath been granted unto persons and nations, as to the extent or straitening of it, in great variety, according to the counsel of the will of God.

IV. Although the gospel be the only outward means of revealing Christ and saving grace, and is as such abundantly sufficient thereunto; yet that men who are dead in trespasses may be born again, quickened, or regenerated, there is moreover necessary an effectual, irresistible work of the Holy Ghost upon the whole soul, for the producing in them [of] a new spiritual life, without which no other means are sufficient for their conversion unto God.

In the chapter on 'Christian Liberty and Liberty of Conscience' slight modifications are made in two sections, as follows :

SAVOY DECLARATION.

CHAP. XXI.

II. God alone is Lord of the conscience, and hath left it free from the doctrines and commandments of men, which are in any thing contrary to his Word, or not contained in it; so that to believe such doctrines, or to obey such commands out of conscience, is to betray true liberty of conscience; and the requiring of an implicit faith and an absolute and blind obedience is to destroy liberty of conscience, and reason also.

III. They who, upon pretense of Christian liberty, do practice any sin, or cherish any lust, as they do thereby pervert the main design of the grace of the gospel to their own destruction; so they wholly destroy the end of Christian liberty, which is, that being delivered out of the hands of our enemies, we might serve the Lord without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him all the days of our life.

WESTMINSTER CONFESION.

CHAP. XX.

II. God alone is Lord of the conscience, and hath left it free from the doctrines and commandments of men, which are in any thing contrary to his Word, or beside it, in matters of faith or worship; so that to believe such doctrines, or to obey such commandments out of conscience, is to betray true liberty of conscience; and the requiring of an implicit faith and an absolute and blind obedience is to destroy liberty of conscience, and reason also.

III. They who, upon pretense of Christian liberty, do practice any sin, or cherish any lust, do thereby destroy the end of Christian liberty; which is, that being delivered out of the hands of our enemies, we might serve the Lord without fear, in holiness and righteousness before him all the days of our life.

The fourth and last section of Chap. XX. of the Westminster Confession, which gives the civil magistrate the power of punishing heresy, is entirely omitted. The American Revision of the Westminster Confession omits only the last clause (which is really the only objectionable feature), ‘and by the power of the civil magistrate.’

SAVOY DECLARATION.	WESTMINSTER CONFES- SION.	AMER. PRESB. REVISION OF THE WESTM. CONF.
CHAP. XXIV.— Of the Civil Magistrate.	CHAP. XXIII.— Of the Civil Magistrate.	CHAP. XXIII.— Of the Civil Magistrate.
III. Although the magistrate is bound to encourage, promote, and protect the professors and profession of the gospel, and to manage and order civil administrations in a due subserviency to the interest of Christ in the world, and to that end to take care that men of corrupt minds and conversations do not licentiously publish and divulge blasphemy and errors, in their own nature subverting the faith and inevitably destroying the souls of them that receive them; yet in such differences about the doctrines of the gospel, or ways of the worship of God, as may befall men exercising a good conscience, manifesting it in their conversation, and holding the foundation, not disturbing others in their ways or worship that differ from them, there is no warrant for the magistrate under the gospel to abridge them of their liberty.	III. The civil magistrate may not assume to himself the administration of the Word and Sacraments, or the power of the keys of the kingdom of heaven: yet he hath authority, and it is his duty to take order, that unity and peace be preserved in the Church, that the truth of God be kept pure and entire, that all blasphemies and heresies be suppressed, all corruptions and abuses in worship and discipline prevented or reformed, and all the ordinances of God duly settled, administered, and observed. For the better effecting whereof he hath power to call synods, to be present at them, and to provide that whatsoever is transacted in them be according to the mind of God.	III. Civil magistrates may not assume to themselves the administration of the Word and Sacraments; or the power of the keys of the kingdom of heaven; or, in the least, interfere in matters of faith. Yet as nursing fathers, it is the duty of civil magistrates to protect the Church of our common Lord, without giving the preference to any denomination of Christians above the rest, in such a manner that all ecclesiastical persons whatever shall enjoy the full, free, and unquestioned liberty of discharging every part of their sacred functions, without violence or danger. And, as Jesus Christ hath appointed a regular government and discipline in his Church, no law of any commonwealth should interfere with, let, or hinder the due exercise thereof, among the voluntary members of any denomination of Christians, according to their own profession and belief.

In Chap. XXV., ‘Of Marriage,’ the Savoy Declaration omits sections 5 and 6, and the last clause of section 4, Chap. XXIV., of the Westminster Confession.

WESTMINSTER CONFES-SION.CHAP. XXV.—Of the Church.

I. The catholic or universal Church, which is invisible, consists of the whole number of the elect, that have been, are, or shall be gathered into one, under Christ the Head thereof; and is the spouse, the body, the fullness of him that filleth all in all.

II. The visible Church, which is also catholic or universal under the gospel (not confined to one nation as before under the law), consists of all those, throughout the world, that profess the true religion, and of their children; and is the kingdom of the Lord Jesus Christ, the house and famcatholic Church of Christ, although as such it is not intrusted with the administration of any ordinances, or hath any officers to rule or govern in or over the whole body.

ily of God, out of which there is no ordinary possibility of salvation.

III. Unto this catholic visible Church Christ hath given the ministry, oracles, and ordinances of God, for the gathering and perfecting of the saints, in this life, to the end of the world: and doth by his own presence and Spirit, according to his promise, make them effectual thereunto.

IV. This catholic Church hath been sometimes more, sometimes less visible. And particular churches, which are members thereof, are more or less pure, according as the doctrine of the gospel is taught and embraced, ordinances administered, and public worship performed more or less purely in them.

III. The purest churches under heaven are subject both to mixture and error, and some have so degenerated as to become no churches of Christ, but synagogues of Satan. Nevertheless, Christ always hath had, and ever shall have a visible kingdom in this world, to the end thereof, of such as believe in him, and make profession of his name.

V. The purest churches under heaven are subject both to mixture and error; and some have so degenerated as to become no churches of Christ, but synagogues of Satan. Nevertheless, there shall be always a Church on earth to worship God according to his will.

IV. There is no other head of the Church but the Lord Jesus Christ; nor can the Pope of Rome in any sense be head thereof; but it [he] is that Antichrist, that man of sin and son of perdition that exalteth himself in the Church against Christ, and all that is called God, whom the Lord shall destroy with the brightness of his coming.

V. As the Lord is in care and love towards his Church, hath in his infinite wise providence exercised it with great variety in all ages, for the good of them that love him, and his own glory; so, according to his promise, we expect that in the latter days, Antichrist being destroyed, the Jews called, and the adversaries of the kingdom of his dear Son broken, the churches of Christ being enlarged and edified through a free and plentiful communication of light and grace, shall enjoy in this world a more quiet, peaceable, and glorious condition than they have enjoyed.

VI. There is no other head of the Church but the Lord Jesus Christ: nor can the Pope of Rome, in any sense, be head thereof; but is that Antichrist, that man of sin and son of perdition that exalteth himself in the Church against Christ, and all that is called God.

These Savoy modifications and changes of the Westminster Confession were approved and adopted by American Congregationalists in the Synod of Boston, 1680, and in the Synod at Saybrook, 1708.

OF THE INSTITUTION OF CHURCHES, AND THE ORDER APPOINTED IN THEM BY JESUS CHRIST.

I. By the appointment of the Father, all Power for the Calling, Institution, Order, or Government of the Church is invested in a Supreme and Sovereign manner in the Lord Jesus Christ, as King and Head thereof.

II. In the execution of this Power wherewith he is so intrusted the Lord Jesus calleth out of the World unto Communion with himself those that are given unto him by his Father, that they may walk before him in all the ways of Obedience which he prescribed to them in his Word.

III. Those thus called (through the Ministry the Word by his Spirit) he commandeth to walk together in particular Societies or Churches, for their mutual edification and the due performance of that public Worship which he requireth of them in this world.

IV. To each of these Churches thus gathered, according unto his mind declared in his Word, he hath given all that Power and Authority which is any way needful for their carrying on that Order in Worship and Discipline which he hath instituted for them to observe with Commands and Rules for the due and right exerting and executing of that Power.

V. These particular Churches thus appointed by the Authority of Christ, and intrusted with power from him for the ends before expressed, are each of them as unto those ends the seat of that Power which he is pleased to communicate to his Saints or Subjects in this World, so that as such they receive it immediately from himself.

VI. Besides these particular Churches, there is not instituted by Christ any Church more extensive or Catholic intrusted with power for the administration of his Ordinances or the execution of any authority in his Name.

VII. A particular Church gathered and completed according to the mind of Christ consists of Officers and Members: The Lord Christ having given to his called ones (united according to his appointment in Church order) Liberty and Power to choose Persons fitted by the Holy Ghost for that purpose, to be over them, and to minister to them in the Lord.

VIII. The Members of these Churches are Saints by Calling, visibly manifesting and evidencing (in and by their profession and walking) their Obedience unto that Call of Christ, who being further known to each other by their confession of the Faith wrought in them by the power of God, declared by themselves, or otherwise manifested, do willingly consent to walk together according to the appointment of Christ, giving up themselves to the Lord and to one another by the Will of God, in professed subjection to the Ordinances of the Gospel.

IX. The Officers appointed by Christ to be chosen and set apart by the Church so called, and gathered for the peculiar administration of Ordinances and execution of Power or Duty which he intrusts them with, or calls them to, to be contynned to the end of the World, are Pastors, Teachers, Elders, and Deacons.

X. Chnrches thus gathered and assembling for the Worship of GOD are thereby visible and public, and their Assemblies (in what place soever they are, according as they have liberty or opportunity) are therefore Church or Public Assemblies.

XI. The way appointed by Christ for the calling of any person, fitted and gifted by the Holy Ghost, unto the Office of Pastor, Teacher, or Elder, in a Church, is that he be chosen thereunto by the common suffrage of the Church itself, and solemnly set apart by Fasting and Prayer, with Imposition of Hands of the Eldership of that Church, if there be any before constituted therein: And of a Deacon, that he be chosen by the like suffrage, and set apart by Prayer and the like Imposition of Hands.

XII. The Essence of this Call of a Pastor, Teacher, or Elder unto Office consists in the Election of the Church, together with his acceptation of it, and separation by Fasting and Prayer: And those who are so chosen, though not set apart by Imposition of Hands, are rightly constituted Ministers of Jesus Christ, in whose Name and Authority they exercise the Ministry to them so committed. The Calling of Deacons consisteth in the like Election and acceptation, with separation by Prayer.

XIII. Although it be incumbent on the Pastors and Teachers of the Churches to be instant in Preaching the Word, by way of Office, yet the work of Preaching the Word is not so peculiarly confined to them but that others also gifted and fitted by the Holy Ghost for it, and approved (being by lawful ways and means in the Providence of God called thereunto), may publicly, ordinarily, and constantly perform it, so that they give themselves up thereunto.

XIV. However, they who are engaged in the work of Public Preaching, and enjoy the Public Maintenance upon that account, are not thereby obliged to dispense the Seals to any other than such as (being Saints by Calling, and gathered according to the Order of the Gospel) they stand related to, as Pastors or Teachers; yet ought they not to neglect others living within their Parochial Bounds, but besides their constant public Preaching to them, they ought to inquire after their profiting by the Word, instructing them in and pressing upon them (whether young or old) the great Doctrines of the Gospel, even personally and particularly, so far as their strength and time will admit.

XV. Ordination alone, without the Election or precedent consent of the Church, by those who formerly have been Ordained by virtue of that Power they have received by their Ordination, doth not constitute any person a Church-Officer, or communicate Office-power unto him.

XVI. A Church furnished with Officers (according to the mind of Christ) hath full power to administer all his Ordinances; and where there is want of any one or more Officers required, that Officer, or those which are in the Church, may administer all the Ordinances proper to their particular Duty and Offices; but where there are no Teaching Officers, none may administer the Seals, nor can the Church authorize any so to do.

XVII. In the carrying on of Church administrations, no person ought to be added to the Church but by the consent of the Church itself; that so love (without dissimulation) may be preserved between all the Members thereof.

XVIII. Whereas the Lord Jesus Christ hath appointed and instituted as a means of Edification that those who walk not according to the Rules and Laws appointed by him (in respect of Faith and Life, so that just offense doth arise to the Church thereby) be censured in his Name and Authority: Every Chnrch hath power in itself to exercise and execute all those Censures appointed by him, in the way and Order prescribed in the Gospel.

XIX. The Censures so appointed by Christ are Admonition and Excommunication; and whereas some offenses are or may be known only to some, it is appointed by Christ that those to whom they are so known do first admonish the offender in private (in public offenses where any sin, before all), and in case of non-amendment upon private admonition, the offense being related to the Church, and the offender not manifesting his repentance, he is to be duly admonished in the Name of Christ by the whole Church, by the Ministry of the Elders of the Church; and if this Censure prevail not for his repentance, then he is to be cast out by Excommunication, with the consent of the Church.

XX. As all Believers are bound to join themselves to particular Churches, when and where they have opportunity so to do, so none are to be admitted unto the Privileges of the Churches who do not submit themselves to the Rule of Christ in the Censures for the Government of them.

XXI. This being the way prescribed by Christ in case of offense, no Church-members, upon any offenses taken by them, having performed their duty required of them in this matter, ought to disturb any Church order, or absent themselves from the public Assemblies or the Administration of any Ordinances, upon that pretense, but to wait upon Christ in the further proceeding of the Church.

XXII. The Power of Censures being seated by Christ in a particular Church, is to be exercised only towards particular members of each Church respectively as such; and there is no power given by him unto any Synods or Ecclesiastical Assemblies to Excommunicate, or by their public Edicts to threaten Excommunication or other Church Censures against Churches, Magistrates, or their people, upon any account, no man being obnoxious to that Censure but upon his personal miscarriage as a Member of a particular Church.

XXIII. Although the Church is a Society of men assembling for the celebration of the Ordinances according to the appointment of Christ, yet every Society assembling for that end or purpose, upon the account of cohabitation within any civil Precincts or Bounds, is not thereby constituted a Church, seeing there may be wanting among them what is essentially required therennto; and therefore a Believer living with others in such a Precinct may join himself with any Church for his edification.

XXIV. For the avoiding of differences that may otherwise arise, for the greater Solemnity in the Celebration of the Ordinances of Christ, and the opening a way for the larger usefulness of the Gifts and Graces of the Holy Ghost, Saints living in one City or Town, or within such distances as that they may conveniently assemble for divine Worship, ought rather to join in one Church for their mutual strengthening and edification than to set up many distinct Societies.

XXV. As all Churches and all the members of them are bound to pray continually for the good or prosperity of all the Churches of Christ in all places, and upon all occasions to further it (Every one within the bounds of their Places and Callings, in the exercise of their Gifts and Graces), So the Churches themselves (when planted by the Providence of God so as they may have opportunity and advantage for it) ought to hold communion amongst themselves for their peace, increase of love, and mutual edification.

XXVI. In Cases of Difficulties or Differences, either in point of Doctrine or in Administrations, wherein either the Churches in general are concerned, or any one Church, in their Peace, Union, and Edification, or any Member or Members of any Church are injured in or by any proceeding in Censures not agreeable to Truth and Order, it is according to the mind of Christ that many Churches holding communion together do by their Messengers meet in a Synod or Council to consider and give their advice in or about that matter in difference, to be reported to all the Churches concerned: Howbeit, these Synods so assembled are not intrusted with any Church Power properly so called, or with any Jurisdiction over the Churches themselves, to exercise any Censures, either over any Churches or Persons, or to impose their determinations on the Churches or Officers.

XXVII. Besides these occasioned Synods or Councils, there are not instituted by Christ any stated Synods in a fixed Combination of Churches or their Officers in lesser or greater Assemblies, nor are there any Synods appointed by Christ in a way of Subordination to one another.

XXVIII. Persons that are joined in Church-fellowship, ought not lightly or without just cause to withdraw themselves from the communion of the Church wherunto they are so joined: Nevertheless, where any person can not continue in any Church without his sin, either for want of the Administration of any Ordinances instituted by Christ, or by his being deprived of his due Privileges, or compelled to any thing in practice not warranted by the Word, or in case of Persecution, or upon the account of conveniency of habitation; he, consulting with the Church, or the Officer or Officers thereof, may peaceably depart from the communion of the Church wherewith he hath so walked, to join himself with some other Church where he may enjoy the Ordinances in the purity of the same, for his edification and consolation.

XXIX. Such reforming Churches as consist of Persons sound in the Faith, and of Conversation becoming the Gospel, ought not to refuse the communion of each other, so far as may consist with their own Principles respectively, though they walk not in all things according to the same Rules of Church Order.

XXX. Churches gathered and walking according to the mind of Christ, judging other Churches (though less pure) to be true Churches, may receive unto occasional communion with them such Members of those Churches as are credibly testified to be godly and to live without offense.

THE DECLARATION OF THE CONGREGATIONAL UNION OF ENGLAND AND WALES. A.D. 1833.

[This is printed annually in the Congregational Year-Book, London. See Vol. I. p. 730.]

DECLARATION OF THE FAITH, CHURCH ORDER, AND DISCIPLINE OF THE CONGREGATIONAL OR INDEPENDENT DISSENTERS.

Adopted at the Annual Meeting of the Congregational Union, May, 1833.

The CONGREGATIONAL Churches in England and Wales, frequently called INDEPENDENT, hold the following doctrines, as of divine authority, and as the foundation of Christian faith and practice. They are also formed and governed according to the principles hereinafter stated.

PRELIMINARY NOTES.

1. It is not designed, in the following summary, to do more than to state the leading doctrines of faith and order maintained by Congregational Churches in general.
2. It is not proposed to offer any proofs, reasons, or arguments, in support of the doctrines herein stated, but simply to declare what the Denomination believes to be taught by the pen of inspiration.
3. It is not intended to present a scholastic or critical confession of faith, but merely such a statement as any intelligent member of the body might offer, as containing its leading principles.
4. It is not intended that the following statement should be put forth with any authority, or as a standard to which assent should be required.
5. Disallowing the utility of creeds and articles of religion as a bond of union, and protesting against subscription to any human formularies as a term of communion, Congregationalists are yet willing to declare, for general information, what is commonly believed among them, reserving to every one the most perfect liberty of conscience.
6. Upon some minor points of doctrine and practice, they, differing among themselves, allow to each other the right to form an unbiased judgment of the Word of God.
7. They wish it to be observed, that, notwithstanding their jealousy of subscription to creeds and articles, and their disapproval of the imposition of any human standard, whether of faith or discipline, they are far more agreed in their doctrines and practices than any Church which enjoins subscription and enforces a human standard of orthodoxy; and they believe that there is no minister and no church among them that would deny the substance of any one of the following doctrines of religion, though each might prefer to state his sentiments in his own way.

PRINCIPLES OF RELIGION.

- I. The Scriptures of the Old Testament, as received by the Jews, and the books of the New Testament, as received by the Primitive Christians from the Evangelists and Apostles, Congregational Churches believe to be divinely inspired, and of supreme authority. These writings, in the languages in which they were originally composed, are to be consulted, by the aids of sound criticism, as a final appeal in all controversies; but the common version they consider to be adequate to the ordinary purposes of Christian instruction and edification.

II. They believe in One God, essentially wise, holy, just, and good; eternal, infinite, and immutable in all natural and moral perfections; the Creator, Supporter, and Governor of all beings and of all things.

III. They believe that God is revealed in the Scriptures, as the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, and that to each are attributable the same divine properties and perfections. The doctrine of the divine existence, as above stated, they cordially believe, without attempting fully to explain.

IV. They believe that man was created after the divine image, sinless, and, in his kind, perfect.

V. They believe that the first man disobeyed the divine command, fell from his state of innocence and purity, and involved all his posterity in the consequences of that fall.

VI. They believe that, therefore, all mankind are born in sin, and that a fatal inclination to moral evil, utterly incurable by human means, is inherent in every descendant of Adam.

VII. They believe that God, having, before the foundation of the world, designed to redeem fallen man, made disclosures of his mercy, which were the grounds of faith and hope from the earliest ages.

VIII. They believe that God revealed more fully to Abraham the covenant of his grace, and, having promised that from his descendants should arise the Deliverer and Redeemer of mankind, set that patriarch and his posterity apart, as a race specially favored and separated to his service: a peculiar Church, formed and carefully preserved, under the divine sanction and government, until the birth of the promised Messiah.

IX. They believe that, in the fullness of the time, the Son of God was manifested in the flesh, being born of the Virgin Mary, but conceived by the power of the Holy Spirit; and that our Lord Jesus Christ was both the Son of Man and the Son of God; partaking fully and truly of human nature, though without sin—equal with the Father and ‘the express image of his person.’

X. They believe that Jesus Christ, the Son of God, revealed, either personally in his own ministry, or by the Holy Spirit in the ministry of his apostles, the whole mind of God for our salvation ; and that, by his obedience to the divine law while he lived, and by his sufferings unto death, he meritoriously ‘ obtained eternal redemption for us ; ’ having thereby vindicated and illustrated divine justice, ‘ magnified the law,’ and ‘ brought in everlasting righteousness.’

XI. They believe that, after his death and resurrection, he ascended up into heaven, where, as the Mediator, he ‘ ever liveth ’ to rule over all, and to ‘ make intercession for them that come unto God by him.’

XII. They believe that the Holy Spirit is given, in consequence of Christ’s mediation, to quicken and renew the hearts of men ; and that his influence is indispensably necessary to bring a sinner to true repentance, to produce saving faith, to regenerate the heart, and to perfect our sanctification.

XIII. They believe that we are justified through faith in Christ, as ‘ the Lord our righteousness,’ and not ‘ by the works of the law.’

XIV. They believe that all who will be saved were the objects of God’s eternal and electing love, and were given by an act of divine sovereignty to the Son of God ; which in no way interferes with the system of means, nor with the grounds of human responsibility ; being wholly unrevealed as to its objects, and not a rule of human duty.

XV. They believe that the Scriptures teach the final perseverance of all true believers to a state of eternal blessedness, which they are appointed to obtain through constant faith in Christ and uniform obedience to his commands.

XVI. They believe that a holy life will be the necessary effect of a true faith, and that good works are the certain fruits of a vital union to Christ.

XVII. They believe that the sanctification of true Christians, or their growth in the graces of the Spirit, and meetness for heaven, is gradually carried on through the whole period during which it pleases God to continue them in the present life, and that, at death, their souls, perfectly freed from all remains of evil, are immediately received into the presence of Christ.

XVIII. They believe in the perpetual obligation of Baptism and the Lord’s Supper ; the former to be administered to all converts to Christianity and their children, by the application of water to the subject, ‘ in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost ; ’ and the latter to be celebrated by Christian churches as a token of faith in the Saviour, and of brotherly love.

XIX. They believe that Christ will finally come to judge the whole human race according to their works; that the bodies of the dead will be raised again; and that as the Supreme Judge, he will divide the righteous from the wicked, will receive the righteous into ‘life everlasting,’ but send away the wicked into ‘everlasting punishment.’

XX. They believe that Jesus Christ directed his followers to live together in Christian fellowship, and to maintain the communion of saints; and that, for this purpose, they are jointly to observe all divine ordinances, and maintain that church order and discipline which is either expressly enjoined by inspired institution, or sanctioned by the undoubted example of the apostles and of apostolic churches.

PRINCIPLES OF CHURCH ORDER AND DISCIPLINE.

I. The Congregational Churches hold it to be the will of Christ that true believers should voluntarily assemble together to observe religious ordinances, to promote mutual edification and holiness, to perpetuate and propagate the gospel in the world, and to advance the glory and worship of God, through Jesus Christ; and that each society of believers, having these objects in view in its formation, is properly a Christian Church.

II. They believe that the New Testament contains, either in the form of express statute, or in the example and practice of apostles and apostolic churches, all the articles of faith necessary to be believed, and all the principles of order and discipline requisite for constituting and governing Christian societies; and that human traditions, fathers and councils, canons and creeds, possess no authority over the faith and practice of Christians.

III. They acknowledge Christ as the only Head of the Church, and the officers of each church under him, as ordained to administer his laws impartially to all; and their only appeal, in all questions touching their religious faith and practice is to the Sacred Scriptures.

IV. They believe that the New Testament authorizes every Christian church to elect its own officers, to manage all its own affairs, and to stand independent of, and irresponsible to, all authority, saving that only of the supreme and divine Head of the Church, the Lord Jesus Christ.

V. They believe that the only officers placed by the apostles over individual churches are the bishops or pastors and the deacons; the number of these being dependent upon the numbers of the Church; and that to these, as the officers of the Church, is committed respectively the administration of its spiritual and temporal concerns—subject, however, to the approbation of the Church.

VI. They believe that no persons should be received as members of Christian churches but such as make a credible profession of Christianity, are living according to its precepts, and attest a willingness to be subject to its discipline; and that none should be excluded from the fellowship of the church but such as deny the faith of Christ, violate his laws, or refuse to submit themselves to the discipline which the Word of God enforces.

VII. The power of admission into any Christian church, and rejection from it, they believe to be vested in the church itself, and to be exercised only through the medium of its own officers.

VIII. They believe that Christian churches should stately meet for the celebration of public worship, for the observance of the Lord’s Supper, and for the sanctification of the first day of the week.

IX. They believe that the power of a Christian church is purely spiritual, and should in no way be corrupted by union with temporal or civil power.

X. They believe that it is the duty of Christian churches to hold communion with each other, to entertain an enlarged affection for each other, as members of the same body, and to co-operate for the promotion of the Christian cause; but that no church, nor union of churches, has any right or power to interfere with the faith or discipline of any other church, further than to separate from such as, in faith or practice, depart from the gospel of Christ.

XI. They believe that it is the privilege and duty of every church to call forth such of its members as may appear to be qualified by the Holy Spirit to sustain the office of the ministry; and that Christian churches unitedly ought to consider the maintenance of the Christian ministry in an adequate degree of learning as one of their especial cares; that the cause of the gospel may be both honorably sustained and constantly promoted.

XII. They believe that church officers, whether bishops or deacons, should be chosen by the free voice of the church; but that their dedication to the duties of their office should take place with special prayer, and by solemn designation, to which most of the churches add the imposition of hands by those already in office.

XIII. They believe that the fellowship of every Christian church should be so liberal as to admit to communion in the Lord's Supper all whose faith and godliness are, on the whole, undoubted, though conscientiously differing in points of minor importance; and that this outward sign of fraternity in Christ should be co-extensive with the fraternity itself, though without involving any compliances which conscience would deem to be sinful.

DECLARATION OF FAITH OF THE NATIONAL COUNCIL OF CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES, HELD AT BOSTON, MASS., JUNE 14-24, 1865.

[This Declaration was adopted at Plymouth, Massachusetts, on the spot where the first meeting-house of the 'Pilgrim Fathers' stood. The text is taken from the Debates and Proceedings of the National Council of Congregational Churches (Boston, 1866), pp. 401-403, as compared with the Congregational Manual on Ecclesiastical Polity, published by the Congregational Board, Boston, 1872, pp. 76-80.]

Standing by the rock where the Pilgrims set foot upon these shores, upon the spot where they worshiped God, and among the graves of the early generations, we, Elders and Messengers of the Congregational churches of the United States in National Council assembled—like them acknowledging no rule of faith but the Word of God—do now declare our adherence to the faith and order of the apostolic and primitive churches held by our fathers, and substantially as embodied in the confessions and platforms which our Synods of 1648 and 1680 set forth or reaffirmed. We declare that the experience of the nearly two and a half centuries which have elapsed since the memorable day when our sires founded here a Christian Commonwealth, with all the development of new forms of error since their times, has only deepened our confidence in the faith and polity of those fathers. We bless God for the inheritance of these doctrines. We invoke the help of the Divine Redeemer, that, through the presence of the promised Comforter, he will enable us to transmit them in purity to our children.

In the times that are before us as a nation, times at once of duty and of danger, we rest all our hope in the gospel of the Son of God. It was the grand peculiarity of our Puritan fathers that they held this gospel, not merely as the ground of their personal salvation, but as declaring the worth of man by the incarnation and sacrifice of the Son of God, and therefore applied its principles to elevate society, to regulate education, to civilize humanity, to purify law, to reform the Church and the State, and to assert and defend liberty; in short, to mold and redeem, by its all-transforming energy, every thing that belongs to man in his individual and social relations.

It was the faith of our fathers that gave us this free land in which we dwell. It is by this faith only that we can transmit to our children a free and happy, because a Christian, commonwealth.

We hold it to be a distinctive excellence of our Congregational system that it exalts that which is more above that which is less important, and by the simplicity of its organization facilitates, in communities where the population is limited, the union of all true believers in one Christian church, and that the division of such communities into several weak and jealous societies, holding the same common faith, is a sin against the unity of the body of Christ, and at once the shame and scandal of Christendom.

We rejoice that, through the influence of our free system of apostolic order, we can hold fellowship with all who acknowledge Christ, and act efficiently in the work of restoring unity to the divided Church, and of bringing back harmony and peace among all 'who love our Lord Jesus Christ in sincerity.'

Thus recognizing the unity of the Church of Christ in all the world, and knowing that we are but one branch of Christ's people, while adhering to our peculiar faith and order, we extend to all believers the hand of Christian fellowship upon the basis of those great fundamental truths in which all Christians should agree.

With them we confess our faith in God, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost [the only living and true God];¹ in Jesus Christ, the incarnate Word, who is exalted to be our Redeemer and King; and in the Holy Comforter, who is present in the Church to regenerate and sanctify the soul.

With the whole Church, we confess the common sinfulness and ruin of our race, and acknowledge that it is only through the work accomplished by the life and expiatory death of Christ that believers in him are justified before God, receive the remission of sins, and through the presence and grace of the Holy Comforter are delivered from the power of sin and perfected in holiness.

We believe also in the organized and visible Church, in the ministry of the Word, in the sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper, in the resurrection of the body, and in the final judgment, the issues of which are eternal life and everlasting punishment.

We receive these truths on the testimony of God, given through prophets and apostles, and in the life, the miracles, the death, the resurrection of his Son, our Divine Redeemer—a testimony preserved for the Church in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, which were composed by holy men, as they were moved by the Holy Ghost.

Affirming now our belief that those who thus hold ‘one faith, one Lord, one baptism,’¹ together constitute the one catholic Church, the several households of which, though called by different names, are the one body of Christ, and that these members of his body are sacredly bound to keep ‘the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace,’ we declare that we will co-operate with all who hold these truths. With them we will carry the gospel into every part of this land, and with them we will go into all the world, and ‘preach the gospel to every creature.’ May He to whom ‘all power is given in heaven and earth’ fulfill the promise which is all our hope: ‘Lo, I am with you alway, even to the end of the World.’ Amen.

THE OBERLIN DECLARATION OF THE NATIONAL CONGREGATIONAL COUNCIL. A.D. 1871.

[The National Council of Congregational churches, which was organized at Oberlin, Ohio, Nov. 17, 1871, and which holds triennial sessions, adopted a Constitution with the following declaration of principles concerning faith and Church polity.]

The Congregational churches of the United States, by elders and messengers assembled, do now associate themselves in National Council:

To express and foster their substantial unity in doctrine, polity, and work; and

To consult upon the common interests of all the churches, their duties in the work of evangelization, the united development of their resources, and their relations to all parts of the kingdom of Christ.

They agree in belief that the Holy Scriptures are the sufficient and only infallible rule of religious faith and practice; their interpretation thereof being in substantial accordance with the great doctrines of the Christian faith, commonly called Evangelical, held in our churches from the early times, and sufficiently set forth by former General Councils.

They agree in belief that the right of government resides in local churches, or congregations of believers, who are responsible directly to the Lord Jesus Christ, the One Head of the Church universal and of all particular churches; but that all churches, being in communion one with another as parts of Christ's catholic Church, have mutual duties subsisting in the obligations of fellowship.

The churches, therefore, while establishing this National Council for the furtherance of the common interests and work of all the churches, do maintain the scriptural and inalienable right of each church to self-government and administration; and this National Council shall never exercise legislative or judicial authority, nor consent to act as a council of reference.

THE BAPTIST CONFESSTION OF 1688.

(THE PHILADELPHIA CONFESSTION.)

[This is the most generally accepted Confession of the Regular or Calvinistic Baptists in England and in the Southern States of America. It appeared first in London, 1677, then again in 1688 and 1689, under the title ‘A Confession of Faith put forth by the Elders and Brethren of many Congregations of Christians, Baptized upon Profession of their Faith in London and the Country. With an Appendix concerning Baptism.’ It was adopted early in the eighteenth century by the Philadelphia Association of Baptist churches, and is hence called also the PHILADELPHIA CONFESSTION OF FAITH.

It is a slight modification of the Confession of the Westminster Assembly (1647) and the Savoy Declaration (1658), with changes to suit the Baptist views on Church polity and on the subjects and mode of baptism. Having given the Westminster Confession in full, I present here only the distinctive features of the Baptist Confession, which my friend, the Rev. Dr. Howard Osgood, Professor in the Baptist Theological Seminary at Rochester, N. Y., has kindly selected for this work.]

In Chapter XX., ‘Of Christian Liberty and Liberty of Conscience,’ Art. 4 of the Westminster Conf. (Ch. XXI. B. C.) is omitted. In Chapter XXIII., ‘Of the Civil Magistrate,’ Arts. 3 and 4 of the Westminster Conf. are omitted and the following inserted (Ch. XXIV. B. C.):

Civil Magistrates being set up by God for the ends aforesaid, subjection in all lawful things commanded by them ought to be yielded by us in the Lord, not only for wrath, but for conscience’ sake; and we ought to make supplications and prayers for kings and all that are in authority, that under them we may live a quiet and peaceable life, in all godliness and honesty.

In the Chapter ‘Of the Church’ (Ch. XXV. W. C.; Ch. XXVI. of the Bapt. Conf. and Savoy Declaration), the changes are so great that we give the whole:

1. The Catholic or Universal Church which (with respect to the internal work of the Spirit and truth of grace) may be called invisible, consists of the whole number of the elect, that have been, are, or shall be gathered into one, under Christ, the head thereof: and is the spouse, the body, the fullness of him that filleth all in all.

2. All persons throughout the world, professing the faith of the gospel, and obedience unto God by Christ according unto it, not destroying their own profession by any errors, everting the foundation, or unholiness of conversation, are and may be called visible saints; and of such ought all particular congregations to be constituted.

3. The purest churches under heaven are subject to mixture and error; and some have so degenerated as to become no churches of Christ, but synagogues of Satan; nevertheless, Christ always hath had and ever shall have a kingdom in this world to the end thereof, of such as believe in him, and make professions of his name.

4. The Lord Jesus Christ is the head of the Church, in whom, by the appointment of the Father, all power for the calling, institution, order, or government of the Church is invested in a supreme and sovereign manner; neither can the Pope of Rome, in any sense, be head thereof, but is no other than Antichrist, that man of sin and son of perdition, that exalteth himself in the Church against Christ, and all that is called God: whom the Lord shall destroy with the brightness of his coming.

5. In the execution of this power wherewith he is so intrusted, the Lord Jesus calleth out of the world unto himself, through the ministry of his Word, by his Spirit, those that are given unto him by his Father, that they may walk before him in all the ways of obedience which he prescribeth to them in his Word. Those thus called he commandeth to walk together in particular societies or churches, for their mutual edification, and the due performance of that public worship which he requireth of them in the world.

6. The members of these churches are saints by calling, visibly manifesting and evidencing (in and by their profession and walking) their obedience unto that call of Christ; and do willingly consent to walk together according to the appointment of Christ, giving up themselves to the Lord and one to another, by the will of God, in the professed subjection to the ordinances of the gospel.

7. To each of these churches thus gathered, according to his mind declared in his Word, he hath given all that power and authority which is any way needful for their carrying on that order in worship and discipline which he hath instituted for them to observe, with commands and rules for the due and right exerting and executing of that power.

8. A particular church gathered and completely organized, according to the mind of Christ, consists of officers and members; and the officers appointed by Christ to be chosen and set apart by the Church (so-called and gathered) for the peculiar administration of ordinances, and execution of power and duty, which he intrusts them with or calls them to, to be continued to the end of the world, are bishops or elders and deacons.

9. The way appointed by Christ for the calling of any person, fitted and gifted by the Holy Spirit, unto the office of bishop or elder in the church is that he be chosen therennto by the common suffrage of the church itself, and solemnly set apart by fasting and prayer, with imposition of hands of the eldership of the church, if there be any before constituted therein; and of a deacon, that he be chosen by the like suffrage, and set apart by prayer, and the like imposition of hands.

10. The work of pastors being constantly to attend the service of Christ in his churches, in the ministry of the Word and prayer, with watching for their souls, as they that must give an account to him, it is incumbent on the churches to whom they minister, not only to give them all due respect, but also to communicate to them of all their good things, according to their ability, so as they may have a comfortable supply, without being themselves entangled with secular affairs; and may also be capable of exercising hospitality towards others; and this is required by the law of nature, and by the express order of our Lord Jesus, who hath ordained that they that preach the gospel should live of the gospel.

11. Although it be incumbent on the bishops or pastors of the churches to be instant in preaching the Word by way of office, yet the work of preaching the Word is not so peculiarly confined to them but that others also, gifted and fitted by the Holy Spirit for it, and approved and called by the Church, may and ought to perform it.

12. As all believers are bound to join themselves to particular churches, when and where they have opportunity so to do, so all that are admitted unto the privileges of a church are also under the censures and government thereof, according to the rule of Christ.

13. No church members, upon any offense taken by them, having performed their duty required of them towards the person they are offended at, ought to disturb any church order, or absent themselves from the assemblies of the church or administration of any ordinances upon the account of such offense at any of their fellow-members, but to wait upon Christ in the further proceeding of the church.

14. As each church, and all the members of it, are bound to pray continually for the good and prosperity of all the churches of Christ, in all places, and upon all occasions to further it (every one within the bounds of their places and callings, in the exercise of their gifts and graces), so the churches (when planted by the providence of God so as they may enjoy opportunity and advantage for it) ought to hold communion among themselves for their peace, increase of love, and mutual edification.

15. In cases of difficulties or differences, either in point of doctrine or administration, wherein either the churches in general are concerned or any one church, in their peace, union, and edification; or any member or members of any church are injured, in or by any proceedings in censures not agreeable to truth and order: it is according to the mind of Christ that many churches, holding communion together, do by their messengers meet to consider and give their advice in or about that matter in difference, to be reported to all the churches concerned; howbeit these messengers assembled are not intrusted with any church power properly so called, or with any jurisdiction over the churches themselves, to exercise any censures either over any churches or persons, to impose their determination on the churches or officers.

Instead of Chapter XXVII., 'Of the Sacraments,' of the Westminster Confession, the following is given (Ch. XXVIII. B. C.):

OF BAPTISM AND THE LORD'S SUPPER.

1. Baptism and the Lord's Supper are ordinances of positive and sovereign institution, appointed by the Lord Jesus, the only Lawgiver, to be continued in his Church to the end of the world.

2. These holy appointments are to be administered by those only who are qualified, and thereunto called, according to the commission of Christ.

Similarly (Ch. XXVIII. W. C.; Ch. XXIX. B. C.):

OF BAPTISM.

1. Baptism is an ordinance of the New Testament ordained by Jesus Christ to be unto the party baptized a sign of his fellowship with him in his death and resurrection; of his being engrafted into him; of remission of sins; and of his giving up unto God, through Jesus Christ, to live and walk in newness of life.

2. Those who do actually profess repentance towards God, faith in and obedience to our Lord Jesus, are the only proper subjects of this ordinance.

3. The outward element to be used in this ordinance is water, wherein the party is to be baptized in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.

4. Immersion, or dipping of the person in water, is necessary to the due administration of this ordinance.

Chapters XXX., 'Of Church Censures,' and XXXI., 'Of Synods and Councils,' of the Westminster Confession are omitted. On the other hand, a chapter 'Of the Gospel and the Extent of the Grace thereof' is added from the Savoy Declaration, making Chapter XX. of the Baptist Confession and the Savoy Declaration.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE BAPTIST CONFESSTION. A.D. 1833.

(THE NEW HAMPSHIRE CONFESSTION.)

[This Confession was drawn up by the Rev. JOHN NEWTON BROWN, D.D., of New Hampshire (b. 1803, d. 1868), about 1833, and has been adopted by the New Hampshire Convention, and widely accepted by Baptists, especially in the Northern and Western States, as a clear and concise statement of their faith, in harmony with the doctrines of older confessions, but expressed in milder form. The text is taken from the Baptist Church Manual, published by the American Baptist Publication Society, Philadelphia.]

DECLARATION OF FAITH.

I. OF THE SCRIPTURES.

We believe that the Holy Bible was written by men divinely inspired, and is a perfect treasure of heavenly instruction;¹ that it has God for its author, salvation for its end,² and truth without any mixture of error for its matter;³ that it reveals the principles by which God will judge us;⁴ and therefore is, and shall remain to the end of the world, the true centre of Christian union,⁵ and the supreme standard by which all human conduct, creeds, and opinions should be tried.⁶

II. OF THE TRUE GOD.

We believe that there is one, and only one, living and true God, an infinite, intelligent Spirit, whose name is JEHOVAH, the Maker and Supreme Ruler of heaven and earth;⁷ inexpressibly glorious in holiness,⁸ and worthy of all possible honor, confidence, and love;⁹ that in the unity of the Godhead there are three persons, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost;¹⁰ equal in every divine perfection,¹¹ and exerting distinct and harmonious offices in the great work of redemption.¹²

III. OF THE FALL OF MAN.

We believe that man was created in holiness, under the law of his Maker;¹ but by voluntary transgression fell from that holy and happy state;² in consequence of which all mankind are now sinners,³ not by constraint, but choice;⁴ being by nature utterly void of that holiness required by the law of God, positively inclined to evil; and therefore under just condemnation to eternal ruin,⁵ without defense or excuse.⁶

IV. OF THE WAY OF SALVATION.

We believe that the salvation of sinners is wholly of grace,⁷ through the mediatorial offices of the Son of God;⁸ who by the appointment of the Father, freely took upon him our nature, yet without sin;⁹ honored the divine law by his personal obedience,¹⁰ and by his death made a full atonement for our sins;¹¹ that having risen from the dead, he is now enthroned in heaven;¹² and uniting in his wonderful person the tenderest sympathies with divine perfections, he is every way qualified to be a suitable, a compassionate, and an all-sufficient Saviour.¹³

V. OF JUSTIFICATION.

We believe that the great gospel blessing which Christ¹⁴ secures to such as believe in him is Justification;¹⁵ that Justification includes the pardon of sin,¹⁶ and the promise of eternal life on principles of righteousness;¹⁷ that it is bestowed, not in consideration of any works of righteousness which we have done, but solely through faith in the Redeemer's blood;¹ by virtue of which faith his perfect righteousness is freely imputed to us of God;² that it brings us into a state of most blessed peace and favor with God, and secures every other blessing needful for time and eternity.³

VI. OF THE FREENESS OF SALVATION.

We believe that the blessings of salvation are made free to all by the gospel;⁴ that it is the immediate duty of all to accept them by a cordial, penitent, and obedient faith;⁵ and that nothing prevents the salvation of the greatest sinner on earth but his own inherent depravity and voluntary rejection of the gospel;⁶ which rejection involves him in an aggravated condemnation.⁷

VII. OF GRACE IN REGENERATION.

We believe that, in order to be saved, sinners must be regenerated, or born again;⁸ that regeneration consists in giving a holy disposition to the mind;⁹ that it is effected in a manner above our comprehension by the power of the Holy Spirit, in connection with divine truth,¹⁰ so as to secure our voluntary obedience to the gospel;¹¹ and that its proper evidence appears in the holy fruits of repentance, and faith, and newness of life.¹²

VIII. OF REPENTANCE AND FAITH.

We believe that Repentance and Faith are sacred duties, and also inseparable graces, wrought in our souls by the regenerating Spirit of God;¹³ whereby being deeply convinced of our guilt, danger, and helplessness, and of the way of salvation by Christ,¹ we turn to God with unfeigned contrition, confession, and supplication for mercy;² at the same time heartily receiving the Lord Jesus Christ as our Prophet, Priest, and King, and relying on him alone as the only and all-sufficient Saviour.³

IX. OF GOD'S PURPOSE OF GRACE.

We believe that Election is the eternal purpose of God, according to which he graciously regenerates, sanctifies, and saves sinners;⁴ that being perfectly consistent with the free agency of man, it comprehends all the means in connection with the end;⁵ that it is a most glorious display of God's sovereign goodness, being infinitely free, wise, holy, and unchangeable;⁶ that it utterly excludes boasting, and promotes humility, love, prayer, praise, trust in God, and active imitation of his free mercy;⁷ that it encourages the use of means in the highest degree;⁸ that it may be ascertained by its effects in all who truly believe the gospel;⁹ that it is the foundation of Christian assurance;¹⁰ and that to ascertain it with regard to ourselves demands and deserves the utmost diligence.¹¹

X. OF SANCTIFICATION.

We believe that Sanctification is the process by which, according to the will of God, we are made partakers of his holiness;¹² that it is a progressive work;¹³ that it is begun in regeneration;¹⁴ and that it is carried on in the hearts of believers by the presence and power of the Holy Spirit, the Sealer and Comforter, in the continual use of the appointed means—especially the Word of God, self-examination, self-denial, watchfulness, and prayer.¹

XI. OF THE PERSEVERANCE OF SAINTS.

We believe that such only are real believers as endure unto the end;² that their persevering attachment to Christ is the grand mark which distinguishes them from superficial professors;³ that a special Providence watches over their welfare;⁴ and they are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation.⁵

XII. OF THE HARMONY OF THE LAW AND THE GOSPEL.

We believe that the Law of God is the eternal and unchangeable rule of his moral government;⁶ that it is holy, just, and good;⁷ and that the inability which the Scriptures ascribe to fallen men to fulfill its precepts arises entirely from their love of sin;⁸ to deliver them from which, and to restore them through a Mediator to unfeigned obedience to the holy Law, is one great end of the Gospel, and of the means of grace connected with the establishment of the visible Church.⁹

XIII. OF A GOSPEL CHURCH.

We believe that a visible Church of Christ is a congregation of baptized believers,¹⁰ associated by covenant in the faith and fellowship of the gospel;¹¹ observing the ordinances of Christ;¹² governed by his laws,¹³ and exercising the gifts, rights, and privileges invested in them

¹ Phil. ii. 12, 13; Eph. iv. 11, 12; 1 Pet. ii. 2; 2 Pet. iii. 18; 2 Cor. xiii. 5; Luke xi. 35; ix. 23; Matt. xxvi. 41; Eph. vi. 18; iv. 30.

by his Word ;¹ that its only scriptural officers are Bishops, or Pastors, and Deacons,² whose qualifications, claims, and duties are defined in the Epistles to Timothy and Titus.

XIV. OF BAPTISM AND THE LORD'S SUPPER.

We believe that Christian Baptism is the immersion in water of a believer,³ into the name of the Father, and Son, and Holy Ghost ;⁴ to show forth, in a solemn and beautiful emblem, our faith in the crucified, buried, and risen Saviour, with its effect in our death to sin and resurrection to a new life ;⁵ that it is prerequisite to the privileges of a Church relation ; and to the Lord's Supper,⁶ in which the members of the Church, by the sacred use of bread and wine, are to commemorate together the dying love of Christ ;⁷ preceeded always by solemn self-examination.⁸

XV. OF THE CHRISTIAN SABBATH.

We believe that the first day of the week is the Lord's Day, or Christian Sabbath ;⁹ and is to be kept sacred to religious purposes,¹⁰ by abstaining from all secular labor and sinful recreations ;¹¹ by the devout observance of all the means of grace, both private¹² and public ;¹³ and by preparation for that rest that remaineth for the people of God.¹⁴

XVI. OF CIVIL GOVERNMENT.

We believe that civil government is of divine appointment, for the interests and good order of human society ;¹⁵ and that magistrates are to be prayed for, conscientiously honored and obeyed; ¹ except only in things opposed to the will of our Lord Jesus Christ, ² who is the only Lord of the conscience, and the Prince of the kings of the earth. ³

XVII. OF THE RIGHTEOUS AND THE WICKED.

We believe that there is a radical and essential difference between the righteous and the wicked; ⁴ that such only as through faith are justified in the name of the Lord Jesus, and sanctified by the Spirit of our God, are truly righteous in his esteem; ⁵ while all such as continue in impenitence and unbelief are in his sight wicked, and under the curse; ⁶ and this distinction holds among men both in and after death. ⁷

XVIII. OF THE WORLD TO COME.

We believe that the end of the world is approaching; ⁸ that at the last day Christ will descend from heaven, ⁹ and raise the dead from the grave to final retribution; ¹⁰ that a solemn separation will then take place; ¹¹ that the wicked will be adjudged to endless punishment, and the righteous to endless joy; ¹² and that this judgment will fix forever the final state of men in heaven or hell, on principles of righteousness. ¹³

CONFESSTION OF THE FREE-WILL BAPTISTS. A.D. 1834, 1868.

[This Confession was adopted and issued by the General Conference of the Free-will Baptists of America in 1834, revised in 1848, and again in 1865 and 1868.

The text is taken from the Treatise on the Faith and Practice of the Free-will Baptists, written under the direction of the General Conference, Dover, N. H. Published by the Free-will Baptist Printing Establishment, 1871. The sections in which this Confession differs from the preceding Baptist Confessions have been put in italics, viz., Ch. III., 2 and 3, and Ch. VIII. and XIII.]

CHAPTER I.

The Holy Scriptures.

These are the Old and New Testaments; they were written by holy men, inspired by the Holy Spirit, and contain God's revealed will to man. They are a sufficient and infallible guide in religious faith and practice.

CHAPTER II.

Being and Attributes of God.

The Scriptures teach that there is only one true and living God, who is a Spirit, self-existent, eternal, immutable, omnipresent, omniscient, omnipotent, independent, good, wise, holy, just, and merciful; the Creator, Preserver, and Governor of the universe; the Redeemer, Saviour, Sanctifier, and Judge of men; and the only proper object of Divine worship.

The mode of his existence, however, is a subject far above the understanding of man—finite beings can not comprehend him. There is nothing in the universe that can justly represent him, for there is none like him. He is the fountain of all perfection and happiness. He is glorified by the whole inanimate creation, and is worthy to be loved and served by all intelligences.

CHAPTER III.

Divine Government and Providence.

1. God exercises a providential care and superintendence over all his creatures, and governs the world in wisdom and mercy, according to the testimony of his Word.

2. God has endowed man with power of free choice, and governs him by moral laws and motives; and this power of free choice is the exact measure of his responsibility.

3. All events are present with God from everlasting to everlasting; but his knowledge of them does not in any sense cause them, nor does he decree all events which he knows will occur.

CHAPTER IV.

Creation, Primitive State of Man, and his Fall.

SECTION I.—CREATION.

1. Of the world. God created the world, and all things that it contains, for his own pleasure and glory, and the enjoyment of his creatures.

2. Of the angels. The angels were created by God to glorify him, and obey his commandments. Those who have kept their first estate he employs in ministering blessings to the heirs of salvation, and in executing his judgments upon the world.

3. Of man. God created man, consisting of a material body and a thinking, rational soul. He was made in the image of God to glorify his Maker.

SECTION II.—PRIMITIVE STATE OF MAN AND HIS FALL.

Our first parents, in their original state of probation, were upright; they naturally preferred and desired to obey their Creator, and had no preference or desire to transgress his will till they were influenced and inclined by the tempter to disobey God's commands. Previously to this the only tendency of their nature was to do righteousness. In consequence of the first transgression, the state under which the posterity of Adam came into the world is so far different from that of Adam that they have not that righteousness and purity which Adam had before the fall; they are not naturally willing to obey God, but are inclined to evil. Hence, none, by virtue of any natural goodness and mere work of their own, can become the children of God; but they are all dependent for salvation upon the redemption effected through the blood of Christ, and upon being created anew unto obedience through the operation of the Spirit; both of which are freely provided for every descendant of Adam.

CHAPTER V.

Of Christ.

SECTION I.

Jesus Christ, the Son of God, possesses all divine perfections. As he and the Father are one, he, in his divine nature, filled all the offices and performed the works of God to his creatures that have been the subjects of revelation to us. As man, he performed all the duties toward God that we are required to perform, repentance of sin excepted.

His divinity is proved from his titles, his attributes, and his works.

1. His titles.—The Bible ascribes to Christ the titles of Saviour, Jehovah, Lord of Hosts, the First and the Last, God, true God, great God, God over all, mighty God, and the everlasting Father.

2. His attributes.—He is eternal, unchangeable, omnipresent, omniscient, omnipotent, holy, and is entitled to Divine worship.

3. His works.—By Christ the world was created; he preserves and governs it; he has provided redemption for all men, and he will be their final judge.

SECTION II.—THE INCARNATION OF CHRIST.

The Word, which in the beginning was with God, and which was God, by whom all things were made, condescended to a state of humiliation in being united with human nature, and becoming like us, pollution and sin excepted. In this state, as a subject of the law, he was liable to the infirmities of our nature; was tempted as we are; but lived our example, and rendered perfect obedience to the Divine requirements. As Christ was made of the seed of David according to the flesh, he is called ‘The Son of Man;’ and as the Divine existence is the fountain from which he proceeded, and was the only agency by which he was begotten, he is called the Son of God, being the only begotten of the Father, and the only incarnation of the Divine Being.

CHAPTER VI.

The Holy Spirit.

1. The Scriptures ascribe to the Holy Spirit the acts and attributes of an intelligent being. He is said to guide, to know, to move, to give information, to command, to forbid, to send forth, to reprove, and to be sinned against.

2. The attributes of God are ascribed to the Holy Spirit: such as eternity, omnipresence, omniscience, goodness, and truth.

3. The works of God are ascribed to the Holy Spirit: creation, inspiration, giving of life, and sanctification.

4. The same acts which in one part of the Bible are attributed to the Holy Spirit are in other parts said to be performed by God.

5. The apostles assert that the Holy Spirit is Lord and God.

From the foregoing, the conclusion is that the Holy Spirit is in reality God, and one with the Father in all Divine perfections. It has also been shown that Jesus Christ is God, one with the Father. Then these three, the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, are one God.

The truth of this doctrine is also proved from the fact that the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost are united in the authority by which believers are baptized, and in the benedictions pronounced by the apostles, which are acts of the highest religious worship.

CHAPTER VII.

The Atonement and Mediation of Christ.

1. THE ATONEMENT.—As sin can not be pardoned without a sacrifice, and the blood of beasts could never wash away sin, Christ gave himself a sacrifice for the sins of the world, and thus made salvation possible for all men. He died for us, suffering in our stead, to make known the righteousness of God, that he might be just in justifying sinners who believe in his Son. Through the redemption effected by Christ, salvation is actually enjoyed in this world, and will be enjoyed in the next by all who do not, in this life, refuse obedience to the known requirements of God. The atonement of sin was necessary. For present and future obedience can no more blot out our past sins than past obedience can remove the guilt of present and future sins. Had God pardoned the sins of men without satisfaction for the violation of his law, it would follow that transgression might go on with impunity; government would be abrogated, and the obligation of obedience to God would be, in effect, removed.

2. MEDIATION OF CHRIST.—Our Lord not only died for our sins, but he arose for our justification, and ascended to heaven, where, as Mediator between God and man, he will make intercession for men till the final judgment.

CHAPTER VIII.

The Gospel Call.

The call of the gospel is co-extensive with the atonement to all men, both by the word and the strivings of the Spirit; so that salvation is rendered equally possible to all; and if any fail of eternal life, the fault is wholly their own.

CHAPTER IX.

Repentance.

The repentance which the gospel requires includes a deep conviction, a penitential sorrow, an open confession, a decided hatred and an entire forsaking of all sin. This repentance God has enjoined on all men; and without it in this life the sinner must perish eternally.

CHAPTER X.

Faith.

Saving faith is an assent of the mind to the fundamental truths of revelation; an acceptance of the gospel, through the influence of the Holy Spirit; and a firm confidence and trust in Christ. The fruit of faith is obedience to the gospel. The power to believe is the gift of God; but believing is an act of the creature, which is required as a condition of pardon, and without which the sinner can not obtain salvation. All men are required to believe in Christ; and those who yield obedience to this requirement become the children of God by faith.

CHAPTER XI.

Regeneration.

As man is a fallen and sinful being, he must be regenerated in order to obtain salvation. This change is an instantaneous renewal of the heart by the Holy Spirit, whereby the penitent sinner receives new life, becomes a child of God, and disposed to serve him. This is called in Scripture being born again, born of the Spirit, being quickened, passing from death unto life, and a partaking of the divine nature.

CHAPTER XII.

Justification and Sanctification.

1. JUSTIFICATION.—Personal justification implies that the person justified has been guilty before God; and in consideration of the atonement of Christ, accepted by faith, the sinner is pardoned and absolved from the guilt of sin, and restored to the divine favor. Though Christ's atonement is the foundation of the sinner's redemption, yet without repentance and faith it can never give him justification and peace with God.

2. SANCTIFICATION is a work of God's grace, by which the soul is cleansed from all sin, and wholly consecrated to Christ. It commences at regeneration, and the Christian can and should abide in this state to the end of life, constantly growing in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.

CHAPTER XIII.

Perseverance of the Saints.

There are strong grounds to hope that the truly regenerate will persevere unto the end and be saved, through the power of divine grace which is pledged for their support; but their future obedience and final salvation are neither determined nor certain; since, through infirmity and manifold temptations, they are in danger of falling; and they ought therefore to watch and pray, lest they make shipwreck of faith, and be lost.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Sabbath.

This is one day in seven, which, from the creation of the world, God has set apart for sacred rest and holy service. Under the former dispensation, the seventh day of the week, as commemorative of the work of creation, was set apart for the Sabbath. Under the gospel, the first day of the week, in commemoration of the resurrection of Christ, and by authority of the apostles, is observed as the Christian Sabbath. On this day all men are required to refrain from secular labor, and devote themselves to the worship and service of God.

CHAPTER XV.

The Church.

A CHRISTIAN CHURCH is an organized body of believers in Christ, who stately assemble to worship God, and sustain the ordinances of the gospel agreeably to his Word. In a more general sense it is the whole body of Christians throughout the world, and only the regenerate are real members. Believers are admitted to a particular church, on giving evidence of faith, and receiving baptism and the hand of fellowship.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Gospel Ministry.

1. QUALIFICATIONS OF MINISTERS.—They must possess good natural and acquired abilities, deep and ardent piety, be specially called of God to the work, and ordained by the laying on of hands.

2. DUTIES OF MINISTERS.—These are, to preach the Word, administer the ordinances of the gospel, visit their people, and otherwise perform the work of faithful pastors.

CHAPTER XVII.

Ordinances of the Gospel.

1. CHRISTIAN BAPTISM.—This is the immersion of believers in water in the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, in which are represented the burial and resurrection of Christ, the death of Christians to the world, the washing of their souls from the pollution of sin, their rising to newness of life, their engagement to serve God, and their resurrection at the last day.

2. THE LORD'S SUPPER.—This is a commemoration of the death of Christ for our sins, in the use of bread, which he made the emblem of his broken body, and the cup, the emblem of his shed blood; and by it the believer expresses his love for Christ, his faith and hope in him, and pledges to him perpetual fidelity.

It is the privilege and duty of all who have spiritual union with Christ thus to commemorate his death; and no man has a right to forbid these tokens to the least of his disciples.¹

¹ [This last clause commits the Free-will Baptists to the principle and practice of open communion.—Ed.]

CHAPTER XVIII.

Death and the Intermediate State.

1. DEATH.—As a result of sin, all mankind are subject to the death of the body.

2. THE INTERMEDIATE STATE.—The soul does not die with the body; but immediately after death enters into a conscious state of happiness or misery, according to the moral character here possessed.

CHAPTER XIX.

Second Coming of Christ.

The Lord Jesus, who ascended on high and sits at the right hand of God, will come again to close the gospel dispensation, glorify his saints, and judge the world.

CHAPTER XX.

The Resurrection.

The Scriptures teach the resurrection of the bodies of all men at the last day, each in its own order; they that have done good will come forth to the resurrection of life, and they that have done evil to the resurrection of damnation.

CHAPTER XXI.

The General Judgment and Future Retributions.

1. THE GENERAL JUDGMENT.—There will be a general judgment, when time and man's probation will close forever. Then all men will be judged according to their works.

2. FUTURE RETRIBUTIONS.—Immediately after the general judgment, the righteous will enter into eternal life, and the wicked will go into a state of endless punishment.

THE CONFESSON OF THE WALDENSES. A.D. 1655.

[This Confession belongs to the Calvinistic family, and is in part an abridgment of the Gallican Confession of 1559. It is still in force, or at least highly prized among the Waldenses in Italy. The occasion which called it forth entitles it to special consideration. It was prepared and issued in 1655, together with an appeal to Protestant nations, in consequence of one of the most cruel persecutions which Romish bigotry could inspire. For no other crime but their simple, time-honored faith, the Waldenses in Piedmont were betrayed, outraged, mutilated, massacred, driven into exile, and utterly impoverished by the confiscation of their property and the burning of their villages. (See the frightful pictures of sufferings in the second vol. of Leger, an eye-witness.) The report of these barbarous atrocities roused the indignation of the Christian world. Oliver Cromwell, then Lord Protector of England, ordered a day of humiliation and fasting, sent Sir Samuel Morland as a special commissioner to the Duke of Savoy (Charles Emanuel II.), opened a subscription with £2000 from his private purse, and brought Protestant governments to a sense of their duty, and Roman sovereigns (even the proud bigot Louis XIV.) to a sense of shame. The dispatches were written by his foreign secretary, the great Puritan poet, in classical Latin and in the lofty spirit of his immortal sonnet, composed at that time,

‘Avenge, O Lord, thy slaughtered saints, whose bones
Lie scattered on the Alpine mountains cold.’

Cromwell died too soon to finish this noble work of intervention in behalf of humanity and religious liberty. Of the more than £38,000 then raised by public subscription in England alone for the poor Waldenses, only £22,000 reached them; the remaining £16,333 Charles II. unscrupulously wasted on his private pleasures under the pretext, worthy of a Stuart, that ‘he was not bound by any of the engagements of an usurper and tyrant, nor responsible for his debts.’ A fit illustration of the spirit of the Restoration.

The Confession was probably composed by JEAN LEGER, who was at that time the Moderator of the churches in Piedmont, and became afterwards their historian (d. in exile, ‘un martyr sans sang,’ as pastor at Leyden, about 1684); although he does not say so, and inserts the Confession simply with the remark, ‘la dernière confession de leur Foy qu'ils publièrent après leurs massacres de l'an 1655’ (Vol. I. p. 112). It was brought to England by Morland, together with many valuable MSS., which he received from pastors Antoine and Leger, and deposited in the University library at Cambridge, in Aug., 1655.

The French text is found in LEGER, Histoire des Eglises Vaudoises (Leyde, 1669, 2 vols. fol.), Vol. I. pp. 112–116 (where the Athanasian Creed is added in Vaudois and French, as a part of their creed taught to the children); in C. U. HAHN, Geschichte der Ketzer im Mittelalter, Vol. II. pp. 668–673; BEUT (Pastor of La Tour), Livre de Famille (Geneva, 1830). A Latin text, together with an English version, is given in PEYRAN, An Histor. Defence of the Waldenses or Vaudois, with Introd. and Appendixes by TH. SIMS (Lond. 1826), pp. 445–456, from the MSS. of Peyran, the Moderator of the Wald. Churches in 1819. The English text alone is printed in DR. E. HENDERSON’S The Vaudois (London, 1845), pp. 251–259, and in WILLIAM HAZLITT’S translation of DR. ALEXIS MUSTON, The Israel of the Alps: a History of the Persecutions of the Waldenses (London, 1852), pp. 300–306. I have taken the French original from Leger, with the old spelling. The English translation of Hazlitt is very imperfect, and has been corrected.

The older Confessions of the Waldenses, published by Perrin, Leger (Vol. I.), and Hahn (Vol. II. p. 647 sqq.), are partly of doubtful origin, and have merely historical interest. See Vol. I. pp. 568 sqq.]

A BRIEF CONFESSION OF FAITH OF
THE REFORMED CHURCHES OF PIEDMONT.

Published with their Manifesto on the occasion of the frightful massacres of the year 1655.

Having understood that our adversaries, not contented to have most cruelly persecuted us, and robbed us of all our goods and estates, have yet an intention to render us odious to the world by spreading abroad many false reports, and so not only to desonnes, mais sur tout à noircir par des infames calomnies la sainte et salutaire Doctrine, dont nous faisons profession, nous sommes obligés, pour désabuser l'esprit de ceux qui pourroient avoir été préoccupés de ces sinistres impressions, de faire une briève Declaration de notre Foy, comme nous l'avons fait par le passé et conformément à la Parole de Dieu, afin que tout le monde voye la fausseté de ces Calomnies, et le tort qu'on a de nous haïr, et de nous persécuter pour une Doctrine si innocente.

Nous Croyons.

I. Qu'il y a un seul Dieu, qui est une essence spirituelle, éternelle, infinie, tout sage, tout miséricordieuse, et tout juste; en un mot tout parfaite; et qu'il y a trois Personnes en cette seule et simple essence, le Pere, le Fils, et le S. Esprit.

II. Que ce Dieu s'est manifesté aux hommes par ses œuvres, tant de la Creation, que de la Providence, et par sa Parole, révélée au commencement par Oracles en diverses sortes, puis redigée par écrit és Livres qu'on appelle l'Ecriture Sainte.

III. Qu'il faut recevoir, comme nous recevons cette Sainte Ecriture pour Divine, et Canonique, c'est-à-dire pour règle de notre Foy, et de notre vie, et qu'elle est contenue pleinement és Livres de l'Ancien et du Nouveau Testament: que dans l'Ancien Testa- fame our persons, but likewise to asperse with most shameful calumnies that holy and wholesome doctrine which we profess, we feel obliged, for the better information of those whose minds may perhaps be preoccupied by sinister opinions, to make a short declaration of our faith, such as we have heretofore professed as conformable to the Word of God; and so every one may see the falsity of those their calumnies, and also how unjustly we are hated and persecuted for a doctrine so innocent.

We believe,

I. That there is one only God, who is a spiritual essence, eternal, infinite, all-wise, all-merciful, and all-just, in one word, all-perfect; and that there are three persons in that one only and simple essence: the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit.

II. That this God has manifested himself to men by his works of Creation and Providence, as also by his Word revealed unto us, first by oracles in divers manners, and afterwards by those written books which are called the Holy Scripture.

III. That we ought to receive this Holy Scripture (as we do) for divine and canonical, that is to say, for the constant rule of our faith and life: as also that the same is fully contained in the Old and New Testament; and that by the Old Testament we must un-ment doivent estre compris seulement les Livres que Dieu a commis à l'Église Judaïque, et qu'elle a toujours approuvé ou reconnü pour Divins, à savoir les cinq Livres de Moise, Josué, les Juges, Ruth, le 1 et 2 de Samuel, le 1 et 2 des Rois, le 1 et 2 des Chroniques ou Paralipomenon, le 1 d'Esdras, Nehémie, Esther, Job, les Pseaumes, les Proverbes de Salomon, l'Ecclesiaste, le Cantique des Cantiques, les 4 grands Prophètes et les 12 petits : et dans le Nouveau les 4 Evangiles, les Actes des Apôtres, les Epîtres de S. Paul, une aux Romainz, deux aux Corinthiens, une aus Galates, une aus Ephesiens, une aux Philippiens, une aux Colossiens [deux aux Thessaloniciens, deux à Timothée, une à Tite, une à Philemon],¹ l'Epître aux Hébreux, une de S. Jucques, deux de S. Pierre, trois de S. Jean, une de S. Jude, et l'Apocalypse.

IV. Que nous reconnoissons la Divinité de ces Livres Sacrés, non seulement par le témoignage de l'Église, mais principalement par l'éternelle et indubitable vérité de la Doctrine qui y est contenue, par l'excellence, sublimité, et majesté du tout Divine qui y paroît, et par l'opération du S. Esprit, derstand only such books as God did intrust the Jewish Church with, and which that Church has always approved and acknowledged to be from God: namely, the five books of Moses, Joshua, the Judges, Ruth, 1 and 2 of Samuel, 1 and 2 of the Kings, 1 and 2 of the Chronicles, one of Ezra, Nehemiah, Esther, Job, the Psalms, the Proverbs of Solomon, Ecclesiastes, the Song of Songs, the four great and the twelve minor Prophets: and the New Testament containing the four gospels, the Acts of the Apostles, the Epistles of St. Paul—1 to the Romans, 2 to the Corinthians, 1 to the Galatians, 1 to the Ephesians, 1 to the Philippians, 1 to the Colossians [2 to the Thessalonians, 2 to Timothy, 1 to Titus, 1 to Philemon],¹ and the Epistle to the Hebrews; 1 of St. James, 2 of St. Peter, 3 of St. John, 1 of St. Jude, and the Revelation.

IV. We acknowledge the divinity of these sacred books, not only from the testimony of the Church, but more especially because of the eternal and indubitable truth of the doctrine therein contained, and of that most divine excellency, sublimity, and majesty which appears therein; and because of the opera-qui nous fait recevoir avec déférence le témoignage que l'Église nous en rend, qui ouvre nos yeux pour découvrir les rayons de la lumière céleste qui éclatent en l'Ecriture, et rectifie notre goût pour discerner cette viande par la saveur Divine qu'elle a.

V. Que Dieu a fait toutes choses de rien, par sa volonté toute libre, et par la puissance infinie de sa Parole.

VI. Qu'il les conduit et gouverne toutes par sa Providence, ordonnant et adressant tout ce qui arrive au monde, sans qu'il soit pourtant ni auteur, ni cause du mal que les créatures font, ou que la coulpe luy en puisse, ou doive en aucune façon estre imputée.

VII. Que les Anges ayant été créés purs et saints, il y en a qui sont tombés dans une corruption et perdition irreparable, mais que les autres ont persereré par un effet de la bonté Divine, qui les a soutenus et confirmés.

VIII. Que l'homme qui avoit été créé pur et saint, à l'Image de Dieu, s'est privé par sa faute de cet état bienheureux, donnant ses assentimens aux discours captieux du Diable.

tion of the Holy Spirit, who causes us to receive with reverence the testimony of the Church in that point, who opens our eyes to discover the beams of that celestial light which shines in the Scripture, and corrects our taste to discern the divine savor of that spiritual food.

V. That God made all things of nothing by his own free will, and by the infinite power of his Word.

VI. That he governs and rules all by his providence, ordaining and appointing whatsoever happens in this world, without being the author or cause of any evil committed by the creatures, so that the guilt thereof neither can nor ought to be in any way imputed unto him.

VII. That the angels were all in the beginning created pure and holy, but that some of them have fallen into irreparable corruption and perdition; and that the rest have persevered in their first purity by an effect of divine goodness, which has upheld and confirmed them.

VIII. That man, who was created pure and holy, after the image of God, deprived himself through his own fault of that happy condition by giving credit to the deceitful words of the devil.

IX. Que l'homme a perdu par sa transgression, la justice et la sainteté qu'il avoit reçue, encourant avec l'indignation de Dieu, la mort et la captivité, sous la puissance de celuy qui a l'empire de la mort, assavoir le Diable, à ce point que son franc arbitre est devenu serf et éclave du peché, tellement que de nature tous les hommes, et Juifs et gentils, sont Enfans d'Ire, tous morts en leurs fautes et pechés, et par conséquent incapables d'avoir aucun bon mouvement pour le salut, ni même former aucune bonne pensée sans la grace; toutes leurs imaginations et pensées n'estant que mal en tout tems.

X. Que toute la posterité d'Adam, est coûpable en lui de sa désobéissance, infectée de sa corruption, et tombée dans la même calamité jusques aux petits Enfans dès le ventre de leur Mere, d'où vient le nom de Peché orginal.

XI. Que Dieu retire de cette corruption et condamnation, les personnes qu'il a élues par sa misericorde en son Fils Jesus Christ, y laissant les autres par un droit irreprochable de la liberté et justice.

IX. That man by his transgression lost that righteousness and holiness which he had received, and thus incurring the wrath of God, became subject to death and bondage, under the dominion of him who has the power of death, that is, the devil; insomuch that our free will has become a servant and a slave to sin: and thus all men, both Jews and Gentiles, are by nature children of wrath, being all dead in their trespasses and sins, and consequently incapable of the least good motion to any thing which concerns their salvation: yea, incapable of one good thought without God's grace, all their imaginations being wholly evil, and that continually.

X. That all the posterity of Adam is guilty in him of his disobedience, infected by his corruption, and fallen into the same calamity with him, even the very infants from their mothers' womb, whence is derived the name of original sin.

XI. That God saves from this corruption and condemnation those whom he has chosen [from the foundation of the world, not for any foreseen disposition, faith, or holiness in them, but]¹ of his mercy in Jesus Christ his Son ; passing by all the rest, according to the irreprehensible reason of his freedom and justice.

XII. Que Jesus Christ ayant esté ordonné de Dieu en son decret éternel, pour estre le seul Saveur, et l'unique Chef de son Corps, qui est l'Église, il l'a rachetée par son propre Sang, dans l'accomplissement des tems, et luy offre et communique tous ses benefices par l'Evangile.

XIII. Qu'il y a deux natures en Jesus Christ, la Divine et l'humaine vrayement en une même personne, sans confusion, sans division, sans separation, sans changement ; chaque nature gardant ses propriétés distinctes, et que Jesus Christ est vray Dieu et vray homme tout ensemble.

XIV. Que Dieu a tant aimé le monde, qu'il a donné son Fils pour nous sauver par son obéissance tres-parfaite, nommément par celle qu'il a montré en souffrant la mort maudite de la Croix, et par les victoires qu'il a remporté sur le Diable, le péché, et la mort.

XV. Que Jesus Christ ayant fait l'entiere expiation de nos pechés par son sacrifice tres-par-

XII. That Jesus Christ having been ordained by the eternal decree of God to be the only Saviour and only head of his body which is the Church, he redeemed it with his own blood in the fullness of time, and communicates unto the same all his benefits by means of the gospel.

XIII. That there are two natures in Jesus Christ, viz., divine and human, truly united in one and the same person, without confusion, division, separation, or alteration ; each nature keeping its own distinct proprieties ; and that Jesus Christ is both true God and true man.

XIV. That God so loved the world, that is to say, those whom he has chosen out of the world, that he gave his own Son to save us by his most perfect obedience (especially that obedience which he manifested in suffering the cursed death of the cross), and also by his victory over the devil, sin, and death.

XV. That Jesus Christ having made a full expiation for our sins by his most perfect sacrifice once fuit, une fois offert en la Croix, il ne peut, ni ne doit estre reiteré sous quelque pretexte que ce soit.

XVI. Que le Seigneur Jesus nous ayant pleinement reconcilié à Dieu par le Sang de sa Croix, c'est par son seul merite, et non par nos œurres, que nous sommes absous et justifiés devant luy.

XVII. Que nous avons union avec Jesus Christ, et communion à ses benefices par la Foy, qui s'appuye sur les promesses de vie, qui nous sont faites en son Eevangelie.

XVIII. Que cette Foy vient de l'operation gracieuse et efficace du S. Esprit, qui éclaire nos ames, et les porte à s'appuyer sur la misericorde de Dieu, pour s'appliquer le merite de Jesus Christ.

XIX. Que Jesus Christ est notre vray et unique Mediateur : non seulement de Redemption, mais aussi d'Intercession, et que par ses merites et sa mediation, nous avons accès au Pere, pour l'invoquer avec la sainte confiance d'estre exaucés, sans qu'il soit besoin d'avoir recours à aucun autre intercesseur que luy.

XX. Que comme Dieu nous promet la regeneration en Jesus offered on the cross, it neither can nor ought to be repeated upon any pretext whatsoever, as they pretend to do in the mass.

XVI. That the Lord Jesus having fully reconciled us unto God, through the blood of his cross, it is by virtue of his merits only, and not of our works, that we are absolved and justified in his sight.

XVII. That we are united to Jesus Christ and made partakers of his benefits by faith, which rests upon those promises of life which are made to us in his gospel.

XVIII. That this faith is the gracious and efficacious work of the Holy Spirit, who enlightens our souls, and persuades them to lean and rest upon the mercy of God, and so to apply the merits of Jesus Christ.

XIX. That Jesus Christ is our true and only Mediator, not only redeeming us, but also interceding for us, and that by virtue of his merits and intercession we have access unto the Father, to make our supplications unto him, with a holy confidence that he will grant our requests, it being needless to have recourse to any other intercessor besides himself.

XX. That as God has promised us regeneration in Jesus Christ, so Christ, ceux qui sont unis à luy par une vive Foy, doivent s'adonner, et s'adonnent en effet, à bonnes œuvres.

XXI. Que les bonnes œuvres sont si nécessaires aus fideles, qu'ils ne peuvent parvenir au Royaume des Cieux sans les faire, estant vray que Dieu les a préparés aq[ui]n que nous y cheminoins, qu'ainsi nous devons fuir les vices, et nous adonner aux vertus Chrétien[n]es, employant les jânes et tous autres moyens, qui peuvent nous servir à une chose si sainte.

XXII. Que bien que nos œuvres ne puissent pas meriter, notre Seigneur ne laissera pas de les recompenser de la Vie Eternelle, par une continuation misericordieuse de sa grace, et en vertu de la constance immuable des promesses qu'il nous en fait.

XXIII. Que ceux qui possedent la Vie Eternelle en suite de leur Foy, et de leurs bonnes œuvres, doivent estre considerés comme Saints, et glorifiés, loués pour leurs vertus, imités en toutes les belles actions de leur vie, mais non adorés, ni invoqués, puis qu'on ne doit prier qu'un seul Dieu par Jesus Christ.

XXIV. Que Dieu s'est recueilli those who are united to him by a living faith ought to apply, and do really apply themselves, unto good works.

XXI. That good works are so necessary to the faithful that they can not attain the kingdom of heaven without the same, seeing that God hath prepared them that we should walk therein; and therefore we ought to flee from vice, and apply ourselves to Christian virtues, making use of fasting, and all other means which may conduce to so holy a thing.

XXII. That, altho[ugh] our good works can not merit any thing, yet the Lord will reward or recompense them with eternal life, through the merciful continuation of his grace, and by virtue of the unchangeable constancy of his promises made unto us.

XXIII. That those who are already in the possession of eternal life in consequence of their faith and good works ought to be considered as saints and glorified persons, and to be praised for their virtue and imitated in all good actions of their life, but neither worshiped nor invoked, for God only is to be prayed unto, and that through Jesus Christ.

XXIV. That God has chosen une Église dans le monde, pour le salut des hommes, quelle n'a qu'un seul Chef, et fondament, qui est Jesus Christ.

XXV. Que cette Église est la compagnie des fidèles, qui ayans été élus de Dieu, devant la foundation du monde, et appellés par une sainte vocation, s'unissent pour suivre la Parole de Dieu, croyans ce qu'il nous y enseigne, et vivans en sa crainte.

XXVI. Que cette Église ne peut defaillir, ou estre aneantie, mais qu'elle doit estre perpetuelle.

XXVII. Que tous s'y doivent ranger, et se tenir dans sa communion.

XXVIII. Que Dieu ne nous y instruit pas seulement par sa Parole, mais que de plus il a institué des Sacremens pour les joindre à cette Parole, comme des moyens pour nous unir à Jesus Christ, et pour communiquer à ses bénéfices, et qu'il n'y en a que deux communs à tous les membres de one Church in the world for the salvation of men, and that this Church has one only head and foundation, which is Jesus Christ.

XXV. That this Church is the company of the faithful, who, having been elected by God before the foundation of the world, and called with a holy calling, unite themselves to follow the Word of God, believing whatsoever he teaches them therein, and living in his fear.

XXVI. That this Church can not fail, nor be annihilated, but must endure forever [and that all the elect are upheld and preserved by the power of God in such sort that they all persevere in the faith unto the end, and remain united in the holy Church, as so many living members thereof].¹

XXVII. That all men ought to join with that Church, and to continue in the communion thereof.

XXVIII. That God does not only instruct us by his Word, but has also ordained certain sacraments to be joined with it, as means to unite us to Jesus Christ, and to make us partakers of his benefits; and that there are only two of them belonging in common to all the members of the l'Église sous le Nouveau Testament, assavoir le Baptême, et la Sainte Cene.

XXIX. Qu'il a institué celuy du Baptême pour un témoignage de notre adoption, et que nous y sommes lavés de nos pechés au Sang de Jesus Christ, et renouvelés en sainteté de vie.

XXX. Qu'il a institué celuy de la Sainte Cene ou Eucharistie, pour la nourriture de notre ame, afin que par une vraye, et vive Foy, par la vertu incomprehensible du S. Esprit, mangeans effectivement sa Chair, et beuvans son Sang, et nous unissans tres-étroitement et inseparablement à Christ, en lui, et par lui, nous ayons la vie spirituelle et éternelle.

Et afin que tout le monde voye clairement notre croyance sur ce point, nous adjoutons icy les mêmes termes qui sont couchés en notre Priere avant la Communion, dans notre liturgie, ou maniere de celebrer la Sainte Cene, et dans notre Catechisme public, qui sont pieces qu'on peut voir à la fin de nos Pseaumes : voicy les termes de notre Priere :

‘Et comme notre Seigneur non seulement a une fois offert son Corps et son Sang pour la remission de nos pechés, mais aussi nous Church under the New Testament —to wit, Baptism and the Lord's Supper.

XXIX. That Christ has instituted the sacrament of Baptism to be a testimony of our adoption, and that therein we are cleansed from our sins by the blood of Jesus Christ, and renewed in holiness of life.

XXX. That he has instituted the Holy Supper, or Eucharist, for the nourishment of our souls, to the end that eating effectually the flesh of Christ, and drinking effectually his blood, by a true and living faith, and by the incomprehensible virtue of the Holy Spirit, and so uniting ourselves most closely and inseparably to Christ, we come to enjoy in him and by him the spiritual and eternal life.

Now to the end that every one may clearly see what our belief is as to this point, we here insert the very expressions of that prayer which we make use of before the Communion, as they are written in our Liturgy or form of celebrating the Holy Supper, and likewise in our public Catechism, which are to be seen at the end of our Psalms; these are the words of the prayer:

‘Seeing our Lord has not only once offered his body and blood for the remission of our sins, but is willing also to communicate the les vent communiquer pour nourriture en vie éternelle, fais nous cette grace que de vraye sincerité de cœur, et d'un zèle ardent nous recevions de luy un si grand bénéfice, c'est qu'en certaine Foy nous jouissions de son Corps et de son Sang, voire de luy entierement, etc.

Les termes de notre Liturgie sont : 'Premierement donc, croyons à ces promesses, que Jesus Christ qui est la vérité même a prononcées de sa bouche, assavoir qu'il nous veut vrayement faire participants de son Corps et de son Sang, afin que nous le possedions entierement en telle sorte qu'il vive en nous, et nous en luy.'

Ceux de notre Catechisme public sont de même en la Section 53.

XXXI. Qu'il est nécessaire que l'Église aye des Pasteurs, jugés biens instruits, et de bonne vie, par ceux qui en ont le droit, tant pour prêcher la Parole de Dieu, que pour administrer les Sacremens, et veiller sur le troupeau de Jesus Christ, suivant les règles d'une bonne et sainte Discipline, conjointement avec les Anciens et Diaires, selon la pratique de l'Église ancienne.

XXXII. Que Dieu a établi les Rois et les Magistrats, pour la conduite des peuples, et que les same unto us as the food of eternal life, we humbly beseech thee to grant us this grace that in true sincerity of heart and with an ardent zeal we may receive from him so great a benefit ; that is, that we may be made partakers of his body and blood, or rather of his whole self, by a sure and certain faith.'

The words of the Liturgy are these: 'Let us then believe first of all the promises which Christ (who is the infallible truth) has pronounced with his own mouth, viz., that he will make us truly partakers of his body and blood, that so we may possess him entirely, in such a manner that he may live in us and we in him.'

The words of our Catechism are the same, Nella Dominica 53.

XXXI. That it is necessary the Church shouold have pastors known by those who are employed for that purpose to be well instructed and of a good life, as well to preach the Word of God as to administer the sacraments, and wait upon the flock of Christ (according to the rules of a good and holy discipline), together with elders and deacons, after the manner of the primitive Church.

XXXII. That God hath established kings and magistrates to govern the people, and that the peuples leur doivent estre sujets et obeissans en vertu de cet ordre, non seulement pour l'ire, mais pour la conscience, en toutes les choses qui sont conformes à la Parole de Dieu, qui est le Roy des Rois, et Seigneur des Seigneurs.

XXXIII. Enfin, qu'il faut recevoir le Symbole des Apôtres, l'Oraison Dominicale, et le Decalogue, comme pieces fondamentales de notre creance, et de nos devoctions.

Et pour plus ample declaration de notre creance, nous réiterons icy la protestation que nous fîmes imprimer l'an 1603 assavoir que nous consentons à la saine Doctrine, avec toutes les Églises Reformées de France, d'Angleterre, du Païs-Bas, d'Allemagne, de Suisse, de Boheme, de Pologne, d'Hongrie, et autres, ainsi qu'elle est exprimée en leur Confession d'Ausbourg, selon la declaration qu'en a donné l'Autheur. Et promettons d'y perseverer Dieu aidant, inviolablement en la vie et en la mort, estuns prets de signer cette vérité éternelle de Dieu de notre propre sang, comme l'ont fait nos predecesseurs depuis le temps des Apôtres, particulierement en ces derniers siecles.

people ought to be subject and obedient unto them, by virtue of that ordination, not only for fear, but also for conscience' sake, in all things that are conformable to the Word of God, who is the King of kings and the Lord of lords.

XXXIII. Finally, that we ought to receive the symbol of the Apostles, the Lord's Prayer, and the Decalogue as fundamentals of our faith and our devotion.

And for a more ample declaration of our faith we do here reiterate the same protestation which we caused to be printed in 1603, that is to say, that we do agree in sound doctrine with all the Reformed Churches of France, Great Britain, the Low Countries, Germany, Switzerland, Bohemia, Poland, Hungary, and others, as it is set forth by them in their confessions; as also in the Confession of Augsburg, as it was explained by the author,¹ promising to persevere constantly therein with the help of God, both in life and death, and being ready to subscribe to that eternal truth of God with our own blood, even as our ancestors have done from the days of the Apostles, and especially in these latter ages.

¹ Viz., the editio variata of 1540, which Calvin subscribed at Strasburg.

Et pourtant nous prions bien humblement toutes les Églises Evangeliques et Protestantes, de nous tenir, nonobstant notre pauvreté et petitesse, pour vrais membres du corps mystique de Jesus Christ, soufrans pour son Saint Nom ; et de nous continuer l'assistance de leurs prières envers Dieu, et tous autres bons offices de leurs charités, comme nous les avons déjà abondamment expérimentés, dont nous les remercions avec toute l'humilité, qui nous est possible, et suplions de tout notre cœur le Seigneur qu'il en soit lui même le remunerateur, versant sur elles les plus précieuses bénédic-tions de sa grace et de sa gloire, et en cette vie, et en celle qui est à venir. Amen.

ADDITIONS À LA SUS-DITE CONFESSON.

Briére justification touchant les points, ou articles de Foy, que nous imputent les Docteurs de Rome, en commun avec toutes les Églises Reformées. Nous accusons de croire,

1. Que Dieu soit auteur du Péché.
2. Que Dieu n'est pas tout Puissant.
- 4.² Que Jesus Christ s'est desespéré en la Croix.
5. Que dans les œuvres du salut, où l'homme est mis par l'Esprit de Dieu, il n'y coopere non plus qu'une piece de bois, ou une pierre.
6. Qu'en vertu de la Predestination, il n'importe que l'on face bien ou mal.

Therefore we humbly entreat all the Evangelical and Protestant Churches, notwithstanding our poverty and lowness, to look upon us as true members of the mystical body of Christ, suffering for his name's sake, and to continue unto us the help of their prayers to God, and all other effects of their charity, as we have heretofore abundantly experienced, for which we return them our most humble thanks, entreating the Lord with all our heart to be their rewarder, and to pour upon them the most precious blessings of grace and glory, both in this life and in that which is to come. Amen.

ADDITIONS TO THIS CONFESSON.¹

Brief justification concerning the points or articles of faith which the doctors of Rome impute to us and to all the Reformed Churches. They accuse us of believing the following articles :

1. That God is the author of sin;
2. That God is not omnipotent;
3. That Jesus Christ fell into despair upon the cross;
4. That man, in the work of salvation, where he is moved by the Spirit of God, is no more active than a log or a stone;
5. That, according to our notion on the subject of predestination, it is of no consequence whether we do good or evil;

² The error in numbering (4 for 3, etc.) is Leger's.

7. Que les bonnes œuvres ne sont pas nécessaires au salut.

8. Que nous rejettons absolument la Confession des pechés, et la Penitence.

9. Qu'il faut rejeter les Jânes, et autres mortifications de la chair, pour vivre dans la dissolution.

10. Que chacun peut expliquer l'Ecriture Sainte comme il lui plaît, et selon les inspirations de son esprit particulier.

11. Que l'Eglise peut de tout defaillir, et estre anéantie.

12. Que le Baptême n'est d'aucune nécessité.

13. Que dans le Sacrement de l'Eucharistie, nous n'avons aucune reelle communion avec Jesus Christ, mais seulement en figure.

14. Qu'on n'est pas obligé d'obéir aux Magistrats, Rois, Princes, etc.

15. Parce que nous n'invoquons pas la Sainte Vierge, et les hommes déjà glorifiés, on nous accuse de les mépriser, au lieu que nous les publions bienheureux, dignes, et de loüange, et d'imitation, et tenons sur tout la Sainte Vierge Bienheureuse entre toutes les Femmes.

Or tous ces Chefs qui nous sont ainsi malicieusement imputés, bien loin de les croire ou enseigner parmi nous, que nous les tenons pour herétiques et damnables, et denonçons de tout notre cœur anathème contre quiconque les voudroit soutenir.

6. That good works are not necessary to salvation ;

7. That we entirely reject confession of sins and repentance ;

8. That fasting and other mortifications of the flesh must be rejected, in order to lead a dissolute life ;

9. That any one may explain the Holy Scripture as he pleases, and according to the fanciful suggestions of his own mind ;

10. That the Church can entirely fail and be destroyed ;

11. That baptism is not necessary ;

12. That in the sacrament of the encharist we have no communion with Christ in fact, but in a figure only ;

13. That obedience is not due to magistrates, kings, princes, etc. ;

14. That we despise, because we do not invoke, the most holy Virgin and glorified saints ; while in fact we pronounce them blessed and worthy both of praise and imitation, and hold above all the holy Virgin Mary to be ‘blessed amongst women.’

All these articles maliciously imputed to us, far from believing or teaching them, we hold to be heretical and damnable, and we denounce from all our heart every one who would maintain them.

THE CONFESSTION OF THE CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH. A.D. 1829 (1813).

[The Confession of the CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN THE UNITED STATES (which was organized in 1810, and embraces a large and active membership in the Western and Southern States), is a semi-Arminian revision of the Westminster Confession of Faith. It was adopted in 1813, and finally revised in 1829. It retains the thirty-three chapters in the same order, with the American alterations of Chaps. XXIII. and XXXI., and a few immaterial omissions and additions. The only serious change is in the chapter on Predestination, while even the chapter on Perseverance is essentially retained. We present both texts in parallel columns.]

itent with everlasting destruction,¹ and to save the true believer with an everlasting salvation.

NOTE.—The remaining six sections of the Westminster Confession, which contain the knotty points of Calvinism, are entirely omitted. Instead of them an official explanation is attached, as follows :

'We think it better, under the head of Decrees, to write what we know to be incontrovertible from the plain Word of God, than to darken counsel by words without knowledge. We have elsewhere acknowledged the doctrine of predestination to be a high mystery. We are free to acknowledge that in our judgment it is easier to fix the limits which man should not transcend, on either hand, than to give an intelligent elucidation of the subject. We believe that both Calvinists and Arminians have egregiously erred on this point : the former by driving rational, accountable man into the asylum of fate; the latter by putting too much stress on man's works, and leaving too much out of view the grace that bringeth salvation, and thereby cherish[ing] those legal principles that are in every human heart. We think the intermediate plan on this subject is nearest the WHOLE truth ; for surely, on the one hand, it must be acknowledged, the love of God, the merits of Christ, and the operation of the Holy Spirit are the moving, meritorious, and active causes of man's salvation ; that God is a sovereign, having a right to work when, where, how, and on whom he pleases ; that salvation, in its device, in its plan, and in its application, is of the Lord ; and that without the unmerited agency and operation of the Spirit of God not one of Adam's race would or could ever come to the knowledge of the truth—for God is the author as well as the finisher of our faith. Therefore God, as a sovereign, may, if he pleases, elect a nation, as the Jews, to preserve his worship free from idolatry ; many nations for a time, as Christendom, in which to spread his gospel ; individuals, as Cyrus and others, to answer a particular purpose ; Paul and others for apostles ; Luther and Calvin to promote the Reformation. But as it respects the salvation of the soul, God as a sovereign can only elect or choose fallen man in Christ, who is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth. But it appears to us incontestable, from God's Word, that God has reprobated none from eternity. That all mankind become legally reprobated by transgression is undeniable, and continue so until they embrace Christ. "Examine yourselves," etc. "Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?" (2 Cor. xiii. 5). Now this can not mean eternal reprobates, or all who have not Christ in them would be such, the absurdity of which will at once appear to every common capacity. Reprobation is not what some have supposed it to be, viz., a sovereign determination of God to create millions of rational beings, and for his own glory damn them eternally in hell, without regard to moral rectitude or sin in the creature. This would tarnish the divine glory, and render the greatest, best, and most lovely of all Beings most odious in the view of all intelligences. When man sinned he was legally reprobated, but not damned : God offered, and does offer, the law-condemned sinner mercy in the gospel, he having from the foundation of the world so far chosen mankind in Christ as to justify that saying in 1 Tim. iv. 10, "Who is the Saviour of all men, especially of them that believe." This is a gracious act of God's sovereign electing love, as extensive as the legal condemnation, or reprobation, in which all mankind are by nature. But, in a particular and saving sense, none can be properly called God's elect till they be justified and united to Christ, the end of the law for righteousness (none are justified from eternity), as appears evident from the following passages of God's Word : "Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God's elect ? Who is he that condemneth ?" (Rom. viii. 33, 34). Now it is certain [that] the unbeliever is chargeable and condemned. Again, "If it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect" (Matt. xxiv. 24). It is evident that a man must be enlightened in the knowledge of God and his Son Jesus, which is eternal life, before he can have spiritual wisdom to discern and detect the deceiver. If, then, by perverting the gracious provision of the gospel in refusing to submit to the righteousness of God, the sinner finally grieves the Spirit of God, to depart from him, he becomes doubly and eternally reprobated; or like the chemist's mineral, which will not coin into pure metal, or the potter's clay, which marred upon the wheel. But if the creature fall into this deplorable situation, he was not bound by any revealed or secret decree of God to do so: it is his own fault. For God declares in his Word that Christ died for the whole world; that he offers pardon to all: that the Spirit operates on all; confirming by an oath that he has no pleasure in the death of sinners. Every invitation of the gospel either promises or implies aid by the Divine Spirit. The plan of the Bible is grace and duty. God calls (grace); sinners hearken diligently (duty); God reproves (grace); sinners turn (duty); God pours out his Spirit (grace); sinners resist not the light, but improve it (duty); God makes known his Word, or reveals the plan of salvation (grace); God invites (grace); wicked men, forsake your ways (duty), your thoughts (duty), and turn to the Lord (duty), and God will have mercy on you (grace), and God will abundantly pardon (grace).'

In Chap. IX., Of Free Will, the first three and the fifth sections are retained with an addition at the close of Sect. 3, 'without Divine aid.' In the fourth section the last words, 'but [the sinner] doth also will that which is evil,' are omitted.

In Chap. X., Of Effectual Calling, the fourth section is omitted, and the third section concerning infant salvation is liberalized and made to embrace all infants as follows:

CUMBERLAND CONFESSTION, CHAP. X.

III. All infants dying in infancy are regenerated and saved by Christ through the Spirit,¹ who worketh when, and where, and how he pleaseth;² so also are others who have never had the exercise of reason, and who are incapable of being by Christ through the Spirit,¹ who worketh when, and where, and

In Chap. XI., Of Justification, Sect. 1, 'Those whom God effectually calleth', is changed into 'Those whom God calleth (and who obey the call).' In Sect. 4, 'God did, from all eternity, decree to justify all the elect,' is changed into 'God, before the foundation of the world, determined to justify all true believers.'

* NOTE.—To this section the following note is attached in the official edition:

'This doctrine, although it is certainly supported by uncontested proof from the Word of God, as well as by the reason and nature of the union between Christ and his people, yet, like all other truths, has been and may be perverted. The idea of eternal justification and consequent perseverance is unscriptural: the way perseverance is insisted on by some preachers in connection with the preceding parts of their sermons is certainly dangerous. Example: First preach a superficial experience, then make a great many more allowances for weakness and wickedness, stumbling, straying, etc., than God's Word admits, then press perseverance, and you have the formalist or hypocrite confirmed.'

'On the other hand, press the doctrines of final apostasy, if the creature does not so and so, making the perseverance of the creature depend chiefly upon his doings: you raise in the mind of the unregenerate professor the fear of hell, as a high excitement to duty; confirm him in his legality; prepare his mind, indirectly at least, to give glory to himself for his perseverance; settle him down in a self-confident and deplorable situation. What God's Word hath joined together, let not his ministers put asunder; but first let them give a clear, definite description of the new birth, and then let them press the doctrine of heart and practical holiness as the sure consequence ("For by their fruit ye shall know them"), and daily evidences (not the cause) of that gracious state which will insure their final perseverance.

"Then this true and comfortable doctrine will not be perverted, neither will it have a tendency to licentiousness in him "whom the love of Christ constraineth," or the real Christian: no, he serves and desires to serve God with more zeal, and from pure evangelical principles, still laying the foundation in his own mind, and cherishing the principle of ascribing all the glory to God for his conversion, his perseverance, and his final and complete redemption.'

THE AUBURN DECLARATION. A.D. 1837.

[The Auburn Declaration, so called from the place of its adoption, belongs to the history of American Presbyterianism, and although it never aspired to the dignity of an authoritative Confession of Faith, it may claim a place here for its intrinsic value and importance before and after the disruption. It originated during the conflict which preceded the division of the Presbyterian Church into Old and New School, A.D. 1837, and was prepared by the Rev. BAXTER DICKINSON, D.D. (d. 1876). It had been charged, on one side, that sixteen errors, involving considerable departures from true Calvinism and the Westminster standards, had become current in that Church. (They are printed in the Presbyterian Quarterly and Princeton Review for 1876, pp. 7, s.) In answer to this charge, the New School party were led to embody their belief on these points in a corresponding series of 'True Doctrines,' which were incorporated in their Protest, as presented to the General Assembly of 1837. These doctrinal statements were subsequently considered and adopted by an important representative convention at Auburn, New York, Aug., 1837, as expressing their matured views, and those of the churches and ministry represented by them, on the several topics involved. The Declaration thus adopted became, not indeed a creed, but an authoritative explanation of the interpretation given to the Westminster Symbols by the leading minds in the New School Church, as organized in 1838. It was in 1868 indorsed by the General Assembly (O.S.) as containing 'all the fundamentals of the Calvinistic Creed,' and this indorsement was one among the most effectual steps in bringing about the reunion of the two Churches in 1870. The document is rather a disavowal of imputed error than an exposition of revealed truth, and must be understood from the anthropological and soteriological controversies of that period of division now happily gone by.]

Both the ERRORS and the TRUE DOCTRINES may be found in the Minutes of the Assembly for 1837; also, in the New Digest, pp. 227-230. See also Art. on The Auburn Declaration by Prof. E. D. MORRIS, D.D., of Lane Seminary, in the Presbyterian Quarterly and Princeton Review, Jan. 1876, pp. 5-40.

The original document is deposited in the library of Lane Theol. Sem., Cincinnati, O. The text here given is an accurate copy from it, and was kindly furnished for this work by the Rev. E. D. MORRIS, D.D. The headings in brackets have been supplied by the editor.]

[PERMISSION OF SIN.]

- God permitted the introduction of sin, not because he was unable to prevent it consistently with the moral freedom of his creatures, but for wise and benevolent reasons which he has not revealed.

[ELECTION.]

- Election to eternal life is not founded on a foresight of faith and obedience, but is a sovereign act of God's mercy, whereby, according to the counsel of his own will, he has chosen some to salvation: 'yet so as thereby neither is violence offered to the will of the creatures, nor is the liberty or contingency of second causes taken away, but rather established;' nor does this gracious purpose ever take effect independently of faith and a holy life.

[FALL OF ADAM.]

- By a divine constitution Adam was so the head and representative of the race that, as a consequence of his transgression, all mankind became morally corrupt, and liable to death, temporal and eternal.

[HEREDITARY SIN.]

4. Adam was created in the image of God, 'endued with knowledge, righteousness, and true holiness.' Infants come into the world not only destitute of these, but with a nature inclined to evil, and only evil.

[INFANTS INVOLVED IN THE MORAL RUIN.]

5. Brute animals sustain no such relation to the moral government of God as does the human family. Infants are a part of the human family, and their sufferings and death are to be accounted for on the ground of their being involved in the general moral ruin of the race, induced by the apostasy.

[UNIVERSAL NEED OF REDEMPTION.]

6. Original sin is a natural bias to evil, resulting from the first apostasy, leading invariably and certainly to actual transgression. And all infants, as well as adults, in order to be saved, need redemption by the blood of Christ, and regeneration by the Holy Ghost.

[IMPUTATION OF SIN AND RIGHTEOUSNESS.]

7. The sin of Adam is not imputed to his posterity in the sense of a literal transfer of personal qualities, acts, and demerit; but by reason of the sin of Adam, in his peculiar relation, the race are treated as if they had sinned. Nor is the righteousness of Christ imputed to his people in the sense of a literal transfer of personal qualities, acts, and merit; but by reason of his righteousness in his peculiar relation they are treated as if they were righteous.

[ATONEMENT OF CHRIST.]

8. The sufferings of Christ were not symbolical, governmental, and instructive only; but were truly vicarious, i. e., a substitute for the punishment due to transgressors. And while Christ did not suffer the literal penalty of the law, involving remorse of conscience and the pains of hell, he did offer a sacrifice which infinite wisdom saw to be a full equivalent. And by virtue of this atonement, overtures of mercy are sincerely made to the race, and salvation secured to all who believe.

[MORAL INABILITY.]

9. While sinners have all the faculties necessary to a perfect moral agency and a just accountability, such is their love of sin and opposition to God and his law, that, independently of the renewing influence or almighty energy of the Holy Spirit, they never will comply with the commands of God.

[INTERCESSION OF CHRIST.]

10. The intercession of Christ for the elect is previous, as well as subsequent, to their regeneration, as appears from the following Scripture, viz.: ‘I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast given me, for they are thine. Neither pray I for these alone, but for them also which shall believe on me through their word’ (John xvii. 9, 20).

[SAVING FAITH.]

11. Saving faith is an intelligent and cordial assent to the testimony of God concerning his Son, implying reliance on Christ alone for pardon and eternal life; and in all cases it is an effect of the special operations of the Holy Spirit.

[REGENERATION.]

12. Regeneration is a radical change of heart, produced by the special operations of the Holy Spirit, ‘determining the sinner to that which is good,’ and is in all cases instantaneous.

[SALVATION BY GRACE.]

13. While repentance for sin and faith in Christ are indispensable to salvation, all who are saved are indebted, from first to last, to the grace and Spirit of God. And the reason that God does not save all is not that he wants the power to do it, but that in his wisdom he does not see fit to exert that power further than he actually does.

[LIBERTY OF THE WILL.]

14. While the liberty of the will is not impaired, nor the established connection betwixt means and end broken, by any action of God on the mind, he can influence it according to his pleasure, and does effectually determine it to good in all cases of true conversion.

[JUSTIFICATION.]

15. All believers are justified, not on the ground of personal merit, but solely on the ground of the obedience and death, or, in other words, the righteousness of Christ. And while that righteousness does not become theirs, in the sense of a literal transfer of personal qualities and merit, yet from respect to it God can and does treat them as if they were righteous.

[FREEDOM IN FAITH AND UNBELIEF.]

16. While all such as reject the Gospel of Christ do it, not by coercion, but freely, and all who embrace it do it not by coercion, but freely, the reason why some differ from others is that God has made them to differ.

CONFESSTION OF THE EVANGELICAL FREE CHURCH OF GENEVA. A.D. 1848.

[The FREE CHURCH OF GENEVA seceded from the established Church of the city of Calvin, and issued in 1848 the following Confession of Faith. It fairly represents the doctrinal position of other Free Churches which have been organized in Switzerland and France in opposition to the degenerate Reformed State Churches. It exhibits the Calvinism of the nineteenth century—a Calvinism moderated, simplified, and separated from connection with the civil government.

The French text is taken from the Notice Historique sur l'église évangélique libre de Genève par E. GUERS, Genève, 1875, pp. 86-90. It is also found, together with a Presbyterian constitution and a hymn-book, in Eglise évangélique à Genève; Recueil de Cantiques pour les assemblées de culte, etc. Genève and Lyon, 1864.

The English translation was prepared for this work by my friend, Professor ELIE CHARLIER, of New York.]

PROFESSION DE FOI

de l'église évangélique libre de Genève.

I. Nous croyons que la sainte Écriture est pleinement inspirée de Dieu dans toutes ses parties, et qu'elle est la seule et infaillible règle de la foi.

II. Nous recevons comme Écritures canoniques, pour l'Ancien Testament, tous les livres qui nous sont transmis à ce titre par l'universalité du peuple juif, auquel les oracles de Dieu ont été confiés sous la surveillance du Seigneur; et nous recevons également comme Écritures canoniques, pour le Nouveau Testament, tous les livres qui, sous l'action de la même Providence, nous ont été transmis à ce titre par l'universalité des Églises de la chrétienté.

III. Nous adorons le Père, le Fils et le Saint-Esprit, un seul of the Evangelical Free Church of Geneva.

CONFESSTION OF FAITH

I. We believe that the Holy Scriptures are entirely inspired of God in all their parts, and that they are the only and infallible Rule of Faith.

II. We receive as canonical Scriptures of the Old Testament, all the books which have been transmitted to us, under that title, by the universal consent of the Jewish people, to whom the oracles of God were confided under the guidance of Jehovah; and we receive equally as canonical Scriptures of the New Testament, all the books which, under the guidance of the same Providence, have been transmitted to us as such by the universal consent of the Churches of the Christian world.

III. We worship the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost, one only Dieu en trois personnes, créateur et conservateur de tout ce qui existe.

IV. Nous croyons que le premier homme, Adam, fut créé à l'image de Dieu, dans une justice et une sainteté véritable; mais que, séduit par Satan, il tomba, et que dès lors la nature humaine fut entièrement corrompue; en sorte que tous les hommes naissent pécheurs, incapables de faire le bien selon Dieu, assujettis au mal, attirant sur eux, par un juste jugement, la condamnation et la mort.

V. Nous croyons que la Parole, qui était de toute éternité avec Dieu et qui était Dieu, a été faite chair, et que, second Adam, né pur d'une vierge par la puissance du Très-Haut, Jésus, seul entre les hommes, a pu rendre à Dieu une parfaite obéissance.

VI. Nous croyons que Jésus, le Christ, Dieu et homme en une seule personne, unique Médiateur entre Dieu et les hommes, est mort à notre place en victime expiatoire, qu'il est ressuscité, et que, élevé dans la gloire, il compareît maintenant pour nous devant Dieu, en même temps qu'il demeure avec nous par son Esprit.

VII. Nous croyons que nul homme ne peut entrer dans le royaume de Dieu s'il n'a subi dans son âme, par la vertu du Saint-

God in three persons, the Creator and Preserver of all things.

IV. We believe that the first man, Adam, was created, after the image of God, perfectly just and holy; but that, tempted by Satan, he fell, and that, from that time, human nature has been entirely corrupt; so that all men are born sinners, unable to do good before God, inclined to evil, bringing condemnation and death on themselves by a just judgment.

V. We believe that the Word, which was of all eternity with God, and which was God, was made flesh, and that, alone among men, Jesus, a second Adam, born from a virgin by the power of the Most High, has been able to obey God in a perfect way.

VI. We believe that Jesus, the Christ, God and man in one, only Mediator between God and men, died in our place as an expiatory victim, that he rose from the dead, and that, having ascended into glory, he intercedes for us before God, at the same time dwelling with us by the Holy Ghost.

VII. We believe that no man can enter into the kingdom of heaven unless he has felt in his soul, through the virtue of the Holy Esprit, le changement surnaturel que l'Écriture appelle nouvelle naissance, régénération, conversion, passage de la mort à la vie.

Ghost, the supernatural change which, in the Holy Scriptures, is called new birth, regeneration, conversion, passing from death to life.

VIII. Nous croyons que nous sommes justifiés devant Dieu, non par des œuvres de justice que nous ayons faites, mais uniquement par grâce et par le moyen de la foi en Christ, dont la justice nous est imputée. C'est pourquoi nous sommes assurés qu'en Lui nous avons la vie éternelle, et que nul ne nous ravira de sa main.

VIII. We believe that we are justified before God, not by righteous works which we may accomplish, but only by grace and through faith in Christ, whose righteousness is ascribed to us. On that account we are assured that in Him we have eternal life, and that no one can pluck us out of his hand.

IX. Nous croyons que sans la sanctification personne ne verra le Seigneur, et que, rachetés à grand prix, nous devons le glorifier par nos œuvres. Et quoique le combat entre l'esprit et la chair demeure en nous jusqu'à la fin, toutefois nous ne perdons pas courage, mais ayant reçu une volonté nouvelle, nous travaillons à notre sanctification dans la crainte de Dieu.

IX. We believe that without sanctification no man will see the Lord, and that, ransomed at a great price, we must glorify him by our works. And although the battle between the Spirit and the flesh exists unto the end, still we are not discouraged, but, having received a new will, we work for our sanctification in the fear of the Lord.

X. Nous croyons que le commencement et la fin du salut, la nouvelle naissance, la foi, la sanctification, la persévérance, sont un don gratuit de la miséricorde divine; le vrai croyant ayant été élu en Christ avant la fondation du monde, selon la préconnaissance de Dieu le Père, dans la sanctification de l'Esprit, pour

X. We believe that the beginning and the end of our salvation, our new birth, faith, sanctification, and perseverance are a gratuitous gift of the divine mercy; the true believer having been elected in Christ before the foundation of the world, according to the foreknowledge of God, the Father, in the sanctification of the Holy Ghost, obéir à Jésus-Christ et pour être arrosé de son sang.

XI. Nous croyons que Dieu, qui à tant aimé le monde que de donner son fils unique, ordonne présentement à tout homme, en tout lieu, de se convertir; que chacun est responsable de ses péchés et de son incrédulité; que Jésus ne repousse aucun de ceux qui vont à lui, et que tout pécheur qui invoque sincèrement son Nom sera sauvé.

XII. Nous croyons que le Saint-Esprit applique aux élus, par le moyen de la Parole, le salut que le Père leur a destiné et que le Fils leur a acquis; de telle sorte que, les unissant à Jésus par la foi, il habite en eux, les affranchit de l'empire du péché, leur fait comprendre les Écritures, les console et les scelle pour le jour de la rédemption.

XIII. Nous attendons des ciels le Seigneur Jésus-Christ, qui transformera le corps de notre humiliation pour le rendre conforme au corps de sa gloire, et nous croyons qu'en cette journée-là, les morts qui sont en Christ sortant à sa voix de leurs tombeaux, et les fidèles qui vivront alors sur la terre, transmûs par sa puissance, seront enlevés tous ensemble dans les nuées à sa rencontre, et qu'ainsi nous serons toujours avec le Seigneur.

to obey Jesus Christ and to be bathed in his blood.

XI. We believe that God, who so loved the world that he gave his only Son, now orders every man, in every place, to be converted; that every one is responsible for his sins and his unbelief; that Jesus repels none who go to him; and that every sinner who sincerely appeals to him will be saved.

XII. We believe that the Holy Ghost applies to the chosen ones, by means of the Word, the salvation which the Father has destined for them and which the Son has bought, so that, uniting them to Jesus by faith, he dwells in them, delivers them from the sway of sin, makes them understand the Scriptures, consoles them and seals them for the day of redemption.

XIII. We expect from heaven our Saviour Jesus Christ, who will change our body of humiliation and make it conform to his own body of glory; and we believe that, in that day, the dead who are in Christ, coming out from their tombs at his voice, and the faithful then living on the earth, all transformed through his power, will be taken up together into the clouds to meet him, and that thus we shall always be with our Saviour.

XIV. Nous croyons qu'il y aura une résurrection des injustes comme des justes; que Dieu a arrêté un jour où il jugera le monde universel par l'homme qu'il a destiné à celù; et que les méchants iront aux peines éternelles, pendant que les justes jouiront de la vie éternelle.

XV. Nous croyons que les églises particulières, établies en divers lieux et plus ou moins mêlées de régénérés et d'inconvertis, doivent se faire connaître au monde par la profession de leur espérance, les actes de leur culte, et le travail de leur charité. Mais nous croyons aussi que, au-dessus de toutes ces églises particulières qui ont été, qui sont et qui seront, il existe devant Dieu une sainte Église universelle, composée de tous les régénérés, et formant un seul corps invisible dont Jésus-Christ est la tête et dont les membres ne seront entièrement manifestés qu'au dernier jour.

XVI. Nous croyons que le Seigneur a institué le baptême et la Cène comme symboles et gages du salut qu'il nous a acquis: le baptême, qui est le signe de la purification par le sang et par l'Esprit de Jésus: la Cène, dans laquelle nous recevons par la foi sa chair et son

XIV. We believe that there will be a resurrection of the unjust as well as of the just; that God has decided upon a day in which he shall judge the whole world by the man chosen for that purpose; that the unjust will go to everlasting punishment, while the just will rejoice in life everlasting.

XV. We believe that individual churches, established in different places, composed more or less of converted and unconverted persons, must make themselves known to the world by the confession of their hope, the acts of their worship, and the works of their charity. But we also believe that, above all these individual churches which have been, are, and will be, there exists before God a holy universal Church, composed of all the redeemed ones, forming one invisible body of which Jesus Christ is the head, and whose members will be entirely known only at the last day.

XVI. We believe that the Saviour has instituted Baptism and the Lord's Supper as symbols and pledges of the salvation which he has acquired for us: Baptism, which is the sign of the purification by the blood and spirit of Jesus Christ; the Eucharist, in sang, et nous annonçons sa mort jusqu'à ce qu'il vienne.

XVII. Nous déclarons que, tout en voulant devant Dieu maintenir parmi nous la saine prédication de toutes ces vérités, nous reconnaissons pour frères tous ceux qui, en quelque lieu que se soit, invoquent Jésus-Christ comme leur unique Sauveur et comme leur Dieu; nous voulons les aimer, et nous désirons apprendre du Seigneur à leur donner en toute occasion des témoignages du lien qui nous unit tous en Lui pour l'éternité.

which we receive by faith his body and his blood, and announce his death until his coming.

XVII. We declare that, while wishing before God to maintain among ourselves the sound preaching of all these truths, we receive as brethren all such as, in any place whatsoever, pray to Jesus Christ as their only Saviour and their God; we wish to love them, and to learn from our Lord to give them on all occasions tokens of the bonds which unite us all together in Him for eternity.

CREED OF THE FREE CHRISTIAN CHURCH IN ITALY.

(FREE ITALIAN CHURCH.)

Declaration of Principles, adopted unanimously in General Assembly at Milan, June, 1870.

[From the Fifth Evangelization Report of the Free Christian Church in Italy. Florence, 1876.]

1. God the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost has manifested his will in Revelation, which is the Bible, the alone perfect and immutable rule of faith and conduct.

2. God created man perfect in his own image and likeness, but Adam, disobeying the Word of God, sinned, and thus by one man sin has entered into the world, and death by sin. On this account human nature in Adam and by Adam has become corrupt and sinful; and we are all born in Adam with the inclination to do evil, and the inability of doing well what God has commanded; therefore, naturally, we are all sinners under condemnation.

3. God does not desire the death of the sinner, but that he should come to the knowledge of the truth and be saved.

4. Salvation comes from the eternal and gratuitous love of the Father; it is obtained through the expiatory sacrifice, resurrection, and intercession of the Son; it is communicated by the Holy Spirit, who regenerates the sinner, unites him to Christ by faith, comes and dwells in him, produces peace in his heart, giving him the assurance of the entire remission of his sins, making him free, guiding and consoling him by means of the Word which he himself has given, sealing and guarding him until the day of the glorious appearing of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

5. The Christian, redeemed with a great price, ought to glorify God in his body, soul, and spirit, which belong to God, walking in holiness, without which no man can see the Lord. In order to this, he finds strength in communion with him who says to him, 'My grace is sufficient for thee.'

6. Believers, regenerated in Christ, form the Church, which can not perish nor apostatize, being the body of the Lord Jesus.

7. In addition to the universal priesthood of believers, God himself has established in the Church various special ministries for the perfecting of the saints and the edifying of the body of Christ, which ministries ought to be recognized by the Church itself.

8. The Lord Jesus Christ will come from heaven and transform our body of humiliation into a glorious body. In that day the dead in Christ shall rise first, and the living who are found faithful shall be transformed, and thus together shall we be caught up in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air, to be forever with the Lord; and, after his Kingdom, all the rest shall rise to be judged in judgment.

These articles are held to suffice as a testimony of a Christianity purely evangelical, without pretending that there are no other doctrines in the Bible to be believed. It is also clearly asserted that this 'Declaration of Principles' does not pretend to infallibility. The Word of God is alone infallible and immutable. Nor is it looked upon as the cause or title to salvation, but simply as the outward bond of unity in the faith and the banner of the Church.

THE CONFESSTION OF THE SOCIETY OF FRIENDS, COMMONLY CALLED QUAKERS. A.D. 1675.

[The fifteen Theological Theses or Propositions of ROBERT BARCLAY, which are the text of his 'Apology,' contain the most authoritative summary of the principles and doctrines of the RELIGIOUS SOCIETY OF FRIENDS, commonly called Quakers. The 'Apology' appeared first in Latin, 1675, and then repeatedly in English and other languages, and was widely distributed by the Society as a standard doctrinal treatise. I have taken the text from the magnificent copy of the 8th English edition, Birmingham, 1765, 4to. On this and other Quaker Confessions, see Vol. I. pp. 864 sqq.]

THESES THEOLOGICÆ.

TO THE CLERGY, OF WHAT SORT SOEVER, UNTO WHOSE HANDS THESE MAY COME;

BUT MORE PARTICULARLY

To the Doctors, Professors, and Students of Divinity in the Universities and Schools of Great Britain, whether Prelatical, Presbyterian, or any other;

ROBERT BARCLAY, a Servant of the Lord God, and one of those who in derision are called Quakers, wisheth unfeigned repentance, unto the acknowledgment of the Truth.

FRIENDS,—Unto you these following propositions are offered; in which, they being read and considered in the fear of the Lord, you may perceive that simple, naked truth, which man by his wisdom hath rendered so obscure and mysterious that the world is even burthened with the great and voluminous tractates which are made about it, and by their vain jangling and commentaries, by which it is rendered a hundredfold more dark and intricate than of itself it is: which great learning, so accounted of—to wit, your school divinity, which taketh up almost a man's whole lifetime to learn, brings not a whit nearer to God, neither makes any man less wicked, or more righteous than he was. Therefore hath God laid aside the wise and learned, and the disputers of this world; and hath chosen a few despicable and unlearned instruments, as to letter-learning, as he did fishermen of old, to publish his pure and naked truth, and to free it of those mists and fogs wherewith the clergy hath clouded it, that the people might admire and maintain them. And among several others, whom God hath chosen to make known these things—seeing I also have received, in measure, grace to be a dispenser of the same gospel—it seemed good unto me, according to my duty, to offer unto you these propositions; which, though short, yet are weighty, comprehending much, and declaring what the true ground of knowledge is, even of that knowledge which leads to Life Eternal; which is here witnessed of, and the testimony thereof left unto the Light of Christ in all your consciences.

Farewell,

R. B.

THE FIRST PROPOSITION.

Concerning the true Foundation of Knowledge.

Seeing the height of all happiness is placed in the true knowledge of God ('This is life eternal, to know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent'),¹ the true and right understanding of this foundation and ground of knowledge is that which is most necessary to be known and believed in the first place.

THE SECOND PROPOSITION.

Concerning Immediate Revelation.

Seeing ‘no man knoweth the Father but the Son, and he to whom the Son revealeth him;’¹ and seeing the revelation of the Son is in and by the Spirit; therefore the testimony of the Spirit is that alone by which the true knowledge of God hath been, is, and can be only revealed; who as, by the moving of his own Spirit, he converted the chaos of this world into that wonderful order wherein it was in the beginning, and created man a living soul, to rule and govern it, so by the revelation of the same Spirit he hath manifested himself all along unto the sons of men, both patriarchs, prophets, and apostles; which revelations of God by the Spirit, whether by outward voices and appearances, dreams, or inward objective manifestations in the heart, were of old the formal object of their faith, and remain yet so to be; since the object of the saints’ faith is the same in all ages, though set forth under divers administrations. Moreover, these divine inward revelations, which we make absolutely necessary for the building up of true faith, neither do nor can ever contradict the outward testimony of the Scriptures, or right and sound reason. Yet from hence it will not follow that these divine revelations are to be subjected to the examination, either of the outward testimony of the Scriptures or of the natural reason of man, as to a more noble or certain rule or touchstone; for this divine revelation and inward illumination is that which is evident and clear of itself, forcing, by its own evidence and clearness, the well-disposed understanding to assent, irresistibly moving the same thereunto; even as the common principles of natural truths move and incline the mind to a natural assent: as, that the whole is greater than its part; that two contradictory sayings can not be both true, nor both false: which is also manifest, according to our adversaries’ principle, who—supposing the possibility of inward divine revelations—will nevertheless confess with us that neither Scripture nor sound reason will contradict it: and yet it will not follow, according to them, that the Scripture or sound reason should be subjected to the examination of the divine revelations in the heart.

THE THIRD PROPOSITION.

Concerning the Scriptures.

From these revelations of the Spirit of God to the saints have proceeded the Scriptures of truth, which contain: 1. A faithful historical account of the actings of God's people in divers ages, with many singular and remarkable providences attending them. 2. A prophetical account of several things, whereof some are already past, and some yet to come. 3. A full and ample account of all the chief principles of the doctrine of Christ, held forth in divers precious declarations, exhortations, and sentences, which, by the moving of God's Spirit, were at several times, and upon sundry occasions, spoken and written unto some churches and their pastors: nevertheless, because they are only a declaration of the fountain, and not the fountain itself, therefore they are not to be esteemed the principal ground of all truth and knowledge, nor yet the adequate primary rule of faith and manners. Nevertheless, as that which giveth a true and faithful testimony of the first foundation, they are and may be esteemed a secondary rule, subordinate to the Spirit, from which they have all their excellency and certainty; for as by the inward testimony of the Spirit we do alone truly know them, so they testify that the Spirit is that guide by which the saints are led into all truth: therefore, according to the Scriptures, the Spirit is the first and principal Leader.¹ And seeing we do therefore receive and believe the Scriptures, because they proceeded from the Spirit, therefore also the Spirit is more originally and principally the rule, according to that received maxim in the schools, Propter quod unumquodque est tale, illud ipsum est magis tale. Englished thus: 'That for which a thing is such, that thing itself is more such.'

THE FOURTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning the Condition of Man in the Fall.

All Adam's posterity, or mankind, both Jews and Gentiles, as to the first Adam, or earthly man, is fallen, degenerated, and dead, deprived of the sensation or feeling of this inward testimony or seed of God, and is subject unto the power, nature, and seed of the Serpent, which he sows in men's hearts, while they abide in this natural and corrupted state;¹ from whence it comes that not their words and deeds only, but all their imaginations are evil perpetually in the sight of God, as proceeding from this depraved and wicked seed. Man, therefore, as he is in this state, can know nothing aright; yea, his thoughts and conceptions concerning God and things spiritual, until he be disjoined from this evil seed, and united to the Divine Light, are unprofitable both to himself and others: hence are rejected the Socinian and Pelagian errors, in exalting a natural light; as also of the Papists, and most Protestants, who affirm that man, without the true grace of God, may be a true minister of the gospel. Nevertheless, this seed is not imputed to infants, until by transgression they actually join themselves therewith; for they are by nature the children of wrath, who walk according to the power of the prince of the air.

THE FIFTH AND SIXTH PROPOSITIONS.

Concerning the Universal Redemption by Christ, and also the Saving and Spiritual Light, wherewith every man is enlightened.

THE FIFTH PROPOSITION.

God, out of his infinite love, who delighteth not in the death of a sinner, but that all should live and be saved, hath so loved the world that he hath given his only Son a Light, that whosoever believeth in him should be saved; who enlighteneth every man that cometh into the world, and maketh manifest all things that are reprobable, and teacheth all temperance, righteousness, and godliness:² and this Light enlighteneth the hearts of all in a day,³ in order to salvation, if not resisted: nor is it less universal than the seed of sin, being the purchase of his death, who tasted death for every man; 'for as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.'⁴

² Ezek. xviii. 23; Isa. xlix. 6; John iii. 16; i. 9; Titus ii. 11; Eph. v. 13; Heb. ii. 9.

³ Pro tempore: for a time.

⁴ 1 Cor. xv. 22.

THE SIXTH PROPOSITION.

According to which principle (or hypothesis), all the objections against the universality of Christ's death are easily solved; neither is it needful to recur to the ministry of angels, and those other miraculous means which, they say, God makes use of, to manifest the doctrine and history of Christ's passion unto such, who, living in those places of the world where the outward preaching of the gospel is unknown, have well improved the first and common grace; for hence it well follows, that as some of the old philosophers might have been saved, so also may now some—who by providence are cast into those remote parts of the world where the knowledge of the history is wanting—be made partakers of the divine mystery, if they receive and resist not that grace, ‘a manifestation whereof is given to every man to profit withal.’¹ This certain doctrine then being received, to wit, that there is an evangelical and saving light and grace in all, the universality of the love and mercy of God towards mankind—both in the death of his beloved Son, the Lord Jesus Christ, and in the manifestation of the light in the heart—is established and confirmed against all the objections of such as deny it. Therefore ‘Christ hath tasted death for every man’: ² not only for all kinds of men, as some vainly talk, but for every one, of all kinds; the benefit of whose offering is not only extended to such, who have the distinct outward knowledge of his death and sufferings, as the same is declared in the Scriptures, but even unto those who are necessarily excluded from the benefit of this knowledge by some inevitable accident; which knowledge we willingly confess to be very profitable and comfortable, but not absolutely needful unto such, from whom God himself hath withheld it; yet they may be made partakers of the mystery of his death—though ignorant of the history—if they suffer his seed and light—enlightening their hearts—to take place; in which light communion with the Father and Son is enjoyed, so as of wicked men to become holy, and lovers of that power by whose inward and secret touches they feel themselves turned from the evil to the good, and learn to do to others as they would be done by; in which Christ himself affirms all to be included. As they then have falsely and erroneously taught who have denied Christ to have died for all men, so neither have they sufficiently taught the truth, who, affirming him to have died for all, have added the absolute necessity of the outward knowledge thereof in order to the obtaining its saving effect; among whom the Remonstrants of Holland have been chiefly wanting, and many other asserters of Universal Redemption, in that they have not placed the extent of this salvation in that divine and evangelical principle of light and life wherewith Christ hath enlightened every man that comes into the world, which is excellently and evidently held forth in these Scriptures: Gen. vi. 3; Deut. xxx. 14; John i. 7-9; Rom. x. 8; Titus ii. 11.

THE SEVENTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning Justification.

As many as resist not this light, but receive the same, in them is produced an holy, pure, and spiritual birth, bringing forth holiness, righteousness, purity, and all those other blessed fruits which are acceptable to God; by which holy birth, to wit, Jesus Christ formed within us, and working his works in us, as we are sanctified, so we are justified in the sight of God, according to the apostle's words, ‘But ye are washed, but ye are sanctified, but ye are justified, in the name of the Lord Jesus, and by the Spirit of our God.’¹ Therefore it is not by our works wrought in our will, nor yet by good works, considered as of themselves, but by Christ, who is both the gift and the giver, and the cause producing the effects in us; who, as he hath reconciled us while we were enemies, doth also in his wisdom save us, and justify us after this manner, as saith the same apostle elsewhere, ‘According to his mercy he saved us, by the washing of regeneration, and the renewing of the Holy Ghost.’²

THE EIGHTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning Perfection.

In whom this holy and pure birth is fully brought forth the body of death and sin comes to be crucified and removed, and their hearts united and subjected unto the truth, so as not to obey any suggestion or temptation of the evil one, but to be free from actual sinning and transgressing of the law of God, and in that respect perfect. Yet doth this perfection still admit of a growth; and there remaineth a possibility of sinning where the mind doth not most diligently and watchfully attend unto the Lord.¹

THE NINTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning Perseverance, and the Possibility of Falling from Grace.

Although this gift and inward grace of God be sufficient to work out salvation, yet in those in whom it is resisted it both may and doth become their condemnation. Moreover, in whom it hath wrought in part, to purify and sanctify them, in order to their further perfection, by disobedience such may fall from it, and turn it to wantonness, making shipwreck of faith; and ‘after having tasted of the heavenly gift, and been made partakers of the Holy Ghost, again fall away.’² Yet such an increase and stability in the truth may in this life be attained, from which there can not be a total apostasy.

THE TENTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning the Ministry.

As by this gift, or Light of God, all true knowledge in things spiritual is received and revealed; so by the same, as it is manifested and received in the heart, by the strength and power thereof, every true minister of the gospel is ordained, prepared, and supplied in the work of the ministry; and by the leading, moving, and drawing hereof ought every evangelist and Christian pastor to be led and ordered in his labor and work of the gospel, both as to the place where, as to the persons to whom, and as to the times when he is to minister. Moreover, those who have this authority may and ought to preach the gospel, though without human commission or literature; as, on the other hand, those who want the authority of this divine gift, however learned or authorized by the commissions of men and churches, are to be esteemed but as deceivers, and not true ministers of the gospel. Also, who have received this holy and unspotted gift, ‘as they have freely received, so are they freely to give,¹ without hire or bargaining, far less to use it as a trade to get money by it: yet if God hath called any from their employments or trades, by which they acquire their livelihood, it may be lawful for such, according to the liberty which they feel given them in the Lord, to receive such temporals—to wit, what may be needful to them for meat and clothing—as are freely given them by those to whom they have communicated spirituals.

¹ Rom. vi. 14; viii. 13; 1 John iii. 6.

² 1 Tim. i. 6; Heb. vi. 4-6.

THE ELEVENTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning Worship.

All true and acceptable worship to God is offered in the inward and immediate moving and drawing of his own Spirit, which is neither limited to places, times, or persons; for though we be to worship him always, in that we are to fear before him, yet as to the outward signification thereof in prayers, praises, or preachings, we ought not to do it where and when we will, but where and when we are moved thereunto by the secret inspirations of his Spirit in our hearts, which God heareth and accepteth of, and is never wanting to move us thereunto, when need is, of which he himself is the alone proper judge. All other worship then, both praises, prayers, and preachings, which man sets about in his own will, and at his own appointment, which he can both begin and end at his pleasure, do or leave undone, as himself sees meet, whether they be a prescribed form, as a liturgy, or prayers conceived extemporarily, by the natural strength and faculty of the mind, they are all but superstitions, will-worship, and abominable idolatry in the sight of God; which are to be denied, rejected, and separated from, in this day of his spiritual arising: however it might have pleased him—who winked at the times of ignorance, with respect to the simplicity and integrity of some, and of his own innocent seed, which lay as it were buried in the hearts of men, under the mass of superstition—to blow upon the dead and dry bones, and to raise some breathings, and answer them, and that until the day should more clearly dawn and break forth.²

² Ezek. xiii. ; Matt. x. 20; Acts ii. 4; xviii. 5; John iii. 6; iv. 21; Jude 19; Acts xvii. 23.

THE TWELFTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning Baptism.

As there is one Lord and one faith, so there is ‘one baptism; which is not the putting away the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience before God, by the resurrection of Jesus Christ.’ And this baptism is a pure and spiritual thing, to wit, the baptism of the Spirit and Fire, by which we are buried with him, that, being washed and purged from our sins, we may ‘walk in newness of life;’ of which the baptism of John was a figure, which was commanded for a time, and not to continue forever.¹

As to the baptism of infants, it is a mere human tradition, for which neither precept nor practice is to be found in all the Scripture.

THE THIRTEENTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning the Communion, or Participation of the Body and Blood of Christ.

The communion of the body and blood of Christ is inward and spiritual, which is the participation of his flesh and blood, by which the inward man is daily nourished in the hearts of those in whom Christ dwells;² of which things the breaking of bread by Christ with his disciples was a figure, which they even used in the Church for a time, who had received the substance, for the cause of the weak; even as ‘abstaining from things strangled, and from blood;’ the washing one another’s feet, and the anointing of the sick with oil;³ all which are commanded with no less authority and solemnity than the former; yet seeing they are but the shadows of better things, they cease in such as have obtained the substance.

THE FOURTEENTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning the Power of the Civil Magistrate, in matters purely religious, and pertaining to the conscience.

Since God hath assumed to himself the power and dominion of the conscience, who alone can rightly instruct and govern it, therefore it

¹ Eph. iv. 5; 1 Pet. iii. 21; Rom. vi. 4; Gal. iii. 27; Col. ii. 12; John iii. 30; 1 Cor. i. 17.

² 1 Cor. x. 16, 17; John vi. 32, 33, 35; 1 Cor. v. 8.

³ Acts xv. 20; John xiii. 14; James v. 14.

is not lawful for any whatsoever, by virtue of any authority or principality they bear in the government of this world, to force the consciences of others; and therefore all killing, banishing, fining, imprisoning, and other such things, which men are afflicted with, for the alone exercise of their conscience, or difference in worship or opinion, proceedeth from the spirit of Cain, the murderer, and is contrary to the truth; provided always that no man, under the pretense of conscience, prejudice his neighbor in his life or estate, or do any thing destructive to, or inconsistent with, human society; in which case the law is for the transgressor, and justice to be administered upon all, without respect of persons.¹

THE FIFTEENTH PROPOSITION.

Concerning Salutations and Recreations, etc.

Seeing the chief end of all religion is to redeem man from the spirit and vain conversation of this world, and to lead into inward communion with God, before whom, if we fear always, we are accounted happy, therefore all the vain customs and habits thereof, both in word and deed, are to be rejected and forsaken by those who come to this fear; such as the taking off the hat to a man, the bowings and cringings of the body, and such other salutations of that kind, with all the foolish and superstitious formalities attending them; all which man has invented in his degenerate state, to feed his pride in the vain pomp and glory of this world; as also the unprofitable plays, frivolous recreations, sportings, and gamings which are invented to pass away the precious time, and divert the mind from the witness of God in the heart, and from the living sense of his fear, and from that evangelical Spirit wherewith Christians ought to be leavened, and which leads into sobriety, gravity, and godly fear; in which, as we abide, the blessing of the Lord is felt to attend us in those actions in which we are necessarily engaged, in order to the taking care for the sustenance of the outward man.²

EASTER LITANY OF THE MORAVIAN CHURCH. A.D. 1749.

[This is the chief Confession of the Church of the UNITED BRETHREN, commonly called the MORAVIANS. It was originally composed in German, and was translated and slightly modified in 1749. The text is taken from the Liturgienbuch der Evangelischen Brüdergemeine, Gnadau, 1873. It has been kindly prepared in both languages for this work by my friend, the Rt. Rev. EDMUND DE SCHWEINITZ, S.T.D., Bishop of the Moravian Church, Bethlehem, Pa.]

Litany am Ostermorgen.

Ich glaube an den Einigen Gott, Vater, Sohn, und heiligen Geist, der alle Dinge geschaffen hat durch Jesum Christ, und war in Christo, und versöhnte die Welt mit ihm selber.

Ich glaube an Gott, den Vater unsers Herrn Jesu Christi, der uns erwählt hat durch denselben, ehe der Welt Grund gelegt war;

Der uns errettet hat von der Obligkeit der Finsterniß, und hat uns versetzt in das Reich Seines lieben Sohnes;

Der uns gesegnet hat mit allerlei geistlichem Segen in himmlischen Gütern durch Christum;

Und hat uns tüchtig gemacht zu dem Erbtheil der Heiligen im Licht, da Er uns verordnet hat zur Kindschaft gegen ihn selbst durch Jesum Christ, nach dem Wohlgefallen seines Willens, zu Lebe seiner herrlichen Gnade, durch welche er uns hat angenehm gemacht in dem Geliebten.

Das ist gewißlich wahr!

Wir preisen dich, Vater und Herr Himmels und der Erden, daß du sol-

EASTER MORNING LITANY.

I believe in the One only God, Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, who created all things by Jesus Christ, and was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself.

I believe in God, the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world;

Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness, and hath translated us into the kingdom of his dear Son;

Who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ;

Who hath made us meet to be partakers of the inheritance of the saints in light: having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will, to the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the Beloved.

This I verily believe.

We thank thee, O Father, Lord of heaven and earth, because thou ches den Weisen und Klugen verborgen hast, und hast es den Unmündigen offenbaret. Ja, Vater ! denn es ist also wohlgefällig gewesen vor dir.

Vater ! verklärre deinen Namen !

Unser Vater in dem Himmel ! dein Name werde geheiligt ; dein Reich komme ; dein Wille geschehe auf Erden wie im Himmel ; unser täglich Brod gieb uns hente ; und vergieb uns unsre Schulden wie wir unsern Schuldigern vergeben ; und führe uns nicht in Versuchung , sondern erlöse uns von dem Bösen ; denn dein ist das Reich und die Kraft und die Herrlichkeit in Ewigkeit, Amen.

Vater ! habe uns lieb, darum, daß wir deinen Sohn lieben, und glauben, daß er von dir ausgegangen ist.

Ich glaube an den Namen des Eingeborenen Sohnes Gottes, durch welchen alle Dinge sind, und wir durch ihn.

Ich glaube, daß er Fleisch ward und wohnete unter uns ; und nahm Knechtsgestalt an :

Durch den heiligen Geist empfangen von Maria der Jungfrau ; wie die Kinder Fleisch und Blut haben, ist er's gleichermaßen theilhaftig worden, geboren von einem Weibe ;

Und an Geberden wie ein Mensch erfunden ; ist versucht werden allenthalben, gleich wie wir, doch ohne Sünde :

hast hid these things from the wise and prudent, and hast revealed them unto babes. Even so, Father : for so it seemed good in thy sight.

Father, glorify thy name.

Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name ; thy kingdom come ; thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven ; give us this day our daily bread ; and forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us ; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil : for thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, for ever and ever : Amen.

I believe in the name of the only-begotten Son of God, by whom are all things, and we through him ;

I believe that he was made flesh, and dwelt among us ; and took on him the form of a servant ;

By the overshadowing of the Holy Ghost was conceived of the Virgin Mary ; as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same ; was born of a woman ;

And being found in fashion as a man, was tempted in all points like as we are, yet without sin :

Denn er war der Herr, der Engel des Bundes, deß wir begehrten; der Herr und sein Geist hatten ihn gesandt, zu predigen das angenehme
Jahr des Herrn.

Er redete, was er wußte, und zeugte, was er gesehen hatte; die ihn aufnah-men, denen gab er Macht, Gottes Kinder zu werden.

Sehet! das ist Gottes Lamm, das der Welt Sünde getragen hat: gelitten unter Pontio Pilato, gefreuziget, gestorben und begraben; ist im Geiste hingegangen, und hat geprediget den
Geistern im Gefängniß;

Am dritten Tage wieder auferstan-den von den Todten, und mit ihm viele
Leiber der Heiligen, die da schliefen;

Ausgefahren gen Himmel, sitzt auf
des Vaters Stuhle;

Wird wiederkommen, wie man ihn gesehen hat gen Himmel fahren.

Es spricht der Geist und die
Braut: Ach komm!

Nud wer es höret, der spreche:
Komm!

Amen! ja, Herr Jesu! komm, bleib nicht lange!

Wir warten deiner, uns wird fast bange.

Komm, komm doch, komm!

Auch wird er mit einem Feidegeschrei und Stimme des Erzengels, und mit der Posaune Gottes hernieder kommen vom Himmel, zu richten die Lebendigen und die Todten.

For he is the Lord, the Messenger of the covenant, whom we delight in. The Lord and his Spirit hath sent him to proclaim the acceptable year of the Lord;

He spoke that which he did know, and testified that which he had seen: as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God.

Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world;

Suffered under Pontius Pilate, was crucified, dead, and buried;

The third day rose again from the dead, and with him many bodies of the saints which slept;

Ascended into heaven, and sitteth on the throne of the Father; whence he will come, in like manner as he was seen going into heaven.

*The Spirit and the bride say,
Come.*

*And let him that heareth say,
Come.*

Amen! come, Lord Jesus! come we implore thee!

With longing hearts we now are waiting for thee.

Come soon, O come!

The Lord will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God, to judge both the quick and the dead.

Das ist mein Herr, der mich verloren und verdamnten Menschen erlöst hat, erwerben, gewonnen, von allen Sünden, vom Tode und von der Gewalt des Teufels ;

Nicht mit Gold oder Silber, sondern mit seinem heiligen theuren Blute und mit seinem unschuldigen Leiden und Sterben ;

Auf daß ich sein eigen sei, und in seinem Reiche unter ihm lebe und ihm diene in ewiger Gerechtigkeit, Unschuld und Seligkeit ;

Gleichwie er ist auferstanden vom Tode, lebet und regiert in Ewigkeit.

Das ist gewißlich wahr !

Ich glaube an den heiligen Geist, der vom Vater ausgehet, und den uns unser Herr Jesus Christus gesandt hat, nach seinem Hingange, daß er ewiglich bei uns bleibe ;

This is my Lord, who redeemed me, a lost and undone human creature, purchased and gained me from sin, from death, and from the power of the devil ;

Not with gold or silver, but with his holy precious blood, and with his innocent suffering and dying ;

To the end that I should be his own, and in his kingdom live under him and serve him, in eternal righteousness, innocence, and happiness ;

Even as he, being risen from the dead, liveth and reigneth, world without end.

This I most certainly believe.

I believe in the Holy Ghost, who proceedeth from the Father, and whom our Lord Jesus Christ sent, after he went away, that he should abide with us forever ;

That he should comfort us, as a mother comforteth her children ;

That he should help our infirmities, and make intercession for us with groanings which can not be uttered ;

That he should bear witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God, and teach us to cry, Abba, Father ;

That he should shed abroad in our hearts the love of God, and make our bodies his holy temple ;

Und daß er Alles in Allem wirke, und theile einem Jezlichen mit, nach-dem er will.

Dem sei Ehre in der Gemeine, die in Christo Jesu ist, der allgemeinen heiligen christlichen Kirche, in Gemeinschaft der Heiligen, zu aller Zeit, und von Ewigkeit zu Ewigkeit. Amen.

Ich glaube, daß ich nicht aus eigener Vernunft noch Kraft an Jesum Christum, meinen Herrn, glauben oder zu ihm kommen kann ;

Sondern daß mich der heilige Geist durch's Evangelium berufet, mit seinen Gaben erleuchtet, im rechten Glauben heiligt und erhält ;

Gleichwie er die ganze Christenheit auf Erden berufet, sammlet, erleuchtet, heiligt, und bei Jesu Christo erhält,
im rechten einigen Glauben ;

In welcher Christenheit er mir und allen Gläubigen täglich alle Sünden reichlich vergiebt.

Das ist gewißlich wahr.

Ich glaube, daß ich durch die heilige
Taufe, welche ist das Bad der Wiedergeburt und Erneuerung des heiligen Geistes, der Gemeine Jesu Christi einverlebt worden bin, welche er geliebet hat, und hat sich selbst für sie gegeben, auf daß er sie heilige, und hat sie ge-reinigt durch das Wasserbad im Wort.
Amen.

In dieser Gemeinschaft der Gläubi-

And that he should work all in all, dividing to every man severally as he will.

To him be glory in the Church, which is in Christ Jesus, the holy, universal Christian Church, in the communion of saints, at all times, and from eternity to eternity.
Amen.

I believe that by my own reason and strength I can not believe in Jesus Christ my Lord, or come to him;

But that the Holy Ghost calleth me by the gospel, enlighteneth me with his gifts, sanctifieth and preserveth me in the true faith ;

Even as he calleth, gathereth, enlighteneth, and sanctifieth the whole Church on earth, which he keepeth by Jesus Christ in the only true faith ;

In which Christian Church God forgiveth me and every believer all sin daily and abundantly.

This I assuredly believe.

I believe that by holy baptism
I am embodied a member of the Church of Christ, which he hath loved, and for which he gave himself, that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the Word. Amen.

In this communion of saints my gen getröste ich mich meines lieben Herrn und Heilandes Jesu Christi, welcher ist für mich gestorben, und hat sein Blut am Kreuze für mich vergossen zur Vergebung der Sünden, und hat mir seinen Leib und sein Blut im Sakrament zum Pfande gegeben. Wie dann die Schrift sagt: Unser Herr Jesus Christus, in der Nacht, da er verrathen ward, nahm er das Brot, dankete und brach es, und gab es seinen Jüngern, und sprach: Nehmet, esjet, das ist mein Leib, der für euch gegeben wird. Solches thut zu meinem Gedächtniß. Dasselbigen gleichen nahm er auch den Kelch nach dem Abendmahl, dankete, und gab ihnen den, und sprach: Nehmet hin, trinket alle daraus: dieser Kelch ist das neue Testament in meinem Blut, das für euch vergossen wird, zur Vergebung der Sünden. Solches thut, so oft ihr es trinket, zu meinem Gedächtniß.

Darum bleibt er in mir und ich in ihm, und ich habe das ewige Leben, und er wird mich auferwecken am jüngsten Tage. Amen.

Ich begehre, aufgelöst und bei Christo zu sein, welches auch viel besser wäre: ich werde den Tod nicht schmecken ewiglich, und entgegen kommen zur Auferstehung der Toten; denn meine Hütte, die ich ablege, das Kern der Verwesung, wird anziehen die Unverweslichkeit: das Fleisch ruhet in Hoffnung; faith is placed upon my Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, who died for us, and shed his blood on the cross for the remission of sins, and who hath granted unto me his body and blood in the Lord's Supper, as a pledge of grace; as the Scripture saith: Our Lord Jesus Christ, the same night in which he was betrayed, took bread: and when he had given thanks, he brake it, and gave it to his disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body which is given for you; this do in remembrance of me. After the same manner, also, our Lord Jesus Christ, when he had supped, took the cup, gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; this is my blood, the blood of the New Testament, which is shed for you, and for many, for the remission of sins. This do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me.

Therefore he abideth in me and I in him, and I have eternal life, and he will raise me up on the last day. Amen.

I have a desire to depart, and to be with Christ, which is far better; I shall never taste death; yea, I shall attain unto the resurrection of the dead; for the body which I shall put off, this grain of corruptibility, shall put on incorruption: my flesh shall rest in hope;

Und auch dich, du sterbendes Gebeine, wird Gott lebendig machen, um deßwillen, daß sein Geist in dir gewohnet hat.

Amen.

Ich glaube, daß unsre Brüder und Schwestern, so sie im Herrn entschlafen sind, zur oberen Gemeine gefahren und eingegangen sind in ihres Herrn Freude; der Leib ist hier begraben:

Den wird Jesus Christus einst beim Erwachen Seinem verklärten Leib ähnlich machen:
Hallelujah!

Wir armen Sünder bitten, du wollest uns erhören, lieber Herr und Gott!

Und uns mit der vollendeten Gemeine, und insonderheit mit deinen dieses Jahr über heimberufenen Dienern und Dienerinnen, in ewiger Gemeinschaft erhalten, und uns dereinst bei dir zusammen anzuruhen lassen von unsrer Arbeit.

Amen.

Sein' Augen, seinen Mund
Den Leib für uns verwund't,

And the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great Shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting covenant, shall also quicken these our mortal bodies, if so be that the Spirit of God hath dwelt in them.

Amen.

*We poor sinners pray,
Hear us, gracious Lord and God;*

And keep us in everlasting fellowship with our brethren, and with our sisters, who have entered into the joy of their Lord;

Also with the servants and handmaids of our Church, whom thou hast called home in the past year, and with the whole Church triumphant; and let us rest together in thy presence from our labors.

Amen.

They are at rest in lasting bliss,
Beholding Christ our Saviour:
Our humble expectation is
To live with him forever.

Lord, grant me thy protection,
Remind me of thy death

Da wir so fest d'räuf hanen,
Das werd'n wir alles schanen,
Und innig herzlich grüssen
Die Maal' an Händ' und Füßen.

Wir grüß'n uns ehrerbietiglich,
Als Glieder seiner Braut,
Die theils althier noch sehnnet sich
Und theils schon dert ihn schaut.

Wenn ich einst werd' erblassen
In seinem Arm und Schoß,
Will ich das Blut anfassen,
Das er für mich vergeß :

Das wird auch mein Gebeine
Mit Lebenskraft durchgeln;
Dann fahr' ich zur Gemeine;
Mein Leib wird aufersteh'n.

Ehre sei dem, der da ist die Auferstehung und das Leben!

Wer an ihn glaubet, der wird leben, ob er gleich stirbe.

Ehre sei ihm in der Gemeine, die auf ihn wartet, und die um ihn her ist!

Bon Ewigkeit zu Ewigkeit.

Amen.

Die Gnade unsers Herrn Jesu Christi, und die Liebe Gottes, und die Gemeinschaft des Heiligen Geistes, sei mit uns Allen.

Amen.

And glorious resurrection,
When I resign my breath :
Ah ! then, though I be dying,
'Midst sickness, grief, and pain,
I shall, on thee relying,
Eternal life obtain.

Glory be to him who is the Resurrection and the Life ; he was dead, and behold, he is alive for evermore ;

And he that believeth in him, though he were dead, yet shall he live.

Glory be to him in the Church which waiteth for him, and in that which is around him :

Forever and ever.

Amen.

The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with us all.

Amen.

METHODIST ARTICLES OF RELIGION. A.D. 1784.

[The Twenty-five Articles of Religion were drawn up by JOHN WESLEY for the American Methodists, and adopted at a Conference in 1784. They underwent some changes, chiefly verbal, and Art. 23d, acknowledging the sovereignty of the people of the United States, was adopted by the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1804. They are a liberal and judicious abridgment of the Thirty-nine Articles of the Church of England, the Calvinistic and other features being omitted (Arts. 3, 8, 13, 15, 17, 18, 20, 21, 26, 29, 31, 33, 34, 36, and 37).]

The text is taken from the official manual of The Doctrines and Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church, ed. by Bishop HARRIS, New York, 1872.]

I. OF FAITH IN THE HOLY TRINITY.

There is but one living and true God, everlasting, without body or parts, of infinite power, wisdom, and goodness; the Maker and Preserver of all things, visible and invisible. And in unity of this Godhead there are three persons, of one substance, power, and eternity, the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost.

II. OF THE WORD, OR SON OF GOD, WHO WAS MADE VERY MAN.

The Son, who is the Word of the Father, the very and eternal God, of one substance with the Father, took man's nature in the womb of the blessed Virgin; so that two whole and perfect natures—that is to say, the Godhead and manhood—were joined together in one person, never to be divided, whereof is one Christ, very God and very man, who truly suffered, was crucified, dead and buried, to reconcile his Father to us, and to be a sacrifice, not only for original guilt, but also for the actual sins of men.

III. OF THE RESURRECTION OF CHRIST.

Christ did truly rise again from the dead, and took again his body, with all things appertaining to the perfection of man's nature, wherewith he ascended into heaven, and there sitteth until he return to judge all men at the last day.

IV. OF THE HOLY GHOST.

The Holy Ghost, proceeding from the Father and the Son, is of one substance, majesty, and glory with the Father and the Son, very and eternal God.

V. THE SUFFICIENCY OF THE HOLY SCRIPTURES FOR SALVATION.

The Holy Scriptures contain all things necessary to salvation; so that whatsoever is not read therein, nor may be proved thereby, is not to be required of any man that it should be believed as an article of faith, or be thought requisite or necessary to salvation. In the name of the Holy Scripture we do understand those canonical books of the Old and New Testament of whose authority was never any doubt in the Church. The names of the canonical books are—

Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, Deuteronomy, Joshua, Judges, Ruth, The First Book of Samuel, The Second Book of Samuel, The First Book of Kings, The Second Book of Kings, The First Book of Chronicles, The Second Book of Chronicles, The Book of Ezra, The Book of Nehemiah, The Book of Esther, The Book of Job, The Psalms, The Proverbs, Ecclesiastes or the Preacher, Cantica or Songs of Solomon, Four Prophets the greater, Twelve Prophets the less.

All the books of the New Testament, as they are commonly received, we do receive and account canonical.

VI. OF THE OLD TESTAMENT.

The Old Testament is not contrary to the New; for both in the Old and New Testament everlasting life is offered to mankind by Christ, who is the only Mediator between God and man, being both God and man. Wherefore they are not to be heard who feign that the old fathers did look only for transitory promises. Although the law given from God by Moses, as touching ceremonies and rites, doth not bind Christians, nor ought the civil precepts thereof of necessity be received in any commonwealth, yet, notwithstanding, no Christian whatsoever is free from the obedience of the commandments which are called moral.

VII. OF ORIGINAL OR BIRTH SIN.

Original sin standeth not in the following of Adam (as the Pelagians do vainly talk), but it is the corruption of the nature of every man, that naturally is engendered of the offspring of Adam, whereby man is very far gone from original righteousness, and of his own nature inclined to evil, and that continually.

VIII. OF FREE WILL.

The condition of man after the fall of Adam is such that he can not turn and prepare himself, by his own natural strength and works, to faith and calling upon God; wherefore we have no power to do good works, pleasant and acceptable to God, without the grace of God by Christ preventing us, that we may have a good will, and working with us, when we have that good will.

IX. OF THE JUSTIFICATION OF MAN.

We are accounted righteous before God only for the merit of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ by faith, and not for our own works or deservings. Wherefore, that we are justified by faith only is a most wholesome doctrine, and very full of comfort.

X. OF GOOD WORKS.

Although good works, which are the fruits of faith, and follow after justification, can not put away our sins, and endure the severity of God's judgments; yet are they pleasing and acceptable to God in Christ, and spring out of a true and lively faith, insomuch that by them a lively faith may be as evidently known as a tree is discerned by its fruit.

XI. OF WORKS OF SUPEREROGATION.

Voluntary works—besides, over, and above God's commandments—which are called works of supererogation, can not be taught without arrogance and impiety. For by them men do declare that they do not only render unto God as much as they are bound to do, but that they do more for his sake than of bounden duty is required: whereas Christ saith plainly, When ye have done all that is commanded you, say, We are unprofitable servants.

XII. OF SIN AFTER JUSTIFICATION.

Not every sin willingly committed after justification is the sin against the Holy Ghost, and unpardonable. Wherefore, the grant of repentance is not to be denied to such as fall into sin after justification: after we have received the Holy Ghost, we may depart from grace given, and fall into sin, and, by the grace of God, rise again and amend our lives. And therefore they are to be condemned who say they can no more sin as long as they live here; or deny the place of forgiveness to such as truly repent.

XIII. OF THE CHURCH.

The visible Church of Christ is a congregation of faithful men, in which the pure Word of God is preached, and the sacraments duly administered, according to Christ's ordinance, in all those things that of necessity are requisite to the same.

XIV. OF PURGATORY.

The Romish doctrine concerning purgatory, pardon, worshiping, and adoration, as well of images as of reliques, and also invocation of saints, is a fond thing, vainly invented, and grounded upon no warrant of Scripture, but repugnant to the Word of God.

XV. OF SPEAKING IN THE CONGREGATION IN SUCH A TONGUE AS THE PEOPLE UNDERSTAND.

It is a thing plainly repugnant to the Word of God, and the custom of the primitive Church, to have public prayer in the Church, or to minister the sacraments, in a tongue not understood by the people.

XVI. OF THE SACRAMENTS.

Sacraments ordained of Christ are not only badges or tokens of Christian men's profession, but rather they are certain signs of grace, and God's good will toward us, by the which he doth work invisibly in us, and doth not only quicken, but also strengthen and confirm our faith in him.

There are two sacraments ordained of Christ our Lord in the Gospel; that is to say, Baptism and the Supper of the Lord.

Those five commonly called sacraments, that is to say, confirmation, penance, orders, matrimony, and extreme unction, are not to be counted for sacraments of the gospel, being such as have partly grown out of the corrupt following of the apostles; and partly are states of life allowed in the Scriptures, but yet have not the like nature of Baptism and the Lord's Supper, because they have not any visible sign or ceremony ordained of God.

The sacraments were not ordained of Christ to be gazed upon, or to be carried about, but that we should duly use them. And in such only as worthily receive the same they have a wholesome effect or operation; but they that receive them unworthily purchase to themselves condemnation, as St. Paul saith, 1 Cor. xi. 29.

XVII. OF BAPTISM.

Baptism is not only a sign of profession, and mark of difference, whereby Christians are distinguished from others that are not baptized; but it is also a sign of regeneration, or the new birth. The baptism of young children is to be retained in the Church.

XVIII. OF THE LORD'S SUPPER.

The Supper of the Lord is not only a sign of the love that Christians ought to have among themselves one to another, but rather is a sacrament of our redemption by Christ's death; insomuch that, to such as rightly, worthily, and with faith receive the same, the bread which we break is a partaking of the body of Christ; and likewise the cup of blessing is a partaking of the blood of Christ.

Transubstantiation, or the change of the substance of bread and wine in the Supper of our Lord, can not be proved by Holy Writ, but is repugnant to the plain words of Scripture, overthroweth the nature of a sacrament, and hath given occasion to many superstitions.

The body of Christ is given, taken, and eaten in the Supper only after a heavenly and spiritual manner. And the means whereby the body of Christ is received and eaten in the Supper is faith.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was not by Christ's ordinance reserved, carried about, lifted up, or worshiped.

XIX. OF BOTH KINDS.

The cup of the Lord is not to be denied to the lay people; for both the parts of the Lord's Supper, by Christ's ordinance and commandment, ought to be administered to all Christians alike.

XX. OF THE ONE OBLATION OF CHRIST, FINISHED UPON THE CROSS.

The offering of Christ, once made, is that perfect redemption, propitiation, and satisfaction for all the sins of the whole world, both original and actual; and there is none other satisfaction for sin but that alone. Wherefore the sacrifice of masses, in the which it is commonly said that the priest doth offer Christ for the quick and the dead, to have remission of pain or guilt, is a blasphemous fable and dangerous deceit.

XXI. OF THE MARRIAGE OF MINISTERS.

The ministers of Christ are not commanded by God's law either to vow the estate of single life or to abstain from marriage: therefore it is lawful for them, as for all other Christians, to marry at their own discretion, as they shall judge the same to serve best to godliness.'

XXII. OF THE RITES AND CEREMONIES OF CHURCHES.

It is not necessary that rites and ceremonies should in all places be the same, or exactly alike; for they have been always different, and may be changed according to the diversity of countries, times, and men's manners, so that nothing be ordained against God's Word. Whosoever, through his private judgment, willingly and purposely doth openly break the rites and ceremonies of the Church to which he belongs, which are not repugnant to the Word of God, and are ordained and approved by common authority, ought to be rebuked openly, that others may fear to do the like, as one that offendeth against the common order of the Church, and woundeth the consciences of weak brethren.

Every particular Church may ordain, change, or abolish rites and ceremonies, so that all things may be done to edification.

XXIII. OF THE RULERS OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

The President, the Congress, the General Assemblies, the Governors, and the Councils of State, as the delegates of the people, are the rulers of the United States of America, according to the division of power made to them by the Constitution of the United States, and by the Constitutions of their respective States. And the said States are a sovereign and independent nation, and ought not to be subject to any foreign jurisdiction.¹

¹ As far as it respects civil affairs, we believe it the duty of Christians, and especially all Christian ministers, to be subject to the supreme authority of the country where they may reside, and to use all laudable means to enjoin obedience to the powers that be; and therefore it is expected that all our preachers and people who may be under the British or any other government will behave themselves as peaceable and orderly subjects.

XXIV. OF CHRISTIAN MEN'S GOODS.

The riches and goods of Christians are not common, as touching the right, title, and possession of the same, as some do falsely boast. Notwithstanding, every man ought, of such things as he possesseth, liberally to give alms to the poor, according to his ability.

XXV. OF A CHRISTIAN MAN'S OATH.

As we confess that vain and rash swearing is forbidden Christian men by our Lord Jesus Christ and James his apostle, so we judge that the Christian religion doth not prohibit but that a man may swear when the magistrate requireth, in a cause of faith and charity, so it be done according to the prophet's teaching, in justice, judgment, and truth.

ARTICLES OF RELIGION OF THE REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN AMERICA. A.D. 1875.

[These Articles were adopted by the third General Council of the REFORMED EPISCOPAL CHURCH in America, held in Chicago, May 18, 1875. They are based on the Thirty-nine Articles of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, from which the Reformed Episcopal Church has sprung under the lead of Bishop CUMMINS (d. June, 1876). See Vol. I, pp. 665 sqq. They resemble Wesley's abridgment of the English Articles, but retain more of the original. The text is taken from the Minutes of the Third General Council. It is also published in pamphlet form.]

ARTICLE I.

Of the Holy Trinity.

There is but one living and true God, who is a spirit, everlasting; of infinite power, wisdom, and goodness; the Maker and Preserver of all things, both visible and invisible. And in unity of this Godhead there be three persons, of one substance, power, and eternity: the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost.

ARTICLE II.

Of the Word, or Son of God, which was made very man.

The Son, who is the Word of the Father, begotten from everlasting of the Father, the very and eternal God, of one substance with the Father, took man's nature in the womb of the blessed Virgin, of her substance: so that two whole and perfect natures, that is to say, the Godhead and manhood, were joined together in one person, never to be divided, whereof is one Christ, very God and very man; who truly suffered, was crucified, dead and buried, to satisfy Divine justice, and to reconcile us to his Father, and to be a sacrifice, not only for original sin, but also for actual sins of men.

ARTICLE III.

Of the Resurrection of Christ, and his Second Coming.

Christ did truly rise from death, and took again his body, with flesh, bones, and all things appertaining to the perfection of man's nature, wherewith he ascended into heaven, and there sitteth, our High-Priest and Advocate, at the right hand of the Father, whence he will return to judge the world in righteousness. This Second Coming is the blessed hope of the Church. The heavens have received him, till the times of the restitution of all things. To those who look for him he shall appear a second time without sin unto salvation. Then shall he change the body of our humiliation that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body. He will take to himself his great power, and shall reign till he have put all enemies under his feet.

ARTICLE IV.

Of the Holy Ghost.

The Holy Ghost, proceeding from the Father and the Son, is of one substance, majesty, and glory with the Father and the Son, very and eternal God.

It is the work of the Holy Ghost to reprove and convince the world of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment; to take of the things of Christ and show them to men; to regenerate—making men willing, leading them to faith in Christ, and forming Christ in them the hope of glory; to strengthen them with might in their inner man, that Christ may dwell in their hearts by faith; and to secure in them that walking in the ways of God which is called the Fruit of the Spirit. The true Church is thus called out of the world, and is builded together for an habitation of God, through the Spirit.

ARTICLE V.

Of the Sufficiency of the Holy Scriptures for Salvation.

All Scripture is given by inspiration of God. Holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost: Holy Scripture is therefore the Word of God; not only does it contain the oracles of God, but it is itself the very oracles of God. And hence it containeth all things necessary to salvation: so that whatsoever is not read therein, nor may be proved thereby, is not to be required of any man, that it should be believed as an article of faith, or be thought requisite or necessary to salvation. In the name of the Holy Scripture we do understand the canonical books of the Old and New Testament, viz.:

Of the Old Testament:

Genesis,
Exodus,
Leviticus, Numbers,

Deuteronomy,
Joshua,
Judges,
Ruth,

The 1st Book of Samuel,
The 2d Book of Samuel,
The 1st Book of Kings,
The 2d Book of Kings,

The 1st Book of Chronicles,	Song of Solomon,	Obadiah,
The 2d Book of Chronicles,	Isaiah,	Jonah,
The Book of Ezra,	Jeremiah,	Micah,
The Book of Nehemiah,	Lamentations of Jeremiah,	Nahum,
The Book of Esther,	Ezekiel,	Habakkuk,
The Book of Job,	Daniel,	Zephaniah,
The Psalms,	Hosea,	Haggai,
The Proverbs,	Joel,	Zechariah,
Ecclesiastes,	Amos,	Malachi.

Of the New Testament :

Matthew,	Ephesians,	Hebrews,
Mark,	Philippians,	James,
Luke,	Colossians,	1st Peter,
John,	1st Thessalonians,	2d Peter,
Acts of the Apostles,	2d Thessalonians,	1st John,
Romans,	1st Timothy,	2d John,
1st Corinthians,	2d Timothy,	3d John,
2d Corinthians,	Titus,	Jude,
Galatians,	Philemon,	The Revelation.

The Book¹ commonly called “The Apocrypha” is not a portion of God’s Word, and is not therefore to be read in churches, nor to be used in establishing any doctrine.

ARTICLE VI.

Of the Old Testament.

The Old Testament is not contrary to the New: for both in the Old and New Testament everlasting life is offered to mankind by Christ, who is the only Mediator between God and man, being both God and Man. Wherefore they are not to be heard, which feign that the old Fathers did look only for transitory promises; and although the Law given from God by Moses, as touching Ceremonies and Rites, does not bind Christian men, nor the civil precepts thereof ought of necessity to be received in any commonwealth, yet notwithstanding, as a rule of right living, no Christian man whatsoever is free from the obedience of the commandments which are called moral.

ARTICLE VII.

Of Original or Birth Sin.

Original sin standeth not in the following of Adam, as the Pelagians do vainly talk; but it is the fault and corruption of the nature of every man, that naturally is engendered of the offspring of Adam, whereby man is wholly gone from original righteousness, and is of his own nature inclined to evil, so that the flesh lusteth always contrary to the spirit; and therefore in every person born into this world it deserveth God's condemnation. Men are, as the Apostle speaks, 'by nature the children of wrath.' And this infection of nature doth remain—yea, in them that are regenerated. And although there is no condemnation for them that are in Christ Jesus, yet the Apostle doth confess that concupiscence or lust in such hath of itself the nature of sin.

ARTICLE VIII.

Of Man's Condition by Nature.

The condition of man after the fall of Adam is such that he can not turn and prepare himself, by his own natural strength and good works, to faith and calling upon God. Wherefore we have no power to do good works pleasant and acceptable to God without the grace of God by Christ first inclining us, that we may have a good will, and working with us when we have that good will.

ARTICLE IX.

Of Works before Justification.

Works commonly called good before the grace of Christ and the inspiration of his Spirit, have not the nature of obedience to God, forasmuch as they spring not of faith in Jesus Christ, neither do they make men meet to deserve or to receive grace.

ARTICLE X.

Of Regeneration or the New Birth.

Regeneration is the creative act of the Holy Ghost, whereby he imparts to the soul a new spiritual life.

And whosoever believeth in Christ is born again, for, saith the Scripture, 'ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus.'

ARTICLE XI.

Of Faith.

The faith which brings justification is simply the reliance or dependence on Christ which accepts him as the sacrifice for our sins, and as our righteousness.

We may thus rely on Christ, either tremblingly or confidingly; but in either case it is saving faith. If, though tremblingly, we rely on him in his obedience for us unto death, instantly we come into union with him, and are justified. If, however, we confidingly rely on him, then have we the comfort of our justification. Simply by faith in Christ are we justified and saved.

ARTICLE XII.

Of the Justification of Man.

We are pardoned and accounted righteous before God, only for the merit of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, by faith; and not for our own works or deservings. He who knew no sin was made sin for us, that we might be made the righteousness of God in him. He bare our sins in his own body. It pleased our heavenly Father, of his infinite mercy, without any our desert or deserving, to provide for us the most precious sacrifice of Christ, whereby our ransom might be fully paid, the law fulfilled, and his justice fully satisfied. So that Christ is himself the righteousness of all them that truly do believe in him. He for them paid their ransom, by his death. He for them fulfilled the law, in his life. So that now in him, and by him, every true Christian man may be called a fulfiller of the law. Wherefore, that we are justified by faith only is a most wholesome doctrine, and very full of comfort.

ARTICLE XIII.

Of Repentance.

The repentance required by Scripture is a change of mind toward God, and is the effect of the conviction of sin, wrought by the Holy Ghost.

The unconverted man may have a sense of remorse, or of shame and self-reproach, and yet he may have neither a change of mind toward God nor any true sorrow; but when he accepts Christ as his Saviour, therein he manifests a change of mind, and is in possession of repentance unto life. The sinner comes to Christ through no labored process of repenting and sorrowing; but he comes to Christ and repentance both at once, by means of simply believing. And ever afterwards his repentance is deep and genuine in proportion as his faith is simple and childlike.

ARTICLE XIV.

Of the Sonship of Believers.

Believers in Christ are born of God, through the regenerating power of his Spirit, and are partakers of the Divine nature; for if ‘that which is born of the flesh is flesh,’ so ‘that which is born of the Spirit is spirit.’

And all who are thus born of God are sons of God, and joint heirs with Christ; and therefore, without distinction of name, brethren with Christ and with one another.

ARTICLE XV.

Of Good Works.

Good works, which are the fruits of faith, and follow after justification, are pleasing and acceptable to God in Christ, and do spring out, necessarily, of a true and lively faith; insomuch that by them a lively faith may be as evidently known as a tree discerned by the fruit. They who truly believe will seek to do the will of God, and they who do not thus seek are not to be accounted true believers.

ARTICLE XVI.

Of Works of Supererogation.

Voluntary works, besides, over, and above God’s commandments, which they call works of supererogation, can not be taught without arrogance and impiety. For by them men do declare that they do not only render unto God as much as they are bound to do, but that they do more for his sake than of bounden duty is required. Whereas Christ saith plainly: ‘When ye have done all that are commanded to you,¹ say, We are unprofitable servants.’

ARTICLE XVII.

Salvation only in Christ.

Holy Scripture doth set out unto us the name of Jesus Christ only, whereby men must be saved. His was a finished work and completely sufficient. Without any merit or deserving on our part he has secured to believers in him pardon, acceptance, sonship, sanctification, redemption, and eternal glory. Those who believe in him are in him complete. They are even now justified and have a present salvation; though they may not at all times have the sense of its possession.

¹[The Eng. Vers. reads: ‘all those things which are commanded you’ (Luke xvii. 10).—Ed.]

ARTICLE XVIII.

Of Election, Predestination, and Free Will.

While the Scriptures distinctly set forth the election, predestination, and calling of the people of God unto eternal life, as Christ saith: ‘All that the Father giveth me shall come to me;’ they no less positively affirm man’s free agency and responsibility, and that salvation is freely offered to all through Christ.

This Church, accordingly, simply affirms these doctrines as the Word of God sets them forth, and submits them to the individual judgment of its members, as taught by the Holy Spirit; strictly charging them that God commandeth all men every where to repent, and that we can be saved only by faith in Jesus Christ.

ARTICLE XIX.

Of Sin after Conversion.

The grant of repentance is not to be denied to such as fall into sin after conversion: that is to say, after, by the quickening into life by the Holy Ghost, they have turned to God by faith in Christ, and have been brought into that change of mind which is repentance unto life. For after we have received the Holy Ghost we may, through unbelief, carelessness, and worldliness, fall into sin, and by the grace of God we may arise again, and amend our lives; but every such fall is a grievous dishonor to our Lord, and a sore injury to ourselves.

ARTICLE XX.

Of Christ alone, without Sin.

Christ, in the truth of our nature, was made like unto us in all things, sin only excepted, from which he was clearly void, both in his flesh, and in his spirit. He came to be the Lamb without spot, who, by sacrifice of himself, made once forever, should take away the sin of the world; and sin (as St. John saith) was not in him. But all we the rest, although born again in Christ, yet offend in many things; and if we say we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.

ARTICLE XXI.

Of the Church.

The souls dispersed in all the world, who adhere to Christ by faith, who are partakers of the Holy Ghost, and worship the Father in spirit and in truth, are the body of Christ, the house of God, the flock of the Good Shepherd—the holy, universal Christian Church.

A visible Church of Christ is a congregation of believers in which the pure Word of God is preached and Baptism and the Lord's Supper are duly ministered according to Christ's ordinance, in all those things that of necessity are requisite to the same. And those things are to be considered requisite which the Lord himself did, he himself commanded, and his apostles confirmed.

As the Church of Jerusalem, Alexandria, Antioch,¹ and Rome have erred, so also others have erred and may err, not only in their living and manner of ceremonies, but also in matters of faith.

ARTICLE XXII.

Of the Authority of a Church.

A Church hath power to decree ceremonies and to establish forms of worship and laws for the government and discipline of its members, and to declare its own faith; yet it is not lawful for any Church to ordain or decide any thing that is contrary to God's Word written, neither may it so expound one place of Scripture that it be repugnant to another. And as the Church ought not to decree any thing against the same, so besides the same ought it not to enforce any thing to be believed for necessity of salvation. The Nicene Creed, as set forth in the Prayer-Book of this Church, and that which is commonly called the Apostles' Creed, ought to be received and believed; for they may be proved by Holy Scripture.

¹ [As in the Anglican and the Protestant Episcopal Articles, so here Constantinople—the great rival of Rome and chief representative of the Eastern Church—is omitted, no doubt undesignedly; but some Anglo-Catholics, zealous for intercommunion with the Greek Church, derive comfort from the omission.]

ARTICLE XXIII.

Of the Authority of General Councils.

General Councils (forasmuch as they be an assembly of men, whereof all be not governed with the Spirit and Word of God) may err, and sometimes have erred, not only in worldly matters, but also in things pertaining to God. Wherefore things ordained by them as necessary to salvation are not binding, as such, on a Christian man's conscience unless it may be proved that they be taken out of Holy Scripture. No law or authority can override individual responsibility, and therefore the right of private judgment. For the individual Christian, as Christ distinctly affirms, is to be judged by the Word. The only rule of faith is God's Word written.

ARTICLE XXIV.

Of Ministering in the Congregation.

Those who take upon themselves the office of public preaching, or ministering the ordinances in the congregation, should be lawfully called thereunto, and sent to execute the same. And those we ought to judge lawfully called and sent which be moved to this work by the Holy Ghost, and are duly accredited by the Lord's people.

That doctrine of 'Apostolic Succession,' by which it is taught that the ministry of the Christian Church must be derived through a series of uninterrupted ordinations, whether by factual succession or otherwise, and that without the same there can be no valid ministry, no Christian Church, and no due ministration of Baptism and the Lord's Supper, is wholly rejected as unscriptural and productive of great mischief.

This Church values its historic ministry, but recognizes and honors as equally valid the ministry of other Churches, even as God the Holy Ghost has accompanied their work with demonstration and power.

ARTICLE XXV.

Of the Sacraments.

By the word Sacrament this Church is to be understood as meaning only a symbol or sign divinely appointed.

Our Lord Jesus Christ hath knit together his people in a visible company by sacraments, most few in number, most easy to be kept, most excellent in signification, viz., Baptism and the Lord's Supper.

Those five so-called Sacraments—that is to say, Confirmation, Penance, Orders, Matrimony, and Extreme Unction—are not to be counted for Sacraments of the gospel, being such as have grown partly of the corrupt following of the Apostles, partly are states of life allowed by the Scriptures; but yet have not like nature of Sacraments with Baptism and the Lord's Supper, for that they have not any visible sign or ceremony ordained of God.

And in such only as worthily receive Baptism and the Lord's Supper are they of spiritual benefit, and yet not that of the work wrought (ex opere operato), as some men speak. Which word, as it is strange and unknown to Holy Scripture, so it gendereth no godly, but a very superstitious sense. In such as receive them rightly, faith is confirmed and grace increased by virtue of prayer to God. But they that receive them unworthily purchase to themselves judgment, as St. Paul saith; while it is equally true that none, however conscious of unworthiness, are debarred from receiving them, if they are trusting in the Lord Jesus Christ alone for salvation.

ARTICLE XXVI.

Of Baptism.

Baptism represents the death of believers with Christ, and their rising with him to newness of life. It is a sign of profession, whereby they publicly declare their faith in him. It is intended as a sign of regeneration or new birth. They that are baptized are grafted into the visible Church: the promises of the forgiveness of sin and of adoption to be the sons of God by the Holy Ghost are visibly set forth. The baptism of young children is retained in this Church, as agreeable to ancient usage and not contrary to Holy Writ.

ARTICLE XXVII.

Of the Lord's Supper.

The Supper of the Lord is a memorial of our Redemption by Christ's death, for thereby we do show forth the Lord's death till he come. It is also a symbol of the soul's feeding upon Christ. And it is a sign of the communion that we should have with one another.

Transubstantiation (or the change of the substance of bread and wine into the very body and blood of Christ) in the Supper of the Lord can not be proved by Holy Writ, is repugnant to the plain words of Scripture, overthroweth the nature of a sacrament, and hath given occasion to many and idolatrous superstitions.

Consubstantiation (or the doctrine that Christ is veiled under the unchanged bread and wine, and that his very body and blood are present therein and separate the one from the other) is utterly without warrant of Scripture, is contradictory of the fact that Christ, being raised, dieth no more, and is productive equally with transubstantiation of idolatrous errors and practices.

We feed on Christ only through his Word, and only by faith and prayer; and we feed on him, whether at our private devotions, or in our meditations, or on any occasion of public worship, or in the memorial symbolism of the Supper.

The elements of the Lord's Supper were not by Christ's ordinance designed to be reserved, carried about, lifted up, or worshiped.

ARTICLE XXVIII.

Of Both Kinds.

The Cup of the Lord is not to be denied to any of his people, for both the bread and the wine, by Christ's ordinance and commandment, ought to be ministered to all Christian men alike.

ARTICLE XXIX.

Of Unworthy Persons Ministering in the Congregation.

Although in the visible Church the evil be ever mingled with the good, and sometimes the evil have chief authority in the ministration of the Word and ordinances: yet, forasmuch as they do not the same in their own name, but in Christ's, the believer is not deprived of the benefits of God's ordinances; because, though they be ministered by evil men, yet are they Christ's institution, and set forth his promise.

Nevertheless, it appertaineth to the discipline of the Church that inquiry be made of evil ministers, and that they be accused by those that have knowledge of their offences: and finally, being found guilty by just judgment, be deposed.

ARTICLE XXX.

Of the one Oblation of Christ finished upon the Cross.

The offering of Christ once made is that perfect redemption, propitiation, and satisfaction for all the sins of the whole world, both original and actual; and there is none other satisfaction for sin but that alone. And as there is only this one sacrifice in the Christian Church, once made, never to be repeated, so there is but the one Priest, even Jesus Christ, the Apostle and High-Priest of our profession. Wherefore the sacrifices of masses, in the which it is commonly said that the priest offers Christ for the quick and the dead, for the remission of pain or guilt, or any representations of the Lord's Supper as a sacrifice, are blasphemous fables and dangerous deceits.

ARTICLE XXXI.

Of Certain Erroneous Doctrines and Practices.

The Romish doctrines concerning purgatory, penance, and satisfaction have no support from the Word of God, and are, besides, contradictory of the completeness and sufficiency of the redemption in Christ Jesus, of justification by faith, and of the sanctifying efficacy of God the Holy Ghost. Praying for the dead is man's tradition, vainly invented, and is in violation of the express warnings of Almighty God to the careless and unconverted. The adoration of relics and images, and the invocation of saints, besides that they are grounded upon no warranty of Scripture, are idolatrous practices, dishonoring to God, and compromising the mediatorialship of Christ. It is also repugnant to the Word of God to have public prayer in the Church, or to minister the ordinances, in a tongue not understood by the people.

ARTICLE XXXII.

Of Confession and Absolution.

Private confession of sins to a priest, commonly known as Auricular Confession, has no foundation in the Word of God, and is a human invention. It makes the professed penitent a slave to mere human authority, entangles him in endless scruples and perplexities, and opens the way to many immoralities.

If one sin against his fellow-man, the Scripture requires him to make confession to the offended party; and so if one sin bring scandal upon the Christian society of which he is a member. And Christians may often, with manifest profit, confess to one another their sins against God, with a view solely to instruction, correction, guidance, and encouragement in righteousness. But in any and every case confession is still to be made to God; for all sins are committed against him, as well such as offend our fellow-man as those that offend him alone.

Priestly absolution is a blasphemous usurpation of the sole prerogative of God. None can forgive sins as against God but God alone.

The blood of Jesus Christ only can cleanse us from our sins, and always we obtain forgiveness directly from God, whenever by faith in that blood we approach him with our confessions and prayers.

ARTICLE XXXIII.

Of the Marriage of Ministers.

Christian ministers are not commanded by God's law either to vow the estate of single life or to abstain from marriage; therefore it is lawful for them, as for all other Christian men, to marry at their own discretion.

ARTICLE XXXIV.

Of the Power of the Civil Authority.

The power of the civil magistrate extendeth to all men, as well ministers as people, in all things temporal; but hath no authority in things purely spiritual. And we hold it to be the duty of all men who are professors of the gospel to pay respectful obedience to the civil authority, regularly and legitimately constituted.

ARTICLE XXXV.

Of Christian Men's Goods.

The riches and goods of Christian men are not common, but their own, to be controlled and used according to their Christian judgment. Every man ought, of such things as he possesseth, liberally to give alms to the poor, according to his ability; and as a steward of God, he should use his means and influence in promoting the cause of truth and righteousness to the glory of God.

THE DOCTRINAL BASIS OF THE EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE. A.D. 1846.

Adopted at the Organization of the American Branch of the Evangelical Alliance, in January, 1867.

[The Nine Articles were adopted by the first meeting of the Evangelical Alliance, in London, 1846, and published in the Report of the Proceedings of the Conference, held at Freemasons' Hall, London, from Aug. 19th to Sept. 2d, 1846. Published by order of the Conference. London, 1847.]

The preamble, which we print in small type, was added by the American Branch of the Alliance, organized in the Bible House, New York, Jan., 1867, and, with this qualifying preamble, the doctrinal articles were used at the General Conference of the Alliance held in New York, Oct., 1873.

The Evangelical Alliance is no Church, and has no authority to issue and enforce an ecclesiastical creed. It is simply a voluntary association of individual Christians for the promotion of Christian union and religious liberty; but as such it may declare on what doctrinal basis it proposes to labor for its end, and how much or how little of the traditional faith it takes for granted among its members.]

Resolved, That in forming an Evangelical Alliance for the United States, in co-operative union with other Branches of the Alliance, we have no intention or desire to give rise to a new denomination or sect; nor to affect an amalgamation of Churches, except in the way of facilitating personal Christian intercourse and a mutual good understanding; nor to interfere in any way whatever with the internal affairs of the various denominations; but, simply, to bring individual Christians into closer fellowship and co-operation, on the basis of the spiritual union which already exists in the vital relation of Christ to the members of his body in all ages and countries.

Resolved, That in the same spirit we propose no new creed; but, taking broad, historical, and evangelical catholic ground, we solemnly reaffirm and profess our faith in all the doctrines of the inspired Word of God, and the consensus of doctrines as held by all true Christians from the beginning. And we do more especially affirm our belief in the Divine-human person and atoning work of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, as the only and sufficient source of salvation, as the heart and soul of Christianity, and as the centre of all true Christian union and fellowship.

Resolved, That, with this explanation, and in the spirit of a just Christian liberality in regard to the minor differences of theological schools and religious denominations, we also adopt, as a summary of the consensus of the various Evangelical Confessions of Faith, the Articles and Explanatory Statement set forth and agreed on by the Evangelical Alliance at its formation in London, 1846, and approved by the separate European organizations; which articles are as follows:¹

‘1. The Divine inspiration, authority, and sufficiency of the Holy Scriptures.

‘2. The right and duty of private judgment in the interpretation of the Holy Scriptures.

‘3. The Unity of the Godhead, and the Trinity of the persons therein.

‘The parties composing the Alliance shall be such persons only as hold and maintain what are usually understood to be evangelical views in regard to the matters of doctrine understated, namely—’

- ‘4. The utter depravity of human nature in consequence of the Fall.
 - ‘5. The incarnation of the Son of God, his work of atonement for the sins of mankind,¹ and his mediatorial intercession and reign.
 - ‘6. The justification of the sinner by faith alone.
 - ‘7. The work of the Holy Spirit in the conversion and sanctification of the sinner.
 - ‘8. The immortality of the soul, the resurrection of the body, the judgment of the world by our Lord Jesus Christ, with the eternal blessedness of the righteous, and the eternal punishment of the wicked.
 - ‘9. The divine institution of the Christian ministry, and the obligation and perpetuity of the ordinances of Baptism and the Lord’s Supper.
- ‘It is, however, distinctly declared: First, that this brief summary is not to be regarded in any formal or ecclesiastical sense as a creed or confession, nor the adoption of it as involving an assumption of the right authoritatively to define the limits of Christian brotherhood, but simply as an indication of the class of persons whom it is desirable to embrace within the Alliance; Second, that the selection of certain tenets, with the omission of others, is not to be held as implying that the former constitute the whole body of important truth, or that the latter are unimportant.’

¹ The official Report of Proceedings (both on pp. 77 and 189) reads ‘for sinners of mankind,’ which is probably a typographical error. All other issues of the Articles in the Alliance publications read sins.

AN EVANGELICAL UNION CATECHISM.

APPENDIX.

AN EVANGELICAL UNION CATECHISM.

[This Biblical Union Catechism (slightly revised by the author for this work) has no ecclesiastical sanction or authority whatever, and is only added as an attempt to express, in a popular catechetical form, the doctrinal consensus of the Evangelical Churches. It was originally prepared in 1862, with brief explanatory notes, as a labor of love for the author's family, but found its way into a number of Sunday-schools, and was made the basis of similar works. A German edition was published by the American Tract Society, New York, 1863, and another, with additions and explanations by Prof. Dr. Pfeiderer, Stuttgart, 1874.]

A CHRISTIAN CATECHISM:

IN FIFTY-TWO LESSONS FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOLS AND FAMILIES.

Introductory Lessons.

I. THE END OF MAN.

1. Who made you?

Almighty God, our heavenly Father.

Gen. i. 27; Psa. c. 3; Job xxxiii. 4; John i. 3.

2. Who redeemed you?

Our Lord Jesus Christ.

1 Pet. i. 18, 19; 1 Cor. vi. 20; Tit. ii. 14.

3. Who sanctifies you?

The Holy Spirit.

1 Cor. vi. 11; 1 Pet. i. 2; Heb. x. 22.

4. For what end were you created?

For the glory of God, and for eternal blessedness.

Rom. xi. 36; xiv. 8; 1 Cor. x. 31.

5. What, then, should be your chief concern in this life?

To do the will of God, and to save my soul.

Matt. vi. 33; xvi. 26; Phil. ii. 12, 13.

II. THE WAY OF SALVATION.

1. Is it the will of God that you should be saved?

Yes.

2. Why so?

Because God is love, and will have all men to be saved.

1 John iv. 8; Ezek. xxxiii. 11; 2 Pet. iii. 9; 1 Tim. ii. 4.

3. How has God revealed his love to you?

By giving his only-begotten Son, our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

John iii. 16; 1 Tim. i. 15; Rom. v. 8.

4. Can you be saved by your own strength?

No; but only by the grace of God in Christ.

Acts iv. 12; Eph. ii. 8, 9; Rom. iii. 23, 24.

5. What must you do to be saved?

I must believe in Jesus Christ, and follow him.

John iii. 36; Mark xvi. 16; Acts xvi. 30, 31.

6. Where is the way of salvation pointed out to us?

In the Holy Scriptures.

2 Tim. iii. 15; John v. 39.

III. THE HOLY SCRIPTURES.

1. Where has God revealed himself?

In the works of creation, in the conscience of man, and in the history of the world.

Psa. xix. 2; Rom. i. 19, 20; ii. 14, 15.

2. Where has God most clearly and fully revealed himself?

In his infallible Word, and in the Person of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Psa. cxix. 105; 2 Pet. i. 19; Heb. i. 1, 2.

3. Where is the Word of God contained?

In the Bible, or the Holy Scriptures.

4. What does the word 'Bible' mean?

The Book of books; or, the best of all books.

5. Who wrote the Bible?

Prophets and Apostles, under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit.

2 Pet. i. 21; Heb. i. 1, 2; 2 Tim. iii. 16.

6. What are the contents of the Bible?

The revelation of God in the works of creation, redemption, and sanctification.

7. What is the aim and value of the Bible?

It shows us the way of salvation, and is the infallible rule of the Christian faith and life.

2 Tim. iii. 16, 17; Heb. iv. 12.

8. Who enables you to understand the Bible?

The same Holy Spirit that inspired the Bible, and is given to believers.

John xvi. 13; 1 Cor. ii. 14; Luke xi. 13.

9. What use should you make of the Bible?

We should diligently and devoutly hear and read the Bible, as the book of God, and conform to its teaching.

Luke xi. 28; John xiii. 17; James i. 22.

IV. THE OLD AND THE NEW TESTAMENT.

1. What are the two parts of the Bible?

The Old and the New Testament.

2. What does the word Testament mean?

The covenant which God made with man.

3. What covenants did God make with man?

First the covenant of the law through his servant Moses, and then the covenant of the gospel through his Son Jesus Christ.

4. What does the Old Testament contain?

The law and the promise.

5. What does the New Testament contain?

The gospel.

6. How, then, are both Testaments related to each other?

The Old Testament is the preparation for the New, and the New Testament is the fulfillment of the Old.

Matt. v. 17; John i. 17; Rom. x. 4.

7. In what languages was the Bible originally written?

The Old Testament was written in Hebrew, the New Testament in Greek; but both are translated into the various languages of the world.

8. What is the sum and substance of both Testaments?

Jesus Christ.

John i. 45; v. 39; Luke xxiv. 44.

V. THE OLD TESTAMENT.

1. How many books does the Old Testament contain?

Thirty-nine.

2. How are they divided?

Into historical, poetical, and prophetical books.

3. Name the historical books.

First, the five books of Moses, severally called Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy.

4. Name the other historical books.

Joshua, Judges, Ruth, First and Second Samuel, First and Second Kings, First and Second Chronicles, Ezra, Nehemiah, and Esther.

5. Which are the poetical books?

Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes or the Preacher, and the Song of Solomon.

6. Which are the prophetical books?

The writings of the four greater and the twelve minor prophets.

7. Name the greater prophets.

Isaiah, Jeremiah (with the Lamentations), Ezekiel, and Daniel.

8. Name the minor prophets.

Hosea, Joel, Amos, Obadiah, Jonah, Micah, Nahum, Habakkuk, Zephaniah, Haggai, Zechariah, and Malachi.

9. What are all these books called?

The canonical books of the Old Testament.

10. Why so?

Because they are divinely inspired, and, together with the New Testament, constitute the rule of faith.

VI. THE NEW TESTAMENT.

1. How many books does the New Testament contain?

Twenty-seven.

2. How is the New Testament divided?

Into historical, doctrinal, and prophetical books.

3. Which are the historical books of the New Testament?

The four Gospels and the Acts.

4. Who wrote the Gospels?

The Evangelists—Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John.

5. What does the word gospel mean?

The glad tidings of salvation by Christ.

Luke ii. 10, 11; Mark xvi. 15; Rom. i. 16.

6. What do the Gospels treat of?

The life and doctrine, the death and resurrection of our Saviour.

7. Who is the author of the Acts of the Apostles?

Luke the Evangelist.

8. What do the Acts contain?

The history of the founding and spread of Christianity under the Apostles, especially Peter and Paul.

9. Which are the doctrinal or didactic books?

Fourteen epistles of Paul, and seven catholic or general epistles.

10. Name the Epistles of Paul.

Romans, First and Second Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians, First and Second Thessalonians, First and Second Timothy, Titus, Philemon, and Hebrews.

[The Epistle to the Hebrews is anonymous and of uncertain authorship, but inspired and canonical, and belongs to the school of Paul.]

11. Name the catholic or general Epistles?

Two Epistles of Peter, three of John, one of James, and one of Jude.

12. What do the doctrinal books treat of?

The Christian faith and life.

13. Which is the prophetical book of the New Testament?

The Revelation of John.

14. What are the contents of the Book of Revelation?

A prophetical description of the conflicts and triumphs of the Christian Church till the glorious coming of Christ.

Part First.

THE LORD'S PRAYER.

VII. OF PRAYER.

1. What is prayer?

The raising of the heart to God, and communing with him.

Psa. xix. 14; lxii. 8.

2. Why should we pray?

Because God commands us to pray, and because we are poor, needy creatures, and receive all gifts of body and soul from the goodness of God.

James i. 17; 1 Cor. iv. 7; xv. 10; Psa. l. 15; Matt. vii. 7.

3. Is prayer simply a duty?

Prayer is not only a sacred duty, but also a precious privilege of the children of God.

4. What are the different kinds of prayer?

Petition, intercession, thanksgiving, and praise.

1 Tim. ii. 1; Phil. iv. 6.

5. To whom should we pray?

Only to God, who is both able and willing to give us all we need.

Matt. iv. 10; Eph. iii. 20, 21; Psa. lxv. 3.

6. How should we pray?

In the name of Christ, humbly and devoutly, with childlike faith in God's mercy, and resignation to his holy will.

John xvi. 23; Matt. xxi. 22; xxvi. 39; Heb. x. 22.

7. For what may we pray?

For spiritual and temporal blessings; but not for any thing which is contrary to the will of God.

8. For whom should we pray?

For ourselves, for our parents, kindred, and friends, and for all men—even our enemies.

1 Tim. ii. 1, 2; James v. 16; Matt. v. 44, 45.

9. Where can and should we pray?

Every where, but especially in the church, the family, and the closet.

Psa. cxii. 1, 2; Heb. x. 25; Matt. vi. 6; xviii. 20.

10. How often should we pray?

At all times, but especially in the morning and evening, and at every meal.

1 Thess. v. 17; Psa. lv. 17; Dan. vi. 10; Rom. xiv. 6.

11. Does God hear our prayers?

Yes: God hears all our prayers, for he is omnipresent and omniscient.

Psa. cxlv. 18; cxxxix. 7-12; Eph. iii. 20.

12. Does God answer our prayers?

Yes: God answers our prayers for Christ's sake, because he is our merciful Father.

Matt. vii. 7; John xiv. 14; James v. 16.

13. When does God refuse our prayers?

When we ask amiss, or for things injurious to us.

James iv. 3; Psa. lxvi. 18; Prov. xv. 29.

VIII. THE LORD'S PRAYER.

1. Which is the model prayer?

The Lord's Prayer, which Jesus himself taught his disciples.

Matt. vi. 9-13; Luke xi. 1-4.

2. Repeat the Lord's Prayer.

OUR FATHER WHO ART IN HEAVEN:

Hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done on earth, as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread. And forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.

For thine is the kingdom, and the power, and the glory, forever. AMEN.

3. How many parts has the Lord's Prayer?

Three parts: an address, six petitions, and a doxology.

[If the last petition be divided, we have seven petitions.]

4. How do you divide the petitions?

Into two classes, each consisting of three petitions.

5. To what do the first three petitions refer?

To the riches and glory of God, which we call down in prayer from heaven upon earth.

6. To what do the last three petitions refer?

To the poverty and need of man, from which we ascend to God in prayer.

IX. THE ADDRESS.

1. What is the address of the Lord's Prayer?

OUR FATHER WHO ART IN HEAVEN.

2. Why do you address God as Father?

Because he is our reconciled Father in Christ, and because we should approach him with childlike reverence and trust.

Psa. ciii. 13; Matt. vii. 11; Gal. iii. 26; Rom. viii. 14, 15.

3. Why do you say, 'Our Father,' and not, 'My Father?'

Because we should pray not only for ourselves, but also for our brethren, and for all the children of God.

James v. 16; Eph. iii. 15; 1 Thess. v. 23.

4. Why do you add, 'who art in heaven?'

Because God is far above any earthly father, and because in praying we should raise the heart to heaven, where God dwells in glory, and where is our true home.

Col. iii. 2; Phil. iii. 20; Eph. ii. 19.

5. Is not God also on earth?

God is every where: the heaven is his throne, and the earth is his footstool.

Matt. v. 34, 35; Isa. lxvi. 1; 1 Kings viii. 27.

X. THE FIRST THREE PETITIONS.

1. What is the first petition of the Lord's Prayer?

HALLOWED BE THY NAME.

2. What does this mean?

Grant that we may rightly know and worship thee, and glorify thee in thought, word, and deed.

Isa. vi. 3; John xvii. 3; Psa. xcii. 1; Matt. v. 16; 1 Cor. x. 31.

3. How is God's name dishonored?

By cursing and swearing; by ingratitude to God, and contempt of his Word and authority; by false doctrine and wicked practice.

Rom. ii. 24.

4. What is the second petition?

THY KINGDOM COME.

5. What does this mean?

Reign in us more and more by thy Holy Spirit, and spread the gospel over the world, until all nations shall be converted unto thee, and serve thee in holiness and righteousness.

Matt. vi. 33; xiii. 31, 32; xxviii. 19; Rev. xi. 15.

6. Why should we pray for the coming of the kingdom of God, since it has already come in Christ?

Because we ourselves are not yet perfect, and because a great part of mankind are either ignorant of Christ or Christians only in name.

Matt. ix. 37, 38.

7. Who are not Christians?

The heathen, Jews, Mohammedans, and infidels.

8. Who are Christians only in name?

Those who profess Christ with their lips, but deny him in their lives.

Matt. vii. 21; 2 Tim. iii. 5; Tit. i. 16.

9. What is the third petition?

THY WILL BE DONE ON EARTH AS IT IS IN HEAVEN.

10. What does this mean?

Grant that we may renounce our own evil will, and cheerfully obey thine only good and perfect will, even as the angels and saints do in heaven.

Luke xxii. 42; Heb. xiii. 20, 21; Psa. ciii. 20.

11. What is the will of God concerning us?

That we should be holy, even as he is holy; and that by faith in Christ we should obtain eternal life.

Lev. xi. 44; Matt. v. 48; John vi. 40; 1 Thess. iv. 3.

XI. THE LAST THREE PETITIONS.

1. What is the fourth petition?

GIVE US THIS DAY OUR DAILY BREAD.

2. What does this mean?

Grant us all things necessary for the body; make us content with little, and grateful for all thy gifts.

Psa. cxlv. 15, 16; Prov. xxx. 8; 1 Tim. vi. 6-8.

3. What is the fifth petition?

FORGIVE US OUR DEBTS, AS WE FORGIVE OUR DEBTORS.

4. What does this mean?

Cleanse us from all our sins, through the blood of Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Luke xviii. 13; Psa. li. 1, 2; 1 John i. 7; Eph. i. 7.

5. Why do you add, ‘as we forgive our debtors?’

Because we can expect no forgiveness of our sins from God unless we ourselves are also ready, from the heart, to forgive our neighbor, and to do good even to our enemies.

Matt. vi. 14, 15; xviii. 21, 22; Rom. xii. 20, 21.

[Examples: Christ on the cross praying for his murderers—Luke xxiii. 34; Stephen doing likewise—Acts vii. 59.]

6. What is the sixth petition?

LEAD US NOT INTO TEMPTATION, BUT DELIVER US FROM EVIL.

[Some of the best commentators translate ‘from the evil one,’ that is, from the devil, the author of all sin and evil.]

7. What does this mean?

Guard and strengthen us against the temptations of the flesh, the world, and the devil, and save us at last in heaven, where we shall be free from all sin and evil, and enjoy thee forever.

Matt. xxvi. 41; 1 Pet. v. 8; 2 Tim. iv. 7, 8, 18.

[Many commentators regard the words ‘deliver us from evil’ as a separate (the seventh) petition.]

8. What is the doxology?

THINE IS THE KINGDOM, AND THE POWER, AND THE GLORY, FOREVER.

9. What does this mean?

That God is both able and willing to give us all good things, and that we should give him all glory and praise for ever and ever.

1 Chron. xxix. 11, 12; Eph. iii. 20, 21; Psa. cxv. 1.

10. What do you express by the concluding word, ‘Amen?’

My fervent desire and strong faith that God, who is faithful and true, will surely answer my prayer.

2 Cor. i. 20; Isa. lxv. 24; 2 Tim. ii. 13.

VOL. III.—II II

Part Second.

THE CHRISTIAN FAITH.

XII. OF THE CHRISTIAN FAITH.

1. What is Christian faith?

A hearty trust in God as our Father and Saviour.

Gen. xv. 6; Rom. iv. 20, 21; John i. 47; vi. 69; Gal. ii. 20; Heb. xi. 1.

[True faith implies knowledge of God in Christ, belief in his gospel, and confidence in his saving mercy. By faith we are united to Christ and become partakers of his life and all his benefits—John vi. 47; Gal. ii. 20.]

2. What are the contents and objects of faith?

God and his holy Word.

Mark i. 15; Acts xvi. 31.

3. Who works faith in us?

The Holy Spirit.

1 Cor. xii. 3; Matt. xvi. 17; Gal. v. 22.

4. How does the Holy Spirit work faith in us?

By the means of grace, especially the preaching of the gospel.

Rom. x. 17; 1 Pet. i. 23; James i. 18.

5. What is the effect of faith?

By faith we are justified and saved.

Mark xvi. 16; Acts xvi. 31; Rom. x. 10; Eph. ii. 8, 9.

6. Is faith the ground or cause of salvation?

No: Jesus Christ is the only ground of our salvation.

Acts iv. 12; xv. 11; Eph. ii. 8, 9.

7. What, then, has faith to do with salvation?

It is the condition of salvation; because it accepts and appropriates Jesus Christ and his merits to our personal benefit.

John vi. 47; Heb. xi. 6.

8. What is the nature of justifying and saving faith?

It must be living, and bring forth good works.

Matt. vii. 17, 20; Gal. v. 6.

9. Is there also a dead faith?

Yes: the devils also believe and tremble.

1 Cor. xiii. 2; James ii. 19, 20, 26.

10. Should we confess our faith?

Yes: we should openly confess Christ before men, and never be ashamed of him.

Matt. x. 32, 33; Rom. x. 10; i. 16.

XIII. THE APOSTLES' CREED.

1. What is the Apostles' Creed?

A summary of the chief articles of the Christian faith which are necessary to our salvation.

2. Why is it called the Apostles' Creed?

Because it agrees with the teaching of the apostles.

3. Repeat this Creed.

I BELIEVE IN GOD THE FATHER ALMIGHTY, MAKER OF HEAVEN AND EARTH.

AND IN JESUS CHRIST HIS ONLY-BEGOTTEN SON OUR LORD; WHO WAS CONCEIVED BY THE HOLY GHOST, BORN OF THE VIRGIN MARY; SUFFERED UNDER PONTIUS PILATE, WAS CRUCIFIED, DEAD, AND BURIED; HE DESCENDED INTO HADES;¹ THE THIRD DAY HE ROSE FROM THE DEAD; HE ASCENDED INTO HEAVEN; AND SITTETH AT THE RIGHT HAND OF GOD THE FATHER ALMIGHTY; FROM THENCE HE SHALL COME TO JUDGE THE QUICK AND THE DEAD.

I BELIEVE IN THE HOLY GHOST; THE HOLY CATHOLIC CHURCH, THE COMMUNION OF SAINTS; THE FORGIVENESS OF SINS; THE RESURRECTION OF THE BODY, AND THE LIFE EVERLASTING. AMEN.

4. How is the Creed divided?

Into three parts, which correspond to the three persons of the Holy Trinity.

5. Of what does the first part treat?

Of God the Father, and our creation.

6. Of what does the second part treat?

Of God the Son, and our redemption.

7. Of what does the third part treat?

Of God the Holy Ghost, and our sanctification.

8. Why do you say, 'I believe?'

Because I must believe for myself, and become personally united to Christ, in order to be saved.

Luke vii. 50; Rom. i. 17; Matt. xxv. 8, 9.

¹ That is, the region of the dead—the spirit-world. The usual form is hell; but this may easily be misunderstood. Christ was certainly also in paradise between his death and resurrection. Compare Luke xxiii. 43; Acts ii. 31; 1 Pet. iii. 19; 2 Pet. iv. 6.

XIV. THE EXISTENCE AND ATTRIBUTES OF GOD.

1. What do you believe concerning God the Father?

I BELIEVE IN GOD THE FATHER ALMIGHTY, MAKER OF HEAVEN AND EARTH.

2. What is God?

God is the eternal and perfect Spirit, the Author of all things, and the Giver of all good.

John iv. 24; 1 John i. 5; iv. 8; Matt. v. 48; James i. 17.

3. Whence do you know the existence of God?

From the works of creation, the conscience of man, the history of the world, and from the Holy Scriptures.

Psa. xix. 2-4; Rom. i. 19, 20; ii. 14, 15; Heb. i. 1, 2; 2 Pet. i. 19.

4. Are there any reasonable men who deny the existence of God?

No; only the fool says in his heart, There is no God.

Psa. xiv. 1.

5. What are the principal attributes of God?

God is eternal, almighty, omnipresent, omniscient, most wise, holy, righteous, long-suffering, and full of love, mercy, and truth.

Exod. xxxiv. 6; Psa. ciii. 8; 1 Tim. i. 17; vi. 15, 16.

XV. THE UNITY AND TRINITY OF GOD.

1. Are there more Gods than one?

No; there is but one living and true God.

Deut. vi. 4; Isa. xliv. 6; 1 Cor. viii. 4; 1 John v. 21.

2. But is not God triune?

Yes: God is triune in person, but one in essence or being.

3. Name the three persons in the one Divine Being.

The Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost; and these three are one.

Matt. xxviii. 19; 2 Cor. xiii. 13; John xiv. 16.

4. Why do you believe in the Holy Trinity?

Because God has so revealed himself in his Word, and continues so to reveal himself.

5. How does God reveal himself?

As Father in the work of creation, as Son in the work of redemption, and as Holy Spirit in the work of sanctification.

XVI. THE CREATION OF THE WORLD.

1. Who created the world?

God the Father Almighty.

Gen. i. 1; Exod. xx. 11; Psa. xxxiii. 6; Heb. i. 10.

2. What do you mean by the world which God made?

Heaven and earth, and all that in them is, things visible and invisible, men and angels.

Exod. xx. 11; Col. i. 16.

3. Through whom did God create the world?

Through his Son, the eternal Word.

John i. 3; Col. i. 15; Heb. i. 2; Gen. i. 3; Psa. xxxiii. 6.

4. When did God create the world?

In the beginning of time.

Gen. i. 1; Psa. cii. 5.

5. Of what did God create the world?

Out of nothing, by his almighty will.

Heb. xi. 3; Rom. iv. 11; Rev. iv. 11.

6. How was the world when God made it?

Very good.

Gen. i. 31.

7. For what end did God create the world?

For his own glory, and for the happiness of his creatures.

Rom. xi. 36; xiv. 8; Prov. xvi. 4; Psa. cxlv. 10.

8. What does the belief in creation teach you?

That in all the works of creation I should admire and adore the infinite majesty, power, wisdom, and goodness of God.

Psa. xix. 1; civ. 24.

XVII. PRESERVATION AND PROVIDENCE.

1. What do you mean by the preservation of the world?

That God, by his almighty and omnipresent power, keeps the world in existence, and, by his goodness, provides all his creatures with food, raiment, and shelter.

Psa. xxiii. 1, 2; cxlv. 15, 16; Acts xvii. 28; Heb. i. 3.

2. Does almighty God care even for the smallest of his creatures?

Yes; even for the fowls of the air, and the lilies of the field; how much more, then, for man, who was made in God's image.

Matt. vi. 26, 28-31; x. 29-31.

3. What do you mean by the providence of God and the government of the world?

That God rules the world according to an eternal plan of infinite wisdom and love, and causes all things, even sin and evil, to work together for the glory of his name and the welfare of his children.

Rom. viii. 28; Psa. lxxvi. 10; Gen. i. 20.

[Examples of the overruling Providence in bringing good out of evil, and making the wrath of man to praise God: The history of Joseph, Gen. i.; Pharaoh and the Israelites, Exod. ix. 16; Satan and Job; the treason of Judas and the atoning death of Christ.]

4. Is there, then, no such thing as chance?

No; all things come from the wise and fatherly will of God: seed-time and harvest, heat and cold, summer and winter, day and night, wealth and poverty, health and sickness, life and death.

Gen. viii. 22; Matt. x. 29-31; Luke xii. 7; xxi. 18.

5. What should the belief in Providence teach you?

To be thankful in prosperity, patient in adversity, and at all times to put my trust in God, who does all things well.

Psa. xxxvii. 5; lxxiii. 25, 26; exviii. 1; Rom. viii. 38, 39; 1 Pet. iii. 7.

XVIII. THE STATE OF INNOCENCE.

1. What is man?

Man is a rational and immortal being in a material body.

Gen. ii. 7; Eccles. xii. 7; Matt. x. 28; 1 Thess. v. 23.

2. How did God create man?

God created man in his own image.

Gen. i. 27; v. 1; ix. 6; 1 Cor. xi. 7; Psa. exxxix. 14.

3. What does this mean?

God made man pure and holy, gave him dominion over nature, and endowed him with all the faculties for intellectual and moral perfection.

Gen. i. 26, 31; Psa. viii. 7-9; Eccles. vii. 29; Eph. iv. 24.

4. What is the original state of man called?

The state of innocence.

5. Why so?

Because man was free from sin, and knew no sin.

6. What were the names of our first parents?

Adam and Eve.

7. Where did they live while in the state of innocence?

In Paradise, in blessed communion with God.

Gen. ii. 8.

8. Are there other rational beings besides men?

Yes: the angels.

9. What are the angels?

Holy and blessed spirits in heaven, who serve God, and rejoice in the salvation of sinners.

Heb. i. 14; Luke xv. 10; Matt. xviii. 10; Psa. ciii. 20.

10. Did all angels remain holy?

No; some fell from their first estate, and were cast out of heaven.

2 Pet. ii. 4; Jude 6; Matt. xxv. 41.

XIX. THE FALL.

1. Did our first parents remain in the state of innocence?

No: they fell, and became sinners.

2. Wherein did the fall consist?

In disobedience to God. Gen. iii. 6.

3. What had God commanded them?

Not to eat the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil.

Gen. iii. 16, 17.

4. Why did God give them this commandment?

In order to exercise them in obedience, and to confirm them in goodness.

5. What were the stages of the fall?

First, doubt of the word of God; then pride and lust; and, last, the actual transgression by eating of the forbidden fruit.

Gen. iii. 3-6.

6. Who tempted Adam and Eve to sin?

The devil, in the disguise of a serpent.

Gen. iii. 4; John viii. 44; 2 Cor. xi. 3; Rev. xii. 9; xx. 2.

7. Who is the devil?

The chief of the fallen angels and the prince of darkness.

John viii. 44; Eph. vi. 11, 12; James iv. 7; 1 Pet. v. 8, 9.

8. Was the fall of man necessary?

No: man might and ought to have resisted the temptation, as the good angels did in heaven, and as Jesus did in the wilderness.

9. What were the consequences of the fall?

Death and expulsion from Paradise.

Gen. iii. 14-19, 24; Rom. v. 12; vi. 23.

10. What is death?

All temporal and eternal evil; but more particularly the extinction of physical life.

11. Was the fall of man confined to our first parents?

No: sin and death have passed upon all the descendants of Adam.

Rom. v. 12; xi. 32; Gal. iii. 22.

12. Is there, then, no human being without sin?

Not one, except only Jesus Christ, who redeemed us from sin.

Rom. iii. 23; 1 John i. 8; Job xv. 14-16; Isa. liii. 6; Heb. iv. 15.

XX. OF SIN.

1. What is sin?

The transgression of the law of God.

1 John iii. 4; Rom. iv. 15; v. 13.

2. Whence do you know sin?

From the natural law of conscience, but more fully from the revealed law of God.

Rom. ii. 14, 15; iii. 20; vii. 7; John viii. 9.

[Examples of the power of conscience: Adam, Gen. iii. 7–11; Cain, Gen. iv. 13, 14; the brothers of Joseph, Gen. xlvi. 21; David, Psa. li.; Herod, Matt. xiv. 2; Judas, Matt. xxvii. 3–5; Felix, Acts xxiv. 25.]

3. Against whom can we sin?

Against God, against our neighbor, and against ourselves.

4. How do you divide sin?

Into original or inborn sin and actual sin.

5. What is inborn or hereditary sin?

The natural depravity or sinful disposition which we inherit from our first parents.

Psa. li. 5; Job xiv. 4; John iii. 6; Rom. v. 12.

6. Wherein does this natural depravity consist?

In this, that man, without the aid of divine grace, is incapable of good, and prone to all evil.

7. What are actual sins?

All evil thoughts, words, and deeds.

Matt. xv. 19 (evil thoughts); xii. 36 (idle words); Gal. v. 19–21 (the works of the flesh).

8. How do you divide actual sins?

Into sins of commission and sins of omission.

9. What is a sin of commission?

The doing of what God has forbidden.

10. What is a sin of omission?

The leaving undone what God has commanded us to do.

Luke xii. 47, 48; James iv. 17.

11. How again are actual sins divided?

Into sins of weakness and sins of malice.

12. What is a sin of weakness?

A sin of ignorance or carelessness, followed by sincere repentance, as in the case of David and Peter.

Gal. vi. 1; Psa. li.; Matt. xxvi. 69 sq.

13. What is a sin of malice?

A sin which is committed knowingly and willfully, as the treason of Judas.

Heb. vi. 4-7; x. 26, 27; 1 John v. 16; 2 Pet. ii. 20-22.

14. Can all sins be forgiven?

All sins can be forgiven for Christ's sake, on condition of repentance; with the only exception of the sin against the Holy Ghost, or total and final impenitence.

Matt. xii. 31; Mark iii. 29.

XXI. PUNISHMENT OF SIN.

1. What have we deserved by our sins?

God's righteous wrath and punishment.

Rom. i. 18; John iii. 36; Gal. iii. 10.

[Examples of punishment: The fallen angels—2 Pet. ii. 4; Adam and Eve—Gen. iii. 14-24; the generation of the flood—Gen. vi. 8; Sodom and Gomorrah—Gen. xix. 24, 25; 2 Pet. ii. 6; Lot's wife—Gen. xix. 26; Pharaoh and the Egyptians—Exod. xiv. 23-28.]

2. Why does God punish sin?

Because he is holy and just.

Psa. v. 4; Hab. i. 13.

3. How does God punish sin?

With temporal and eternal death.

Gen. ii. 17; Ezek. xviii. 4; Rom. vi. 23; James i. 15.

4. What are the temporal punishments of sin?

A bad conscience, sickness, all sorts of evil and misery, and physical death.

Isa. xlvi. 22; Rom. ii. 8, 9; vi. 23.

5. Have not the children of God also to suffer affliction and death?

Yes; but God causes the sufferings of this present life to advance the believer in holiness, and to prepare him for the joys of heaven.

Prov. iii. 12; Rom. v. 3-5; viii. 18; 2 Cor. iv. 17.

6. Wherein does the eternal punishment of sin consist?

In the entire separation of the sinner from God, and the endless pains of hell.

Matt. xxv. 30, 41, 46; Mark ix. 44; Rev. xiv. 10; xx. 10.

7. Will God punish all sinners alike?

God punishes every sinner according to the degree of his guilt.

Luke xii. 47, 48; Matt. xi. 21-24; Rom. ii. 12.

8. Can we deliver ourselves from sin?

By no means; but, if left to ourselves, we daily increase our guilt.

Psa. xlix. 7; Job ix. 2, 3; Rom. vii. 24.

XXII. PREPARATION FOR SALVATION.

1. Did God leave man to the power of sin and death?

No; God has wrought out an everlasting salvation.

Isa. xlvi. 17; Heb. ix. 12.

2. What do you mean by salvation?

Deliverance from sin and death, and the reunion of man with God through Jesus Christ.

3. Why has God wrought out such a salvation?

Because God is love, and has no pleasure in the death of the sinner.

Ezek. xxxiii. 11; 2 Pet. iii. 9; 1 Tim. ii. 4; John iii. 16.

4. Will all men, then, be saved?

Only those will be saved who truly believe in Jesus Christ, and accept his benefits.

Matt. vii. 13, 14; Mark xvi. 16; John iii. 36.

5. When did God determine to save men?

From eternity.

Eph. i. 4; 2 Tim. i. 9; 1 Pet. i. 20; Matt. xxv. 34.

6. When did he first promise salvation?

Immediately after the fall, when he said that the seed of the woman shall bruise the serpent's head.

Gen. iii. 15.

7. What does this mean?

That Christ, the son of Mary, will destroy the power of sin and the devil.

1 John iii. 8.

8. Through whom did God further promise salvation?

Through the patriarchs Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, through Moses, and the prophets of the old dispensation.

Aets x. 43; Heb. i. 1, 2; Rom. i. 1, 2.

9. Did God also foreshadow this salvation?

Yes: in the law, in the worship, and in the whole history of the people of Israel.

Heb. x. 1; Rom. xv. 4; 1 Cor. x. 6.

10. Who was the last prophet of the old dispensation?

John the Baptist.

11. What was the mission of John the Baptist?

He prepared the way of the Lord, and pointed to the Lamb of God which taketh away the sin of the world.

Isa. xl. 3-5; Mal. iii. 1; iv. 5; Matt. iii. 1, 2; John i. 29.

12. When did God carry out the plan of salvation?

When the time of preparation was fulfilled.

Mark i. 15; Gal. iv. 4.

13. Through whom did God carry out the plan of salvation?

Through his only-begotten Son, Jesus Christ.

1 Tim. i. 15.

XXIII. JESUS CHRIST.—HIS NAMES.

1. What do you believe concerning Jesus Christ?

I BELIEVE IN JESUS CHRIST, GOD'S ONLY-BEGOTTEN SON OUR LORD; WHO WAS CONCEIVED BY THE HOLY GHOST, BORN OF THE VIRGIN MARY; SUFFERED UNDER PONTIUS PILATE, WAS CRUCIFIED, DEAD, AND BURIED; HE DESCENDED INTO HADES; THE THIRD DAY HE ROSE FROM THE DEAD; HE ASCENDED INTO HEAVEN; AND SITTETH AT THE RIGHT HAND OF GOD THE FATHER ALMIGHTY; FROM THENCE HE SHALL COME TO JUDGE THE QUICK AND THE DEAD.

2. What does the name Jesus signify?

Jesus means a Saviour.

3. Why is he called Jesus?

Because he saved us from sin and death.

Psa. cxxx. 8; Matt. i. 21; Luke i. 31; Acts v. 31.

4. What does the name Christ signify?

Christ, or Messiah, means the Anointed.

John i. 41.

5. Why is he called Christ?

Because he was anointed with the Holy Spirit to be our perfect and eternal Prophet, Priest, and King.

Isa. lxi. 1; Luke iii. 22; Acts x. 38.

6. Why are believers called Christians?

Because, being united to Christ by faith, and partakers of his anointing, they should follow his example and be transformed more and more into his holy image.

Acts xi. 26; Eph. v. 30; 1 John ii. 20, 27; 1 Pet. ii. 9; 1 John iii. 2.

XXIV. OF THE PERSON OF CHRIST.

1. What do you believe concerning the person of Christ?

Jesus Christ is the God-man, or true God and true man in one person, forever.

2. Why must he unite the divine and human natures in his person?

That he might be the Mediator between God and man, and reconcile them.

1 Tim. ii. 5, 6; 2 Cor. v. 19.

3. How do you prove the true divinity of Christ?

From the divine names, the divine attributes, the divine works, and the divine honors of Christ.

John i. 1; x. 30; xx. 28; 1 John v. 20; Rom. ix. 5; Col. i. 15, 16; ii. 9; Heb. i. 3, 16.

4. How do you prove the true humanity of Christ?

From his birth, his growth, his temptation, his sufferings, his death and burial.

John i. 14; Rom. i. 3; Heb. ii. 14; Phil. ii. 7.

5. Did Christ become like unto us in all things?

Yes, in all things, sin only excepted.

Heb. iv. 15.

6. What do you mean by the sinlessness of Jesus?

His freedom from original and actual sin, and his perfect holiness.

John viii. 46; 2 Cor. v. 21; 1 John. iii. 5; 1 Pet. ii. 22; Heb. vii. 26.

7. Was not Christ tempted like the first Adam?

Yes: he was tempted by the devil, but he overcame temptation, fulfilled the law, and revealed righteousness and life.

Matt. iv. 1-10; Heb. iv. 15; v. 7-9; Rom. v. 18.

XXV. THE TWO STATES OF CHRIST.

1. What are the two states or conditions in the history of Christ?

The state of humiliation and the state of exaltation.

Phil. ii. 5-11; 2 Cor. viii. 9; Eph. iv. 9, 10; Heb. ii. 9-11.

2. What do you mean by the humiliation of Christ?

From infinite love to us, Christ freely laid aside his divine glory and majesty, and took upon himself the form of a servant.

3. What belongs to the state of humiliation?

Christ's conception and birth, his passion and death, his burial, and descent into Hades.

4. What do you mean by the exaltation of Christ?

After completing the work of redemption, he returned to the full possession of his eternal divine glory, and raised human nature to a share in this glory.

John xvii. 5, 24.

5. What are the stages of his exaltation?

His resurrection, his ascension, his sitting at the right hand of God, and his return to judgment.

6. What do you learn from the two states of Christ?

That I should follow my Saviour in the path of humility and self-denial, so that I may become partaker also of his divine glory and majesty.

Phil. ii. 5-7; 2 Tim. ii. 11, 12; 1 Pet. iv. 13.

XXVI. BIRTH AND CHILDHOOD OF CHRIST.

1. What do you believe concerning the birth of Jesus?

He was conceived by the power of the Holy Spirit, and born of the Virgin Mary, of the house of David, a true man, yet without sin.

Luke i. 35; Matt. i. 18; John i. 14; Gal. iv. 4.

2. Why did the eternal Son of God take up our human nature into fellowship with his divine person?

In order that he might live, suffer, die, and rise again for us, and thus accomplish in our nature the redemption of man.

Gal. iv. 4, 5; Matt. xx. 28; Tit. ii. 14.

3. When was Jesus born?

During the reign of Augustus, the Roman emperor, and Herod the Great, the king of the Jews.

Luke ii. 1; Matt. ii. 1.

4. Where was Jesus born?

In a stable at Bethlehem in Judea.

Micah v. 2; Matt. ii. 1; Luke ii. 4, 7, 12.

5. Why was Jesus born in such poverty?

That by his poverty he might make us rich, and draw even the humblest to himself.

2 Cor. viii. 9; Luke ix. 58.

6. What did the angels in heaven do at the birth of Jesus?

They rejoiced, and sang, ‘Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.’

Luke ii. 14.

7. What else took place at the birth of Jesus?

The Jewish shepherds from the field, and the heathen sages from the East, came and worshiped the child in the manger.

Luke ii. 15-20; Matt. ii. 1-11.

8. What occurred on the eighth day after Christ’s birth?

He was circumcised according to the custom of the Jews, and called JESUS.

Luke ii. 21; Matt. i. 21; Gen. xvii. 22.

9. What do you know of the childhood of Jesus?

When he was twelve years of age he sat in the temple at Jerusalem, in the midst of the doctors, both hearing them and asking them questions, and had his chief delight in religion.

Luke ii. 46-49.

10. What else is reported of Jesus in his youth?

That he was subject to his parents, and increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and men.

Luke ii. 51, 52; Heb. v. 8.

11. What benefit do you derive from the birth and childhood of Jesus?

He has redeemed our infancy and childhood, and consecrated it to God; and has left to children a perfect pattern of obedience.

XXVII. PUBLIC LIFE AND WORK OF CHRIST.

1. Where and how did Jesus grow up?

At Nazareth in Galilee, in poverty and humility, as the son of a carpenter.

Matt. ii. 23; xiii. 55; Mark vi. 3; John i. 45, 46; vi. 42.

2. What took place before he commenced his public ministry?

He was baptized in the Jordan, by John the Baptist.

Matt. iii. 13-17; Luke iii. 21, 22; John i. 32, 33.

3. Why was he baptized?

That he might fulfill all righteousness, and be solemnly consecrated to his public ministry.

Matt. iii. 15.

4. What happened at the baptism of Jesus?

The Holy Ghost descended upon him like a dove, and a voice from heaven said, 'This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.'

Matt. iii. 16, 17.

5. What followed after the baptism of Jesus?

He was tempted by the devil in the wilderness, as Adam and Eve were tempted in Paradise; but he overcame the temptation.

Matt. iv. 1-11; Luke iv. 1-13.

6. When did Christ enter upon his public ministry?

In the thirtieth year of his age.

Luke iii. 23.

7. How long did his public life last?

About three years.

8. Wherein did it consist?

He called and trained twelve apostles, taught the purest truth, and confirmed it by the holiest life, and by miracles of power and mercy.

9. What was the design or purpose of Christ?

To found the kingdom of heaven on earth, which is to embrace the whole human family, and to last forever.

Matt. xvi. 18, 19; xxi. 43; xxviii. 19; John xviii. 36, 37.

10. By what means was Christ's kingdom to be founded and promoted?

Not by force, or any carnal weapons, but by spiritual and moral means, even his passion and death.

John xviii. 36; 2 Cor. x. 4; Acts xiv. 22.

11. Of what benefit is the public life of Christ to you?

It is the perfect exemplar of piety and virtue, or of love to God and love to man, for our imitation.

John xii. 26; xv. 10; Phil. ii. 5; 1 Pet. ii. 21; 1 John ii. 6; iii. 16.

XXVIII. THE PASSION AND DEATH OF JESUS.

1. When did Jesus suffer?

During the whole period of his life on earth.

2. What did he suffer?

Poverty and sorrow, and the hatred and opposition of the ungodly world.

Isa. liii. 3; Luke ix. 58; Heb. xii. 3.

3. When did he suffer most?

At the end of his earthly life, in the garden of Gethsemane, before Caiaphas and Pontius Pilate, and on the cross.

4. What did he suffer there?

He suffered unutterable pains in body and soul, and bore the guilt of the whole world.

Matt. xxvi. and xxvii.; Mark xiv. and xv.; Luke xxii. and xxiii.; John xviii. and xix.

5. Name the chief events of his passion.

He was betrayed by Judas, taken prisoner, denied by Peter, dragged before the Jewish and heathen tribunals, mocked, scourged, crowned with thorns, unjustly condemned, and crucified between two malefactors.

6. What death did Christ die?

The most painful and ignominious death of the cross.

7. How did he suffer all this?

Like a lamb; with meekness, patience, and resignation to the holy will of God.

Isa. liii. 7; Matt. xxvi. 38; 1 Pet. ii. 23.

8. Why did Christ thus suffer and die?

Not for his own sake, but in our stead and for our benefit, out of free and boundless love.

Isa. liii. 4, 5; Matt. xxvi. 28; 2 Cor. v. 21.

9. What benefit do you derive from Christ's passion and death?

He has redeemed us from the guilt and power of sin, and reconciled us to God.

John i. 29; 1 Cor. xv. 3; 2 Cor. v. 19; Gal. iii. 13; 1 John i. 7.

10. What other benefit do you derive from it?

He has left us an example of perfect gentleness, meekness, and patience under suffering.

1 Pet. ii. 21; Heb. xii. 2; Phil. ii. 5; 1 John ii. 6.

11. What should you learn from Christ's passion?

To be forever thankful to him, and to live no longer unto sin, but unto him only who died for us.

Gal. ii. 20; v. 24; vi. 14; 2 Cor. v. 15.

XXIX. THE BURIAL OF CHRIST, AND HIS DESCENT INTO HADES.

1. What took place after the death of Jesus?

His body was laid in a new sepulchre in a garden, by his disciples, Joseph of Arimathea and Nicodemus, but did not see corruption.

John xix. 38-42; Mark xv. 43-46; Acts ii. 31; xiii. 29; 1 Cor. xv. 4.

2. What does the burial of Christ teach you?

That he truly died, and thus completed the full measure of man's lot on earth.

3. What comfort do you derive from the burial of Jesus?

He deprived the grave of its terrors, and consecrated it for believers, so that their bodies sleep in Jesus in the hope of a blissful resurrection.

Phil. i. 21; Rev. xiv. 13; 1 Thess. iv. 14; 2 Tim. i. 10.

4. Where was the soul of Christ while his body rested in the grave?

In paradise and in the realm of departed spirits.

Luke xxiii. 43; Acts ii. 27, 31; Eph. iv. 8, 9; Phil. ii. 10; John xx. 17.

5. What comfort do you derive from Christ's descent into hades, or the realm of the dead?

He delivered us from the terrors of hell, and opened the gate of heaven to all believers.

1 Pet. iii. 18, 19; iv. 6; Col. ii. 15; 1 Cor. xv. 53, 57; Rev. i. 18; Luke xxiii. 43.

XXX. THE RESURRECTION AND ASCENSION OF CHRIST.

1. What does the Bible teach concerning the resurrection of Christ?

On the third day after his crucifixion Christ rose from the grave in his glorified body, as the conqueror of death and the prince of life, and appeared repeatedly to his disciples.

Matt. xxviii.; Mark xvi.; Luke xxiv.; John xx. and xxi.; 1 Cor. xv. 3-8.

2. What is the import of this event?

By his resurrection Christ completed the work of redemption, brought life and immortality to light, and gave us a sure pledge of our blessed resurrection.

John xi. 25; xiv. 19; Rom. iv. 25; 1 Cor. xv. 20-22; 2 Tim. i. 10.

3. How should this faith move you?

To arise from the death of sin, and to walk with Christ in newness of life.

Eph. v. 14; Rom. vi. 4.

4. What do you believe concerning the ascension of Christ?

Forty days after his resurrection Christ ascended visibly to heaven from Mount Olivet, in the presence of the apostles, and sat down at the right hand of God.

Mark xvi. 19; Luke xxiv. 50, 51; Acts i. 9-11.

5. Is Christ, then, absent from us?

Certainly not: he is always invisibly present with his people by his Word and Spirit, in the full power of his mediatorial work, even to the end of the world.

Matt. xviii. 20; xxviii. 20; Eph. i. 23.

6. What should the ascension of Christ teach you?

To seek those things which are above, so that we may become partakers at last of his heavenly glory.

Col. iii. 1, 2; Phil. iii. 20; John xvii. 24.

XXXI. CHRIST'S SITTING AT THE RIGHT HAND OF GOD, AND HIS RETURN TO JUDGMENT.

1. What do you mean by saying, 'He sitteth at the right hand of God the Father Almighty?'

That Christ, as the God-man, has part in the eternal glory and almighty power of God.

Mark xvi. 19; Matt. xxviii. 18; 1 Pet. iii. 22; Eph. i. 20-23.

2. What is the work of Christ in heaven?

He rules and keeps his Church as a mighty King, and he intercedes for us as a merciful High-priest.

1 Cor. xv. 25; Rom. viii. 34; 1 John ii. 1.

3. What comfort do you derive from this faith?

That at all times, even in tribulation and persecution, we are sure of the almighty protection of our Saviour, who rules and overrules all things for our good, and will take us up at last to himself in heaven.

John x. 28; xvi. 33; Rom. viii. 28, 31-39.

4. What does the Bible teach concerning the second coming of Christ?

On the last day Christ will appear in great power and glory, raise the dead, and judge the world in righteousness.

Matt. xxv. 31, 32; Acts x. 42; xvii. 31.

5. What will he judge.

The thoughts, words, and deeds of men.

1 Cor. iv. 5; Matt. xii. 36, 37; Rom. ii. 6;

6. How will he hold judgment?

He will separate the righteous from the wicked, bring to light all their works, and award everlasting life and everlasting punishment.

Matt. xxv. 32, 33, 46; 2 Cor. v. 10; John v. 29.

7. Do we know the time of the coming of Christ?

No: God alone knows the day and the hour when the Son of Man shall come.

Matt. xxiv. 44; Mark xiii. 32; Acts i. 7; 1 Thess. v. 2.

8. What should we do, therefore?

We should watch and pray, and always be ready for the great day of judgment.

Matt. xxv. 13; Luke xii. 37; Matt. xxv. 1-13.

9. Have the pious any reason to be afraid of the judgment-day?

No: to the ungodly it will indeed be a day of terror, but to the godly a day of joy and complete redemption.

Luke xxi. 28; xxiii. 30; Rev. xxii. 20.

XXXII. THE THREEFOLD OFFICE AND WORK OF CHRIST.

1. What are the three offices of Christ?

He is our Prophet, Priest, and King.

2. Were there such offices before the time of Christ?

Yes: there were prophets, priests, and kings in the Jewish economy, who were types and forerunners of Christ.

3. How is Christ distinguished from them?

Christ unites all these offices in himself, and is the last and perfect Prophet, Priest, and King of redeemed humanity, forever.

4. What do you mean by the prophetical office of Christ?

Christ is the light of the world, and the truth itself, and has fully revealed to us the will and counsel of God, in his doctrine and by his example.

John viii. 12; xiv. 6; xv. 15; Col. ii. 3.

5. What belongs to his prophetical office?

His doctrine, prophecies, and miracles.

6. What do you mean by the priestly office of Christ?

Christ has reconciled us to God forever by his own perfect sacrifice on the cross, and intercedes continually for us at the right hand of the Father, as our eternal High-priest.

Heb. v. 6; x. 14; 2 Cor. v. 21; 1 John ii. 1; Rom. viii. 34.

7. What do you mean by the kingly office of Christ?

Christ is the head of his Church in heaven and on earth, ruling it by his Word and Spirit, protecting it against all enemies, and directing all things for his glory and the good of his people.

Luke i. 33; 1 Cor. xv. 25; Eph. i. 22, 23; Rom. viii. 28.

XXXIII. OF THE HOLY SPIRIT.

1. What do you believe concerning the Holy Spirit?

I BELIEVE IN THE HOLY GHOST; THE HOLY CATHOLIC CHURCH; THE COMMUNION OF SAINTS; THE FORGIVENESS OF SINS; THE RESURRECTION OF THE BODY, AND THE LIFE EVERLASTING.

2. Is not the work of Christ sufficient for our salvation?

Certainly it is; but it must be applied to our personal benefit by the Holy Spirit.

1 Cor. xii. 3; Rom. viii. 9; Gal. iv. 6; Tit. iii. 5, 6.

3. How is this done?

The Holy Spirit testifies of Christ as the Saviour of sinners, unites us to him by faith, and makes us partakers of all his benefits.

John xiv. 26; xv. 26; xvi. 13, 14.

4. Who is the Holy Spirit?

The third person in the Holy Trinity, proceeding from the Father, and sent by the Father and the Son.

Matt. xxviii. 19; 2 Cor. xiii. 13; John xiv. 26; xv. 26.

5. Why do you believe in the divinity of the Holy Spirit?

Because the Bible makes him equal with the Father and the Son, and ascribes to him divine names, attributes, works, and honors.

Matt. xxviii. 19; 2 Cor. xiii. 13; Acts v. 3, 4; John xiv. 16, 17, 26; 1 Pet. i. 2; iv. 14.

6. What is the work or office of the Holy Spirit?

The regeneration, sanctification, and glorification of the redeemed.

John iii. 5, 6; Tit. iii. 5-7; 1 Cor. iii. 16; vi. 11; Gal. v. 22.

7. What does this mean?

The Holy Spirit creates, preserves, promotes, and perfects the Christian life in the children of God.

8. Was not the Holy Spirit active before Christ?

Yes: the Spirit wrought in the creation, inspired the prophets, sanctified believers under the Jewish dispensation, and comforted them by the hope of the future redemption.

Gen. i. 2; Job xxxiii. 4; Psa. li. 11; 1 Pet. i. 10, 11; 2 Pet. i. 21.

9. How does the Spirit work in the new dispensation?

As the Spirit of Jesus Christ, applying to us the fullness of the accomplished redemption, and making us children of God and heirs of life everlasting.

Rom. viii. 15-17; Gal. iv. 5-7.

10. When was the Holy Spirit poured out in this fullness upon the apostles?

On the day of Pentecost, the fiftieth day after the resurrection of Christ.

Acts ii. 4-13; John xiv. 16; xv. 26.

11. Was the effusion of the Spirit confined to the day of Pentecost?

No: the Spirit works continually in Christendom through the means of grace, and dwells in all true believers as their guide and comforter.

John xiv. 16; 1 Cor. iii. 16; vi. 19; Gal. v. 22.

12. How can you receive the precious gift of the Holy Spirit?

By prayer and the right use of the means of grace.

Luke xi. 13; Acts ii. 38.

XXXIV. THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

1. Where does the Holy Spirit dwell and work?

In the Christian Church.

2. What is the Christian Church?

The communion of all believers in Christ the Head.

Eph. i. 22; ii. 21; v. 25-27; Acts xx. 28; 1 Pet. ii. 9; Rev. xxi. 2-9.

3. Who founded the Christian Church?

Our exalted Saviour, on the fiftieth day after his resurrection, by the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon his disciples, in Jerusalem.

Matt. xvi. 18; 1 Cor. iii. 11; Eph. ii. 20; Acts ii. 1-11.

4. Can the Church ever perish?

No: the gates of hell shall not prevail against Christ's Church.

Matt. xvi. 18; Rom. xi. 2-5.

5. What are the essential attributes of the Church?

The Church of Christ is one, holy, and universal in its nature and destination; and is to become so more and more in its manifestation.

John x. 16; xvii. 23; Eph. iv. 3-6; v. 25-27; 1 Pet. ii. 9; Matt. xxiv. 14; xxviii. 19; Rom. xi. 25, 26; Rev. v. 9.

6. What is meant by the Church militant?

The Church on earth, in conflict with the ungodly world, until the coming of Christ.

Matt. x. 16; John xvi. 33; 1 Tim. vi. 12; Acts xiv. 22.

7. What is meant by the Church triumphant?

The perfect kingdom of glory in heaven.

Isa. ix. 1-22; John xvii. 24; Rev. xxi. and xxii.

8. What is the mission of the Church on earth?

To bring unbelievers to Christ, and to prepare believers for heaven.

9. Does external communion with the Church suffice to save us?

No: we must be living members of the body of Christ.

Matt. vii. 21; xxii. 14; John xv. 4-6; Rom. ii. 13; 2 Tim. ii. 20; iii. 5.

10. What will become at last of the dead and hypocritical members of the Church?

They will be cut off and cast into the fire.

Matt. vii. 19; John xv. 6.

11. What do you mean by the Communion of Saints?

The true children of God in heaven and on earth are one in Christ, their common Head and Saviour, and should manifest this unity by brotherly love and mutual intercession.

John x. 16; xvii. 23; Gal. iii. 28; Eph. iv. 3-6; 1 John i. 3; Heb. xiii. 1.

XXXV. THE MEANS OF GRACE.

1. How does the Holy Spirit work in the Church?

By the means of grace.

2. What are the principal means of grace?

The Word of God and the Sacraments.

3. How are these related to each other?

By the Word of God salvation is preached to us; by the Sacraments salvation is signed and sealed, and so confirmed to us.

4. What is the Word of God?

The revealed truth of God which is taught in the Holy Scriptures, and continually proclaimed by the preaching of the gospel.

John xvii. 17; Rom. x. 17; 1 Pet. i. 23; Heb. iv. 14.

5. Who instituted the preaching of the gospel?

Jesus Christ, when he sent out the apostles with the commission, ‘Preach the gospel to every creature.’

Mark xvi. 15; Matt. xxviii. 19; Eph. iv. 11, 12.

6. What is a Sacrament?

A holy ordinance instituted by Christ, whereby, under visible signs and seals, divine grace is offered and applied to believers.

Rom. iv. 11; Col. ii. 11.

7. What are the typical Sacraments of the Old Testament?

Circumcision and the Passover.

Gen. xvii. 7-13; Rom. iv. 11; Exod. xii. 12 sqq.; 1 Cor. v. 7.

8. What are the Sacraments of the New Testament?

Holy Baptism and the holy Communion or the Lord’s Supper.

1 John v. 6.

9. How are these two Sacraments related to each other?

By Baptism we are introduced into the communion with Christ; by the Lord’s Supper we are preserved and strengthened in it.

10. What is the effect of the Sacraments?

They bring a blessing to the worthy, a curse to the unworthy partaker.

1 Cor. xi. 29.

11. What is necessary for the worthy reception of the Sacrament ?

Sincere repentance of our sins and a hearty faith in Christ.

12. Are the Sacraments necessary to salvation ?

We are bound to the ordinances of God ; but God is free, and his Spirit bloweth where it listeth.

John iii. 8.

XXXVI. HOLY BAPTISM.

1. When did Christ institute holy Baptism ?

After his resurrection, and shortly before his ascension.

2. By what words ?

TEACH ALL NATIONS, BAPTIZING THEM INTO THE NAME OF THE FATHER, AND OF THE SON, AND OF THE HOLY GHOST ; TEACHING THEM TO OBSERVE ALL THINGS WHATSOEVER I HAVE COMMANDED YOU.

Matt. xxviii. 19, 20 ; Mark xvi. 16.

3. What is the outward sign in Baptism ?

Water, by which the purifying and renewing power of the Holy Spirit is represented.

Eph. v. 26 ; John iii. 5 ; Heb. x. 22.

4. What is the inward grace and spiritual benefit of Baptism ?

The remission of sins and the gift of the Holy Spirit.

Mark xvi. 16 ; Acts ii. 36 ; Gal. iii. 27 ; Rom. vi. 3, 4.

5. What, then, is the nature of Baptism ?

Baptism is a covenant of grace of the triune God with man, in which God promises forgiveness and salvation, and man vows obedience and devotion to him.

1 Pet. iii. 21 ; Matt. xxviii. 20 ; Isa. liv. 10.

6. Will all baptized persons be saved ?

No : but only those who keep their baptismal vow, and are faithful unto death.

Matt. xxiv. 13 ; Rev. ii. 10 ; iii. 11 ; 2 Tim. iv. 6-8.

7. What is the consequence if we neglect our part of the baptismal covenant ?

We forfeit its benefits and increase our guilt.

[Examples of unfaithfulness and hypocrisy: Ananias and Sapphira—Acts v. ; Simon Magus—Acts viii.]

8. Is there forgiveness for sins committed after Baptism ?

Yes, if we sincerely repent, and take refuge in Christ.

1 John i. 7-9 ; ii. 1.

9. What is the duty of baptized persons?

They should be evermore thankful to God for receiving them into his covenant of grace, and never doubt his promises; but they should also renew their vows by daily repentance, and grow up to full manhood in Christ.

XXXVII. THE LORD'S SUPPER.

1. What is the second Sacrament of the Christian Church?

The Lord's Supper, or the holy Communion.

2. When did Christ institute this Sacrament?

In the night before his crucifixion.

3. Give me the words of institution.

Our Lord Jesus, the same night in which he was betrayed, took bread; and when he had given thanks, he brake it, and said:

TAKE, EAT: THIS IS MY BODY, WHICH IS BROKEN FOR YOU: THIS DO IN REMEMBRANCE OF ME.

After the same manner, also, he took the cup, when he had supped, saying:

DRINK YE ALL OF IT: THIS CUP IS THE NEW TESTAMENT IN MY BLOOD, WHICH IS SHED FOR MANY FOR THE REMISSION OF SINS: THIS DO YE, AS OFT AS YE DRINK IT, IN REMEMBRANCE OF ME.

Matt. xxvi. 26-28; Mark xiv. 22-24; Luke xxii. 19, 20; 1 Cor. xi. 23-25.

4. What are the visible signs or elements in the Lord's Supper?

Bread and wine, by which the body and blood of Christ are set forth and sealed.

5. What is the invisible grace of the Lord's Supper?

The communion of the body and blood of Christ, who died for us and lives forever.

Matt. xxvi. 26-28; 1 Cor. x. 16.

6. What is the meaning and design of this Sacrament?

It is a memorial of the blessed sacrifice of Christ, whereby we commemorate his passion and death, and appropriate anew the benefits of his atonement.

Luke xxii. 19; 1 Cor. xi. 26.

7. What else is this Sacrament?

A communion of the body and blood of Christ, whereby the souls of believers are nourished unto everlasting life.

1 Cor. x. 16; John vi. 51-58; Eph. v. 30.

8. What is it in addition to this?

A communion of believers with each other, as members of the same mystical body of Christ.

1 Cor. x. 17; John xiii. 34, 35; xv. 12; Rom. xii. 5.

9. What, then, does the believer receive in the Lord's Supper?

Jesus Christ, who is the bread of life, together with all his benefits.
John vi. 51.

10. How do we receive this great blessing?

Not after a natural or carnal manner, but through faith by the power of the Holy Spirit, who unites us to Christ.

John vi. 47, 54, 63; 2 Cor. iii. 6.

11. Who are invited to the Lord's Supper?

All believers who heartily repent of their sins, repose their whole trust in Christ, and hunger and thirst after communion with him.

Matt. v. 6; xi. 28; John vi. 37.

12. What do unworthy communicants receive in the Lord's Supper?

They eat and drink judgment to themselves, not discerning the Lord's body.

1 Cor. xi. 27, 29.

13. Should those guilty of gross offenses be admitted to the Lord's Supper?

By no means; but they should be suspended, or even be cut off from the Church, until they repent.

Matt. xviii. 17; 1 Cor. v. 2.

14. How should we prepare ourselves for a worthy Communion?

By prayer, by meditation on Christ's passion, and by earnest self-examination as to our repentance, faith, love to Christ, to the brethren, and to all men.

1 Cor. xi. 28; 2 Cor. xiii. 5; Matt. v. 24.

XXXVIII. THE ORDER OF SALVATION.—REGENERATION.

1. What are the principal acts in the work of grace?

Election, vocation, regeneration, justification, sanctification, and glorification.

Rom. viii. 29, 30; 1 Cor. i. 30.

2. What is election, or predestination to life?

The eternal purpose of free grace, whereby God has chosen us in Christ, that we should be holy and obtain salvation through him.

Eph. i. 4, 5; 2 Thess. ii. 13; Rom. viii. 29; 1 Pet. i. 2, 20.

3. What use should we make of this doctrine?

It should increase our gratitude to God, make us more diligent and watchful in our conflict with sin, and give us comfort in our trials.

Matt. xxvi. 41; 1 Cor. x. 12; 2 Pet. i. 10.

4. What is vocation, or calling?

The invitation given to the sinner, through the gospel, to enter into the kingdom of God.

Rev. iii. 20; Matt. xi. 28-30; 1 Thess. ii. 12; 2 Thess. ii. 14; 1 Pet. ii. 9.

5. What is conversion?

Conversion is a change of heart, by which we turn away from sin and turn to Christ, in true repentance and faith.

Matt. iv. 17; Acts iii. 19; Eph. v. 14.

[Examples: The prodigal son in the parable—Luke xv. 18-21; the three thousand on the day of Pentecost—Acts ii. 41; St. Paul—Acts ix. 1-9; Cornelius—Acts x. 1 sqq.; Lydia and the jailer at Philippi—Acts xvi. 14, 31, etc.]

6. What are the marks of true repentance?

Knowledge of sin, hearty sorrow for it, hatred of it, and a sincere purpose to lead a life of holy obedience.

2 Cor. vii. 10; Psa. li. 2 sqq.; Luke xviii. 13.

[Examples of true repentance, or godly sorrow unto life: Mary Magdalene—Luke vii. 36-48; Luke viii. 2; Zacchæus—Luke xix. 1-10; the prodigal son—Luke xv. 18-21; the publican in the temple—Luke xviii. 13; the penitent thief—Luke xxiii. 40-43; also, for sins after conversion, David, Psa. li., and Peter, Matt. xxvi. 75.]

[Examples of false repentance, or worldly sorrow unto death, which merely shrinks from the terrible effects of sin, and despairs of the mercy of God: Cain—Gen. iv. 13; Pharaoh—Exod. x. 16, 17; Ahab—1 Kings xxii. 15, 29; Judas—Matt. xxvii. 3 sqq.]

7. What are the marks of true faith?

Knowledge of Christ, assent to the truth of his gospel, and hearty trust in him as our Saviour.

Compare Lesson XII. and Lesson XXXIX.

8. Can you repent and believe in your own strength?

By no means; but only by the power of the Holy Spirit, who enlightens our darkened understanding, and creates in us a new heart.

Phil. ii. 13; Jer. xxxi. 18; Ezek. xxxvi. 26; John vi. 44.

9. What do you call this great change?

Regeneration, or the new birth, without which no man can enter into the kingdom of God.

John iii. 3-8; Tit. iii. 5; 1 John iii. 9; v. 4; 1 Pet. i. 23.

10. What do you mean by regeneration?

That act of the Holy Spirit by which we become partakers of the divine life, or are made new creatures in Christ Jesus.

2 Cor. v. 17; Eph. iv. 24; Col. iii. 10; Rom. vi. 4-6.

11. Why do all men need regeneration?

Because they are all born of the flesh, are dead in sin, and thus disqualified by nature for communion with a holy God.

John iii. 6; Eph. ii. 1; Compare Lessons XIX.-XXI.

12. What are the effects of regeneration?

By regeneration we become children of God and heirs of eternal life.

John i. 12, 13; Rom. viii. 15-17; Gal. iv. 5, 6.

XXXIX. JUSTIFICATION AND SANCTIFICATION.

1. What is justification?

Justification is an act of God, by which he pardons our sins, and applies to us the righteousness of Christ.

Rom. i. 17; iii. 21, 22; iv. 7, 8; v. 19; x. 4; 1 Cor. i. 30; 2 Cor. v. 19, 21; 1 John i. 7-9.

2. How is the sinner justified?

By the free grace of God in Christ through faith, which so unites us to Christ that he lives in us and we in him.

Rom. i. 16, 17; iii. 24; Eph. ii. 8, 9; Phil. iii. 9; Gal. ii. 16-20.

3. What is the effect of justification upon the heart?

Peace with God which passes all understanding.

Rom. v. 1; Phil. iv. 7.

4. What is the evidence of justification?

Good works or a holy life.

Matt. v. 16; vii. 16; John xv. 4, 5; Gal. ii. 17; Rom. vi. 2 sqq.

5. Can there be true faith without good works?

No: true faith works by love, purifies the heart, overcomes the world, and abounds in fruits of righteousness.

1 John v. 4; Gal. v. 6; James ii. 26.

6. What is sanctification?

Sanctification is continual growth in grace through the indwelling power of the Holy Spirit upon our hearts, until we attain to perfection in Christ Jesus.

Matt. v. 48; 2 Cor. vii. 1; Eph. iv. 15; 2 Pet. iii. 18.

7. What are the chief Christian graces or virtues?

Faith, hope, and love.

1 Cor. xiii. 13; Gal. v. 22; 2 Pet. i. 5-7.

8. What is glorification ?

The completion of the work of grace at the coming of Christ, when we shall share in his glory and enjoy him forever.

Col. iii. 4; Rom. viii. 30; Phil. i. 6; 1 John iii. 2.

XL. THE RESURRECTION OF THE BODY, AND THE LIFE EVERLASTING.

1. When will the work of grace be completed ?

At the glorious coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

1 Cor. i. 7, 8; Phil. i. 6; Col. iii. 4; 1 Thess. v. 23; 1 Pet. i. 7-9.

2. What will take place at the coming of Christ ?

The resurrection of the dead and the judgment of the world.

Compare Lesson XXXI.

3. Shall all men rise again ?

Yes: the righteous shall rise unto the resurrection of life, the wicked unto the resurrection of damnation.

John v. 28, 29; Matt. xxv. 46; Acts xxiv. 15; Dan. xii. 2.

4. How will the resurrection be effected ?

By the almighty power of God, who first made man of the dust, and can also raise him from the dust.

Matt. xix. 26; Phil. iii. 21; 1 Cor. xv. 35, 36; John xii. 24; Gen. ii. 7.

5. Where is the soul of the believer between death and the resurrection ?

In blessed communion with Christ, waiting for the glorious resurrection of the body, and for the consummation of the kingdom of God.

Luke xxiii. 43; John xiv. 2; Phil. i. 23; 2 Tim. iv. 6-8.

6. On what ground do you rest your hope for a blessed resurrection ?

On the resurrection of Christ, and our living union with him.

John xiv. 19; xi. 25; 1 Cor. xv. 20; Job xix. 25.

7. What will be the nature of the resurrection-body of believers ?

It will be a spiritual body, immortal, incorruptible, and like unto the glorious body of Jesus Christ.

Phil. iii. 20, 21; 1 Cor. xv. 42-44; Dan. xii. 3.

8. What will follow the resurrection of believers ?

The life everlasting, which already begins here with faith in Christ, but which will then be perfected in glory.

John vi. 47; Psa. xvi. 11; 1 John iii. 2.

9. What do you mean by the life everlasting in heaven ?

A state of perfect freedom from sin and death, and of unspeakable joy and glory in unbroken communion with the triune God, and the innumerable company of saints and angels.

1 Cor. ii. 9; John xiv. 2, 3; xvii. 24; Rev. xxi. 5.

10. What are the employments of the saints in heaven?

They will see God, and love, serve, and praise him forever.

Matt. v. 8; 1 Cor. xiii. 12; Rev. v. 11, 12; vii. 15.

11. What effect should this hope have upon you?

It should inspire me to lead a holy life in the fear and love of God, so that I may die in peace and attain at last to the glorious resurrection of the just.

1 Cor. xv. 58; 2 Pet. iii. 14; 1 Tim. iv. 8.

Part Third.

THE CHRISTIAN LIFE.

XLI. THE TEN COMMANDMENTS.

1. What is your duty in view of what God has done for you?

To be thankful for so great a salvation from sin and death, and to present myself a living sacrifice unto God.

Rom. xii. 1; 1 Cor. vi. 20; 2 Cor. v. 14, 15; 1 John iv. 19.

2. How do you prove your thankfulness to God?

By keeping God's holy law.

Eccles. xii. 13; John xiv. 15; 1 John v. 3.

3. What is the sum and substance of the law of God?

Love to God and love to our neighbor.

Matt. xxii. 37-40; Rom. xiii. 10; Deut. vi. 5.

4. Where is the moral law briefly summed up?

In the decalogue, or the ten commandments, which God gave through Moses to the people of Israel from Mount Sinai, after their deliverance from Egypt, and before their entrance into the land of promise.

Exod. xx. 1-10; Deut. v. 1-22.

5. What is the use and object of the law?

It is to all men a mirror of the holy will of God and their own sinfulness; to the unconverted, a wholesome restraint, and schoolmaster to bring them unto Christ; to the converted, a rule of holy living.

Rom. iii. 20; Gal. iii. 24; Luke xvi. 17.

6. But did not Christ abolish the law?

No: he fulfilled the law by his doctrine and example; he redeemed us from its curse; and he enables us, by his Holy Spirit, to keep it in its true spiritual sense.

Matt. v. 17, 18; Gal. iii. 13; Rom. vii. 22.

7. How are the ten commandments divided?

Into two tables, each consisting of five commandments.

Exod. xxxi. 18; Deut. iv. 13; v. 22.

8. Of what does the first table treat?

Of our duties to God, or of love to God.

Matt. xxii. 37, 38; Deut. vi. 5; x. 12.

9. Of what does the second table treat?

Of our duties to man, or of love to our neighbor.

Matt. xxii. 39; Rom. xiii. 9; Lev. xix. 18.

10. What does each commandment comprehend?

Each commandment enjoins a virtue, and forbids the opposite sin.

XLI. THE FIRST COMMANDMENT.

1. What is the preface to the ten commandments?

I AM THE LORD THY GOD, WHO HAVE BROUGHT THEE OUT OF THE LAND OF EGYPT, OUT OF THE HOUSE OF BONDAGE.

2. What does this mean?

God reminds us thereby of his holy majesty, and of his redeeming mercy, that we may keep his law not only from fear, but from gratitude and love.

3. What is the first commandment?

THOU SHALT HAVE NO OTHER GODS BEFORE ME.

4. What does God forbid in this commandment?

All kinds of idolatry, or creature-worship.

1 John v. 21; 1 Cor. x. 14.

5. What is idolatry?

The worship of any thing which is not God: as the stars, or animals, or men, or angels, or human conceits.

Gal. iv. 8; Rom. i. 21-32.

6. What else may be called idolatry?

All improper attachment to ourselves, to the world, or to any creature, whereby we detract from the supreme honor and love due to God.

[1 John ii. 15-17 (the world); Matt. vi. 24 (riches); Col. iii. 5 (covetousness); Phil. iii.

19 (the belly, or sensual enjoyment); Matt. x. 37 (father or mother, son or daughter, if preferred to Christ).]

7. What does God require in this commandment?

That we fear and love God above all things, worship him only, put all our trust in him, and find our highest joy and delight in him.

Matt. iv. 10; Psa. lxxiii. 25, 26; exi. 10; Prov. xxiii. 26.

XLIII. THE SECOND COMMANDMENT.

1. What is the second commandment?

THOU SHALT NOT MAKE UNTO THEE ANY GRAVEN IMAGE, OR ANY LIKENESS OF ANY THING THAT IS IN HEAVEN ABOVE, OR THAT IS IN THE EARTH BENEATH, OR THAT IS IN THE WATER UNDER THE EARTH: THOU SHALT NOT BOW DOWN THYSELF TO THEM, NOR SERVE THEM.

FOR I THE LORD THY GOD AM A JEALOUS GOD, VISITING THE INIQUITY OF THE FATHERS UPON THE CHILDREN UNTO THE THIRD AND FOURTH GENERATION OF THEM THAT HATE ME; AND SHOWING MERCY UNTO THOUSANDS OF THEM THAT LOVE ME AND KEEP MY COMMANDMENTS.

2. What does God forbid in this commandment?

The worship of images, and all false modes of worship which are contrary to the Word of God.

Psa. xvii. 7; Rom. i. 22, 23; Acts xvii. 29.

3. Are all images, then, forbidden by God?

No: images of creatures are allowed, but not for purposes of idolatry or superstition.

Exod. xxv. 17 sqq.; xxxv. 30-33; 1 Kings vii. 14.

4. What does God enjoin in this commandment?

That we should worship God, who is a Spirit, in spirit and in truth.

John iv. 24; Psa. xxix. 2.

5. What belongs to the true worship of God?

The reading of the holy Scriptures, the preaching of the gospel, prayer and praise, and the administration of the Sacraments according to God's appointment.

6. How does God enforce this commandment?

By reminding us of his zeal for the purity of worship, by threatening us with his wrath, and promising his mercy unto children and children's children.

7. Why does he thus enforce this commandment?

Because God is unwilling to give his honor to any creature, and because apostasy from the true worship of the Lord our God is the fruitful source of all manner of superstition and vice.

Isa. xlvi. 8; Psa. cxv. 1; Rom. i. 21-32.

XLIV. THE THIRD COMMANDMENT.

1. What is the third commandment?

THOU SHALT NOT TAKE THE NAME OF THE LORD THY GOD IN VAIN, FOR THE LORD WILL NOT HOLD HIM GUILTY THAT TAKETH HIS NAME
IN VAIN.

2. What do you understand by the name of God?

Every thing by which God makes himself known to us—his names, titles, attributes, words, works, and ordinances.

3. What does God forbid in this commandment?

False and rash oaths, blasphemy, cursing, swearing, and all profanity in thought and speech.

Matt. v. 34-37; James v. 12; Rom. xii. 14.

4. In what cases are Christians allowed to swear?

When the magistrate, as the minister of God, demands an oath for the defense of truth and justice.

Exod. xxii. 11; Deut. x. 20; Matt. xxvi. 63, 64; Heb. vi. 13.

5. What is required in the third commandment?

That we think and speak with deep reverence of God and all holy things, and glorify the name of the Lord in our lives.

1 Cor. x. 31; 1 Pet. iv. 11; 1 Cor. vi. 20.

6. Why is a special warning added to this commandment?

Because sins of profanity are often overlooked or slightly thought of by men, but are, nevertheless, an abomination to God, and expose us to his righteous judgment.

Gal. vi. 7; Heb. x. 31.

XLV. THE FOURTH COMMANDMENT.

1. What is the fourth commandment?

REMEMBER THE SABBATH DAY TO KEEP IT HOLY. SIX DAYS SHALT THOU LABOR, AND DO ALL THY WORK; BUT THE SEVENTH DAY IS THE SABBATH OF THE LORD THY GOD: IN IT THOU SHALT NOT DO ANY WORK, THOU, NOR THY SON, NOR THY DAUGHTER, THY MAN-SERVANT, NOR THY MAID-SERVANT, NOR THY CATTLE, NOR THY STRANGER THAT IS WITHIN THY GATES.

FOR IN SIX DAYS THE LORD MADE HEAVEN AND EARTH, THE SEA, AND ALL THAT IN THEM IS, AND RESTED THE SEVENTH DAY: WHEREFORE THE LORD BLESSED THE SABBATH DAY, AND HALLOWED IT.

2. What does God forbid in this commandment?

All desecration of the day of holy rest, either by secular labor and amusement, or by idleness and neglect of divine worship.

Lev. xiii. 3; Jer. xvii. 21, 22; Matt. xxiv. 20; Luke xxiii. 56.

3. Are all works, then, prohibited on the Lord's Day?

No: acts of worship, charity, and necessity are allowed, and commended by the example of our Saviour.

Matt. xii. 1-13; John v. 16; ix. 14.

4. How is the Lord's Day to be kept holy?

By acts of public and private worship, by devotional reading and meditation, by godly conversation and works of Christian charity.

Lev. xix. 30; Ezek. xx. 12; Isa. lviii. 13; Psa. cxviii. 24; Luke iv. 16; Col. iii. 16.

5. Why was the Jewish Sabbath celebrated on the seventh day of the week?

To commemorate the creation and the redemption of Israel from the bondage of Egypt.

Gen. ii. 2, 3; Exod. xx. 11; Deut. v. 15.

6. Why is the Christian Sabbath celebrated on the first day of the week?

To commemorate the resurrection of Christ, and our redemption from the bondage of sin and death, for which reason it is called 'the Lord's Day.'

Matt. xxviii. 1; Acts xx. 7; 1 Cor. xvi. 2; Rev. i. 10.

7. What is the design and use of the Lord's Day?

To maintain public worship, to give rest to body and soul, and to prepare us for the eternal sabbath in heaven.

XLVI. THE FIFTH COMMANDMENT.

1. What is the fifth commandment?

HONOR THY FATHER AND THY MOTHER: THAT THY DAYS MAY BE LONG IN THE LAND WHICH THE LORD THY GOD GIVETH THEE.

2. What does God enjoin in this commandment?

That we cheerfully render to our parents, teachers, and other superiors, all due honor, love, and obedience in the Lord.

Prov. i. 8, 9; Eph. vi. 1-3; Col. iii. 20; Luke ii. 51; Heb. xiii. 17; Rom. xiii. 1.

3. What is forbidden in this commandment?

All disrespect, disobedience, or neglect of our parents, teachers, or other superiors. Lev. xx. 9; Deut. xxvii. 16; Exod. xxii. 28.

4. What are the duties of parents?

To bring up their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord, for usefulness in this world, and for eternal happiness in the world to come. Prov. xxii. 6; Eph. vi. 4.

5. What are the duties of superiors in general?

To promote, both by precept and example, the temporal and spiritual welfare of those intrusted to their care.

Col. iv. 1; John xxi. 15-17; 1 Pet. v. 1-3; Rom. xiii. 3, 4.

6. Why does God add a special promise to this commandment?

Because the family is the foundation of society, and obedience to parents is the condition of happiness and prosperity.

XLVII. THE SIXTH COMMANDMENT.

1. Of what do the last five commandments treat?

Of love to our neighbor.

Rom. xiii. 9; John iv. 20.

2. Who is our neighbor?

Every man with whom we come in contact, and to whom we can do good, without distinction of race, character, or condition.

The parable of the good Samaritan—Luke x. 29-37.

3. What is the sum of your duties to your neighbor?

To love him as myself, and do unto him as I wish him to do unto me. Matt. vii. 12; xxii. 39; Luke vi. 31.

4. What is the sixth commandment?

THOU SHALT NOT KILL.

5. What is forbidden in this commandment?

Murder and suicide, or the willful destruction of human life, whether it be done by our own hands or by the agency of another.

6. Who alone has a right to take human life?

The magistrate, who, as the minister of God, bears the sword for the punishment of evil-doers.

Gen. ix. 6; Rom. xiii. 4.

7. Why are we forbidden to destroy human life?

Because God alone is lord over life and death, and because man is made in the image of God, and is our brother.

Gen. ix. 5, 6; James iii. 9; 1 Cor. iii. 16, 17.

8. What else is forbidden in this commandment?

All provoking words, and feelings of envy, hatred, wrath, and revenge towards our neighbor.

Lev. xix. 17; Matt. v. 22; 1 John iii. 15; Eph. iv. 31.

9. What duties are required in the sixth commandment?

That we have a sacred regard for the life of our neighbor and for our own, cheerfully assist him in all distress, and return good for evil, even to our enemy.

1 Cor. iii. 16; vi. 20; Rom. xii. 10, 20, 21; Col. iii. 12, 13.

XLVIII. THE SEVENTH COMMANDMENT.

1. What is the seventh commandment?

THOU SHALT NOT COMMIT ADULTERY.

2. What does God forbid in this commandment?

All unchastity in thought, gesture, word, or deed, whether in or out of married life.

Matt. v. 28; Eph. iv. 29; 1 Cor. vi. 18.

3. What else is here forbidden?

Bad company, intemperance in meat and drink, filthy conversation, obscene books, songs, and pictures, and whatsoever stimulates unchaste desires.

1 Cor. xv. 33; Rom. xiii. 12-14; Eph. v. 3, 4.

4. Why is unchastity such a heinous sin?

Because by unchastity we dishonor and corrupt our body and soul, which are the temple of God and of the Holy Ghost.

1 Cor. iii. 16, 17; vi. 18-20.

5. What does God require in this commandment?

To be chaste and temperate, whether in the married or the single state, and to keep our body pure, as a temple of the Holy Ghost.

Matt. v. 8; 1 Cor. iii. 16, 17; Heb. xiii. 4.

6. What does God especially enjoin upon married persons?

Mutual esteem, love, and fidelity unto death.

Eph. v. 22-31; Col. iii. 18, 19; 1 Pet. iii. 1-6.

7. What is marriage?

An inseparable union of life in love between one man and one woman, instituted by God in paradise, and reflecting the mystical union between Christ and his Church.

Gen. i. 27; ii. 18; Matt. xix. 5, 6; Eph. v. 32, 33.

8. For what purpose has God instituted marriage?

For the mutual aid and happiness of married persons, for the propagation of the race, and for the building up of the kingdom of God through Christian nurture.

Gen. i. 28; ii. 18; Eph. vi. 4; Heb. xiii. 4; 1 Tim. iv. 1-3.

XLIX. THE EIGHTH COMMANDMENT. .

1. What is the eighth commandment?

THOU SHALT NOT STEAL.

2. What does God forbid in this commandment?

Robbery, theft, fraud, and all injury to the property of our neighbor.

Eph. iv. 28; 1 Thess. iv. 6; Psa. xxxvii. 21.

3. What other sins are here prohibited?

Idleness, covetousness, wastefulness, and whatever may lead to theft and fraud.

2 Thess. iii. 10; Matt. vi. 24; 1 Tim. vi. 10; Prov. xxi. 17.

4. What are the duties enjoined in the eighth commandment?

Labor and industry, honesty and fidelity in our dealings, contentment with our lot, kindness and liberality to our neighbor.

Eph. iv. 28; Luke xvi. 10; 1 Tim. vi. 6, 8; Acts xx. 35; Heb. xiii. 16.

L. THE NINTH COMMANDMENT.

1. What is the ninth commandment?

THOU SHALT NOT BEAR FALSE WITNESS AGAINST THY NEIGHBOR.

2. What does God forbid in this commandment?

Not only false testimony before a court of justice, but also lying, slander, uncharitable judgment, and whatever tends to injure the good name of our neighbor.

Prov. xxi. 28; Eph. iv. 25; Matt. vii. 1, 2; 1 Pet. iii. 10.

3. Why is lying such a great sin?

Because God is a God of truth, and the devil is the father of lies.

John viii. 44; xiv. 6; Psa. xxxi. 5.

4. What are the duties required in this commandment?

Truthfulness, honesty, and good faith to our neighbor, and a sacred regard for his character and good name.

Zech. viii. 16, 17; Eph. iv. 15; 1 Pet. iv. 8.

5. Is it ever lawful to speak an untruth?

No: all that we say must be true; but we may sometimes withhold the truth for the good of our neighbor.

John xvi. 12; Prov. xxix. 11.

6. What is our duty concerning our own name?

We should keep our name pure and blameless, and avoid even the appearance of evil.

Prov. xxii. 1; Eccles. vii. 1; 1 Thess. v. 22; Phil. iv. 8.

7. Is it lawful to indulge in pride and vanity?

No: pride is a sin, vanity a weakness, and self-praise folly; but humility, which gives all glory to God, is the chief grace and ornament of a Christian.

Rom. xii. 3, 16; Prov. xxvii. 2; 1 Pet. v. 5; Phil. ii. 3.

LI. THE TENTH COMMANDMENT.

1. What is the tenth commandment?

THOU SHALT NOT COVET THY NEIGHBOR'S HOUSE; THOU SHALT NOT COVET THY NEIGHBOR'S WIFE, NOR HIS MAN-SERVANT, NOR HIS MAID-SERVANT, NOR HIS OX, NOR HIS ASS, NOR ANY THING THAT IS THY NEIGHBOR'S.

2. How does this commandment differ from the preceding commandments of the second table?

By tracing sin to its root—the evil desires and passions of the heart, from which all evil words and deeds proceed.

Prov. iv. 23; Matt. xv. 19, 20; James i. 14, 15.

3. What does God forbid in this commandment?

All envy and selfish desire after any thing that is our neighbor's.

Gal. v. 24; Col. iii. 5.

4. What is required in this commandment?

That we should love our neighbor from the heart, wish him every blessing, and promote his temporal and eternal welfare.

Rom. xv. 2; Phil. ii. 4; 1 Cor. xiii. 5.

5. Are you able of yourself to keep any of these commandments?

No: but only by the grace of God, and the power of the Holy Spirit, who makes us perfect in every good work.

1 Cor. xv. 10; 2 Cor. iii. 5; Phil. ii. 13; Heb. xiii. 20, 21.

6. Is full perfection attainable in this life?

No: but we should constantly strive after it, and press towards the mark, for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

1 John i. 8; James iii. 2; Phil. iii. 12-14; Heb. vi. 1.

7. To whom should you look as the great model of perfection?

We should always look unto Jesus, the author and finisher of our faith, and follow his example.

Heb. xii. 1, 2; 1 Pet. ii. 21; 1 John ii. 6.

LIII. CONCLUDING QUESTIONS.

1. What have you now been taught?

I have been taught how to pray, what to believe, and how to live.

2. How should you pray?

I should pray without ceasing to our heavenly Father, in the name of Jesus Christ our Saviour.

3. What is the sum of our Christian faith?

The revelation of the infinite power, wisdom, and love of God in his works of creation, redemption, and sanctification.

4. What is the sum of the Christian life?

To love God above all things, and our neighbor as ourselves.

5. What is your unerring guide in faith and practice?

No human wisdom, which passeth away, but the Word of God, which abideth forever, and the example of our blessed Lord and Saviour.

6. What is your highest aim?

The holy and blessed communion with God the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, one God, to whom be glory forever.

7. What is your greatest good and comfort in life and in death?

That Christ is mine, and I am his, in body and in soul, in life and in death, now and forever. Amen.

THE APOSTOLIC BENEDICTION.

THE GRACE OF OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST, AND THE LOVE OF GOD, AND THE COMMUNION OF THE HOLY GHOST, BE WITH US ALL. AMEN.
